FEDERAL MARSHAL ARRESTS DR. DUMAS; CONSPIRACY CHARGED

Postal Authorities Accuse Him in the Puposky Affair.

Attorney for Cass Lake Mayor Is Indignant at New Move.

Warrant Has Been Issued for Nearly Six Weeks.

Cass Lake, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. D. F. Dumas, mayor of this place, was served with a warrant at 2 o'clock this morning, charging him with conspiracy to rob the postoffice in the store building at Puposky, Minn., where officers interrupted and wounded Martin Behan and Mike Davis on June 17. Dr. Dumas was taken to Bemidji, where he will be given a preliminary hearing.

Hearing in Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy United States Marshal Frank Tuffts, who arrested Dr. D. F. Dumas at Cass Lake early this morning, arrived in Bemidji this forenoon and confirmed the report of the serving of the warrant. Later in the day Dr. Dumas will be given a hearing before Court Commissioner Simons on a charge of conspiring to rob a postoffice.

Dr. Dumas is under $10,000 bonds in connection with the Puposky affair, on charges made by the state fire marshal's office, and was in this city consulting with his attorney when Marshal Tuffts went to Cass Lake yesterday to serve the new warrant on him for the postoffice department.

M. A. Spooner, attorney for Dr. Dumas, expressed indignation when he was told of the pending arrest, and said that his client was being persecuted. After a conference with Mr. Spooner, the Cass Lake mayor returned home, and was there met by the federal officer.

According to a statement by Deputy Tuffts the warrant for Dumas' arrest was issued July 21, but was withheld until Tuesday.

Charges against Dr. Dumas, made by the state officials, are to be taken up here at the September term of court, by a grand jury.

DEATH CLAIMS C. D. PEGELOW

Ends Twenty-Five Years of Service for the D. & I. R. Road.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles D. Pegelow died this morning at 8:45. He was formerly night chief clerk, and had been in the service of the Duluth & Iron Range road for twenty-five years. He was 42 years of age. The cause of his death is uncertain. Eight months ago, while on his vacation, he became sick with pleurisy and gradually became weaker. At the time of his death he was suffering from enlargement of the heart. He was an old and respected employe. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Leroy and Archie. Funeral arrangements have not been made, as word is being awaited from Mrs Pegelow's brother.

WORKMEN'S LAW GOES INTO EFFECT

Wisconsin Compensation Act Accepted By Many Firms.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 1.—Today marks the beginning of the operation of the workmen's compensation law in Wisconsin, by which the state inaugurates a system of compulsory industrial insurance.

Up to this morning sixty-one industrial concerns throughout the state, employing approximately 20,000 men, had signified acceptance of the law. Under this law workmen are made sure of compensatory damages in case of death.

FOUND TO BE CRIPPLE; FIRED

Man Who Kept Wooden Leg Secret Then Commits Suicide.

St. Paul, Ky., Sept. 1.—Despondent over the fact that the railway company, for which he was working, discharged him because he had a wooden leg, Louis W. Bagby today shot and killed himself. For five years he managed to conceal his crippled condition.

Newsboy First Depositor.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Cleveland's first postal savings bank was opened today. A newsboy was the first depositor.

HAS REFUSED DEMAND OF RAILWAY UNIONS

CHARLES H. MARKHAM, President of the Illinois Central Railroad.

THINK BERLIN WILL ACCEPT

Question of Trade Concessions Is Only Obstacle Seen.

Paris, Sept. 1.—While the French foreign office, it is understood, has not received any sure indication that Germany will accept the French proposals for a settlement of the Moroccan question, a measure of confidence is felt in an early agreement because of the extent of the compensations which are to be offered by France. Since these are Central African areas, it is not supposed that Germany would proceed to extreme lengths over a few thousand square miles, more or less.

The real difficulty in the way of an early settlement, it is believed at the foreign office, lies in the special commercial and mining guarantees which Germany may seek in Morocco, as nothing can be given Germany in Morocco which Great Britain does not possess. Besides, anything like special privileges would afford endless occasions for the reopening of the controversy on questions of interpretation.

The French and British governments have reached most fullest mutual agreement upon every phase of the Franco-German dispute.

SAY GROCERS ARE READY TO GIVE IN Federal Officials Deny Statement of Head of Alleged Trust.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Department of justice officials stated today that the government has received repeated offers to compromise from counsel for the Southern Wholesale Grocers' association, whose president, J. H. McLaughlin, declared in Jacksonville, Fla., that there are no negotiations pending by which the association will submit to the government's terms in the anti-trust suit against the concern.

The government's prosecution, which was begun in June, 1910, in the United States circuit court for the Northern district of Alabama, according to Attorney General Wickersham's report, "is based on evidence indicating that the members of that association had attempted to control the business of the Southern states in groceries and necessaries of life, and to prevent manufacturers from selling to other wholesale grocers than members of the association."

DOCTOR KILLS HIS WIFE AND HIMSELF.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 1.—Dr. Walter Owen Ryan, said to have been a wealthy physician, formerly of Springfield, Ills., shot and killed his wife and committed suicide at their home here today.

CLARK HAS SARCASTIC FLING AT ROOSEVELT.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 1.—Champ Clark, speaker of the house, delivered an address here yesterday before the Allegheny county teachers' institute, and, speaking of scholars, said:

"Presidents Garfield, Adams and Jefferson were the greatest scholars of the nation. Former President Roosevelt can be classed with these three presidents, as he knows a little about more things than any human being."

KRUTTSCHNITT MEETS MEN

Critical Conference Is Being Held Over Harriman Lines.

Illinois Central Employes' Demand Refused By Markham.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 1.—At a conference attended by Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president of the Harriman system, and other Harriman line officials on the one side, and by James W. Kline, J. A. Franklin, J. D. Buckale, M. J. Ryan and J. D. Crane, representing the five-shop crafts involved, the formal demands of 25,000 railroad shopmen employed on the Harriman system are being thrashed out here today.

Both sides announced that they went into the conference determined not to recede from their positions, that of the railroad being that it would not recognize the federation of employes, and that of the international union leaders that this recognition must be conceded.

In setting the hour of the meeting, Vice President Kruttschnitt let it be understood distinctly that he was meeting the labor leaders as individual representatives of their respective unions, and not as a joint committee representing the federation.

Recognition Real Issue.

While there are some minor subjects that the labor leaders desire to have adjusted, the real point at issue is the question of recognition of the federation, and the labor leaders went into the conference firm in the determination to induce Mr. Kruttschnitt to consent to a meeting between the representatives of the federation and the general managers of the Harriman system. A direct conference with Mr. Kruttschnitt will not be demanded.

In case no agreement is reached today, or if the decision is against the desires of the labor interests, there can be no appeal. Mr. Kline received a telegram yesterday from President Lovett of the Harriman system saying that any action resolved upon by the officials now here would be ratified by the railroad company.

More Men Laid Off.

COTTON YIELD OF 12,918,200 BALES

Estimate Is Made From Government Reports in Growing Belt.

Washington, Sept. 1.—A total production of 12,918,200 bales of cotton as the final yield this year is indicated by the department of agriculture's official report on the condition of the growing crop on Aug. 25, which the crop reporting board, from reports from its correspondents and agents throughout the cotton belt, estimated today at 73.2 per cent of normal.

This estimate, based on the ratio of the average yield for the last ten years to the average condition of the crop on Aug. 25 for the last ten years, would mean a final yield of 181.65 pounds an acre on the planted area of approximately 34,000,000 acres, allowing for an abandoned acreage of 1,000,000 and provided the crop does not decline or improve from the date the condition was estimated to time of picking.

The estimates of production, while unofficial, were reckoned by the official method adopted by the department of agriculture and used by the crop reporting board in its monthly estimates of the final yield of the important cereal crops of the country.

HARD FIGHT IS IN SIGHT

Taft Supporters in North Dakota Lining Up Their Forces.

The Progressive Republican League Will Be Found Backing La Follette.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota will not be surrendered without a hard fight by the supporters of President Taft to the La Follette forces. That there will be a hard fight by the administration men to secure the state's national convention delegation is made certain by the movements that have been made within the last few weeks.

Reciprocity has not commanded nearly so much interest recently as it did for the first few weeks. There appears to exist a more friendly feeling toward the pact at this time, although it is difficult to foresee just how great an effect the reciprocity talk will have, for it is an admitted fact that the state campaign in favor of La Follette will be based largely on his attitude in that fight.

Taft Men Disappointed.

Dakota administration supporters are somewhat put out over the action of the president in failing to provide for a North Dakota address in his Western tour. In such an address, they contend, the president would have been able to set at rest a great deal of the feeling that has been created over reciprocity, and they have been extremely hopeful up to the present time of bringing him here.

Stalwart Republicans who were in the fore in the fight against the Canadian pact are lining up for the president at this time, which means that the fight for La Follette supporters will not be a walkaway. There was a time when it was supposed that there would be little fight made for the indorsement of the president in the early election of next year, but that belief has been done away with in view of recent changes in conditions.

That the North Dakota Progressive Republican league will fight Taft and not be clenched in the campaign in support of La Follette is absolutely certain. There was an effort at one time to free the league from early political alignments so far as candidates were concerned, but it has become so generally accepted that the league will support La Follette that there seemingly is no other course to be pursued.

CHARGE FRAUD IN LUMBER IMPORTS

Canadians Say Customs Officials Admit American Products Free.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 1.—A sensation was caused today at the joint session of the coast and mountain sawmill men of British Columbia, when it was alleged that American competitors have taken advantage of absence of duty on rough lumber to sell thousands of carloads of dressed lumber in the prairie markets without paying duty, as required by Canadian customs tariff. Customs officers, it was alleged, overlooked proper classification of imported dressed lumber, and it was charged they continue to wink at devious methods declared to be in vogue.

The meeting devoted nearly all day to a consideration of the situation created by competition of Puget Sound and Idaho rivals in Western Canada.

Fair Guests Sleep in Hospital.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 1.—In order to accommodate the overflow crowd at the state fair here, authorities of Grant hospital last night permitted visitors to occupy cots in the institution.

BELLBOY IS CONVICTED

Paul Geidel Found Guilty of Murder in Second Degree.

Jury Argues All Night Over Slaying of New York Broker.

New York, Sept. 1.—The jury in the case of Paul Geidel, the 17-year-old bellboy charged with the murder of William H. Jackson in the Iroquois hotel on July 26, today returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree.

The jurymen spent a sleepless night, locked up in the criminal court room at the Tombs building. From the sounds that issued from the room it was evident that they spent the whole night in argument.

That the jurors were discussing a verdict of guilt less than first degree murder was made evident last night when they came into court after having deliberated six hours and asked instructions regarding the different degrees of murder.

The report at the courthouse before court convened this morning was that three of the men had held out for a verdict of murder in the first degree, while the others were divided in their opinion between a judgment of acquittal and guilt in some less degree.

The jury retired for their deliberations at 3:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and at midnight Judge Crain locked them up for the ight.

Minimum Twenty Years.

By the verdict of the jury Geidel escapes the electric chair, but will be sentenced for a long term in either Sing Sing or Auburn prison.

Motions were deferred by Judge Crain until next Tuesday, when sentence probably will be pronounced. A verdict of second degree murder provides for imprisonment for a minimum term of twenty years, or a maximum of imprisonment for life.

When Geidel was brought into court to learn his fate he was pale. Tears welled into his eyes and rolled down his face when he heard the verdict, and he clenched his hands in an effort to control himself. None of his relatives were in court.

The prisoner had nothing to say after the verdict was pronounced, and he was quickly led away across the Bridge of Sighs to the Tombs.

ROB POSTOFFICE AT HIGHWOOD, ILL.

Burglars Make Raid After Being Driven From House By Woman.

Highwood, Ill., Sept. 1.—Three burglars broke into the postoffice here early today, blew open the safe and escaped with $400 in stamps and $200 in cash. One of the burglars, armed with a rifle, stood guard outside while his two companions blew open the safe. The men then escaped in a buggy which they had stolen.

Before entering the postoffice the men attempted to break into the home of James Walsh, but were frightened away by Mrs. Walsh, who heard the intruders and fired two shots at them.

CROWN PRINCESS OF GERMANY EXPECTANT.

Dantzig, Prussia, Sept. 1.—On publishing the program that has been arranged for Sept. 15, when the German crown prince takes over command of the bodyguard of Hussars, the Dantzig Zeitung today announced that Crown Princess Cecilie would not be able to come to Dantzig for some time, as she is expecting a happy family event.

BEATTIE CASE WILL PROBABLY GO TO THE JURY NEXT TUESDAY

SUBWAY BUILDER IS TAKING A VACATION

W. BARCLAY PARSONS.

New York, Sept. 1.—W. Barclay Parsons has sailed for Europe for his annual outing. He was accompanied by Mrs. Parsons. Mr. Parsons was the chief engineer of New York's great subway system. He is not interested in the construction of the new subway lines, but is devoting himself almost wholly to the private practice of his profession. He is the chief engineer for the Cape Cod canal.

SAVE PORTION OF MORELAND

Repairs Probably Will Be Made at Superior Drydock.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The after portion of the 600-foot ore carrying steamer Moreland, which was wrecked on a reef at Eagle River, Keweenaw point, last November, at a loss of $450,000, and later given up by the underwriters and by two different wrecking concerns, was towed into Portage Lake ship canal this afternoon by the tugs Manistique and Rogers, of the Reid Wrecking Company of Port Huron.

Close to $75,000 has been spent in wrecking operations on the Moreland by Reid and other wreckers, since the steamer stranded.

The portion now salvaged is 400 feet long and contains the engines and boilers of the steamer. The forward part of the steamer, not yet salvaged, is broken in two pieces. Capt. James Reid says he will release them within two weeks.

At Houghton the back portion of the steamer will be patched more perfectly than was possible at the point where it was wrecked and probably will be towed to the Superior, Wis., dry dock for repairs.

The Reid Wrecking company assumed all risks when it took the steamer from the underwriters, and was to salvage the boat or receive nothing for the work. They raised the Moreland from the reef six weeks ago, but the steamer broke away from the tugs in a storm and was wrecked again, breaking into three pieces.

She was loaded with 10,000 tons of iron ore when wrecked on her maiden trip down the lakes.

OPPOSE HANGING OF YOUNG SLAYER

Wisconsin People Will Petition Governor of Arkansas.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 1.—Believing that the hanging of a 15-year-old boy, "tender, immature, unformed," does not meet the ends of justice, citizens of Madison in large numbers have signed petitions directed to Governor Donaghey of Arkansas, asking that he use executive clemency for Earl Gilchrist, who killed another boy in a street fight. Signers will be sought in other cities in Wisconsin.

ELOPERS SPENDING HONEYMOON IN JAIL.

Sandusky, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Married here Wednesday, arrested the same night and bound over to the grand jury Thursday to await a hearing on charges of perjury in swearing falsely as to her age in obtaining a marriage license—that is the twenty-four-hour story of Mary Storck, formerly Mary Mischky, and her new husband, George Storck. Unable to obtain bail, they are spending their honeymoon in the county jail, where they may have to remain until the grand jury convenes, on Sept. 18.

Otto Mischky, the girl's father, filed the affidavits.

Defendant Is Expected to Be Last Witness Examined.

Former Says He Would Have Destroyed Evidence in Case.

Chesterfield, Va., Sept. 1.—From the obscurity of a lonely cell in the little blockhouse jail here, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., this morning gazed expectantly at the courthouse a few yards away, where some time today he was scheduled to explain to the jury the murder of his wife, for which he was indicted just eighteen days ago. With the testimony of the prisoner himself the defense planned to conclude its case.

The taking of a deposition at the home of Mrs. M. C. Steger, who is ill, and who claims to have seen a mysterious man with a beard, just before the tragedy, threatened to delay today's proceedings, and it was considered not unlikely that if the 15-mile trip to the scene of the crime was made by the jury today, the testimony of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., might not be reached until tomorrow.

May Reach Jury Tuesday.

The jury never has viewed the spot where the tragedy occurred, and it was said that counsel for the defense planned to have the prisoner tell his story of the bearded highwayman immediately after the picture of the lonely Midlothian turnpike had been fixed in the minds of the jurymen.

Cross-examination of the prisoner by the prosecution was looked for late today or at the beginning of the session of court tomorrow. With a day to each side for final arguments, it is believed the case will reach the jury by next Tuesday.

It was not expected that Henry would take the witness stand before the afternoon, as it was thought that counsel for the defense first might ask that the jury go to the scene of the crime, an expedition which would occupy at least three hours in traveling back and forth.

Character Witnesses Called.

Sunlight streamed into the courtroom for the first time in several days when court convened at 10:35 o'clock.

The defense first introduced several character witnesses to continue the testimony begun yesterday to show the good reputation of the prisoner, as well as that of E. H. Neblitt, whose testimony presented an important contradiction to Paul Beattie's story of the time of delivery of the gun to Henry. The commonwealth waived cross-examination on these witnesses.

Douglas Beattie, an older brother of the prisoner then took the stand.

"Will you explain the relations of Henry and his wife?" queried Mr. Smith for the defense, "from the time they were married since they lived in your home?"

"Perfectly happy."

"How did he greet her when he met her or departed from her?"

Always Kissed His Wife.

"He always kissed her the few times I saw him greet her."

"Why few times?"

"I went away earlier and came home

SIX LEAP INTO SEA TO ESCAPE FLAMES

Gasoline Tank of Launch of Revenue Cutter Explodes.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 1.—Six members of the crew of the revenue cutter Mohawk, who were searching for a deserter from the ship, had a narrow escape from drowning late last night when the gasoline tank of their launch exploded, forcing the men to jump overboard. They were all rescued by a man in a rowboat. Two of the men, Seaman E. Lawton and Coxswain Laughan, were severely burned. No reason has been assigned for the accident.

MINNEAPOLIS GETS QUANTITY OF GRAIN

Receipts for Three Days Amount to Total of 595 Carloads.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The amount of grain that has reached Minneapolis during the three days ended Aug. 30 broke all records for the past eight years. Five hundred and ninety-five carloads arrived over the Great Northern road, the consignments coming principally from Minnesota points, as grain shipments from North Dakota have not yet reached any great proportions owing to weather conditions. A total of 715,000 bushels of grain was brought to Minneapolis on all roads during the three days.

Last year's shipments for the same period amounted to 340 cars; 451 car loads reached the city during the corresponding days of 1909, and in 1908 they were 471. This was about the average for the preceding years since 1903, when about 700,000 bushels reached Minneapolis for the last three days of August.

AUTOMOBILE IS BURNED

Gasoline Tank Punctured By Rock and Car Is Complete Loss.

Four Automobile Accidents Reported in One Day in Duluth.

Charles P. Meyers and his party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Collier and children and Mrs. Meyers, had a narow escape about 8:15 o'clock last night when the gasoline tank on Mr. Meyers' big Winton caught fire from the tail lamp. The car was enveloped in flames in a moment and the four occupants had barely time to get out.

Mr. Meyers was driving his machine up a stiff grade near the poor farm when the engine died. The brake failed to hold the car and he backed it against a rock and got out to crank it. In backing against the rock the gasoline tank was bent, sprung a leak, the fluid being ignited from the rear lamp.

There was a sudden flash of flame and the car occupants made a speedy exit from their seats. The flames enveloped the machine almost instantly, and the car is said to be a total loss. It was a modern Winton Six fully equipped

Four auto accidents were recorded in Duluth yesterday.

In the morning John Day was seriously injured in a head-on collision between his machine and a street car on Second street.

The rear wheel of John Millen's machine gave way while it was being tested on Jefferson street near Twenty-third avenue east about 5:30 yesterday afternoon and the car was thrown against the curb.

Later an unknown driver was passing the wreck and looking back at it, when he collided with Walter Healey's machine, damaging it slightly.

STEPHENSON PROBE IS TO BE STARTED OCT. 2.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 1.—Senator W. E. Heyburn of Idaho was here Thursday making preliminary arrangements for the investigation of the election of Senator Stephenson, which will begin Oct. 2. The committee, of which he is a member, will have charge of the investigation, holding its initial meeting here.

"The committee will meet in Milwaukee on Oct. 2 to take up the investigation," he said. "How long it will take, I cannot, of course, say. Still, I think we ought to complete our work by the end of October."

CHARGE MADE AGAINST ROAD COMMISSIONER.

Washburn, Wis., Sept. 1.—The county board will hold a special meeting Sept. 12 to hear the charge preferred against County Highway Commissioner Eben Olson, charging him with neglect of duty and failure to comply with the provisions of the law requiring him to make reports of road expenditures.

MINER IS INJURED IN SUNSET MINE.

Negaunee, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Niemi, a Finnish miner, was severely injured at the Sunset mine Wednesday night. While walking through one of the drifts he fell through one of the winds which were recently made. Niemi did not know of the wind, and fell through, a distance of 100 feet. His head was badly crushed and his arms broken. It is feared he cannot recover.

BARN NEAR BRAINERD FIRED BY LIGHTNING.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 1.—Lightning Wednesday struck the barn of Lloyd J. Jones, two and one-half miles east of Brainerd on the Oak street road and set fire to it. Mrs. Jones was home alone and could do but little to save it.

The entire contents, consisting of hay, tools, harness and some machinery, was destroyed. A pet horse was tied in the barn and could not be rescued and perished in the flames.

TAFT AGAINST RECEPTION AT MINNESOTA CAPITOL.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—President Taft does not want a public reception at the state capitol, Oct. 25, and his secretary, Charles D. Hilles, has so notified Ralph W. Wheelock, secretary to Governor Eberhart. The rest of the arrangements for his stay in the Twin City are satisfactory. Secretary Hilles suggested an auto ride in place of the reception.

Public receptions for the president have not been looked upon with favor since the assassination of McKinley. At this distance from the national capital it taxes, it is said, the secret service to protect the president. Public receptions have been tabooed by those arranging the trips of the chief executive.

President Taft is making this trip solely to explain his stand on the tariff, and he believes that public meetings or banquets where he can address the voters are much more fitting than tiresome public receptions.

It is also stated that President Taft expects a strenuous time in the West and wants to make as many speeches as possible and that time given to perfunctory receptions is so much time lost.

MOTHER BADLY BURNED.

Saving Her Children From Burning Barn Near Royalton.

Royalton, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Henry Christle and two children were severely burned in a barn fire on their farm, four miles east of here. The children are believed to have been playing with matches and the mother, in saving her children from the blazing structure, was so badly burned that her life is despaired of. The injured mother and children are in the hospital at Little Falls.

New Postoffice Burglarized.

Madison Lake, Wis., Sept. 1.—The new postoffice here which has been occupied only since last Friday, was robbed some time Tuesday night of $313.34 in money, $262.34 of which being postoffice funds and the remainder, $51, being personal money of the postmaster. There is no crew.

YACHT GUNILDA IS TOTAL WRECK

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 1.—The yacht Gunilda, owned by William L. Harkness of New York, which was wrecked Tuesday on the north shore of Lake Superior near Rossport, proved a total loss yesterday in the effort to release her from the rock which she had struck.

Immediately the wreckers got her clear of the ledge, the Gunilda sank in 300 feet of water. The crew, who had remained with the yacht, was taken off in safety. Members of the Harkness party who were on board the Gunilda when she was wrecked, were taken off by a passing steamer.

The shipwrecked party came to Port Arthur today. The party consists of Mr. and Mrs. William Harkness, New York, their two children, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Horace Harding, New York.

Mr. Harkness says they sailed a month ago from New York, came up the St. Lawrence river and were on their way to Duluth when the accident happened.

The place where the Gunilda struck is the same spot on which the government steamer Bayfield, engaged in hydrographic survey, went ashore some time ago.

TOURIST SEASON TO END OCT. 1.

Passenger Boats Will Run One More Month on Lakes.

Tourists have still practically a month in which to enjoy trips on the lakes between this city and the lower lake ports, for the last vessel to leave here with a passenger list will depart on Sept. 30.

According to the schedules of the different transportation companies the business will stop on Oct. 1, for on that date the last vessel will enter her harbor for the winter. The Hamonic, of the Northern Navigation company will leave Duluth on Sept. 30 for Sarnia, Ont., while the Juniata will close the season for the Anchor line when she leaves Duluth on Sept. 29.

The Minnesota, of the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company is scheduled to close her season on Oct. 1, but it is possible that the company will run the boat until the navigation on the lakes is ended, for the reason as she carries on every trip a large amount of merchandise, and it is expected that this business will be kept up. The Port Huron & Duluth Transportation company will end the season, Oct. 1.

INCREASE IN LAKE SHIPMENTS

Heavier Movement on Lakes in August Than in July.

Although there was no unusual activity on the lakes during the month of August, figures show that there was a small increase in the volume of business over that of July. There was an increase of 71,150 tons in the shipments of ore from the Duluth-Superior harbor, both the Great Northern and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern showing increases, while the Soo Line dropped off a little.

To take the ore down the lakes in August it required 401 vessels, while in July the shipments took but 390 boats. The entire shipment for August was 2,928,744 tons, while in July it was 2,857,594 tons.

The movement of coal to the Head of the lakes also showed a slight increase, for 197 steamers of the ore carrying type brought that article to Duluth and Superior docks. Sixty vessels left the harbor with lumber, while thirty-four package freighters carried on the business in that line. Twenty-eight trips were made by the four big passenger companies' vessels.

Boat Owner Fined.

L. M. Willcuts yesterday imposed two fines of $100 each on the motor boat Conneaut, belonging to the Pittsburg Steamship company, for violations of two sections of the navigation laws of July 9, 1910, one for running without a fog horn and the other for being without life-preservers. The boat was running at Conneaut, Ohio, and the revenue cutter Morrill made the report to the Duluth office.

CANNOT FIND ENOUGH EVIDENCE AGAINST TILL.

New Richmond, Wis., Sept. 1.—City Attorney Nelson Ovorlum of this county declared that he had not found sufficient evidence on which to issue warrants against John Till, the "healer," whose plasters were suspected by some to have done harm to a woman he had treated.

FEW LICENSES TAKEN FOR DOGS

The dog license records kept by the city clerk so far show only 714 licenses issued for male dogs and seventeen issued for females this year. This is a very small proportion of the total number of canines in the city, as there have been more than 2,000 licenses issued some years, and even this number is regarded as including not more than half of the dogs in Duluth.

"Either they ought to repeal the ordinance or else enforce it more practically," said City Clerk H. W. Cheadle this morning. "The dog owners who are conscientious about it are paying their taxes and the rest are getting off free. The license fees are due May 1 and should have been paid long ago."

In former years the police department has been in active charge of the enforcement of the dog license ordinance. This year the department is somewhat short of men, and the matter has been turned over to the poundmasters of the city. That they have not been very successful in its enforcement is shown by the figures. There are probably between 4,000 and 5,000 dogs in Duluth, which means that less than 20 per cent have paid their license fees.

COOKED GOOSE AS MISSILE.

Witness in Divorce Suit Says Wife Threw It at Husband.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—To what extent the action of a wife in grabbing a cooked goose from the dinner table in the presence of guests and hurling it at the head of her husband is provocation for a dissolution of the marriage relation, will be considered by the circuit court here in the divorce suit brought by Ella Skinner against William E. Skinner of this city.

The charge that Mrs. Skinner had been guilty of such behavior is contained in the deposition of Robert Mucherhead of Dayton, Ohio, filed in the court. Mucherhead, in the deposition, asserted that he was a guest at a Christmas dinner given by the Skinners and that in a fit of anger, Mrs. Skinner seized the platter and threw the steaming fowl at her husband.

"Had you all been drinking?" Mucherhead was asked in the deposition.

"We were pretty well heated up," was the answer.

Skinner is worth $250,000.

COMMISSION MEN ANSWER

Michigan Street Dealers Say They Have Been Misrepresented.

Business Methods of Co-operative Association Discussed in Statement.

Charging that the commission men of Duluth have been misrepresented and maligned, that the Producers' Co-operative Market association did a general commission business by going outside of its field to buy produce, that the advice given the farmers of St. Louis county was misleading and the market is glutted with produce for which no sale can be found, the Duluth Fruit and Produce exchange has issued a statement defining its position toward the farmers of this section.

The statement follows:

"Regarding the articles that have been in the papers lately, evidently coming from some of the directors or other people who seem to be active in the affairs of the Producers' Co-operative Market association, we feel that it is time to take exception to the way these articles reflect on the wholesale fruit and produce men on Michigan street.

"After reading the article in The Herald of Aug. 29, we are inclined to believe that the parties who gave out that information were either very ignorant of what the true conditions are, or else they gave out the information with a malicious intent, or perhaps they might have been both ignorant and malicious.

Welcomed Co-operative Market.

"As far as the Producers' Co-operative Market association doing business on Michigan street was concerned, the fruit and produce firms on Michigan street did all they could to welcome them, and helped them many times by buying goods of them that they found difficult to dispose of; also by being friendly to them in every way possible, and their employes will bear us out in these statements. Just why the directors of this company should try to cast any slur on the fruit and produce shippers of this city, it is very hard for us to understand.

"If these directors are at all fair-minded men, it could not be possible that they are angry on account of our not allowing them to dictate to us how we should run our business. They surely could not expect to do this; we do not expect them to dictate as to how we shall conduct our own affairs, as we are not paying them to do so. We feel that we are capable of running our own business, and are not in need of any such advice. We shall continue to conduct our business on straight business principles, treating everyone in a strictly straightforward honest way in the future, as we have in the past, and we defy anyone to name a city in the United States of the same size as Duluth, that has better conducted commission houses than Duluth. The Duluth houses as a rule bear the highest kind of a reputation all over the United States where they draw their supplies from.

"The Duluth houses have ample capital to handle their business, and when the St. Louis county farmers sell them anything, they get their money immediately.

Association Methods.

"Now, how about the Producers' Co-operative Market association's methods of doing business? As we understand, it was started without capital, or in other words on wind. Later the public affairs committee of the Commercial club assisted them in a financial way. What right the Commercial club had to do this, is a matter that might be investigated. It is a well known fact that not to exceed 10 or 15 per cent of the entire amount of business done by this company was done for the farmers' clubs and associations that they harped so much on. The other 85 or 90 per cent was done by buying and soliciting goods from different parts of the country in the same way that any private concern or corporation is doing, thereby causing the Commercial club to be practically financing a competitive produce house on Michigan street.

"How did the prices that goods were sold at as a rule compare with the same kind and quality as sold by other houses? At no time for more money, and as a rule for less money. How did the shippers, or these poor abused growers that these wise and mighty ones are looking after so carefully get paid for their goods? Often by waiting from two to four months, and more or less of their stuff spoiled. How were these growers advised what to raise by these would-be Sherlock Holmes, who are going to watch over the poor unprotected growers so that they will not be mistreated by the commission men? They were advised to raise all they could of all kinds of garden truck, and the growers did. What was the result? There is enough garden truck raised to supply a city at least three times as large as Duluth, and the result was many a hard working man brought his truck to market, and could not find sale for it.

Too Much Produce.

"To make matters worse, after telling the farmers how much money there was in raising garden truck, the association urged all the people in Duluth who had a patch of ground about as large as an ordinary window, to go to it and raise garden truck. A good many of them did, and the poor farmer when he came to town with his stuff had this to go up against. There is no question but what the grower as a rule has had a harder time to find a market for all that he raised this year than ever before, but these gentlemen who are so anxious to have articles in the newspapers and who have had the management of the Producers Co-operative Market association on Michigan street, would lead the public to believe by their newspaper articles that they have accomplished wonders for the growers, while as a matter of fact the growers who have received the most satisfactory prices and pay, have sold their produce to the retail grocery stores or the consumers direct. After that comes what they sold to the regular legitimate produce houses on Michigan street, and the results from the Producers Co-operative Market association cannot come in any better than a possible third. After over a year's business their net results in a financial way showed such a loss that the finance committee of the Commercial club did not feel like being a party towards financing them any further.

"These are some of the facts, and there are more that could be told if necessary. We wish to say, regardless of what has been done and what might have been done, there is a splendid field in St. Louis and adjoining counties to raise produce of a very fine kind, as the soil is naturally adapted for it, but the produce must be of such kind as can be shipped to distant markets in car lots, also of such varieties as can be held from fall until spring if necessary in dry storage, or until such times as the market will warrant a fair price to the grower.

Good Crops for County.

"With this end in view, we would advise the farmers to pay more attention to raising such crops as potatoes, late cabbage and dry onions. In our opinion less than 100 acres of well tilled land will raise all or more garden truck than the whole of Duluth can consume. It is not, as these perhaps well meaning but very much misguided gentlemen would have you believe the fault of Michigan street dealers not finding a market for garden truck, but there is being more of it raised than what can be consumed, and there is no place that it can be shipped to, as our season is late when it is ready for market here, they have it everywhere else. This is true of the iron ranges, which are the principal outside trade for Duluth wholesale houses that deal in perishable goods.

"We feel that we are fully justified in writing this although sorry that it was at all necessary but on account of the different articles caused to be published in our Duluth papers that were not the true condition of affairs and which would be very apt to place us in a bad light, we feel that we are justified in making the above statements."

"Strong-Armed" in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—Ernest Halfeld of Vinton, Iowa, late yesterday reported to the police that he had been "strong-armed" and robbed of $51 in broad daylight on one of Minneapolis' prominent thoroughfares. According to Halfeld he was accosted by two "friendly" individuals. He was talking with them, he says, when one caught his hands, while the other gagged him and robbed him.

SVERDRUP IN DULUTH

Capt. Otto Sverdrup, the famous navigator who commanded the little bark Fram on its world-famous polar expeditions, arrived in Duluth yesterday and is the guest of H. H. Borgen on Park Point. Capt. Sverdrup is in Duluth with the idea of interesting a number of prominent Scandinavians in a whaling company to operate in the Bering sea. He has just returned from Alaska, where he went in June and he says the whale fishing grounds off the Alaskan coast offers the best opportunities in the world for an enterprise of this kind.

Capt. Sverdrup commanded the Fram with Nansen and sailed her the farthest north ever attained by any ship, reaching a point where their calculations showed 85 deg. and 57 minutes north before the expedition was forced to leave the boat and proceed northward by sledge in search of the Pole.

Capt. Sverdrup has been in Artic exploration work since 1888. In 1896 he led an expedition of his own, exploring Northern Greenland, and succeeded in discovering a large glacier region never before explored. The discovery of a couple of islands and the production of an accurate map of the Western and Southwestern part of Ellesmere land are due to Capt. Sverdrup's explorations.

This is the captain's second visit to Duluth. He is keeping out of the limelight as much as possible and has expressed his wish that his present visit be made quiet and unostentatious. Some of the prominent Scandinavians of the city have talked of a banquet in his honor, but on his former visit here the captain declined to accept such an honor, and it is not thought that there will be an attempt to hold one at this time.

WEST END NEWS

VISITING BISHOP WILL PREACH AT ST. PETER'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

ST. PETER'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

In connection with the annual gathering of delegates to the sixth missionary district of the Episcopal church in Duluth this week, St. Peter's Episcopal church of the West end will come in for its share of the meetings. The church is located at Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street and was recently remodeled.

Sunday, Bishop Samuel Cook Edsall, bishop of Minnesota, will preach at 11 o'clock at St. Peter's church. Bishop Edsall is one of the principal figures at the convention. He received his A. M. degree at Racine college in 1888 and his D. D. degree from the University of Illinois later. He was rector of St. Peter's church of Chicago for several years, developing it from a small missionary charge to one of the largest and most influential parishes in Chicago. In 1899 he was elected bishop of North Dakota. He served until 1901, when he was elected bishop of Minnesota to succeed the late Bishop Whipple.

Sunday evening there will be preaching services in the Swedish language by Rev. J. F. Alfvegren of Minneapolis. Holy communion will be held at 8 a. m. Rev. W. E. Harmann is rector. The musical program for the morning service is as follows:

Processional—"The Church's One Foundation" ..... Robinson
Venite ..... J. Knox
TeDeum ..... Anon
Solo by Mrs. W. A. Drummond.
Benedictus ..... Anon
Hymn—"Jesus Shall Reign" ..... Bourgeios
Doxology ..... Bourgeios
Offertory Solo .....
Miss S. C. Byerly.
Recessional—"Rejoice Ye Pure in Heart" .....
Miss Byerly is organist and Mrs. W. A. Drummond is choir director.

MINISTER IS A BENEDICT

Rev. George E. Silloway, the new pastor of Grace M. E. church of the West end has joined the ranks of the benedicts.

News was received in the West end today of his marriage yesterday to Miss Margaret Thompson of New York city. The wedding took place at the Thompson summer home at Lincoln, near Staples, Minn.

Rev. Mr. Silloway was last week granted a leave of absence for two weeks and left Tuesday for Minneapolis where he stopped for a day with his relatives before proceeding to Lincoln. After a short wedding trip, Rev. and Mrs. Silloway will be at home in the parsonage of Grace church at 319 North Twenty-second avenue west.

The bride is a daughter of Dr. Fayette L. Thompson, general secretary of the Men's Brotherhood of the Methodist Episcopal church with headquarters in New York city. Dr. Thompson was a former pastor of the Hennepin Avenue Methodist church of Minneapolis and stands high among the clergy of his denomination. The Thompsons have been spending the summer at Lincoln, Minn.

Rev. Mr. Silloway during his short stay here has made a host of friends and is conceded to be one of the most energetic and forceful preachers in the city. He will resume preaching services Sunday, Sept. 17 at Grace church.

NORTH STAR LODGE CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY.

North Star lodge, No. 11, of the Scandinavian branch of the International Order of Good Templars, last evening celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Minnesota grand lodge by holding a festival in Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Among the speakers were Deputy Berglund, P. J. Borgstrom, Rev. G. Tapper, and August Berg. Miss Hildur sang. About 100 were present.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Forbes stock company in "The Count of Monte Cristo."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

"The Count of Monte Cristo," which is being played this week at the Lyceum, is the only costume play presented by the Gus A. Forbes stock company during the summer engagement, and in fact the only play of that interesting old school, which Mr. Forbes has offered this season. The play is a thrilling one of adventure and romance and the company fits into the spirit of the time and story in a delightful manner.

With the interesting performance which Mr. Forbes is presenting, Duluth is reviving its interest in the master story teller and the demand for Dumas' novels has increased at the main library and the branch stations.

"The Count of Monte Cristo" tells the story of a French sailor unjustly imprisoned and held captive for eighteen years. He has a marvelous escape after being cast into the sea in a bag in place of a fellow prisoner who has just died. He cuts his way to freedom and then devotes his life to avenging his wrongs. He lives to see justice meted out to his enemies and to marry the woman from whom he was separated on their wedding day.

Wresting the pearl from the treasure chests of Neptune is a perilous and trying feat, indeed. The stories that travelers bring to American shores of the exploits of pearl divers often evoke incredulity, yet from unquestionable sources come statements of the most remarkable feats of these hardy natatorial wonders. It is said that the Samoans, unlike the Cingalese pearl divers, thrust themselves into the seas with no artificial means of sinking to the depths where are lodged the shells that envelop the submerged gems. And it is reported as no uncommon feat that the pearl divers fetch bottom from a depth of twenty fathoms. Three minutes is the limit of submergence of most pearl divers, yet there are said to be a few of the most expert who are able to remain without air supply even longer.

In such a school as this did Odiva, who is at the Orpheum this week, become proficient in the natatorial arts. In such a physical culture course did she develop the symmetry of her physique.

Odiva has for several years been the ward of English residents of Samoa, and under the tutelage of missionaries and the patronage and friendship of other English-speaking people she has become Anglicized.

"The Sweetest Girl in Paris," with Trixie Friganza, which comes to the Lyceum for two night engagements with matinee Monday, is one of three unqualified musical comedy successes this season flying the banner of the "Harry Askin—La Salle Opera House" direction and origin. The other two La Salle shows are "The Girl I Love," which succeeded the three hundred odd performances of "The Sweetest Girl in Paris" at the La Salle in Chicago, and "Louisiana Lou," the present incumbent of the La Salle stage.

Commencing Sunday, Sept. 17, the Empress theater will be closed for two weeks in order that extensive alterations may be made. The house will be entirely reseated with new and more comfortable chairs of the latest design; in fact, the chairs will be the best that money can buy. The stage will be fitted with entirely new scenery, the house will be newly decorated throughout and a modern ventilating system will be installed. It is the desire of the Sullivan & Considine circuit to offer the theater-going public the highest class of vaudeville and to present it in a house that affords every convenience, hence, these alterations. During the two weeks the Empress is closed the regular Sullivan & Considine shows will be presented at the Lyceum theater. The coming winter season promises to be a banner one with the Sullivan & Considine circuit. When the Empress reopens its doors on Sunday, Oct. 1, it will be one of the prettiest and most comfortable vaudeville theaters in the entire Northwest.

ALLEGED POISONING.

South St. Paul Authorities Investigating Suspicious Case.

South St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—County Attorney O'Keefe of Dakota county and the police of South St. Paul are investigating an alleged attempt to poison the family of Frank F. Amos, a truck gardener.

When the members of the family were eating supper Wednesday night they found what they believed to be paris green in their tea.

Investigation of the family coffee pot disclosed it smeared on the inside with the same green substance. The utensils are being examined in the health office laboratory here with a view to determining the exact nature of the stuff.

Chief of Police Binder believes the alleged poison was taken from a potato spraying machine used on the Amos farm.

FORMER BANKER IS UNDER ARREST

O. H. Havill, Formerly of St. Cloud, Must Answer to Serious Charge.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Accused of having received deposits when he knew his institution was in a failing condition, O. H. Havill, formerly president of the Merchants National Bank of St. Cloud is facing trial in the courts. Warrant for his arrest has been sworn out by Kelsey Chase, state superintendent of banks.

Havill was an officer of the State banks at Bowlus and Royalton, which recently closed their doors. He resigned as president of the St. Cloud institution when the Bowlus and Royalton banks closed, and moved to Minneapolis.

While in Royalton swearing out a warrant for Havill, Mr. Chase swore out three more warrants, implicating other officers of the two defunct banks. H. J. Swartz, cashier of the Royalton bank, who was arrested a few days ago charged with receiving deposits when he knew the bank to be in a failing condition, was re-arrested on a charge of embezzling $5,250. It is charged that he collected this sum when a mortgage was due and placed it to his own account and afterwards drew out the money. His father, vice president of the Royalton bank and Stephen Swartz, another son, president of the bank after Havill's resignation, were arrested on the charge of receiving money when the bank was in a failing condition.

SHAFT OF THE GIROUX MINE IS UNSEALED.

Ely, Nev., Sept. 1.—When the shaft of the Giroux Consolidated mine, which was closed Friday to extinguish the fire which caused the death of seven men, was unsealed yesterday, the body of Daniel Dray, secretary of the local miners' union, was found on top of the ladder platform within fifteen feet of the surface. He had almost reached safety when he was overcome by the smoke and heat. The body of John McNulty still is in the mine, the shaft being too hot to permit of further search at present.

PART OF WAR ON LUMBER TRUST

Suit in Michigan Under Direction of Federal Government.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The government's suit against the Michigan lumber manufacturers, filed in Detroit yesterday, is one of the several in the campaign the department of justice is conducting against the so-called lumber trust.

One suit against Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' association is already under way in New York, and fourteen secretaries of various associations throughout the Middle West have been indicted.

It is said the government's fight against alleged restraints and restrictions of the lumber trade will reach from coast to coast.

The government names the following individual defendants in the Michigan suit:

Edward E. Hartwick of Detroit, president of the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers' association; Arthur L. Holmes of Detroit, vice president of the retailers' association, member of the Lumber Secretaries' Bureau of Information, and publisher of the Scout; George P. Sweet, Grand Rapids, secretary-treasurer of the Retailers association and member Lumber secrtaries; and the following directors of the Retailers' organization: J. J. Comerford, Detroit; A. J. Kraft, Battle Creek; H. W. Rikord, Lansing; John Wood, Grand Rapids; F. D. Jenks, Port Huron and C. A. Pollock, Coldwater.

Bickford Sentence Oct. 6.

Washburn, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oct. 6, G. L. Bickford, former state treasurer, will receive his sentence on the conviction recently secured in the district court on the embezzlement charge.

On the date set for sentence, a motion for a new trial will be argued. Failing in this there will be a request for stay pending an appeal, to the supreme court.

Names New Administrator.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—On petition presented by creditors who charged that the former administrator was derelict in the discharge of his duty and that the estate was being squandered needlessly, Judge Hemmi has made a change in administrators in the E. R. Stearns estate, John Flaherty being named.

May Yet Be Some Difficulty in Bringing Parties Together.

Statements issued by the two commissions representing the state of Minnesota and Wisconsin, appointed by the legislatures to determine the boundary lines through the waters at the Head of the Lakes and at Lake Pepin, show that there may be considerable difficulty by bringing the two parties together.

The commissions have called a meeting for Dec. 6 at St. Paul, at which they hope to arrive at a definite decision, but from the attitude expressed by both sides in the statements, there is little probability of so doing. In its statement the Wisconsin commission makes it plain that it will adhere to the contention that the boundary line at the head of the Lakes is identical with the center of the main channel of St. Louis river, as is indicated by government maps, and that weighty and convincing considerations must be brought before them, before they will change their opinion.

The Minnesota delegates, however, contend that the line should pass through the center of the navigable channels, through the center of the drawbridges of the Interstate and Northern Pacific railroad bridges, and through the center of the channel beyond Rice's and Connor's points.

Wisconsin's Stand.

The following is the statement declaring the Wisconsin commission's views:

"The committee representing the state of Wisconsin, contends that the boundary line between the states of Wisconsin and Minnesota through the St. Louis river, is identical with the center of the main channel of said river, as the same is indicated on maps and records of the United States war department, made prior to the construction of artificial channels in said river. It believes this position well grounded in the law, and will adhere to same unless confronted by weighty and convincing considerations.

"It may be that on account of modern commercial conditions, it is desirable that this line be varied some what. Upon this proposition this committee expresses no opinion at this time. If, after a thorough consideration of the premises, it should seem desirable to bring about any changes in such line, it will be the purpose of this committee to consider whether a new line may be established that will promote commercial interests without seriously affecting the jurisdiction of the two states; but it will maintain at all times that any material surrender of jurisdiction by Wisconsin shall be compensated in kind by Minnesota.

((Signed.) "W. C. OWEN,
"PAUL O. HUSTING,
"C. A. INGRAM,
"J. E. MCONNELL,
"A. M. LONG,
"Committee on the part of Wisconsin."

Minnesota's Stand.

"The committee representing the state of Minnesota, begs to submit the following statement in reply to the statement of the Wisconsin committee:

"We regard the Duluth-Superior bay and the bay of of St. Louis as an arm of Lake Superior and as waters of the lake, and that St. Louis bay extends up as far at least as the union therewith of the channel that skirts around the southwesterly end of Big Island. That the constitutional boundary through the middle of Lake Superior to the mouth of the St. Louis river and through the main channel of the river to the first rapids above the Indian village (Fond du Lac) is but a general outline and in no manner conflicts with this view as the mouth of the river is not fixed and from the very nature of things there was no attempt made at detail in the description of the constitutional boundary. The general government, under the paramount power reserved in it, has conducted extensive improvements in these waters in aid of navigation and commerce and has established dock lines on either side beyond which property owners may not go with their improvements except at the risk of being required to remove or relinquish them without compensation.

"Above Big island it may be conceded that there is an easily defined main channel of the river. The government improvements are fast taking the form of deepening the entire waters of these bays, outside of the dock lines. The growth of commerce requires it. As the waters narrow in upper St. Louis bay and into the banks of the river beyond Big island, the government has improved the channel by deepening the ship course between the banks and between the dock lines and substantially through the middle of the channel. The sinuous course of deepest soundings which was impracticable for ship course in modern commerce, has been improved by a better course less sinuous, but curving with the general course of the boundary waters and greatly facilitating commerce thereon. Two great cities are growing up on opposite shores whose interests, unaffected by friendly rivalry, are in the broad sense in common. It is the view of the Minnesota committee that the bed of all these waters, so far as title is concerned, rests in the respective states in sovereign capacity as an inalienable trust. That the interstate boundary line therein should be settled as a matter of convention on a broad and practical basis, so as to preserve to each state and the citizens thereof access to the navigable and navigated waters. That this principle and the constitutional boundary will be given full force and effect by extending the line from the Superior entry, between Minnesota and Wisconsin Points, midway between the dock lines, as near as may be, to and through the entry between Rice's and Connor's Points, passing through the center of the swing pier of the Interstate bridge and midway between the two draws of the Northern Pacific bridge and trestle, thence up through the middle of St. Louis bay, midway between the harbor lines, passing through the center of the swing pier of the Northern Pacific Grassy Point bridge and through the middle of the upper St. Louis bay, midway between the dock lines, and as the waters narrow in upper St. Louis bay between Big island and the Minnesota shore, through the middle of the improved government channel, which passes substantially through the middle of the waters at the upper end of the bay and St. Louis river. Such a conclusion reported to our respective states and confirmed by the legislatures thereof and by congress, would settle for all time any controversy of the boundary lines. In these waters without injustice to either state, and preserve for the states, their citizens and their industries, the full benefits contemplated in making these navigable waters the boundary between the states.

"We do not consider this a matter of trade in any strict sense, but that the solution sought should be such as to give effect to the principle and purpose above mentioned. If it is deemed that such solution involves concessions, we submit that they are mutual and equitable.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KNEELAND,
MANLEY L. POSSEEN,
GEORGE A. McKENZIE,
AND. ANDERSON,
Committee.

Although the two commissions were unable to agree, they worked in the most friendly spirit, and in apparent harmony. Mr. Kneeland, chairman of the Minnesota commission, while he regretted that a conclusive decision could not be reached, felt that at the St. Paul meeting a most satisfactory arrangement will be made. He spoke highly of the Wisconsin men, and expressed himself as well pleased with their courtesy toward the Minnesota delegation.

"Although we did not agree on anything definite, yet we understand each other much better now, and I am sure we will reach an agreement at St. Paul next December, which will be entirely satisfactory to both states. The Wisconsin men are fine fellows. They know what they want, but they showed they were not arbitrary, and that they are willing to consider the case from all sides."

WANT AMERICAN CONSULS.

Efforts Will Be Made to Displace Foreigners in Service.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The question of supplanting with American citizens the great number of foreigners who hold positions in the consular service of the United States will be taken up with congress at the next session, when the state department will ask for an additional number of consular assistants to replace men owing allegiance to other countries.

These foreigners are employed as clerks and sometimes occupy the relation of vice consul. The custom of bringing foreigners into the service has grown up, it is said, because of the impossibility to secure Americans for clerical service far away from home with a maximum salary limitation of $1,000. With a greater number of consular assistants, appointed by competitive examinations, who would be eligible for promotion right up through the line of consular service, it is believed the situation can be met.

In some cases the foreigners in the service are also merchants in the towns to which they are accredited. Officials of the state department point out that this seems rather incongruous in view of the fact that the primary object of the consular service is to promote American trade.

Sneezes to Death.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 1.—Stephen Froesil died in a hospital here as a result of hemorrhages started by sneezing. He started to sneeze Aug. 24, and at the same time his nose began to bleed. Physicians could not check the bleeding and death resulted from loss of blood.

WILL CARRY RUBBER BATHTUB WITH HER.

Meeker, Colo., Sept. 1.—Hereafter when Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps of Denver goes motoring over the state on sightseeing trips she will carry a portable rubber bathtub and a small gasoline water heater so that she and her traveling companions may not miss their daily dip.

A few nights ago she drove up to the Meeker hotel and asked for accommodations for herself and a companion. She was given rooms, but soon came down to the office and demanded her bill.

"I must have private baths. If you can't furnish them I will leave."

The clerk explained that Meeker was forty miles from the nearest railroad and that the hotel could not boast of a Fifth avenue equipment. The clerk suggested that perhaps Mrs. Phipps and her friend might be accommodated at Steamboat Springs, 115 miles by the nearest overland road. Mrs. Phipps and Miss McMurtry left immediately. It was dark and storming, but Mrs. Phipps left over the mountain road in her automobile. "I simply can't do without my bath," she said.

Fall Hats for Children

—We are splendidly ready with attractive hats for the little folks to wear to school. The line has been selected with a view to giving the very nattiest effects at the lowest possible cost—hats that are serviceable, stylish and inexpensive.

—There are pleasing selections in the little hood effect shapes and poke bonnets, trimmed with ribbon bands and coming in the various shades for Fall, prices range from $1.98 to $2.75.

—The Rough Rider shapes of felt are the "darlingest" creations evolved for children for many seasons. The brims are turned up abruptly in front, and there's much dash and charm in the "lines" of the hats. Some are trimmed with light or heavy cords, others with ribbon bands—these in the wanted colors, and selling at $1.98 to $2.75.

—The Pantomime hat with it's high peaked crown, is about the height of fashion in children's millinery. The shapes are of felt and come in colors green, red, blue, white and black, trimmed with three velvet bands placed at different positions on the crown and caught with chenille rosettes, $2.75.

Women's to 3.75 Umbrellas 2.25

Friction Transfer Patterns 10c

—This is a new idea in the transfer pattern line. Patterns are prepared so that by the mere rubbing of the finger across the back will transfer the design to any article, and several impressions may be made from each design. There is a full range of designs for embroidering, painting or pyrography, per package, 10c.

Tailored Suits 19.50, 25.00 and 29.50

—Chic lines of Fall suits are becoming more complete with each express. Already there's extensive lines for choosing in the newest ideas recently evolved in the hub of fashions.

—Popular materials are cheviots, serges, homespuns, diagonals and tweeds, and popular colors are black, navy, brown, gray and mixtures. Coats are 28 to 30 inches long, and skirts developed along the latest lines.

—Showings are particularly interesting at $19.50, $25 and $29.50.

New Polo Coats 19.50 to 34.50

—Swagger new models, loose-fitting styles that show exquisite taste in their draping. Some have shawl, some sailor and some convertible collars, and are made up in plain colors, double-faced cloths and mixtures. Prices range from $19.50 to $34.50.

Splendid Showings of Fall Millinery

—The cool days cause thoughts to turn to Fall millinery. Demand has already become quite brisk. Of course, the early hats are the inexpensive sort, between season ideas, but nevertheless jaunty and charming.

—In many models there's the helmet influence, though the crowns are higher and often peaked. Shapes are usually of felt, though velvet and Ottoman are popular. Trimmings are velvet, and silk drapes, mercury wings, coque, chenille and fringe. The price range begins at $3.98 and ranges upward by easy degrees to $10.

HEN HAWK TRIES TO PLUCK DIAMOND OFF MAN'S SHIRT.

New York, Sept. 1.—A hen hawk early tried to pluck a diamond stud from the shirt bosom of Thomas Norwood of Brookdale, N. J. It is supposed the bird thought it was dealing with a glowing worm. Norwood tried to beat off the bird with his hands, but failed, and then Jonah, a pet game rooster, flew to its master's aid and pecked out the hawk's eyes.

Finally Norwood wrung the hawk's neck, but not before the bird, whose wings had torn most of the clothes off him. It had also got in one grab on the faithful rooster and torn out most of the latter's tail. Jonah was still game enough to put to flight a neighbor's bulldog that had butted in to see the fracas.

WHEN TORN FROM SEA, HE HAS ANOTHER TEAR.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 1.—Beach lifeguards performed a double rescue of Abraham Freeman. First they pulled him from the water. In doing so they tugged too hard at his bathing suit, and as Freeman emerged from the brine he also emerged from the torn garment. The suit was lost in the breakers.

Attired only in his birthday garb, Freeman hid behind the side of the boat. One of the guards swam ashore, where he made vain search for a barrel. Then he tried a bath house, but all the suits were out. Finally the guards pieced together an improvised rig of sweaters, borrowed from friendly bathers. Freeman donned this and scooted under the walk and to his hotel, while discreet women turned their heads away and laughing men applauded.

SALVATION OF INDIAN

Results From the Right Kind of Industrial Education.

Carlisle Graduates Leading in Transition on Cherokee Reservation.

Carlisle, Pa., Sept. 1.—The Carlisle graduates and returned students are the leaders in the transition which is taking place among the more than 2,000 Cherokee Indians in North Carolina, which is resulting in rapidly severing these Indians from government guardianship and winning them to independent citizenship, according to Supt. M. Friedman of the Carlisle Indian school, who has just returned from an extended visit to the Cherokee reservation.

Mr. Friedman states that the right kind of industrial education results in the salvation of the Indian people and that when this has been given, as in the case of a number of Cherokees who have attended Carlisle, they are among America's best workmen. He says the Indian is not lazy but needs to be taught how to work to the best advantage. His emancipation from "Indianism," in so far as this denotes idleness and leaning on the government, may be said to have already commenced at Cherokee.

The Eastern Cherokees have sent their children mostly to the Carlisle Indian school, and the result of their training is immediately manifest. Everywhere on the reservation these returned students are taking a front rank in industry, sobriety and in leading their people to the good in citizenship.

At the boarding school which the federal government maintains on the reservation, practically all of the Indian employes are graduates or returned students from Carlisle.

Carlisle Graduates.

The young man who is commandant of the boys is a Carlisle graduate. Besides his manifold duties, he is the handy man about the place, being in charge of a model school farm and teaching industrial work. He is married and well thought of by the officials. One of the day school teachers is a Carlisle girl. The school engineer is a Carlisle boy, as are also four other members of the school and agency force.

The finest field of corn on the reservation, and as good as the best under cultivation by the neighboring whites, belongs to a Carlisle boy, who, when he first came to school, was very unpromising. This same young man, now happily married, and the owner of a modern home, is a recognized leader leader among the Cherokees. He is the man spoken of as most likely to be elected chief of the tribe at the next election early in October. He has represented his people with ability at Washington on several occasions in important tribal matters.

Two sons of the present chief who attended Carlisle are working with the railroad. Another Indian has the finest home on the reservation, is a prosperous farmer and runs a successful store. This same Indian has the good will of the prominent white merchants in the nearby towns and can get goods at any time on his signature. He is spoken of as being absolutely reliable and trustworthy in his business dealings.

All Doing Well.

All of the other returned students are doing well, cultivating good farms and living clean lives. The agency physician stated that he knew immediately when an Indian had been away to school, because the inside of that home is clean, well furnished and sanitary.

The Carlisle girls are mistresses of nice homes and are living up to their training. One is married to a prosperous Indian merchant, who has a model home. It is rumored that another, who has just returned from Carlisle, will marry one of the government's Indian employes, who graduated from Carlisle last year.

Mr. Friedman points with pride to the results on the Cherokee reservation and is optimistic about the early assimilation of these red men as citizens. Many of them are already beginning to pay taxes. Each year sees them more independent of the federal government and the time should not be far distant when they will be allotted, pay taxes, vote intelligently, and be recognized as industrious, Christian citizens.

SEEKS HERO TO KILL DREAM THIEF

Little Girl Found Asleep on Porch of Boy Playmate.

New York, Sept. 1.—Miss Mary McHugh awoke at her home at No. 53 Webster avenue, Parkville, Brooklyn, the other morning at 1 o'clock and discovered that her niece, Clara Purdon, 4 years old, was missing from her side. Miss McHugh searched the house, but there was no trace of the child. Neighbors were aroused and the police were informed. Miss McHugh said Clara had been living with her for almost four years, since the child's mother died. Her father, David Purdon, is an assistant engineer on the battleship Utah.

Many neighbors thought little Clara had been kidnaped. It had rained hard in the early morning hours, and as all the child's clothing was in place it was evident she had gone out, or been taken out, in her night dress.

Soon after dawn Frederick Lohmer looked from a rear window of his home, No. 50 Webster avenue. On the stoop, fast asleep, was the missing Clara. The rain was beating down on her and her face was blue from cold. Lohmer hurried with her to the aunt's home, where Clara awoke. She said she had had an awful dream. She thought a big, ugly man was in the house and was going to kill her and her aunt; so she decided to go for Fred Lohmer, Jr., 7 years old, her playmate, who she was sure could capture the big, ugly man.

Before going over to Fred's home she went to the rear yard of her home to see if Togo, a bulldog, was in his kennel.

"I knew Togo would take care of auntie," she explained.

She could not enter by the front door of the Lohmer house, so she went to the rear. Of course that door also was locked. There sleep overcame her. The doctors said Clara would not suffer any serious consequences from her adventure.

TO BENEFIT THE FARMER

Conservation Congress Will Deal With Fertility of the Soil.

America Has Been Mining Its Soil Rather Than Farming It.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—During the forty years from 1860 to 1900 the United States lost more fertility on its old acreage than it gained by the addition of virgin acres. America has been mining its soil rather than farming it.

These statements seem rather extravagant but they are made on the authority of Henry Wallace of Iowa, whose word about agriculture and agricultural conditions is accepted generally without question. It is Mr. Wallace who characterized the American agriculturists of the last century as soil pirates rather than soil farmers. Mr. Wallace has been a farmer himself for the last fifty years and at the same time a careful student of farming. He is the president of the National Conservation congress, which is to meet in Kansas City, Sept. 25-27, and it is largely through his motion that this conservation congress is to deal almost exclusively with soil conservation. President Taft will speak at the opening session of the congress, Sept. 25, and "Conservation" will be his subject.

Soil Conservation.

The two previous congresses hardly touched the matter of the farmer and the farm. In Seattle two years ago forests were almost the sole topic; in St. Paul last year public lands were discussed mainly. Mr. Wallace believes that soil conservation is of at least as much importance to America today as the conservation of the forests and protection of public lands.

"Soil fertility is a problem quite as important to the man who consumes farm products as to the man who produces them," said Mr. Wallace at the conservation headquarters here today. "Neither the farmer nor the consumer realizes the extent to which our unrivaled soil fertility has been wasted. Although untold millions of virgin acres needing neither ax nor tiling spade have been added to our cultivated area year by year for fifty years, it is only in the last few years that the average yield per acre has shown a tendency to increase, and that small increase has been due to awakened agricultural departments in state and nation, the real study of agriculture in our colleges and experiment stations.

"For more than forty years previous to the last decade we have lost more fertility on the old acreage than we gained by the addition of the virgin acres. We have, speaking generally, been mining, not farming, our soil fertility and sending it all over the world at the bare cost of mining. On some of the best soils naturally in the world we produce less wheat per acre than any nation in the Old World save Russia and India, where the soil has been farmed for thousands of years. Enough has been done to show that we can farm as well as mine fertility, create as well as waste.

The Cities Interested.

"The conservation of this soil fertility, the greatest asset remaining to the American people, will be the main burden of the discussion of the third national conservation congress. It will meet in Kansas City, in the very heart of the country that must feed and clothe the hungry nations. The cities are beginning to realize that they must have a bread and butter foundation under them and are interested in farm problems as never before.

"The farmer's life is quite as important as his work. In order to make farm life satisfying to the boys and girls who are growing up on these prairies, an effort will be made at this congress to develop the social side as well as the industrial side; to interest the farmer's wife and daughters as well as the farmer and his sons. The educational and religious side of the farm will be considered as well as its material side, and by those best qualified to speak on this important phase of farm life. The best methods of co-operation will have a place on the program. In short, nothing which vitally concerns the farmer and his family will be out of place on the program at Kansas City.

"I earnestly ask the co-operation of every farmer and every farm organization, and every man who is interested in the development of character on the farm or in the town. We can add in the next five years 25 per cent to the yields of the crops grown on the farms of the United States, and thus put the means of cheaper living within the reach of our constantly growing city population while at the same time bring about a period of better living on the farm."

NAVAL ROMANCE ENDS IN DIVORCE

Beautiful Annabelle Lee Gets Decree From Lieut. Morris.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 1.—On the verandas of smart homes at Short Beach and other fashionable shore colonies in this vicinity, society talk has as its principal topic the news just received from San Francisco that Mrs. Annabelle Lee Morris had obtained a divorce from Lieut. Robert Morris, U. S. N.

Among those who discussed the news were men from several of New Haven's wealthiest and most prominent families, who were disconsolate at the time their suits for the hand of beautiful Annabelle Lee were rejected and she bestowed it on the young navy officer. She had been prominent at Short Beach for several seasons when Lieut. Morris wooed and won her there.

One of the happy episodes of the brilliant wedding feast was the rollocking act of the bride who received from her husband his sword in playful surrender, and with it cut the wedding cake.

Protege of a Poetess.

Mrs. Morris is the daughter of George Miles Lee of Tariffville, Conn., and the granddaughter of the late James Parish Lee, inventor of the Lee rifle. Her family occupied one of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's cottages at Short Beach, and Annabelle Lee was a protege of the writer and poet.

Miss Lee traveled extensively and first met Lieut. Morris in San Francisco. During the summer of 1906 she was one of a party bound up the Thames river on a launch which passed close to a warship anchored at the entrance. Lieut. Morris was on the vessel and recognizing Miss Lee, hailed her.

He soon found out where she was summering and called on her. A courtship began which progressed rapidly, as Lieut. Morris did not know how long he would be stationed at New London. The wedding at Stonington on Sept. 15, 1906, was attended by Lieut. Morris's brother officers and members of the summer colonies in the vicinity.

Says Hubby Was Inhuman.

The young couple went to the Pacific coast, where they have spent the greater part of their time since. Mrs. Morris sought her divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. One of her allegations was that her husband, while dining with her in their home in Officers' row, Goat Island, threw a plate of meat in her face.

Mrs. Morris is an attractive brunette and was educated in a Roman Catholic convent. The couple have two children. The decree is interlocutory and gives Mrs. Morris the custody of her 4-year-old daughter, while Lieut. Morris retains their little son. Lieut. Morris is stationed at Goat island.

GOOD AND BAD CORSETS.

Journal of the American Medical Association: The good corset is laced about the hips and holds its place independent of garters or straps. It has a straight front. It is only form fitting or loose about the waist and bust. It does not diminish the waist measure. It laces from below upward by means of two or more lace strings. A bad corset exercises its greatest compression about the waist and diminishes its measure from two to four inches. It is loose about the hips and held down by garters or by tight lacing above.

THANKSGIVING SPIRIT.

Los Angeles Times: "There is always something to be thankful for," said Clifford B. Harmon, the well-known aviator, apropos of Thanksgiving day. "You know what Tomlinson said.

"'There's always something to be thankful for,' said Tomlinson, as he tuned up the Gnome motor of his monoplane. 'There's Smith, for instance, just fallen off his bi-plane and fractured his left arm.'

"'Gracious!' said a bystander, 'Surely you're not thankful that Smith has fractured his arm.'

"'Yes,' said Tomlinson. 'I'm thankful it's him instead of me.'"

Pure Blood on Pike's Peak

A group of scientists composed of two doctors of medicine from Oxford University, England, one from Yale and one from Colorado College, who conducted experiments on Pike's Peake during the past summer, have announced that at that altitude the blood is richer in red corpuscles and therefore purer and more capable of repelling and combating disease.

Unfortunately, many who need richer, purer blood cannot live at a high altitude because their means of livelihood is nearer the sea level. To these it is important that the red corpuscles in the blood can be increased and the same resulting benefits gained by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Read this evidence:

Mrs. Ida Keller, of R. F. D. No. 2, Tunnel City, Wis., says: "I was all run down, could not do any work, had no appetite and was not able to sleep. I had night sweats, which were very weakening and my feet and limbs were swollen. My stomach was in bad condition. My head ached all of the time and I was subject to dizzy spells. I became reduced in weight from 148 to 106 pounds and was confined to bed for days at a time. I was under the care of two doctors but they gave me relief only for the time being. My mother finally advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I did so to please her. Before I had taken the pills long I felt much better. I gained rapidly in flesh, could eat without distress and soon felt like myself again. I always speak well of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for I know they saved my life."

If you are interested in the cure of any disease dependent upon pure blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, stomach trouble, nervous disorders, after-effects of the grip and of fevers, write today for the booklet, "WHY RED BLOOD MEANS HEALTH." It will be mailed free to any address.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all druggists or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. The genuine pills are sold only in packages bearing the well-known trademark as shown here.

Thomas A. Edison Has Exciting Experience on His Foreign Tour.

Automobile Skidded Down Steep Incline Toward a Precipice.

New York, Sept. 1.—A special cable dispatch to the World from Interlaken, Switzerland, says: Thomas A. Edison arrived here after the most exciting experience of his foreign tour, in which the inventor and his family narrowly escaped being dashed to death over an Alpine precipice.

On the way from Geneva the party lunched at Evian-les-Bains and then resumed the journey to Interlaken. The route they took passes through some of the grandest mountain scenery in Switzerland.

Near the little village of Toubois the car was mounting a steep hill at high speed. Half way up the driver discovered that he had made a mistake in the route. The road was narrow, but he attempted to turn around. The car skidded backward down a steep incline off the road in the direction of a neighboring abyss. The driver tried to get back to the road, but only succeeded in turning the near wheels to such a position that the machine was arrested on the very edge of a precipice with a clean drop of fifty feet to a torrent below.

Much shaken up by the hairbreadth escape, the party alighted and waited while aid was summoned to drag the car out of the soft mud in which it was embedded. A neighboring farm supplied a team of oxen and after considerable tugging the machine gained a place of security.

After satisfying himself that the shock to the rest of the party had no lasting effect Mr. Edison declared that it added much to the fun of the trip that he had to apply such primitive power as a yoke of oxen to get him out of a dilemma.

After an hour's delay the party started on the way to Interlaken, but at moderate speed, the inventor consenting to slack up on the ground that the scenery deserved more leisurely notice.

"It is the finest mountain panorama we have yet seen in our European travels," he declared enthusiastically. "It is the first that has come up to my expectations."

During a halt at Thonon-les-Bains, on the south shore of the Lake of Geneva west of Evian-les-Bains, Mr. Edison declared himself in favor of reciprocity between the United States and Canada. He read in a morning newspaper that Premier Laurier had announced that he will retire from public life if Canada votes against reciprocity.

Favors Reciprocity With Canada.

"There ought to be no restriction on trade between the two countries," Mr. Edison remarked. "We are one people, we speak the same language, we have the same ideas and eventually we must become one."

Mr. Edison has great faith in the Anglo-Saxon race as the highest motive force in civilization.

"Did I tell you," he asked the World correspondent, "of the loom test proving the relative degree of mentality in peoples? Well, there is an intricate weaving machine, so perfect in operation as to only require the general supervision of one man. Now, it has been demonstrated that an American can guard sixteen such machines, an Englishman twelve, a German ten, an Italian eight and a Chinaman merely three. That is how to rate the degrees of brains in different peoples. The test is scientifically accurate.

American Brain the Quickest.

"It shows that we have the quickest brains going. We are natural inventors. The world owes its practical advance to us. California is particularly wonderful. The people of that state are extraordinary. What an influence a particular locality has on its inhabitants, especially where they're pioneers. The Californians are the only men the Swiss could teach nothing in applying water-power.

"Next to us the English have the best practical brains. I like the English. I admire their institutions and statesmen; how the country is run. But the trouble with them is that they are lazy. Imagine our business men dropping work to go out of an afternoon to play golf and other games. The English talk of loving sport, but the real reason they take so much exercise is that their over-eaters have to work off the beef and porter they consume.

"I hear a great deal of talk about their chauvinism and desire for British industry for the British people. But I notice that when they can buy goods in America cheaper than in Glasgow patriotism doesn't prevent them saving their shillings.

"The French are a saving people, perhaps as saving as any in the world. Their virtues are oddly mixed up with their vices. They have savings, but they have to put the money out at foreign interest. Land investment with them is practically nil. Going through that country I was struck with the lack of any new buildings going up. With them it is a case of 'construction account closed,' as we say in America.

Denounces Cigarettes.

"I noticed no new building, but what I did notice was that every Frenchman had a cigarette in his mouth. It is the cigarette that causes their degeneracy everywhere. It is not the tobacco, it is the paper wrapping. The curse of absinthe is nothing to that of cigarettes. The world ought to follow Indiana in its legislation prohibiting the sale of cigarettes, which are worse than poison. In the common use of cigarettes the combustion creates acrolein. The effect of acrolein on the brain is what physicians call irreversible. Mentally deteriorated by acrolein never recovers its normal state.

"The Latin race are the greatest cigarette smokers, and they are the most degenerate of European nations. As you see in the test, the Chinese are the lowest in the mental scale. It is a known fact about the Chinese that they can stand a surgical operation without an anaesthetic.

"I believe firmly in the yellow evil. The only disadvantage in having the Chinese in our land is, we don't want anybody there that reduces the standard of activity and brains. Let the ports be thrown open so that all shall contribute to progress, but discrimination is necessary for safety's sake. Liberty is an abused term. There is no freedom where there is no chance to live and work. We want our land to be one where any one who has something good to give to the world can find conditions to make it.

"What produces in me a positive feeling of pain is the thought that any fine individual faculties are wasted, as often happens in the hard conditions of today. We need every brain that thinks, has ideas and can act. 'A chance for everybody' ought to be the rock basis of our great American land."

LONG TIM AND FAMILY OF FORTY-NINE UNITED.

New York, Sept. 1.—Long Tim, his wife and forty-eight sons and daughters had a reunion in Bronx Zoo, where Tim arrived last Saturday night.

Husband and wife looked at each other as though they had not been separated for months, and the father was so well satisfied with his progeny that he just curled up and went to sleep, while the forty-eight little Tims squirmed up by their mother and dozed off.

Mrs. Tim is the biggest Anaconda in captivity. She is twenty-four feet long. She was given to Bronx Zoo by W. W. Mole of Trinidad, and some weeks ago, when she hatched out fifty-seven young ones, Curator Ditmars wrote Mr. Mole of the happy event.

Mr. Mole informed the curator that he knew where the father of the brood was, and added:

"Do you want him?"

Mr. Ditmars cabled that he did and Saturday a crate came containing Long Tim. He measured twenty-two feet and was got to the Zoo with difficulty. The reunion of the snake family was postponed to give Long Tim a chance to rest after his travels.

Soon after the hatching of the fifty-seven varieties nine of the youngsters disappeared. It has been suggested that probably the big mother wheted her appetite on them.

WOMAN MOB LEADER

When Etherington Was Lynched, Commits Suicide at Newark, Ohio.

Newark, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Alice Potts, who came here from Wellston, Ohio, recently and assumed the name of Mabel McManaway, committed suicide by taking poison at her home here. She formerly lived at Zanesville, and is said to have been the woman in the case with the mob at the Etherington lynching. During the enactment of the tragedy a woman called from the crowd to draw the victim higher.

OBJECT TO THE PIANO

Tenants Move Because of Incessant Practice By Dakota Girl.

Claimed That She Ran the Scales Ten Hours a Day.

New York, Sept. 1.—Although Miss Truth G. Gemmill, daughter of State Senator W. C. Gemmill of South Dakota, has gone to her home, and never again will practice the scales in the apartments of Prof. William C. Rehm, teacher of music on the ground floor of the five-story house at 207 West Eighty-seventh street, at least two other tenants in the building will not renew their leases. They are going to move for fear Prof. Rehm may get another ambitious pupil who will run the scales as Miss Gemmill did. They say Miss Gemmill began her practice at 8 a. m., and stopped at 6 p. m., allowing herself a few minutes for luncheon.

"Yes, I am going to move," said C. C. Kay, who has occupied apartments on the fourth floor for the past eleven years. "Won't take a chance at another lease. I simply couldn't stand another dose of running the scales for a year."

"I'm going out too," declared Frank B. Bloodgood, who has lived on the fifth floor for twelve years. "No more piano practicing for me if I can help it."

The Professor's Story.

"It's perfectly ridiculous," Prof. Rehm said when seen by a reporter. "Miss Gemmill was a most apt pupil and determined to learn. She came to our house last September to live at the invitation of my wife, and a back room was given her. She brought her piano, and I'll admit she did practice many, many hours a day.

"I also have my own piano in the front room, where I instructed other pupils. I could hear Miss Gemmill practicing, but she never disturbed me, and I cannot see why she should have disturbed others, even though the notes were heard.

"Mr. Kay was the first to complain. He went to the owner of the house, Mrs. Grossner, No. 349 Central Park west, last April, and told her it was impossible for him to continue to live in the place if the piano practicing continued. A few weeks later Mr. Bloodgood called on the owner of the house next door and got him to complain to Mrs. Grossner. She then communicated with me.

"And what did I do then?" the professor added. "Why, I had the young woman's piano removed to another position and muffled it so that it could not sound through the court. But this did not satisfy them. Those persons behaved badly."

Tin Pans and Pail of Water.

Some time after the second complaint had been made Miss Gemmill was playing the scales on the muffled piano one afternoon when a pail of water was hurled into the court. Then from many windows tenants stuck their heads and proceeded to beat on tin pans and other kitchen utensils. Such was the din that the South Dakota girl burst into tears.

Miss Gemmill's long hours of practice and her tuition made her a finished pianist more than a month ago. She had never entirely recovered from the tin pan beating and the pail of water, and she headed for the West a finished pianist but a sad girl.

"Why are you going to move now that Miss Gemmill has changed her abode?" Mr. Kay was asked.

"Well, there may be some other ambitious daughter of a senator or some one else," was the answer. "I like to hear the professor play. I'd stay awake to hear him any time, and if I ever heard Miss Gemmill do a real stunt no doubt I'd be equally pleased. It's those scales that have got on my nerves."

Sol. Grossner, son of the owner of the house, said that complaints had been made to his mother because of the piano practising, and that Mr. Kay and Mr. Bloodgood had announced they were going to move.

"We are extremely sorry such a thing has happened," he added, "but there is nothing we can do about it."

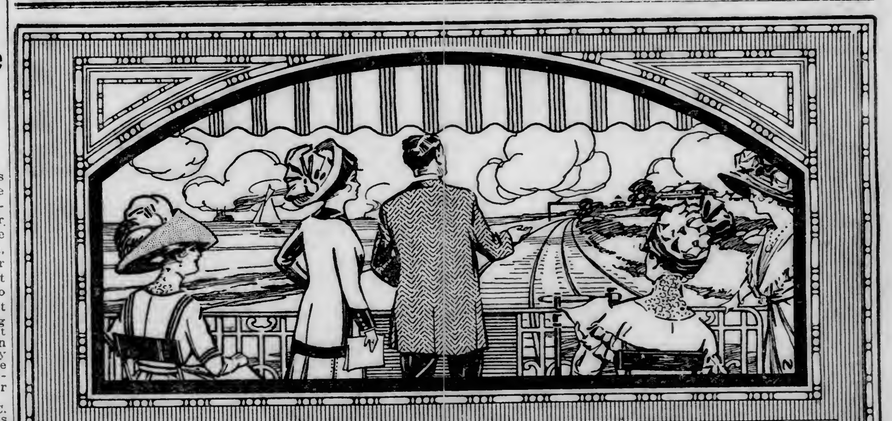

LEAVES SOCIETY TO BE THE WIFE OF A FARMER.

New York, Sept. 1.—Beautiful Miss Leonora Brokaw, wealthy in her own right, whose family has been prominent in New York society for half a century, who jilted three youths from the four hundred and who discarded the Knickerbocker set to become a farmette, is so enamored of the life that she has determined to settle down as a farmer's wife. Her engagement to a Long Island farmer will shortly be announced.

Since Miss Brokaw, who is a cousin of Gould Brokaw, announced upon her return from Newport in company with Mrs. Belmont's farmettes, that society is shallow and vapid and that no one with brains or ambition could rest content in the four hundred, she had been flooded with proposals from all over the land.

She declared that the efforts of these men are useless, as she has already made her choice.

CURE FOR SUMMER COMPLAINT

At no time of the year are the bowels put to severer test than during the hot weather. Thousands become afflicted with "summer complaint," or running off of the bowels. The cause very often lies in the drinking of impure water, the eating of unripe fruit or tainted food. But whatever the cause it is useless to try to cure the trouble with an astringent remedy, an opiate, or salts and such things. The bowels need not only a thorough cleaning out, but the stomach needs strengthening and toning, so that they may have a new start. All this is best obtained by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a great stomach, liver and bowel cleanser. It will quickly stop the unnatural passages, which are so weakening and give rise to vertigo. Thousands of families are using it steadily and thereby avoid all digestive troubles summer and winter. Buy a 50 cent or $1.00 bottle today of your druggist and you will be surprised at the quick and lasting effects. You will find it a mild, gentle laxative, agreeable to young and old. Those who have never tried it can obtain a SAMPLE FOR A TEST FREE OF CHARGE by sending their address to

FRUITS ARE VERY CHEAP

Heavy Supply of California Fruit on the Market—Small Demand.

Pickling Materials Are Plentiful But Will Soon Be Gone.

The produce market is always offering exceptional opportunities of one kind or another that can greatly benefit the thrifty housewife, if she will but watch her chances and see what she can do to provide for the family table in the best way and at the lowest possible cost.

Just now she has a great chance to get California fruits at low prices. The fruit market is very inactive. Dealers do not seem to know why this is the case. The only reason they can assign to it is that people do not care to spend their money on fruits when the weather is as cool as it has been for some days. There are plenty of California fruits for sale at low figures. For peaches the wholesalers are now receiving 55 cents a box. The price has been $1 a box. Pears, which have been bringing $2 a box, are now at $1.50. These are eating pears. They will not do for preserving. The pears that will do for putting up will come a little later from New York and Michigan. These are a hardier kind than the Californias.

Potatoes Are Higher.

Malaga grapes are now down at $1.50 a crate. They have been selling at $1.75 to $1.85 a crate. Other grapes have also been cheapening. The market for cantaloupes has all gone to pieces. This is true of both the Californias and the Colorados. Both are selling at $1.25 a crate. A short time ago the price ranged from $2 to $2.25 a crate.

Crutapples are very scarce and there is a big demand for them. They are wanted mostly for jelly-making. They are now selling for $4.50 to $5 a barrel. Somehow the crabapple crop is very poor this year and before long there will be no crabapples on the market. They may be gone after five or six days.

Apples will probably be getting more plentiful very soon. The Wealthies will be coming in in large quantities.

Most of the fruits on the market now are the Californias, but after another week there will be abundant additional supplies from Utah, Oregon and Nevada. These fruits will consist mostly of peaches, plums and pears.

Potatoes are Higher.

The potato market, which was very weak a week ago, has been strengthening up considerably. Potatoes were bringing only 75 cents a bushel, but they are now selling at 90 cents.

Sweet potatoes are coming in very plentifully. They are selling at wholesale at $2 a bushel, which is not a high price.

Those who are intending to put up pickles and have not yet bought the goods should do so at the first opportunity. There are peppers, cucumbers, pickling onions, tomatoes and other pickling vegetables on the market now, but after the first heavy frost, there will be no more. This heavy frost may come at any time now.

With the advent of colder weather, there will probably be a stiffening up in the cheese market before long. The season is getting pretty late and the cows are drying up. For the same reason, butter is likely to go higher before long. Eggs will probably remain steady for some time to come.

Granulated sugar has been getting steadily higher and there is no prospect of its cheapening for a long time to come. The grocers are now paying the wholesalers $6.63 a hundred pounds for it, whereas a week ago the price was $6.33. It has been going up steadily for several weeks. Two months ago a hundred pounds could be bought for about $1.25 less than now. The increase is due, in the main, to the poor sugar beet crop in Europe and the shortness of the crop of sugar-making materials in Cuba.

FRANK DUFFY WILL VISIT IN DULUTH

Prominent Labor Leader Will Spend Day at Head of Lakes.

Frank Duffy, general secretary of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners of America, will be in Duluth on Labor day, and will no doubt participate in the day's celebrations on both sides of the bay. During his sojourn in the Twin Ports he will be the guest of the members of the district council. Mr. Duffy, as representative of the American Federation of Labor, is on his way to attend a mass meeting of the Canadian Trades and Labor congress that meets at Calgary. He will leave Duluth Tuesday evening at 7:10 o'clock for Winnipeg.

The district council is arranging to have him deliver an address at the Bricklayers' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, immediately after the parade, or about 11:30 o'clock a. m.

Mr. Duffy is regarded as one of the strongest leaders in the labor movement. He is a man of strong personality, clear convictions, and possessed of more than ordinary ability as a speaker.

CHANGES WILL BE RECOMMENDED

Investigating Committee Expected to Suggest Improvements in City's Methods.

Any prediction of the report of the paving investigation committee is mere speculation at present, as the members of the committee are reticent and Attorney Arthur Crassweller, who is engaged in the formal work of drawing up the report is also unwilling to make any statements in regard to it.

It is generally understood, however, that there will be some recommendations embracing important changes in the way street improvements are conducted. The employment of more efficient and, if necessary, higher salaried men as inspectors for the engineer's department is likely to be one of the principal recommendations of the investigators, and it is generally believed that the department is due for some possibly severe criticism and that a number of changes in its organization will be recommended.

has resulted in some instances in a cheap and unsatisfactory pavement being chosen, and the report may recommend some sort of change in this regard. The investigation started in a criticism of the present methods of letting contracts, but nothing developed to show a flaw in the present system, and it is generally believed that there will be no recommendation for a change in this regard.

The committee has held one session this week, and may meet again before the report is submitted to the council Monday evening.

CHEER LAURIER IN NOVA SCOTIA

Premier Makes Series of Speeches for Reciprocity Measure.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 1.—Continuing his campaign through the maritime provinces in favor of the reciprocity measure, Premier Sir Wilfrid Laurier toured Nova Scotia yesterday and last night. He was accorded an enthusiastic welcome everywhere.

At Shubenacadie, Truro, Stellarton and Pictou great crowds gathered around the rear platform of the premier's special train. Sir Wilfrid delivered his principal address at New Glasgow in the evening.

Make Americans British.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 1.—Hon. F. Haultain, leader of the Conservatives in Saskatchewan, does not attach so much importance to the annexation arguments as his colleagues in the East. When it came to a question of annexation to the United States, he said at Regina yesterday that he was just as good a Britisher as any one else, and would go a long way rather than sacrifice his British birthright or connection, and for the sake of it would be willing to forego tariff reductions and many other things if it were necessary. But he was not prepared to set up his British proclivities when there was no necessity for so doing, for if right and proper tendencies were allowed to prevail, Americans would ultimately become good Britishers as well.

MOVE FOR HOMES FOR AMERICAN MINISTERS.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Ambassadors and ministers of the American foreign service have been instructed by the state department to submit estimates for construction or purchase by the United States of homes for them in every foreign capital of the world. This is in accordance with recent authority granted by congress providing for government ownership of consulate homes, in order to relieve the diplomats of the enormous expense of rent, which in some cases exceeds their salaries.

KEPT FROM LIGHT OF DAY 10 MONTHS

Girl Found in Dentist's Office Testifies at His Hearing.

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 1.—Dr. A. W. McDavitt, a dentist, charged with a statutory offense following the alleged imprisonment for fifteen months in his offices here of Jessie McDonald, a high school girl, was held to answer before the superior court yesterday. Heavily guarded by armed deputies, McDavitt was brought into court from the jail at Riverside, twelve miles from here, where he had been secretly kept for two weeks to prevent an expected demonstration against him.

Miss McDonald testified that for ten months, while immured in a little room next to the dentist's office, she did not get a glimpse of daylight. The blinds of her windows always were drawn. For days at a time, she declared, she was without a morsel of food.

When court adjourned D. McDonald, father of the girl, rushed at the prisoner. Deputies prevented him from landing the blow aimed at McDavitt's head. In an instant the courtroom was in an uproar, but the deputies escorted McDavitt out of the room and away to jail before the demonstration took serious form.

IT WILL NOT BE FUTILE.

Under the heading "Good Fight, But Futile," the St. Cloud Journal-Press discusses The Herald's fight for an extra session to increase railroad taxes. In part it says: "The Duluth Herald is making a gallant fight for an extra session of the legislature, and says that it had pledges from a majority of both the house and senate that they would vote for an increase of the gross earnings tax on railroads. The Herald has shown great skill, energy and persistency—but there will be no extra session." After giving its reasons for this belief—which are not at all the real reasons for it if, in the face of a situation that has been created not by The Herald but by the arrogance of the railroads, the neglect of the governor and the aroused will of the people, there is no extra session—the Journal-Press concludes: "It is a good fight that The Herald is making—but it will bring no extra session."

We are by no means so pessimistic on this point as the Journal-Press. But of that, more later.

But even if there is no extra session the fight that The Herald is making with the support of the legislature and the free press and awakened people of this state will not be futile.

At the very least it will demonstate whether this is a free state or a shackled state, whether the state of Minnesota is owned by its people or by the corporate interests, and whether the public officials of this state are servants of the people or serfs of the interests.

And these are very important things to know at this time, because there will be an election next year at which the people will have an opportunity to change conditions if it develops that they are not as they should be.

VERY BAD ADVICE.

Addressing a Massachusetts audience the other day President Taft urged the people of that state to make their state election this fall a test of popular sentiment on national issues.

That advice is so bad that the president ought to be ashamed of it. The states have affairs of their own that are too important to be smothered by consideration of national affairs, for which a time and place is provided. The important thing in any state election is not whether the Democratic party or the Republican party gains a victory, or whether the president is indorsed or discredited, but whether the right principles of state government and the right kind of men to carry them out prevail.

It had been hoped that we had outgrown that sort of thing. Most of the people have. Apparently the president has not.

"THE NEW ALIGNMENT."

The Boston Transcript, discussing the party split which radiates more or less through both parties, says:

"The fact that the Democrats and insurgents in the senate split with reference to a number of tariff schedules was another chapter in the history of this political tariff-making. It is rather surprising that this coalition should have held together as long as it did, and it would be very embarrassing and difficult to the insurgent Republicans to carry on a national campaign next year with Democratic backing unless by that time they have themselves organized into a third party. This is impracticable so far as all the insurgents are concerned, for some of them will certainly remain with the party in case of a split. There is much plausibilty in the statement that the present party alignment cannot continue, that since Roosevelt came in there have been really only two parties in this country, one for Roosevelt and the other against him, and that the coming campaign is likely to be fought between these two parties no matter what their labels are. This makes the political conventions and the campaign of next year of more interest than any campaign since the Bryan-McKinley struggle of 1896. The likelihood that the conservative party, which has been the Republican, may be led by President Taft, a conservative, and the Democrats may be led by a progressive radical like Wilson, is an engaging one. If, however, the Democrats nominate Governor Harmon, a conservative, then the campaign will be between two conservative parties and if the radicals nominate a third candidate, a campaign whose outcome it would be almost impossible to predict will result."

To which the Des Moines Register and Leader, a newspaper which has been "progressive" but seems to be becoming embarrassingly overwhelmed by its sense of party loyalty, says: "The trouble with this forecast is that Republicans generally will protest against being tagged the conservative party. The Republicans came into power as a radical party, and as the issues have not changed much in fifty years they are the men today who inaugurate things, and who are ready to stretch the Constitution to make new ventures possible."

The issues have not changed much or at all in fifty years or in five hundred years. The issues—or rather the issue, for there is, after all, but one—always circle about the one central contest between the few and the many, between people and privilege; and this no matter whether privilege takes the form of a hereditary kingship and nobility or a plutocracy bred of special privileges.

The issue never changes, but it changes form, and parties change frequently. The Republican party is the conservative party of this country, and after a number of years of "progressive" activities it still is the conservative party, and even the reactionary party. Whatever its rank and file, its organization and its chiefs are conservative and reactionary. The Register and Leader points to progressive impulses that came from Republicans like Roosevelt, who was foisted on the party by an accident, and La Follette, who is no more Republican than Debs is or Gore; but these no more prove its case than the existence of Bailey, a Democratic reactionary, proves the Democratic party to be reactionary.

Not counting exceptions like La Follette and Bailey, the Republican party is the conservative party and the Democratic party is the radical party of this country. And next year, with Taft's nomination certain and Wilson's very probable, the issue will be more clearly drawn than ever between conservatism and progress.

The improbable event of the nomination of a conservative by the Democrats, putting both parties under reactionary leadership, would create a political convulsion the end or result of which no man can predict.

NOT DULUTH'S BATTLE ALONE.

Speaking of Duluth's fight before the interstate commerce commission to break down the barriers of special privilege in freight rates that are overbuilding the Twin Cities while throttling the growth of Duluth and other communities, the Owatonna Journal-Chronicle says:

"The case is one in which Owatonna and all Southern Minnesota are vitally interested, since it involves the rates of which we have so long complained, the rates which cut us off from any benefit from the lake port of Duluth and compel us to pay the long-haul all-rail rates on coal, etc., from Chicago and the East and also the all-rail rates on grain to Eastern points.

"Duluth has taken up the fight on its own behalf, and a favorable decision means the breaking down of the walls of Twin City discrimination and an opening for the entire readjustment of the discriminatory rates which place an embargo on Southern Minnesota for the benefit of the Twin Cities."

The Owatonna paper is absolutely right. Though this is a Duluth fight and a fight for Duluth's very commercial life, it is not Duluth's fight alone, but the fight of every part of the state which by the system of discriminatory rates that is being attacked is deprived of its right to a share in the benefits from the cheap waterway which nature, supplemented by the government, has built up on the Great Lakes.

LOOKS DANGEROUS.

There are dangerous possibilities in the threatened battle between some of the larger railroads of the country and their shop employes. While the matter still is in the stage of negotiation, there are two disagreeable facts that make for discomfort. First, something like ninety per cent of the men have voted to strike if their demands are not granted. Second, it is painfully evident that the railroads are not willing to grant these demands.

In the face of a threatened strike that may be prolonged, expensive and disastrous, the public can only look on in helpless apprehension. And that condition is fundamentally wrong because, great as are the interests of employer and employe, the public interest in industrial warfare is greater still. A great strike hurts the employer and the employe, but it hurts the public also; and yet there is no provision of law by which the public interests can get themselves considered.

Somewhere between the attitude of the railroads and that of the shop men is right and justice. Probably it isn't all on one side; probably there is some on both sides. It is to be hoped that that point of equity may be developed and will dominate the situation before there is a strike.

THE TARIFF BOARD.

Don't let President Taft or any of his supporters fool you too much about this tariff board which is probing the vitals of the tariff, and whose forthcoming report the country is awaiting with bated breath.

And, above all, don't let anybody's nonsense confuse it in your mind with the tariff commission which people were talking about awhile ago.

A tariff commission would consist of a body of well-paid experts, free from bias and personal interest, which would study the tariff as the interstate commerce commission studies railroad rates, and raise and lower tariff duties as the interstate commerce commission raises and lowers railroad rates—in the interests only of the common good; of the greatest good to the greatest number. It would give American industries the protection to which they are entitled, and no more; it would not tax the people that a few might pave New York's Great White Way with empty champagne bottles and priceless bouquets discarded by their fair friends of the half-world.

The tariff board, on the other hand, is merely a body of men appointed by the president, in the first place, to provide information for applying the maximum and minimum provisions of the Aldrich-Payne bill. Secondarily, it exists to ascertain the difference between the cost of production here and abroad. Congress and the president, doubtless, are expected to measure that "reasonable profit to the manufacturer" which by a new and deliciously paternalistic development has become a part of the Republican theory of protection. The tariff board is not to propose or enact any tariff law; it is merely to provide facts for congress.

A very different thing, you see, from a tariff commission. Still, it is better than nothing. How good it is can only be found out by watching what the president and congress make of its findings.

As constituted, the board doesn't look badly. It might as it stands make a pretty fair tariff commission to which the duty of adjusting the tariff apart from the alarms, confusions and hypocrisies of politics could be committed. Its members are as follows:

Henry C. Emery, chairman — professor of political economy at Yale; native of Maine, graduate of Bowdoin student of economics at Harvard, Columbia and Yale; known as a radical tariff reformer; said to have acted in politics as a Democrat until Bryan's time; said to have taught with a free trade leaning.

Alvin H. Sanders of Chicago—Publisher of the Breeders' Gazette; graduate of Cornell, and long chairman of the American Reciprocity Tariff league, which favors lowering the tariff by way of general reciprocity.

James Burton Reynolds of New York—Graduate of Dartmouth; Washington corespondent of Republican newspapers; assistant secretary of the treasury by appointment of President Roosevelt.

William M. Howard of Georgia—Ex-congressman; Democrat; lawyer; presumably a low-tariff man.

Thomas W. Page of Virginia—Classed as a Democrat; educated at the University of Virginia, Oxford and Paris; for ten years professor of economics at the Universities of Texas and California.

On the whole, not a high tariff or mountain high protection board. But it has no power to revise tariffs. It exists merely to find facts on which congress may, if it wishes, base its revisions

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. KRUTTSCHNITT AND UNION LABORERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The statement of Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president of the Harriman lines, published in The Herald of Aug. 29, relative to the demands of the shopmen is of more than passing interest.

All men of labor should note that the reasons given by Mr. Kruttschnitt in refusing the demands of the shopmen are simply suggestions showing how the workers should organize. Three principles are involved.

He is right in stating that strikes by single crafts on railroad lines were not serious enough to prevent the roads from performing their public services. This applies to any other industry. All strikes lost by craft unions have been lost through their fellow unionists in the same industry, providing means and material for strikebreakers to work.

The capitalist may stand for small, weak individual craft unions, but for an industrial organization, never. It certainly would be a horrible situation for the producers of the wealth of the world to be able to stand together for their rights and be able to stop production until they got them. Capitalists say that the labor organization does not know or realize to what extent capital could stand exploitation by labor. But capital knows to a scientific certainty to what extent labor can be exploited, physically and profitably. So does labor, and that is when the worker is in such condition physically, that he is but a few steps from the "great beyond."

The closed shop. Mr. Knuttschnitt wants an open shop for the one fundamental reason that all capitalists do, and that is for a leverage to disrupt the labor organizations. Remember this, that the non-unionist has the right to join the union and contribute his share toward the maintenance of the favorable industrial conditions established through organization.

The unionist may interfere with the non-unionist's right to work, but the non-unionist blocks the way for the unionist also. The unionist has the same right to prevent the non-unionist from working alongside of him, and participating in an environment toward which he has contributed absolutely nothing in any way, shape or form, as has the non-unionist, to prevent the unionist, as he can and does, from securing work. The so-called "right to work" is not controlled by either unionist or non-unionist, but lies solely and simply in the hands of the capitalists, who are the masters of our social system today, and who buy on the installment plan at such times as they need it or want it, the life and energy of the workers.

The sole fundamental object of a labor organization is to get, by collective bargaining, for the individuals within the organization, better conditions than the individual could ever get under any circumstances. The men of labor, in organizing, but follow the course pursued by the master men of today. Can you blame them?

The limitation of apprentices. The average employer today but regards an "apprentice" as a means of producing something cheap, and not as a means of producing future tradesmen. It is a trying job to handle a crew of boys and the very fact that apprentices are limited, would, if the proper attention were given the matter by employers, result in foremen and journeymen having a better opportunity to give an apprentice pointers.

Are the thousands of boys and girls in the factories, mills, mines and stores, there to learn a trade? Hardly. They are there through the necessity of earning a living for themselves and dividends for the capitalists, who are interfering more with the American boy's right to learn a trade than all the unions in the country. And right here allow me to thank you for your editorial praising the Typographical union for its efforts to aid the technical education of its members. The necessity for this move arises from other conditions than mere limitation of apprentices, and because they realize that efficient men are valuable to the organization. The majority of tradesmen are recruited from the small cities, country towns and unorganized portions of the country. After growing tired of the bulldozing, often an attribute of the "open shop" conditions, they hunt up the proper officials and join the union to "get even."

A capitalistic organ from East Aurora, N. Y., recently attacked organized labor for interfering with the rights of the American boy to learn a trade. But, this same capitalist publisher established a "School of Life" for boys and offers as an inducement, instruction in the various crafts connected with the establishment. The modest charge of $500 per term is made, more than the average "American" father receives in wages for a year's work. So between trade exploiting capitalists and trade protecting unions the American boy is evidently between the devil and the deep sea, when it comes to learning a trade. But does the real "American boy" always want to learn a trade? Most of them, we observe, prefer to wear Sunday clothes every day and keep their hands soft and white.

The other demands made by the federated shopmen are, no doubt, prompted by bitter experience, that teaches them to demand that which is good for them and therefore does not involve any general fundamental principle. WM. E. TOWNE.

PAYING HIS RESPECTS TO THE CONTRACTOR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is certainly gratifying to know that one of our contractors takes such a deep interest in public affairs as to suggest that the honorable council of the city of Duluth appoint a "smelling" committee to look after the Grand avenue street work.

I don't think that such qualifications are called for in this instance as the contractor's head foreman intimated to me that he had not read the specifications, and what was more, he didn't care what they called for. The result is that in some places, the cut is deeper than is called for and is then filled up with loam, so that everything looks all right.

Where the specifications call for clean sharp sand, which has been screened, the contractor hauls loam to be placed under the brick as a filler. When notified of his mistake, he innocently and obediently hauls it away and brings on sand and gravel and attempts to use it before it has been properly screened, until stopped. Another thing, the sewer and water ditches call for a sand and gravel fill, but clay has been thrown in instead.

Now what about that smelling committee? J. J. FREY,

West Duluth, Aug. 31.

Servile Functions.

Puck: "You may break, you may shatter, the vase if you will"—

He paused and bent a severe look upon his young wife.

"But it is customary in our station of life," he went on, "to leave that sort of thing to servants."

Blissful Ignorance.

Success Magazine: Holden, the New York "third man," lately had in his shop a taciturn parrot, indifferent to every question. At last a Cuban lady came into the shop and spoke to it in her native tongue. The parrot brightened up at once, opened its beak and emitted a jubilant volley of vehement Spanish words. When the parrot finally ceased speaking the lady turned to Mr. Holden and, blushing violently, asked:

"Do you understand Spanish?"

"No," he replied.

"Thank God!" she replied and left the shop.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

The "Interests" Are Safe.

St. Cloud Times: "The most reassuring thing about the whole tariff situation is that the president is master of the field and will continue the master for two years to come," says Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio. Yes, most reassuring for those who are waxing rich at the expense of the consumer.

Otherwise Empty.

Carlton Vidette: Pete Swanson says that when a man goes down to Duluth with a woman he always comes back with a veil in his pocket—and that's about all.

Collapse.

Red Wing Republican: The case of Governor Eberhart against Mr. Whittier fell to the ground with a sudden smash the other day, and with it a considerable part of the reputation which the executive has accumulated by diligent attendance upon chautauqua exercises and much hand-shaking at county institutes. After the hearing of the charges against Whittier had been dragged out for weeks, it was suddenly announced by the state that corporal punishment at the state training school was legal, that both the board of control and the legislature knew the fact, and that they were therefore directly and legally responsible for the system. Incidentally it may be added that a governor as familiar with his business as he is with jaunts over the country while drawing a salary at home would know the same facts before attempting to persecute a faithful officer.

What's the Matter With Ole?

Henderson Review: Since the apportionment bill passed congress, which entitles this state to one more representative, guesses are being scattered broadcast as to who will be the one. What is the matter with Ole Sageng? He is not a Republican or Democrat, still he is a man trusted by the people of his district. That a man can be trusted and is capable of vindicating that trust, should count more in weighing a man's qualifications than his party affiliation. In a large measure the voters' intelligence is judged accordingly.

Spanking is Legal.

St. Cloud Times: Back to the legislature with the Whittier investigation where it started. That seems to be where it is drifting to now. After everybody is weary of the whole proceeding which doesn't seem to accomplish anything and when everybody hoped that the end was in sight and that somebody would really do something, here comes Assistant Attorney General Weeks and blandly says:

"It must be conceded that the system of corporal punishment at the Red Wing training school is legal, that Mr. Whittier is not responsible for it, but the board of control and the legislature."

And what was the governor doing last winter when the legislature was in session? He might have told somebody about that then. Why the silence? Was it because the governor saw a chance to put the democratic members of the board of control in a hole and that there might be an excuse to remove them so as to make places for some friends of his campaign manager, one Ed. Smith, chairman of the Republican state central committee? If the governor thinks that the people of this state will stand for this playing "politics" with this investigation he will discover that he has made a sad mistake.

Hit It Right.

St. Cloud Times: R. C. Dunn, interviewed at St. Paul, said that the people didn't care whether the Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists or Socialists revised the tariff, or whether it was done scientifically, accurately or just a makeshift as long as it was revised downward. And "Bob" as he generally does, has hit it about right.

No President's Responsibility.

Rochester Post and Record (Rep.): Should there be no reduction at the next session The Post and Record fears that the prospect of Republican success at the next presidential election will not be encouraging. The people are tired of broken promises. It must be deeds now that will keep the party in power. The Democrats know this, and are shrewd enough to prevent any action that will insure Republican success.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Troubadours of the Ozarks.

Chicago Tribune: Are the minnesingers dead and the troubadours departed? Nay, nay, not so! Down in the Ozark mountains, where the days slip by like amber beads on a string, where nobody makes an appointment which he feels under obligations to keep, where it is easier to laugh than anywhere else in the country. Down from the misty mountain tops and up from the smiling valleys come the fiddlers. They come from town and country, from cabin and country store, each one bearing in his hands the finest fiddle in the state. This year they met at Monte Ne, four score or more of them, and after fiddling till Molly Cotton Tail capered in the bushes, fourteen musicians entered for the final contest.

Their selections were classic. They played "Turkey in the Straw," "Dixie," "The Arkansaw Traveler," "Leather Breeches," "The Devil's Dream," "Money Musk," and "The Soldier's Dream." Perhaps they even played "I'm Dreaming Now of Hallie," with its mocking bird chorus. At any rate they ran through the mountain repertoire. W. M. Day of Cassevillle, Mo., won the prize and was crowned king of the Ozarks. Sixty-three years old he is, and he plays so that the possums come out to listen and the "spit cats" tame their angry spirits to hear. Norman Ingersoll, a farmer, young but able, won the second prize.

The Vine.

I planted a seed in the bright springtime,
From which there came a tiny vine;
In a week or two, I chanced to pass,
And the tiny vine lay on the grass,
Slender and frail, too feeble to stand,
So gently I lifted, one little hand,
And wrapped the tiny fingers around
A wire, I fastened above the ground.

The frail little vine held on with a will,
And bravely climbed to the window sill;
It seemed to be its one desire,
To be always reaching, reaching higher,
And up and up, till the small vine made,
For me, a delightful, blissful shade.
Breathing incense, through its leaves,
Zephyrs whisper, the low wind grieves.

So may I climb life's weary hill,
Till I have reached heaven's window sill,
Strong and secure in a divine retreat,
Where I may sit at the Master's feet.
Lift up my soul, thou Holy one,
And twine my fingers about thine own,
And it shall be my one desire
To be always reaching, reaching higher.

ROCK ME TO SLEEP.

News of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Akers Allen (Florence Percy), which occurred recently at her home in Tuckahoe, N. Y., recalls her poem, "Rock Me to Sleep"—a poem which everyone in the English-speaking world has read. Elizabeth Chase was born seventy-nine years ago at Strong, Me. She wrote under the name of "Florence Percy," contributing to the Atlantic and other magazines. She married Paul Akers, the sculptor, who died in 1861, and later became the wife of E. M. Allen of New York. It was in 1859 that she wrote the most famous poem:

Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight,
Make me a child again, just for tonight.
Mother, come back from he echoless shore,
Take me again to your heart as of yore.
Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care,
Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair;
Over my slumbers your loving watch keep;
Rock me to sleep, mother; rock me to sleep.

Backward, flow backward, O tide of the years;
I am so weary of toil and of tears;
Toil without recompense, tears all in vain,
Take them, and give me my childhood again.
I have grown weary of dust and decay,
Weary of flinging my soul-wreath away;
Weary of sowing for others to reap;
Rock me to sleep, mother; rock me to sleep.

Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue,
Mother, O mother, my heart calls for you!
Many a summer the grass has grown green,
Blossomed and faded our faces between,
Yet with strong yearning and passionate pain
Long I tonight for your presence again.
Come from the silence so long and so deep;
Rock me to sleep, mother; rock me to sleep.

Over my heart, in the days that are flown,
No love like mother-love ever has shone;
No other worship abides and endures—
Faithful, unselfish, and patient, like yours;
None like a mother can charm away pain
From the sick soul and the world-weary brain.
Slumber's soft calms o'er my heavy lids creep;
Rock me to sleep, mother; rock me to sleep.

Come, let your brown hair, just lighted with gold,
Fall on your shoulders again as of old;
Let it drop over my forehead tonight,
Shading my faint eyes away from the light;
For with its sunny-edged shadows once more
Haply will throng the sweet visions of yore;
Lovingly, softly, its bright billows sweep;
Rock me to sleep, mother; rock me to sleep.

Mother, dear mother, the years have been long
Since I last listened your lullaby song;
Sing, then, and unto my soul it shall seem
Womanhood's years have been only a dream.
Clasped to your heart in a loving embrace,
With your light lashes just sweeping your face,
Never hereafter to wake or to weep;
Rock me to sleep, mother; rock me to sleep.

The Tory Viewpoint.

New York Sun: Probably few persons have had the patience to read President Taft's veto of that glory of impromptu political economy, the cotton bill, with its chemical and metal excrescences. That veto has a preadamite air. Who but a man impervious to the new truth would dare to talk about the capital of eight hundred odd millions invested in the cotton industry? Mr. Taft does, indeed, mention the wage earners. The object of a properly drawn tariff bill is to injure the capitalists and at the same time benefit the wage earners, to diminish profits and increase wages. A simple thing.

Then Mr. Taft permits himself to speak of the "haste" with which the bill was prepared. Here he sets himself rashly against the irresistible current of contemporary wisdom. Legislation by haste, government by haste, the hasty recall of public officers, the hasty reversal of unpopular decisions of the courts by driving from the bench the judges who made them; this is the new system of government.

A progressive tariff schedule should be made by initiative of a few guessers, approved by petition of 15 or at most 25 per cent of miscellaneous corner loafers and grocery barrel sitters, and ratified within ten days by the referendum, that infallible voice of the people who know least about the subject.

Let him who wishes go abroad
To look for scenes of beauty;
I need not seek another sod,
Nor give up claims of duty.
Lo! here before my awe-filled eye,
A wonderland arises,
That well with storied scenes may vie,
Their charms epitomizes.
The rippling stream, the stalwart pines,
The winding path and boulders,
The canon deep, the shrubs and vines,
A marvel to beholders!
Nature scattered bright-hued flowers
About in grand profusion,
That lend a radiance to the hours,
Enchantment to seclusion.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

NOTED ONES WILL SPEAK

American Sunday School Union Plans Meeting in Grand Forks.

Men and Religion Forward Movement Will Be Subject Considered.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans for the first annual meeting of the northern district of the American Sunday School union, comprising the states of Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana, in Grand Forks Sept. 22 to 26, are being laid by Rev. J. O. Ferris of Minneapolis, district superintendent.

One of the questions that will come up for consideration will be that of the union's attitude toward the men and religion forward movement. If favorable action is taken, the several men and religion forward movement gatherings that will be held in St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Grand Forks, will receive support through this organization. The Sunday School union is distinctively a rural association, devoting its energies to the establishment of Sunday schools, interdenominational in character, in the rural districts.

Former North Dakotan to Speak.

Among the speakers who have accepted invitations to address the union are Rev. George F. Williams, D. D., of Philadelphia, Pa. "Distinctive Features of the American Sunday School Union," will be his main topic. Rev. Mr. Williams was at one time located at Bismarck, having his headquarters there in 1884, and nine of the Sunday schools that he organized have grown into denominational churches. He has always been closely associated with the work in this state, and is now secretary of the general work.

Rev. Joseph Wells of Des Moines, Iowa, head of the central district, will be another speaker. "The Problems of the Country Church" will be his topic. Rev. W. W. Johnstone of Chicago will speak on "The Evangelizing Influence of the Country Sunday School." Rev. Walter A. Snow of North Dakota will speak on "Co-Operations Between the Missionary and Educational Forces in the Sunday School."

IRONWOOD YOUNG MAN IS CLAIMED

Edwin Erickson, Son of Respected Parents, Is Consumption Victim.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edwin Erickson died at the home of his parents, on Sutherland street, Wednesday, after a long illness. Consumption was the cause of his death, which was expected for some time. Deceased was 28 years of age and single. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erick Erickson, old and respected citizens of Ironwood. The funeral will be held from the Swedish Mission church with interment at Riverside cemetery.

Superintendent Walton's Funeral.

A special train left Ironwood yesterday for Wakefield, taking people to attend the funeral of Supt. C. E. Walton. The Masonic lodge and Rev. W. B. Crumlee, pastor of the First M. E. church here, conducted the funeral services. The remains were taken to Ishpeming for burial.

DEERWOOD MAY FURNISH POWER FOR AITKIN.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. D. Stoner of Deerwood, has made several trips to Aitkin and is desirous of furnishing the town with electric light and power. He has a large steam power plant at Deerwood which supplies the Cuyuna range and the towns of Deerwood, Crosby, Ironton and Cuyuna. He has offered to take over the Aitkin pole line system and to furnish current for power at 3 cents per kilowatt hour. Current for lighting will be supplied at 10 cents per kilowatt with a 10 per cent reduction for prompt payment. The council and citizens are considering the proposition.

Happy, Happy, Use TIZ

A Marvel For Sore Feet. Acts Right Off.

Sore Feet? Never After Using TIZ—

It acts at once and makes the feet feel remarkably fresh and sore-proof.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain ,and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

CROSBY MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

Sidewalks, Waterworks, White Way and Other Pieces of Work.

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ben Mizen has twenty men laying three miles of cement walk. They average 400 feet of six-foot walk a day. Work will soon commence on the water works and sewer systems. A 100,000-gallon tank, 120 feet high, will be constructed. A white way of ten blocks is to be put in from the docks at Serpent lake to the Soo depot and thence to the west end of Main street. The Soo depot, First National bank and Brink buildings are nearly completed. The Crosby Exploration company will erect a $20,000 office building next year. Work has commenced on the schoolhouses at Crosby and at Ironton, both being in School District No. 51.

The four Cuyuna Finns, who threw bottles at a Cuyuna bartender, were fined $17.50 each.

The Kennedy mine, the first shipper of the Cuyuna iron range, has 300 men on its payrolls at present. Ore will be stock piled during the winter and there will be no cessation in work. The Iron Mountain Mining company is down thirty-five feet with its shaft.

BAR POLITICS AT STATE BAR MEET

Illinois Chief Justice Will Address North Dakota Lawyers Sept. 5.

Wahpeton, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the wishes of many of the leading lawyers of the state are respected, there will be no politics in connection with the meeting of the North Dakota Bar association here next Tuesday.

Chief Justice Orrin Carter of the supreme court of Illinois will be the principal speaker. "Courts of Review" is his subject.

The program provides for the opening of the meeting at 10 o'clock of Sept. 5, when the executive committee will hold a session. At 11 o'clock the several appointive committees meet. In the afternoon there will be the president's address on "The Courts and Judicial Legislation," together with the secretary's report and the reports of committees. Then will follow the address by Chief Justice Carter of Illinois.

On the second day there will be a business session in the morning, the election of officers and selection of the next place of meeting in the afternoon, and a banquet in the evening, tendered by the Richland County Bar association.

MISSOURI SLOPE FAIR ON SEPT. 12

State-Aided Exposition at Mandan Will Last Four Days.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the Missouri slope exposition of 1911 is opened here Sept. 12, North Dakota will formally inaugurate its plan of extending aid to three fairs. This plan was acted upon favorably by the last legislative assembly, and under the provisions of action taken by that body, the annual fairs in this city, and the biennial fairs in Grand Forks and Fargo, receive state support.

Mandan is probably the oldest fair city in the state. It had, for many years, the state fair, but that institution was finally wrested from it through the combined efforts of the cities of Fargo and Grand Forks, and during the last few years, the city has been content to hold the Morton county fair. Now it enters on the broader scale again with the Missouri slope exposition.

State Aids Project.

State aid to the amount of $10,000 is granted each of the fairs held in Fargo and Grand Forks, while the Missouri slope exposition received an annual appropriation of $2,500, or $5,000 during the biennial period, which is the same length of time in which the other two state supported associations receive $10,000.

Four days have been fixed as the time for the Missouri slope exposition this year, Sept. 12 to 15, inclusive.

BELTRAMI SENDS MANY EXHIBITS

Fine Collection of Agricultural Products of County for State Fair.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—With fodder corn twelve feet high, towering above all other articles; many kinds of wild and tame grasses, root crops in abundance; vegetables, topped off with two "baggas" weighing near eighteen pounds; grains in the stock and the seed, and, in fact, samples of everything that could possibly be grown in the Central states—the Beltrami county exhibit that will be shown at the state fair next week was gathered together this week and shipped to Hamline. It is in charge of A. P. Ritchie and his assistants, August Jarchow and Charles F. Schroeder, who were appointed by the board of county commissioners to make the exhibit and to care for all the details connected therewith.

August Jarchow, who has a fine farm in the town of Bemidji (section 35, range 33), had in the collection fifteen varieties of wild grasses, including red top, blue joint, turkey foot and a number of varieties that no one knows the name of, and which will require expert examination to determine. Mr. Jarchow also had a fine sample of hops, eight feet long, fully matured, corn, wheat, oats, barley, etc., both in the stem and the grain.

L. P. Anderson, whose farm is used by the state agricultural school as a state demonstration farm, one mile from the city, sent to the fair four varieties of cultivated plums, of large size and excellent maturity. Mr. Anderson has twelve varieties of the plums, but did not exhibit more than the three varieties.

Lee Holts of Grant Valley township contributed a fine lot of vegetables, including rutabaggas, stock and oxheart carrots, sugar beets, grape tomatoes, etc.

James French brought in from his farm alsike clover sown May 2, and sample cut Aug. 16, four feet long and fully matured.

Tenstrike Contribution.

Tom Smith of Tenstrike contributed timothy five feet high, sown June 15, sample taken Aug. 23, matured in eighty-three days, showing splendid climatic conditions in this county for the rapid maturing of crops.

The Red Lake Indian school has sent a splendid collection of farm and garden products, which have been raised at the Red Lake Indian school farm under the supervision of Agent Bishop. There were twenty-nine ears of fine dent corn on twelve stalks, planted May 24, cut Aug. 29, fully matured. There were specimens of cauliflower, turnips, rutabaggas, squash, pumpkins, melons and onions.

The Crookston Lumber company gave to the exhibit a fine stand of sugar cane, new to this section; corn of fine quality, and timothy, clover and several varieties of grasses which are growing wild on the company's land near Fowlds.

MANY GERMANS ARE EXPECTED

German Day, Sunday Next, With Governor Eberhart and Other Speakers.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Final preparations for the celebration of German day Sunday at Harriet Island, where 10,000 Germans from all parts of the Northwest will gather, have been completed.

Addresses will be made by Julius H. Moersch, president of the German Alliance of Minnesota; Governor Eberhart, Mayor Keller of St. Paul, Mayor Haynes of Minneapolis and James J. Regan, national president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

RED LAKE COUNTY FAIR.

First Show at Red Lake Falls to Be Very Fine.

Rer Lake Falls, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people of Red Lake county will celebrate in an enthusiastic manner the harvesting of a bumper crop. The Red Lake County Agricultural society has recently been organized and will hold the first Red Lake county fair in this city on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept, 19, 20 and 21.

The business people and farmers of the county are enthusiastic over the fair project, and the success of the first county fair is assured. Fair grounds have been acquired and a good half-mile track has been made ready for the race events. Grandstands, fences and sheds are now being built. Time does not permit of the construction of the large buildings for this year's fair, but the fair officials have met the situation by the purchase of a large circus tent. The tent is large enough to contain and provide space for the proper display of the fair exhibits.

More than $2,000 will be paid out in premiums and purses, and there will be many special features and attractions.

THRASHING RESUMED IN RED RIVER VALLEY.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thrashing operations have been resumed throughout the Red river valley and with the continuation of favorable weather conditions, it will not be long before a major part of the work is concluded.

That they will secure a good paying crop this season is the opinion of the farmers generally. There has been more diversification in grain growing this year than in any other season. Barley is one of the big crops, and with the present high price of that grain, the income for such crops will be decidedly good.

Alleged Hold-ups Held.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Smith, Harry Russell and Ed Clark, who were arrested and identified as the men who held up and robbed Claus Hagert of this city of two pennies in an alley in this city, will have to be tried in the district court. At their preliminary examination the men were bound over to that court for trial.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—A pioneer settler, Nicholas Archambeau, passed away Wednesday afternoon after an illness of several months, caused by a general breakdown due to old age. Mr. Archambeau was 72 years old and came to Marquette in 1857, walking here from Green Bay to take employment at the old Collinsville furnace. Mr. Archambeau was born in St. Roque, Que., in 1839.

Crystal Falls—John Tyler, son of Dan Davison, is dead at Crystal Falls as the result of an attack of blood poisoning, brought on by stepping on a nail or running a sliver into the great toe of his left foot. He first complained to his mother a week before he died.

Marquette—The civil service examination for rural mail carrier on the Chocolay-Green Garden route, which will be started Oct. 1, will be held in the federal building in this city Sept. 23.

Negaunee—Much interest has been shown over the game between the fat men of Ishpeming and Negaunee, scheduled for Sept. 13. All who enter the teams will have to touch the 200 mark. Joe Primeau, Jr., captain of the Negaunee fat men's team, has his team picked out, and he states that they are all sluggers.

Marquette—Thomas Handford, a carpenter employed at the new L. S. & I. dock, fell off the trestle into the water Wednesday morning and was drowned. Handford was about 28 years of age and had been employed at the dock scarcely a week, having come here from Chicago.

Calumet—At a special meeting of the Calumet township board Tuesday, for the purpose of awarding contracts for the building of new roads in the township, George Hall was the successful bidder, securing the contracts to build a road from Centennial Heights to the north boundary of the township and a road from Copper City to the Trap Rock valley. There were ten bidders.

Houghton—Fire caused by the overheating of a water tank forcing the water back into a cistern and igniting the floor, broke out at the county infirmary Wednesday morning. The Hancock and Houghton departments responded to the alarm and the Hancock chemical engine was also brought into play, the flames being quickly brought under control.

Calumet—W. W. Ainsworth of Des Moines and Rev. Carl L. Adams, pastor of the Calumet M. E. church, met here Sunday for the first time since they were classmates at a school in Montpelier, Vt., twenty-five years ago. The two were bosom friends at the time, and their meeting, which was the first since they parted years ago, was a joyous one.

Lake Linden—The M. E. Sunday school has elected these officers: Superintendent, A. F. Hagen; assistant, Will J. Faull; secretary, Alfred Nicholls; treasurer, Ambrose Repath; assistant secretary, Clarence Gale; superintendent primary department, Miss Edith MacDougall; assistant, Mrs. A. F. Hagen; superintendent kindergarten department, Miss Laura Nicholls; assistants, Miss Ruth Banberry and Miss Gail Carpenter.

Hancock—The fire limit ordinance adopted recently by the Hancock city council will become effective on Sept. 7.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Redwood Falls—John Choudek of Seaforth was run over by an automobile late Monday night, near Wanda, and killed. Mr. Choudek was the village barber at Seaforth, and did occasional jobs of plastering, in which work he was associated with George Bernardy of the same village. The two were together at the time of the accident.

Stillwater—The United States boat yards at South Stillwater has work that will keep them steadily at work until next spring to fill orders already given for barges. Supt. Asa Batcheider is hunting for more boat builders to work at the plant.

Perham—Last Tuesday Deputy Warden Jones of Fergus Falls arrested J. P. Watner on the charge of shooting prairie chickens before the opening of the season. Watner was fined $22.

Fergus Falls—City Clerk Stener A. Levorsen, who was taken seriously ill Monday night, is very much better. It is now thought that his illness may have been due to a severe attack of stomach trouble and not apoplexy as reported.

Cambridge—The county exhibit to the state fair was loaded at Cambridge last Monday and shipped to Hamline on Tuesday. While the time was short for gathering the exhibit the committee was able, thanks to a number of generous farmers and others, to make a pretty good showing.

Isanti—William King, who came to this locality in 1857 and has lived on his present farm in Wyanett for forty-six years, made his first visit to Isanti village Tuesday. Mr. King for many years was one of the most active farmers, and good judgment and Isanti county land has placed him in a financial condition where he can take life easy during his remaining years.

North Branch—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rystrom returned home Saturday from their visit with their children at Dundurn, Sask., Can. Mr. Rystrom reports crops fine up there and says the boys expect to harvest about 25,000 bushels of wheat this year off of 990 acres.

Little Falls—John Vertin states that his offer of $1 for the best six ears of corn brought to his office by Friday of this week is still open. He wishes to place the corn in the state immigration bureau's exhibit at the state fair next week.

Brainerd—Harry Joergenson, aged 25 years, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Joergenson of 1512 Oak street, died suddenly in Portland, Or., on Tuesday noon. For some months he was the switchman of the "dinky" engine in the Northern Pacific shops in this city.

Aitkin—A case in which Dr. Kelly sued the Aitkin town board for $35 for medical services for five scarlet fever patients in the Rice family was decided in Judge Williams' court in favor of the plaintiff, but an appeal has been taken to the district court.

Bemidji—After a battle unique in Bemidji municipal affairs, the Duluth Brewing company has won, over the mayor's veto, a fight to establish a saloon in its building opposite the city hall, Minnesota avenue and Fourth street, and thereby enlarges the saloon zone territory originally planned by an ordinance several weeks ago which sought to limit the saloons to points south of Fourth street.

Winona—Tuesday, Sept. 12, the opening day of the Winona County Fair association's event at St. Charles, has been designated as Old Settlers' day. At that time they will gather there in reunion. It is believed that fully 500 will attend. Senator Moses E. Clapp of St. Paul and Representative Sydney Anderson of Lanesboro are scheduled to speak.

Moorhead—Louis Altenbernd, one of the prominent potato farmers at Sabin, nine miles from Moorhead, will net this year $30,000 profit out of his crop from 300 acres of potatoes. Mr. Altenbernd is now marketing his output at the existing prices which range about 75 cents a bushel for the best of eating stock.

Ada—The county fair to be held in Ada the last three days of September promises to be one of the best fairs ever held in the history of the association. The finance committee recently called upon the business men of Ada and received liberal responses, a total of nearly $600 being promised as an emergency fund.

International Falls—J. H. Beagle of Duluth, R. B. Clark of Gemmell and Harvey Gale of Ranier, state land appraisers, passed through town this week en route from the M. & I. country south to the Ray neighborhood.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland — Finley Wharton accompanied by his son, Wayne, left Wednesday night for Moline, Ill., where Mr. Wharton will take up his duties as comptroller for Deere & Co. Mrs. Wharton will remain here several weeks.

Madison—Attorney General Bancroft, in an opnion given Wednesday, holds that county clerks may charge a fee for making out papers and administering oaths to applicants for hunting licenses. The opinion holds that the preparing of the papers for the applicant is no part of the duties of the county clerk.

Beloit—John Norris, who arrived Tuesday night from Redfield, S. D., to take up work here as instructor in botany and chemistry in the high school, had his left foot cut off by a North-Western train Wednesday. He had caught the foot in a switch point.

Madison — Game Warden John A. Sholts has held that Mud lake, which lies between Lakes Waubesa and Monona, is open water, and that the laws relating to the hunting in open waters are applicable threto.

Neenah — The Modern Woodmen camps of Neenah, Menasha, Appleton and Kaugauna, will hold a big picnic at that time they will gather there in reunion. It is believed that fully 500 will attend. Senator Moses E. Clapp of St. Paul and Representative Sydney Anderson of Lanesboro are scheduled to speak.

Moorhead—Louis Altenbernd, one of the prominent potato farmers at Sabin, nine miles from Moorhead, will net this year $30,000 profit out of his crop from 300 acres of potatoes. Mr. Altenbernd is now marketing his output at the existing prices which range about 75 cents a bushel for the best of eating stock.

Ada—The county fair to be held in Ada the last three days of September promises to be one of the best fairs ever held in the history of the association. The finance committee recently called upon the business men of Ada and received liberal responses, a total of nearly $600 being promised as an emergency fund.

Oshkosh—Thrown from his motorcycle at Van Dyne while on his way to Fond du Lac, Ingermann Rasmussen of Neenah was badly injured and is now in a critical condition here. Julia Linn, aged 13, was struck by Policeman Claude Edmond's motorcycle and her collar bone broken.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Minot, N. D.—Mrs. Johonnah Christine Sandberg of Drake, N. D., registered Tuesday at the age of 82, breaking the age record among the women. Mrs. Sandberg came to North Dakota ten years ago from Bird Island, Minn. She is five feet six inches tall and weighs 120 pounds.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Grand Forks people spending the summer months at the several lakes in Northern Minnesota which are known as the Grand Forks resorts, are getting ready to return home and the coming week will see many arrivals of families ready to take up their residence here again for nine months.

Rolla, N. D.—Nick Sekurick, a Bohemian, wandered into Rolla a few days ago and began to supply the thirsty with the beverage commonly known as whisky. A complaint under oath was lodged against this alleged dispenser of liquid mirth and he appeared in justice court.

Bismarck, N. D.—The North Dakota national guard rifle team, in the competitions at Camp Perry, Ohio, was successful in advancing one point over its standing of 1910, the close of the contest in class C finding the Dakotans in fourth place. Capt. Geary states that the team did exceptionally good work in the skirmish fire at 1,000 yards.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Secretary M. C. Bachellor of the North Dakota State Fair Association of Grand Forks will make a circuit of three fairs during the next two weeks for the purpose of getting acquainted with fair officials in adjoining states and to observe methods that are adopted by them in handling their fairs. The Minnesota state fair, the South Dakota fair and the Polk county fair are the institutions to be visited.

Fargo, N. D.—A new three-story brick store and flat building will soon go up on Eighth street south, just south of the alley that divides the square between Front street and First avenue south, between the Gilles feed store and the Porte Printing company. The new structure will be erected by J. De Lendrecie, of the O. J. De Lendrecie Dry Goods company.

Aberdeen, S. D.—"Joe" Burdick and his wife of Corson county were held to await the action of the federal court at their preliminary examination before a United States commissioner at Shields, N. D., on a charge of stealing two head of cattle from Indians on the Standing Rock reservation.

Fargo, N. D.—J. B. Mahlr of Mapleton, proprietor of the Arlington hotel at that place, came to Fargo Wednesday, and asked the police to assist in the search of a man whom he believed to have stolen a suitcase belonging to a traveling man named Oscar Dahlen. The accused was arrested.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Men who refuse to take work at $2 or $2.50 a day because they think a little more is being paid somewhere else in the state, should receive little sympathy when they tell a hard luck story in an effort to get the price of a meal. For over a month Devils Lake has been infested with a bunch of men, who have lived by sponging on people.

Months of Prayer Convince Woman That She Should Live.

Tells of "Great Secret" That Led to Suicide Pact.

New York, Sept. 1.—"Love is eternal, only the object changes!" sighed Mrs. Elsa M. Torrea in her apartment at No. 210 West Twenty-first street. Mrs. Torrea was found in her dead husband's arms last November, her life ebbing away from numerous cuts in the arteries of her arm, half suffocated with illuminating gas. She had undertaken to die with him for pure love's sake. Yesterday she told a World reporter that, though a woman might die for love, she preferred to live, and that she had begun proceedings to recover $75,000 worth of personal property her husband had left in Mexico. On the other hand, she would rather forfeit all her hopes of recovering her husband's property, she said, than reveal the secret pact, she and her husband made together.

Raoul Torrea, aged 26, a young Mexican of good family and who received considerable remittances from his relatives, was studying to become an inspector in the Remington Typewriter company when he met pretty Elsa von Muschweek a year and a half ago. She claimed noble lineage, he was rich, and after a brief courtship they were married in the city hall on Oct. 17, 1910.

A few days after her marriage, as she told a reporter, her husband confessed to her he was burdened down by a dreadful secret, which constantly preyed upon his mind.

Told Her His Secret.

"This thing is killing me," he would say. Then Mrs. Torrea would try to soothe him.

"This thing is killing me," he would exclaim. "The only way is to tell you this misery, then die together." Mrs. Torrea loved her husband and was finally won over. Though they had been only married for two weeks, they decided that life had given them all it could afford. Torrea slashed his wife's arm with a razor, stopped up every opening in their room and turned on the gas.

When they were discovered a few hours later Mrs. Torrea still breathed. Her husband was dead. She was taken to the J. Hood Wright hospital, and fought against the doctors when they sought to save her. But they chloroformed her without her knowledge and pulled her through. And then, Mrs. Torrea says, she prayed, and in her prayer she saw that it was right that she should live. After four months in the hospital and two more in a private hotel in New York she was able a few weeks ago to seek work in a large millinery house on Fifth avenue.

Following a consultation with her lawyer, Daniel W. Bumenthal of No. 35 Nassau street, Mrs. Torrea has taken out letters of administration on her husband's estate, giving bond for $12,000. Mr. Torrea's father was a wealthy Mexican hacendado of Orizaba, where his estates lay and his town house was in Mexico City.

Her Claims Denied.

Out of the paternal estate of $800,000 the son had inherited $100,000. Mr. Bumenthal says Torrea's relatives have contested Mrs. Torrea's administratorship, refusing to give up his personal property in their possession unless Mrs. Torrea states for what reason he committed suicide. The relatives are said to be Elena T. Miron, Isabel Torrea and Concha T. Salad, three sisters, two of whom are married.

Mrs. Torrea referred the reporter to a letter written to Luis Agueros of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., who was his personal friend, by Torrea at the time of the suicide, it is in part as follows:

His Letter to Friend.

"Dear Friend:

"When this reaches you my wife, Elsie, and I will be dead. We love each other so much that we don't want anything to separate us, not even death itself. We both understand that we could not be happy living and we agreed to make the trip together. What a beautiful wedding trip!

"Since we have been together, I have not had occasion to blame Elsie; on the contrary, I always thought I was not good enough for her.

"This is what I desire, that as soon as you get this letter you ask permission from your office to go with the enclosed letter to the Remington Typewriter company and ask there for my $24. This money is for our funerals.

"For what you love more in this world, do your best to arrange so that we can be buried together. We are married and nobody has the right to separate us.

"Please mail the letters you will find in the house. "PAUL."

"I nearly prayed my life out," said Mrs. Torrea last night, "before I determined that it was my duty to live. Yet one never knows what the future brings. I am young. They say I am not bad looking. If a woman could die of a broken heart I would be dead long ago.

"What I suffered in body, what I suffered in spirit, no one can know. Yet I will never reveal what my dead husband exacted of me. That promise is sacred. I know, if he knows what I am doing in claiming his rights, that he would approve. And one reason why I seek his money is to take care of his little daughter, Ernestine, who lives in Mexico."

LIARS CAN BE CURED

Most Common of All Lies Are Those Due to Egotism.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 1.—How lying children can be cured and the habit prevented was told by the Rev. Robert Swickerath, S. J., professor of pedagogy in Holy Cross college, in one of ten lectures he delivered before the Catholic Teachers' Institute, which closed recently at Boston college.

"Liars must not be taken either too lightly or too seriously," he said, "but every means must be taken by educators to cure them."

Prevention he regards as more important than the actual curing, yet in every class lying will crop out from time to time, requiring the utmost care, prudence, vigilance and tact of the best teachers, Said he:

"One of the most vexing, and often perplexing, school evils is lying. Many children tell lies—perhaps most of them; they make little of what they call 'white lies' or 'fibs.' They lie for failing to hand in tasks, for missing class—and many a good mother or grandmother was reported ailing or dying who was in the best of health. Again, they often lie when censured for talking or causing other disturbance. 'It wasn't me' is the quick answer in many cases, although the teacher may have seen the culprit talk Some educators look on such lies as trifles, while others consider them as too tragical. Both are extreme views, particularly the former.

Parents at Fault.

"Unfortunately, parents are sometimes to be blamed for the habit of lying in children. In the children's presence they tell what they call 'clever tricks' which they practiced which in reality are lies. Or when they hear what tricks their sons have played, how they have 'fooled' someone, for example, the teacher, they chuckle over it, tell others how clever, how diplomatic their son is, forgetting that they thereby encourage him in his duplicity. Or they admire their boy for his 'diplomacy,' and some young children are found to be adepts in this questionable diplomacy. Such conduct on the part of parents and adults in general is most disastrous, is outrageous. And then parents expect afterward teachers to cure their children of lying, and severely censure teachers and schools, denounce their inefficiency if they are not able to do so—to undo the evil which they have caused or fostered!

Specific Remedy Needed.

"It is much more difficult to assign general remedies for the cure of the habit of lying. Here, as in other cases, a specific remedy is needed. It is important to know that the lies are different according to the sources from which they flow.

"There is a pathological lie which arises from a serious mental and moral defect which has its root in a physical cause; this has to be treated rather by a physician than the teacher.

"There is the lie which results from an exuberant, an excessively lively, imagination, which leads to habitual exaggerations. The boy comes in great excitement telling the father that he saw at least twenty dogs fighting together. A calm examination and inquiry will bring forth the final admission that there were three. After this admission, the boy should be told that it is wrong to exaggerate in this manner; that he must think first and weigh his words before he talks. Some children who exaggerate in this manner may ultimately believe themselves what they say. In this case the lie comes very close to the above mentioned pathological lie.

"Another class of lies comes from nervousness, excitement and fear of punishment. This must be treated with kindness and sympathy and will be usually prevented by reasonable and fair treatment. Then there is what has been styled the heroic lie, when one tells a lie to protect some one else, even takes blame and punishment to shield another. In some cases this arises from a naturally generous, almost chivalrous disposition. The offender should be told that his generosity is to be admired, and that it is well he should show it wherever he honorably and lawfully can, but that his lie is a wrong way; that the end does not justify the means, and that he injures his own character.

Egotism a Fruitful Source.

"The most common of all lies is that arising from sheer egotism. Lies are used to shield one from censure and punishment as an umbrella is employed to protect one from rain and hail. Sometimes the source is vanity: children boast at times even of wickedness, to appear bold before comrades. This latter case is usually a serious one. It would be unwise to look on the so-called 'confirmed liar' as an entirely hopeless case. He may not be as confirmed as is believed, or as may appear. It is doubtful whether a child should be told, 'as you told me one lie, I can never believe you again.' Would not this be 'breaking the bruised reed and quenching the smoking flax,' which is against the teaching and practice of Him who was the greatest educator and physician of the soul?

"The teacher's personal example of strictest truthfulness will be a powerful stimulus to honesty. If need be, the teacher should candidly admit that he or she has made a mistake. Such a confession will not undermine the teacher's authority (unless it has to be made too often), but will rather strengthen it. It will be, above all, a very practical lesson in truthfulness, which will not be without excellent results It is evident that in the treatment of this evil, as of others, religious motives, examples and inspirations are far more effective than all others."

THE SIGNIFICANT "IF."

Christian Register: Three scientific men from an Eastern college visited a certain Montana mine. On the ascent by means of the usual bucket one professor thought he perceived signs of weakness in the rope by which the bucket was suspended. "How often," he inquired of the attendant, "do you change these ropes?"

"Every three months," carelessly replied the other. Then he added thoughtfully, "This must have been forgotten. We must change it today if we get up."

NEW JERSEY WOMAN SUED FOR DIVORCE

Colored Chauffeur Is Named By Husband as Co-respondent.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 1.—William C. Bowman, who, like his wife, is well known to the best people in New Jersey, has brought suit for absolute divorce.

He names as co-respondent Augustus Wertz, a mulatto, a chauffeur whom he has employed for some months. Wertz's complexion is so light that he might easily be mistaken for a white man so far as color is concerned, but he has a negro's typical features.

The suit comes like a bolt from a clear sky. Until the divorce libel was filed in the court of chancery the Bowmans were dwelling together in peace and happiness seemingly; not a breath of scandal had disturbed their marital atmosphere. Bowman absolutely refuses to discuss the suit; Mrs. Bowman is invisible and has left town, it is reported; Wertz has vanished.

Mrs. Bowman's friends have rallied to her and angrily declare she is incapable of the deed her husband attributes to her. Her friends say they believe some gossip has poisoned Mr. Bowman's mind against his wife.

She is a beautiful woman, about 35 years old and was a Miss Fogel of this city. Their wedding in August, 1902, was a social event. Bowman is manager of Oaklands, a famous model poultry farm at Trenton Junction, owned by Ferdinand W. Roebling of the John A. Roebling's Sons company of New York, the wire manufacturers. Bowman is known everywhere as an expert in poultry; his wife, who has absorbed his knowledge on the subject, bears a like reputation. She is athletic and a fine horsewoman. The Bowmans lived at the Trenton Country club for a long time; there they closely associated with some of the most fashionable people in the state. Both are popular, especially in the circles adorned by Jersey's "gentlemen farmers."

Mrs. Bowman was often the only occupant of the motor car which Wertz drove. The divorce libel names a day, July 7 last, when Mr. Bowman was pallbearer at the funeral of Howard Frye, a poultry fancier, who was killed in an accident to a racing automobile on Long Island.

Wertz has the reputation of being vain and fond of dress; he has vainly tried to make friends with the white chauffeurs in this vicinity.

NEWSPAPER IN MORO.

Is the First Printed in the Sulu Language.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The war department has received a copy of the first newspaper ever published in the Moro language. It is called the Sulu News, and was printed at Zamboanga, Moro province, P. I., June 30, 1911. The editor is Charles R. Cameron, superintendent of schools, Moro province, and the associate editors are Sheik Mustafa Ahmad and Datu Raja Muda Mandi.

The services of this publication, as stated in the leading article, is to impart useful information to the Sulu reading population of the Moro province, to arouse their interest in the development of their splendid agricultural country and to encourage all measures which make for their real progress. The editor exhorts his readers to forget the arts of war and to learn the arts of peace. He advises them to employ the kris and the barong, not to make war on mankind but to beat back the jungle and make a place for the cocoanut and the rubber tree. The editor points out that most of the Moros are in poverty; that they have not food enough for a single month and have not the means to purchase it should a storm or an epidemic of sickness interrupt the usual routine.

It is said that this little paper will reach the influential men of a population of more than 130,000 Mohammedan souls.

WILSON BIG ATTRACTION

Washington, Sept. 1. — Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, who looms large in the public eye as a presidential figure, will be the stellar attraction at the fourth annual convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways association, which will be held in the city of Richmond, Va., Oct. 17 to 20.

Last year the association held its annual convention at Providence, R. I., and the entertainment afforded the delegates was notable in character and on a scale of magnificence such as is rarely witnessed at conventions of this character. Richmond, however, with its stainless record for hospitality, purposes a series of entertainments for the delegates that it is hoped will at least rival the efforts of its sister city to the north in the way of prodigal enertainment.

While Providence has its clam bake Richmond will have its oyster roast and its terrapin. In addition to the toothsome delicacies the capital city of the Old Dominion and the great objective of the Civil war, offers an endless variety of scenes, not only associated with the last half of the nineteenth century, but connected with the early beginnings of the country's history.

Other Governors to Attend.

In addition to Governor Wilson, a number of other executives of states interested in the Atlantic deeper waterway movement will participate in the exercises of the convention, Governor Mann of Virginia delivering the speech of welcome to the delegates. Among other governors expected are Austin L. Crothers of Maryland, John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, Arum J. Pothier of Rhode Island, George Abner Mead of Vermont, William W. Kitchin of North Carolina and possibly several others.

There will also be a number of United States senators and representatives present and participate in the deliberations of the convention and who are interested in this great project which means so much to the commerce of the nation.

Representative J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia, president of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways association, one of the originators of the scheme for an inland passage from Maine to Florida and a "live wire" in congress, in an interview on the purposes of this great project said: "In the rivers and harbors act of March 3, 1909, congress authorized a survey for a continuous inland waterway along the Atlantic seaboard from New England to Key West, and thence along the Gulf to the Mississippi river. That survey has since been going on under the direction of the United States army engineers, and ought to be reported upon when congress convenes in regular session.

Canals Not Improved Much.

"The territory through which the proposed Atlantic inland waterway runs is inhabitated by approximately 30,000,000 of people. There is no section of the country so prolific in manufacturing industries and interstate commerce. This vast business which began when canals were the principal means of communication, was speedily absorbed by the railroads, with the result that today the best canals remaining along the Atlantic coast are the Chesapeake & Delaware, which unites the Delaware and Chesapeake bays, and the Delaware & Raritan which connects New York with Philadelphia and points South. Neither of these canals has been much improved since their construction three-quarters of a century ago. They are doing business but they are in no sense competitors of modern transportation companies, and as levelers of rates they are practically useless. That they are capable of enormous service has been demonstrated time and time again through the efforts of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways association which revived in 1897 the agitation for relief, through waterways, of the congested freight conditions then prevailing. At largely attended conventions held first at Philadelphia, and then in regular annual order at Baltimore, Norfolk, and Providence, resolutions were adopted which leave no room for doubt as to the value of and the necessity for inland waterway improvements along the coast."

MAN WITH FALSE TEETH

Claims Exemption From Poll Tax—Court to Decide.

New Britain, Conn., Sept. 1.—Is a man with false teeth exempt from paying his poll and commutation taxes? This question will be decided by the Connecticut courts this winter, having been brought up by a claim of exemption filed by a New Britain farmer.

According to a curious law which has been on the statute books since the Civil War, a man with false teeth is not liable to military duty, and under that statute the farmer claims exemption from the personal tax which is levied in lieu of military service.

If exemption on that head is upheld by the local authorities there are thousands in the state who will escape paying personal taxes.

DIMENSIONS OF HEAVEN FIGURED BY A PREACHER.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 1.—Heaven's exact dimensions were figured out in a sermon by the Rev. M. E. Dodd, pastor of a large Baptist church here. He said:

"In Revelations xxi. 1 nervous Christians have read where the dimensions of heaven are only 1,500 cubic miles. Immediately they jump at the conclusion that even this space will not accommodate the vast multitude of which the Bible speaks.

However, calculation will show that this space will accommodate a building 792,000 stories high, and, counting rooms of ten cubic feet, the first floor of the structure would have 627,264,000 such rooms. Multiplying this by 792,000, it is easy to demonstrate that such a building would, indeed, accommodate an innumerable multitude."

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me.

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANETZKI, 2963 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ON THE IRON RANGES

POSSES ARE SEEKING NEI

Three Bodies of Men Searching Around Alice for Alleged Firebug.

Suspect's Son Claims to Have Heard Father Threaten George Wood.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three posses are searching in the vicinity of Alice for Abraham Nei, the Finn laborer who is suspected of having fired the home and barn of George Wood living near Alice causing a loss of between $5,000 and $6,000 by the destruction of the home, the barn containing 200 chickens and the death of a horse, the throat of which was cut.

The people are considerably excited over the affair and according to reports received here it is feared if the accused is taken it will be hard for the authorities to prevent the people taking the law in their hands.

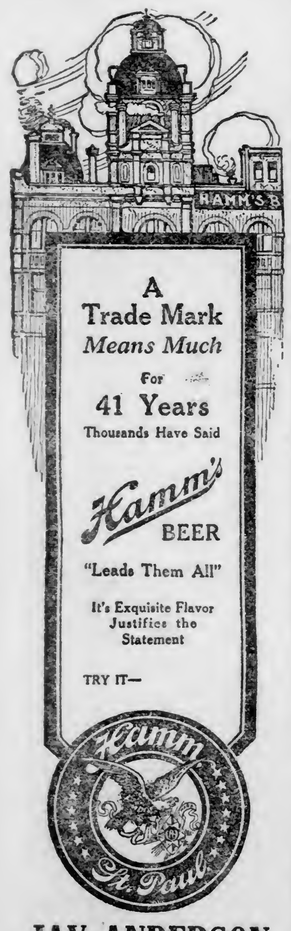

Son Accuses Father.

A sensational feature of the case is the statement that has been secured in writing from Nei's young son in which the boy says he heard his father say he would "get Wood," the inference being that Nei was angered at Wood because the latter and George Healy, who owns a field in which Nei's cows pastured had driven the animals out and because Wood secured a warrant for Nei's arrest for threatening to murder his own wife. It developed today that Nie was at the home of a pal near Alice last evening where he was given provisions unseen by the officers who called there and left armed with a Winchester rifle. An effort will be made to secure bloodhounds to track the accused. It is currently believed that Nei is off mentally as the result of drinking too much liquor, secured at a Kelley lake blind pig and that when he comes to his senses he will probably surrender. Meanwhile the people of Alice are greatly stirred over the incendiarism and rumors of a possible lynching are rife.

VIRGINIA PLANS MILITIA COMPANY

Sixty Young Men Start Organization in National Guard of State.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preliminary steps were taken here last night for the organization of a state militia company. Sixty young men signed a petition, asking admission to such a company, and an organization was effected by the election of Chas. Parker as captain, Leroy Edwin, first lieutenant, and R. G. Sherwood, second lieutenant. Mr. Parker will leave for St. Paul Sunday to present the application of Virginia young men for admission to the state militia guard. There are said to be two company vacancies in the guard. The boys have the hearty support of most of the business men of the city in their efforts to secure a company for Virginia.

SACCO MURDER TRIAL GOES ON

Case May Be Given to Jury Some Time Saturday Afternoon.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Carmine Sacco, indicted for killing Caesar Bonacci here Aug. 13, following a card game row, held the boards all day in Judge Hughes' court yesterday and was resumed today with the probability of the jury getting the case some time tomorrow afternoon.

The state is attempting to establish that on the afternoon of Aug. 13 Sacco deliberately shot and almost instantly killed Bonacci in the boarding house of the latter in this city after a party of half a dozen had been engaged in playing cards and drinking liquor for several hours.

The supper hour was past and Sacco is said to have insisted upon Bonacci getting him something to eat. The latter replied that supper had been over for some time and after a few more words Sacco is said to have pulled his gun and begun shooting. In the confusion he escaped and was captured the next day about forty miles south of this city by Deputy Sheriff Moilan, who had been informed that Sacco, or a man looking something like him, was seen walking along the Duluth, Missabe & Northern tracks thirty miles south of Virginia.

The deputy sheriff boarded the next train south and rode on the engine with the crew. On getting close to Sacco, the train stopped and the officer was upon him before he knew what was happening and after a brief struggle, was handcuffed and returned to Virginia the same day. Several others present when the murder took place were arrested and will appear as witnesses. It is believed that there was a feud of some kind between Bonacci and Sacco.

NELS NYHUS' FUNERAL.

Ely Pioneer's Last Rites Attended By Many.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday at 2 o'clock, the funeral of Nels Nyhus, who died at his home last Tuesday morning, was held from an undertaking parlor. Two societies of which he was a member followed the body to the cemetery and paid the last rites.

The body of Matt Herrala, who died in Fergus Falls last Monday, arrived here yesterday in the charge of Mike Niemi, who was sent by the Finnish Temperance society to take charge of the body. The funeral will take place next Sunday from Laing Hardware's undertaking department, and thence to the Finnish church. Matt Herrala was about 55 years of age and was employed here as a miner, until he went to Fergus Falls. He is survived by a wife and three children.

NEW EVELETH LODGE.

Modern Samaritans Start Out With About 100 Members.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Modern Samaritan lodge was instituted here last evening with 100 members. The installation of officers was conducted by Range Organizer Peter Anderson and General Arganizer E. I. Doig.

The Eveleth and Biwabik mines of the Eastern Mesaba league will meet here Sunday afternoon for the championship of the league with "Ding" Richards and Andrews as battery for the locals and Benson and Carey for the visitors.

Miss Mabel Stone has been added to the list of high school teachers, succeeding Miss Carrie Smith of Minneapolis, who recently resigned.

A hayrack party was held last evening by a party of twenty-five local residents who drove to Gilbert and Virginia.

PAL BROWN TRAINING.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pal Brown and his trainer, Dr. Klapper, are busy at Brown's training place eight miles north of town, where the Hibbing fighter is getting ready for his go with Larry Temple at Milwaukee, Sept. 15, preliminary to the Wolgast-McFarland fight. The interest in the big mill in Milwaukee is keen here is evidenced by the fact that already eleven ringside seats have been engaged for local fight fars.

ITASCA COUNTY EXHIBIT.

Carload of Products of County Sent to State Fair.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Itasca county has sent a carload of agricultural exhibits to the state fair in charge of W. F. Fulton. The exhibit is considered very representative, and it is expected many first prizes will be captured.

Secretary Sisler of the county fair association will have charge of the exhibit on the state fair grounds, and during the fair will distribute 20,000 booklets descriptive of Itasca county and her resources. The exhibit consists of displays of grains, grasses, roots, garden products, fruit and glass tubes containing 18-inch sections of the soil, so that agriculturists can make studies of it.

MAPPING CANOE ROUTES.

Two Harbors Man Looks Over Possible Trips for Tourists.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. W. Tait returned Monday from an extended canoe trip through the northern lakes. His trip, like the one last year, was made for the Duluth & Iron Range passenger department, the purpose being to map out canoe routes for tourists.

EVELETH STUDENTS GOING AWAY TO COLLEGES.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth will be well represented at higher schools of learning by the following students who will leave soon to resume the studies: Mary McDonald, Anna Schlund, Irene Davey, Anna Mulligan, St. Cloud normal; Dale Cerveny, Ben Wilk, John Saari, Harry Wilk, Esther Ferris, Ruth Jesmore, University of Minnesota; Harry Rabinowitz, Paul J. Erickson, University of Michigan; Flossie Noel, Gertrude Owens, Winona normal; Beatrice Murnik, Florence Murnik, Esther Brooks, Villa scholastic school, Duluth; Polly Rabinowita, Minneapolis academy; John Massucci, Highland academy, Des Moines, Iowa; Cyril Williams, Wayland academy, Beaver Dam, Wis.

Remove to Biwabik.

Negaunee, Mich., Sept. 1.—Alfred Chapman and wife left Monday night for Biwabik, on the Mesaba range, where they will probably remain permanently. Mr. Chapman has almost fully recovered from the injuries he received a few weeks ago, when he attempted to board a switch engine coming up from the Mary Charlotte mine.

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are billous, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

CLERKS WILL HOLD PICNIC ON MONDAY

Delayed Two Harbors Outing Will Be Held on Labor Day.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The retail clerks' picnic, which was postponed on account of bad weather, will be held Monday, Labor day. The stores will all be closed and the clerks and their friends will be free to enjoy the holiday and celebrate their annual picnic at the same time.

The picnic will be held in the city park and the same program of sports as advertised will be carried out, weather permitting.

GILBERT SCHOOLS WILL OPEN SEPT. 5

List of Teachers for Gilbert, Sparta, McKinley and Other Places.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A reception will be given Friday evening, Sept. 8, in the new high school auditorium in Gilbert for the teachers, many of whom are in Gilbert for the first time. The school board authorizing Supt. C. L. Newberry to engage an orchestra for the occasion. A program will be rendered from 8:30 to 10, and an invitation is extended to the citizens of Gilbert and pupils in the schools to be present.

The schools will be opened Sept. 5 with the following teachers:

TWO HARBORS LIVERYMAN IS CALLED IN COLORADO.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A telegram was received yesterday stating that Martin Beckman of this city had died at a sanatarium in Colorado. Mr. Beckman has been suffering from consumption and left last spring for Colorado, hoping to be cured. His father has been with him, but returned last week. The body will be shipped here for burial. The deceased was very well known here, having resided here for many years. He was one of the firm of Beckman brothers, owners of a livery and boarding stable. He is survived by a wife and three children, two brothers, Oscar and Charles Beckman, a sister, Mrs. Gust Lund, and by his aged father.

PREPARING TO OPEN TWO HARBORS SCHOOLS.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Superintendent H. E. Flynn returned Tuesday morning, and is putting in the week in preparation for the opening of school next Tuesday. Mr. Flynn has spent the greater part of the vacation attending Columbia university, New York City.

COUNTY CHARGE OF LAKE COUNTY DIES.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Olaf Olson, a county charge, died at the Budd hospital Sunday morning of tuberculosis. He had no relatives in this country. The funeral was held Tuesday from Brown's undertaking rooms.

ELY BRIEFS.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. James P. Carey of Virginia returned last Monday to her home in Virginia after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison.

Doc. Coffeen was a Duluth visitor last Wednesday.

G. C. Carlson of Two Harbors, relief agent of the Duluth & Iron Range, is acting as agent here in the place of James Moonan, who left last Thursday for a vacation.

The football boys are out practicing every night now since the organization of the city football club last Monday.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Robert Dyer and Miss Bertha Fromhertz. Mr. Dyer is the chief clerk of the Duluth & Iron Range, a position which he has held the last two years, and Miss Fromhertz is bookkeeper with the St. Croix Lumber & Manufacturing company of Winton. She was born and raised here. The date of the wedding has not been announced.

Admits "Rolling" Man.

Deer River, Minn., Sept. 1.—Len Walker, who admitted having "rolled" a drunken man here and stole his watch valued at $40, was sentenced to thirty days in jail by a justice of the peace here. After the theft Walker fled to Jesse Junction, where he was arrested and brought back and pleaded guilty.

EQUIPMENT IS DELAYED

Classes Will Be Assembled and Organized in New Buildings.

A delay in the shipment of desks and seats for the Jerome Merritt school and the four-room addition to the Lowell building at Duluth Heights will probably prevent the holding of regular sesions in the two buildings for the first few days of the school year which opens next Tuesday.

The desks and seats were ordered some time ago and were to have been shipped Aug. 29. They have not yet arrived and Clerk C. A. Bronson of the school board, and the shippers, are tracing them. Little time will be required to set them up when they arrive and Supt. Denfeld is hopeful that the delay at the schools will be short.

The scholars will be assembled at the Jerome Merritt school and in the additional space in the Lowell next Tuesday, even if the equipment has not been installed, and the classes will be organized so that regular sessions may be held as soon as the rooms are ready. The congestion at the Bryant and Oneota buildings will be relieved by the Merritt school, while the school attendance at Duluth Heights has greatly outgrown the accommodations of the Lowell building.

School Board Meeting.

Minor matters in connection with the opening of school will be disposed of at the regular meeting of the board of education this evening. The committee on schools and teachers will recommend arrangements for caring for the pupils at Bay View Heights. A decision was reached earlier in the year to close the school, but the residents of the suburbs obect and it is probable that the building will be reopened.

Arrangements for the children living at Woodland will probably be the same as last year when street car transportation was furnished by the board for the children living far from the Washburn building. The committee on maintenance of buildings and grounds now has in hand the selection of a site for a school at Woodland and a new building will very likely be erected there by the opening of the next school year.

Teachers' examinations were held at the Central high school yesterday and today. The principals' meeting will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the Central high school and the general teachers' meeting will be held at 10 o'clock. Many of the teachers are already in the city and others are arriving on every train. Some trouble is being experienced in finding accommodations, but all will be located by Tuesday.

The attendance in the Duluth schools was the heaviest in history last year. At the close of the year over 13,000 children were attending the public schools, and the parochial school attendance brought the total number up to about 15,000.

The parochial schools of the city will also open Tuesday. In connection with the cathedral parish, grade schools, a high school for girls and a high school for boys are conducted. St. Mary's, Ste. Jean Baptiste and St. Clement's Catholic parishes also have schools.

WOMAN FIRES AT INTRUDER

Mrs. H. B. Detweiler Repels Man Who Tried to Enter Her Home.

Within an hour last evening three excited women called up the police department and informed them that men were trying to gain access to their residences through basement doors. Two of these calls came from the East end and the other from Cascade Park, and the police auto was kept on the road for some time trying to run them down.

In the East end Mrs. Herbert B. Detweiler, 1825 Dingwall street, took strenuous measures of her own to repel the invaders. She and her sister were alone in the house when the man was heard at the basement door. Creeping out on the porch, which overlooks the cellar entrance, she fired twice at the intruder with a revolver, and he took flight immediately. Then she notified the police. Investigation showed that one of the shots struck the wall of the house within a few inches of the spot where the man was standing.

The police had just returned from the Detweiler neighborhood when another call was received from a house near there, saying that a man was working at the basement door there. The other run was made to 31 West Fifth street.

STABBING AFFRAY ON LAKE AVENUE.

About midnight last night on Lake avenue, Theodore Koski drew an ugly looking knife and attacked Andrew Wanski, inflicting a deep cut on his right arm. How the trouble started between the two men is not definitely known. They had been drinking and got into an argument that culminated in the stabbing.

Patrolmen Robey and Hannold arrived on the scene and placed Koski under arrest. He was arraigned in police court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. The case was set for Sept. 8, the prisoner being held in default of $250 ball.

ROMANCE MAY END IN PERJURY CHARGES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—A warrant charging the fleeing bridegroom with perjury promises to provide the denouement in the elopement of Florence Brietner, a 17-year-old school girl, and Victor J. Swan. Swan is a widower 23 years old. It is said that Swan made oath that the girl was of legal age. The girl, it is said, told her mother she was going shopping. She never returned. Instead, notes were sent to Mr. and Mrs. Brietner, stating that the pair were married and that they would "be back soon."

BERTHOLD REGISTRATION IS NEARING 20,000.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 1.—The total registration for the opening of the Berthold reservation is 18,807. There are two more registration days and government officials predict a total registration of from 20,000 to 22,000.

Minot is planning a big celebration on the date of the drawing Sept. 6. Congressman L. B. Hanna of Fargo will be present. His son, Robert, will draw the first application at the drawing.

FORMER VICE PRESIDENT VISITS IN MENOMINEE.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Adlai Ewing Stevenson, ex-vice president of the United States, was in the city Wednesday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Blesch. Mr. Stevenson and wife are en route to their home in Bloomington, Ill., from Ephraim, Wis., where they have been rusticating.

INVESTIGATES DIET AT WALKER INSTITUTION.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. C. Cutter, purchasing agent for the state board of control, declares, after a trip of inspection to Walker, that fresh fruit has been served more than once a month in the state sanatorium for consumptives, and the records of the institution show it was placed on the table May 24 and 30, and June 5, 10, 11, 12, 16, 17, 20, 23 and 27. James Matchitt, secretary of the state board of visitors, reported that fruit seldom was seen, and Mr. Cutter made a special investigation because of this report.

Mr. Cutter also declares that prune whip, caramel, pineapple and frequently ice cream and sherbets were served.

A report to the state board of control will be made by Cutter.

BEE-KEEPERS' WANTS.

Certain Legislation Is Asked By National Meeting.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—The National Bee-keepers' association in annual convention here, adopted resolutions requesting congress to enact laws governing the interstate shipment of bee colonies and honey, the establishment of an apiary department in state agricultural schools and a general educational campaign against brood diseases of bees.

Today is being devoted to sight-seeing in the Twin Cities.

Baltimorean Operated On.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 1.—Dr. John Kelly of the Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, a prominent medical man, underwent an operation at St. Mary's hospital yesterday for gall trouble, and is reported to be doing well.

The condition of Congressman J. P. Latta of Nebraska, who was operated upon a week ago for intestinal disorder, continued encouraging and unless something unforseen develops, there is little doubt that he will recover.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

Just to show that he hadn's used up his stock of summer weather, the controller of the elements closed August in a blaze of glory. The temperature mounted to 80 deg. yesterday and the day was real summery. Last evening was beautiful, but the first day of September dawned gray and sticky and rain fell during the morning. Showers are predicted for tonight, with fair weather tomorrow.

The sun rose this morning at 5:27 and it will set at 6:48 this evening, giving thirteen hours and twenty-one minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The barometric depressions centered over the Dakotas and Maine, respectively, caused light showers over Saskatchewan, Manitoba, the Dakotas and Western Minnesota, and light to heavy rains in Atlantic states during the last twenty-four hours. Somewhat warmer weather prevails in most of the Northern states, while over North Carolina, Virginia, New Jersey, Southern Utah and Nevada the weather has turned cooler. The easterly movement of the Dakota low pressure will result in more or less showery conditions at the Head of the Lakes this afternoon and tonight, probably followed by clearing skies Saturday."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Upper Michigan — Unsettled, with showers tonight or Saturday; warmer in extreme east portion tonight.

Wisconsin — Increasing cloudiness with probably local showers late tonight or Saturday; warmer in southwest portion tonight.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; warmer in northeast portion tonight.

North and South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; cooler tonight

Montana—Fair tonight and and Saturday; cooler in southeast portion tonight.

Upper lakes—Light to moderate south and southwest winds; fair, followed by showers late tonight or Saturday.

FLOUR RATE IS SLASHED

Reduction in Lake and Rail Rate From Minneapolis to East.

Duluth Men Interested in Knowing Whether Differential Is Maintained.

Duluth and Superior millers and business men are anxiously waiting to learn the exact meaning of a dispatch from Minneapolis, announcing a reduction on the through rate on flour from Minneapolis via Duluth and the Great Lakes to New York. This rate, according to the dispatch, has been reduced 1½ cents per 100 pounds, or 3 cents a barrel. The new through rate from Minneapolis to New York via the lakes will be 21½ cents per 100 pounds. The old rate is 23 cents. The all-rail rate remains at 25 cents.

The question that concerns the business men at the Head of the Lakes is whether there will be a corresponding reduction from Duluth, via the lakes, to New York. For a long time Duluth's rate to New York has been 5 cents per 100 pounds, or 10 cents a barrel less than that of Minneapolis. Is this differential to be maintained? That question has been asked and there may be an answer any hour.

The general opinion here is that the reduction applies not only to Minneapolis, but is for the benefit of millers throughout all the Western country. So sure are the Duluth business men of this that they do not seem particularly worried, though it would be quite a blow at Duluth milling interests in favor of Minneapolis to reduce that 10-cent differential between Minneapolis and Duluth.

"I cannot think for a moment that the Western railroads have done otherwise than to make a general reduction for the benefit of Western millers as against Eastern millers," one prominent business man of Duluth declared today. "No other belief seems at all reasonable."

"If the 10-cent differential between Minneapolis and Duluth is maintained," said A. D. Goodman, vice president and general manager of the Duluth Universal Milling company, "Duluth, of course, will be benefited along with all Western millers."

According to the Minneapolis dispatch, the change was effected by J. C. Andrews, manager of the Pillsbury Flour Mills company; H. P. Gallagher, vice president of the Northwestern Consolidated Milling company; H. H. King of the Sheffield-King Milling company; J. G. Woodworth, traffic manager of the Great Northern; and W. L. Martin, vice president and general traffic manager of the Soo Line.

Three years ago Minneapolis business men made an unsuccessful appeal to the interstate commerce commission to do the very thing that the railroads have now done without government compulsion.

100 men from the auditing staffs having been let out yesterday. Most of these men have been employed as train auditors. This work will be done by conductors from now on.

Refused by Markham.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Following the flat refusal of President C. H. Markham of the Illinois Central railroad to recognize the federation of shopmen, the twenty-seven delegates representing the nine crafts today held several conferences and kept in close touch with the situation in San Francisco, where Vice President Julius Kruttschnitt of the Harriman lines is meeting with union labor leaders.

Three courses are said to be open to the leaders of the 8,000 shopmen employed by the Illinois Central railroad: To call out the shopmen employed by the Illinois Central at once, either in a separate strike or in connection with a general strike of all shopmen on the Harriman lines.

May End Agreements.

To serve a thirty days' notice abrogating existing wage agreements, withholding the strike order until the expiration of that period, and in the meantime make an effort to resume negotiations for peace with the railroad officials.

To recede from their demand that the railroad recognize the federated organization of shop employes.

It is believed that one of these alternatives will be decided on in the near future. Several of the delegates have, it is said, expressed themselves in favor of giving the railroad company thirty days' notice of the probation of the wage contracts. If this action is decided on, the question of calling a strike will ge indefinitely delayed.

Wired to San Francisco.

Local heads of the shop men have wired their international presidents at San Francisco for advice.

The labor chiefs declined to discuss their probable action today, although several important conferences were held at which the entire situation was considered.

BEATTIE CASE WILL PROBABLE GO TO THE JURY NEXT TUESDAY

later, usually, than Henry, but the times I did see them they kissed."

"What was your first intimation of the murder?"

"A 'phone message from Dr. Mercer saying Henry had been held up and shot. I told other people in the house and my father, sister and I went to Tom Owen's house. Henry was in a reclining chair and my father kneeling by his side. Henry was sobbing and moaning and fondling his wife's slipper."

The witness corroborated his father's testimony of yesterday as to Henry's manifestation of grief the night of the murder.

"Did you examine the car?"

Found Blood in Car.

"When I got into it to go up the road I found blood on the left seat, covered up, and I got full of blood on the right seat."

"Why was the seat left covered"

"I was told it was covered with blood."

"We ask that this be stricken out as hearsay," said Prosecutor Wendenburg.

The court sustained the motion.

The witness said he drove the car practically from the time Henry brought the dead women to the Owen home until the next day.

"How bloody was the seat," asked Mr. Smith.

"It was bloody enough to make a big spot on my pants."

"Did you lift the seat up?"

"Yes, the blood ran in every direction after I had ridden about two hours."

Drove Car Many Miles.

"How much was that car run after the murder, before being taken in charge by the county authorities?"

The witness said he had gone up the Midlothian turnpike several times, for miles. He declared the blood under the driver's seat was soft the next day.

Counsel for defense asked permission for its witnesses to make an independent examination of the automobile. A deputy sheriff conducted these witnesses to the machine in a barn several hundred yards from the courthouse.

At this juncture Attorney Smith, for the defense, received a message telling him of an important new witness and examination of witnesses was suspended. Rumors were numerous that additional evidence concerning the alleged highwayman had been received, but counsel vouchsafed no exulanation.

Prisoner Grew Excited.

When the prisoner read the message to Mr. Smith he became excited and pounded on the table in front of him several times; his face flushed, and he turned to his father and talked quickly to him. Mr. Smith immediately left the room. Hill Carter of the defense said:

"We cannot say anything at this time. We have received some very important information which we are trying at once to verify."

The crowd sauntered about the courthouse during the virtual recess caused by Mr. Smith's absence.

Refute Boys' Testimony.

It was learned that the witness will corroborate a story of a Richmond, Va., man that he knew of a man and woman who traveled the Midlothian turnpike on the night of the murder and that the machine stopped once and the woman stood on the running board.

This fact, if established, will be used by the defense to controvert the testimony of several boy witnesses of the prosecution that they saw a man and woman in a car similar to Henry Clay Beattie, Jr.'s, on the road and that the man was not in the machine. By the testimony of the boys the prosecution has contended that the accused was not in his seat in the car when the murder occurred.

Mr. Smith returned to court at 12 o'clock and continued his examination of Douglas Beattie, who was on the stand before the half hour's interruption.

Beattie's Brother Quizzed.

Douglas Beattie described his first visit to the scene of the tragedy a few hours after it happened, and his discovery of the big blood spot. He related how he motored back and forth that night, on six trips, carrying different persons to the scene. He said that blood from the car was still on his hands when he handled the gun, which he found some distance from the scene.

On cross-examination the witness said when he had ordered the bloody car washed, the left hand cushion was washed, but not the right hand one, because the witness said "we did not have time."

"What was the object of getting rid of the blood on the left hand seat and not the right hand seat, which had more blood on it?" asked Prosecutor Wendenburg.

Would Have Washed Car.

"I didn't know the machine was to have been seized later or I would have had the machine washed at once," said Douglas Beattie, "and furthermore the car would not have made any more trips that night."

"Explain what you mean by that."

"Well, I wouldn't have given the detectives and others the opportunity to ride around in it and place the car and say what they have about it here."

"Why would you deprive them of the opportunity?"

"Well, had I known that they were going to work up a case against my brother I would have deprived them of it."

"Do you think that was right as a citizen, not as a brother, to destroy evidence?"

"Well, what man wouldn't?"

"Would you destroy that evidence?"

"Yes, if it was going to be used as it has been, falsely, against my brother."

"But you weren't there?"

"No."

Would Destroy Evidence.

"And yet you have deprived the jury of that evidence?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you, at the coroner's inquest, carry a message from Beulah Binford to Henry?"

"Not then, but later."

"The message was that she should not give up to the detectives except what was absolutely true?"

"Yes."

"You have stated that if you had known what you know now you would have destroyed evidence on the machine. Did you have the same idea with respect to the Beulah Binford evidence?"

"No. Henry's relations with Beulah Binford were well known to everybody in Manchester (South Richmond)."

"How about recent relations? Did you know of them?"

"Yes."

"Were they discussed in the family?"

"Yes. My brother came to me and said: 'Don't you know that damn girl is back in Richmond?'"

"Dear Kid" Letter.

Here Prosecutor Wendenburg suddenly asked the witness if he knew his brother's handwriting. He said he did, and the prosecution brought forth the "Dear Kid" letter, signed by the prisoner, with reference to Beulah Binford's obtaining a flat and the payment of some money for furniture.

Was at Inquest.

"Were you present at the coroner's inquest when Beulah Binford was on the stand?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever discuss this Beulah letter with your brother?"

"No."

Mr. Smith, in re-direct examination, asked the witness if he ever had any objection to a "fair examination" of the machine. Court ruled it out as a leading question.

"Well, what was your position as to giving impartial evidence?"

The witness said he gave all the information possible and helped the detectives as much as possible.

"What did you refer to as not helping detectives if you had known what they were going to do?"

"In laying the crime on my brother."

Sobbed as Father Talked.

Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., sobbed like a child when his gray-haired father, in a low, tremulus voice, told yesterday of the domestic felicity of his son and the slain woman, Louise Owen Beattie. It was the first time that the special calm of the prisoner's countenance had given way during the trial.

The testimony of the father in behalf of his son came as the dramatic close of a long day's battle by the defense against the evidence heaped up by the prosecution.

Battering constantly against the testimony of Paul Beattie, cousin of the prisoner, as to the purchase of the gun, his delivery of it to Harry, and his subsequent conversations with the accused, the defense introduced several witnesses to cast doubt upon the veracity of Paul. It emphasized that point when it produced David D. Beattie, Paul's grandfather and the uncle of Henry, who testified that Paul's character was not good. It was another intense period in the trial, for with apparent regret the aged man told of his grandson's shortcomings.

Called Paul "Liar."

O. H. Lewis, an employe of the Beattie store in South Richmond, declared that people spoke of Paul Beattie as the 'biggest liar in town."

Henry Clay Beattie, Sr., father of the accused, was interrogated for an hour just before the court adjourned for the day. As he stepped to the witness stand, the prisoner's face flushed.

The white-haired man, his face deeply wrinkled and pale, spoke in a voice scarcely above a whisper. Counsel leaned forward over the bench to listen to him. He talked with a great effort, repressing an ever recurrent emotion.

He told of how his life had been saddened by the deaths of some of his children; how Henry in his infancy had been neglected because twins came into the family during his boyhood, and described how, on this account, and the death of his own wife he had grown closely attached to his son. He described the strong love that had existed between Henry and the ill-fated wife, testifying that he himself grew to love his daughter-in-law as one of his own children.

"When the baby was born," said Beattie, speaking of the dead woman, "it was like starting life over for me to see the grandchild. It drew us all together very much."

Tells of Son's Grief.

The father spoke highly of his son's character and controverted the testimony of many witnesses for the prosecution that Henry showed no signs of grief after his wife's murder. He declared that he sobbed and moaned almost all night after the tragedy.

When Beattie had finished and was ready for cross-examination by the prosecution, Mr. Wendenburg waived the opportunity. It was the first time during the trial that this has occurred.

After a few minutes testimony of Mary Jackson, a colored woman, to the effect that she saw a bearded man in the vicinity of the murder on the Sunday before it happened, which on cross-examination she was unable to maintain, especially as she declared she could not fix the exact date, court adjourned.

CUYLER ADAMS MAY SINK CONCRETE SHAFT.

Deerwood, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cuyler Adams and associates are reported making arrangements to sink a cement shaft south of Deerwood in section 30, township 46, range 25 near the site of the old Chesquitawney mine. Mining in that vicinity will give a favorable impetus to things in Deerwood and create a material improvement in business conditions. Mr. Adams has done much for Deerwood and the Cuyuna range but this shaft, more than anything else, will be of more benefit to the town than any of his other notable contributions.

WOMAN'S REALM.

"You will have to start a big campaign of education for the parents on what is best for the young people and then provide places of amusement where the right kind of entertainment will be given, before you can expect to accomplish any great good," said Mrs. Perry Starkweather of St. Paul this morning, in a talk on "Child Welfare," before the meeting of the Woman's council at the club room of the library.

The council has been interested in the enforcement of the curfew law in this city for some time, and in connection with this Mrs. Starkweather gave her talk. She spoke of the work being done in St. Paul along these lines, and of the good accomplished by determined work on the part of the citizens in helping to enforce the law.

"It is not so much on the police force, not so much on the laws and ordinances, as on every individual that the enforcement of these laws rests and everyone should feel that he is morally responsible for the welfare of the city and its people. If we are to leave the world better than we found it we must do things," said Mrs. Starkweather.

Chief Troyer Present.

Chief Troyer of the local police force was also a guest at the meeting and gave the members some interesting details of the work from his side of the question. After a lengthy discussion of the matter and the inefficiency of the curfew ordinance it was moved and seconded that the committee on child welfare send a petition to the common council asking that the committee on ordinances be instructed to meet with the committee of the Women's council with the purpose in view of drawing up a new ordinance which would more fully cover the needs of the case. It was also moved that this new ordinance contain the provision of the blowing of whistles at a certain hour at night to warn both parents and children of the hour set for the children being in their homes, and also for the provision that in cases of violation of the ordinance that written communications be sent to the parents of the children found on the streets and that after the second offense for the same child that the parents be liable to arrest. These two clauses have been found effectual in aiding the enforcement of this law in other cities.

The women also discussed the plan of posting placards containing the curfew laws, and other ordinances of the same nature as the cigarette laws, etc., in public places, on street corners and in the schools and of sending circulars to the parents acquainting them with the terms of the ordinances, also telling of the dangers to their child when out on the streets and in public places.

Mrs. Starkweather continued: "If you would be successful you must make no difference between the real offenders and those who may be possible offenders, block off your city in districts and get out and do what you can to help, open your schools and provide a good place of amusement for parents and children alike and keep at it."

A petition drafted by the members of the streets and alley committee asking that the macadam pavements for the avenues be given serious consideration and that some more suitable for the travel of horses be used on the avenues still unpaved. The committee was authorized to seek the backing of other organizations in the city in this section and to submit it to the common council. The name of the Humane society had already been added.

A motion was carried to add the petition of the Women's Council to that of the health officer in his request for an appropriation for the extension of the garbage collection in the city. This is a question in which the Women's Council has been strongly interested and which it will push at every favorable opportunity.

Open Air Schools.

It was also moved and carried that that the committee on education send a communication to the school board at its meeting tonight to ask for its cooperation in establishing open air schools for the consumptive children.

Mrs. J. L. Washburn, president of the Women's Council, gave an interesting account of her recent visit in Sauk Center at the Girls' school there and told of the girls' work and the manner in which the school is conducted, and the helpful wholesome atmosphere which prevails. She told of the success of the farm work which has been done there and gave many intersting details of the girls' lives.

"THE LOST PRINCE."

Children to Give Play for Charity.

Five little folks of the East end will give a little play on Tuesday evening of next week at the home of Mrs. T. D. Merrill, 2626 Greysolon road, and they are doing it for the benefit of Life's "Fresh Air Fund." This fund is maintained by that magazine for the purpose of sending little children out in the country where they can get pure fresh air to help to give them new life and strength.

"The Lost Prince" is the little play which has been chosen, and under the direction of Mrs. F. A. Patrick they have worked out their parts very well, and the evening promises to be a most enjoyable one.

The play has a pretty little story and it will run for about three-quarters of an hour. The young people have been working on the play for some time, and their rehearsals are running smoothly. They have interested a number of people in the play.

The hour set for the opening of the entertainment is 8 o'clock. A small admission will be charged, and all who are interested will be welcome.

Those taking part are:

Miss Eleanor Mitchell, the wicked queen.

Miss Katherine Abbott, the Hema Dryad.

Penelope Turle, the wicked wizard.

Betty Merrill, the banished queen.

John Abbott, the lost prince.

For Miss Duncan.

Mrs. E. J. Collins was hostess at a beautifully appointed luncheon this afternoon at her home, 2501 East Fifth street, in compliment to Miss Grace Duncan and her bridal party. Nasturtiums were used in profusion on the table and throughout the rooms, and covers were laid for:

Mesdames—
C. A. Duncan, J. A. Bradley,
R. N. Marble, Jr., Collins.
Misses—
Grace Duncan, Mary Curtiss,
Helen Forsythe, Virginia Frick.

Mrs. A. J. Bradley of 2530 East Sixth street was hostess at an afternoon card party yesterday at her home in compliment to her sister. Hearts were played at five tables and the favors were won by Miss Mabel Moore of Marquette, Mich., and Miss Lillian Gowan.

This evening Mrs. Oliver S. Andresen will entertain at her home, 2609 East Fifth street, in compliment to Miss Duncan and Mr. McLeod.

W. R. C. Concert.

One of the most pleasing musical programs of the summer was given last evening at the Memorial hall of the courthouse under the auspices of the Women's Relief Corps. A large audience attended and was generous in its praise for every number.

The Ensemble club opened the program with "Ballata Guida Papini," which was very well rendered and Donna Riblette Flaaten followed with a dainty group of songs which were delightful. She sang "The Lass With the Delicate Air," "A Boat Song," and "The Captain."

Miss Mary Shesgreen gave a pleasing interpretation of "The Challenge," and Henry Lavick's violin solo, "Dances Tziganes," was a general favorite. Misses Ruth Brown and Clara Foltz sang a duet from "Lakme," which was well received and Mrs. Flaaten sang a group consisting of "Yesterday and Today," "Shena Van," "My Laddie," and "Ecstacy."

The Ensemble club with two numbers closed the program. Mrs. Gustav Flaaten was the accompanist.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. D. L. Murphy of Lakeside is home from a six weeks' visit in Chicago, returning via the Twin Cities.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Rose of Two Harbors are the guests of Mrs. A. V. Kelley of 1218 East Second street.

Miss Ada Campbell will leave this evening for her home in South Bend, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Norton are in the city for a few days on their wedding trip. They were married Tuesday in Minneapolis and will reside in Virginia, Minn. The bride was Miss Florence Cowan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. deWard and two boys of Lester Park and Mrs. Fred Pope will return tomorrow from Lake Vermilion where they have been enjoying an outing.

Mrs. C. H. Fitzpatrick, who has been spending the summer here with her mother, Mrs. E. Brady, 6023 London road, will leave tomorrow for her home in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Mrs. Stephen H. Jones of 1215 East Second street is a guest at a house party at the home of Mrs. D. Newton Tallman, Crescent Beech, Wis.

Mrs. C. N. Whiting of 1539 East Superior street will leave this evening for a month's visit in Chicago and Eastern points.

Mrs. F. L. Barrows and son, Kenneth, of 12 North Nineteenth avenue east, returned this morning from a trip down the lakes on a freighter.

Albert J. D'Aoust, fomerly of this city, now of Seattle, is in the city, stopping at the Spalding.

Mrs. Robert Smith has returned from a month's visit in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Thompson of Houghton are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Cole of 1701 East First street. Mr. Thompson is the cashier of the First National bank of Hancock and came to Duluth to play with the Portage Lake golfers against the Northland Country club team.

Miss Alice Nordstrom of 621 East Sixth street, has returned from a three months' visit at Portland, Oregon and other coast sities. Miss Nordstrom was accompanied by her sister, Mr. Itohif of Hayward, Wis.

Miss May Emmott of 705 East Fourth street, will leave tonight for Caledonia, Minn., with the remains of her sister, Mrs. Buoltz of the range, who died at St. Mary's hospital Wednesday. Interment will be at Caledonia, their home town.

Mrs. Whitney Wall returned this morning from Louisville, Ky., where she went to attend the funeral of her brother.

The Kitchen

Chicken en Casserole.

Cut into joints one large fowl or two small ones, removing as many of the bones as possible, and the skin if very tough. Put two tablespoonfuls of olive oil, pork drippings or butter in a frying pan and as soon as smoking hot, lay a few pieces of the chicken in at a time, turning often until the flesh loses its pinky tinge and turns white.

Do not allow the pieces to brown. As fast as the white stage is reached take from the pan and drain on soft paper while cooking another batch. When all are cooked—and you may have to add more butter or oil before you have finished, but do so when there is no chicken in the pan—place where the chicken will keep hot while you prepare the sauce.

Put three tablespoonfuls of butter in the pan where the chicken was cooked and as soon as melted add two tablespoonfuls of flour. As soon as blended and frothy turn in three cupfuls of veal or chicken stock, which can be made from the bones, cleaned feet and trimmings of the fowl, well seasoned with vegetable and soup herbs. Cook until smooth and thickened, strain into the casserole, add the pieces of chicken, cover closely with oiled paper, adjust the casserole cover and bake in a moderate oven an even hour or more, dependent upon the age and tenderness of the chicken. Game and veal are cooked in the same way as the chicken. Rabbit is specially nice prepared in this way.

New England Salt Codfish Dinner.

To begin with the fish itself should be of the best quality, thick and delicate. This should be boiled on a fish tray or in a cloth, then taken up and placed in the center of a hot platter. Over it is poured a generous quantity of rich white sauce into which the riced yolk of a hard boiled egg has been stirred. A little fine minced parsley is now sprinkled over the fish and sauce, while around the edge of the platter are ranged slices of boiled beets, boiled carrots, two or three small boiled onions and small boiled potatoes. A sauce boat pased with the service of fish contains finely diced fat salt pork with some of its own fat.

Home-Made Pork Pie.

Procure a pound and a half of pork, and cut it into very small pieces, or put through the chopping machine. Mix well with sufficient pepper and salt to taste. For the crust, one and a half pounds of flour, one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt. Mix together. Melt ten ounces of lard into three-quarters of a teacupful of milk over the fire, and while warm work into the flour. Set aside for twenty minutes, then roll out, and line a cake tin (loose-bottom). Place the meat in, leaving it a little from the sides for the jelly to run around. Put the top on, brush over with an egg, and bake in a hot oven, on the top shelf for two hours. For the jelly, stew a pig's foot a long time, and use the liquid, which has been salted to taste for the jelly. When the pork pie is nearly cold, make a little hole and fill up.

"O luscious feast!
One can at least
Should be my daily ration.
For I'm so hollow
That I could swallow
Enough to feed
a nation."

Running Out of Talk

By CARA REESE.

You run out of talk when you live to yourself so much.

Sometimes two people run out of talk when they never have company or see any body else. When you run out of talk you are beginning to go backwards. It is a sign that you are running out of talk when you mope or grow restless and spend the time sighing and wishing, or in yawning and grumbling, or in going over the same old subjects of conversation until tired out.

But running out of talk means running out of ideas. It means nothing now as an inspiration toward talk. It means a lack of fresh incidents and experiences and no stimulus of any sort. Some young couples run out of talk in their early experiences, then there comes a longing on the part of the young wife to go gadding about or the young man has a hungry desire to be out with the boys. There is nothing at home to talk about. It is no doubt a trying predicament. Young husbands have looked bored when invited for the thousandth time to inspect the tiny house and listen to details. Young wives have cried out their eyes when their mates have grown ennuied and grumpy over the same old story.

The best sauce in the world for young couples and older ones who are by themselves is to hunt up something each day as a new item of interest to talk about. When you run out of talk you are settling down to an unwholesome routine and to a commonplace humdrum. Hence, it were better to allow wives and husbands a little latitude in the way of mingling with the outside world. When you run out of talk you are growing old in your ways, you are growing staid in your habits, and are narrowing your vision somewhat. Run out of doors and freshen up a bit.

There are boon companions who run out of talk, there are close friends who run out of talk, there are inseparatable chums who run out of talk. When this is carried too far and each day finds that the same dreary dearth of ideas continues and neither mind is affording a stimulus to the other, it is time to take a vacation and each in a different direction. Boon companions may very soon become fossils. At any rate invite a third occasionally. Take different ways in the daily recreations, freshen up yourself and in turn liven and stimulate your companion.

It is said of two elderly ladies who were living alone and with no separate ideas and nothing new wafted in on their existence, that they gave room and board to a cheerful student or two and sometimes a young business man or a friend in employment, for no other purpose than to have some talking going on other than their own when the evening meal was served. This was one good plan for keeping up with what was going on. There are times for the silence of a true companion and when such silence speaks louder and is more than inspiring words. But very little of this goes a long way. Ordinarily when you run out of talk you are commonplace.

Loyal Wives

By AMANDA MOORE

Much can be done by married couples to insure happiness if they firmly make up their minds not to listen too frequently to well-meant but inopportune advice.

Mischief is often unwittingly caused by the intervention of kindly disposed folk, who, quite unknowingly, do harm by giving their unasked advice on certain things. These people mean well, but they often do more harm than good. If a young married couple ask for advice and help, then it would be ungenerous to refuse. But it is good for married people to try and stand alone whenever possible, to fight their own battles, knowing that the perfect love and sympathy which exists between them will be enough to weather a temporary storm.

They must be loyal to one another—each should consider the other a pillar of strength on which to lean. There must be perfect sympathy between them, and they must be ready to make allowances for each other's weaknesses.

There will always be people ready to interfere, give advice, and to show how such and such a thing should be done. "Save me from my friends," a married woman once said—she, of course, did not mean those folks who were really genuine, lovable and sincere, but she referred to those whose unsolicited advice sometimes drove her to exasperation.

Husband and wife should endeavor to be all in all to one another; when misfortune comes, meet it bravely and with determination, and if possible bear it alone, and they should try not to be overruled on certain points by the well-meant advice of friends. When perfect love, sympathy and loyalty exist between man and wife, nothing that comes will ever seem too hard to bear. Troubles, worries, lack of funds, even lack of employment, will be met by a brave smile.

THE EVENING STORY

Tommy and the Starfish

By Joseph R. Reham.

Tommy Conger was spending a summer holiday at one of the seaside places on the East coast. One day, when the tide was going out, he saw a little star fish lying just out of reach of the water. "Poor little chap," said Tommy, picking it up carefully and placing it in the sea again. Star fish swam off at once, looking as delighted as a star fish could look.

A few days after, Tommy, who was fond of bathing, was taking his dip in the sea, when something touched his leg. It was star fish trying to attract his attention. Tommy saw it, and wondered why it did not swim away from him. Instead of that, it rose to the surface of the water and came close to his hand.

Tommy lifted it, and at once a gurgling sound came. Surprise seized Tommy, and he was about to drop the starfish when he heard the word "eat." Another word came which sounded like "me."

"Eat me," said Tommy to himself; "surely starfish doesn't mean me to eat it. I never heard of anyone eating a starfish." All the time starfish kept repeating the words, and suddenly it dawned on Tommy that the second word was "weed." "Eat weed; now I see it;" said Tommy, and he ate a small piece of sea weed.

Before he could say Jack Robinson he had become a young haddock, and was swimming beautifully underneath the water. "Now I can talk to you properly," said starfish, "and I am sure you will not be sorry to be a fish for an hour or two. I may tell you that your name for that length of time will be Master Haddock. Because you helped me into the sea the other day, when I was nearly drowned for want of water, I am going to take you to see the coral palace where some of my friends live."

"How nice that will be!" answered Tommy; "and I suppose I shall be able to go home again afterwards."

"Oh, yes!" starfish said, "you will be home in time for tea." Then down, down, down, down they went. Master Haddock being amazed at the ease with which he was able to go through the water. In a few minutes they came to a forest of seaweed, and starfish informed his companion that it was called the Lions' Retreat, because a great many sea lions had their homes there. They skirted the edge of the forest, for the deep growls of the sea lions, which floated to them from a distance, made them afraid to venture in. Beyond the forest lay a deep valley, and the road down to it was very steep.

"Now, we have only to get to the bottom of the valley and go a short way before we reach the palace," said starfish. So they took two cuttle fish shells which were joined together, and, sitting in them side by side, tobogganed at a great speed down the hillside. When their toboggan stopped they stepped out, and there in front of them the coral palace gleamed through a thicket they came to the front door of the palace.

Never had Master Haddock even dreamed of such a beautiful place, and he trembled with excitement as Starfish took him by the fin to lead him indoors. In the hall the walls were decorated with many curios—articles made of sea anemone, ancient swords which had belonged to swordfish long since dead, various kinds of shells, and so on.

The sound of laughter came from one of the rooms. "My friends are in the drawing room," said Star-fish; "come and I will introduce you."

Master Haddock was evidently expected, for as soon as he and Starfish appeared in the drawing room there was a whisper of "here he comes."

A great shaking of fins followed, and Master Haddock's welcome was so warm that his right fin felt quite painful for a few moments. "The princess will be here in a minute," observed Star-fish.

He had hardly uttered the words when the door opened and a graceful Mermaid swam in. "I am so glad to see you all," she said, "and especially you, Master Haddock; now, you must lead me to the dining room, while the others follow."

It was a select party, and here is the order in which they sat at the round table: Princess Mermaid, Master Haddock, Miss Herring, Master Star-fish, Miss Whiting, Master Swordfish, Miss Plaice, Master Flounder, Miss Crab, and Master Lobster. A tiny Dog-fish lay on a sealskin rug on the floor. The first course of the dinner consisted of oysters; lovely salmon followed, which Master Swordfish carved with his sword; steaks cut from a sea cow, and some sea-kale were next brought in; then jellies, made by the cook, Mrs. Jellyfish, were served with cream from the milk of the best sea cow.

A jollier party never met, even Miss Crab never once becoming angry. Only one little speech was made, and that was by the princess, after an afternoon of merriment.

"We must now bid Master Haddock good-bye," she said, "and I am sure you will all agree with me that we have enjoyed his visit very much. We do not want him to forget us in our coral palace, and so I am going to present him with this little piece of coral." Master Haddock thanked her, shook fins with every one, and left the palace with his friend Star-fish.

Through the thicket, over the valley, up the hill, past the forest, and up through the water they went in silence. Master Haddock was thinking of what he had seen, but it was not that which kept him from speaking. He was dumb, because he was carrying the piece of coral in his mouth.

Star-fish guided him to the exact place in which he had been bathing, and then said, "you must eat weed again, Master Haddock; good-bye, good-bye, good-bye."

Master Haddock mumbled a good-bye, swam into shallow water where he could put his present without losing it, ate some seaweed, and became Tommy Conger again.

He regained his piece of coral, dressed in his clothes, which were still behind the rock where he had hid them, and got home before tea-time.

Tommy always prized his coral, and even when he grew into a man he could not look at it without remembering with very great pleasure his trip with Master Star-fish to the coral palace.

SPEED BOYS GRAB FIRST

Duluth Wins Opener From Superior Team By 2-to-1 Score.

Cyrus Augustus Dahlgren Gets Rich, Brown Trimming From Sox.

Yesterday the Sox crossed the bay and cut further into the dear old win column, taking the first game of the last series of the season, the score being 2 to 1, with Superior clinging despairingly to the short end.

Best of all is the fact that we beat the great and only Cyrus Augustus Dahlgren. Some feat, Bo! Clarence Warburton Blancke was in the original cast, but a crack on the arm from one of them 'ere fast ones from Dahlgren rendered C. W. B. hors de combat pro tem, Michael Angelo Kramer, the boy fiddler, finishing the game in grand style.

Before plunging into the serious matter of this story, it might be well to state that little Eva Leber played a bang up game, smiting the spheroid right merrily and running the bases with abandon. His fielding also sparkled and contributed mightily to the win.

Superior's solitary run, a lone and lonely figure, came in the fourth inning. Landry was the first up in the fourth, singling past second. Dolan fouled out to Abraham Lincoln Meniece, but Hoffman singled, advancing the runner to third, Landry scoring when Lizette singled. Hoffman was caught off second on a great peg by Doc Miller, and Grogan whiffed.

The first of our aspirations was realized in the third inning. Leber started this inning with a high fly that the Superior infield became woofey in the turret over, the angel child being safe on the fog stuff. Little Eva took a long lead off first and when Dahlgren pegged, old Biddy Dolan let the throw get away and the child went on to second. Meniece, always a menace, walked, and Miller, good soul, singled, sending the blue-eyed kid across the platter.

In the fifth the winning run was put across. Olson opened with a pair of bases. Little Leber came through with another two-base welt, and the winning score was pushed over the run register.

This afternoon and tomorrow the Sox will continue to labor in the vineyard of the enemy. Then comes Sunday, when the big double-header will be played at Athletic park, when all records of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league for attendance are expected to be broken. On the request of the fans of Superior a large block of grand stand tickets were taken over there yesterday, as it is anticipated that a monster crowd will come over from there.

The White Sox were taken to Superior in a special car yesterday, the St. Louis carrying the bunch over. On top of the win, this made the afternoon a very enjoyable one.

The score rests quietly below:

FRANK GOTCH IN CHICAGO

Champion Wrestler Is Ready to Defend Title Against Russian.

Insists That There Be No Special Rules for the Match.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Frank Gotch, champion heavyweight wrestler of the world, arrived here this morning in a special car attached to a Chicago & Northwestern train. Gotch's train left Humboldt at 9 o'clock last night. Accompanying the champion were Mrs. Gotch and her mother, Emil Klank, Gotch's manager, George Robbers, Farmer Burns, Jim Asbell, Yusiff Hussan, besides a number of friends.

Gotch will not do any heavy training in Chicago, according to his trainers. Friday and Saturday afternoon will be spent at the Chicago A. C., where light training will be carried on. A little road work will be done Sunday by the champion.

Gotch Wants Old Rules.

Gotch in his forthcoming Labor day match with George Hackenschmidt, will submit to no rules formulated especially for the occasion. He so informed Referee Edward W. Smith yesterday afternoon. Gotch said the old rules would be insisted upon, particularly that which makes hanging on the ropes a foul. Gotch claimed that in the last match—ackenschmidt resorted much to the practice. According to Referee Smith, Hackenschmidt will pursue entirely new tactics on Labor day, in order, as Smith quoted him, "to redeem himself with the fans" for having played the defensive in the last half hour of his last match with Gotch, and then quitting. Smith says that Hackenschmidt intends to rush the match and be on the offensive all the time.

Has Done Little Training.

George Hackenschmidt did almost no training yesterday. Instead he spent the day in shopping and visiting at the headquarters of the promoters of the meet. He took his usual long morning walk and that ended his athletic work for the day.

Police arrangements for handling the the match were announced last night. Assistant Chief Shueletter declaring he would stop the match if there was any unfair tactics on the part of either of the principals. There is to be no gouging of eyes, or punching with elbows of fists. One hundred patrolmen ten sergeants, four lieutenants, one captain and one inspector and the assistant chief of police will be at the bout to preserve order and to insure that the match is kept within bounds.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

With the Coming of Cooler Weather Comes the Shifting of the Scenery on the Sporting Stage—Some Fall and Winter Prospects.

(BY BRUCE.)

WHEN the stage manager of the sporting review blows his whistle at the drop of the curtain on an act, the scene is shifted. Up in our part of the country the first bell has been given for the curtain on the summer review of baseball, the curtain is soon to descend on the Minny league.

Yesterday the two teams at the Head of the Lakes started their final series that is to send the lights snuffing out in a sudden dying blaze of glory. And then comes the curtain, and the scene is shifted to another act.

There is little to say of the dying season. We will be consoled through the winter to come with the fact that the Irish Orator had his lads going gallantly at the close of the year. Hence the winter will not exactly be the winter of our discontent. From the standpoint of the playing end of the league, the ball has been up to the standard of the other two seasons.

As to the management of the league, Mother please turn out the lights. Genial John Elliott is a man who has ever taken a kindly and earnest interest in the game. There will ever be kicks against any president of a league, and Mr. Elliott was not exempt. But under his kindly piloting, the league was run so much better than it has been the closing season, that we hesitate to compare, remembering that comparisons are apt to be odious.

Frank E. Force has proved a bitter disappointment to those who expected he would make a keen and executive. Some of us did not expect so much of the present president, and therefore have not been either surprised or disappointed at the way the affairs of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league have been handled from the Minneapolis office. The season is almost past, the worst has been done, and the thing is to begin at the present time to plan ahead.

Baseball is surely a business. Men must plan, calculate coolly and shrewdly and look ahead into the rosy possibilities of the future. Next season let us hope Winnipeg and two other good towns come into the organization in place of three towns that have almost stages of the present season been on the point of throwing the game.

Then let us gather together, take our civic pride firmly by the hand and go out to make the Sunday double-header the biggest and by far the best baseball day that this city has ever known. Fellow-fans and citizens—though this is not a speech—the time has arrove—arrived, we mean—when we should set aside that ancient attendance record. There are several reasons why we should do this.

Duluth is a growing city. We are entering upon that period when we are to emerge from the provincialism of the large village and enjoy those sweets of a great city. With our coming prosperity we want baseball, and Sunday it is up to us to make a great noise and pull a great crowd.

It is not too much to ask that we set our attendance record at the 6,000 mark. That will not be bad as a starter. The writer hopes to be here when Duluth has 10,000 crowds out to a ball field; when this city is one of the live towns of a live league. But—and buts are generally ominous, there must always be the start, and let Sunday be the start on a greater era of greater baseball.

Let us gather and give a parting demonstration to the boys who have surely played great baseball in the closing days of the season.

Let us show that we appreciate the spirit of men who have been up against the toughest kind of luck and have not let loose one mournful and melancholy howl during the present season. Let us gather at the park in droves and give the dopers of Duluth's baseball future something to think over.

Coming Sports.

With the passing of baseball comes football, hockey, wrestling, and the roll call of winter sports. One of the new comers in the list of winter sports the coming season may be hockey on roller skates. Manager W. L. Downer of the Auditorium rink is at the present time considering the proposition of hockey on roller skates, and if he decides to go through with the contemplated project, Duluth may witness weekly games between local teams.

The city football situation promises to be more interesting than ever. The Adams, the Fairmonts and the other teams, not to mention the elevens from across the bay, as well as the strong high school teams at the Head of the Lakes, should make the gridiron season one of the best enjoyed for some seasons past.

Duluth should have some good hockey teams this winter. Just at the present time the plans are unsettled. It is expected that the old league will be back in the field, with the possibility of some of the crack outside teams being brought here for occasional games.

Duluth is assured of some big wrestling matches this coming fall and winter. A representative of the Greater Duluth Athletic club will go to Chicago to witness the battle between Gotch and Hackenschmidt, and while there will probably close negotiations for the coming appearance in Duluth of some of the greatest of the stars.

R. B. Benjamin, manager of the two wonderful Indian wrestlers, C. H. Hermon of Buffalo, manager of the great Zbyszko; Emil Klank, the large and genial pilot of Champion Gotch, and last, but by no means least, the redoubtable Ed Curley, the shrewd and far-seeing manager of George Hackenschmidt, will be at the famous Chicago meeting.

Back in the misty past we recall the figures of Yousif the Great, Beck Olson, Madrall, Tom Cannon, the Jap, Even Lewis the strangler, Whistler and Muldoon. The present brings the trooping and formidable array of Gotch, Hackenschmidt, Mahmout, Zbyszko, Pedersen, Pilakoff, Hassan Yusif, Cutler, Ordemann and Westergaard.

Verily, the scene soo nshifts and the play of winter sports is upon us.

DULUTH INTERESTED IN ACTION OF A. A. MAGNATES

Duluth fans will watch with interest the action of the American association officials following the flat and absolute refusal of the national commissioners to recognize in any way, shape or manner the demands of the A. A. officials and club owners.

The oft rumored war is due, and if the American association officials act as they often intimated they would in the event of the refusal of the national commissioners to grant their demands, the country will witness a baseball war.

If the national commissioners should carry out their threats, in case of war, and place teams in the cities of the American assaciation, it might mean the shifting of the baseball map and a chance for Duluth in faster baseball company.

There are many things that can happen between now and Sept. 10, Up here the followers of baseball will be very much interested for any happening that will in any way affect the standing of this city in baseball circles, is naturally very near the hearts of the faithful.

QUAYLE- LARSENS WIN FROM KELLEY COMPANY.

Yesterday the Quayle-Larsen company defeated the Kelley Hardware company's team by the score of 10 to 7. The game was hot, yea, even fiercely contested. Brilliant plays and sensational stunts featured every inning. Some of the high diving of the outfielders featured the game. In center field, J. Larsen, with arms of prodigious length, chased flies and devoured difficult chances with the airy abandon of a chorus girl eating lobster. The shortstop play of Larsen also scintillated at times. Also the pitching of Broad for the winning aggregation took on all the characteristics of a real star. The contest was one grand exhibition, so the players take oath to, and showed some budding young stars to several scouts who had been tipped off to the game.

Following is the line-up:

Quayle-Larsen.	Position.	Kelley.
Johnson	Catcher	Dahlquist
Broad	Pitcher	Combs
Spomberg	1st Base	Nelpp
Westlund	2nd Base	Eveland
Ryberg	3rd Base	Shell
P. Larson	Short Stop	P. Hague
Farmer	Left Field	C. Smith
Dugan	Right Field	Linder
J. Larsen	Center Field	H. Smith

Pmpires—Edwards and Hague.

WEATHER CLEARS FOR SPORT EVENTS AT BOSTON.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 1.—With the clouds dispelled and the wind from the dry northeast quarter, there seemed a good chance this morning for the resumption of the flying at Squantum and the finals in the tennis tournament at Newport; a start in the grand circuit racing at Readville, and a double-header between the Philadelphia and Boston American league teams here.

PLANNING FOR ROLLER HOCKEY.

Plans are being considered at the present time by W. L. Downer, manager of the Auditorium rink, to have roller hockey played at the rink once a week during the present season. Just as soon as the manager of the rink comes to a definite decision in this matter, should he favor the plan, he will call a meeting of the various people interested in hockey with the intention of forming a hockey league.

Roller hockey is very popular in the East. There are leagues and the games draw very large crowds. The Auditorium is the biggest building in this city and has an immuse stretch of floor space. There is plenty of space to play a regulation indoor game between the different teams.

In addition there is plenty of space in the balconies to hold any crowd that might come to the games. Those to whom Mr. Downer has talked, have spoken strongly in favor of the idea. Roller hockey, played in a large and comfortable building, should prove a distinct innovation in this part of the country.

If it is decided to have roller hockey an attempt will be made to put six teams in the field. The contests will be palyed once or twice a week and there will be a regular season's schedule.

JOE JACKSON HITTING AT WONDERFUL CLIP.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 1.—When Joe Jackson failed to get a hit off either Coumbs or Gray in Monday's game at Cleveland, he had batted safely in every one of the last thirty-seven games except one. He started his consecutive batting feat on July 11. In the last game prior to that time, he had been at bat but once and failed to get a hit. But starting July 11 he went twenty-seven games without failing to gather at least one safety. Jack Powell, the veteran, finally stopped him at St. Louis, Aug. 14, Joe going to bat four times without hitting.

In the second game that day, however, he gathered three hits and started another splendid batting bee, getting twenty-one hits in the next nine games. Altogether he has made sixty-eight hits and scored forty-two runs since July 10, his batting average for that time being .462.

Moriarity May Go.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—It is probable Detroit will ask waivers on George Moriarity and Davy Jones soon. Paddy Bauman, the young second baseman recently obtained from the New England league, has made good in sensational style. Moriarity has been slowly going back. Drake has been batting and fielding so well that he now is regarded as the regular left fielder. Jones' fielding and base-running have been poor of late, and his batting only fair. Jennings considers Bauman a second Ownie Bush.

NO REDUCTION IN GUARANTY.

Water and Light Board Declines to Alter Its Established Policy.

An effort on the part of property owners on East Fourth street between Sixteenth and Nineteenth avenues east to have the guaranty on the water and gas extension in that district reduced, failed. They made their plea to the water and light commissioners yesterday, but the board declined to violate its established policy.

The rock excavation in the district affected is heavy and expensive. The cost of the extension is $3,095, and the guaranty of 8 per cent amounts to $221. The citizens who appeared before the board said that the number of out-of-town property owners affected would create a difficulty in raising the guaranty, but on the board declining to make a reduction, they decided to attempt to obtain the necessary pledges.

COMMISSION THROWS DOWN GAUNTLET TO ASSOCIATION

Requests of Minor League Are Rejected Without Reservation.

Implication That Circuit Will Be Invaded If Association Fights.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 1.—In a finding, minus all it's and and's, and as plain as it is firm, the national commission not only rejected every demand made upon it by the American association, but went farther in stating that if the American association decided not to operate under the rules of organized baseball, that teams would be placed in every city on that circuit.

While no mention of a league to do battle with the American association was made, yet it was implied to an extent that could not be misunderstood.

The American association is given until Sept. 10 to give answer to the secretary of the commission and upon this answer will hinge the question that now stands out paramount in the minds of baseball men, namely, "will there be a baseball war?"

In its finding the national commission took particular pains to place the brunt of the worry on the shoulders of the American association and it is now up to this body as to whether or not there will be war.

Chivington to Call Meeting.

President Chivington said:

"I intend to call a meeting of the American association in the very near future and until this matter is taken up by my league, I cannot say what will happen."

Immediately after passing upon the demands of the American association the commission took up the requests of the other leagues. While the petitions were not made public, it is said that the only one of any importance is a plea that the drafting system for class A clubs be eliminated entirely and that a straight purchasing system be instituted. The commission will consider their demands further and may not be able to act upon it at this meeting.

Rejection of Terms.

"The commission is unanimous in the conclusion that it is without authority to act on the petition formulated by the American association at a special meeting held in Chicago on Aug. 1, 1911, for the reason that the concessions applied for can be granted only by amending the national agreement in several particulars, which requests the affirmative vote of each of the parties thereto, to-wit: the National and American leagues, parties of the first part, and the National association, party of the second part.

"Firmly convinced that a disturbance of the delicate adjustment of conditions and relations under which organized baseball has attained prestige and prosperity, that will continue as long as its cardinal principles are observed, the commission will recommend to the several parties to the national agreement that the radical and revolutionary request of the American association for recognition as an independent organization along the lines of its petition be rejected.

Commission Defines Its Rights.

"A high standard of sportsmanship and square dealing with patrons and players in the operation of leagues and conduct of clubs is as essential to the maintenance of the game on an elevated plane as exhibitions of skill and keen competition on the playing field. A strong central government, capable of checking club owners as well as controlling players, affords the only possible guarantee of the retention by the game of 'absolute public confidence in its integrity and methods,' and unless assured of the 'promotion of their welfare as a class by developing and perfecting them in their profession, and enabling them to secure adequate compensation for expertness,' the most potent incentive to players to give their best efforts will be impaired. As the purity of the pastime cannot be maintained and protection to the players in their professional prerogatives cannot be extended by the tribunal of organized baseball beyond its own ranks, the commission deems it dangerous to permit a league to enjoy benefits under the national agreement without assuming all the obligations and responsibilities imposed by membership in one of the parties to the national agreement."

Demands of Association.

The chief American association demand are:

First—That all leagues and clubs in organized baseball respect all contracts, reservations and territorial rights of the American association and that the latter shall likewise respect all contracts, reservations and territorial rights of all leagues in organized baseball. Each of these rights is fully enjoyed by every league under protection, and no league not in organized baseball should reserve special privileges of this character.

Second—That in lieu of the one-man draft by the major leagues from the American association, the American association shall permit the major leagues to select one player from each of the American association clubs at a price of $5,000 to be made on or before July of each year but the player so selected shall be permitted to finish the season with the club from which he is chosen.

Third—That the condition of Rule 36 of the national agreement shall apply to the American association as it now applies to major leagues and that the clubs of the American association shall have the right to go into the market and purchase players under the same conditions, as the major leagues now do.

Preparing for Draft.

Previous to the second day's meeting of the national baseball commission today there was a great gathering of baseball magnates in the lobby of the hotel at which the commission is holding its sessions. Each arriving train contributed its quota of baseball men who want to be on the ground to observe the annual draft which is to take place today. The ruling of the national commission yesterday in which it refused the demands of the American association and gave that organization until Sept. 10 to decide if it wanted to remain in organized baseball circles, was the one topic of discussion.

None of the American association people would intimate what course their organization would pursue although from many sources bold statements were made that a big baseball war was imminent.

Eastern League Case.

The work of the commission today will be entirely confined to drafting and considering the request of the Eastern league for more privileges. It is hardly possible that the commission will come to any conclusion today on the latter subject as it is believed that the drafting proceedings will occupy the greater part of its time.

A huge bundle of mail is in custody of Secretary Bruce, each particular letter of which contains drafts for one or more players. The opening and assorting of these drafts is expected to consume most of the day and the real business of drafting will begin late in the afternoon.

Although the commission expected to begin its meeting at 9 o'clock it was long after that when it went into session as greeting of arriving baseball moguls and dodging their anxious inquiries of what was going to occur took up a great part of the time of the members of the ruling body of the baseball world.

BOY TIES CRAB TO TABLE LEG

Guest Who Comes to Supper Surprised When He Gets Bite.

New York, Sept. 1.—Do not let your little boy make a living toy of a hard-shell crab, you can never tell what will happen.

John Kane, who lives on Decker avenue, Chelsea, S. I., caught some hard-shell crabs. His son, John, 5 years old, appropriated one, tied a string to it and amused himself by watching it crawl backward. When he wearied of this amusement small Johnnie tethered the crab to a leg of the dining room table and soon forgot all about it.

Kane had his brother-in-law, William Tennyson, a crab-meat supper. Suddenly Tennyson let out a yell, sprang from his chair, grabbed one leg above the ankle and hopped around the room on the other leg.

"What's the matter, William?" cried Mr. and Mrs. Kane who feared Tennyson had gone mad.

"A scorpion! A scorpion! It stung me! I'm a dead man!" shouted Tennyson. "But I've got it. I feel it's shell."

The crab tied to the table leg had started to explore Tennyson's trousers and he said it must have slipped off with its claw. As Tennyson would not let go of the "scorpion," Kane slit his trousers with a scissor.

"Oh, that's my crab!" exclaimed Johnnie delightedly when it was revealed. "I forget about it. Give it to me."

His papa "give it to him"—where it would do the most good.

SLEEP WALKER ARRESTED.

Frightens People By Creeping on All Fours in Park.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 1.—Many persons sitting in Riverview park late last Sunday night were shocked to see what they thought was some wild animal that escaped from the Zoo near by, crawling about.

"It's a bear," exclaimed one woman, and a general scramble for the streets followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Becker were sitting in a remote section of the park, when they observed the dark object approaching them. Mrs. Becker's screams attracted the police. After a search the police came upon the thing. Policeman John Graham threw his mace at it. There was a horrifying scream from the dark moving object and it toppled over. With drawn revolvers the "coppers" approached to see what they had killed.

To their amazement they found the supposed black bear was a man who, while in a state of somnambulism, was crawling about the park on all fours. He was taken to the police station and in spite of his plea of having been asleep, he was fined $100 and costs. He said he was William B. Skulton, of Metropolitan street, Northside, and had gone to the park to take a nap.

MUSIC BOX STARTED

By Prowler After the Nickels and Queered His Game.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 1. — "Daisies Won't Tell, Dear," the popular song, belied itself when William Kappler, known among the police as "Dutch," tried to pry open a music box in the house of Dora Hamilton, 220 Manchester way, Northside.

A nickel which had become clogged in the machine suddenly rattled merrily along the chute to the mechanism that started the "Daisies" tune.

A few minutes later Dora Hamilton awoke, and came down stairs just in time to see Kappler climbing out of the rear window. She screamed and Policeman Frank J. Hussey responded just in time to take up the chase. It led over back fences and other obstructions, but the officer finally overtook his man.

At the hearing at the Allegheny station, Kappler was fined $100, or six months in the workhouse. For some time complaints had been coming into the Northside police about the robbing of music boxes in residences on the Northside. The thief usually waited until about 6 o'clock in the morning before entering.

LONG TUNNEL

Being Dug to Keep Drivers From Rockefeller's Residence.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Sept. 1.—John D. Rockefeller has begun the work of digging a tunnel from his mansion, on top of Kykuit hill, to a road near his stable, to be used by drivers of all delivery wagons.

The tunnel will be about 1,000 feet long and will cost many thousands of dollars, but Mr. Rockefeller has decided that hereafter no delivery wagon will drive up to his home. It practically puts Mr. Rockefeller on top of the earth, and he will have nothing to worry him as he roams about his great estate.

When the tunnel is completed and Mr. Rockefeller is again in his home, no one will be allowed near the house.

PEANUT ROASTER EXPLOSION FATAL.

Newark, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Three persons were fatally injured and the lives of dozens of others were put in peril yesterday when a peanut roaster, which was being operated at a prominent corner, exploded and scattered fragments of the machine over a short distance of two city blocks. Edward Grady, a machinist, who was walking on the street a block away, had his head split open when he was struck by the flying cylinder head. Physicians say he will not survive. Gust Prietito, a Greek, who owned the machine, was also badly mangled.

TALKS ABOUT PRESIDENCY

La Follette Makes Only Brief Mention of Politics in Speech.

Says He Favors Initiative, Referendum and Recall, Even of Judges.

Williams Grove, Pa., Sept. 1.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, speaker of the day at the mass meeting held at this place yesterday under the auspices of the state grange, patrons of husbandry, only casually mentioned the presidency, and did not discuss reciprocity and other national issues.

The reference to the presidency was made toward the close of the senator's speech. In telling of battles for his principles in his home state, he said he could have been governor before he was elected, if he had desired the place for the honor alone.

"But," said he, "what is it to be governor or president for the honor of it alone?"

"As to the Presidency."

"As to the presidency, I will say only this: Most anybody would like to be president. Most anybody, who has a good, broad conception of the conditions that exist in this country, would like to be, if he could work things out and bring the government back to the people of the United States.

"I would rather have the little part I'm going to have—and nobody can take it away from me—the little part I'm going to have as one of the men who help make that movement the fundamental thing in the life of the American people. I would rather have that and the place it will give me in history and what there will be as a legacy to my children, than to have the place that some men, who have been president, will have in the history of this republic."

The speaker said the people need not fear the initiative, referendum or recall.

For Recall of Judges.

"They need fear no radical legislation," said he, "because you can't enlist a majority of 50,000,000 of people in anything unless it is right. The American people are the most conservative on earth."

Wisconsin, he asserted, was one commonwealth in the Union where there is government in the interest of the republic. He reviewed railroad legislation and other subjects connected with its recent political history, and after discussing the referendum and recall, was about to close when some one in the audience called out:

"How about the recall of judges?"

"It's the just same for judges as it is for any other official," retorted the speaker.

STANDARD OIL IS DISSOLVED

New Regime Opens With First Day of the Month.

New York, Sept. 1.—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the corporation which has been the storm center of anti-trust agitation throughout the country for years, has passed out of existence, as far as its old form and functions are concerned.

Beginning today this famous corporation ceases officially to carry on its operations as the head of a vast organization, whose activities extend into almost every part of the world. In obedience to the decree of dissolution of the supreme court, it relinquished its control of the subsidiary concerns, and today is the date set for beginning the new regime.

With the end of business yesterday the company's transfer books, containing the list of stockholders, closed, and the stock of its subsidiaries will be distributed among the stockholders of the parent organization as on record at that time.

The work of apportioning the company's holdings of the stock of more than thirty subsidiaries affected will occupy at least three months, it is said, so that the readjustment will not be complete prior to Dec. 1.

CHALLENGE BY AGED VEGETARIAN

To Any One in New England to Walk Anywhere.

Boston, Sept. 1.—George H. Ward of Middletown, Conn., says:

"At 74 years of age I challenged any one in New England to walk, at any pace, anywhere and under any conditions.

"I know they're all afraid of me. I defy any one to best me, and I am willing to take any one on—young or old. Owing to my method of life, for I eat absolutely no meat, and subsist only on crackers, oatmeal and peanut butter, I have wonderful endurance and am more than a match for anybody. Although I live, and live well on 26 cents a week, I am healthier and heartier than the average man."

He derides the idea, recently made public by a Western professor, that a man can live on 22 cents a week. But he considers 26 cents quite sufficient and would think any greater outlay of money an extravagance.

"If a man wants to he can thrive beautifully and grow into a pillar of strength on 10 cents' worth of oatmeal a week, and thus he can actually get along on something like what the average fellow gives a waitress for a tip at a meal.

"But I don't like to tie myself down to necessities like that. I want my little peanut butter and my crackers. This, of course, brings my weekly bill up to 26 cents, but I don't begrudge it. All of us have our weaknesses—some for drink or tobacco or something else. Mine's a weakness for peanut butter and crackers."

Too Much Rain.
Reports from various sections of the county, and throughout the northern part of the state, are to the effect that the rains which in the last few weeks have been heavy, are rotting the potatoes, as well as some of the other crops. This condition is worse in localities where the ground is low, as the water accumulates there. It is said that in some parts the crops are depreciated to the extent of from one-fourth to one-third of the expected yield.

Woman Pioneer Here.
Mrs. James Baker Sprague of Minneapolis, a pioneer in the northern part of the state, is visiting friends in Duluth, and incidently looking after some of her real estate in Duluth. Mrs. Sprague took up a claim six years ago in Koochiching county, which she has proved up on. She states that land in Koochiching county is the best in the state and that the crops raised there this year compare well with any produced anywhere. She believes that when all the land in the northern section of the state has been cleared, it will produce better crops than any other portion of Minnesota.

Wants $15,000 For Fright.
Elida Maki of Eveleth wants $15,000 from the Oliver Iron company for injuries alleged to have been sustained as the result of an explosion near the Spruce mine. The accident took place at the home of the plaintiff. The explosion occurred after the plaintiff had retired. The house was shaken and dishes knocked from the table as a result of the explosion, and she claims that she was badly frightened and her health impaired.

Settler Had Moose Meat.
Game Warden T. J. Storey yesterday arrested William Putz, a settler near French River, just outside the city limits, charging him with having moose meat in his possession out of season. A barrel of the contraband meat was found in Putz' shack by the game warden. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs.

Soldier Arrested.
Clyde Wolff, an enlisted man connected with the United States army recruiting station, was arrested this morning, together with Peter Garrity, drunuk, charged with disorderly conduct. The two men were fighting when Sergeant Gillon and Patrolman Wood appeared. Wolff said that Garrity was abusing him and the army in general and he "took a poke at him." Judge Cutling sentenced Wolff to pay a fine of $5 and costs, and suspended sentence on Garrity, charged with drunkeness.

Box Car Trespassers.
Harry Cawl was arrested late last night, being caught sweeping wheat out of a box car in the railroad yards. He was charged with trespass, pleaded guilty and was given a $12 fine. Peter Ruspino was arrested after being found sleeping in one of the cars, and after pleading guilty was given a suspended sentence.

Sues Mining Company.
Suit was filed in the United States circuit court yesterday afternoon by attorneys for John Alde, asking judgment against the Republic Iron & Steel company and Charles Mathews, for injuries alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff on Sept. 20, 1910, while he was employed in the Detroit mine at Gilbert. It is averred that when the plaintiff was going from one level of the mine to another, the ladder on which he was making the descent broke, and that he fell many feet, resulting in the breaking of his right leg above the knee and otherwise bruising himself. He wants $5,500 for injuries and $575 for medical attentions and wages lost, making $6,175 in all.

Arrested in Detroit.
The Duluth police were notified today that George Oven of Bristol street and Clifford Dwyer of St. Croix avenue were arrested in Detroit, Mich., for peddling cheap jewelry. The Duluth police believe the two young men were connected with the recent street car hold-ups here, and they had the police of other cities on the lookout for them.

When Greek Meets Greek.
James Vesis and George Pautos, until today partners in a flower store near the Penny Arcade on West Superior street, got into a dispute about the partnership assets this morning which ended in a fight and landed both fiery Athenians in the city jail. There Capt. Fiskett tried to adjust the differences between the two men, but gave it up as a bad job. When they were about to depart from the station they started another mix when Pautos grabbed the checks, representing the partnership property, and Vesis strenuously objected. They were sent on their way with advice to see a lawyer and adjust their troubles in court.

Hardware Store Entered Again.
The hardware store of George Fox, 713 West Superior street, was entered by burglars for the second time within a month last night. The thieves entered by forcing the front door and left with half a dozen revolvers and as many rifles. The police have no clue as to the identity of the thieves.

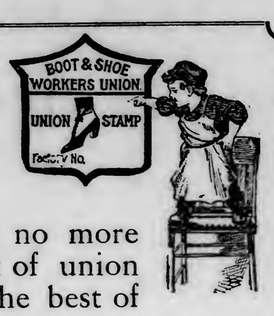

Ordered to Pay Claims.
In the court case of Alexander B. Scully against the Northwestern Steam Boiler & Manufacturing company, which was on before Judge Morris of the federal court last month, a decree was issued yesterday afternoon by the court, in which the defendants are ordered to pay a large number of claims presented against it, amounting to $49,413.96. It is also decreed that the receiver of the company shall pay 25 per cent of the claims from the funds he now has at hand.

Recovers Salary Due.
Judge Page Morris of the federal court yesterday afternoon issued a decree ordering the John Schroeder Lumber company to pay Louis LaChapelle $150, due him on salary for services. It was shown to the court that LaChapelle was employed by the company for one year at a salary of $1,200, but that at the termination of six months, the company discharged him, giving the reason that his management of the company's affairs was not efficient. The court, however, granted the plaintiff's petition.

AN AGE OF COMPETITION EVEN IN RELIGION, SAYS AGED ARCHBISHOP

Samuel Matheson of Prince Rupert's Land Talks to Episcopal Convention.

Church of Today Must Adopt Modern Spiritual Machinery.

100 Prominent Churchmen Gather in Duluth for Missionary Conference.

ARCHBISHOP MATHESON.

"In methods, appliances and ecclesiastical machinery let us be up to the times.

"There is much in the church that we cannot change, much that we do not want to change and could not change if we wanted to. Yet there are ways in which we must keep up with the times and use modern spiritual machinery.

"We live in an age, for example, which demands short, crisp and bright services. We must be prepared to afford these.

"The thought has come to me that our services are too long, particularly in hot weather.

"The church is not judged by her past but by her present.

"We have not been aggressive enough as a church. We have been too dilatory in occupying the ground in new settlements. We have stayed away so long in many cases that our people have become alienated and weaned from the mother church.

"There has not been the missionary spirit requisite for providing adequate means for expansion. There is no use concealing this fact."

—Archbishop Matheson.

With about 100 out of town people in attendance many of them being high officers in the church and from every part of the Northwest, the Sixth Missionary Department annual council held the first meeting of the three days' session at St. Paul's church this morning.

At 9:30 holy communion was observed. Directly after this the sermon of the day was delivered by The Most Reverend, the Archbishop of Rupert's Land, Samuel Pritchard Matheson, D.D.

Although an old man, Archbishop Matheson is young in ideas. He spoke at some length on the use of "modern spiritual machinery" and told how the church must progress with the age. He also talked in an interesting way of the early days in Minnesota and of his work in Canada.

Directly after the sermon the delegates gathered for the first business session of the Duluth convention. Reports of the different officers and the committees were read. Many of the reports were long and dealt with figures showing the growth of the church and work in missions which has been going on since the last meeting.

Indian Clergymen.

Among the delegates to the local convention are several Indian clergymen who have parishes on the White Earth reservation. In all there are five of them in attendance at the local convention. Rev. Wilkins D. Smith of Naytahwaush is one of them. He says that his work among the Indians is at times most discouraging, although at other times it is just as encouraging. He states that those who labor for the improvement of the condition of Indians do so against great odds. He says that because many of the Indians cannot either read or write, it is doubly hard.

Mr. Smith's work is exclusively among the Chippewa Indians. He has two churches. In one of them he has fifty-six parishioners and sixteen in the other.

He says that the greatest satisfaction he gets out of the work is with the children. They begin to learn to read and write when very young and this makes it easier to teach them of the Bible, for they can read it and understand it pretty well themselves. Mr. Smith says they seem to take a great deal of interest in their Sunday school and that they seem to thoroughly enjoy the work of the church.

Christian Indians.

"The generation now growing up will be Christian Indians," he says. All denominations have missionaries in the field and they are all doing a good work.

"The Indian is a queer proposition. You can never tell when you have him. He pretends to understand when he does not. Some times he will claim to be with you when he is not at heart so inclined. It is hard for him to give up his happy hunting ground idea and get the old medicine man out of his head. In some places he still fears the power of the medicine man. This is being gradually overcome, however and the superstitions formerly held by the Red Man are vanishing and religion of one denomination or another is getting a firm hold upon him."

Afternoon Session.

This afternoon there was a conference at which Rt. Rev. Theadore Nevin, bishop of Iowa, presided. Rt. Rev. George A. Beecher, missionary bishop of Kearny spoke on "The Best Method of Securing Speedily a Church and Parsonage in a New Field." Rt. Rev. Samuel Cool Edsall, bishop of Minnesota, spoke on "The Maintenance of the Church in Small Communities." Rev. F. Durant spoke on "The Permanent Elements of the Parish." Later this afternoon there was a meeting of the Episcopal Brotherhood society and this evening there will be an evening session of the conference. A. A. McKechnie of St. Paul, a layman of that place, presided at the meeting of the brotherhood this afternoon.

That local church people are taking a great deal of interest in the conference was proven this morning when St. Paul's was nearly filled with both men and women.

The conference is one of the most important ever held in the Zenith City. The district includes the states of Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado. Each of the dioceses is represented by five laymen and five clergymen and one bishop. The Duluth diocese is represented by ten laymen and ten clergymen.

Prayer in Ojibway.

The delegates to the conference will begin early tomorrow morning, the celebration of holy communion being called for 7:30. B'shop Lloyd will be the celebrant. At 9:30 there will be morning prayer in the Ojibway language by the Indian clergyman who labors among these people. At 11 a. m. the regular morning conferences will held at the Trinity Pro-cathedral, Twentieth avenue east and Superior street. After the luncheon there will be automobile rides for the visiting delegates. In the afternoon there will be Sunday school conference. In the evening there will be a banquet.

This afternoon the women's auxiliary held a meeting at the pro-cathedral. There was an address of welcome, a response, reports and talks on missionary subjects.

The program for tomorrow's conference follows:

Saturday's Program.

7:30 a. m.—Celebration of Holy Communion; celebrant, Bishop Lloyd.

9:30 a. m.—Morning prayer in Ojibway, Indian clergy; address, president of the board of missions.

11 a. m.—Conference, bishop of Minnesota in the chair. "Men for the Mission Field." (a) "The Duty of Pastors and People to Quicken In the Hearts of the Young the Call to the Ministry," Rev. J. E. In his sermon this morning Archbishop Matheson spoke as follows:

"Away on a holiday, far from my books, I prepared the notes of this address. I cannot, therefore, presume to give you anything learned or erudite. It will be my heart rather than my head that will speak to you. I cannot tell you what a joy it is to me to be with you this morning in the fellowship of our common faith and as a brother in the apostleship of our Anglican communion to say a few words to you. Time and again have I wished to accept the kind invitations that have come to me to be present at some of your church councils, but the fact that our autumnal church meetings take place about the same time as yours has made it impossible for me to come. Coming as I do from Northwest Canada, the associations of my early life were not with Ontario and Quebec, but with Dakota and Minnesota. This imports a personal element into my visit which touches me deeply. Twice in the year we made our expeditions on the cart and wagon trail from Fort Garry to St. Cloud and St. Paul for the purposes of trade and for obtaining supplies. Some of the most vivid recollections also of my early ministerial life are associated with representatives of the sister church to the south of us.

"Thirty-six years ago this month we held in Winnipeg, then a very small village, the inaugural meeting of the provincial synod of Rupert's Land, when we had the pleasure of having with us a brotherly contingent of noble ecclesiastics from across the forty-ninth parallel. There was first of all that wonderful man, Bishop Whipple. I can see him yet as he walked into our college hall at St. John's, a blend, we thought, in his physiognomy, carriage and demeanor, of an ancinet Roman, one of the twelve apostles, and one of the noblest specimens of the Red Man of the prairies, whose cause he loved to champion. There accompanied him, I remember, Millspaugh of Brainerd, Dr. Kidney of Faribault, Dean Livermore of St. Paul, Stewart of Sauk Center, and George Whipple, the bishop's chaplain. What an inspiration these men brought to us in that then lone land. Bishop Whipple preached the opening sermon of the synod, and what a sermon it was! I can never forget it, delivered without undue impressiveness of voice and manner that was all his own and over flowing with sympathy and brotherliness for the pioneers of the infant church on the Canadian prairies of the West.

His Prophecy.

"And it was not only sympathetic, but prophetic. With the eye of a seer he seemed to forecast exactly what was before us as a church and a country. 'In Manitoba and Saskatchewan,' he said, 'you are feeling the first wave of that incoming population which will make your country swarm with millions of souls. To you, as to us in the United States, God is sending the people of every country and clime and kin to be fused into a new race. Our Anglo-Saxon race has been chosen of God to receive into itself these diverse peoples and to give to them its customs, its traditions, its laws. When we remember that since the Christian era there have few such marked comminglings of races, we must ask why our English-speaking race has been called in the providence of God to this mission. I believe it is because the church of the Anglo-Saxon is a pure branch of our Catholic and Apostolic church. She carries in her hand the open Bible. She holds up as the condition of Christian fellowship the old Catholic creeds. She has a simple scriptural service in a language understood by the people. She teaches salvation alone by faith in Christ, Jesus. I believe that God designs her to lead in the great work which is to be done in the eventide of the world.' Noble words uttered by a noble man of God. And I repeat they were prophetic. Having lived up there ever since and having seen all that has gone on, I can testify to the wonderful way in which his prophecy has been fulfilled as far as the development of the church and country has been concerned. Let us pray that though it may be long in coming, his prophecy, as to the destiny and mission of our church as the rallying point in the eventide of the world of the Christian hearts that are yearning for the unity of our dismembered Christianity, may one day also be fulfilled."

History Repeats Itself.

Taking for his text, Eccl. 3, 15, "That which is has been already, and that which is to be hath already been and God requireth that which is passed," the archbishop went on to extract a lesson for the church on profiting from past experience. "Put into plain English," he said, "the philosophy of the text is this: History repeats itself, experiences of the past will be repeated in the future and even opportunities offered in the past but perhaps not fully taken advantage of will come again, possibly in a different part of the field, and the church must be alive to them when they come, for God will require of us as intelligent beings to learn from the past, to improve upon it, to be taught by it, 'God requireth that which is passed.' It is not done with. He means us to use it as a storehouse of the present and a provision for the future." After illustrating this very fully in regard to physical and intellectual things, he went on to apply the lesson to the church as follows: "And so, my brethren, when we meet today in missionary conference to devise means for the development and progress of our beloved church, let us learn from the past. What is the lesson for the church? Is it not this, that she must be a progressive church, that she must be abreast of the times? From past successes let us learn courage and heartening. In methods, appliances and ecclesiastical machinery let us be up to the times. While there is much in the church which we cannot change and which, if we could we dare not change—the everylasting gospel, our inimitable liturgy, our three-fold ministry, our precious and divinely appointed sacraments, our dignified and reverend service, our creeds embodying the faith once delivered to the saints—while I say we must hold to these with a most conservative wisdom and stern tenacity, yet there are ways in which we must keep up to the times and as I have said, use modern spiritual machinery.

Short Services.

"We live in an age, for example, which demands short, crisp and bright services. We must be prepared to afford these. When recently I have been traveling throughout the West and attending services of the church, the thought has come to me that in many cases the service is too long. Our church has behind it a glorious past, in deeds, in men, in literature, in learning. But, as a man said to me the other day, 'in this country, especially in the newer parts, the old apostolic church is judged not by her past but by her present, and by the particular person who represents her in the district concerned.' Oh, what a responsibility, then, rests upon the man who represents the church at any point in this age of ours—this age of competition in everything, even in religion—this utilitarian age. How human he must be, as well as how divine! How approachable, how affable, and yet how he must maintain his selfrespect and retain the respect of others. And then if we revert once again to methods, how in modern days many of these have changed! The modern Sunday school, how different from that of a few years ago, in equipment, in methods! It is gratifying to learn how progressive your church in the United States is in regard to its Sunday school work. And then there are all the subsidiary associations connected with the advance of religion in these days—young people's associations, men's and women's guilds. If these are all the products of the wisdom and the experience of the past, the church must adopt them and make the fullest use of them; and yet there is one method of bringing the church and Christ to people which I am old-fashioned enough to believe must not be displaced or supplanted by all modern guilds or associations, and that is pastoral visiting. If in looking back to the past we learn of the blessing of this in the experience of our fathers and the church of our fathers and the home life of our forebears, let us keep it. God requireth in this twentieth century that good and fruitful method of the past. Good and useful as all these new organizations and methods of church work are, let them not keep the priest from being the pastor who cares for the flock on week days as well as on Sundays, and who takes Christ into the home life to work His daily miracle of converting the sad things into the glad, and the wants into the wine of life.

"And, my brethren, in bringing to bear on our church and its work all that the past experience has taught us, I might speak of the triumphs of the church and learn lessons of cheer and courage from them, but there is something to be learned not merely from our achievements and successes, but also from our shortcomings and failures, and I want to say a word about this. Even seeming failures often if not always leave behind them a legacy of helpfulness for those who come after and are willing to profit by the experience.

The Quest of Truth.

"In Olive Schreiner's story of "An African Farm," there is an exquisite fable of the quest of the soul after truth. She threads pathless forests, she essays to climb precipitous and sheer mountain sides, but she perishes without realizing her quest. All that is vouchsafed to her is one plume dropped from the pinion of the Bird of Truth. And yet did that soul do no good? Surely she did for it must not be forgotten that every tree felled by her in the labyrinthine forest, every step carved by her in the face of the precipitous cliff, remains to the advantage of the soul that comes after." And so I say we may learn something even from the failures and shortcomings of the story of the church's past. You have made your mistakes as a church and so have we. I remember Bishop Whipple telling us in 1875 of the mistakes that your nation had made in dealing with its Indian problem and he urged us to take warning from your mistakes and to act differently, which we did with the help of God. Today when the old church is taking on new life on both sides of the line, let us all profit by the errors of the past. If you ask what those errors have been, these are some of them:

Not Aggressive Enough.

"We have not been aggressive enough as a church. We have been too dilatory in occupying the ground in new settlements. We have stayed away so long in many cases that our people have become alienated and weaned away from the Mother Church that bore them. We have not followed up the scattered families of our communion in their pioneer days and we have rarely been the first on the ground and thus we have lost prestige. How often have I met sad instances of this! We have confined our ministrations too much to the towns and cities and neglected the country. Hundreds and even thousands of those who are coming over from your Western states to Northwestern Canada have lost their affiliations with the church because they tell me that in the country districts from whence they came the church was not represented. Why has this been so? It may be asked. Was it shortsightedness or a want of zeal on the part of the bishops and leaders of the church? No! These men yearned and longed to go forward and occupy the ground. These men knew of the Rumoth-gileads which were ours and were taking not. But they had neither the men nor the means of doing what they wanted to do. And here we touch the weak spot in the story of the church in the past, both with you and with us. There has not been the missionary spirit requisite for providing adequate means for expansion. The men in the front have not been adequately supported by the home base. That has been the weakness—the lack of a proper response from the hearts and purses of our church people to the leader's cry 'Go ye into all the world and make disciples for me.' Is not that true, my brethren? There is no use concealing it. In a book recently published in England by an able dignitary of our church, speaking of the strange phenomenon which is, he said, one of the most familiar features of British Christianity, he designates it as 'a sincere attachment to religion coupled with an equally manifest indifference to its propagation.' If that has been in the past a feature of our Christianity not only in Britain but on this side of the water as well and it has, one of the problems of our twentieth century Christianity is to get rid of that painful feature and to do it quickly. And here comes in our co-operation which my second text speaks of. Laborers together on both sides of the line, co-operating together and with the great head of the church in the spreading of Christ's kingdom. To solve that problem and to accomplish that end, modern Christianity seems to be arousing itself at last. What but this had created the laymen's missionary movement, the Pan Anglican congress of 1908, the world's missionary conference at Edinburgh in 1910, and all the other movements for the evangelization of the world? What but this is bringing you together this week in a missionary conference? What but this is bringing representatives of the Canadian church at home and abroad to a great gathering in London, Ont., next week. The fact is that Christianity is at last wakened up to the fact that Christ meant it to christianize the world and that the truest and most patent sign to the world of its own life lies in the degree of its self-propagation. And, my brethern and sisters of our church, in your land, with whom our spiritual affinities are so close, our common spiritual memories so dear, our origin so much one and the same that we are one church possessing one Lord, one faith, one baptism, let me say this to you. This church which we love so dearly, great and glorious as it has been in the past and great in many ways as it is today, can only be abidingly great by being great as a missionary church, great in its missionary enterprises. Amidst the awakening which has come over our modern Christianity in the cause of missions in recent years, if our Anglican communion is not stirred up by the same awakening and does not keep herself in the forefront of missionary advance both at home and abroad, she will lose her place in the honor roll of God's agencies for the betterment of the world and will deserve to have her candlestick removed.

Door of Opportunity.

"Before you in the United States and before us in Canada, there is a great door of opportunity open both in our own lands and in foreign fields. With the inrush of immigrants filling up the East and overflowing to the West of both our countries, we have a great work to do in the new communities that are constantly forming within our own borders. It has been said that we in Canada have the last West for the birth of a new nation, but you have a West, too, and in the newly irrigated areas in many portions of your country you have immense fields not yet filled up, but filling fast, where there is splendid opportunity for church expansion and the foreign field is calling to us both. Japan and China are specially claimant in their demands for more agents. May God give us grace to respond worthily to all calls. I rejoice to note the special prominence and attention which you are giving in the American church to your missionary work. Your missionary machinery is splendid and should achieve excellent results. In placing one of our strongest men and a bishop at that as president of your missionary movement is a striking tribute to the high estimation in which you hold the work. No bishop or archbishop could fill a more honored or more supremely important position. One of a bishop's duties is to consecrate—consecrate not only himself for God's work, but consecrate men and buildings and vessels and separate them for God's honor and use. May Bishop Lloyd by his inspired and impassioned advocacy of missions be the means under God of consecrating many men and women and much money to the greatest cause this lost world affords, the sacred cause of winning souls to God, alike from the heathen world and from the home field."

RAILROADS

OFFICES TO BE OPEN FOR LABOR DAY RUSH.

Owing to the big rush that is expected on Monday, all the railroad ticket offices of the cities will be opened, in spite of the fact that it is a legal holiday. Efforts were made to have the offices closed, as was done in former years, but as the roads are offering such low rates to the Twin Cities for the fair, which opens next Monday, the business is expected to be so big that the union station's ticket men will not be able to handle the business.

PENNSYLVANIA OFFICIAL PASSES THROUGH DULUTH.

Henry Tatnell, third vice president of the Pennsylvania lines and formerly president of the Erie & Western Transportation company, was a visitor in Duluth yesterday, being the guest of M. S. Mead, general agent here for the Pennsylvania lines, and the Anchor Line Steamship company. Mr. Tatnell left last evening on the Tionesta, for Buffalo, and is finishing up a month's vacation, which he spent in the West. He visiter the Rocky mountains and the Grand Canyon.

Railway Club Meeting.

Arrangements have been made for the September meeting of the Northern Railway club Sept. 23, at the Duluth Commercial club. George E. Stewart, superintendent of the Great Northern railroad, who is the first vice president, will read a paper on the subject "Engine Failures." Following the reading of the paper a general discussion will be held.

New Refrigerator Car.

Arrangements are now being made by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company for the construction of fifty refrigerator cars, of the type patented by W. H. Moore of St. Paul. The first car constructed has proved its worth, and the officials claim they are well pleased with it. Work on the new cars will be carried on this winter at the company's shops at Proctor.

Contracts to Be Let.

Contracts for the construction of portions of the railroad for the Canadian Northern between Port Arthur, Ont., and Sudbury, will probably be let tomorrow by the contractors, Foley Bros., Welsh & Stewart, and the Westerdahl Bros., both of whom have the general contracts. It is said that several Duluth firms have submitted bids, and some may be successful.

AMONG RAILROAD MEN

J. B. Hanson, general freight agent for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, left this morning for St. Paul on a business trip.

S. Taylor, general superintendent of the Great Northern at Great Falls, Mont., was a visitor in the city yesterday.

W. J. Power of St. Paul, assistant general freight agent of the Great Northern, is in the city today, having been called here on account of the death of his mother.

WARDEN IS AFTER AUTO "SOONERS"

Partridge Hunting Out of Season Dangerous, Says Storey.

Game Warden T. J. Storey is on the trail of partridge "sooners." The partridge season does not open until Oct. 1, but already a number of violations of the law have been reported and Mr. Storey says he has his eye on some of the principal offenders.

Automobile parties, armed with "twenty-two" rifles are the most frequent offenders to date, the practice being to drive thirty or forty miles out of town, starting about noon, hunting until dark and getting home with several birds after dark. A number of cases where the hunters have bragged of "beating the game warden" in this way have been reported to the department, and a watch is being kept over the roads in the partridge districts for offenders of this type.

C. P. CRAIG IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Says Agricultural Display at State Fair Will Be Eye-Opener.

Charles P. Craig, Duluth's member of the state fair board and superintendent of the agricultural, horticultural and floricultural departments of the fair, will leave this evening for Hamline to superintend the final touches on the display in the two buildings under his charge.

"There will be more in each of the buildings of the agricultural, horticultural and floricultural departments this year than was ever contained in the exhibits when all three departments were under one roof," said Mr. Craig today. "I believe the agricultural display, taking distribution through the state, variety of specimens and quality of exhibits, will be the greatest ever shown at a state fair on the American continent.

"There are two buildings in my department this year and each will be crowded with articles of interest to every fair visitor. The two buildings are given over entirely to the display and I believe it will be an eye-opener."

Messages from A. B. Hostetter, who acompanied the St. Louis county exhibit to the fair, say that the carload of exhibits was successfully transferred to the St. Louis county building and that the exhibit will be in place when the fair opens Monday. The St. Louis county display is larger and more complete than ever and the county will be right up in front in the estimation of those who pay attention to agricultural achievements.

We Are Posting the New Styles for Particular Women!

Styles for misses—styles for young women, and styles for their seniors.

Such delightful changes have marked the suits for this season. At least, our suits show charming differences. The jackets are in 28 and 30-inch lengths as a rule, though we do show a few in both the longer and shorter models for those who find them more becoming. The skirts are the gored panel three-piece models with set-in foot pleats. The materials are rich, beautiful Panne Cheviots, two-tone fancy basket suitings, imported mixtures, broken striped zibeline, double-faced mannish materials and heavy serges. Colors are black, navy and all the season's newest novelty mixtures. There are also some suits in the Royal Coronation purple.

The Suits at $25, $28.50, $32.50 and $35, are models of good taste.

In fact, we believe we have never shown such striking values at these popular prices.

At prices ranging from $27.50 to $35, we show some exceptionally smart Norfolk models.

Other handsome styles at prices ranging up to $65 and $68.50.

Regatta "Regulation" or Peter Thompson Dresses for Misses and Small Women.

We have just received another shipment of these most popular dresses for the young women now leaving for college and for the girls going to high school.

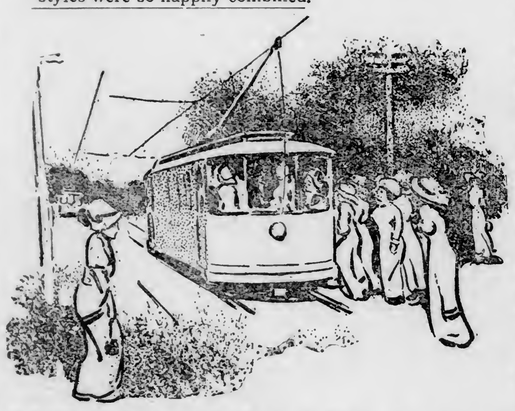

These are made up in heavy mannish serges of excellent quality. They are tailored in a most beautiful manner, and must not be compared with the commoner sorts usually shown.

New Polo and Semi-Fitted Novelty Coats at $15, $18.50, $22.50, $25.00 and up to $35.00

Style and good sense are happily linked in these new coats.

They are so comfortable in cut—so stylish in appearance, and so luxuriously warm, that we do not remember a season in which the Fall and Winter styles were so happily combined.

Why Do You Suppose

WOMEN FROM ALL OVER THE CITY COME HERE FOR SCHOOL SHOES?

Must be a mighty good reason—for goodness knows there's lots of shoe stores all over town.

The answer is probably in the shoe—for plenty of stores sell shoes at the same prices.

But we don't imagine they give quite as much style, quality, fit and service for the money. If they did, why should our shoe business grow so?

Extra help for tomorrow's selling.

YEAR'S WORK IS OUTLINED

Secretaries of Y. M. C. A. Arrange Program at All-Day Conference.

Secretary Bevis Looks Forward to Successful Year for Association.

At an all-day conference of the secretaries of the Young Men's Christian association held at the Spirit Lake branch of the Boat club yesterday, the program, plans, and policies for the coming year's work were fully outlined and discussed.

The secretarial force now consists of Phil Bevis, general secretary; E. D. Ranck, assistant general secretary; Frank A. Hathaway, membership secretary; Harry J. Sopher, educational director; A. B. Wegener, physical director; A. F. Olson, assistant physical director; W. E. Lauterbach, office secretary; N. D. McLeod, secretary boys' department, and J. R. Batchelor, physical director of boys' department.

"The Young Men's Christian Association of Duluth has won an enviable place in the list of associations in this country," said Mr. Bevis today. "For many years, both in numbers and in the quality of work done, it has ranked with cities of three to five times the population of Duluth.

"In looking forward to the season of 1911 and 1912, the association has every reason to anticipate a very satisfactory growth. In its staff, the departmental secretaries are able and thoroughly qualified. The equipment in both the central and boys' departments is ample and well adapted to the needs of the work, and in the membership there is an enthusiasm such as we have not had before. The program for the year in all the departments will be to intensify and extend the present lines of work. In every phase there seems to be a field ready to respond to these efforts. All indications point toward the association buildings becoming more and more the headquarters for the young men and the boys of this city in every line of helpful recreation and character building."

Educational Work.

Harry J. Sopher is the new educational director, and in planning his classes and program for the year, Mr. Sopher said:

"We expect to conduct the night school work along similar lines that it has been in the past. It will be the policy this year, as far as possible, to supply those vocational subjects which will be of the most direct benefit to the working man or boy in the particular line of work in which he is interested. It will also be our policy to lay as much emphasis as possible on individual instruction thus giving the student opportunity to come in personal contact with the teacher.

"Our teaching force has not yet been entirely arranged for, but the courses of study will be as follows: English for foreign speaking, mechanical drawing and machine designing, electricity, business arithmetic, business English, business correspondence and spelling, business law, architectural drawing and plan reading, show card writing, public speaking and debate, employed boys' course, steam engineering, lake navigation and automobiling. Other special courses will be offered as the occasion demands."

The association night school opens its fall term October 1st, registrations being received between September 25 and 28.

Physical Department.

The plans and schedule for the work in the physical department, which includes the gymnasium classes and games, swimming classes and other special lines of gymnastic sport, will be conducted along the same lines as heretofore. The committee in charge of the physical department work this year consists of Albert Ames, chairman; C. E. De Witt, C. R. McLean, J. H. Hearding and M. F. Jamar, Jr. The instructors are A. B. Wegener, physical director; A. F. Olson, assistant physical director; Lawrence Ames, wrestling instructor; A. B. Steiner, boxing instructor, and William L'Estrange, fencing instructor.

Monday, 9:30 a. m.—Ministers.

Monday and Thursday, 12:15 p. m.—Class and baseball.

Tuesday and Friday, 12 m.—Class and volley ball.

Wednesday and Saturday, 12:15 p. m.—Class and basket ball.

Every day, 4:30 p. m.—Class and volley ball.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 5:30 p. m.—Class and basket ball.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 8 p. m.—gymnastics and athletics.

Individual instruction by appointment.

The work of the physical department has always been a very popular feature of the association work, and this year promises to be one of the best years in the association history. The schedule of classes is arranged not only to accommodate the young men, but there are also special classes in which large numbers of the business men of the city enjoy recreation. Volley ball has become one of the most popular games for the business men.

Special classes for business men this year will meet at 12:15 and 4:30 p. m. daily. Another feature will be special classes for swimming instruction, three days a week at 5:30 and three days a week at 9:30.

The special events planned for the fall and winter will include the open night, or visitors' night, Oct. 2; the fall athletic meet, fall swimming meet, handball tournament, annual circus to be held in November, the open house, Jan. 1, the winter athletic meet, indoor handball tournament, representative basket ball season, and annual physical department banquet.

Membership and Social Work.

The membership of the Duluth association is now 1,960 in both departments. It is planned to increase the membership this fall, as the facilities are amply able to accommodate larger numbers.

The social features of the association which are best known to the public are the Tuesday night "pops." The committee in charge of these plan to continue the "pops" beginning the middle of October. The entertainments proved to be of such interest last winter and such large numbers attended that arrangements are being made at this time to regulate the attendance so as to better accommodate the crowds.

It is planned to provide as one of the entertainments each month, a special musical program of high order. Last year the orchestra concerts were given through the Flaaten Conservatory of Music, with whom arrangements may be made this year whereby similar concerts may be given regularly. The "pops" will be free to the public as heretofore.

Religious Work.

The religious work of the association this year will be carried out along the similar lines that have heretofore been followed. The principal features in the religious work have been the Bible study classes, Sunday afternoon meetings, Sunday Morning Breakfast club, and the Strangers club. The extension work of the religious department will also conduct the regular shop meetings, and meetings in the fire halls Sunday afternoons. It is the policy of the association in its religious activities to so relate itself to the local church that the church may use the association organization to supplement its activities.

Boys' Department.

The work of the boys' department is in charge of N. D. McLeod and J. R. Batchelor, physical director. These men are assisted by a very efficient cabinet of the boys themselves, and who have charge of the committee service of the department.

The various committees which have been organized this year consists of an entertainment committee, musical committee, Bible study committee, social committee, younger boys' Sunday meeting, membership committee, camp and outing committee, Sunday club and educational committee. Aside from the regular work which would naturally fall to the various committees, there has been assigned to each a definite sum of money which must be raised to supply further equipment for the boys' department. Each committee is pledged during the year to secure not less than twenty-five new members. In this way it is expected that the membership will be built up to at least 550 members.

The principal features of the work for the year will be the annual minstrel show, the regular Sunday afternoon meetings for boys, the Bible study classes in which it is expected to have at least 175 boys enrolled, annual committee men dinner, a membership campaign and a monthly paper.

In the physical department of the boys' work the athletic committee expects to carry on the city baseball league, the city indoor athletic meet, three indoor meets, school basket ball league and a public school aquatic meet, aside from several other features.

SUPERIOR MAY BE THE RINGLEADER

Implication in Saloon Robbery Charged—Floodwood Man Lost $900.

Detective McDonald of the Superior police department returned today from Port Arthur with John Koukenen, thought to be the ringleader of a gang which is charged with having "doped" and robbed Henry Maki of $900 six weeks ago in a Third street saloon.

Koukenen admits having been in Superior at the time of the robbery but denies any connection with the affair. Mike Michelson, proprietor of the saloon in which the robbery is alleged to have taken place, is also under arrest, charged with complicity.

When Maki, who lives at Floodwood, Minn., came to Superior, he visited the Michelson saloon and while there is said to have flashed a big roll. Maki claims that his drinks were "doped" and while he was sleeping off his "jag" that he was robbed of the money.

The disappearance of Koukenen immediately after the robbery led the authorities to believe that he was connected with the affair and by means of a photograph his identity was established at Port Arthur, where he was held for the Superior police.

Koukenen is said to have a bad record.

Praise for Penfound.

Fred P. Downing, state inspector of weights and measures for the Wisconsin dairy and food commission, spent yesterday in Superior on an official visit. He found local conditions in his department in good shape, and had nothing but praise for N. G. Penfound of the local bureau.

Motor Cycle Race.

A big motor cycle race has been scheduled for Sunday Sept. 10, for the Superior driving park. A large list of entries has already been announced and it is known that several prominent riders in some of the range towns will compete with the Superior and Duluth cyclists.

BUSY SEASON AHEAD FOR CIVIL SERVICE MEN.

Secretary F. E. Dody of the state civil service commission, who came to Superior yesterday in connection with the holding of an examination for stenographers, says that much work is cut out for the civil service board this fall. There will be a large number of positions to fill, not only in the various new commissions created, but in some of the older boards which have been reorganized. In Superior two positions, which have heretofore been appointive, will be made competitive offices. One is the sealer of weights and measures and the other the superintendency of the local branch of the state free employment bureau.

Must Keep Off Walks.

The police have issued strict orders that the practice of using the sidewalks in certain districts of the city by motor cyclists be discontinued. Offenders will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Numerous complaints have been made to the police about the practice and the authorities intend to put a stop to it.

OBITUARY

Maj. Gen. Benjamin Grierson of Jacksonville, Ill., is dead at his summer home at Omena, Mich. His death leaves but two of the major generals of the War of the Rebellion. He was 85 years old.

Rev. M. J. Taugher, who resigned as pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, Fond du Lac, Wis., on Aug. 15, of which he had been pastor for twenty-five years, dropped dead Saturday of heart disease in front of the home of a brother, Dr. P. J. Taugher, 345 First avenue, Milwaukee. He was 62 years old.

Mr. Hubbard, who was 82 years of age, was one of the founders of the Bradley & Hubbard Manufacturing company of Meriden, Conn., and a well-known philanthropist.

INJURED MAN IS IMPROVING

John W. Day Now Believed to Be Out of Danger.

John W. Day, who was seriously hurt yesterday morning in a head-on collision between his automobile and a Fourth street car, is improving, and is now thought to be out of danger. The fracture on the front of his skull is not proving serious. He regained consciousness yesterday afternoon, and spent a quiet night.

Bruises about his ribs and body which at first gave rise to fears of additional internal injuries, are not dangerous. Mr. Day is a powerful man of fine physique, and it is expected that he will recover rapidly.

SOLUTION IS SUGGESTED

Change in Plans of Canadian Northern to Meet Complaints.

Extension of Culvert Would Give Access to Affected Property.

Members of the board of public works, a committee from the council, the Eighth ward aldermen and Assistant City Engineer Hawley yesterday afternoon inspected the Canadian Northern crossing at Sixty-fourth avenue west with a view to investigating the complaints registered by residents of that locality and if possible suggesting a solution of the problem.

People living near there claim that the railroad has not been carrying out the terms of its franchise and owing to the present arrangement and the manner in which the line is being constructed, some of the residents have been cut off from their grounds on the north side of the tracks.

As a result of the investigation, the railroad will probably be asked to lengthen the culvert on Green street and grade this street to the level of the extension. This would make two crossings, one by Sixty-fourth avenue and one by Grech street. Both would give access to the property which is now said to cut off.

The council committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks will probably make recommendations, embodying this plan, at the meeting of the council next Monday evening.

RAMSEY STREET WORK HELD UP

Extension Cannot Be Made Until Court Renders Decision.

The Ramsey street extension cases are still being held up in district court, awaiting the decision of Judge Cant. It is understood, however, that there is more evidence to be heard in some of the cases before the decision is ready.

Condemnation proceedings were started early this summer and several lots lying between Central avenue and Grand avenue along the line of Ramsey street were condemned and awards given by the board of public works.

A few of the property owners appealed from the awards and the matter went to the district court. N. E. Nelson, who has a two-story brick building in the path of the proposed extension, asks more for the damage to the building than the board allowed, and much interest centers around the outcome of the suit. The street will cut off about one-third of the building.

Central avenue and Grand avenue are West Duluth's two principal thoroughfares, and under the present arrangement traffic is obliged to go a roundabout way from Ramsey street and Central avenue to Ramsey street and Grand avenue, when a short cut could be conveniently used.

CHALLENGE RACE FOR MOTOR BOATS.

Ernest Larson has accepted the challenge issued by A. Duplaise of Superior for a motor boat race on the St. Louis river Sunday, the weather permitting.

Larson will run his Dupont the Second against the Duplaise boat Relentless. The course used by the motor boats in the first annual West Duluth regatta will probably be the one chosen for the race. Whether they will go two laps for eight and a half miles or four laps, seventeen miles, has not been announced.

Duplaise has a 40-horse power engine in his craft, and the boat has a reputation as a speeder. Larson also claims to have one of the fastest boats on the river, and expects to give the Superior boat a hard run for the money.

Entertains Friends.

Miss Irene Tusken entertained a number of her friends Thursday afternoon at her home, 414 North Fifty-eighth avenue west. Music and games were played, after which light refreshments were served. The guests present were: Misses Marjorie Trotz of Spokane, Wash., Alice Kringle, Marion Kringle, Agnes Chesney, Lucille Armstrong, Florence Johnson, Agnes Brotherton, Olive Flora, Elsie Chapman, Eva Gagnon, Doris Gagnon, Evelyn Myre, Eudora McVeigh, Myrtle Simons, Eva Shanks, Marjory Shanks, Edith Shanks, Esther Jackson, Clara Ness, Myrtle Ness, Arthur Myre, and Henry Trotz of Spokane, Wash.

Labor Day Services.

Rev. Allan Clark, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church in West Duluth and Mayflower Congregational church, New Duluth, will hold a labor day service at the latter church.

The rights and interests of labor from a Christian standpoint will be discussed by Mr. Clark.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon arranged a surprise party for Mrs. Charles Chilstrand at her home, 121 South Fifty-ninth avenue west. Mrs. Chilstrand was presented with a handsome vase.

Mrs. John De Shaw of Princeton, Minn., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Winton of 611 Central avenue.

The Sunday school teachers of Asbury M. E. church will hold a meeting this evening at the church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street.

Mrs. W. G. Boyle, wife of the pastor of Asbury M. E. church, was pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends, including the members of the Junior league of the church, yesterday afternoon. The affair took place at her home, 6009 Raleigh street. She was presented with a number of handsome gifts.

Hurst, watch repairing, West Duluth.

Mrs. L. R. Clark and Mrs. E. J. Zanft entertained yesterday afternoon at a launch party up the St. Louis river. Dinner was served at the Spirit Lake Boat club, the table decorations being golden glow and wild flowers. The trip was made in Mr. Clark's launch, the Millicent C. The following were in the party: Mesdames W. J. Holmes, W. F. Barley, C. C. Salter, L. A. Barnes, J. D. Hoar, J. A. Scott, R. L. Lamphere, H. H. Phelps, J. T. Buckley, E. B. Collier, G. J. HIGHER CLOSES IN THE COPPERS

Best Day Local Stocks Have Had for Weeks—Natural Reaction.

Coppers closed for the most part with substantial gains over yesterday, though there were some declines late in the session. The market was best about noon today. The sagging of the general stock market in the afternoon tended to drag coppers down.

Up to noon today the copper market looked very bright indeed, in comparison with what it has been for several days. There was also a strong rally of the general stock list. All the rallies seemed to be due in large measure to shorts hastening to cover at the existing low prices. At all events the bulls became very aggressive indeed. One favorable factor was the announcement of the earnings of the Pennsylvania railroad. That road has been retrenching and the result has been decidedly beneficial, according to the showing made. Retrenchment has been the order of the day among railroads for a long time. It is said that the demand of the men on the Harriman lines for increased wages was merely a bluff to prevent a cutting of wages, which the employes feared. There was some easing off, however, early in the afternoon.

Among the movements of the copper stocks were the following: Amalgamated, yesterday's close, $57.50; today, $58, $57.75, $58.25, $58.12½, $58 37½, $58.87½, $57.75; Butte Ballaklava, yesterday, $4 bid, $4.25 asked; today, $4.50; Butte Coalition, $14.75 bid and $15 asked, yesterday; today, $15, $14.75, $15, $14.75; Calumet & Arizona, yesterday, $49.75 bid, $50 asked; today, $50, $50.50, $51, $51.50, $51.25, $50.50; Giroux, yesterday, $4.25 bid, $4.37½ asked; today, $4.37½, $4.25, $$4.31¼; Greene-Cananea, yesterday, $5.87½ bid, $6 asked; today, $6; North Butte, yesterday, $23 bid, $23.50 asked; today $23.50, $23.75, $23.87½, $23.75; Ojibway, yesterday, $4.87½ bid, $5.25 asked; today, $4.87½ to $5.25, $5.12½, $5.

Curb—Butte & Superior, yesterday and today, $9.25 to $9.50; Keating, yesterday and today, $3 asked.

Dr. Walter Harvey Weed of New York, consulting engineer of the Butte-Ballaklava mine, who has been in Duluth, and will go in the near future to Butte to inspect the mine, has just received information which, in his opinion, should greatly gratify the Butte-Ballaklava stockholders. He has been informed by wire that the ore of the mine is improving on the 1,400-foot level and that a five-foot vein carries 6 per cent copper and four ounces of silver to ton of ore. After inspecting the mine at Butte, Dr. Weed will go to Coeur d'Alenes, where he will inspect the mine of the Interstate Silver Lead company, of which also he is consulting engineer.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS MEETING

At the meeting of the board of public works this morning bids were opened for nine sewer jobs ranging in amounts from $500 to $3,000. Most of the Duluth contractors were represented in the bidding. The totals of the bids were not figured out up to a late hour this afternoon with one exception, Charles Ecklund being low man in the bidding for the construction of a sewer in Seventeenth avenue west between Raleigh and Waseca streets.

The first hearing on the condemnation of an easement for a trunk sanitary sewer for the Woodland district was held this morning. There were no objections, but one change was decided upon in the route, the line of the sewer between Abbotsford and Columbus streets being altered so as to run in St. Andrews street instead of through private property.

The board is signing up the condemnation reports including awards of damages for the land being condemned for the park board for additions to Lester, Chester, Lincoln and Fairmont parks and for the purchase of a five-acre park at Duluth Heights, and a park at Eighth avenue east between Second and Third streets. The project for a park at Woodland has been abandoned. With the signing up of these reports, which contain the board's awards to property owners, the only remedy that remains to dissatisfied owners is an appeal to the courts. Several of these are expected.

SAYS AMERICA LEADS WORLD IN MAGNIFICENCE OF HOTELS

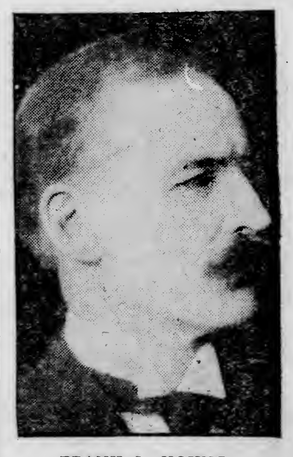

T. J. Tomkins, assistant manager of the new Blackstone hotel, one of the most magnificent hotels in the entire country, is a guest at the Spalding today.

"We are giving the people of Chicago something new in the hotel line," said Mr. Tomkins. "The West is no longer behind the East in the matter of magnificent hotels. The man or woman traveling today is most particular regarding where he or she stops. It is a pertinent fact that things we would take as a matter of fact in own homes, we will complain against in a hotel.

"Competition has made the magnificent and elegantly appointed hotel a necessity to the large city. One of the most rapid advances, to my mind, that is being made in this country today, is the wonderful hotels that America is constructing. We are surpassing Europe in this regard and travelers from other countries are being impressed with the accommodations of the leading hotels of the United States.

"For some years Chicago has been clearly behind New York a city of magnificent hotels, in the matter of accommodation for visitors. I don't think that applies so much today. The Blackstone and the LaSalle are two great hotels, and as a matter of plain truth they have added much to the prestige of the city.

"We hotel men are finding business quite good throughout the West. Chicago is getting its share of visitors We have not felt what you really might call bad business. The business men of Chicago are extremely optimistic and believe the fall is going to usher in a strong and healthy revival."

Special Announcement

In view of the fact that there are a number of families in this city whose demands are not sufficiently large and whose means are perhaps too limited to order at one time $5 worth of groceries—to obtain delivery from us, we have decided upon a new departure which will go into effect immediately. We have decided to accept orders for delivery to any given territory, except Lakeside, Woodland, West Duluth and Duluth Heights, for amounts aggregating $2.50 or more. Orders for Lakeside, Woodland, West Duluth and Duluth Heights must amount to $5 to obtain delivery. Our low prices will remain as usual. Orders to out-of-town points will be crated, and delivered free to all depots.

We presume that you have read in the newspapers about our endeavor to compel "honest weights" in this city—not only in groceries, but also on ice and coal—it all depends upon the interest taken by the people of this city as to whether they will tolerate the loose and slipshod methods that now prevail all over town. We have had personal experience and therefore speak from personal knowledge—there is hardly a coal dealer, merchant, jobber, or ice and coal firm that we have done business with that we did not find ready to "Do" us whenever they got the chance—what applies to the "big fellows" in business and in their relations with us applies more palpably to the consumers all over town—who always take it for granted that they are getting correct weight—Honesty is a policy that few play at in the competitive game of chance that is respectabalized under the name of "Business."

WILLMAR NOT GOOD FIELD

Believes Duluth Station Will Bring Money Out of Stockings.

The United States postal savings station, established at Willmar, Minn., on July 1, is not meeting with the success that was looked for, according to Henry Brack, United States inspector of construction, who is in Duluth making arrangements with L. M. Willcuts, custodian of the local federal building, and Postmaster A. P. Cook, for the local postal savings station to be established here on Sept. 15.

The confidence of the people of Willmar in the banking institutions there is greatly responsible for the failure of the savings station, it is claimed, and, moreover, the banks there are more liberal in their payment of interest on money deposited. The banks of Willmar pay at the rate of 4 per cent, while the savings station pays but 2 per cent.

This fact, together with the fact that there has never been a failure in the banks of that section, makes the banks the first choice. The population of Willmar and vicinity is practically all Scandinavian and the institutions there are managed by Scandinavian people, which has much to do with the success of the bank, for the people patronize their countrymen well, and have thorough confidence in them.

In Duluth and vicinity the situation is much different, he says, as it is in all large cities, and the success of the postal savings station is assured. The savings station, it is claimed, will be patronized largely by people from the southern part of Europe, who are familiar with government institutions of this nature, and many of whom have little confidence in banking institutions.

"The situation at Willmar can easily be understood," said Mr. Brack, "when it is considered that there have never been any bank failures, and where the interest paid by the banks is double that of the savings stations. But in Duluth and the Twin Cities it is different. In spite of your excellent banking facilities here, I believe thousands of dollars will come out of old stockings and other safe-keeping places to be placed in the government postal stations, and while the government may be doing big business, it is not going to effect the banking institutions one iota."

The plans for the new postal station have been completed, and work on putting in a cage for the department will be started within a few days. The bank is to be located at the west side of the first floor in the federal building, directly opposite the elevator. The wall where the mail boxes are now located will be removed, and another partition constructed several feet farther out. The place allowed for the new department will be 10 feet 10 inches by 5 feet 5 inches, and there will be three windows, where money can be received.

FIRM CLOSE IN THE PIT

Wheat Opens Strong and Makes Small But Fairly Steady Gains.

Receipts of New Grain During Day Are Very Heavy.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 1.—This was another bullish day for wheat. The close was at $1.04¾ asked, or ½c higher than yesterday, for Duluth September. The gain was not spasmodic. It was quiet and steady, but the bulls were dominant practically throughout the session.

One remarkable feature of the day was the large number of loaded grain cars reported on track. It was the first day of the season, and was like "old times" to Duluth traders. The total number of cars today was 353. Of these 246 were loaded with wheat, 88 with barley, 11 with rye, 6 with oats, 1 with corn and 1 with flax.

Wheat was steady and strong up to noon today. There were higher foreign cables. The foreign demand for American wheat is very good. Wheat opened at fractional gains on all the American markets, Duluth September, closing last night at $1.01⅞, opened today at $1.04⅜ bid, and was subsequently quoted at $1.04⅝ and $1.04¾. Minneapolis reported that a great deal of the new crop coming into that city was of very poor quality, so poor, in fact, that buyers were afraid to hedge. There were excellent reports, however, from Manitoba, where the wheat is said to be up to thirty bushels to the acre in many places, and of fine quality. What seems to have caused the rise of today is the delay in getting wheat thrashed. Thrashers have been much handicapped by rains.

Flax was very strong during the morning. October, which closed yesterday at $2.34, opened today at $2.35 and sold later was quoted at $2.38 and $2.40 bid. There is a great deal of flax throughout the country, but it cannot be brought to market for some days, as thrashers are busy with wheat. There is not much advance sale of the crop, because brokers require large cash margins to insure delivery, and the farmers are unwilling to put up these cash margins. All this has the effect of keeping the flax prices high, before the actual arrival of the grain.

Cash Sales Friday.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1. — The grain shipping year ended today and chamber of commerce reports show that Minneapolis has received a total of 90,534,200 bushels of wheat for the year 1911 against 101,751,650 bushels last year. This falling off was caused by the poor crop last year, although the showing is not as bad as had been expected.

Total corn receipts for this year were 9,736,760 bushels and last year 7,038,980 bushels. There were 16,907,290 bushels of oats received in 1911 and 17,465,380 bushels in 1910. Barley receipts were 18,745,510 bu this year and 22,478,460 last year. There were 1,743,290 bushels of rye received this year and 2,433,460 bushels received last year.

Flax shipments for 1911 were 5,638,800 bushels and for 1910 were 9,238,080 bushels. Total grain receipts in Minneapolis this year were 143,205,850 bushels and last year 160,406,010.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Turns Upward on Light Shipments and Rainfall.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—With shipments from the Argentine and from both India and Australia lighter than the expectation, the wheat market today took the upgrade. Rains in Canada were construed also as unfavorable to the bears. Besides, some export inquiry was reported here, and there were no signs of any distress over the monthly deliveries, although amounts sent around reached a larger total than had been looked for. Opening prices were ⅛c to ¼@⅝c higher. December started at 94½@94⅝c to 94¾c, a rise of ⅝c to ½@⅝c, reacted to 94⅜c, but again showed a tendency to advance.

Anxiety regarding Morocco acted as an influence on the side of the bulls and served to sustain prices. The close was steady with December ¼c net higher at 94½c.

Brisk cash demand strengthened corn. The basis was foreign news including security abroad. December opened the same as last night to ⅛c up at 63¼c to 63⅜c, and ascended to 63½c.

Big sales for export put the market up another notch, but the effect did not last. The close was easy at 63⅛@63¼c for December, a net loss of a shade.

Large deliveries gave oats a backset after the market had displayed sympathy with the bullish tone in corn. December started ⅛c to ¼c higher at 46⅛c to 46¼c, fell to 45⅞c and rallied to 46c.

Provisions reflected firmness at the yards. Initial sales were 5c lower to 12½@15c higher, with January delivery $16.25 for pork, $9.15 to $9.20 for lard and $8.40 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Prices Advance on Unexpectedly Small Wheat Deliveries.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—Only 10,000 bu of wheat delivered on contract here today. This was an unexpected small amount and consequently prices responded with an advance. Strength abroad also added to the domestic advance. September closed ⅜c higher than yesterday, December ¼@⅜c higher and May ¼@⅜c higher. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 225,000 bu for the week.

Minneapolis today received 247 cars of wheat against 377 a year ago; Duluth 87 against 98 and Winnipeg 33 against 180. September opened, $1.01⅛; high, $1.01⅝; low, $1.01; closed, $1.01¼. December opened, $1.03 to $1.02⅞; high, $1.03⅛@1.03⅜; low, $1.02⅞; closed, $1.03¼. May opened $1.07¼; high, $1.07⅝ to $1.07@1.07⅛; closed, $1.07⅜.

Cash wheat closed steady to a trifle firmer; demand excellent for choice milling grades and slow for early varieties. No. 1 northern sold for 1@4c above the September contract. Closing cash prices: No. 1 hard, $1.01¾; No. 1 northern, $1.02¼@1.05¼; to arrive, $1.02¼@1.03¼; No. 2 northern, 98¼c@$1.05¼; to arrive, 98¼c@$1.01¼; No. 3 wheat, 93⅛@99¼c; No. 3 yellow corn, 62@62½c; No. 3 white oats, 42½@43c; No. 2 rye, 81c.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 1,943 tons; market strong and steady. Bran in 100-lb sacks, $20.50@21.00.

Flour—Market steady; demand fair and prices unchanged. Shipments, 58,170 barrels. First patents, in wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis, $4.90@$5.10; second patents, $4.40@$4.65; first clears, $3.25@$3.45; second clears, $2.25@$2.40.

Barley—Receipts, 72 cars, year ago 65; shipments, 20. Demand steady to trifle firmer. Malting grades in best request. Closing prices unchanged to 1c higher. Closing range, 78c@$1.15.

New York Grain.

New York, Sept. 1.—Close: Wheat—September, 96⅞c; December, $1.01.

Cotton Market.

New York Sept. 1.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 4@7 points in response to higher Liverpool cables, executions of a comparatively low September report at midday, and predictions of a big September export movement. There seemed to be little fresh buying, however, and as there was considerable scattering liquidation, prices eased off slightly from the best during the early trading.

Spot closed quiet, 25 points higher. Midland uplands, 11.75; do gulf, 12.00. Sales, 4,800 bales.

Futures closed steady; closing bids: September, 11.44; October, 11.39; November, 11.38; December, 11.46; January, 11.41; February, 11.44; March, 11.51; May, 11.61; July, 11.62.

New York Money.

New York, Sept. 1.—Money on call steady, 2@2¾ per cent; ruling rate, 2¾ per cent; closing bid, 2⅛ per cent; offered at 2¼ per cent. Time loans, steady; 60 days, 3@3¼ per cent; 90 days, 3¼@3½ per cent; six months, 3¾@4 per cent.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4½ per cent; sterling exchange, easy with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.83.50 for sixty-day bills and at 4.86.05 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83. Bar silver, 52⅝; Mexican dollars, 45. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds firm.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Receipts continue heavy and the stalls are filled with all classes of useful horses. Clearance slow and dealers look for little business until next week, when horse-buyers plan to visit the state fair and fill their order for horses also. John Montgomery, L. A. Legg and E. H. Farwell are in with carload consignments.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Vigorous Upturn in Last Few Minutes, Led By Lehigh Valley.

General Market Rebounds to Near Best and Closes Strong.

New York, Sept. 1.—Gains of a point were made by Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific and Lehigh Valley in the opening sales on the stock exchange today. Otherwise changes were fractional, most of the active stocks advancing slowly. Almost the only loss recorded was a decline of ½ in Atchison preferred.

The market went off a trifle from the opening prices, but not much stock was sold, and the lowest level uncovered new buying orders which sent the list to a higher range than at the outset. United States Steel, Reading and the Harriman stocks were in special demand. Standard Oil of New Jersey, in which there were no transactions in the outside market, was quoted at 300 bid and 450 asked.

Speculation took on a holiday character today, the impending three days' suspension of business confining operations largely to an evening up nature. Room shorts who did not care to keep open contracts bought the representative stocks on a rising scale, and the bulls, perceiving the demand, pushed the prices up whenever possible, so that a number of leading issues established advances of a point or more. United States Steel made up nearly all of its dividend of 1¾ which came off the price of the stock today. The government report on cotton was awaited with interest, but fluctuations in the commodity itself were narrow. The declaration of the usual quarterly dividend by Chesapeake and Ohio removed debt on this score and induced buying which sent up the stock to 72¼. Active selling of Toledo, St. Louis & Western preferred depressed it 2 points, but a similar movement in other inactive stocks of this class scored notable advances.

The stock market went off slightly after the publication of the government report, the figures of which were below current estimates. Wells-Fargo Express dropped 4 points, a sharp rise in Minneapolis & St. Louis was attended by reports that the property would be utilized in a new combination with Canadian railroad interests.

The market closed strong. Prices worked to a lower level in the closing hour, some of the bears putting out fresh lines of stock, on the theory that the more urgent short covering had been completed for the time being. This selling forced down prices slowly, until Union Pacific, Amalgamated Copper, Canadian Pacific, St. Paul and Lehigh Valley ruled about a point below the highest figures of the day and the general list a large fraction. In the last few minutes there was a vigorous upturn, led by Lehigh Valley, which rallied 1¾. The general market also rebounded to near the best.

NEGOTIATIONS OVER RAILROAD DISPUTES HALT TEMPORARILY

Illinois Central Union Men Deny Thirty Days Notice.

Kruttschnitt Flatly Refuses Demands on Harriman Roads.

Union Leaders Still Hope to Be Able to Avert Strikes.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Notwithstanding refusals by railroad officials to deal with any general federation of the shop employes, labor leaders in Chicago were inclined today to believe that no strike was imminent.

For the employes, sentiment was voiced by Secretary Kramer of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and Helpers.

"It can be truthfully stated," he said, "that negotiations are still pending. Until peace efforts have ceased I see no reason for forecasting results."

In addition to 8,000 shopmen involved on the Illinois Central, there are 25,000 affected on the Southern Pacific and allied lines, and the issues have been made nearly if not quite as acute on the Northwestern, the Rock Island and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.

No Thirty Days Notice.

Emphatic denials were made today by officers of the Illinois Central shopmen that a thirty-day notice had been

FOREIGN VESSELS PAY $1,083,522

Tax Collected Is the Largest Since That of 1884.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The largest annual tonnage tax on foreign vessels since 1884 was collected during the year ending June 30, last, according to the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. The amount collected was $1,083,522.

This record was made notwithstanding the fact that the tariff act of 1909 reduced from 3 to 2 cents the tax rate on vessels from nearby foreign ports, and since March, 1910, vessels in trade between the United States and the province of Ontario have been wholly exempted by reciprocal legislation.

FEUD MAY BREAK OUT IN KENTUCKY

Four Men Killed in Last Month in Row Over Timber.

Jackson, Ky., Sept. 2.—"If you don't want to be killed, don't work this tramway any more," a warning nailed by night riders on a tree on the farm of Jeff Brown, slaughter creek, Morgan county, has put a stop to extensive timber operations following the destruction of two tramways at that place. The warning is the outcome of a feud between several families over a line dividing timber rights on their farms.

Four men were killed in the feud last month. A general outbreak is looked for at any time.

A meeting has been called here for Oct. 9 to form a law and order league to patrol the feud district and enforce the law at any cost.

Laramie to Hear Taft.

Laramie, Wyo., Sept. 2.—President Taft will spend an hour here Wednesday, Oct. 4, when he will deliver an address.

RICH ST. LOUIS MAN SUICIDE

Leaves Note Saying That His Health Forbade Contemplated Marriage.

Daniel E. Garrison, Jr., Ends His Life in New York City.

New York, Sept. 2.—While waiting here to meet his fiancee, Daniel E. Garrison, Jr., a member of one of the most important and wealthy families in St. Louis, committed suicide today because he believed that he was too ill to marry.

When his body was found, shot through the head, at the Waldorf-Astoria, there were two letters beside him. In one the suicide told his father that he would rather die than continue to suffer, and that it would be unjust to his fiancee to marry her in his present state of health. The other letter was written by the girl he expected to marry, and it urged him to "cheer up" and think of "the better days to come."

Fiancee Expected Soon.

Mr. Garrison's father and his son by his first marriage, who came here with him, declined to tell his fiancee's name, saying that this course was best for all concerned. She is expected to arrive either today or tomorrow. Her letter was dated Aug. 8 and written while abroad. It was signed "Mary."

The body was found by his son, Daniel E. Garrison III, when he went to call his father this morning for breakfast. Mr. Garrison lay in bed, wearing his night clothes. A pistol

MAN BURNS IN MID AIR

French Army Lieutenant Meets Horrible Death in Aeroplane.

Capt. de Camine of France in Fatal Plunge—American Falls.

Troyes, France, Sept. 2.—Lieut. de Grailley of the Eighth cuirasseurs, while making an aeroplane flight from this city today, was burned to death in midair.

The disaster probably was caused by the explosion of the fuel tank, the burning fluid being scattered all over the machine. The blazing aeroplane fell with its pilot at Rigny-La-Nonneuse, about twenty-five miles from this city, and was completely incinerated.

Capt. de Camine Killed.

Nangis, France, Sept. 2.—Capt. de Camine, one of the most experienced aviators in the French army, fell with his monoplane while flying here today, and was instantly killed.

The machine crashed to the earth with great violence and the aviator struck the ground with his head, which was crushed in.

Capt. De Camine ascended from the aerodrome at Toussus-Le-Noble early this morning with the intention of making a long distance flight. He had taken hundreds of excursions in the air and was regarded as one of the two or three finest airmen of the army. He was a cool and intelligent officer, with a scientific knowledge of aviation, and

DELEGATES HOLD EARLY SERVICES

Visitors All on Hand Bright and Early for Holy Communion.

Sixth Missionary Department Council Holds Its Second Day's Meeting.

"Men for the Mission Field" Is Subject Under Consideration.

Bright and early this morning the 100 delegates to the Sixth Missionary department annual council, now taking place in Duluth, were on hand for the celebration of holy communion.

The service was held at 7:30 and not one of the degelates was late. No one regretted the early hour set for this service and many wished that it had been earlier, that they might have been aroused in time to more fully enjoy the beauties of the morning in Duluth.

Yesterday was a strenuous day with the delegates to the conference, but today was not so hard on the delegates. The business meeting this morning was followed by a luncheon and an automobile ride about the city. Later this afternoon there was a Sunday school conference. The banquet which will be held this evening when the members of the conference will be guests of the churchmen of the city will finish the second day of the meeting. The conference comes to an end with services at St. Paul's church Sunday evening.

The services this morning were held at Trinity pro-cathedral. After the celebration of holy communion there were offered prayers in the Ojibway

Attacks State's Charges of His Interest in Binford Girl.

New Witness Says Boys Saw His Auto, Not Beattie's.

Trial Judge and Prosecutor Receive Threatening Letters.

Chesterfield, Va., Sept. 2.—The defense in the Beattie trial today laid stress upon two important points prior to closing its case with the testimony of the prisoner himself later today.

In one it attacked the theory of the prosecution that Beulah Binford was the motive of the accused for murdering his wife and in the other, assailed testimony of witnesses for the commonwealth, who thought they saw the Beatties on the Midlothian turnpike on the night of the murder.

William H. Sampson an intimate friend and chum of the accused, told on the witness stand of Beattie's relations with Beulah Binford, pointing out that when they were accidentally renewed just before Mrs. Beattie was murdered there was no serious affection on the part of the prisoner, but merely an episode of oldtime dissipation.

Says It Was His Auto.

Charles Kestleberg of Richmond, the mysterious witness whose discovery yesterday caused counsel for the defense to interrupt its examination of witnesses for nearly an hour, came forward today with the

SEEKS MAYORALTY OF PHILADELPHIA

D. CLARENCE GIBBONEY.

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—D. Clarence Gibboney has announced himself a candidate for mayor of Philadelphia. George H. Earl, Jr. and William H. Vare also are candidates. It is charged that Mayor Reyburn has been working hand in hand with the contractors. The mayor has come out in favor of the candidacy of William Vare, whose brother has grown hopelessly rich on city contracts.

MISSING WOMAN IS FOUND DEAD

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Police here today began an investigation into the death of Mrs. Fred S. Titus, whose body was found in her room here this morning. The woman had been living alone and had not been seen outside her room for four days. An officer, called in by another lodger in the building, today entered the woman's room and found her body, clad only in a nightrobe, on the floor.

Mrs. Titus had been living with her husband until a short time ago. He has not been seen lately, but it is believed he is in Baltimore.

An autopsy will be held to determine the cause of the woman's death.

MAY OPERATE ON JAMES R. KEENE

Physicians Will Use X-Ray to Determine Their Course.

New York, Sept. 2. — James R. Keene, who a few days ago had a relapse and is now staying at a nursing home in Marylebone, London, may have to undergo an operation shortly, according to a London dispatch to the Times. The financier's physicians have not decided whether the operation shall be performed, the dispatch says, and Mr. Keene himself is flatly against such a recourse unless the doctors can convince him that it is absolutely necessary. The medical men in charge are expected to decide by means of X-ray pictures whether the operation is necessary.

YELLOW JACKETS HALT BAPTISM

Otwell, Ind., Sept. 2.—Several persons are confined to their beds today as a result of a raid by yellow jackets upon a throng at a Baptist service held near here yesterday.

Just as the pastor of the Vincent Baptist church was leading a convert into Flat creek, and while a score of other converts, the church choir and many other persons were standing on the bank, two nests of yellow jackets were stirred up. The little yellow insects swept down upon the crowd and a wild scene followed.

Many persons, both men and women, plunged headlong into the stream. Others, screaming loudly, ran across fields and down streets. The baptizing will take place later.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Seven men were drowned in the Maumee river about one-half mile north of the Red Can buoy this morning at 1:30 o'clock, when the thirty-five foot launch, Nemo, owned by Michael Mayer, was struck by the 500 foot freighter Phillip Minch, inbound for the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton docks. The drowned are:

HARRY BATCH, city councilman.
JAMES WISLER, superintendent of waterworks.
THOMAS PURCELL, 48, master mechanic at the waterworks plant, Sumner street.
FRED SHANE, secretary of service, director Cowell.
WILLIAM BLATT, waterworks inspector, Norwood avenue.

CRAWFORD SAYS TAFT BLUNDERED

Senator Comments on President's Criticism of Partisans.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 2.—A statement by Senator Coe I. Crawford of South Dakota printed in the Daily Press says:

"I think the president made a mistake which he will regret in charging the Republican progressives with having no higher motive than small personal politics in co-operation with the Democrats in the passage of the La Follette wool bill and the farmers' free list bill. He did not hesitate to co-operate with the Democrats in securing the passage of the one-sided reciprocity measure.

"I am a progressive Republican and shall stand with the progressives."

THREE MEN ROB SOUTHERN PACIFIC EXPRESS TRAIN

Loot Safes in Express Car and Escape in an Automobile.

Redding, Cal., Sept. 2.—Three robbers, one a negro, held up the south-bound Oregon Express on the Southern Pacific railroad a mile and a half north of Lar ine, forty miles north of Redding, at 9 o'clock last night. They blew open both safes in the express car, rifled them and escaped.

In their escape the three men were accompanied by two others, supposed highwaymen, who had been riding on the roof of the train. No one was hurt. The value of the booty has not been learned.

The robbery was reported at Delta, Cal., by Conductor Dickey within fifteen minutes after it occurred. A special train immediately was made up at Dunsmuir, Cal., and left with a posse aboard. Sheriff Montgomery of Tehama county also was informed and another posse was picked up by a special at Red Bluff. A third posse was organized at Redding and joined the Red Bluff men.

A battle with the bandits, who fled to the forests to the west, is expected.

Boarded Train at Siding.

The robbers boarded the train as it stood on a siding at Gibson, near Lamoine. When the train got under way, three of them worked their way into the express car, holding the messengers at bay with revolvers. Only one of the bandits, the negro, was masked. They blew the safes, and at the sound of the explosion the train slowed down. The robbers grasped what they could lay hands on and jumped into the darkness, where their two companions joined them.

A brakeman on the train says the men leaped into an automobile headed for Dunsmuir, a densely wooded district. This is believed to increase the chance of capturing the bandits.

The first special was not due to reach the scene of the robbery until after midnight.

CLEW TO SLAYER OF ELSIE SIGEL

Chinaman Is Arrested By the Immigration Officers.

New York, Sept. 2.—The unsolved mystery of the murder of Elsie Sigel, now more than two years ago, once more claimed attention today following the arrest of a Chinese by immigration inspectors who last night raided a restaurant in Hoboken.

Although the immigration authorities declined to explain what connection, if any, the arrest had with the Sigel case, it was reported today that the police had found an important clue.

Ostensibly the prisoner, Gee Gow, was arrested on suspicion of having smuggled fellow countrymen into the United States in violation of the immigration laws.

Elsie Sigel was a granddaughter of Gen. Franz Sigel. Her body, bearing unmistakable marks of violence, was found in a trunk in a Chinese resort, and the search for her murderer was conducted almost exclusively in Chinese settlements throughout the country. Although several arrests were made no definite clue ever has been obtained.

ANOTHER BOMB IS SET OFF IN NEW YORK.

New York, Sept. 2.—Another bomb, the seventeenth within a month, was exploded here today, in front of the butchershop of Matteo Sarito, an Italian. The front of the building, which housed eighteen families in the upper floors, was scarred, but nobody was hurt. The police have not decided whether the outrage was a case of Black Hand vengeance, another protest against the high price of meat, or a mixture of both.

Arizona Primaries Oct. 24.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 2.—Governor Sloane has issued a statement saying he will issue a proclamation Sept. 20, calling the first state election in Arizona. According to the governor's plan, he will set the state primaries for Oct. 24, and the general election for Dec. 12.

DEATH STRUGGLE IN SEWER CAUSES DOUBLE DROWNING

Workmen Try to Clamber Over Each Other's Body to Safety.

Neither Is Able to Swim and Soft Bank Prevents Climbing Out.

Two workingmen, who accidentally slipped into the bay at the foot of the Forty-first avenue west sewer this morning, tried to climb over each other in getting out of the place and in the struggle which followed, both were drowned. They were employed by the Pastoret & Lawrence company, contractors, who are laying a trunk sewer there.

They were George Jurich, aged 28, unmarried, who boarded over the Vukasav & Mihvich saloon, 5602 Raleigh street, and Fred Romano, about 35, who is said to have lived in the Italian quarter near Eleventh avenue west. Both were strangers to most of the crew.

A small boy living in the neighborhood was the only eye witness. The rest of the crew of men were working on Forty-first avenue about a block away and knew nothing of the affair until it was too late to help the men.

The accident occurred about fifteen minutes after the crew had started to work. The outlet of the sewer is a deep mudhole at the foot of Forty-first avenue. Both men got too close to the edge and it is thought that in falling, one of the men grabbed the other to save himself and both toppled in.

Neither could swim and the battle against death was a desperate one. One of the men stood on the other's shoulder and would have pulled himself out could he have hung to anything but the soft mud. He slipped back and the other man tried the same thing.

Finally both gave up the struggle and sank. The bodies were recovered shortly after 8 o'clock and were taken to the Filiatrault undertaking morgue, 5415 Ramsey street, where they await funeral arrangements.

BEDE AND TAWNEY ARE NOT ALONE

Rockne and Clague Also Thinking About Seat in Congress.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—It having been decided that Minnesota's new congressman-at-large is to be nominated in a state convention and not at the primary, an interesting fight is expected in the Republican state convention. It is believed here that the chances for "Jim" Tawney or . Adam Bede would be brighter if selection is made by convention. It will also open wider the way for A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota and Frank Clague of Redwood to enter.

Rockne's ambition to go to congress is well known. Clague, in St. Paul yesterday, voiced his belief that Tawney should be returned, but it is known he has aspirations all his own. Incidentally, while here yesterday, Mr. Clague remarked that as matters now stand, Governor Eberhart can carry all the Western part of the state in a race for re-election, and that Sam Y. Gordon of Browns valley would not do well.

"Lieutenant Governor Gordon is good timber, but he would have to make the race on a county option ticket, and you know what happened to county option in the last session of the legislature," Senator Clague added. "The people are not clamoring for it."

FIVE ARRESTED ON WIRE TAPPING CHARGE.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 2.—Dewitt Lowe, a broker, has been arrested on the charge of tapping a telegraph wire operated by the firm of Badger Brothers.

Four other men were also arrested on the same charge. They are E. L. May, Ray Perkins, J. F. McAllister and R. L. Scott.

OLD FORMS OF WORSHIP UPHELD AND ATTACKED

"There Is But One Church" Says Bishop Olmstead.

"Transition Period Must Come Before Reaching Ideal" Says Graves.

The first day of the three days' session of the Sixth Missionary department which was held yesterday at St. Paul's church, Lake avenue and Second street, concluded last night with a stirring address of Bishop Olmstead of Denver, Colo., in which he deplored the fact that there seems to be a growing tendency these days to drift away from the old form of worship and compromise with other denominations or in other words to leave the old form of worship for a new and more modern method of worship.

Bishop Olmstead said that the church is the only true church and that no concessions could be made. He made a strong argument against the doctrine of comity. Bishop Graves promptly took issue with him, saying the church must progress.

Beginning with high mass celebrated early yesterday morning and the address which followed, that of the archbishop of Rupert's land, there were stirring and enthusiastic speeches on different subjects and by different delegates at the several meetings held yesterday.

The sessions held yesterday were at St. Paul's church. Those held today were at the Trinity pro-cathedral, Twentieth avenue east and Superior street.

All Meetings Open.

Although a great number of people interested in missionary and church work attended yesterday's meetings, even larger congregations are wanted by those in charge of the conference. All the meetings are open to the public. It is seldom that so many prominent men in church work are gathered together and as many of them are known in both the United States and Canada for their speaking ability, local members of the Episcopal church are anxious that as many as possible turn out to hear them.

Sunday afternoon there will be a large mass meeting at the Auditorium. This meeting will be the climax of the local conference. It closes Sunday evening. At the mass meeting Bishop Morrison of Duluth will preside. "The Church's Message to the World," will be the subject discussed.

At the conference in the afternoon on "The Mission Parish," addresses were given by the Rt. Rev. S. C. Edsall, bishop of Minnesota, on the topic, "The Maintenance of the Church In Small Communities," and the Rev. F. Durant of Hibbing, Minn., on "The Permanent Element in the Parish." The Rt. Rev. George A. Beecher, who was to have spoken on the subject, "The Best Method of Securing Speedily a Church, and Parsonage in a New Field," was unable to be present, and the Rt. Rev. A. R. Graves at Excelsior, Minn., took his place.

Bishop Olmstead's Speech.

In his talk to the delegates last night, Bishop Olmstead said in part:

"We have to speak on what we know and have seen, and say what seems to us right and proper, and pray to God for pardon for any mistakes we may make in judgment. I make no apology for what I may say tonight, because it is my conviction.

"What do we mean by the church? What do we mean by church unity? If the kingdom of God is a kingdom of righteousness and ideals, and any one can found a church, I can understand what those people mean by church unity. It is a very simple matter. The only thing in view is that building up the kingdom of righteousness, and the kingdom will go on of itself. Nine-tenths of the people mean just that. All are working for one end and that end is the securing of righteousness in the world.

"My idea is different. My idea is that of the book of common prayer. The Bible is the church's book, and the only interpreter is the church. It is not the world's book at all.

But One Church.

"There is but one church. Therefore, the only thing for the church to do is to look out all the schismatics. Our duty is to stand firm upon the rock of ages, and say to the world in all fairness and love, we will make no concessions, but your duty is to submit yourselves to the apostolic church.

"With what are we dealing? With the multitude of people who have no conception of the church of God. We are dealing with a generation that knows nothing of the church. We are dealing with a people that have very little knowledge of the sacredness of holy scriptures. We are dealing with a generation that has no knowledge of disipline of authority, or that the church herself is the body of Christ.

"I tell you we are in the greatest possible danger. We are standing in the midst of ignorance so dense that I can not see how we are going to clear it away. People want church unity, but on their own terms, in the sense of recognized comity.

"What we have got to do is to make our own people feel that schism is a horrible thing, a crime against Jesus Christ and something that we must flee from."

Tried Plan Too Long.

The words uttered by Bishop Olmstead brought Bishop Graves, formerly bishop of Kearney to his feet.

"We have tried that plan for the last thirty years," he said. "What has been the result? Three-fourths of the English speaking people have gotten out of this church. We have been so busy looking at the mote in our brother's eye that we have forgotten to look for the beam in our own. I think that we must look for a transition period before we reach the ideal.

"We can never settle this question on any other ground than principle, said Bishop Mann of North Dakota. "We cannot do it on the grounds of expediency. The only question is whether there was one absolute truth in the beginning which cannot be changed. If so, the idea of a church is a necessary one. However, that does not interfere with all kinds of changes in its outward appearance or manifestation. The question is one of historical revelation. That is the great thing. We cannot give that principle up. But the question of number of orders is not the big thing.

"This is a very difficult matter for us to deal with," said Presiding Bishop Tuttle in his vigorous way. "There are two truths about heresy and chism. Is a man guilty of heresy who accepts ex animo the truth of the apostolic creed? I do not believe so. A schism is an organized body set up in full opposition to the church. That certainly does not apply to the other Protestant denominations."

Brotherhood Meets.

Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the brotherhood was held. A. A. McKechnie of St. Paul, a layman of that place, presided at the meeting. He told of the history of the organization. It was organized at Chicago in 1875 by twelve men who met regularly to study the Bible. At the present time there are 1,000 chapters and more than 10,000 members. J. Fosbrook of St. Paul, Bishop Graves and Bishop Tuttle followed the remarks of the St. Paul man with short and helpful talks on the object of the brotherhood and its work.

While the conference meetings were going on at St. Paul's, the women of the auxiliary held their opening meeting at the Trinity pro-cathedral. After an address of welcome by Mrs. J. D. Morrison, president of the Duluth branch, came an address by Mrs. J. C. Emery, general secretary, on the subject "Sanctified Service." Mrs. C. Mann presided at the business meeting, and each of the presidents of the eleven dioceses told of the work in their community during the year past.

THE ELECTRO MAGNETIC TREATMENT FOR HEALTH AND STRENGTH

The testimony of those who have been cured by Dr. Mitchell, or are acquainted with his work by personal knowledge and investigation, all recommend his Electro-Magnetic treatment to their friends. Many miraculous cures have been published in the Duluth daily papers during the past 15 years of sick people who had given up all hope of getting well and they are cured in a short time by Dr. Mitchell.

Mr. Oscar Waden, 2820 West Huron street, Duluth, cured of a tumor by Dr. Mitchell.

Mr. John Barker of Alabaster, Mich., treated for stomach, heart and kidney trouble, and recommends Dr. Mitchell's treatment.

Mr. George Ryckman, 1423 West Michigan street, Duluth, who was carried upstairs to Dr. Mitchell's office about a year ago suffering from rheumatism and kidney trouble and had given up hope of getting cured, is now working and enjoying good health.

Mr. Albert Rogers, Duluth, Minn., says: "I have just finished a course of Dr. Mitchell's treatment for heart and stomach trouble. Today I am a well man and give Dr. Mitchell the credit."

SUPERIOR

CAUGHT STEALING FROM WORKHOUSE.

John Krause's liking for the brand of beer that the superintendent of the county workhouse keeps on hand for his own private consumption, was his undoing. John recently served a sentence at the workhouse, but he has returned for a second and longer visit at Hotel de Rockmount.

Krause was sent up a few days ago for getting drunk. He finished his sentence this week, but returned to the institution one night and appropriated to his own use a razor and other articles of minor value belonging to the superintendent. Krause even went so far as to help himself to some private stock beer, which had been placed on ice. He was caught in the act, rearrested and resentenced.

John Maki and John Helmer, charged with stealing an overcoat from Wellington Daly, a watchman for the Standard Oil company, were each fined $10 in police court yesterday.

Damages Inadequate.

Archie McKay, as attorney for the Superior Curling club, has filed an appeal in the circuit court from the decision of the railroad commission of Wisconsin, which awarded the curling association $300 damages 'n connection with the Belknap street viaduct extension, which has been proposed and will be built as soon as litigation is over. The Curling club claims that this sum is entirely inadequate. The case will be heard at the fall term of the Dane county circuit court.

Rowdies at Park.

The police have received many complaints of rowdyism from neighborhoods in the vicinity of Billings Park. Yesterday one of a gang of ruffians threw a stick through a street car window and struck one of the passengers on the forhead, inflicting a painful injury. Although the park is not properly policed the authorities will take what steps they can to cope with the situation.

Directory Nearly Ready.

The annual edition of the city directory will come off the press Sept. 25. Most of the copy is already in hands of the printers and five solicitors are busy finishing up the work. The enumerators have been working on the directory for about six weeks and have made good headway.

WILL NOT CHANGE DIFFERENTIAL

Positive assurance that the changes in the flour rates from Minneapolis and other Western points to New York and other Eastern points, if these changes come about, as proposed by the Minneapolis milling interests, will not reduce the four differential between Minneapolis and Duluth, was received today by A. D. Goodman, manger of the Duluth Universal Milling company.

This assurance was given in a long distance telephone conversation between Mr. Goodman and J. C. Andrews, assistant manager of the Pillsbury Flour Milling company of Minneapolis. Mr. Andrews has been one of the leading workers in the movement to secure for Minneapolis the through rate on flour of 21½ cents per 100 pounds between Minneapolis and New York by rail and the Great Lakes. The present rate is 23 cents. Duluth has a rate to New York of 5 cents less, or 10 cents a barrel less. Mr. Andrews positively assured Mr. Goodman that this differential will not be reduced, though it may be increased. Such an increase would, of course, be to Duluth's advantage in competition with Minneapolis for the Eastern flour markets.

AMERICAN GREETINGS EXTENDED TO GERMANY AND HER EMPEROR

STATUE OF GEN. VON STEUBEN AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

Congressman Bartholdt and Mr. Wolfram of New York took to Germany a reduced copy of the statute of Gen. Von Steuben which stands in Washington and which was presented to the kaiser when it was unveiled today. The original was presented to the United States by the German government, and the presentation of a replica by American congress was intended to emphasize the good will between the two countries.

Berlin, Sept. 2.—The address of Representative Richard Bartholdt of St. Louis, at the ceremony today when a replica of the statute of Gen. Baron Steuben was presented to the German emperor by the American delegates appointed for that purpose, Mr. Bartholdt and S. B. Wolfram of New York, was in part as follows:

"Your majesty: By direction of the president of the United States we have come across the ocean to fulfill the purport of a resolution unanimously adopted by the American congress providing for the presentation to his majesty the German emperor, and the German people of a statue of Gen. von Steuben, a great German and erstwhile citizen and hero of two continents, as a gift from the American people.

"If, in the performance of this honorable mission, I may be permitted to interpret the sentiments of the people of the United States, I would say, on behalf of President Taft's special embassy, that the proffered donation is to be a pledge of peace and amity and a guarantee of the sincerity of the earnest hope, cherished by all Americans, that the effect of this ceremony may be to draw more and more closely the bonds of traditional friendship and good will which, strengthened as they are by the ties of blood, have always so happily united the great German empire with the great Republic of the West, the United States of America.

The Name of Steuben.

"The name of Steuben will ever awaken patriotic memories beyond the ocean. Its bearer was the embodiment of German order and discipline and of that loyality of which the poet says, 'If it were not as old as the world, surely a German would have invented it.' He was not only the order-creating genius of the Colonial army, but also the indefatigable ,though modest, organizer of victories. In just appreciation of his great achievements, a grateful people, nobly disregarding national distinctions, honored his memory by the erection, in front of the White House in Washington, of a monument which is to commemorate his valuable services as well as those rendered by the German people generally to the cause of American independence. And today's celebration? It is verily a beautiful act of international courtesy, but may we not also interpret the ready acceptance of this statue as a just and generous willingness, on the part of Steuben's old Fatherland and its exalted sovereign, to appreciate and honor those who by their conduct abroad have added luster to the German name? Millions of hearts on the other side of the Atlantic which throb warmly on account of this dedication will rejoice exultantly at such interpretation.

From Material to Ideal.

"From the material to the political and ideal significance of today's act is but a step. The peace president extends to the peace kaiser under whose reign the phrase, 'The Empire is the Peace,' has been verified, the hand of friendship for hearty co-operation in the peaceful solution of the great problems of civilization. And are there two other nations which, resting upon the tradition of undisturbed friendship and looking forward to a future of still closer relations, could more justly feel called upon to make common cause in the great humanizing tasks of our time, in the promotion of art and science and in all tendencies looking to the increased welfare of the people.

"We live in a time of international conciliation, and have come to realize that peaceful development is of more transcendent importance than all that is now dividing the nations, and Germany's forty years of peace is an ample guarantee to America that it require but an incentive in order to crystalize mutual sympathy into a political fact. May this beautiful ceremony hasten such a happy consummation!

"As special envoys of the president of the United States, we have the distinguished honor of asking your majesty to accept this statue as a token of the sincere friendship of the American government and people for your majesty and the people of Germany."

POSTAL BANKS PROVE POPULAR

Deposits in St. Paul for First Half Day Total $3,176.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—A long line of depositors was on hand when the local savings bank opened for business in the postoffice here yesterday.

A little girl aged 15 was the first depositor. She left one dollar. Twenty depositors left $100. The total for the first half days' work was $3,176. In all seventy-nine accounts were opened.

Boys Make Deposits.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2.—The postal savings bank of Milwaukee had its opening yesterday and was enriched several hundred dollars. The greatest number of early depositors were boys ranging from 10 to 16 years.

Chicago Sets Record.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Chicago established a record for postal saving deposits during the first month of the operation of the bank. The receipts during August were in excess of $200,000.

POSTMASTER SAVES CASH.

Takes It Home With Him and Fools Missouri Robbers.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 2.—The postoffice safe at Sheridan, Mo., was blown during the night and $35 taken. More would have been secured had not Postmaster W. N. Wray taken the biggest part of the cash with him when he went home Thursday night. Suspicion rests on a stranger who called for mail and lounged around the office during the afternoon.

Lighting Talks
NUMBER 58 DULUTH, SEPTEMBER 2, 1911

and Woodrow Wilson, who as Governor of New Jersey is continuing a noteworthy record of efficiency in thought and action, radically as they differ on many political questions, are yet agreed that the ownership and operation of public utilities is not a proper function of the Government, either city, state, or national.

These eminent statesmen, along with practically all the ablest thinkers who have studied the subject at all, recognize the fact that every public utility is a natural monopoly, and for that very reason should be subject to governmental regulation—but that governmental operation is the costliest of mistakes.

The problem of adequate governmental regulation appears to have been solved in several states by the creation of Public Service Commissions to exercise jurisdiction over all public utility companies. The number of such commissions is increasing every year.

The Duluth-Edison Electric Company has never opposed the creation of a Public Service Commission for Minnesota. We believe such a commission would benefit both the public and the utility companies of this State.

Yet, while there is no such commission in Minnesota, the present City Charter of Duluth provides amply for the full and complete regulation of all public utility companies operating in this City.

This being so, where is the need, or sense, or reason, or right in building a municipal electric plant which would only increase enormously the City's burden of debt and make taxes climb higher and higher?

This company offers to light Duluth at $45 a year for each arc light. But if the City lighting was our whole lighting business, instead of being only a small part of it, we could not do it for any such extremely low price. Our total receipts from the City of Duluth for all public lighting amount to only 7 per cent of our gross revenue, and it is the total volume of revenue from all our 13,000 customers that makes it possible to give the City this unprecedented bargain.

A municipal plant could not drive this company out of business, and could not meet our rates. Even if it could accomplish the impossible and take every one of our 13,000 customers away from us, the City lighting would cost a great deal more than $45 per lamp per year. Long years of experience are necessary for the economical operation of an Electric lighting business. And governmental operation always costs more than private operation.

Why is it that a battleship built by the Government at one of the national navy yards costs $1,500,000 MORE THAN THE SAME SHIP CAN BE BUILT FOR by a private concern in its private ship-yard?

CHURCH FOR WORKING MEN

Rev. J. A. McGaughey Announces Program for Second Presbyterian.

Two Special Labor Day Sermons Will Be Preached Sunday.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey, former religious director of the Y. M. C. A. and now pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street. is advertising his charge as "The Laboring Man's Church"

Rev. Mr. McGaughey but recently took charge of affairs at the Second Presbyterian. The church had been without a pastor for over a year and the building was badly in need of repairs. The needed improvements were made, the work having been completed this week.

"We are trying to establish a reputation for the Second Presbyterian as the Laboring Man's church, and we want to interest the workingmen," said Mr. McGaughey this morning. "Our active work starts this week with a special Labor day service Sunday morning and evening."

In the morning, Rev. Mr. McGaughey will preach on "The Church's Obligation to the Industrial Man." In the evening, the topic is announced as "The Common Task of Church and Labor." These sermons are calculated to be of special interest to all classes of laboring men and a special invitation is extended to them.

Rev. Mr. McGaughey has mapped out a program which will be followed through the winter. Every Monday evening will be known as the social night and the church will be given over to the young people, who are at liberty to plan entertainments and other affairs to promote sociability. Wednesday evening is to be known as "Bible study night. Friday evening will be meeting night of the Men's Forum and the Boy's club, the organization meeting alternately.

WILL TALK TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Prof. A. L. Skoog of Minneapolis will deliver an address to a joint meeting of the young people's societies of the Swedish Mission churches of the West end, West Duluth and Superior tomorrow afternoon. He will tell of the work which is being carried on at the Minnehaha academy in Minneapolis, which institution he represents. At the morning service at the West end church, Rev. G. Tapper will preach and in the evening Rev. Petrus Wellander of Superior will occupy the pulpit.

Service at Poor Farm.

A song service will be held tomorrow afternoon at the county poor farm under the direction of the sick committee of the Young People's Society of the Swedish Mission church. Several members of the society will attend.

The Reliable
"CLAIRVOYANT"
By the large number of people who come to Girard's parlors to consult him, is a guarantee of his reliability of his great power to forecast your future. His long stay of six years in Duluth has proven to many his great powers, which enable him to tell you what life has for you. He will tell you your life as an open book, in all matters of life, of business, law suits, wills, absent friends and enemies. Whether your friends are true or false. Of love, marriage, divorce. Where you are most fortunate, and what you are adapted for. If you are thinking, or need the advice of a clairvoyant, go to one who is reliable, and one who has helped many in the city by his great powers, which enable him to help and guide you aright. Girard does not do his work as many others do, by advertisements, but by honest methods. He has been here longer than any other clairvoyant in the city. If you are in doubt, or trouble has come between you and loved ones; if business cares are annoying you, go to the reliable clairvoyant. Six questions answered by mail, $1.00.

RETURNED MISSIONARY TO SPEAK AT CLOQUET.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church will give a missionary tea next Wednesday afternoon at the J. O. Ford home on Carlton avenue. A special program of music has been prepared. Miss Louise Cummings, who has lately returned from Japan, where she spent twenty years as a missionary, will speak of her experience in a foreign country as a missionary and teacher of the English language.

MAN WHO DROWNED GIRL, GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE.

Holland, Mich., Sept. 2.—Walter Hopper, who threw Grace Lyons, daughter of a prominent family of Grand Rapids, over the rail of the steamer Puritan on Lake Michigan, was yesterday sentenced to life imprisonment at Marquette by Judge Padgham.

Hopper took his sentence calmly, although he expressed himself in favor of a death penalty, either by hanging or by dropping himself alongside the body of the girl he loved, at the bottom of Lake Michigan. He was taken to Marquette at once.

Wendt-Gates Wedding.

Miss Myrtle C. Wendt and Harry L. Gates were married Thursday evening at Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. Rev. Milton B. Fish, pastor, officiated. Miss Lillian Nelson was bridesmaid, and Hans C. Nybro acted as groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Gates will make their home in the West end.

Case of Suicide.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The man found hanging on the Barchus place near here Wednesday is believed to have been George Gustafson, but his home and relatives are unknown. It is believed he hanged himself and did not meet with foul play as first thought.

E. A. KOEING DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS.

Ernest August Koenig, 48 years old, brew master for the People's Brewing company for the past few years, died last evening at his home, 4232 Grand avenue, after a ten days' illness. Mr. Koenig had the distinction of being one of the heaviest men in the city. He is survived by a widow.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the family residence to Oneota cemetery. Rev. Walter Sievers, pastor of St. Stephen's German-English Lutheran church, will officiate.

Closed All Day.

West Duluth barber shops will be closed all day Labor day. This was decided upon this week at a meeting of the barbers. The shops will be kept open until 11 o'clock this evening and will not open again until Tuesday morning.

FIRST MARRIAGE BY NEW JUSTICE WILL BE FREE.

It will cost only the price of a marriage license to the first couple who are matrimonially tied by the new justice of the peace, Judge John J. Moran of West Duluth.

Although the new justice was installed more than two weeks ago, so far he has had only one court case and no marriages.

In a sort of abstracted way, the judge today came to the front with a bargain rate on marriage fees. He has announced that he would join the first couple free of charge. All the rest will have to pay union prices.

Officiating at a wedding will be as novel to the new justice as it will be to the bashful groom and the blushing bride. Personally, the judge is a confirmed bachelor.

Bishop Brewster to Speak.

Bishop Brewster of the diocese of Western Colorado, who is attending the sessions of the annual missionary meeting of the Episcopal church in Duluth this week, will preach tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at Holy Apostle's Episcopal church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Elinor street.

West Duluth Briefs.

Miss Agnes Ehr will leave Monday for St. Paul, where she will attend the state fair.

Mrs. John Krueger of Marquette, Mich., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Sieger of 119 North Fifty-sixth avenue west.

Miss Anna Spenard and Miss Alice Whalen will leave Monday for St. Paul to attend the state fair.

J. H. Erickson and family of 902 North Fifty-seventh avenue west have returned from a camping trip up the St. Louis river.

Hurst, watch repairing, West Duluth.

M. J. Gill of Minneapolis is visiting West Duluth friends for a few days.

The annual picnic of Fram lodge No. 5 of the Sons of Norway and Edda lodge No. 16 of the Daughters of Norway will be held tomorrow afternoon at the picnic grounds near the end of the Seventy-first avenue west car line. A special program has been arranged in connection with the affair.

J. H. Erickson, tailor, 307 Central avenue, wishes to announce his arrival of a consignment of his fall goods. Latest styles, best workmanship and reasonable prices.

TRACTION COMPANY OFFICIALS IN DULUTH.

C. G. Goodrich, at the head of the Twin City Rapid Transit company; A. E. Ames of Toronto, and Horace Lowry, Jr., of Minnesota, all officials of the Duluth Street Railway company, are here today attending one of the quarterly meetings of the directors. The Duluth directors of the company are also present at the meeting.

Outside of the routine business there are no matters of importance, according to the statement of Mr. Goodrich. He declared that the value of the company's property here was increasing, and that Duluth, in his opinion, was destined to have a great boom within the next three years.

A PUBLIC RECEPTION

The public is most cordially invited to attend a reception, to begin immediately after the labor parade, Monday, Sept. 4, from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m., in the handsome rooms of the Business College, located in the farmer Washington School, First avenue east, corner of Third street. An interesting exhibit of office appliances will be given, and refreshments served free.

"THE HOUSE OF TEN THOUSAND CANDLES."

The beautiful and spacious rotunda arcade display windows of the Miller-Albenberg company is almost completed and will be be greatly admired for its artistic designing by local architects and the skill and speedy execution of the contractors, who will soon put the finishing touches on this handsome work. Electricians are now doing their utmost to accomplish their part to install in the windows of this beautiful new store the latest style of Mazda Tungsten drop lights suspended from the ceiling and all around the sides the "Poke Bonnett" reflectors. Each globe is of the 60 Watt capacity, and a great many of like designs and power throughout the interior of the store ,dispaly cases, costume rooms, sign lights, etc. This abundance of light will result in a brilliant illumination to give these handsome windows and store room that charming and pleasing effect needed to make it a most inviting shopping center. The capacity of 10,000 candle power would be sufficient to light every street in the settled portion of the city of Duluth if placed one light to each corner.

PAULINE WAYNE HAS CHANCE TO GO ON STAGE.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 2.—Pauline Wayne, the White House cow, has an offer to go on the stage. It came in a telegram to President Taft, her guardian, from some one connected with a company that opens in a rural play in Minnesota next month. Pauline is wanted for a heavy animal part and the telegram promised that great care would be taken of her.

Pauline is going to Milwaukee Oct. 12 to appear at the international dairymen's convention, and perhaps to Chicago later, to look over an exhibition there, but the president has decided not to let her go on the stage.

Quarters for Postal Bank.

L. M. Willcuts, collector of customs, will receive bids next Friday at 2 o'clock for the remodeling of the postoffice for the accommodation of the postal savings station, which will be established here on Sept. 15. While the work to be done is not of an extensive character, yet it will require a considerable outlay, it is believed.

Ex-Banker Gives Bonds.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 2.—O. H. Havill, the former St. Cloud banker who organized the Royalton state bank, which recently was closed, appeared in court here yesterday and gave bonds of $4,000 for appearance for hearing to be held on Sept. 14. He is charged with receiving deposits when the bank was known to be insolvent.

NOTICE!

All Carpenters are hereby requested to meet at Fourth avenue west and First street, on Labor Day, Sept. 4th, and take part in the parade; also to meet at 1831 West First street at 11:30, as Brother Frank Duffy will deliver an address there.

WHITE EARTH INDIAN POLICEMAN TAKES LIFE.

White Earth, Minn., Sept. 2.—A tragedy occurred at Big Bend on the White Earth reservation and an Indian policeman is dead and several Indians and halfbreeds are under bonds to appear before the court.

An Indian dance was held at Big Bend Tuesday and many Chippewas gathered in a tent and at the Indian homes. It is the duty of the Indian policemen to be present at these dances and preserve peace and confiscate liquors. Policeman Hutchins of the White Earth agency police staff went to the dance to keep order and, yielding to temptation, drank a lot of liquor, said to have been made of alcohol and beer. In a fit of intoxication he drew his pistol and before any person could interfere, blew the top of his head to pieces.

HIDES $200 IN HAIR; SAVES IT

Hastings, Minn., Woman Fools Burglars Who Find But 8 Cents.

Hastings, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The home of Michael Esochevich was entered by two men, one of them covering Mrs. Esochevich with a revolver and demanding money. They locked her in a room and ransacked the house, finding but 8 cents, which they left. Mrs. Esocheich jumped from a window to the ground. She had upwards of $200 secreted in her hair.

SURELY SETTLES UPSET STOMACHS

Indigestion, Gas, Sourness or Dyspepsia Vanish in Five Minutes.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour rising, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach. Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

Although the temperature wasn't high yesterday there was an oppressive stickiness in the air. The weather man has started in with September as though he intended to make up for some of the cold weather he served up in August. Today is fair and pleasant. Fair weather is predicted for tonight and Sunday.

Rain fell a year ago today.

The sun rose at 5:28 and it will set at 6:46 this evening, giving thirteen hours and eighteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance central Friday morning over the Dakotas has advanced to Northern Michigan during the last twenty-four hours. In the meantime this depression has caused light showers over Manitoba, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ontario and the St. Lawrence valley. The northwestern high pressure condition is attended by somewhat cooler weather over Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Western Ontario, the Dakotas, Colorado, Minnesota, and Northern Wisconsin. The easterly movement of this high pressure area will cause a further drop in temperature at the Head of the Lakes tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Sunday; cooler tonight.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; much cooler tonight.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Sunday; cooler in east and south portions tonight.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Sunday; not much change.

South Dakota—Fair tonight; Sunday increasing cloudiness.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Sunday.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; much cooler tonight.

Upper Lakes: Brisk west and northwest winds this afternoon and tonight, diminishing and becoming variable Sunday; fair tonight and Sunday, preceded by showers on Huron this afternoon.

Advisory: Southwest storm warnings displayed on Lakes Erie and Ontario.

FREIGHTER HITS LAUNCH AND SEVEN MEN LOSE LIVES

Island, where they expected to do some bass fishing over the Labor day holiday. With the exception of Michael Mayer, owner of the launch, all were drowned. Mayer was saved by members of the crew of the Minch. None of the bodies has been recovered.

Capt. L. B. Cummings of the Minch, his brother F. P. Cummings, the first mate, Abner Busler, the watchman, and August Swan, the wheelsman, were on the forward deck of the freighter and saw the accident.

Capt. Cummings says that the wheelsman was throwing the searchlight across the river channel looking for channel stakes when they first spied the launch, which he thought was about a mile and a half distant. The launch was then 150 feet out of the course of the channel to the westward.

The steamer blew the danger signals, but before the launch could change its course the freighter crashed into the smaller boat.

was by his side and a bullet hole over the right ear.

Mr. Garrison, Jr., went to the hotel last evening with his son, and when the father retired he seemed in excellent spirits. He asked his son to call him in the morning, saying that they might be able to take an interesting boat ride.

Had Been in Canada.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 2.—D. E. Garrison, Jr., 42 years old, vice president of the Corrugated Bar company, who was found dead in a New York hotel today, had an appointment to meet his father, D. E. Garrison, Sr., at the Waldorf-Astoria this morning.

The father, son and grandson had been on vacations and were not expected to return here for some time. Garrison, Jr., had been in Canada, and Garrison, Sr., in Upper New York. Both men were widowers. The father is president of the Corrugated Bar company, which he established.

Know no Reason.

No reason was known at the offices of the Corrugated Bar company here as to why the vice president of the company should kill himself. He was a hay fever sufferer. The meeting scheduled for today in New York between the father and son was of a business nature. The family is considered wealthy.

Mr. Garrison, Jr., was to have been married in New York in October to Miss Mary Williams of New York, who at present is at Rye Beach, N. H. He had given up his home here and intended to live in Buffalo, where he was to take charge of a branch of his firm.

was inventive and dexterous in all aeroplane maneuvers.

Cummings Has Fall.

Boston, Sept. 2.—Joseph Cummings fell 200 feet in a Blerlot monoplane into Dorchester bay at Squantum early today, but managed to drag himself out and swim ashore. He was badly bruised, but expects to resume flying next week.

Cummings is a native of Pennsylvania, but is now a resident of this city. He went to France about a year ago, where he took aviation lessons at the Bleriot school. He had not figured in the three days' flying at Squantum, as his machine lacked several important parts.

When he started up today the sun was half way to the zenith and the wind was light. He made a circle of the field and then started out over the water.

He said after landing today that the sun got in his eyes and before he realized it the monoplane was diving for the water.

DELEGATES HOLD EARLY SERVICE

At 11 o'clock the regular business meeting of the conference was held "The duty of pastors to quicken in the hearts of the young the call to the ministry" was the topic on which Rev. J. E. Freeman talked. He said that the old system of taking one boy from each family should be in vogue at the present time. Bishop Mann of North Dakota talked on "The Preparation Needed in the Seminaries." He said that more attention should be given details and more practical experience in leading the church services. George F. Henry, an attorney of Des Moines, talked on the "Development of Resources for the Support of Missions," He stated that there should be more developers.

Sunday morning the visiting bishops will speak to the people of Duluth from the pulpits of the several churches to which they have been assigned. In the afternoon there will be a large mass meeting at the Auditorium

The conference ends with the services to be held Sunday evening at St. Paul's church. Nearly all the bishops in attendance at the conference will take an active part in the closing services.

given the railroad to abrogate the existing wage agreements. At a meeting of the labor chiefs held today it was decided that no such notice is necessary, as the federation called the railroad's attention to a desire to have the newly formed organization recognized in a letter addressed to President Markham under date of June 10. After passing on this point, the labor meetings, which have been in session for a week, adjourned and the delegates left for their homes. No definite date has been set for another meeting.

Referring particularly to the situation on the Illinois Central, Mr. Kruttschnitt said today:

"We believe that we shall be successful in maintaining peace. In asking President Markham for another conference, it is our purpose to present to him additional reasons why it would be advisable for the company to deal with a federation of its mechanics.

"While the international officers now in Chicago have full authority to direct matters as they see fit, it is the intention to continue to use conciliatory tactics."

Kruttschnitt Stands Pat.

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—It will be a week, at least, it is expected, before the next move in the contest now on between the officials of the Harriman system and the leaders representing the five shop crafts who failed yesterday to induce Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president and director of maintenance of operation of the railroad, to recognize the shop employes' federation.

Mr. Kruttschnitt's departure for the East was scheduled for today, but the labor leaders planned to remain here for several days and decide upon the next step to be taken. The latter had hoped that they might have another conference with Mr. Kruttschnitt in this city. It was their purpose to summon members of the general committee from Boston, San Antonio and El Paso, Tucson, Algiers, La., Ogden, Cheyenne, Denver, Sacramento, Los Angeles, Sparks, Nev.; Omaha, North Platte, Pocatello, Kansas City and Portland, Or., but Mr. Kruttschnitt's departure may make it advisable to call this meeting in some other city.

Labor Leaders Meet.

The labor leaders are holding another conference today. J. W. Kline, acting spokesman for the international shopmen, said today, that he felt confident that the executive committee would not recede from the determination to have the federation recognized or strike.

A conference lasting three hours and twenty minutes was terminated by Mr. Kruttschnitt's final answer, and following it, the union representatives, sober-faced, went into session by themselves to consider the strike vote which they may accept as binding or may reject, refusing to sanction a strike.

declaration that it was he who was motoring on the Midlothian turnpike on the night of the murder, and stopped his machine to get some water while the woman with him stood on the running board.

The testimony of Kestleberg, if accepted as fact, neutralizes the evidence offered by the prosecution in many important respects, because the commonwealth has held that it was Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., who was crouching in front of a machine on the turnpike while his wife was standing on the running board and was shot, her fall causing the big blood spot on the road. A crowd of boys coming from a dance at Bon Air had testified for the prosecution that they saw a man and woman and offered them help, but it was refused.

Not Beattie's Machine.

"It was I," said Kestleberg, who is a wholesale butcher, "who was on the Midlothian turnpike that night. I saw the crowd of boys pass and they offered to help which I said was unnecessary. I have hesitated to give my information about the case to anybody, although I read in the papers that the testimony of the boys indicated that it was Henry Beattie and his wife who stopped, and that it was Mrs. Beattie standing on the running board.

"I will tell you frankly that I don't know who the woman was who was with me. I met her on the road and gave her a ride for part of the way. Being a married man I didn't wish to volunteer testimony that would put me in a bad light socially, but I told my wife and several intimate friends, and I guess it leaked out to the defense who summoned me today."

Saw Another Car.

"Did you see any other cars on the road that night?" he was asked.

"I saw the boys go by and another car that was running very rapidly, and I could not see who was in it. I recognized one of the boys, who stopped and asked if I wanted help, but I don't think he recognized me. The story the boys have told about seeing a man and a woman in the machine is correct, but in the interest of justice I am frank to say that the man was not Beattie, or the woman his wife.

Threaten Judge Watson.

Several threatening letters came in Judge Watson's mail today. One told him that if Henry C. Beattie was convicted and sent to the chair his own years would be numbered. Another, from New Brighton, Pa., declared that the gun with which Mrs. Beattie was murdered, was not in Virginia now and that Paul Beattie never saw it.

Still another, signed "Eye Witness," said that neither Henry nor Paul had committed the crime and made threats against the judge and jury in the event of conviction of the prisoner. All were anonymous, and Judge Watson smiled as he handed them to the newspaper men.

Even counsel for the commonwealth had been receiving mysterious letters and messages. One came from New Orleans yesterday to Prosecutor Wendenberg and said: "Prosecute Paul Beattie; he's guilty."

Deposition Not Taken.

The deposition of Mrs. Steger, who is alleged to have seen a highwayman on the road near her home, was not taken, as counsel for the defense admitted that what she knew was of little account.

Court convened at 11:30 o'clock and Eliza Moseley, a negress, took the stand. Judge Watson announced that the woman had told him she had heard something in her home, on Midlothian turnpike, on the night of the murder, and that he had asked her, though ill, to come to court and testify.

The woman testified that about 10:30 o'clock that night she heard the report of a gun.

Crisis Is Reached.

Upon the kind of story told by the prisoner today many things are dependent. It already has been demonstrated by the defense that the accused would cling minutely to his story at the inquest concerning the alleged highwayman, and would continue to discredit Paul Beattie, both with respect to the purchase of the fatal shotgun and the alleged confession which Paul says he heard from the lips of the accused the night after the tragedy.

Importance will attach to the explanation of the prisoner as to his relations with Beulah Binford. Not so many details of the alleged motive for the crime had been brought to the surface by the prosecution at the time the accused was on the stand at the inquest, and for today's cross-examination the prosecution let it be known that it had some interesting questions to ask the prisoner concerning the girl.

May Yet Summon Girl.

Beulah, though summoned by the prosecution, was not put on the stand, and if she goes on at all it will be in the rebuttal which is to begin Monday. If the prisoner admits his relationship with the girl in much the same way he did at the inquest, the prosecution may not ask the girl to testify, as it is an open secret that her numerous statements about the case has demonstrated to both sides a certain risk in allowing her to take the stand.

One report today was that the defense might, before the trial was concluded, point to Beulah as an accessory before the fact, and the prosecution, it is understood, has been working on information concerning a girl who is reported to have been told by Beulah that she knew of the planning of the murder.

To Support Paul's Story.

The prosecution stands ready to support Paul's testimony, the most vital assault on which was made by the defense two days ago when E. H. Neblitt testified that he saw Paul standing in a doorway with a gun at the bridge where he works, just a day after Paul was supposed to have delivered the weapon to Henry.

A man who also saw Paul that day, will testify for the prosecution that he saw Paul in the same doorway and that it was a stick and not a gun which he held.

Furthermore the prosecution will argue that from the point in the road where Neblitt says he saw Paul, a passerby could not see the doorway on account of an intervening mass of scaffolding.

Auto Experts Help Defense.

The question whether Mrs. Beattie was shot while standing on the running board or in the road, or, as her husband insists, while she sat in the frontseat to the left of him, was raised again when several automobile experts testified yesterday that a large pool of blood such as was found at the scene of the crime could have trickled through the machinery of the car and dowsed from the drip-pan underneath to the ground. The testimony of the automobile experts was in line with the contention also that blood dripped from the machine 1 nmany places from the scene of the crime to the Owens place in Richmond, where the young husband took his dead wife.

The prisoner was more cheerful at the end of yesterday's discussion than he has been for some time, and as each of his five women friends who testified entered the courtroom, he smiled and greeted them warmly.

His gray-haired father, who sat beside him, escorted each to the witness chair, and when Hazel Beattie, his daughter, took the stand to testify to Henry's pleasant home life, the aged parent bent over and kissed the young girl as she stepped to the witness stand.

MANAGERS OF "SELF MASTER COLONY"

ANDRESS FLOYD.

MRS. ANDRESS FLOYD.

Union, N. J., Sept. 2.—The Self Master colony here was started by Andress Floyd, who is still at the head of the institution. A sign, set in white-washed stones, reads: "The Self Master Colony, Welcome." It was started about four years ago and through its work, upwards of 1,000 derelicts have made an effort to forget the past and to get a new start. There are about thirty men there now and they come and go as they please.

Floyd started in this work of reclamation because he felt there was a big field for it and because he thought it was the best way to redeem discouraged and homeless men. Most of the subjects are men who have met with misfortune or who have lost their hold on society because of dissipation. Some of the members of the colony, however, have been men in comfortable circumstances who have sought the seclusion of the home to curb their desire for liquor.

All men are welcome. There are no dues and no admission fees, no questions asked, and religion has no place in the scheme. A new member doesn't even have to give his name unless he wants to. The only rule is that each man is expected to do at least seven hours' work every day. Floyd endeavors to give each man the work which appeals to him. Some are employed in the printing shop, some in the carpenter shop, some in the weaving plant, others do farm work, and others cooking and general housework under the direction of Mrs. Floyd.

The course varies from two weeks to six months. Some of the men have stayed a year. Mr. Floyd is obliged to turn away about three or four men a day. He wants to enlarge the scope of the work and take care of all applicants. The running expenses are met by the contributions of friends and from the sale of articles manufactured on the place. The land occupied by the colony, some fifty acres, was turned over to Mr. Floyd by Charles Ingersoll, a wealthy man of South Orange. The trustees are William A. Clark of the State Trust Company of Plainfield and Alexander C. Litterst of the Metuchen National Bank of Metuchen, N. J.

GIRL SNEEZES FOR NINETY MINUTES

Boy Throws Snuff in the Air While She Is Singing.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Miss Nellie De Onzo, 17 years old, is under the care of physicians in a hospital as a result of a ninety-minute spell of sneezing. Her experience, which is said to be the long distance record except for hay fever patients, was due to snuff which a young man, in a spirit of fun scattered nearby while she was singing. She was relieved after being taken to a hospital, where it was said there would be no permanent ill results.

Sues Lawyer for $125,000.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 2.—A suit to recover damages of $125,000 was begun in district court yesterday afternoon by T. S. Lane against Judge John J. McHatton, one of Montana's prominent lawyers. Mr. Lane says he was injured in that sum through an alleged libel that was contained in a circular letter written by the attorney and presented at a meeting of the minority stockholders of the Montana Independent Telephone company.

Sunday Services in Duluth Churches

The annual meeting of the congregation of the Union Church Disciples was held Wednesday evening at the Knights of Pythias hall. Supper was served at 7 o'clock, after which a program was carried out combined with the reports of the different branches of the church.

Appropriate anniversary services will be observed Sunday as the starting of the third year of work. The pastor, Rev. Bruce Black, in speaking of the outlook for the coming year laid great emphasis on the fact of its being a union church. He said: "The first great need is for a church, which offers a spiritual basis for the union of various faiths. The great question alike in synod, presbytery, conference and convention is, 'How shall organic union of churches be accomplished.' Each church offers its solution, but at heart realizes that this solution is impossible. The immediate settlement of this question is demanded in the interests of missionary activity, for our divided home forces present a spectacle on the foreign field that only provokes disgust. Christian Endeavor and the Sunday school have forged far ahead in this line, but yet the work is not accomplished. In our church not only have the communicants of various faiths united in our work, but the spirit of this union approximates nearer the spirit of Christ than anything in existent organizations of which we have any knowledge. Our fellowship is truly like to that above, where we may say, Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love. I am convinced that on absolutely no other basis can the diverse number of faiths find a union than in the spirit of Christ. It alone is broad enough and true enough to sustain such a work."

DR. DUMAS GIVES ADDITIONAL BONDS

His Father and J. W. Johnson of Cass Lake Are Sureties.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Dumas, mayor of Cass Lake, who was arrested yesterday morning at Cass Lake by the federal authorities on a warrant charging conspiracy with Mike Davis and Martin Behan to burglarize the postoffice at Puposky, Minn., was brought here and arraigned before United States Commissioner M. A. Simmons, about 4 p. m. yesterday. The accussed waived examination and was held to the next federal grand jury at Fergus Falls in $10,000 bonds furnished by his father, Frederick Dumas of Minneapolis, and J. W. Johnson of Cass Lake.

What Warrant Charges.

The exact charge made in the warrant served on the doctor by the Deputy United States Marshal Frank Tuffts, is that "On June 14, at Bemidji, Delbert F. Dumas, Martin Behan and Mike Davis did conspire, combine, confederate and agree together to commit an offense against the United States, feloniously to take and carry away certain personal property belonging to the United States, postage stamps of the value of $600, and lawful current money of the value of $160," and further alleges that the stamps and money were in the postoffice on June 14, and that Mike Davis and Martin Behan attempted to take the money and stamps on June 17. The complaint was sworn to by J. M. Dickle, assistant United States district attorney, and the warrant was issued July 21, not being given to the deputy until Wednesday of this week.

CONGRESSMAN DRUBS CLERKS

Beats Up Four Because One "Insulted" Miss Carter.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Representative Charles D. Carter of Oklahoma created a sensation in the heart of the smart shopping center here yesterday by assaulting four clerks, one of whom he alleged insulted his 18-year-old daughter, Miss Italy Carter, who was with her father on a shopping expedition.

Having dealt summarily with the four clerks, Representative Carter, who is seven-sixteenths Indian, sent his daughter home in an automobile and proceeded to the nearest police station, where he explained the incident which caused the trouble. He was not detained, and considers the incident closed unless the four clerks demand an investigation.

Representative Carter assailed the first clerk, Joseph Josephson, with his fists, and when three of the young man's companions came to their friend's aid, the Oklahoma congressman brought his walking stick into play and wielded it vigorously.

According to Mr. Carter, his daughter described to Josephson a certain kind of coat which she wished to purchase. He declares the clerk thought Miss Carter was unattended and sought to engage her in conversation. The fight which was developed was brief but exciting. Meanwhile Miss Carter stood in tears on the sidewalk until her father reached her side.

BAKERS' DOZEN AT HOBO CONVENTION

Washington, Sept. 2.—James Eads How's "hobo" convention opened here yesterday with barely a baker's dozen in attendance. This is a considerable shrinkage, as previous estimates by members of the committee for the unemployed placed 200 delegates as the minimum. The few here presume that 900 of their belated brethren are delayed en route.

Dissension cropped out as soon as the convention was opened. This was over a name for the organization. "Brother" How, who stories in the fact that he is a "hobo," wanted the convention so designated. His associates chose the more dignified appellation "gathering of unemployed," but to save Brother How's feelings, made the title a double one, by adding "or so-called hobo convention."

Free Lunch Helps.

A vacant store in the business section has been obtained as headquarters. There is an abundance of room, except whe nthe free meals are served. The free lunch is a feature which tends greatly toward increased attendance. All sessions will be held in the daytime, as there is no means of illuminating the place at night.

After things had been smoothly started, a clerical delegate was introduced by Brother How. His trousers were girded about by a buckle strap, but a Phi Beta Kappa key dangling nonchalantly from the strap gave its wearer an air of academic distinction. He proved to be a good talker and his ideas so impressed a suffragette of evangelical religious tendencies, that she nearly broke up the meeting with frequent and hearty "amens."

Free Rides to Jobs.

Alexander Law of New York also addressed the unemployed on his favorite theme, the eight-hour day.

All of the unemployed present were unanimous in their demand for short hours, should the yearned-for labor be supplied them. They also want free transportation to the job et cetera when they get one. They claim this would help.

Brainerd Garage Burns.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 2.—Fire destroyed the garage and automobile of J. N. Biever, the Northeast Brainerd dry goods merchant. The family are not at home and neighbors are unable to account for the fire.

TORNADO CARRIES SHACK.

Woman Inside, Who Was Washing Dishes, Has Narrow Escape.

Rapid City, S. D., Sept. 2.—While washing dishes in a shack on her claim near Oakaton, a small town on the Milwaukee railroad east of here, Mrs. George Sumner had a narrow escape from death in a tornado. Mrs. Sumner's shack is a two-room affair. The wind lifted it with its human freight and dashed it against the ride of a ravine forty rods distant. Mrs. Sumner was rendered unconscious by the force of the fall but was not hurt.

TAKES 269 WORDS IN SHORTHAND IN A MINUTE.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 2.—The committee in charge of the speed contests held here under the auspices of the National Shorthand Reporters' association has awarded the shorthand writers' cup to Nathan Behrin, with an average of 96.8 per cent accuracy. Nathan Bottome, the only other contestant to qualify, was given an overage of 96.6 per cent. Mr. Bottome still holds the record of 269 words per minute, the best record which has thus far been made in a contest in America.

BARNCARD RESIGNS AS GRAIN INSPECTOR.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. M. Barncard, deputy grain inspector for Minneapolis, has resigned. The state railroad and warehouse commission appointed E. H. Tunell in his place.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

Many of the Christian Endeavorers, who have been absent from the city during the summer months, have returned. Those societies which take a recess of a month, whether July or August, have recommenced their meetings. The Duluth C. E. Union again announces the meetings and items of interest. For the coming week meetings will be held at all the churches having C. E. societies, with the possible exception of the Pilgrim Congregational, which has not yet recommenced the services.

The topic for the week is a study of the life of Daniel, which is No. 9 in the series of the studies of the lives of great Bible characters. This will be observed as a consecration meeting. The lesson will be found in Daniel, vi., 10-23. The following meetings have been reported to the local union:

The First Presbyterian society will meet in the lecture room of the church at 6:45 p. m. The leader is to be Mr. Alex. Macdonald.

The Second Presbyterian society will meet in the lecture room of the church at 6:45 p. m. Miss Claudia Cox will be in charge of the meeting and members look forward to an enjoyable service.

The Westminster Presbyterian society will meet in the parlors of the church at 6:45 p. m. They will be led by Miss Annie Blakeney.

The Lakeside Presbyterian society will meet at 6 p. m. in the Endeavor room. As this is to be a consecration meeting, the meeting will be leaderless and under the direction of the prayer meeting committee.

The Union Church Disciples society will be in session at the K. P. hall, commencing at 7 p. m. In addition to observing the consecration meeting, this society will also hold its annual installation service for the new officers of the society. The installation will be in charge of Mr. J. C. Johnson. All members are asked to attend.

The regular Sunday afternoon meeting at the Poor Farm will be in charge of the Westminster Presbyterian society. These meetings have been kept up all summer, and some C. E. society has made the trip each Sunday. It is hoped, now that cooler weather prevails, that the number of Endeavorers making the trip will be increased, and that increased attractiveness of the meetings will be the result.

The president of the local union announces that the executive committee of the local union will meet for its regular monthly business session on Tuesday evening, Sept. 12, at the First Presbyterian church. Plans for increasing the efficiency of the societies in their meeting will be discussed, and all members of the committee are expected to be present.

The Westminister Presbyterian society is arranging for a hay rack social to be held in the near future, at which this society and its friends will travel out to Ironton, there to participate in a corn roast or other rustic form of entertainment. The past success of this society in planning and carrying out an entertainment of this kind leads the members to believe that the outing will be a huge success.

$400 PIANO FREE!

This Piano will be given FREE as the First, Grand and Largest Premium.

The Following Additional Large List of Premiums Free:

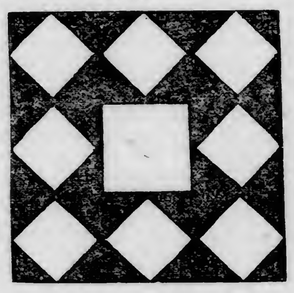

1st Reward: $400.00 Upright Piano.
2nd Reward: Genuine Diamond Ring.
3rd Reward: Chest of Silver.
4th Reward: Twenty-Year Ladies' Gold Watch.
5th Reward: Twenty-Year Gentleman's Gold Watch.
6th Reward: Beautiful Opera Glasses and Case.
7th Reward: Set of 1847 Roger Fruit Knives.
8th Reward: All Persons Who Send in Answers Will Receive a Book of Songs.

All the above mentioned premiums will be given by us and the Piano Manufacturers for solving the DIAMOND SQUARE PUZZLE.

Can You Solve it?

To solve this puzzle take any number from 7 to 15 inclusive and place in squares so that the total will make 33 horizontally, perpendicularly and diagonally. Do not use any number more than twice.

All persons working this puzzle the largest number of ways, arranging the numbers differently in the squares, using the above numbers, will earn and receive absolutely free, the above mentioned premiums in order of merit. In the event of a tie, duplicate premiums will be awarded. It is not necessary to use this paper.

In addition to the above rewards, every contestant will have an opportunity to earn and receive a bona-fide draft which will come direct from the manufacturers and will be good only on any new piano that we are advertising.

The drafts mentioned will be given in denominations as follows: Three at $150.00; three at $148.00; three at $137.50; three at $135.00; three at $130.00; three at $125.00; three at $120.00; three at $110.00; three at $100.00; ten at $75.00; ten at $50.00 and all solutions will receive a draft for at least $25.00.

The piano manufacturers and dealers have for many years tried to reduce the selling expense of musical instruments. The old way of selling pianos, pulling door bells, canvassing, paying music teachers commissions, etc., have all been eliminated, and it is now a question of the best advertised piano. The maker's name being familiar to the piano purchaser, and the piano purchaser knowing the true value of the piano, makes it possible to sell a certain number. A great contest has been planned to make our pianos well known in this vicinity and the manufacturers have agreed to assist us in conducting this.

We want to especially assure you that you should not lose a minute in mailing your answer to our store. Try for one of these Premiums, which will be given free to successful contestants.

Contest Closes Sept. 4th, 1911 at 6 P. M.

MUST TEACH ONE YEAR TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR POSITION

Married Women and Inexperienced Girls Barred From Duluth Schools.

Medical Inspection Extended —Chief Engineer Larson Is Dropped.

WHAT THE SCHOOL BOARD DID.

Decided that no teacher shall be employed in the Duluth schools unless she has one year of practical experience.

Decided that no married woman, living with her husband, shall be employed as a teacher in the Duluth schools, unless her husband is unable to work on account of illness or infirmity.

Appointed Alex Stewart, chief engineer of the schools to replace L. A. Larson.

Fixed boundaries of Jerome Merritt school district.

Re-engaged Dr. Schroeder, Dr. Weston and Nurses Beatty and Murphy for medical inspection work and decided to engage one more physician and one more nurse.

The medical inspection work in the Duluth public schools will be extended this year by the employment of one more physician and one more nurse. Dr. Schroeder, Dr. Weston and Nurses Beatty and Murphy have been re-engaged for the work. The selection of the additional physician and nurse will be made by the committee on schools and teachers.

The committee submitted a recommendation to the board last evening that the present force be doubled by the employment of two physicians and two nurses. Objections were offered on the score of expense, and the decision to engage one physician and one nurse was a compromise.

The board had a busy session last evening, and several sharp contests developed. Directors Barnes and Stevens made a contest on behalf of Duluth girls against a recommendation of the committee on schools and teachers that no tacher be employed in the Duluth schools unless she has had one year of practical experience. They conducted a losing fight and were voted down on a roll call, the recommendation being adopted.

When the committee on maintenance of buildings and grounds made a recommendation that Alex Stewart be appointed chief engineer for the ensuing year, there was an ominous air in the boardroom. Nobody started a discussion, however, and the appointment was made, President Magner's vote deciding a tie. Directors Brewer, Evered and Boyer voted for the appointment, and Directors Nelson, Barnes and Stevens against it.

Plea for Home Teachers.

The recommendation of the committee on schools and teachers that no teacher shall be employed in the Duluth schools who has not had one or more years of practical experience developed quite an acrimonious discussion. Mr. Barnes raised the first objection, announcing that he was unalterably opposed to such a rule. He said Duluth girls and graduates of the Duluth normal have proved themselves competent in the past and that such a rule should not be operated against them.

"We don't propose to have our schools a training school for Superior teachers," said Superintendent Denfeld. "Superior has this rule in operation and I am besieged every year with applications from graduates for the Superior normal for positions for one year so that they may obtain positions at home. It is the same with Minneapolis and other cities. They will not employ a teacher without experience and we have been giving the teachers experience so that they might obtain positions elsewhere."

Director Stevens protested against the rule. He said that he has never heard that the Duluth schools are hampered by too many Duluth teachers. The Normal school is preparing teachers and they should be given an opportunity to teach in Duluth, he said. He pointed out that Superintendent Denfeld has made trips to normal schools in this and other states to look over graduating classes, and said that graduates of high standing from the Duluth normal should not be passed by.

Supt. Denfelds and Director Boyer protested that the rule was not aimed at home girls. Dr. Boyer said home girls would be given every consideration, but that the board asked them to get one year of experience before applying at home. He said that with the salaries now being paid by Duluth, the board may make its requirements more rigid and get better teachers. He said that the efficiency of the schools should be considered before anything else. Director Nelson spoke along similar lines, saying that he didn't believe the board should ask the superintendent for the best results unless it could give him experienced, competent teachers.

The vote on the rule showed Directors Brewer, Boyer, Evered and Nelson for it and Directors Barnes, Stevens and Magner against.

The action by which L. A. Larson, chief engineer of the schools for eight years, was dropped and Alex Stewart appointed, has been brewing for some time. The new appointment was no surprise, although it was made by a close vote, three directors standing for Mr. Larson.

Open Air School.

A communication was submitted to the board by Mrs. Robert Smith, chairman of the educational committee of the Woman's Council, asking that the board take steps to establish an open-air school for tubercular children. Dr. Boyer suggested that the medical inspectors be instructed to report on the number of tubercular children in the city and attending school.

There was some question as to the advisability of establishing such a school at this time on account of the small number of children affected and the necessity of transporting them a long distance to any central location. Sentiment favorable to the establishment of such a school as soon as possible was expressed and the matter was laid over until a report could be received from the medical inspectors.

A delegation of women from Woodland and Hunter's park appeared to ask that a kindergarten department be opened in the Washburn school. Supt. Denfeld said that children 5 years of age, the youngest that may be taken, have been received at the Washburn school and given kindergarten work. He assured the delegation that he would see that all children over 5 years of age were cared for at the Washburn.

New School District.

Jerome Merritt school district was fixed as the territory lying south of the Missabe tracks, north of the Northern Pacific tracks, east of the middle of Forty-sixth avenue west and west of the middle of Thirty-seventh avenue west. The Oneota school district will extend only to the south of the Northern Pacific tracks in the future.

The recommendation of the committee on schools and teachers that no married woman, living with her husband, be employed as a teacher in the Duluth schools unless the husband is incapacitated through illness or injury, was adopted without question by the board.

The committee on schools and teachers announced that the Bay View Heights school will be opened as usual Tuesday. A communication received last evening from Riverside Park people, asking that the Collyville school be reopened this year, was referred to the committee on schools and teachers.

The committee on maintenance of buildings and grounds was authorized to conclude negotiations for the purchase of a site for a school at Woodland Park. The site is described as block 6, Woodland Park, Second division.

High School Lunch Room.

The question of the high school lunch room is still unsettled. Supt. Denfeld's report on the matter last evening was as follows:

"Several days ago a committee from the women's clubs of the city called upon me in the interest of the lunch room. These women seem very anxious to have the lunchroom open. I suggested to them that they present a plan to the board of education which would insure their co-operation in this matter, and in case no great expense were involved, the board would listen to their request, in all probability, and aid in the opening of the lunchroom. The greatest difficulty is the bookkeeping connected with the same. If this lunchroom could be divorced entirely from the school management and turned over to the ladies on a certain guarantee, i. e., to reimburse them in case they fell far behind, or to aid in any way in conducting the same, it would relieve the school authorities of a responsibility and not multiply the work. I do not know as there is any one connected with the system, certainly not with the department of the clerk, who could give much time to purchasing, general care for or supervising the lunchroom. It certainly is out of the question to ask the teacher of domestic science to look into this matter, because there will be all that she can do to get her department working in order and to carry it on as it should be. I am ready and anxious to co-operate, and if a lunchroom could be opened that would be entirely satisfactory, it might be well patronized by the pupils of the high school and teachers. It certainly would be a great convenience and might stop the children running into candy stores and getting a lunch not sufficiently substantial and wholesome."

FACTS IN A NUTSHELL

Duluth, Minn., July 1, 1911.

Mr. Don Carlos W. Musser, Sec. Finance Committee, Duluth, Minn.

Dear Sir:

In your capacity as Secretary to the Finance Committee of the Kamloops Copper company, I desire to call your attention to a few facts that may be of interest:

1. We have operated the Iron Mask mine for nearly three years.

2. This mine has shipped to the Granby, Trail and Tyee smelters over three hundred thousand dollars in ore.

3. Over $1,100,000.00 have been spent in developing and equipping this mine.

4. Our last daily report from the mine, June 24, shows net output of $349.18 at a cost of $170.00 for that eight-hour day. If our power were sufficient to operate twenty-four hours per day, with the present hourly capacity, we could produce $1,047.00 at an operating expense of $270.00. With the new power plant and aerial tramway we could increase the production by 50 per cent without adding to our present operating expense.

5. All the stock sold, 61,000 shares, was sold in pool, by members, and without advertising or agents.

6. Our secretary is the only salaried official our company has.

7. We have a proven, producing mine with four-fifths--4-5--of its capital stock still intact in the treasury, and our funds are expended in increasing our production.

8. Special concessions cannot be made to any one regardless of his position or influence, because speculative or promotion features have been entirely eliminated from this enterprise.

In conclusion, let me draw your attention to the fact that there has never been a call made for the balance or the difference between the $5 per share, actually paid for the stock sold, and its par value, $10 per share, the price it was sold at. And owing to the fact we still have four-fifths of our stock in the treasury, it does not seen possible for the necessity for such a call to arise, and no stockholder can be more anxious to avoid a call of this kind than are the present officers and directors of the company, as the burden would fall most heavily upon them.

Yours truly,
E. G. WALLINDER,
President Kamloops Copper Co.

Wife and Children of Thomas Kelley Destitute After His Death.

Mrs. Alice L. Kelley and her two children Douglas, 6 years old, and Doris 4 years old, will be deported to England. They will leave for New York with United States Immigration Officer Brown McDonald tomorrow evening, and sail from New York on the steamer Campania of the Cunard line on Sept. 6.

Mrs. Kelley came to the United States with her husband, Thomas Kelley, and three children on Jan. 13, 1911. Mabel Kelley, the oldest child, is 16 years old, and is Mrs. Kelley's step child. She is now in Chicago, where she is being cared for by Mr. Kelley's brother.

Mr. Kelley came here three years ago, and lived at Hibbing for one year, after which he returned to England. Finding that he could not secure work there to support his family, he borrowed $240 from friends in Hibbing and brought his family here.

Owing to ill health he was unable to do any hard work, but managed to get some position as watchman with one of the mining companies. His ill health, it is claimed, was due to the ravages of diseases he had contracted while in the English army in Africa. He died on June 3, at Hibbing.

The fact that they had become public charges, and that the family had come here on borrowed money formed the basis upon which the petition was made to have the family deported.

HARKNESS IN DULUTH

Owner of Wrecked Yacht Says There Is No Hope of Raising Her.

William L. Harkness of New York, the owner of the yacht Gunilda, which was wrecked last Tuesday on the north shore of Lake Superior, near Rossport, accompanied by his wife and daughter and their maid, and J. H. Harding and wife and their two children, is registered at the Spalding today.

To a Herald representative Mr. Harkness stated that there was nothing that he might say regarding the loss of his yacht that has not been said in press dispatches.

"The wreck will prove a total loss," he said. "When the wrecking machine got hold of her she was pulled, like ore might lift on the edge of an object, and turned completely over. Her houses filled with water and she sank to the bottom. Divers have sounded to a depth of over 500 feet and have not touched bottom. There is no hope whatever of raising the boat."

Mr. Harkness and the members of his party will leave Duluth tomorrow for their homes in the East.

Busy Day in Harbor.

September opened with activity at the local port, for on the first day of the month seventeen vessels with about 120,000 tons of ore, left the harbor, while five lumber boats with capacity loads departed, and two carried merchandise. Of the arrivals six carried coal, one merchandise and another was a passenger vessel. By noon today nine vessels left with ore, while four entered with coal and one with merchandise. The Hamonic, of the Northern Navigation company had about 300 passengers.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

COBB AND JACKSON.

Batting Leaders in Major Leagues Have Small Margins.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—With but 12 points to spare, Ty Cobb, of the Detroits, still is leading as premier batsman of the American league with an average of .417. Joe Jackson of Cleveland is pressing him hard for first honor with an average of .405. Napoleon La Joie of Cleveland, who is batting .399 is third in the race.

In the National league, Jackson of Boston, who has only played in twenty-five games this season, is leading with an average of .382, while Hans Wagner of Pittsburg, is second with an average of .354. "Chief" Meyers, catcher of the New York Giants, is third with a mark of .339.

McLOUGHLIN WINS.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 2.—The challenger of William A. Larned of Summit, N. J., for the national lawn tennis championship will be Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco, who today defeated Beals C. Wright of Boston, in the finals of the all-comers' tournament, three sets to one. The scores were 6-4, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2. Except in the second set and for a few games in the third set McLoughlin was always master of the situation.

LONG AUTO TRIP ENDS

Duluthians Return After Touring the East in Their Car.

From Buffalo to New York, Returning Via Twin Cities.

Thomas A. Merritt and Mrs. Merritt and their two sons, George and Carleton, reached Duluth at 10 o'clock this morning, completing one of the longest automobile trips ever made by any Duluthians. The trip was made in a Garford 40, and over the hundreds of miles traveled there was scarcely a mishap to mar the pleasure of the tour. George Merritt drove the car every mile of the journey.

Leaving Duluth July 4 on the Octorara, Mr. Merritt and his family had the car shipped to Buffalo. From Buffalo to the very end of the journey, which terminated here this morning, every mile was traveled by auto. Mr. Merritt attended the Shrine meeting at Rochester and from that point traveled over the magnificent roads of New York state. Syracuse and Watertown were stopped at, and also Cape Vincent, Alexandria and the Thousand Islands.

Ogdensburg and Potsdam were touched at and then the trip led straight south up to the Racket river and into the heart of the Adirondacks, through some of the most beautiful and picturesque scenery in the world.

At Homenest is the summer home of Miss Agnes Wells of this city. Her home is built in one of the most beautiful spots in the mountains. A short visit was made with Miss Wells.

From here the trip was continued on to Elizabethtown and Plattsburg. Returning on the east side of Lake Champlain, by way of Burlington and Rutland, Vermont, the journey back to Albany and New York followed for some distance the majestic course of the Hudson. A trip was taken to Philadelphia, thence back to New York, Albany, Syracuse and Buffalo, to Cleveland, Elyria, Ohio, Toledo, Chicago, Madison, Baraboo, Wis., Winona, Minn., St. Paul and home.

Before starting on the trip Mr. Merritt took a large bunch of the Duluth folders, telling of the attractions of Duluth. Before the journey was completed another large package was shipped to them, and these were also given out along the different stages of the journey.

On the leg of the trip from Toledo to Chicago, 243 miles was made in one day. The roads were excellent, almost at every step of the long journey, all but one short stretch, and though a Duluth man may be ashamed to say it, that stretch lies between Duluth and the Twin Cities.

"In the different parts of the East," said Mr. Merritt, "we met quite a number of people who had traveled by auto from the different cities of the East to St. Paul and Minneapolis. They had intended to visit Duluth, but upon being informed that the roads were in wretched condition, did not come here.

"The state of New York has expended $50,000,000 upon its roads. It costs something like $10,000 a mile to construct roads in New York state, because most of the roads are made of crushed rock. In Minnesota, especially in the northern part of the state, we can construct roads of gravel at 25 per cent of this cost, and yet we have the worst roads in the country.

"On the main road between Buffalo and New York we passed over 1,000 automobiles by actual count. When we had counted a thousand we stopped counting. The roads are great and the state of New York is getting its money back in the money that is spent by tourists from the outside.

"Beyond Atkinson there is three miles of road that some of the members of the Duluth Automobile club, and also some of the public spirited citizens of this city, should see. This road has been constructed by road graders under the direction of some competent engineer, and is an example of the kind of road we should have in this part of the state."

Mrs. Merritt joins with her husband and two sons in saying the trip was the finest that could have possibly been taken. With roads such as were traveled over during most of the journey, automobiling is as comfortable as riding in a Pullman, according to the members of the family party.

Advertising has made "oaks" of many businesses that were simply acorns.

Greatest Institute for Curing Men's Ailments of All Kinds

WE POINT WITH PRIDE to the endless number of cures we have effected. Our success is the result of superior knowledge gained by years of conscientious study and experience in diseases or weaknesses peculiar to men.

Longest Established, Most Successful and Reliable Specialist in Diseases of Men. For over 20 years in Duluth.

There is nothing doubtful or experimental about our method of treatment. We know just what can be done by our modern and advanced methods, and we do not hold out false inducements and promise more. Our name has been a household synonym for many years owing to our long establishment in Duluth and to our remarkable success in the treatment and cure of the class of ailments that constitute our specialty.

We have investigated and tested all known methods for the treatment and cure of diseases and weaknesses of men, which gives us the right to judge between the false and the true—between shallow pretension and solid worth—between substance and shadow. Musty and ancient theories and methods cannot stand out against our advanced modes of treatment, against progressive medical science and undisputed evidence of hundreds and hundreds of cases cured. All that expert skill, vast experience and scientific attainment can accomplish are now being done for those who apply to us for the help they need.

If you are suffering from any of the diseases or weaknesses peculiar to men call and consult us in time. The least expense is always incurred through the early employment of genuine professional skill. It will cost you much less to secure proper treatment at the commencement than to experiment and place yourself under the doubtful ability of a mediocre. It is better to be safe than sorry.

All our professional dealings with our patients are treated as sacredly confidential between ourselves. We do not publish testimonial letters, photographs or prices, thereby disclosing your secrets to the world. Men can repose confidence in us and our treatment and be restored to a healthful condition without receiving undesirable publicity. It has required years of conscientious study and experience to establish such a reputation. We have been for over 20 years in Duluth, have spent $10,000 for the scientific equipment of our office. We believe in fair dealings and honest methods, which together with our experience, skill and ability, are the only qualifications and conditions that can really GUARANTEE a cure. We cure by the latest and best methods, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Diseases of the Stomach, Rheumatism, Nervous Diseases, Lost Energy, Obstructions, Varicose Veins, Blood Poison, Eczema, Pimples, Skin Diseases, Piles, Rupture, Kidney and Bladder Diseases and all Lingering and Special Disease of Men, and their complication in the Shortest Possible Time and at the lowest cost for Skillful Service and Successful Treatment.

FALLS EIGHTEEN STORIES.

Elevator in Masonic Temple Drops With Four Men.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Four men were injured, two seriously, when a passenger elevator fell eighteen stories in the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon The car was in charge of Jacob Schmidt, the operator, and had three passengers when it descended from the top of the building. At the eighteenth floor the car became unmanageable and plunged to the bottom of the shaft. Schmidt and Jacob Dolski were seriously injured. Dr. Frederick A. Jefferson and Alexander Scolnek were slightly injured.

The accident caused excitement among occupants of the building, which is twenty-two stories high and one of the largest office structures in the downtown district.

PEOPLES' BREWING COMPANY

The Peoples' Brewing company has gone ahead with rapid strides since its inception a few years ago. Its business has grown at a remarkable rate, until now it extends not only to the ranges but to all of Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin. From the beginning the men in charge went on the basis that the business should be founded on merit, and have consistently followed that view. Although the company has been organized but little more than four years, the second annual dividend was declared at a recent meeting of the stockholders.. The stockholders gathered at the office of the plant at Forty-second avenue west and Traverse street. Frank G. Sandstedt was unanimously re-elected president. M. Gleason was chosen vice president; A. W. Anderson, treasurer; and Theodore G. Frerker, secretary. The brewery was built by capital from Duluth and the ranges. The most modern lines were followed and it is a model of its kind. Special attention has been paid to the sanitary features. They are the best which money can make them, and no expense is spared to keep them absolutely free from all impurities. Only the highest grade products go into the beer and the employes who have charge of its making are men who have had years of experience, coming here from Germany, where beer making has been reduced to the highest art. The brewing is given the most careful attention at every stage of the process, from the time the ingredients are mixed until they are bottled. That the product has been appreciated is attested by the big gains in the business of the company from year to year.

FORCE AVIATOR TO FATAL FLIGHT

Norton, Kan., Sept. 2.—John J. Frisbie, the Curtis aviator, was killed by a fall at the Norton county fair yesterday. Frisbie met with an accident Thursday and only went into the air again when driven to do so by the taunts and jeers of the crowds.

Frisbie fell about 100 feet and the engines of his aeroplane fell on him, crushing his left side and chest. He lingered for about an hour before he died.

Frisbie has been giving exhibitions at Elmwood park for several days. Thursday his craft acted badly and he had a fall of about forty feet, but beyond bruises and a shaking-up, was not injured.

Jeered By Crowd.

He was skeptical about the ability of his machine to stand another flight, and announced that he would not fly yesterday afternoon, but when this statement was communicated to the crowd, there was an angry demonstration. The spectators hooted and shouted "faker" and refused to listen to explanations.

It was then Frisbie announced than rather have the big crowd leave with the impression that he was not willing to do his best, he would attempt a flight. He ascended without difficulty, but in attempting to make a turn, the plane tipped and Frisbie lost control.

As he came crashing to the earth the spectators could see the aviator trying to right the machine, but as it approached the ground one of the wings crashed into a barn and the biplane, glancing off, struck the earth with Frisbie underneath.

Fiesy at Chicago.

Frisbie's wife, son and little girl were witnesses of the accident. Mrs. Frisbie fainted when she saw her husband fall. Last night she bitterly denounced the action of the spectators in forcing her husband to make the flight with a disabled machine. Frisbie is well known among the aviators, having been a participant in the recent big meet at Chicago.

Queer Bird Nest.

The tontobane, a bird of South Africa builds nests of cotton, on the trees that produce it only. In the construction the female works inside and the male outside. Then the male builds himself a sentinel box near, where he keeps watch. He never enters the nest with the rest of the family, but keeps his sentry post and warns the family of approaching danger. The man of every family should keep watch to see that only perfect tonic nourishing golden grain belt beers are served in his home. Buy of your dealer or duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

NO CRIMINALITY IN CANNONSBURG DISASTER.

Canonsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—The coroner's jury which held an inquest into the panic of last Saturday night during a moving picture show at the Canonsburg opera house, when twenty-six persons were killed and several scores were injured, has returned a verdict censuring the manager of the theater and the state department of factory and building inspection, but declaring it is unable to find any one criminally guilty.

C. P. Ferguson, manager of the theater, was condemned for not providing police protection for the premises, while the state department of factory and building inspection is censured for approving the narrow street entrance leading to the auditorium of the theater.

MAN WHO STABBED JUDGE IS SENT TO AN ASYLUM.

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—Dick Johnson, accused of attacking and stabbing Judge Thomas D. Carnahan of Pittsburg, Aug. 18 last, when the judge ordered Johnson away from his country place, was adjudged insane and taken to an asylum. Judge Carnahan was stabbed in the breast. He said he did not want to prosecute, owing to Johnson's mental condition.

CONVINCED SON IS DEAD

Mother Abandons Hope That Ray Nelson Reached Shore Alive.

Lake Helen Is Deep and Recovery of Bodies Is Doubtful.

Searchers have abandoned all hope that the three Canadian Northern engineers, Ray Nelson of Duluth and R. H. McCoy and C. A. Drum of Oregon, whose overturned canoe was found floating in Lake Helen, Ontario, have survived drowning, and the Canadian Northern road has offered a reward of $50 each for the recovery of the bodies.

Mrs. Anna Nelson, 1431 Jefferson street, said this morning that she had at last given up hope that her son had reached shore, as it is certain that he would have been heard from before this if he had done so.

Water in Lake Helen, where the accident is thought to have taken place, is 100 feet deep in places and the recovery of the bodies is extremely doubtful in consequence. The party of three left camp for town, nine miles away, in the canoe, and this was the last seen of them. The overturned canoe was found next day by a searching party, and for some time hope was entertained that they had reached shore and were making their way laboriously back to camp. The length of time which has elapsed has dispelled even this hope, however.

Ray Nelson has been on the job as stakeman for the Canadian Northern all summer. When at home he had lived with his widowed mother on Jefferson street. McCoy, who was resident engineer, was 48 years old, and leaves a wife and children in Spokane. Drum, assistant, was 19 years of age, and was also a resident of Oregon.

HOTEL GUESTS ARE AROUSED

But Yells of "Hold Up Your Hands" Came From Policeman.

Guests at the Holland hotel were awakened early this morning by repeated yells of "Hold up your hands." The yells seemed to come from a very noisy hold-up man operating on the avenue or in the alley near the building, but later developments showed that the yells came from Officer John Englert, who had Ernest Jackson cornered in a saloon at 507 West Superior street.

The officer saw Jackson crawling through a rear window of the saloon. When Englert reached the window, the man had gained entrance. The policeman, fearing the intruder was armed, pulled his own gun and commanded the man inside to throw up his hands. Jackson wasn't in a hurry to comply and it looked to the officer as though he were reaching for a gun. The yells of the officer as he threatened to shoot Jackson awakened the guests in the hotel.

The hotel clerk telephoned the police station for the wagon and Englert was still holding Jackson at bay with his gun when assistance arrived.

In municipal court this morning, Jackson waived examination on a charge of burglary and was held to the grand jury.

MAYOR O'LEARY NOW CANDIDATE

East Grand Forks Executive Changes Mind and Will Enter Race.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city is facing an interesting political fight in which Mayor J. J. O'Leary will be one factor and in which it is probable that Fred Fogle will be his principal opponent. The recent complaints that were registered with Governor Eberhart against the police will have an important bearing on the fight for mayor.

Mayor O'Leary only a week ago announced positively that he would not again be a candidate for mayor, but at a general meeting of his supporters, held during the week, he was induced to reconsider, and announced then that he would make the race for the third time, he being near the close of his second term at the present time.

GLYNDON GIRL KILLED.

Is Run Down By Fast Northern Pacific Train.

Glyndon, Minn., Sept. 2. — While crossing the Northern Pacific tracks here Wednesday afternoon the 10-year-old daughter of Mrs. Gus Lindahl was truck by the North Coast Limited, a fast train, and killed.

The child, it is said, walked around the end of a freight train caboose, which was on the crossing, and was wholly unaware of the approaching passenger train. Immediately after clearing the caboose the girl was struck by the oncoming passenger and was thrown a distance of seventy-five feet in front of the train. The latter was stopped as quickly as possible. When the body of the girl was reached it was found she was dead, but not so badly mutilated as was expected by eye witnesses of accident. Coroner Vincent of Clay county was sent for, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Boy Kicked and Burned.

Valley City, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Roy McIntyre, the boy whose body was found in the ashes of a big barn fire at Cuba, came to his death as a result of being kicked by a horse, is the finding of an investigation. It was supposed that the boy was in the hayloft at the time the fire started and that he was unable to get out, but the position in which the body was found, together with the fact that there are indications of marks from blows, suggests that he met his death in some other manner.

JOY SCHEME DONKEY CONTEST
POSITIVELY CLOSES WHEN GABRIEL BLOWS HIS HORN

Count the spots on Maud, the wonderful African zebra; walks on four feet, and has two eyes. For fear you have not the time nor the inclination to count them, we will state that the correct number is somewhere between 12 and 14.

To persons sending us the nearest correct solution of this wonderful contest we will give, positively free, without fear or favor, a piano catalogue. To the persons sending us the nearest correct estimate of the real value of a "bond certificate," "piano credit bill," "piano gold bond," issued by any firm, anywhere, any time, for any sum, we will part company with one brand new $185.00 piano for the small sum of only $185.00, or we will raise the price to $298.00 and allow you $100.00 for the "piano certificate," alias "credit bill," alias "gold bond," et al, and pay the JOY SCHEME promoter $25.00 for making you joyful and fool you into believing that you are getting something for nothing.

Mr. Dooley says: "When you find a man trying to give you something for nothing call a policeman" Mrs. McGuire says: "Folks that are honestly looking for a chance to give away something for nothing are just about as rare as swallows in January." Dr. Lyman Bill says: "Thousands of people are poor and keep constantly and miserably poor on account of their desire to get something for nothing."

GRAND FORKS TO OBSERVE LABOR DAY.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city will have a big celebration Monday, the plans for which have been worked out by the Grand Forks Trades & Labor assembly. The city has declared a half-holiday on account of Labor day.

The festival under the direction of the general assembly will take place in Riverside park, and the speakers of the day will be Mayor M. F. Murphy and J. F. T. O'Connor, while a program of sports and other amusements will follow.

Is Birch Coulee Survivor.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas E. Byrnes, employed as an elevator operator in the St. Paul city hall, will celebrate the anniversary of the battle of Birch Coulee today. He is the sole survivor in St. Paul of the soldiers who stood off the Sioux for thirty-six hours until help arrived.

BETTER TONE NOTED IN TRADE

New York, Sept. 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says:

A better tone is noted in general trade, not alone in New York city, but in almost all jobbing centers of the West and South.

New construction work is being pushed with vigor as indicated by the very heavy bookings of structural steel shapes. This is by far the most active of the finished departments of iron and steel, and, if present demand is maintained, the volume of business during the current year is expected to surpass even the high record of 1906. Railroad buying however suggests that expenditures are still being limited. Although recent rail sales total about 25,000 tons and contracts for some 20,000 tons are reported pending, with a considerable tonnage in view for export. Advices from the Pittsburg district notes more favorable conditions in inquiries in the market for delivery and over the first quarter of 1912, but some reluctance is shown to accept business that far ahead. A fair volume of business is noted in primary and secondary dry goods markets, cotton goods buying having been stimulated a little by the revision of staples in prints. Purchasing of print cloths is decidedly better, one printer being reported to have purchased 250,000 pieces of wide print cloths for delivery this year. Converters are also placing more business for forward delivery on odd styles and there is some increase in the inquiry for brown and bleached cottons. Prices incline to greater stability, but as a whole the market is undergoing readjustment. There is more trading in dress goods, and a better house trade is noted in the past week than in any week of the fall season. There is a better call for stock goods and little inclination to expect concessions in anything seasonable either of fancy worsted or wool goods.

Trade in footwear is of fair proportions with the volume of sales somewhat larger than a while ago, but little 'improvement' is noted over last week. Wholesalers and retailers are buying close to actual needs and are consequently in the market frequently. Further strength has developed in domestic hides and especially in the packer market, with sales at ¼@½c above the low point of a fortnight ago. Foreign hides are mostly unchanged. Leather is in steady demand, but in most kinds orders are of moderate quantities.

L. K. Daughterty, who is in the hardware business at 501 East Fourth street, has been established in Duluth the last nineteen years and has built up a large business out of the high-rent district. In addition to one of the most complete stocks of hardware in the city, he has made a specialty of handling all kinds of farm machinery and paints. In selecting his farm machinery he has made it a point to get that which is particularly adapted to conditions found in the country tributary to Duluth. His son is associated with him in the business. They have taken a prominent place in the development of Fourth street, and have been largely instrumental in making it the business thoroughfare which it is today. Mr. Daugherty is one of the oldest and best known citizens of Duluth, and in forwarding the interests of the section along Fourth street and the hillside he has not neglected to take a deep interest in the general affairs of the city.

WANTED---MEN!

In no state in the Union is there greater need that the people should awake to their public interests than there is in Minnesota.

In the governor's chair sits a man who permits the railroads and other special interests to ride rampant up and down the state and over the boundaries fixed by every instinct of fair play, while he trifles with petty political scheming and fills his time with puny and undebatable affairs.

The Minnesota legislature, though it has been damned beyond its deserts in public discussion and in the press, is not of the caliber that a great state like Minnesota needs and deserves. It contains some few men of ability and courage and patriotism; but it contains many who are venal or feeble or futile.

The situation, because of the people's negligence or indifference, is absolutely at the command of a coterie of professional politicians who are in politics not to serve public interests, but to serve private interests.

The following, from Farm, Stock and Home, is timely and right, and it deserves the consideration of every public-spirited citizen of Minnesota:

"The time has come in the state of Minnesota, as it came to Wisconsin, and must, sooner or later, come to North Dakota and Montana, to take stock of our resources, physical and political and moral. It is time that the people shake off the grip of the railroads, the breweries, the lumber combine and whatever other forces ally themselves with these, write their own political platforms, cast off the discredited leaders of both parties, and select as leaders men who will run the state, not in the interest of Big Business, but for and with the people.

"Farm, Stock and Home does not care whether the next governor of Minnesota be Democrat or Republican, but it does insist that he may be a man of and with the common man. It does not care what party nominates the next railroad commissioner, but it does demand that the next candidate for that office shall stand absolutely free from all suspicion of railway domination. Farm, Stock and Home does not stand committed to any party or faction of a party, but it does say that the next legislature must be organized in behalf of the people as against the influences that have dominated in legislatures past and gone.

> "What this state needs is clean, backboned honesty in the executive chair and in the legislature—honesty that is not content to sit in smug self-righteousness, but dares to break the unhallowed connection between Big Business and the state, whatever may be the cost.

"Such a leadership is coming. It is coming direct from the people, and it is coming at the next election. When men tell you that reform legislation should come only when the time is ripe, answer 'The time for reform is here! Not after our water powers are stolen and our lands are filched and our earnings eaten up by discriminating railroad rates, and there is nothing left to steal, but NOW do we expect, and we will NOW have, adequate legislation in behalf of the people.' Say that, and from the ranks will come a leader to do for Minnesota what La Follette did for Wisconsin, what Wilson has done for New Jersey, and what Johnson is doing for California. And that sort of a leader, with our sort of people behind him, will win."

This needed to be said, and said now; and Farm, Stock and Home has said it well.

Minnesota needs the greatest political shaking-up in its history, and that can come only from the people; from an awakened, enlightened, determined and aggressive people. Its state government needs to be shaken from cellar to dome, and its public affairs need to be divorced from Big Business and pledged anew to the common good. Only the people can accomplish it.

NOT DULUTH, PLEASE.

Discussing the fact that the Federal census shows a gain of 38.6 per cent in urban population in Minnesota, and of only 7.7 per cent in rural population, the Owatonna Journal-Chronicle says:

"In studying these figures it is well to remember that it is mainly the big cities, St. Paul, Duluth and Minneapolis, which provide this vast increase, and they are fattened by all kinds of special privileges and discriminations by the railroads which enable them to concentrate manufacturing and jobbing in those cities. Bear these figures in mind when considering how far you want the big cities to dominate the legislature."

We submit it to the Journal-Chronicle's sense of fair play that it isn't nice to put Duluth in such company, when today Duluth is battling before the interstate commerce commission against discriminatory rates which shackle its growth as the growth of no other Minnesota city is shackled. And in that battle Duluth is fighting the fight of every other community in the state which has reason to complain of discriminatory rates. The fact is that Duluth has no more special privileges in freight rates or service than a rabbit; and that even the God-given privilege of access to cheap water transportation has been taken away from it by railroad discrimination.

INTERFERENCE OR TRICKERY?

The other day The Herald asked why it is that the nomination of candidates for congressman-at-large from Minnesota next year is to be made by the state conventions instead of at the primary election.

The Minneapolis Journal responds with the statement that the state is helpless in this matter, because the reapportionment bill as it passed congress and was signed by the president provides that candidates for congressman-at-large shall be nominated in the same manner as candidates for governor.

Therefore, though the Minnesota law plainly provides that congressional candidates shall be nominated by the people at the primary election, according to the Journal the only thing to do is to nominate the candidates for congressman-at-large at the conventions.

Of course, The Herald knew of this provision in the reapportionment law; but even if it applies to Minnesota, still The Herald asks why this important nomination has been taken away from the people and turned over to the bosses that rule conventions.

What business is it of congress how nominations are made?

The Constitution gives congress control over the election of congressmen, but in all the history of the country that power of control never has been exerted. The states have nominated and elected congressmen under their own laws, and there have been no Federal laws to govern congressional elections.

But the Constitution does not give congress control over the nomination of congressmen, and this thing of congress telling the people of Minnesota that they cannot nominate their candidates for congressman-at-large but must turn the function over to boss-controlled conventions is new business entirely.

But there is another very curious thing about this situation, and that is that in all probability Minnesota is the only state where it can have any such bearing.

Many states have primary election laws, but if there is another state with a congressman-at-large to elect where the primary election law is limited to a part of the officers and does not apply to state offices, as the case is in Minnesota, the records do not show it.

In states where candidates for governor are nominated by the primary election system, of course candidates for congressman-at-large will be nominated in the same way.

In states where there is no primary election system, candidates for congressman-at-large will be nominated by state conventions.

But in Minnesota there is a primary election law that applies to all except state officers and very minor municipal offices, but the convention system still rules the nomination of state officers, from the governor down.

So by a very curious coincidence the law of the state of Minnesota is to be over-ridden by a law of congress which applies only to this state.

And there is another curious coincidence.

About the time congress was putting through its reapportionment measure, ex-Senator Ed Smith, sponsor for Governor Eberhart and boss of the Republican party of Minnesota, was in Washington.

This may explain how it happened that congress undertook the unprecedented thing of dictating the manner of congressional nomination in this state by over-riding a state law.

CY YOUNG'S SECRET.

The Hon. Cy Young has amazed everybody by staying in the game long after the ordinary run of ballplayers have either been overtaken by death or fat or dissipation or stiff joints, and have dropped through the customary route by way of the bush league into oblivion.

Cy Young has pitched in the national game for more than twenty years. He has been a good pitcher, too, and it was only the other day that he received his first jolt in the shape of a release from the team of which he had been a member. He won something like 500 games, and in other respects his performance has been remarkable.

He has held his own in the game longer than any other player has been known to do, and that fact made it interesting to know how he accounts for it. Somebody asked him the other day, and he said that as near as he could make out it was because he was TEMPERATE IN ALL THINGS.

That explanation is so thoroughly reasonable that there is no need of looking any further.

There are many recipes for living long and maintaining endurance and efficiency, but there are none to beat that.

It is easy enough to say that you can keep up your efficiency and live long if you eat this and don't eat that, or if you do this and don't do that; but recipes after these formulas are all complicated, hard to remember and harder to follow. Cy Young's recipe, though perhaps hard enough to follow, is simplicity itself and easy to remember.

And it has the additional merit that it isn't so strict as some others, in a way. For instance, if you are temperate in all things, you can eat a little of some of the things that you know you oughtn't to eat for the good of the stomach—and usually these are the things you like best. Eating a little of these things is bad, of course; but when you are temperate about it it isn't nearly so bad as it is when you indulge yourself without limit. Better not to have them at all, of course; but being temperate in their use is nearly as good as not using them, unless they are habit-forming things the use of which tends to make temperance impossible.

Being temperate doesn't mean only being temperate in the use of liquor and tobacco. It means lots of things besides that. It means being temperate in your eating, above all; for intemperate eating breeds about as much ill health and inefficiency and death as intemperate drinking. It means being temperate in your emotions, too; for giving away to a fit of anger is as exhausting and as wearing as over-eating or over-drinking.

Being temperate in all things, eating a little less than you can eat, eating plain food and being especially temperate about the fancy stuff, going lightly on tobacco and liquor—better none at all of these, of course,—not over-working or over-idling; this forms a pretty good rule for a long life, a useful life and a happy life.

UNINTENTIONALLY, OF COURSE.

In its comments on The Herald's canvass of the legislature regarding an increase in railroad taxation at an extra session of the legislature, the Minneapolis Journal succeeds admirably in missing the real point.

Though Minneapolis and the Journal are against an extra session, of course this failure to grasp the point is wholly unintentional.

The Journal slurs over the fact that enough votes are pledged to pass a law increasing railroad taxes through both branches of the legislature, and plays up strongly the fact that a majority of the members did not go on record as favoring an extra session.

The point it slurs over is the real point and the only important point. What The Herald wanted to know, and what the state wanted to know, was whether, if the legislature were called together, it would pass a law raising the railroad tax rate. If it would not do so, it would be folly to call the extra session. If it would do so, it would be folly not to call it.

That question was answered by The Herald's canvass. Though only a few more than a majority of each house is pledged to act, the fact is, as Representative R. C. Dunn said in his letter to The Herald, that a bill increasing railroad taxes would have few or no votes cast against it.

Whether or not the members of the legislature want a special session is immaterial; as immaterial, for instance, as whether or not the governor of this state, consulting only his own pleasure and interests, wants an extra session. The Herald was surprised by the large number of members who did approve the extra session plan, considering the fact that it would mean that they would have to serve without pay and at considerable personal sacrifice. The showing is highly creditable to the legislature, and shows it to be not such a spiritless and futile body as some people have charged.

The legislature, the people and the free press of the state are back of the demand for higher railroad taxes and an extra session.

What will Governor Adolph O. Eberhart do about it?

ANNEXATION CLAPTRAP.

This country has humbug and silliness enough in its politics, goodness knows; but it never developed any greater humbug than the annexation bogey with which the Conservatives of Canada are trying to scare the stalwart and sensible people of Canada into rejecting the reciprocity agreement.

Desperate straits mean desperate remedies; and if there were no other evidences that the opponents of reciprocity are fighting a losing battle the nature of this strategy would be enough to prove it.

The Cincinnati Enquirer recently let fall a passing remark which is being used extensively by the Conservatives to prove their theory that reciprocity is nothing but a cloak beneath which the American people are trying to disguise their intention to gobble Canada body and breeches.

It was rather an absurd remark, too, if it was unintentional; and it is to be hoped that it was not made with the deliberate purpose of supplying the Conservatives with ammunition to shoot at reciprocity.

Said the Enquirer: "The political campaign in Canada is at last in full action, and as was evident from the first, the principal argument against reciprocity used by its opponents is that it is the first step toward annexation of Canada by the United States. They are doing the utmost to array the voters against such a union, and if reciprocity wins at this election in despite of such an argument, it can rightfully be claimed that the sentiment of the Canadian electors is not adverse to the proposition."

Which leads the Montreal Star, a leading Conservative newspaper, to say: "It is marvelous that the paid press should persist in the face of accumulating evidence in the contention that the Americans do not want annexation. For some time past, they have not been worrying about what seemed the impossible; and just now they are very careful what they say. But on every tempting or unguarded occasion the hope that is in their heart leaps to light."

So acute is the situation in Canada, and so eager are the Conservatives to pick up any slightest shred of evidence to support their absurd campaign argument, that we hesitate even to be polite about this thing. To say that the United States abhors annexation and wouldn't take Canada as a gift wouldn't be polite; nor would it be true.

But it is true, whether polite or not, that annexation has no place in the thoughts of the average American citizen. There was a time, before Canada got on its own feet, when there was some such talk, not only here but, we believe, in Canada as well. But we have heard none of it for a long time.

If reciprocity means annexation to the Conservatives, it doesn't mean annexation to the average American citizen. It simply means exactly what the Liberals say it is: a move toward freer trade between two sister countries that ought to be enjoying trade as free as air.

Whatever its motive in making it, the Cincinnati Enquirer's conclusion that since annexation has been made an issue the triumph of the reciprocity agreement will mean that Canadians are not against annexation, is absurdly far-fetched and untrue.

Canada needn't worry about annexation. That is too small and too remote a question to be allowed to disturb an honest discussion of the much greater and more important question of whether these two countries shall continue to allow their mutual trade to be interrupted and curtailed by absurd and unnecessary tariff restrictions.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE PUBLIC DANCE HALL AND ITS EVILS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

With your permission I would like to present to your readers a little West First street history.

The time—12 o'clock last Saturday night. The place—The curbstone in front of the Duluth Dancing academy. The chief character—A youth (about 17 years old) cussing and damning, is trying to persuade different groups of young girls on the sidewalk to take a ride in his automobile, which, in company with another, stood at the curb. A few minutes later a third (not having picked up any girls) run in front of the candy store at the corner to persuade other girls to take a ride, still without success, to the disappointment of the fast young man.

The question arises is it for the best interests of our young girls that they shall receive open temptation (where we do not allow street-walkers) from fast young bloods to go out on promiscuous joy-rides at that untimely hour (12 o'clock) and from a public dance hall, which being open to the public, makes it necessary to employ two policemen in the hall to keep order. And shall they then all be let loose on the public sidewalk (like last Saturday night) while the police are at lunch, and shall this noisy, rowdy, squabbling lot of cigarette smokers pollute the Sabbath day in a way that compels decent citizens to take the other sidewalk if they do not expect to be insulted by some callow youth, who has stopped over and is going wrong, while their custodians (our good aldermen) are supposed to be enjoying the sleep of the just. It is all because one man (as against the public good) sees some profit in the venture, after he (through the dancing fees) has charged all the nuisance, dangers and cash expenditure to the public and provided a straight easy way of debauching our young people in defiance of our public custodians.

CLAIM THAT MR. FREY'S CHARGES ARE UNTRUE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In last night's Herald one J. J. Frey writes a criticising and untrue letter about the Grand avenue pavement, which I would like to answer through the columns of your valuable paper.

The sub-grade was properly rolled by the contractor under the inspector's supervision. The sewer and water trenches were filled with approved back-filling. We defy Mr. Frey to show us any instance where clay was used for back-fill. The contractor was even required to remove the clay that was washed in by the heavy rains and fill in with approved back-fill.

The loam that was hauled on the concrete base for a cushion for the bricks instead of sand was promptly removed by the contractor at the inspector's request, and sand screened according to city specifications substituted.

We further challenge Mr. Frey or any one else interested in the Grand avenue pavement to show us any irregularities or deviations from the contract.

Thanking you for the space, we remain yours respectfully,

C. G. VOSS,
Chief Inspector.

HANDING SOMETHING TO THAT BARN KICKER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The writer of this letter has been trying to figure out just why that barn at Forty-seventh should outrage the artistic temperament of your correspondent. It strikes me, for a barn, it is of a very home-like and domiciliary appearance. True, it has a few circus posters on it, but then, some might not be aware that there was a circus in town were it not for these posters. You surely cannot claim that it is insanitary as it is kept in better condition than the majority of the barns in the city not excluding the livery barns right in the heart of the city which house human beings as well as animals and are infinitely more "oderiferous" than the peaceful little barn in question. There is not even a house in very close proximity to the barn, the nearest residence being at least 150 feet distant. The barn is quite unique inasmuch as the owner owns the whole block with the exception of two lots and all this property stands unimproved and furnishes a nice grazing field for his animals.

Now owners of barns do not as a rule accord a whole block of unimproved city property to one barn and it seems to me that as long as there is no residence in closer proximity than 150 feet that it is a harmless sort of a barn, especially as it is well built and of fairly nice appearance. But then I feel quite sure that if it was a question of the barn being too close to a residence, that you would place your bone with the barn on the opposite side of the avenue and a little to the north, as this barn is within twenty-five feet of a residence while the nearest little barn in question is practically half a block from any residence.

In your letter you state very emphatically that you are artistic and it is just possible that the writer is very much of a dilettante and does not possess much art, but nevertheless, I am in favor of overlooking the owner's disapproval of art inasmuch as he has paid more taxes on Lakeside property in the past twenty years than any man living in that suburb and at the present time controls more Lakeside business and residence property, improved and unimproved, than any single individual living there. Moreover, he has furnished continuous employment at Lakeside for twenty years or more, to several men who have families and he has enabled them to become property owners themselves in that beautiful suburb. You should also remember, dear sir, that he has shown a big spirit and faith in the suburb, and that he moved there before there was any such thing as an electric line in the city of Duluth to say nothing of service to Lakeside. I am in no manner interested in the barn, but I truly don't understand why a barn must need be artistic so long as it is homelike. Anyway, I think you are joking and not sincere in your opinion, because if you were, I am sure you would have enough courage to attach your name to your letters to the open court columns. Now, get busy and let us hear from you again, but I promise you that if your letter is unsigned that it will be ignored entirely as I will then know that you are only "kidding."

To Her Lover.

O, love me well—
But love not me alone!
Love the hot sword, the banner, and the song,
The crowded way of sorrow and of wrong,
The dream no tongue can tell,
The enemy prone!
Yea, love not me alone—
But love me well!

O, serve me well,
But serve not me alone!
Serve all who will, the oppressor and the oppressed,
Serve all who will not; bare thine aching breast!
Even though thou hear love's knell
Go bravely on!
Yea, serve not me alone—
But serve me well!
—Harriett Monroe in Hampton's.

WHY THIS FOOLISHNESS?

Mankato Free Press (Rep.): The St. Cloud Journal-Press (Rep.) asks: "Are the persons who are managing Minnesota's affairs of state grown men or school boys, whose tummies are peeved with green apples?

"Superintendent Whittier of the Redwing boys' school is being catechised for being too frequent a spanker of kids who need spanking, and in the course of this examination, his attorney, Frank Wilson, wanted to work off some of his spleen on Governor Eberhart, who ordered the investigation.

"Frank hands in the names of individuals he wants to appear as witnesses, among them being that of the governor.

"The board of control, as a matter of course, gave Wilson the required subpoenas, and thought no more about it—until Artful Meddlesome Hayes, executive clerk at the state capital, butted in with a letter to the board, hurling back the subpoena and the accompanying one dollar and twenty-four cents in great indignation and scorn.

"Frank Wilson calls the governor a two-spot and the governor comes right back with the remark that Frankie is an object of pity.

"The board o feontrol writes a letter to Alfred M. Hayes and says no indignity was intended to his excellency the governor, and Charley Vasaly and Charley Swendson, practically admit they were asleep when Frank Wilson read off the governor's name from his little list, and add a postscript that they never heard it, 'cross my heart if I did.'

"Why should the governor's chore boy get mad because the governor was wanted as a witness in a row that he started himself?

"Why should the board of control apologize for doing their plain duty?

"Why should Frank Wilson and Adolph Olson Eberhart blackguard each other?

"Why, by the dignified shades of Alexander Ramsey, C. K. Davis and John A. Johnson, why?

"Why?"

And the whole people are asking why?

Instead of galavanting all over the country and continually and everlastingly "bloviating" wouldn't it be just as well if the governor retired to his private office and all by his lonesome pause and reflect upon the mistakes I have made," and then resolve to try to do better in the future?

The governor is sadly in need of advisors who will guide him away from the pitfalls which of late have made his administration something of a farce-comedy—with emphasis on the farce.

The Standstiller.

Chicago Daily Socialist: Congressman A. O. Stanley, chairman of the committee which is investigating the steel trust, was in the city yesterday, child-like and bland.

Mr. Stanley announces himself as "an old-fashioned Democrat," and he looks and acts the part. He is a regular standstiller. Taft as a standpatter and middle-of-the-road tenant is outlaureled by the "don't-know-nothing — don't-want-to-know-nothing" Kentuckian.

"I am asking no new thing and proposing no new panaceas. Just follow the law—that's my creed."

That is the staunch Democrat's platform uttered by Mr. Stanley. There is a strong temptation to have fun with one of the relics of this old type of politician when you run across it nowadays. It is hard to be serious with views that are so generally outgrown. Mr. Stanley comes to us as a sample of the past by which we can measure the growth of political economy as a study among the people.

Mr. Stanley further elucidates his views with this gem:

"All I want is to know that Jesse James, Mr. Morgan and every other man, whether he be a 'bull' in Wall street or a common thug somewhere else, is obeying the law as it is written."

Heedless of the fact that Jesse James is dead, he is still bent on enforcing laws that were made for the days of Jesse James.

Once upon a time, instead of aeroplanes and automobiles Americans used two-wheel carts, pulled by oxen in many instances. Mr. Stanley has no deeper purpose than to apply to aeroplanes and automobiles the laws that were made at one time for ox carts. He sees the need of no new laws now and has never seen the need of any. Had it been left to him interstate commerce would still be conducted under laws that ruled the old-fashioned trail.

But there is no occasion for any argument. The type is too rare to argue with. It might be spoiled if drawn into discussion, and as such things can not be preserved in alcohol (no pun on the Kentucky habit meant), they must be protected from all variations in temperature that might destroy their interesting traits as types.

It is interesting to note further that though advocating nothing and opposed to changes, men of this type can sometimes see unerringly into the future and pick out the coming of the very things against which all their standstill nature portests. Mr. Stanley goes direct to the point in discussing Elbert G. Gary's proposition to have the government supervise the trusts.

He says:

"Elbert G. Gary is a Socialist and doesn't know it, and Victor Berger is a Socialist and does. That is the only difference between them.

"And if we endeavor to follow out Gary's ideas of government supervision, we are going to land in Berger's fantastic heaven of government ownership."

"The idea of taking up Gary's plan of government supervision of corporations is like thinking one could leap from the roof of one of these skyscrapers and stop at the fifth floor," said the congressman. "It can't be done. The result would be complete government ownership within a short time. And to that I, personally, am radically opposed. I believe in competition."

Meanwhile Mr. Stanley's committee is going on investigating, even if it should take years, says the chairman. Great guns, Mr. Stanley, what if it should find out something that should lead to an idea!

The Mob.

Life: The San Francisco Wasp says that if we had the recall for judges, "the voice of the mob would practically decide the most serious questions of law."

If that is true, then we certainly do not want the recall. But the question arises: Where is this mob and what is it? Why isn't it dispersed? We can't afford to have mobs in this country. Mobs are bad, but they are especially objectionable if they are going to arise menacingly every time a good suggestion is made. If we hadn't seen references to the mob in Eastern papers also, we might suppose that the Pacific coast had its own private mob, but evidently this is an ubiquitous mob.

This is a matter not for academic discussion, but for the police department. Let this mob be tracked to its lair and disposed of. Then we can discuss political and economic questions on their merits.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Pull Your Own Weight.

It was an aphorism of the strenuous gentleman who lately held our Uncle Samuel's biggest job. And the meaning of it is clear. The ship of life is built like a Roman trireme, in which each one who rides must tug at an oar. We are not to travel as idle passengers.

In the distion of landsmen, the colonel meant that each of us ought to put into life as much as he takes out of it, a sentiment that finds a response with earnest people everywhere. We are ambitious to do as much as that surely. We would not wish to be simply burdens on society.

In describing a class of able-bodied idlers, good old Isaac Watts once wrote some lines that do not appear in the author's hymn books:

"There is a number of us creep
Into the world to eat and sleep,
And know no reason why we're born,
But only to consume the corn,
Devour the cattle, flesh and fish,
And leave behind an empty dish.
And if our tombstones, when we die,
Be n't taught to flatter and to lie,
There's nothing better can be said
Than that he's eat up all his bread,
Drank up his drink, and gone to bed."

If there were enough parasites of this kind they would bankrupt the world.

In contrast to all this there is something rather fine in the sight of even a prosaic laborer going home at nightfall, swinging his dinner pail and with the marks of toil upon him. Whether he has laid bricks in a building, or tended a loom, or stood behind a counter he has been justifying his existence as a productive member of society; he has been pulling his own weight.

My friend, can you make a pair of shoes or set a pane of glass or cook a good dinner? If you can do any of these things you have something to be proud of. Can you run a locomotive or market some commodity or draw up a will or teach arithmetic? Along the line of any of these accomplishments you can make your contribution to the needs of men. You are no lazy passenger; you are pulling your own weight.

It is good to think of each man's vocation not simply as his means of paying his board bill, but as his means of doing good in the world. His job is the medium through which he makes his contribution to humanity. It used to be thought that every youth who desired to live a life of service must enter the ministry. We see now that every honorable occupation is a chance for service. All useful work of hand or brain may be entered upon in the spirit of consecration.

The praises of labor have often been sung but if labor is to be truly glorious, it must have about it just this touch of idealism. We must see that somehow it contributes to human well-being—in physical, mental, moral or spiritual ways. The man who had been employed at fair wages to strike a tree stump with the butt end of an ax, finally threw up the job in disgust. "I want to see the chips fly," he said.

Surely the most happy and effective work in all this world is animated by the thought, "We are laborers together with God." We are partners with the Eternal. A great city is being erected here in this earth, the Holy City, the "New Jerusalem," and it required all sorts of material to build a city. The honest contribution of any worker, no matter how humble, is accepted and used. Your bit of work has a place in a stupendous plan. It is this nobler conception of our toil that gives it dignity and worth and makes the "dusty ranks of labor" in very truth the "regiment of God."

A Demoralized Party.

New York Evening Post: It is not alone the Republican party's tariff record in the present congress that will furnish aid and comfort to the Democrats in next year's campaign. The popular mind cannot fail to be impressed by the utter demoralization that has fallen upon the party of constructive statesmanship. Hitherto the great contention has been that the Republican party not only does the right thing always, but that it is the only party that can get things done at all. But where are the boasts of yesterday? Quite as fast as the Democratic donkey has been shedding its reputation of ineptitude and general cussedness paralysis and panic have seized upon the lordly elephant. Yesterday's exhibition in the senate suggests the madness that precedes destruction. Wearying of the process of being put in a hole by the Insurgents, the Republican stalwarts turned about yesterday and put the Insurgents in a hole. There may have been a great deal of satisfaction in getting even, but that does not do away with the fact that both factions of the erstwhile dominant party are now deeply ensconced in uncomfortable subterranean quarters. With the official majority in the senate it is now plainly a condition of after me the deluge.

THE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL

begins its eighth successful year September 5, under more favorable auspices than ever. Its corps of seven specially trained teachers makes possible small classes and a course of study which shall be suited to the needs of each pupil. No pupil retarded by the slower progress of others. All grades from the primary to the university.

We have satisfied others; we will satisfy you. If interested, telephone Melrose 707 for a catalogue.

ALBERT HEPPERT, Principal.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

•••Miss May Hoyt of Minneapolis is enjoying Lake Superior breezes for a few days and is the guest of her friend, Miss Susie Austin, at Lester park.

•••John Gordon, Jr., son of the manager of the Northern line of steamers, and an old Duluth boy, has arrived here to take a position with W. C. Farrington, the general agent of the Great Northern.

•••Alex Crawford and son John have returned from a trip to Scotland.

•••At a meeting of the Retail Clerks' union last night it was decided to make a good showing in the Labor day procession, and R. L. Giffin was appointed marshal.

•••Henry Abraham of West Superior and Miss Carrie Hoffheimer of Norfolk, Va., were married at the residence of Mrs. B. Heller, sister of the bride, 121 West Second street, last evening. The bride is a handsome lady of excellent social standing. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham departed for the East for a brief visit.

•••Sept. 1, 1881, at Englewood, Ill., a suberb of Chicago, was solemnized the marriage of Charles A. Long and Miss Anna Belle Taylor. Last night they kept open house to their many friends and celebrated the tenth anniversary of that event. There were presents in tin; refreshments, likewise, were served in tin, and there was a merry tintinnabulation about the gathering that would have inspired a tariff talker. Ten years ago Mr. Long was a journalist; now he is an alderman, and the next ten years promise even greater progress.

•••Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Emerson tendered a party to Miss Telsa B. Hirsch and Master Walter W. Bouns and about thirty of their young friends at the Spalding last evening. Among those present were Masters Clinton and Will McCornick, Hans Peyton, John H. Upham, Jr., Edward Totman, Walter Watrous, Rufus Draper, Ward Ames, Jr., Scott Cash, Morton Miller, William McLennon, John and Marion MacLaren, Lyman and David Stocking, Richard Sellwood and John P. Conover; the Misses Florence Ames, Alice Peyton, Florence Bailey, Berenice Crowley, Virgie La Vaque, Julia Chapin, Frances Edwards, Bessie Strayer, Jessie Stocking, Belle Simonds, Elizabeth Fraser, Margaret Graff, Minnie McLean, Anna Waugh, Mamie Ringland and May Austin.

THE MARYLAND MACHINE

By SAVOYARD.

While Old Virginia is debating whether she shall renew the lease of her political lands and tenements, goods and chattels, rights and privileges, to the Martin machine, her sister, Maryland, is contemplating a reincarnation of the Gorman machine, with an annex—the Gorman-Smith machine. Arthur P. Gorman and Matthew S. Quay were contemporaries, both bosses of the same pattern. One was a Democrat because he lived in a Democratic state and the other a Republican because he lived in a Republican state. Had Gorman been a citizen of the state of Pennsylvania he would have been labeled what he was, a Republican, and had Quay's lines been cast in Maryland he would have been the Democratic boss of that state. Neither was a wise man; both were capable men. They were successful always, sagacious never. There was a difference, however. Gorman never shed the velvet; indeed, it is doubtful if there was velvet beneath it, but Quay had the iron claw, and on occasion employed it. Again, Gorman was timid ever; Quay was intrepid often. Gorman never moved but on sinuous lines; Quay frequently went direct to his objective. Gorman was densely ignorant of everything other than practical and unscrupulous politics; Quay was a widely cultivated man and could find solace in books for defeat.

Gorman was a curiosity. Nobody ever got a categorical answer from him. The late Sam Donelson of Tennessee brought about an interview between the Maryland boss and a certain newspaper man, whose name I shall suppress for reasons more or less obvious, narrated around that the Democratic boss was going to take the meat-axe and chop Teddy Roosevelt's administration into sausage. That newspaper man was anxious to see the thing done and was anxious to contribute his little might to that consummation. The great senator and the little journalist had a long interview in the vice president's room, about the finest quarters on Capitol hill. The statesman talked, the scribe listened; but the man might as well have conversed in Greek. It was simply impossible for a blunt, downright man to understand what he was driving at. He never came within 1,000 miles of the point. He never looked his companion in the eye and when they separated that newspaper man knew that if Teddy was ever knocked on the head, Arthur P. Gorman could establish a complete and triumphant alibi to the accusation that he perpetrated the assault.

How Arthur P. Gorman ever got to be leader of the Democratic side of the United States senate is a profound mystery and pretty nearly as much of the occult in politics as the promotion of Tom Martin to that distinction. He was unlettered; he was lame, opaque, chaotic as a public speaker, with three or four platitudes that it must be admitted he employed with more or less skill. But his henchmen were legion and the clique consummately deployed. For fifteen years they touted their favorite, and made thousands believe that the sow's ear is the best material for a silk purse. Indeed, they proposed to make their idol the Democratic candidate for president. Had he ever been nominated he would have been worse beaten than Greeley.

Gorman belonged to that precious set who rejoiced over the defeat of Grover Cleveland in 1888, the greatest calamity that has overtaken the Democratic party since 1860. It would be untruth to say that all of them were grafters; but every Democrat grafter was among them, if not of them. These men had none of that political instinct that is more than sagacity and amounts to genius. Not being men of the people, they were in the most hopeless ignorance of public opinion. They depended on the machine, which they manipulated, and the machine was agin Cleveland to a man; but the people were resolved that Cleveland should have another term, and they smashed the machine from Tophet to whence. But fate was in it. Had Cleveland failed of nomination on the first ballot, it is possible that another would have been named, in which event Harrison would have been re-elected. It would have been history repeating itself, for in 1840 Garfield was elected because Tilden was not renominated. But as I said, fate was in it. John S. Barbour of Virginia and Henry W. Grady of Georgia died. Had they lived, Cleveland would not have been nominated on the firts ballot, and it is possible that he would have failed of nomination on the first ballot if it had not been for Gorman's lucidity. He was pledged to David B. Hill to stand for the nomination himself, but he ingloriously and incontinently fled before public sentiment as it thundered in the convention.

Hill never forgave Gorman. Both were senators, and Hill strove to engage the Maryland boss in debate, but without avail except in a single little encounter that did not amount to a skirmish. And well might Gorman shrink from the scratch, for in debate the senate had not Dave Hill's master.

But Gorman was supreme in the Democratic councils of Maryland. He was emphatically the boss, microscopic and telescopic as well, distributing all the spoil from the largest loaf to the most diminutive crumb. There was a revolt. The people could not dislodge him from the satrapshiy which he had usurped in the Democratic penetz, and in desperation they brought the Republican party in fashion and drove Gorman and his out of the senate.

But he came back, with clipped wings, however. Though it was gall and wormwood, the Maryland boss had to accept Isidor Rayner, the ablest and most brilliant man Maryland has had since Henry Winter Davis, for colleague in the senate. Soon thereafter Gorman died; but the machine lives, headed by his son and John Walter Smith, a Democrat in the invoice but a Republican asset. He was one of Aldrich's lieutenants in 1909 and helped to make the outrageous lumber schedule that enables timber barons to levy tribute on every household in the union. He gave a strange reason, but a practical, and it was this—he had vast timber interests himself. And he a successor of William Pinkney and Reverdy Johnson!

The issue of Maryland is this: Is the Gorman-Smith machine strong enough to pitchfork Isidor Rayner out of the United states senate? Over God's forbid let it be!

TURKEY HAS AWARDED BATTLESHIP CONTRACT

Will Be Largest Warship in the World—British Firms Given Contract for Diplomatic Reasons.

London, Sept. 2.—Turkey has at last definitely awarded the contract for a battleship of the so-called Dreadnought type to W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., of Newcastle-on-Tyne and to Vickers, Limited, the latter to furnish the armament. The government reserves the right of ordering another vessel at the same price.

The new battleship, it is said, will be the largest warship in the world. The price to be paid is considerably higher than that at which the Bethlehem Steel company of America in conjunction with another English firm offered to build the ships. However, as the grand vizier candidly told a diplomat who was supporting the tender of the American company, Turkey by placing the contract with the successful tenderers will obtain compensation in other directions which will more than make up for the increased cost of the ship.

It has not yet been disclosed of what these compensations will consist, but it is generally understood that the British minister at Constantinople was able to inform the Porte that the acceptance of the Armstrong tender might induce the British government, to look with a kindlier eye on the Turkish proposals for the settlement of certain questions outstanding between the two countries. Among these were questions arising out of the steamboat monopoly held by a British company to operate steamers on Turkish rivers; non-interference with Turkey's plans in Albania; and the long-standing dispute over the building of the Bagdad railway. On the latter subject active negotiations are now proceeding in the Turkish capital, with good prospects of success and the ultimate completion of the line.

Besides the support of the government the British shipbuilders have good press agents, and frequent paragraphs appear in the London papers in which it is intimated that among other contracts that for two battleships of the Chilian warships is to be given to England. As a matter of fact these contracts have not been let and it may be months before they are. American, British and continental firms all have agents in the Chilian capital and even before the fall of the late government very little progress had been made towards the signing of the contracts.

An effort is at last to be made to relieve the newspapers of England from some of the evils they suffer under the present law of libel. Besides having to pay many claims of a blackmailing character, invariably when a newspaper defends an action for libel the jury gives the claimant heavy damages, very often against the advice of the judge. To avoid this Sir George Toulmin has introduced a bill in the house of commons, which provides that if a judge is satisfied that the alleged libel is trivial, and that the words complained of have been published in good faith, he may stall proceedings, unless the plaintiff gives security for the defendant's costs.

Other provisions of the bill are that fair and accurate reports of public meetings, proceedings in court and the finding of the courts, although the finding be subsequently varied, and any fair and bona fide comment thereon, shall be privileged. At present a paper cannot comment on any verdict until it has reached the final court by which time in many cases, all public interest in the matter has been lost.

The house of commons has lost one of its oldest and most popular figures in the sudden death of Collins, the headwaiter of the smoking room. He had charge of what is known as the upper smoking room, one of the exclusive rooms into which the members cannot introduce a stranger. Collins, an Irish cockney, was one of those quiet, unobtrusive servants of the old school, who knew the wants of all his clients and took them their accustomed drink as soon as they entered the room. He too, was full of information and Chancellor Lloyd George once said that when he wished to know what the house of commons was going to do he went to the best informed man—Collins.

One of the interesting features of the procession of the Gorsedd Bards to the Mystic Circle at the Elstedtfod, the national assembly of Welsh bards at Carmarthen, Wales, was the presentation of a daughter of the poet Henry W. Longfellow to the venerable archdruid.

In company with a party of 100 Welsh-Americans, the poet's daughter made the pilgrimage from Boston and the Welsh-Americans expect to make an annual pilgrimage to the gathering. Before the presentation a representative of the Breton Gorsedd mounted the Logan-stone and made an address in excellent Welsh. The same day also saw the investiture and initiation of the successful candidates for bardic degrees.

The town of Wolverhampton is all excitement over the refusal by its austere officials of a presentation portrait of Capt. Webb, the famous channel-swimmer. Capt. Webb was a native oi Wolverhampton; in the painting he is shown wearing the customary swimming trunks only, and this bravity of attire affected the sensibilities of local officials. George Phoenix, the artist, in presenting the picture, recommended that it be hung in the municipal baths, which in winter are also used for public meetings.

In a letter acknowledging the artist's offer the town clerk says that the chairman of the baths committee considered the portrait an excellent one in every respect but could not recommend the committee to accept it. The artist is inviting the public to his studio to pass upon the propriety of his work, and local feeling runs high

There are two things worth while in this book. The first is a charming and delightful picture of life in Baltimore before the war. The second is a sweet, wholesome and satisfying romance. For either of these things the book is worth reading.

It is a daintily ideal picture of a charming place and period: Baltimore before the war, with its fine old aristocracy in its setting of fine old mansions and beautiful grounds, surrounded by faithful negro servants. As an incident, we are introduced to Edgar Allan Poe, and are shocked to note that some of the scandal about him is partly true—he is exceedingly drunk; a pitifully sad picture.

We fall in love with the people of the book, from St. George Wilmot Temple, the protagonist of the story, to faithful old Alec, faithful Todd and faithful Aunt Jemima, a trio of negro house and body servants of the old school that have not been equaled in recent fiction.

St. George Wilmot Temple at 50 is the embodiment of a splendid inheritance of blood and breeding from ravaging ancestors. "Uncle George" to all the gay and dashing youths and flower-like maidens of Kennedy Square, he is the depository of their secrets and the mender of their mishaps. It was a task that taxed his powers when that dashing, hotheaded young blade Harry Rutter shot Langdon Willits—though he deserved it—after a quarrel in Rutter's own home over a disputed dance with beautiful Kate Seymour, whose engagement to Rutter was to have been announced that evening. Rutter's father, for this breach of hospitality, cast him off—an unjust thing when the elder Rutter's too open sideboard had made young Willits drunk enough to deserve being shot. Yet for his inhospitableness, and because she was a woman, Kate Seymour also threw him over, and he took refuge with Temple. To win this stronghearted lovely girl and his harsh and bullheaded father—that was Rutter's task, and that makes the story. How Harry sailed away and came back bearded and strange; how Temples fortune sacrificed for Harry's sake, faded and left him to the ministrations of his servants and Gadgem, a Dickensy billcollector with a heart as green as his appearance was ludicrous; how the elder Rutter was obdurate and insanely bitter; how Kate was pursued by Willits in Harry's absence; and how these tangled strands were knitted together for a happy and heart-moving finale, all together makes a charming novel which it will do you good to read.

A. I. Keller has provided many good pictures to embellish the book.

THE MOTOR RANGERS' LOST MINE. By Marvin West. New York: Hurst & Co. 50 cents.

A lively and entertaining story for boys, with plenty of incident and excitement.

Of Books and Writers.

Henry Longan Stuart, author of "Fenella," recently published by Doubleday, Page & Co., has arrived in this country from England where he has been making his home for the last few years. He expects to spend several months in the United States. Mr. Stuart has lived in this country before, having been a reporter in New York and Denver. He has many friends in those cities and in the English colony in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mrs. W. S. Porter, widow of the late O. Henry, is now making her home in Asheville, N. C. She is the author of the 'Bijie stories which have grown steadily in popularity since she began writing them a few years ago. They deal with a little mountain boy of North Carolina. Mrs. Porter is a native of the country about which she writes, as was her husband.

A recent letter from Stewart Edward White, author of "The Cabin," "The Rules of the Game," and other books, published by Doubleday, Page & Co., states that he expects to return to this side of the world early in September, "if a lion or a hippo don't get me." White wrote from Juja, Nairobi, British East Africa, where his party was resting. The author will come home via London, but will not stop there any length of time.

The latest bulletin announces that "Freckles," by Gene Stratton-Porter has reached the phenomenal sale of 235,000 copies, and that it is selling at a faster rate than ever. This news comes only a short time before Mrs. Porter's third book regarding the Limberlost woods, "The Harvester," comes from the presses of Doubleday, Page & Co. The story of the sale of "Freckles" is a romance in itself. Starting with a very light sale the first year, and but little better the second year, the book was discovered, and won such popularity as few books ever know, in its third year. This, considered in the light of the average life of books, was long after "Freckles" should have been dead.

Harold MacGrath, whose latest novel is to be published soon by the Bobbs-Merrill company, is an enthusiastic fisherman. He goes to Cape Vincent, Lake Ontario, every summer, when he isn't ambling in China, or India, or Africa. He believes that the best bass grounds in the world are within the radius of twenty miles from Cape Vincent, which is really in the head of the St. Lawrence river. A friend undertook to convince him that there were other places. So MacGrath consented to accompany him into Canada. They arrived at sunset, and the host extemporized over the glories of the setting sun.

"Ever see anything to beat that sunset, Mac?"

"Fine!"

On the following morning they went out for bass. At 4 in the afternoon they had caught exactly one.

The host again rhapsodized over the sunset.

The second day they caught no bass at all. On the way back to the hotel the host was silent. As they came up to the landing, MacGrath touched his host on the shoulder.

"There's your darned sunset, Jim!"

Thomas Hardy's first published novel was "Desperate Remedies," and writing of it years later, he said: "The principles observed in its composition are no doubt too exclusively those in which entanglement, surprise, and moral obliquity are depended on for exciting interest." This is probably the only novel concerning which the author felt any such compunction, for he always stood up stoutly for the much-criticized "Jude the Obscure." He, himself, notes that the story was widely pirated and circulated in America, and in the recently completed thin-paper edition of Hardy in which the volumes were issued by the Harpers in the presumed order of their popularity "Desperate Remedies" stands well to the front.

Among the Magazines.

The September issue of the Atlantic Monthly opens with an illuminating commentary made by Gen. Sherman on his own record. It seems that immediately after the war one Col. Bowman wrote a biography of Sherman and sent a copy to the general for his opinions, intending to incorporate them in a new edition. Sherman interlined the text in full, frank fashion, but, through an accident, no new edition was ever made and the comments are now first published. An appealing article in this number sets forth the philosophy of the handicapped as it is taught by physicial disability and suffering. There are serious papers on Bishop Hare as 'An Apostle to the Sioux,' by M. A. De Wolfe Howe, "Aristocratic and Democratic Education," by Abraham Flexner, and one on "The Indeterminate Sentence," by a prisoner. But the number has a decidedly summery and pleasant tone owing to half a dozen readable essays in the best Atlantic style. "The Creative Listener," by Robert Haven Schauffler, "Buskins or Slippers?" by Holbrook White; "The Farmer's Pedigree," by David Buffum; "The Bigness of the World," by Harriet Monroe; "Wild Music," by Herbert R. Sass, and "The Avian Superstition," by Katharine Fullerton Geroud.

The leading article in the September issue of the North American Review is an interesting summary by Speaker Champ Clark of "The Work of the Democratic House." Rear-Admiral A. T. Mahan, U. S. N., contributes the third paper in a series dealing with phases of arbitration under the title "Navies as International Factors." Sydney Brooks, the English publicist, writes informingly on "Aspects of Public Ownership," dealing in this second article of the series with franchises. Rabbi Stephen S. Wise has a forceful contribution on the dangers and pitfalls to be found in the proposed new charter for the city of New York. A group of verses under the title "Lyrics of Late Love" by the Honorable Eleanour Norton, are worthy of attention. "The Major Beneficence" is the title R. Fulton Cutting gives to a short article in which he pleads for constructive measures to increase efficiency and reform abuses in our municipal governments. The well-known war correspondent, Stephen Bonsal, has a serious and instructive article on the Mexican situation in "Mexico after Diaz."

The Popular Science Monthly for September contains the following articles: "The Bureau of Standards," by Prof. Henry S. Harhart; "On the History of Internal Medicine," by Dr. John Benjamin Nichols; "Science and Social Progress," by Dr. Frederick A. Bushee; "Attempts to Explain Gravitation," by Wilson C. Morris; "The Purpose and Scope Principles of Systematic Zoology," by Hubert Lyman Clark; "The Narrowing Circle of the Animal Kingdom," by Thomas D. Eason; "Food Preparation and Its Relation to the Development of Efficient Personality in the Home," by Laura Clarke Rockwood.

The Forum for September contains "The Green Helmet," by W. B. Yeats—a strange drama, with an old-time Celtic environment, and a general application. There is an interesting article by Rudolf Cronau on "The German Element in the United States," pointing out the important part played in our national history by Germans, or citizens of German descent. Edwin Bjorkman contributes a lucid sketch of Henri Bergson, the famous French "Philospher of Actuality." Michael Monahan writes of "A Lost Poet"—the tragedy of the genius who has failed and knows it, and so must tread the "via dolorosa" of the unsuccessful and self-condemned. Stephen Phillips and Richard Le Gallienne contribute short poems, and there are articles on "The Ethical Conquest of India," by Lauriston Ward; "The Renaissance of the Dance," by Gaspard Etsther—with special reference to Isadore Duncan; and "Lloyd George and His Policies," by Sydney Brooks. Another instalment of E. Temple Thurston's serial, "The Garden of Resurrection," is given with a short story by Frances Aymar Mathews.

The recent substantial increase in the size of Lippincott's Magazine affords room for an alluring table of contents this month. The complete novel is by Carolyn Wells, whose detective stories are live matter all through, as is proved by the tremendous sales of her latest book, "The Clue." Of its kind this book comes this new novel "His Hand and Seal," published complete in the September Lippincott's. Its scenes are all right in New York city; and your welcome and in the recently completed thin-paper edition of Hardy in which the familiar and magnetic Fleming Stone, the detective, who is again to the fore in telling fashion. The plot is ingenious enough to baffle the most acute, and up to almost the very last the question "Who did it?" will not down. The eight short stories show humorousness or humanness, or both, as in "The Friendship of Alanna," by Kathleen Norris, so natural and amusing, even while on the edge of tragedy, in its portrayal of a girl's loyalty to her chum. "The Curtain," by J. J. Bell, gives a man's thrilling night experience, showing what one can stand for the sake of a hobby.

Senator Joseph Bristow of Kansas in his forceful vein tells how big business is aiding in the running of national affairs in an article on "How the Interests Control America" in the September Columbian Magazine. It's a big question and Senator Bristow handles his subject in an able manner. There are some excellent illustrations by John T. McCutcheon, the famous cartoonist. "Bohemia," is a place much talked about, but few know it. Harris Merton Lyon has lived in and studied New York's "Bohemia," which he calls "The Land of Talk." It is a humorous snappy story. It tells bluntly just what Bohemia, with its moral looseness, means to the stranger, and incidentally points to a strong moral lesson without being a preachment. The stage struck young girl and woman should by all means read "An Actor's Wife." It is a story of heart throbs and shows effectively that life on the stage is not the easy-going, joyous life we imagine it is from the plush orchestra chairs. It is a story that rings true because it is written by one who knows.

The leading place in The Eng'neering Magazine for September is given to the sixteenth and concluding instalment of Harrington Emerson's series of papers on the twelve principles of efficiency. In this article Mr. Emerson defines the executive control by which line and staff functions and efficiency principles are effectively directed. Two important series of illustrations are presented in this number—the first giving a comprehensive view of the power-plant and grain-handling equipment of the Madero dock granary, Buenos Aires, the second illustrating the applications of mechanical engineering and machinery in agricultural operations with a large number of pictures of typical tractors exhibited at the Winnipeg Industrial Exposition of 1910. Another illustrated feature of importance is the concluding instalment of Rollin W. Hutchinson's papers on the modification of mining methods by electrical machinery, dealing with dredging, cyaniding, telephony and sundry services.

If the September month-end Popular Magazine contained nothing save Henry C. Rowland's great novel, "The Bloodhound," which is printed complete in this issue, it would still be a notable number. But in addition there are ten or twelve stirring stories of the kind you want to sit up nights to finish—stories of the navy, of the railroad, of the sea, of baseball, of life in Mexico, of Broadway, of the Southwest, of the wilderness of Northern Maine, of diplomatic plots, of business and of politics, of the ups and downs of a chauffeur's career—typical stories for men of large interests and wide sympathies, stories of the world's workers, vivid, virile, and intensely interesting.

"Downstairs," by Henry C. Rowland, is the complete novelette in the September Ainslee's. It is a dashing story—from the wild dash in an automobile out of Paris to Cherbourg for a missed steamer, to the discovery made by the family of wealthy Chicagoans that their menage contains a quartet of high social rank. The tale is sure to keep the reader fascinated to the end, so many are the humorous and unexpected developments in this unique exploration of America's nouveau riche. To enter the portals of exclusive society on both sides the Atlantic through marrying one's servants, and to have a real genuine love interest in it all, surely is a theme that makes every magazine reader want to know how it was done.

The American Magazine announces that it is to begin immediate publication of the autobiography of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. The September number contains an article introductory to the series. La Follette is described as one of the greatest fighting liberals of this generation, a man who has had a world of adventures and met all the most important men of our time. These adventures he will report and these men he will characterize. The September American contains fiction by W. J. Locke, James Oppenheim, James Hopper, Wells Hastings and Inez Haynes Gillmore. Clarence Darrow, the champion of organized labor in the courts, whites on "Why Men Fight for the Closed Shop," an authoritative statement of the labor unions' position. "Storming the Citadel," by William Allen White, is a stirring history of La Follette and the Insurgents, a description of the changes accomplished in the senate, and a prophecy of what the Insurgents will do.

The September Woman's Home Companion is the advance fall fashion number of that periodical. It contains an immense amount of fashion news that will interest and be of practical service to women. Grace Margaret Gould, who conducts the fashion department of the Companion, does her work admirably; that is her object seems to be—not to present fashions in a way that will influence women to waste money on clothes, but in a way to show the great mass of women how they may dress fashionably and yet at reasonable cost. On the entertainment side the September Companion is an unusual number. Notable and interesting fiction is contributed by Alice Brown, Annie Hamilton Donell, Anna McClure Sholl Mary Heaton Vorse, John D. Swain and others. Eight special articles, full of new facts and ideas, are included. The titles of some of these are : "What Companion Readers Think About the Cost of Living," "The Boy and Some of His Opinions," "The Woman's Paradise," "Housekeeping by Electricity," "Saving Steps in the Kitchen."

In the September number of Short Stories are given the concluding chapters of "The Red Rose.' Besides a charm of the romantic tale itself there is the added interest attaching always to historical characters like Gen. Dumas, the author's father, and more particularly to Robespierre. The second of Ellis Parker Butler's stories, "The Shyster"—said shyster being a Jewish lawyer, who better than any Gentile, can cope with the peculiarities of his people's business methods. Then there is a story for untruthful husbands in this number. From "Mr. Diggetson's Tiger," by Fremont Rider, you may learn what happened to one man in whose conversation sick friends, extra office work, delayed trains, sudden illness, etc., played a too important part. He came home and burbled of a tiger in a canary bird cage. And who believed him? Would you—Well—read the story!

"Rhododendron Peavy in Bohemia," by Grace MacGowan Cooke and Caroline Wood Morrison, opening novelette of the September Young's Magazine, is one of the most deliciously whimsical bits of satire that has appeared in the last decade. No one has ever quite equaled Mrs. Cooke in her insight into the character of the Tennessee mountaineer, and when such a character, humorously if sympathetically portrayed, is set down in the midst of New York Bohemia is it not difficult to imagine the riot of fun that results. Lured from her native mountains by the erratic wife of an artist, she, as she herself expresses it, "a model to New York," Rhododendron finds the artist world a sufficiently bewildering place. Welcomed, feted, adored because of her marvelous beauty and quaint manner of thought, she regards the irresponsible, kindly crew with placid, friendly bewilderment, translating, as best she can, their obscure dings and sayings into plain Tennessee mountain terms. The result is sometimes so appaling, not only to Rhododendron but to her friends as well that little Mrs. Easley, her sponsor, is moved to wish, in her despair "that there was some way to vaccinate people for innocence!"

The Survey for August has an article by Blanche Bates on "Child Labor on the Stage," which confirms in every way the contentions regarding its ill effect on young children that have been made by the National Child Labor association. Other interesting articles in this issue are "The Lumberman's Hazard," by Don D. Lescohier of the Minnesota bureau of labor, "Business Activities of Syrians in the United States," by Louise Seymour Houghton, and "A City Awake—Detroit," by Myron E. Adams. Mrs. Houghton shows that the Syrians are engaged in much more substantial business enterprises than most of us are aware.

The September Popular Mechanics Magazine contains, in all, 270 articles and 269 illustrations. In aeronautics, a page illustration depicts Lincoln Beachey's spectacular flight under the bridge at Niagara, and the important events of the month are summarized with terse comment and appropriate illustrations. The proposed group of federal buildings for Washington. This, it is stated, will be one of the greatest building projects in the career of the United States. H. H. Windsor's editorials discuss. "Why Theories Fail"; "Need of More Cities Beautiful," and "Motor Bus Supplants Street Car." How New Jersey has rid herself in large measure of her famous "skeeter," is told by John B. Smith, state entomologist, who has conducted the work of extermination.

The 10 Story Book for September is as bright and clean as a new dollar. The funny pieces are "The Fierce Florida Swamp Panther," "While The Great Editor Was Out," "A Bride's Dilemma," and "A Flyer in Shoes." There are stories by old favorites like Nellie Cravey Gillmore and J. C. Plummer, in their very best vein. Maupassant's funny masterpiece, "Tony," (who hatched the eggs), is copied. The feature is a fine story of Spanish pride, "Juan Pedro Gonzales y Molina." "Pat," the actor, tells how Sara Bernhardt came down ready to kill from a Joan-of-Arc funeral pyre that was wet and wouldn't burn.

The September issue of The Smart Set leads off with a rattling summertime novelette by Arthur Henry Vesey. There's a sprightly young widow in it, a gay, careless but really worth-while young lord, a frowning, bespectacled stepdaughter—appointed by the deceased's will to chaperon her stepmother—and a clever young American brother who puts over a Machiavellian scheme to blast his sister's too hasty romance. The title of the story, "Lord Algy Takes the Odd," will pique the interest of bridge players. The action flits from New York city to a Berkshire resort, accompanying the tantalizing young widow, her horses, motors and the wonderful array of accessories she provides herself with, out of the money left her by dear, dead hubby; thence to a North river steamship pier, where stonyhearted fate and a worldly wise aunt shuffle the cards and make a fresh deal. The loving pair are sent off on separate ships and Lord Algy, mooning lonely over the rail, finds he's been delt the joker in the person of Penelope, the spectacled Bryn Mawr stepdaughter, who appears as a fellow passenger. The result of the whole business is that the widow finds consolation among her own ship's company, and Lord Algy falls a victim to the hitherto unnoticed charms of Penelope. Back in New York the scheming brother guffaws loudly.

Among the special features of the August number of the Review of Reviews are a character sketch of Admiral Togo of Japan, who has been a guest of the United States, by Adachi Kinnosuke; a profusely illustrated article on "The Aeroplane—A Year's Marvelous Progress," by William Menkel; illustrated articles on "Doing Away With Blindness," by Olivia Howard Dunbar, "New Scenic Highways in the Southwest," by Agnes C. Laut, and "Our Public Schools as Social Centers," by Mary Josephine Mayer. The work of the Democratic leaders in congress is summarized by Scott Bone, and W. T. Stead makes an interesting contribution to the discussion of the world peace movement from the British point of view. The special book article this month is contributed by Edwin Bjorkman, whose subject is "Henri Bergson: Philosopher or Prophet?"

The Keramic Studio for August has as its colored supplement, a decorative landseape by M. M. Mason. Other designs in black and white are very attractive, among which are the milkweed pods, in two or three stages, conventional designs for salt and peppers, cups and saucers, etc. As a whole the midsummer number is very attractive.

The leading article in the August McClure's is an account in Detective Burns' own words of the events that led up to the arrest of John McNamara, the secretary-treasurer of the Structural Iron Workers' union, and his brother, James, for the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building in October, 1910. In spite of the storm of controversy that has raged around this case, and the important issues, involved in it, the general public has in the main no very clear idea of the evidence upon which the arrest was made. For the man who honestly desires to know the facts, whatever his sympathies may be, "The Dynamiters," Detective Burns' straightforward and convincing story will have an absorbing interest.

The current issue of Harper's Weekly has for its most important feature an interview with Governor Dix, contributed by Charles Johnston—a sequel to the memorable talk with Governor Woodrow Wilson published last week. In this interview Governor Dix discusses, in a most illuminating and interesting manner, his principles and purposes in the matter of state finances. Stephen French Whitman, whose vivid and pungent style has won him reputation as one of the most attractive of our younger writers, contributes a most amusing article, "On Shipboard," descriptive of the daily life on board one of the great trans-Atlantic liners. In "Amateur Night" Ruth Berkeley deals with the experiences of a young girl obliged to take a short cut into the drama.

The announcement at last of a complete edition of the works of William Dean Howells has just been made. Mr. Howells has begun his long literary career when Longfellow, Lowells, Holmes, and others of the giants were still alive. Now, the last survivor of those days, his pen is still busy. In the last year he has published three books, one of them being "My Mark Twain." He spends his winters in Bermuda and his summers at his house at Kittery Point, Me., or in Europe, where he is so much at home.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE LYCEUM

"The Wolf" is the play which Gus A. Forbes has chosen for his farewell week at the Lyceum and the advance sale of tickets is already large for the concluding performances of the finest season of stock playing that Duluth has ever enjoyed. The play chosen is one of the most interesting of recent drama and a fine performance is assured.

When "The Wolf" was first produced in New York it created a furore of interest and discussion. The play was in entire contrast to the offerings of recent years and also quite different from the former offerings of the interesting young dramatist, Eugene Walters.

In "The Wolf" there are five men characters and only one woman character. The story told is of the Canadian woods. In the seclusion of the backwoods, lives an old Scotchman, McTavish, stern and forbidding with his young daughter, Hilda. Many years before the action of the play, Hilda's mother left her husband and baby with another to seek greater happiness with another man. She was deserted and died broken hearted and alone. McTavish never forgave her act and during the years that followed he avenged himself in part on the daughter. He brings her up in the woods not only to protect her from the temptation of life but also to protect any men who might come in contact with her from the wanton streak he is sure she has inherited from her mother. Their only friends are Jules, a young French Canadian guide and old Ba'tiste.

To their cabin comes McDonald, a New York engineer and his young assistant. McDonald seeks distraction from the monotony of life in the woods by making love to Hilda. He convinces the boy of his sincerity and proposes taking Hilda to New York to live with his mother. The girl instinctively shrinks from him and in spite of her father's commands refuses to go with him. Jules takes her when the father in a true Scotch rage drives her from his home and with Ba'tiste and the young engineer they leave the cabin. McDonald follows them and the third and last act shows a camping spot where the fugitives are resting weary and sore from their long journey. Jules sends Hilda with their companions down the river and he awaits the coming of McDonald. Just as the pursuer comes on to the stage the last glimmer of light from the camp fire falls and the fight that ensues takes place in a perfectly dark stage and auditorium. The audience hears the thud of a falling body and not until the survivor strikes a match do they know who has been the victor. Jules is, of course, and hellos down the river for the others to return for him. And with the answering call in the distance the curtain descends.

The American public has not been invited to witness a more thrilling and convincing play for many years and the performance which Mr. Forbes promises will be a fitting climax to the splendid list of plays which has been offered during the summer.

The role of Jules, the young French Canadian, will be played by Mr. Forbes. The villain, McDonald, will be Edwin Brandt, and Frederick Van Rensselaer will appear as the old Scotchman, McTavish. Ray Phillips will have a most congenial role as the young assistant engineer, who will not follow his chief in his wicked intentions of betraying the country girl and Perry Golden will have the picturesque role of Ba'tiste. Miss Jane Stuart will appear as Hilda.

The first performance of "The Wolf" will be given at the Wednesday matinee and the play will be repeated every evening during the week and there will be Saturday and Sunday matinees. The farewell performances for the season will be given Sunday night.

Tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night "The Count of Monte Cristo" which has been delighting large audiences this week, will be repeated.

Managing Director Harry Askin of the La Salle Opera house, Chicago, sends on tour this season the unprecedented musical comedy, "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," with Trixie Friganza, the original star, and the complete La Salle production, which will be presented at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 4 and 5.

There are few managers today who give equal consideration to their "road attractions" when organizing a company of superior talent and mounting a play with such extravagant outlay of money for brilliant costuming and scenic effects, as does this impresario. That is why the name Harry Askin, stands pre-eminent as a producer of musical extravaganza.

Three very popular authors collaborated in working out the book, lyrics and music of this predominant comedy: Addison Burkhardt edited the book, and it will be remembered that Mr. Burkhardt also wrote "The Runaways," which ran in the New York Casino for more than a year. Collin Davis is responsible for the lyrics, and he, too, has many successful librettos to his credit. He also rewrote "The Three Twins," into one of the sensational successes of the day after it had been called a failure by press and public.

The third to work in collaboration with the above mentioned authors is Joseph E. Howard, who has more "hits" to his name than any composer today. Among the successes for which he has provided the music are "The Time, the Place and the Girl," "The Girl Question," "The Flirting Princess," "Miss Nobody From Starland," "The Golden Girl" and numerous others.

It is said that of the ten or more songs that have been distributed throughout "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," none of his previous works will compare with the "lolly-pop hit in melody" that he has written for this extraordinary play of music and song.

Trixie Friganza, who was recently on tour with "The American Idea," is a musical comedy star of no little importance, and heads a cast of capable players. Miss Friganza as a star in other comedies has never yet had the opportunity to display her talents as in this vehicle. For her comicality and mimicry, aside from her most pleasing stage presence is sure to give her a steadfast place in the affections of the musical comedy public. She also has the worthy support of a comedienne, Cathryn Rowe Palmer, whose quaint stage ability is considered old but quite comical.

Manager Askin employed two stage directors to properly present this play; one a musical comedy expert, the other a stage manager fresh in dramatic art; Gus Sohlke, widely known for the successes he has staged, put on the numbers, dances and pictorial effects. It was Sohlke who originated the now-famous "Yama Yama" song in "The Three Twins" as well as countless other novelties in later day musical comedy.

Frank Keenan, an artist and stage manager of high degree, was engaged to supervise the dramatic portion of this entertainment.

"The Sweetest Girl in Paris" story is as follows: Rich young American loves adorable student girl, also rich. Tenor with a lost voice also adores girl wealth. Foolish young gentleman sublets his millions to tenor till his voice comes back. Tenor recovers the lost chord unexpectedly and has to give back the millions to original donor who has for vague but operatic reasons taken to waiting on table in French restaurant. A delightful auntie chaperoning the girl—a riotous slavey—a fascinating youn person named Myotte and a whole lot of pretty girls aid and abet this plot, and string and necklaces and bubbles decorate the story with many tuneful songs and swaying music. The most catchy of the song hits are "Don't Forget the Number," "The Weather Man," "I Love 'Em All," "Honest Injun! I Love You," "Bombashay," and "Iddle-Iddle-Iddle-E."

The company that will be sent here by Manager Askin will number over sixty, and the original star and La Salle Opera house production will be brought here complete. The engagement is for two nights.

Nothing succeeds like success is particularly exemplified in the case of that popular drama "In Old Kentucky," announced for presentation here on Sept. 10, matinee and night. This play has probably a larger clientele than any offering now before the public. And there is never a season in the theatrical world when "In Old Kentucky" is not one of the bright and shining examples of what are known as "sure fire" attractions—plays that are sure to receive the patronage of the play-going public. "In Old Kentucky" has never been known to fail to draw a paying audience. It is never presented in a slip-shod manner or with an inferior company or cheap production.

"Macushla" (Pulse of My Heart), with Chauncey Olcott in the principal role, will be the attraction at the Lyceum theater for one week commencing Monday evening, Sept. 11, with Saturday matinee only. Manager Augustus Pitou, who has announced this production as the very last one he will make, determined evidently that he would make his final effort as notable at least as those which he has made for Mr. Olcott in previous years. The stage settings for "Macushla" are said to be some of the handsomest ever seen in an Irish play and have been designed from photographs and sketches made in Ireland. As a drama, "Macushla" has unusual merit. It tells a straightforward story of the nineteenth century, with the exciting scenes of the race track and the more gentle episodes of love, intermingled with tuneful Irish melodies. Mr. Olcott is said to be particularly happy in the part of a dashing young Irish baronet, one of the best roles he has ever created.

Harry Bulger, the comedian, who is starring in "The Flirting Princess," while traveling from Mankato to Madison, went into the station cafe at La Crosse and ordered a plate of beans. After he had eaten them the proprietor handed him a check for 50 cents. Bulger on noticing the exorbitant charge for this simple item said, "Your beans are too high." The proprietor of the cafe was rather surly in his manner and would give no satisfaction. The actor was very angry but of course paid his bill.

As he left the station he got several telegraph blanks at the telegraph office. When he got on board his train he filled out these blanks with the words, "Your beans are too high." At the first stop he hastily got off the train and rushed into the telegraph office, and sent the telegram collect, and returned to his train. At the next stop he repeated the same thing and again at the third stop.

upon a plan to break his wife of this habit, and the results of this plan form the comedy situations for the sketch. Mr. Barnes, for several years, played the role of the squire in "Way Down East" and he has no mean reputation as an actor, both in the legitimate field and in vaudeville. His present sketch has been most successful as a laugh getter around the circuit.

One of those smart song and dance turns that are always welcomed by a vaudeville audience, will be presented by Williams and Segal. This neat appearing young man and the attractive girl will sing one or two songs, and present what is hailed as a clever dancing specialty. They are said to dress most attractively and the act is claimed to be distinguished by a certain tone above the ordinary. The young woman makes several changes of costume during the act.

It is difficult enough for the average person to keep one punching bag moving rapidly, but Harry Seeback, who will be at the Orpheum next week, keeps fourteen bags moving. He claims to be the champion bag puncher of the world, and exhibits many medals to prove his claims. He will be assisted in his act next week by Harriet Seeback, a very clever and athletic girl, who also punches the bag with great skill, sings and injects more or less comedy into the act.

The moving pictures and the concert by the orchestra will complete the program, which will continue all week with a daily matinee.

For the week following next, Fred Lindsay, the Australian whip expert, with his four assistants, will present their remarkable novelty as the headlined act.

AT THE EMPRESS

Featuring the bill at the Empress this week, beginning with the Sunday matinee, will be the Brothers Byrne of "Eight Bells" fame, who will present a pantomimic comedy entitled "A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps." The engagement of these famous brothers is an event that has caused considerable talk in the theatrical world and further establishes the standard of the Sullivan & Considine circuit, "No attraction too large and no feature too expensive." "A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps," was written by John F. Byrne and it is a wonderful creation. The Byrne Brothers stand pre-eminent in the art of a stage mechanism and invention, and this season they are said to have excelled themselves. The new production, "A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps" is replete with new tricks, illusions and the most wonderful and laughable effects. There is an infinite charm about a Byrne production to the little ones, as well as the older people, and to those who care about seeing a stage performance more than once, "A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps," might offer them an object lesson. The amusing rapidity of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the bewildering mechanical effects, and the many excellent specialties, that are interpolated throughout the performance keep the audience on the go as well as the performers. The playlet is certainly inclusive enough in the variety of entertainment it offers. It contains a farce comedy, a musical comedy, a pantomime and a spectacular production. The Byrne Brothers are acrobats of considerable skill and pantomimists of unlimited resources and their ability coupled with their wonderful mechanical genius, guarantees the patrons of the Empress a novelty the like of which they have never witnessed.

A feature that could easily top any bill is the offering of Edward Clark, recently seen as the star of "The Winning Widows." It is a protean comedy with appropriate and rapid changes of make-up and scenic effects. Mr. Clark will give a series of character changes in which his dexterity in the deceptive art of make-up and his celerity in the accomplishment of the same enable him to present each characterization with an individual artistieness. His first, that of an aged man, a character which brings the artist forward in the role of a disrepit bachelor with its accompanying realism, is touching and vastly interesting. Next the star portrays a chorus girl, who is seen awaiting the arrival of a taxicab. This type is said to be exceedingly amusing to the ladies. A street urchin is next given, in which he tells the story of a lad who has been driven from home to the mercy of the workhouse keeper and the scorn of his friends. All of Mr. Clark's characters are made convincing without the aid of trickery or the slightest touch of exaggeration. His offering runs the gamut from youth to the aged and in each he depicts the character so vividly that it seems to be some one from real life instead of a character study presented by a talented artist. No one can tire at this finished character delineator. He is appealing with a magnetic distinctiveness that raises him above all others in his line of work.

As a juggler of everything in general, the great Charles Montrell stands without a peer. His work covers various skillful and daring feats from manipulating billiard balls to Japanese balancing stunts, all marvelous to a superlative degree. Montrell's work is characterized for its mile-a-minute swiftness and he never allows his performance to lag in interest, even when he is changing objects. The famous juggler has also a black-face assistant who adds considerably to the merry-making, with some ludicrous antics and it is said that he smashes enough crockery in his attempts to accomplish a balancing feat, to start housekeeping. Mr. Montrell is returning to America from tremendous continental success and will be one of the distinct features of the Empress bill.

One of the daintiest specialties in vaudeville will be given by the Two Roses, two charming young women who have arranged an excellent musical and singing number. All of the fragrance that their name suggests is upheld in their offering, which is distinctly new and original. Young and pretty, gowned in neat but not showy frocks, these girls present a very pretty picture. They play the violin, piano, 'cello and cornet and their repertoire is comprised of popular and classical compositions, and they present their various specialties with an artistry rivaling the greatest virtuosi.

As the added feature for the week, Carlyle Moore and Ethlyn Palmer will be seen in a new playlet by Mr. Moore entitled "Ambition." While the central theme of the little drama is identical with that of Robertson's "Davy Garrick," save that it is an actress instead of an actor who endeavors to persuade the loved one that affection is mistakenly bestowed, yet it manages to present in an original manner with really creditable skill the old question of the church vs. the stage. Ethlyn Palmer appears as Grace Briarton, the actress, and Carlyle Moore in the duel role of John Davidge, a clergyman, and his son, Hugh Davidge, the lover in the sketch. Yielding to the plea of the clergyman father, who airs his views upon the stage and its people, the actress consents to persuade the boy to relinquish all thought of marrying her. With the aid of a make-up box, she manages to appear as a drunken woman of 50, presumably her mother, but all efforts to break down the boy's affection prove futile and the approved happy ending results. It gives an opportunity for these distinguished players to display their excellent talents and it is said to be thoroughly brilliant and full of integrity of true art.

The moving pictures for the week will be of the usual high standard. Matinee daily at 2:45. Evenings 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either 'phone one week in advance. Special school children's matinee every Saturday at 2:30. All scholars under 14 years of age admitted for, 5 cents. Special attention paid to the comfort and entertainment of ladies and children at all times.

In two weeks, commencing Sunday, Sept. 17, the Empress will close for two weeks to undergo improvements to the extent of $10,000, which will include new decoration throughout, new scenery, all new and comfortable seats, and a new $3,000 ventilating plant, which will make the Empress one of the most thoroughly modern, comfortable and pretty vaudeville theaters in the Northwest. During the two weeks the Empress is closed, the Empress shows will be presented at the Lyceum theater.

AT THE AUDITORIUM

After running all through the hot months of the summer, when roller skating in most cities is not even thought of the fall and winter season will be inaugurated at the big Auditorium rink, starting the middle of the present month.

There is no question but that skat-

GUS A. FORBES,
Who Will Appear in the Last Bill of the Summer Stock Engagement at the Lyceum Next Week.

AT THE ORPHEUM

No less a personage than "The Duke of Duluth" will headline the Orpheum bill next week.

In everyday life "The Duke of Duluth" is Nat M. Wills, tramp monologist.

Several years ago Nat M. Wills created the character of "The Duke of Duluth" in the musical comedy of that name, and played the role in every large city in America. So widespread was the advertising he gave the city whose name he bore that when he arrived in his dukedom, otherwise Duluth, he was met at the train by a delegation of city officials and prominent citizens, and the freedom of the city was conferred upon him. Later Nat was loaded on the rear end of a salvage wagon belonging to the fire department, and he was drawn through the streets of the city, preceded by the Third Regiment band. During the two or three days that Nat was in Duluth he owned the city.

Since those days Nat has discarded his dukedom, but claims a kingdom now. He claims to be the king of monologists, or at least of tramp monologists, and if the man with the heaviest pay envelope is entitled to the crown, Nat probably draws it. He is said to be the highest salaried monologist in vaudeville at the present time.

Since his musical comedy days he has toured Europe, and he has now returned for a tour of the Orpheum circuit. His act consists of his monologue and several songs. He appears in the typical tramp costume, and he has been leaving a trail of convulsed audiences behind him in his trip across the country.

Second on next week's bill will be the act which was the sensation of the Orpheum road show last year, La Titcomb.

La Titcomb is known as "The Singer on Horseback," Attired in spotless white, she appears before a dark velvet curtain and sings several songs from the back of a spotlessly white horse which is draped with spotlessly white trappings.

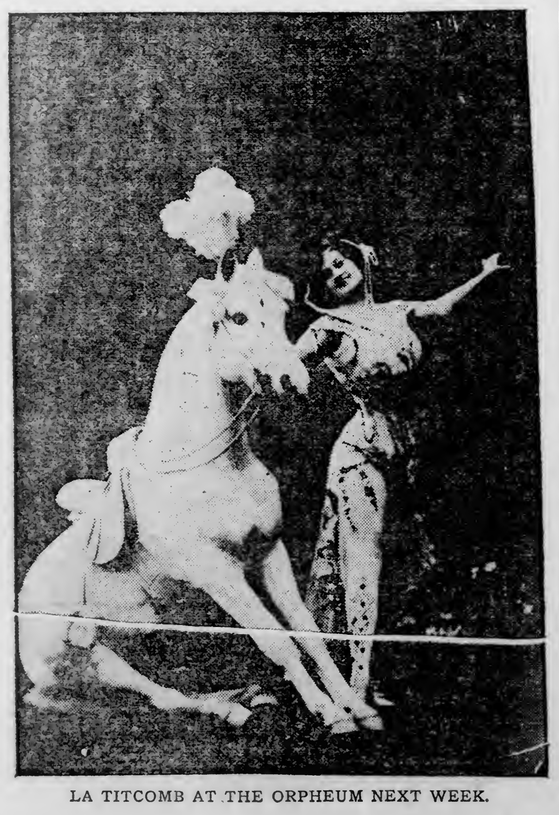

Not the least striking part of the picture is La Titcomb herself, who is said to be a woman of exceptional beauty. In addition to her songs she gives a short exhibition of dancing and some "high school" riding stunts.

Third on the billing will be a big musical act presented by the Six Brown Brothers. These six brothers—who are real brothers—have been in vaudeville almost since infancy. They are versatile musicians, playing a dozen different musical instruments. Their act includes selections on the cornet, the trombone, the saxaphone and several other instruments. One of the brothers is the comedian of the troupe, and the act is said to be replete with clean, clever comedy.

Last season there was conducted in New York, by Variety, the vaudeville managers' organ, a contest to determine the best all-around vaudeville bill that could be selected. The bill was not actually presented, but the seven acts were chosen from all the acts known to vaudeville, to form the ideal vaudeville bill. It was supposed to be a well balanced bill containing an acrobatic act, a musical act, a sketch, a big headline feature, a dancing act and a dialogue and a novelty. Among the many acrobatic acts that were mentioned, Pederson Brothers secured the largest number of votes, and they were awarded the position on the bill. The Pederson Brothers will be in Duluth next week, and will present their act as the acrobatic feature of the program. One of the novel stunts they present is known as the Pederson trick. One of the brother suspends himself from the horizontal bar by his feet, and then holding his body in a horizontal position swings himself around in a circle. The act has its comedy features—in fact, the two brothers emphasize the comedy part of the act fully as much as the acrobatic.

Barnes, Reming and company present a comedy sketch entitled "Mrs. Potter's Second." It is the story of a woman who is continually praising her first husband to her second. In desperation, her second husband hits upon a plan to break his wife of this habit, and the results of this plan form the comedy situations for the sketch. Mr. Barnes, for several years, played the role of the squire in "Way Down East" and he has no mean reputation as an actor, both in the legitimate field and in vaudeville. His present sketch has been most successful as a laugh getter around the circuit.

One of those smart song and dance turns that are always welcomed by a vaudeville audience, will be presented by Williams and Segal. ing has been made popular here, because of Duluth's fine rink and because of the up-to-date methods employed in conducting the Auditorium. With the coming of the fall and winter season there will be many innovations and many new features introduced. Amateur races are being considered as a weekly feature, and there will also be a big fall carnival, a two-step skating tournament and other features. There will be the regular program this evening and the grand march feature tomorrow evening.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

If Nora Bayes makes $1,000 every week in "Little Miss Fix-It" how much is Jack Norworth?

Alice Lloyd is in Paris buying gowns for her coming tour in a musical comedy under the management of Werba & Luescher.

Mizzie Hajos of the California "Spring Maid" company does not pronounce her name "Hay-jus," nor "Hai-jus," nor "Hah-jus," nor "Hah-yus," nor yet "Hah-yos," but "Hah-Yosh." Say it.

Just because Clara Lipman wrote "Elevating a Husband" for Louis Mann is that any reason why Werba & Luescher should star her in "It Depends On the Woman?"

Christie MacDonald, the prima donna of "The Spring Maid" is only five-feet-two, but she has a smile that is said to reach from the stage to the last row in the gallery.

Wilkie Bard, the English music hall favorite who comes to America next year refused an offer of $3,000 a week for a tour in vaudeville. He prefers to make his American debut in a musical comedy production.

Louis Mann, who is a Werba-Luescher star this season, began rehearsals last week of his new character comedy "Elevating a Husband," written for him by his wife, Clara Lipman and Samuel Shipman. Mr. Mann's role presents him in an entirely new character without either the German, French or any of the other dialects which he has heretofore employed.

One fatal night during the run of "Little Miss Fix-It" in Chicago, Nora Bayes yielding to repeated calls for an encore to "Turn Off Your Light, Mr. Moonman," sang her old favorite "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly." Since then she has been compelled to repeat the "Kelly" song at every performance. It seems to be so well liked that she has decided to keep it in her repertoire throughout the coming tour of "Little Miss Fix-It."

Rose Stahl arrived from England on the Baltic on Friday last, after spending a vacation of six weeks abroad. Miss Stahl began her season at the Harris theater on August 21, in Charles Klein's play, "Maggie Pepper." She will be supported by the same company that appeared with her during the long run of this play at the Illinois theater, in Chicago, last season.

The chorus rehearsals of "The Quaker Girl," the latest London musical comedy success, which Henry B. Harris will produce in this country the latter part of September, began at the Hudson theater last Monday. The principals, which include Clifton Crawford, began rehearsals on Aug. 28.

Stage Director George Marion, who is looked to star in "The Jolly Peasant," the Viennese "Der Fidele Bauer," is about the busiest man in New York these days. Up to the opening last week of Christie MacDonald's second season he conducted five different rehearsals daily. These were two "Spring Maid" companies for Werba & Luescher, the Eddie Foy and Julian Eltinge companies for A. H. Woods, and a new production for Charles Dillingham which was being rehearsed at night.

With two "Spring Maid" opera companies playing to packed houses and another one in preparation, with Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth breaking all Chicago records in "Little Miss Fix-It," with daily rehearsals of Louis Mann's character comedy in New York and all the detail of three other companies to be attended to, Werba & Luescher still found time last week to sign up Lulu Glaser for a starring tour in a new Viennese opera entitled "Miss Dudelsack," which will open the first week in October.

Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Round Up," under the direction of Joseph Brooks, opens its fifth season at the Boston theater, Boston, on Labor day, with new scenery and costumes. Rapley Holmes will again play the role of "Slim" Hoover, the fat man, whom nobody loves. The play will make a long road tour.

Klaw & Erlanger's wonderful Biblical play, "Ben Hur," which is entering its thirteenth season under the direction of Joseph Brooks, will open its tour later in the year than usual, as a Broadway engagement with a big cast is planned. The chariot race will be staged on a larger and more sensational scale, due to the advances made in stage construction and lighting. In the galley scene the ship will be sunk in full view of the audience, carrying down with it the battling slaves and pirates. An entirely new production will be built and new costumes made. A tour of the larger cities will follow.

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," Klaw & Erlanger's idyll of youth, will make its first tour this season in the third year of its existence. The first season was played in Boston and New England. Not until a year later was the play brought to New York, where it remained during its second year, charming thousands with its simplicity, humor and heart tugs. Edith Taliaferro will play the role of Rebecca when the play opens at the Illinois theater in Chicago in October. "Rebecca" will be seen in all of the leading cities of the South and West. Joseph Brooks will direct the tour.

Klaw & Erlanger will produce Edward Knoblauch's "Kismet" under the direction of Harrison Grey Fiske, with Otis Skinner in the leading role, that of the beggar. "Kismet" has been the sensation of the coronation year in London. Its scenes are laid in Bagdad at the height of that city's greatness. Mr. Knoblauch drew his ideas from the Arabian Nights. The result is an interesting plot which is developed amid scenes of Oriental splendor with glorious pageants, marriage processions, dancing girls, glimpses of life in the harem with a wealth of color and detail that holds the attention from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

Klaw & Erlanger will present Miss Charlotte Walker early in October in a dramatization of John Fox, Jr's., popular novel, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," by Eugene Walter. Miss Walker will play the role of June, the heroine of the tale of the Kentucky mountains. The play will be in four acts. The first act takes place on the trail, the second in the town which John Hale is attempting to develop; the third in June's home in the mountains, and the last is again on the trail in the open. Mr. Walter has made an intensely interesting play, which will lend itself to the big and artistic production that Klaw & Erlanger will give it.

Robert Hilliard under the direction of Klaw & Erlanger begins his fourth and final season in "A Fool There Was"—a coast to coast tour—in Atlantic City, Sept. 28. Remarkable, and in some respects unprecedented, is Mr. Hilliard's record of achievement in the episodic play inspired by Kipling's bitterly satirical play of the vampire woman, who stripped of hypnotic allurement, was "only a rag and a bone and a hank of hair." He is acclaimed as one of the most distinguished of American players. He has filled a round dozen of engagements in the theaters of Greater New York and has revived the curiously fascinating drama again and again before undiminished audiences, in all the large cities of the East and Middle West. During the coming season he will present it for the final times upon the Pacific coast. In the early spring he will return to New York for the production of a new modern play. Supporting Mr Hilliard in "A Fool There Was," will be Alphonz Ethier, George Clare, Reginald Barker, Frank Russell, George Nicholls, Harvey T. Clarke, S. L. Richardson, C. W. Haskins, Virginia Pearson, Stella Archer, Edna Conroy, Ida Desmond,, little "Boots" Wuster, and some twenty others.

TRIXIE FRIGANZA IN THE REAL MUSICAL COMEDY "THE SWEETEST GIRL IN PARIS"

It was along in the first act of "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," according to an interviewer in a Chicago paper recently.

Miss Friganza was very, very amiable. She sat down so she could be more so. The chair creaked.

"Miss Trixie Friganza, what is your name?"

"Delia O'Callaghan."

"Dee—what?"

"Dee—lighted."

"But I thought you said it was Friganza."

"No, you said that."

"But it isn't."

"Oh, yes. You see my father, the O'Callaghan branch of the Shamrock, was a little Irishman with ideas. Those ideas didn't include the stage, so when I decided to become great, I took my mother's name. It's mine legally; I had it fixed that way. And it's a much better stage name than O'Callaghan, isn't it?"

"What about the front section"

"Oh, that Trixie part of it is from a nick-name, Beatrice, they gave me when I was a little bit of a thing."

"What?"

"But I tell you that I was a little bit of a thing. Why, right now, I only weigh 200 and——well, as I was saying, I lived in Fort Scott, Kan., and——"

"You weren't saying that."

"What difference does it make, please? I did live there and am not ashamed of it, but Fort Scott is—at least Fort Scott was the last time I appeared there—in 'The Prince of Pilsen,' you know; one night only, praise be. They looked at me as a dreadful example. I think there must be a lot of O'Callaghans in Fort Scott, that town is so down on the stage. One old friend of my mother—a brave, noble woman," Miss Friganza's voice trembled with appreciative emotion—"had the courage to invite me to tea the day after the show."

Miss Friganza inspected herself in the long mirror critically. There seemed to be no reason why the reflection shouldn't be altogether pleasing, but—

"Do you know, I look as if I was going to have trouble with my throat," said she. "I've eaten a lot of funny things, and I have a horrible suspicion they are not going to do me any good."

Miss Friganza then rose and excused herself.

"I've got to go out on the stage now and fall on Robert Lenard. He's getting flatter every day, and there is no telling how much longer he can stand it. Why don't you stand in the wings and watch the tragedy? Maybe I'll squash him entirely tonight."

Miss Friganza will be seen here as the star in "The Sweetest Girl in Paris" at the Lyceum, Monday and Tuesday, September 4 and 5.

A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance, while at the theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling and on all occasions should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed and is far superior to a powder puff as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a cool delicate bloom to the complexion. Sent anywhere on receipt of five cents in stamps or coin. F. T. HOPKINS, 37 Great Jones street, New York.

BEAUTY TELLS.

Los Angeles Times: Miss Amelia Bingham, president of the Professional Woman's league, said at a recent luncheon in New York:

"Times are changing for the better, but in our sex it is still the pretty and frivolous that succeeds rather than the sensible and hard-working.

"I recall the story of the Gerton girls. The four Gerton girls were all good-looking; indeed, the three younger ones were beautiful; while Annie, the oldest, easily made up in capability and horse sense what she lacked in looks.

"A young chap, very eligible, called on the girls frequently, but seemed unable to decide which to marry. So Annie put on her thinking cap, and, one evening, when the young chap called, she appeared with her pretty arm bare to the elbow and her hands white with flour.

"'Oh, you must excuse my appearance,' she said. 'I have been working in the kitchen all day. I baked bread and pies and cake this morning, and afterward, as the cook was ill, I prepared dinner.'

"'Miss Annie, is that so?' said the young man. He looked at her, deeply interested. Then after a moment's thought, he said:

"'Miss Annie, there is a question I wish to ask you, and on your answer will depend much of my life's happiness.'

"'Yes?' she said, with a blush, and she drew a little nearer. 'Yes? What is it?'

"'Miss Annie,' said the young man, in deep, earnest tones, 'I am thinking of proposing to your sister Kate—will you make your home with us?'"

OLD CUSTOM BRINGS TROUBLE.

London Express: Four young men have been shot at Vex (Valais) by an irate father to whose daughter they had come to pay court. They were refused admission to the house and when they tried to force their way in the father took down his gun and fired. Two of them were slightly wounded and the other two seriously. The father was arrested.

The encounter and its almost tragic ending were due to an ancient custom which prevails in the villages of the canton of Valais and in the Alpine hamlets of the German cantons. After a girl has reached the age of 18 her parents are not surprised to receive the visit of several young men after the day's work to ask to see their daughter and pass a pleasant evening in the family circle. The visit is looked on as a compliment, and as the young men bring with them wines and food they are generally welcomed by the parents. The custom, which is known as the "Veillee," results in introductions and often in marriages.

GEORGE TYLER IN MOROCCO.

This is a photograph of George C. Tyler, the theatrical man, made in Morocco recently. Mr. Tyler visited Morocco to get local color for the Hichens drama, "The Garden of Allah," which is to be produced at the Century theater early this winter. Tyler, his stage manager, and Hichens spent some time in Algiers selecting the scenes for the play which will be one of the most remarkable theatrical productions ever seen in New York.

THE FIGHT TO STOP OVERCROWDING

Housing Problem Not Peculiar to New York—Tenement Legislation of Past Year—Work of National Housing Association.

By JOHN IHLDER.
Field Secretary National Housing Association.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

"The tenement house problem is the greatest problem the city of Indianapolis faces," said Judge Collins last winter when a number of landlords were brought before him charged with responsibility of overcrowding and insanitary living conditions. A few years ago the people of Indianapolis or of any other American city, except New York, would have indignantly denied such an assertion. Today in nearly every municipality, small as well as large, there is at least a group of thoughtful citizens who have begun to ask whether the housing problem is really a local issue of which New York has a monopoly.

During the past year the interest of these inquirers has been stimulated and their hands strengthened by the National Housing association, whose purpose is the improvement of housing conditions, both urban and suburban, in every practical way, bringing home to each community the importance of good housing conditions and the consequence of bad ones. In order to carry out this purpose it offers to aid in the organization of local housing commissions or committees, to assist in the enactment and enforcement of laws that will prevent the erection of unfit types of dwellings and encourage the erection and maintenance of proper ones, to act as a clearing house of information, and to furnish advice and suggestion to all who are interested.

This is a task which demanded to be done. President Robert W. De Forest last month in opening the first national conference on housing in America, which marked the end of the national association's first year of work, told the delegates, who represented sixty-three cities from Boston on the east to Honolulu on the west and from Hamilton, Ont., on the north to Dallas on the south, that the New York tenement house committee had received so many inquiries and requests for aid that it became necessary to create a special organization to take care of them.

The proof that this demand really existed was furnished during the past year—the conference with its 124 representatives of municipal health departments, housing commissions, chambers of commerce, civic leagues and philanthropic societies was, from this point of view, only a ratification meeting. During those twelve months the association had been called on by fifty-five cities. It had added in organizing housing commissions and committees or in putting them on an effective working basis in Middle Western cities, such as Detroit, and Eastern ones such as Albany. It had aided in drafting legislation for Columbus and Cleveland, for Albany, for California, Indiana, Kentucky and Connecticut. It had aided in securing amendments to codes in other places. It had strengthened the New Jersey tenement house commission by showing the need for more inspectors, which have been provided. It had trained two city officials and one executive officer of a voluntary association for the which it had induced those cities and that association to take up. It had conducted two courses in housing in the New York school of philanthropy and had given specail training to those students who showed a marked inclination for the work. It had sent its secretary and field secretary to twenty-three cities, to some of them several times, to address meetings on the subject of housing, to direct preliminary investigations and arouse general interest, to advise regarding local problems, to consult with officials and voluntary organizations.

In addition it has carried on a continuous campaign of education. One of the speakers at the conference declared that the trouble is people do not look around to see what is going on about them. They are ignorant not only of how the other half in a distant section of the city live, but even of how their neighbors in the next block, or in nearby alley houses live. They have eyes which see not. Disease bearing flies from a privy across the alley or from a manure pile a block off wing their way direct to the good citizen's dinner table and his baby's milk bottle though he has never watched their flight. For, old sayings to the contrary nowithstanding, what you don't know does hurt you. It is only when one does know and prevents, that he is secure. And that he may know, know both the cause of his ills and the methods of preventing them the National Housing association is waging its campaign of education. Its series of articles in the Survey on the housing awakening in twenty American cities, large and small, east and west, the material it has supplied to other magazines and to newspapers, and the series of pamphlets dealing with the more general phases of the problem are teaching many eyes to see facts to which before they had been blind.

But having begun to see, it is then high time to act. That action may be productive of results as Lawrence Veiller, the secretary of the association, has prepared a housing program. Individuals acting alone can seldom accomplish much for community betterment. So the first step is the formation of a citizens committee which shall make an intelligent investigation of existing conditions. With facts as a basis this committee may then expect to secure needed legislation. But then, unlike many citizens committees organized to correct social evils, it shall not go out of existence; instead it shall stay on the job to see that its legislation is enforced. Many a law has been put on the statute books as a salve to outraged citizenship. And that is the end of it. This committee is to see that the law is both on the books and in the minds of the proper officials. And it is to see that there are proper officials, for no law enforces itself.

Having progressed so far the committee may take up those interesting questions which arise in every community that has begun to realize the vital importance of decent housing to the health and efficiency of its people: economical and efficient management of inexpensive houses, the selection of tenants, the improvement of the older houses, the study of social conditions, overcrowding, rents, etc., all of which will result in the education of the community, including the tenants and the landlords, and will probably lead to a demand that those who manage or supervise tenant property, even the janitors and city inspectors, shall have had training to fit them for their work.

Out of Duluth's system of beautiful parks and boulevards, with its delightful variety of sylvan scenes and picturesque spots, presenting a natural panorama, which extends from one end of the city to the other, there is only one park which is so situated as to have easy access to the water front. This is beautiful Fairmont park of West Duluth.

Fairmont park in many ways is unlike any other recreation spot in the city. None other has such a combination of picturesque scenes or greater possibilities of becoming the most popular spot in the city's park system. No description could do it justice and only after it has been visited can one fully appreciate this wonderland of rustic beauty.

Not only is Fairmont one of the most attractive parks in the city, but it is, without question, the cheapest. It was bought for a song. The park board only paid something like $4,000 for forty acres along the hillside on either side of the Kingsberry creek, which flows over a cascade of red and gray rocks in a series of waterfalls and rapids.

West Duluth people have taken these facts into consideration and are about to ask the park board for an addition to the park. Nature never intended that Fairmont park should not extend all the way from the hilltop to the shore line of the St. Louis river. Roughly estimated, less than $12,000 has been spent west of the ore docks for park improvements and playgrounds and the West Duluthians feel that they are entitled to what they are asking for.

After leaving Fairmont park, Kingsberry creek winds its way across a flat and terminates in a lagoon bordering on the St. Louis river. Only a few lots on either side of the creek would have to be acquired in order to have the city own the waterway from the park to the river. The proposition which is now being advanced includes the acquiring of the riparian rights on both sides of the lagoon. These banks are high and on the west shore there is a beautiful grove. The water is shallow and the place an ideal one for boating, canoeing, bathing, swimming and all sorts of water sports. The woody promontory affords as fine a picnic ground as one could desire. The place is easily accessible from either of the West Duluth street car lines. At a point west of the proposed lake park, there is a city dock line near the channel of the river. With but little dredging excursion boats could land there.

A Second Lake Harriett.

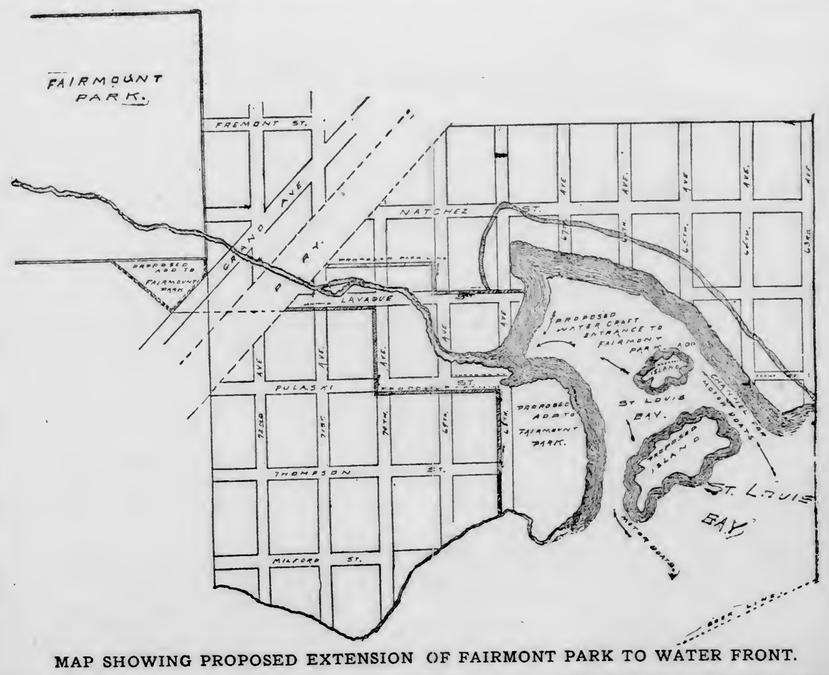

If the proposition which is now being considered goes through, and West Duluthians who are pushing it feel that it will, it will supply for Duluth the kind of a recreation spot that Lake Harriet furnishes Minneapolis. Those who look a little into the future can see where the city park board could make it the most popular place of its kind in the city. It has already been suggested that the city buy a number of row boats and canoes and install them there to be rented out to the general public at a nominal figure, the charge to be only to cover expenses. This sort of recreation would appeal to the average citizen, as it offers a maximum of enjoyment at a minimum of expense.

It is generally believed that the property needed in making this addition to Fairmont park can be bought at a reasonable figure. The flat through which the creek runs is mostly swamp and is practically worthless and could be picked up cheaply, it is said. The water front property would be more costly. Whether the land on either side of the lagoon will be of any value for dock frontage is questionable, as the water is too shallow and would require no end of dredging. A sand bar almost incloses the river's outlet and a sort of an island has risen up out of the water between the two points. Those who are backing the proposition for the new park argue that any fair board of appraisers would set the figure at somewhere in the neighborhood of $30,000 at the most, and it is more than probable that if the property were bought this year that this figure could be cut in two.

The place is unique among the recreation spots of the city. The little lake is sheltered on all sides and even when the chilly northeasters sweep from off Lake Superior, it is still comfortable in this vicinity. As a safe place for bathing and boating it cannot be surpassed. It is naturally a part of Fairmont park and West Duluth people will fight hard for its acquisition.

The idea of the water front park is not exactly a new one. About four years ago, when Dr. I. T. Burnside of West Duluth was a member of the park board he advocated in a quiet way the buying of this strip of land from the park to the river, but as there were no funds for the purpose at that time, the matter was dropped. Recently the West Duluth Commercial club put its shoulder to the wheel and appointed a committee to look into the merits of the proposition and take the matter before the park board. Dr. Burnside, who is considered, in a way, the father of the movement, was placed on the committee. The park board will meet Monday evening and it will probably be given consideration at this time.

It is understood that the appropriation for this year's park improvements has already been spent and that if the proposition is favorably acted upon by the board, that it will not be taken over as park property until next year.

SALAMANDER A UNIQUE REPTILE

Description of New Species of Little Batrachain About Which Many Traditions Are Told.

Nearly every one knows something of the mastodon and mammoth and the other great pre-historic animals, but what of the smaller ones? Take the life-history and traditions of that little batrachian, the salamander, described and figured by the ancient naturalists, Aristotle, Pliny, de Thaum, Porta, Marco Polo and Browne, as well as by those of the present day.

The salamandere is not an especially attractive animal, simply a small amphibian resembling a lizard, but without scales, having a soft, moist skin colored in spots or bands of yellow, orange or brown. In its early life it has an aquatic laveal stage, but in later life it puts aside such childish things as gills, and developing lungs, becomes air-breathing and behaves like an ordinary reptile. For its habitat it chooses dark and damp places, where it leads a quiet, peaceful life, feeding on aquatic worms, insects and very small animals.

One must go back to the mediaeval days for the first reports of this animal. The ancients all agreed that the salamander was a small reptile, a lover of cold and wet, never venturing from its lair except in rainy weather. It was believed by some that, possessing a frigid and moist nature, it was only necessary for a salamander to come in contact with a fire to extinguish it, just as if its body were truly made of ice, while others held that it lived and thrived in fire—two very adverse beliefs, confused by nearly all early writers and yet left uninvestigated for centuries. The fire-resisting charm was even accorded to certain gnomes and sylphs, as well as to the fair water nymph, Undine. And so in fable and mythology the salamander existed for years; considered both fireproof and fire-extinguishing.

Eventually a scientist named Pliny, more practical than his confreres, decided to find the truth of the matter; securing a salamander he put it into a fire, where the early victim of scientific research was immediately consumed while the fire continued to burn. This satisfied Pliny that both the theories were unfounded, but he was unable to convince the world at large and so the tradition obtained.

When asbestos was first discovered it was thought to be salamander's wool and was made into cloth and wearing apparel capable of being cleansed by fire instead of water; a rather advanced and sanitary process for that period. But Browne loosened this theory somewhat in his exposure of vulgar errors, when he declared the salamander to be "a kind of lizzard, a quadruped * * * without woole, furre, or haire" making such wool gathering a most hopeless undertaking. It was Marco Polo, however, who finally demonstrated that the real fireproof substance was asbestos, asserting at the same time that the salamander must be made of this material; a mineral and not a beast.

At one time the salamander had another less acceptable power, that of poisoning whatever it touched, animate or inanimate. This tradition did not last long, and today it is known that this animal is perfectly harmless.

To those interested in the scientific study of this little reptile a paper written by Dr. Leonard Stejneger on three batrachians from Panama and Costa Rica will appeal. This paper is publication 1857 of the proceedings of the United States National museum, and deals with two curious tree toads from Panama and a brand new salamander from Costa Rica. This modern animal, a little over two and a half inches in length, has a smooth brown skin somewhat striped in lighter shade, a wide flat head, and a long cylindrical tail. Dr. Stejneger, the author, has named the new species after the collector, C. Picado, who discovered it in La Estrella, southeast of Cartago, Costa Rica.

TO CUT DISTANCE BETWEEN FRANCE AND UNITED STATES

Plan to Substitute Brest for Havre as the French Port for Steamers From New York.

Paris, Sept. 2.—Claude Casimir Perier, son of the former president of the republic, is making a campaign in favor of substituting Brest for Havre as the French port for steamers from the United States. He admits that the inferior place held by French steamers in Atlantic traffic is due to the activities of the Germans and English in building larger and faster steamers but contends that the French could better their position by reducing the distance between France and New York which a change to the more westerly Brest would bring about. The distance from Brest to Paris is considerably longer than that between Havre and Paris. Nevertheless, M. Perier declares, the inauguration of a series of fast express trains would notably decrease the existing train voyage and the total saving of time between Paris and New York would be at once a distinct advantage to French trans-atlantic traveling.

The remarkable and constant transparence of the atmosphere was the cause of the terrific heat wave in France, according to M. Deslandres, the director of the observatory of Meudon. M. Deslandres made this report to the Academy of Sciences. He added: "This transparence long continuing has brought about the high temperatures. I may add that if it has been an uncomfortable thing for man it has been a helpful condition for astronomers. We have been able to make some remarkably clear observations of the heavens."

The Catholic population of Savoie, forming an impressive procession of many thousands, has participated in the transfer of the ashes of Saint Francois de Sales and Sainte Jeanne de Chantal. The ceremony was held at the village of Annecy. The ashes were taken from the old convent of the Visitation where they had reposed during three centuries and placed in the new convent which the sisters of the Visitation have recently built on the heights overlooking the beautiful Lake Annecy.

Leon Cavallo, now staying at Montecatini, Switzerland, is well along in the composition of a new opera to be produced in Milan and New York. It is named La Foresta Mormora and has only two acts. The story is from a romance by Korolenko. The libretto is by Enrico Cavacchioli.

French hunters are cleaning their shotguns for the annual hunting season opening during the closing days of August and which this year is particularly alluring. Game is abundant. Partridge, pheasant, hare, rabbits, roebuck and even deer have been sighted in unusual numbers in the considerable areas of woodland which do not come under the heading of private hunting grounds.

Of these private grounds there are many. M. Lebaudy, the so-called sugar king, pays $16,000 a year for the right to control the hunting in the famous forest of Fontainebleau. But even so, the forest is a public domain and any person who wishes may follow the Lebaudy hunts. In France hunting comes within the ambitions and reach of the masses of the people who may have a fancy for that form of sport. The only requisite after the gun and powder is a governmental permit which costs about $5.60 yearly.

Quantities of game are found within a short distance of Paris. Invitations are already out for the more pretentious hunts of the rich man on his private domain. In these custom dictates that the hunter shall be accompanied by two men, a valet and a guard. Sometimes there is even a third—the gun-carrier. The gun-carrier passes the weapon to the guard who gives it to his master. This complication is a remnant of the magnificent hunts in the early days of France when the joyous tumult of hound and horse, and valet and "piqueur" rang through the court of the chateau.

To the modern hunt many prominent French women of today are ardent devotees. The young Duchess of Noailles is a clever shot, and the Countess of Chevigne, the Duchess d'Uzes, the Countess Le Hon, the Countess de Fels and Madames Georges Raoul-Duval, du Gast, and Brazier all have won their laurels as good marksmen.

THE CUD.

Los Angeles Times: J. G. Phelps Stokes, at the Knickerbocker club in New York, was praising the various country-week associations that are already preparing to give the children of the poor brief country vacations.

"The little urchins," said Mr. Phelps Stokes, "enjoy these healthful holidays, and wonderful are the remarks that the country's strangeness draws from their young lips. One August afternoon a tiny East Sider, pointing to a farmer's herds in a shady meadow, said:

"'Where does the farmer get all the chewing gum for his cows?'"

RAILROAD TO CONNECT WITH TUOLUMNE MINE

Report That Guggenheims Have an Eye on Butte & Superior.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Butte, Anaconda & Pacific Railway company will be connected with the Tuolumne company's mine by Sept. 12 and thereafter the ore from that property will be shipped direct to the Washoe smelter in Anaconda, which will do away with the team hauling of ore and bring about a saving of 60 cents a ton. The spur was constructed by the railway company under an agreement entered into with the Tuolumne company. The work of setting up the new surface equipment of the Tuolumne is now well under way and if nothing happens the plant ought to be in use in the next sixty days. Recently there was a rich strike made on the 1,600-foot level. The drift on that level opened up a 22-foot ore body of bornite and copper glance which is reported to average 12 per cent copper and good silver values. It is the same body which was opened on the 1,400-foot level, but is much wider on the lower level and higher in copper value. The south ledge is being proved up to the surface and just sufficient work outside of that is being done to show that the ore body is of good value. Tuolumne will average close to 200 tons a day for August.

Davis-Daly.

The shipping of ore from the Colorado mine of the Davis-Daly company to the Washoe smelter is going along at the rate now of nearly 100 tons a day, although at the start only about fifty tons were sent out. The force of men has been increased and it is stated that there is enough ore blocked out to maintain daily shipments of 100 tons for many months to come. While the officials will not say much about the grade of ore being hoisted it is learned that it is running somewhere along 5 and 7 per cent and is being mostly secured from the 1,700-foot level west, which is at a point directly under the large business section of the city.

Butte and Superior.

Once more the report is put in circulation that the Guggenheims have an eye on the Butte & Superior property, quite generally conceded to be one of the best zinc mines in the country. It is known that the big financial concern some time ago had an inspection made of the property by expert zinc men, but whatever negotiations were in progress at that time fell through. Only about one month ago some of the big men of the Utah Copper company, with experts, came to the city and spent several days examining the mine and making visits to the Basin Reduction works, where the ore is treated. It was announced at the time that the visit of these men had no significance, but within the last few days rumors have been put in circulation that D. C. Jackling and others when here were acting for the Guggenheims, who, in securing an interest in the property, proposed to see to it that the concentrator which it is proposed to build will be equipped with the very latest machinery procurable for the treatment of the ore at the least possible cost.

That the Guggenheims are prepared to increase their interests in the West whenever desirable properties can be secured there is no doubt, and those who pretended to know exactly what is going on are satisfied that Guggenheim influence in the management of the Butte & Superior will be felt in the near future.

Ohio Copper.

Heinze has gone to Salt Lake and the report is quite generally circulated that his particular business is to look over the Ohio company property and arrange for the transfer to other interests. It is stated that he has really control of the property at the present time, but affairs are in such a condition that money is needed to carry on operations and that those who stand willing to put up the required capital will not do so until Heinze relinquishes his control of the management of the company. This, it is understood, he is now willing to do under certain conditions, and an announcement is expected in a short time of a reorganization of the Ohio Copper

Consultation Over Suits.

Attorney C. F. Kelley, chief counsel of the Amalgamated Copper company, was recently called to New York, and it is understood that the business which took him there was for consultation in regard to the Alice and other suits pending, and which will come to trial in the next few months.

Change of Venue Asked.

A change of venue has been asked in the case of the Anaconda Copper Mining company against the Butte-Ballaklava company, the latter concern, through some of its leading officials, declaring that a fair and impartial hearing of its case could not be secured in this county or inthe county of Deer Lodge, where the Washoe smelter is located. The affidavits submitted in the case have been prepared by Manager Nelson and others and allege that in view of past experiences no concern not in sympathy and in working agreement with the Amalgamated company can secure a fair trial in Silver Bow county. It is stated that Heinze was able to get along until he lost control of the judges, and then the company placed Heinze in such a position that he was compelled to sell out. It is also declared that the Amalgamated company secured such a control of the political, commercial and social conditions in this city that Senator W. A. Clark was also compelled to sell his properties to the Amalgamated company. Mr. Nelson goes into the jury system and says that men selected to pass on cases are afraid to go against the company for fear that they would lose their positions, while the Credit Men's association are accused of being in league with the Amalgamated Copper company to the extent that men may be put out of business by being refused credit if they oppose the company rule. James A. Murray, banking and mining man, who is not considered on very friendly business terms with the Amalgamated company, indorses in another affidavit all that is said by Mr. Nelson. Mr. Murray has large banking interests in Seattle and this city and has been mixed up in mining suits with the Anaconda company. There is another affidavit by C. W. Newton a superintendent of the Butte-Ballaklava company, and he also draws a picture of the alleged conditions existing so far as trial by jury is concerned in this county. The affidavits are indorsed by several men who have been working for the Butte-Ballaklava company, and they declare that the company cannot secure a fair trial in this county.

A few days ago an action was started by John Kerrigan against John O'Meara demanding $5,600 as one-half the price paid for the Butte-Ballaklava lode claims, it being alleged that O'Meara received $11,000 for the claims and failed to turn over one-half to Kerrigan.

Butte Central.

The last return on a fifty-ton car of ore from the Ophir mine of the Butte Central Copper company netted $1,825 and every carload so far shipped to the Washoe smelter has averaged $1,800, which clearly indicates that the mine is turning out some very rich ore. All the ore just now is coming from the 300-foot level, and Supt. McConnell is very positive in his declaration that the same rich quality of ore will be found on the 500-foot level and deeper. By the middle of September the shaft will be down to 1,000 feet, and after a station is built on that level, cross cutting will be commenced. Mr. McConnell says that the returns from the ore are more than paying for the mining operations, including development work and shaft sinking. With an idea of reducing the operating expenses electricity is about to be introduced, the first step in this direction being now made by the installation of an electrically driven air compressor with a capacity of 700 cubic feet of air per minute. An electric pump is next to be put in and before many months it is not improbable that electricity will be used for ore hoisting. It is at least 35 per cent cheaper than steam, according to reliable authorities. The ground is being prepared for the construction of the new concentrator and the material is expected to arrive here in a short time. The machinery has been ordered and barring unforeseen delays the company will have its mill in operation some time in December.

North Butte.

The North Butte company has finished the sinking of its shaft down to a depth of 2,900 feet, and a station is being cut on the 2,800-foot level. This work was started a week ago and will take several weeks to finish. As soon as the station is completed the work of cross-cutting for the Jessie and Edith May veins will be commenced. Then some of the richest ore yet encountered in the whole property is expected to be opened.

East Butte.

The surface improvements at the East Butte property are nearing completion and the new work going on at the smelter, including the new stack and dust chamber, will be finished in the course of another month. The company is continuing hoisting about its usual amount of ore each month, and in addition is carrying on extensive development work and large bodies of ore are being opened up. When the East Butte feels that the market is favorable, it will be in a position to double its shipments.

COALITION MINES OPERATED AS ONE

Three Properties Are Now Worked Through One Shaft.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 2.—The three Butte Coalition mines—the Tramway, Rarus and Minnie Healey—have been combined into one operation, and ore from all three is now hoisted through the Tramway shaft, called No. 1. The Rarus main shaft is now called Tramway No. 2 and the Rarus air shaft, Tramway No. 3. The Minnie Healey shaft has long since been abandoned. Tramway No. 2 shaft is being retimbered for the purpose of operating a chipple cage for lowering men and supplies, and the retimbering will be continued to the 1,200-foot level.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Bismarck Property to Have 300-Ton Treatment Plant.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 2.—President F. B. Hitchings and associates of Chicago have begun preparatory work for the construction of a 300-ton treatment plant at the property of the Bismarck Mining company on Alder creek, adjoining the Wasp No. 2 ground. The Bismarck took over the old Alder creek property from John A. Sandholm and associates of Des Moines and began development. They have exposed a good sized body of ore which is said to average around $4 a ton gold, or better than the Wasp ore, although it is not so situated as to be so ecenomically handled.

Fluorine, which when found in connection with a phonolitic material is considered an almost sure indication of highly mineralized ground, has just been located in quantities on the property of the Echo Gold Mining company in the Maitland district. The company only recently found a phonolite dike about 600 feet above the creek level which is traced across the property. The fluorine was found in a drift now in thirty feet being driven in a quartz formation. It is similar in character to the deposits in the North Homestake and Hidden Treasure, both of which have good ore bodies.

At a meeting of the directors of the Wasp No. 2 company held here, T. J. Grier, superintendent of the Homestake Mining company, and a heavy stockholder in the Wasp, a close corporation, was chosen director to succeed the late William L. McLaughlin. The stock is held by Lead and Deadwood capitalists.

EDUCATIONAL.

Wisconsin State Mining Trade School

Fall term begins September 6, 1911. Offers complete Mining Course in two years. Special courses in Surveying, Drawing, Assaying, Mineralogy, Coal and Metal Mining, Machinery, Designing of Mine and Mill Equipment.

ADVANTAGES

Close to many important Mining, Milling and Smelting operations.

Excellent facilities, thoroughly up-to-date equipment in all laboratories and shops. Practical instructors.

Large gymnasium, tennis and athletics.

Expense low.

Cost of living reasonable.

New departments, New Machine Shop and Ore Dressing Laboratory and added equipment throughout puts the school in condition for the most successful year in its history.

All graduates of the 8th grade or country schools admitted to the first year courses.

Write to-day for Catalog or special information.

AS LOW COST PRODUCER

Of the Red Metal, Lake Superior District Stands Alone.

Total Value of All Lake Mines Placed at $69,815,000.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. James R. Finlay in his report on the Lake Superior copper mines made to the state tax commission places the total value of all mines at $69,815,000. The great Calumet & Hecla mines are appraised at $31,400,000, and it is estimated have a life of twenty years. The tailings dump of this company, containing 37,000,000 tons of rich conglomerate sands, is given a value of $4,500,000. Six lodes support profitable operations, namely, the Kearsarge, Osceola, Pewabic, Isle Royale and Baltic amygdaloidal beds and the Calumet conglomerate bed. The Lake Superior district stands alone as a low cost producer of the red metal.

Tamarack.

The Tamarack Mining company has reduced operations in No. 5 shaft to single shift and curtailed working forces generally. The mine is old and deep and greatly impoverished at depth, so that operations in more recent years have not proven profitable. There is some likelihood of a complete cessation of work.

Oneco.

The Oneco Copper Mining company is making excellent progress in shaft work in the so-called Oneco lode. A depth of 830 feet has been attained. No attention is being given to lateral openings, and every effort is being bent upon reaching the 1,400-foot level in this shaft with as little investigation of the lode was made at the 700-foot level. Nothing of importance was disclosed. Drill borings taken from the 1,400 evel were altogether encouraging and commercial ground is anticipated at this depth in the shaft.

Hancock.

The Hancock Consolidated Mining company is pushing development work in the so-called No. 3 lode. Commercial ground is being exposed with encouraging regularity. The upper laterals in this lode are particularly promising, and such ground as is being shipped continues to yield around eighteen pounds fine copper per ton of rock milled. The lower laterals opened to lesser extent make no such showing, but are for a greater part in copper ground of apparent commercial quality. Shaft work is centered in the big vertical opening designed to tap the Quincy-Pewabic lode at around 3,500 feet from surface. The shaft is sinking at the rate of seventy feet monthly, and is nearing 2,900 feet in depth. This lode is the master formation of the lower end of the North Range and is confidently expected to make a big mine in the Hancock acreage.

Mass.

The Mass Consolidated Mining hole in the series that were put down for the purpose of making a geological cross section. Further diamond drilling will be temporarily suspended. Activity is centered in development work in shafts B and O, with generally good results. The character of the ground opened in O shaft in particular merits mention. This end of the property has been opened to a depth of approximately 1,000 feet. In B shaft operations have been carried to a depth of 1,400 feet. Drifting is in progress on the second, fifth, sixth, eighth, tenth and fourteenth levels in the several lodes opened by this shaft, and a few stopes opened in years past are being wrought with excellent results. The company continues to make an average production, shipping around 7,000 tons rock per month yielding between 110,000 and 125,000 pounds fine copper. The average recovery from rock milled during August was close to twenty pounds fine copper per ton of rock shipped or about two pounds per ton better than the averago for the first seven months in 1911.

TOOELE SMELTER TREATS MUCH ORE

Salt Lake, Utah, Sept. 2.—The 200-foot stack of the lead plant at the International Smelting and Refining company at Tooele has been completed and the steel can now be set as soon as it arrives. The smelter is now handling 600 to 700 tons of ore each day, most of which comes from the Utah Consolidated at Bingham with high grade silicious silver ores and concentrates from the South Utah. Four of the five international furnaces are now operating. A contract has practically been completed for the handling of the ores from Clark's Ophir mine. This will amount to 100 tons a day. Other lead ores will come from the Coeur d'Alene mines of Idaho, from Park City and Tintic mines. In addition to the Utah ores it is expected that Giroux (Nev.) ores will soon be coming to Tooele. It is expected that the smelter by the end of the year will be treating 1,200 tons of copper ore and 500 tons of lead ores daily.

The Gold Chain and Opohongo in Tintic have closed down for three weeks to allow of installing the joint hoisting and power machinery, all of which has been received.

A statement has been issued by the Utah Consolidated Mining and Milling company, which furnishes the larger part of the tonnage for the International smelter at Tooele, saying in effect that three weeks ago there was a decided change in the character of the rock in the fissure at the level 200 feet below the tunnel. Since then the management has run 200 feet further east, following the fissure, and at present an upraise is being driven, the rock in which is highly mineralized, showing values in gold, copper, silver and iron. From present indications the ore lies above the upraise now being worked.

CONVENTION BIG SUCCESS

Lake Superior Mining Institute on the Menominee Range.

Inspection of Mines Enjoyable and the Discussions Instructive.

A number of most successful annual meetings have been held by the Lake Superior Mining Institute since its organization at Iron Mountain, Mich., in March, 1893. None, however, have been more largely attended nor more thoroughly enjoyed than that which took place on the Menominee iron range last week. Approximately 250 persons were present at the convention, and with others participated in the jolly outings and other features of the elaborate entertainments provided by the mining men and the hospitable people of Iron and Dickinson counties, Mich. All districts of the Lake Superior iron and copper counties were represented, and in addition members of the Institute resident elsewhere in the Union were included in the assemblage.

Since the formation of the Institute eighteen years ago, meetings have been conducted annually with the exception of 1897, 1898 and 1907. The recent convention was the sixteenth, and it marked the fourth time that the mining men have been the guests of their fellows of the Menominee range. The last previous occasion that the Institute had assembled in the district was in 1905. The range, and particularly its western portion, has been a scene of important development the past six years, and thus there were a great many new and interesting things to see. The inspection of the mines and the country in general in itself furnished an enjoyable feature, the papers and the discussions at the business sessions were instructive and timely, the program of accompanying events has never been surpassed, the weather man was kind. The visitors were, indeed, delighted to the utmost.

Visit to Mines.

Crystal Falls had been announced as the rallying point for the excursion, and as early as Monday, the 21st, visitors began to arrive at the Iron county city, a special train of six private cars pulling in with the Minnesota delegation. Headquarters had been established at the Commercial club, with Institute Secretary Yungbluth and assistants in charge. A reception committee met every train, and by Tuesday noon practically all the delegates had arrived and registered. The sight-seeing program opened in the early afternoon with a visit to M. A. Hanna & Co.'s Hollister mine. The trip was made by special train, on which dinner was served. The Hollister property is unique in that it produces the wettest iron ore mined in the Lake Superior country. The mineral has the appearance of a greasy clay as it comes out of the crusher, to which it goes directly after coming out of the ground. It contains 10 per cent moisture. Hanna & Co. have recently installed a dryer at which the product is treated, and the operation of this plant was inspected with interest. The dryer eliminates fully two-thirds of the water, not only increasing the market value of the ore but reducing the cost of its transportation.

From the Hollister the excursionists proceeded by train to Corrigan, McKinney & Co.'s Tobin mine, one of the largest properties of the Crystal Falls district. The Tobin is capable of producing upwards of 400,000 tons of ore per annum, although not operated on that basis in the present depressed state of the iron trade. The mine has electric haulage both above and below ground. At the Tobin, the mining men watched with interest the working of a safety clutch. A cage equipped with the device was hoisted by a hemp rope, the rope was cut and the cage set free. The cage fell only a few inches before the safety clamps caught in the runners and stopped the descent.

The latter part of the afternoon of Tuesday was spent at Idlewild park, on Fortune lake. The trip to this beauty spot was made by automobile. The feature of the entertainment at Idlewild was a huge barbecue at which 600 persons were served and at which the Crystal Falls Commercial club was the host. The return to Crystal Falls was made by train, and at 8 o'clock p. m. the first business session of the Institute took place. The meeting was held in the Iron county courthouse, with Capt. William Richards, general superintendent of the mines for Corrigan, McKinney & Co., and retiring president of the Institute, presiding. Interesting papers were presented by A. M. Gow of Duluth, Minn., an official of the Oliver Iron Mining company, and Charles E. Lawrence of Iron Mountain, Menominee range superintendent of the Pickands, Mather & Co. properties, the latter treating of "The Social Surroundings of the Mine Employe." Mr. Gow dwelt upon the safety devices installed by his concern, the mining end of the United States Steel corporation, and he illustrated his discourse with lantern slides.

To Stambaugh and Iron River.

Two special trains and a number of automobiles conveyed the visitors to the Stambaugh and Iron River districts Wednesday morning. The first stop was at Pickands, Mather & Co.'s Baltic mine. This property is idle at present and the time spent there was devoted to an inspection of the finely constructed and well-arranged clubhouse the mining company has provided for its employes. The Youngs mine of the Bartow furnace interests of Cleveland was visited, and then the Caspian. This latter is another property of the Pickands-Mather interests, and, like the Baltic, it is out of commission at present. The Caspian possesses a very large ore body and is excellently developed. The Oliver company's Dober mine next attracted the visitors. An interesting sight here was the piles of sulphur taken out in the course of underground development work. This material is found in the black slates of the footwall and has the peculiar tendency to burn when exposed to the air. The last property visited in the Iron River district was the Mineral Mining company's James mine, the operation of which only recently was suspended. The James is provided with a steel shafthouse and concrete engine and boiler houses, and these structures were carefully looked over.

Arriving at the village of Iron River the mining men were regaled with a luncheon served aboard the cars by a Milwaukee catering company, after which an adjournment was taken to the town hall, where the second business session was held. At this meeting a number of papers were read, Prof. Sperr of the Michigan College of Mines led a lively discussion with reference to a number of points brought out, and the officers for the ensuing year were elected. Papers were presented as follows:

"Top Slicing and Caving System of Mining in the Stambaugh District," W. A. McEachern.

"Tobin Mine Sub and Caving System," Fred C. Roberts.

"Surveying and Sampling Diamond Drill Holes," Edwin E. White.

"The Relation of the Mining Institute to the Prevention of Forest Fires," Thomas B. Wyman.

The New Officers.

The newly elected officers are:

President, F. W. Denton, Palnesdale, Mich.; vice presidents, George H. Abeel, Ironwood, Mich., Graham Pope, Houghton, Mich., W. H. Jobe, Stambaugh; managers, M. H. Godfrey, Coleraine, Minn., James E. Jopling, Ishpeming, Mich.; treasurer, Edward W. Hopkins, Commonwealth, Wis.; secretary, A. J. Yungbluth, Ishpeming, Mich.

The officers holding over another years are: Vice presidents, E. D. Brigham of Chicago and C. H. Munger of Duluth; managers, Peter Pascoe of Republic, Mich., L. C. Brewer of Ironwood and J. B. Cooper of Lake Linden, Mich.

F. W. Denton, the new executive, is general manager of the Copper Range Consolidated Mining company. He was the first secretary of the institute and also has served as vice president. E. W. Hopkins, re-elected treasurer, which position he has held since 1903, is general superintendent of the Menominee and Marquette range mines of Ogelbay, Norton & Co. of Cleveland. Andrew J. Yungbluth, secretary since 1901, and re-elected, is auditor of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company. It was announced at the meeting that the institute now has a membership of 545 and is in excellent financial condition. The next convention will be held in the Michiga Copper country, probably in August, 1912.

The entertainment of Wednesday closed with a clam bake at Sunset lake, served at 5:30 o'clock. The lake is four miles from town and the journey to it was made by automobile. The Commercial club of Iron River was the host. Three hundred men were seated at the tables, and that the many good things set before them were relished goes without saying.

The final day of the 1911 session was spent in Dickinson county, in the eastern portion of the Menominee, the trip from Iron River in the morning being made by special trains. The initial stop was at the Loretto mine. This property originally was opened beneath the bed of the Sturgeon river. In 1908, as a matter of safety and also to permit of the extraction of ore otherwise impossible to mine, the course of the stream was shifted to a new channel, excavated for the purpose. The pillars in the older portion of the mine are now being removed and much other ore made available by the diversion of the river is being wor.

At Hydro-Electric Plnut.

Proceeding in a train of seventy automobiles, the visitors were taken from Loretto to the Sturgeon Falls hydro-electric plant of the Penn Iron Mining company, subsidiary to the Cambria Steel company. This plant is a large one, containing two generators of a combined capacity of 3,500 kilowatts, and it supplies the bulk of the power utilized at the Penn group of mines of the Norway-Vulcan district. The visitors found much of interest at these latter properties, and particularly at the Briar Hill, with its deep, inclined conveyance shaft, its electric hoists and its up-to-date miners' change house.

Automobiles carried the party from Vulcan to Iron Mountain, and their dinner over the Chapin mining men were conveyed to Twin Falls four miles north, where the Menominee river is being harnessed by the newly organized Peninsula Power & Development company. The Twin Falls plant will generate 5,000-horse power and is expected to go into commission March 1, next. Electricity will be supplied to mines and other industries at low cost.

The mining men concluded their Menominee range meeting with a visit to the Pewabic and Chapin properties at Iron Mountain, the latter a steel corporation mine and the largest producer on the range. The features of most interest at Iron Mountain were the Chapin's great Cornish pump and the Chapin pit, a huge cavity resulting from the extraction of the ore underneath and which it is necessary continually to keep filling with earth in order to maintain railroad rights-of-way and a highway. The Cornish pump, the largest engine of its kind ever built, is capable of handling 3,000 gallons of water a minute from a depth of 1,500 feet.

The Institute members were highly pleased with their Menominee range entertainment throughout and especially with the barbecue and clam bake in Iron county. At the barbecue, there were served to the 600 diners, a 550-pound ox, a number of lambs, 2,000 ears of corn, bushels of baked potatoes and beans and other savory dishes. An orchestra furnished instrumental music and a quartet imported from Chicago gave vocal selections.

The Clam Bake.

The clam bake, the offering of the Iron River people, was prepared and served by Milwaukee and Ashland, Wis., men, artists in this line. In the preparation of the feast there were used 150 lobsters, four barrels of clams, 150 chickens, 175 pounds of blue fish, 900 ears of corn, four bushels of Irish potatoes, four bushels of sweet potatoes and four barrels of seaweed. Two pits, each 10 feet in diameter and 2½ feet deep, were dug and were lined with stones. Fires were built in these pits and were allowed to burn fourteen hours, consuming in that time fifteen cords of wood, after which the coals and ashes were raked out. On the hot stones were first placed the lobsters and the clams. On these were laid a layer of seaweed, and then followed the chickens, corn, fish, potatoes and another layer of seaweed. The pits were covered with canvas, which in turn were covered with sand, and the foods were permitted to cook and steam about five hours. The result was a feast that every one of the 300 diners pronounced "fit for the gods." The orchestra and the quartet were in attendance again, and for two hours joy and good fellowship reigned supreme.

STEWART COMPANY ISSUES A REPORT

Property Being Operated at Profit of $25,000 a Month.

According to the semi-annual statement of the Stewart Mining company, operating the Stewart mine in the Coeur d'Alene district, the company is in a flourishing condition, physically and financially, and is now operating at a profit of about $25,000 a month.

The total revenue received by the company for the six months ending June 30 amounted to $321,109.61. The total expenses, operating and sundry, amounted to $180,513.51, leaving a net profit of $140,796.10, or an average of nearly $25,000 a month.

The Stewart company is belived to have entirely wiped out their indebtedness, and it is the opinion of many that the company is now able to pay dividends, should it decide to do so. Preparations have been made for the driving of a long tunnel on the property, which will give greater depth on the ore body and materially lessen the cost of production, and it is thought that if dividends are not declared before, they are practically assured upon the completion of this tunnel.

MINES IN GLOBE DISTRICT SOLD

Cole and Goodwin Group of Mines Sold for $150,000.

Bisbee, Ariz., Sept. 2.—Joseph C. Erman recently purchased the Cole and Goodwin group of mines in the Globe district for $150,000. He represents a syndicate.

The Ray Consolidated Copper company is constructing a concrete conduit to give an outlet for the tailings of its concentrator in the Ray district. The mill is now discharging 4,000 tons of tailings a day. The conduit will carry this down into the valley, where it will not mingle with the water of the Gila river.

The Lone Star Copper company recently encountered a fine body of sulphide ore in a tunnel in its Clara mine in the Clifton district.

The Fluorine Mining & Milling company recently encountered a body of rich gold ore that runs from $300 to $400 a ton in its mine in the Pearce district. The drift is in about thirty-five feet in this rich body of ore, which is six feet wide. The company has a stamp mill and cyanide test plant.

A syndicate of San Francisco men is negotiating for the purchase of the placer mines of the McAneny estate in the Greaterville district at $255,000.

The Silver Belt mine in Yavapai county, which is under lease to Ben Rybon, is now producing silver ore that runs as high as $300 to the ton. New ground is being opened up in the mine.

Matthew Guarovich of Jerome has sold his group of claims near Globe to Charles H. Wild and associates and the new owners have formed what is known as the Globe Western Copper company to operate the property. Considerable development work has been done.

IMPROVEMENT AT BUTTE & SUPERIOR

Basin Plant Recovering 90 Per Cent of Mineral Content.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 2.—With the introduction of new and improved machinery in the concentrator at Basin, the Butte & Superior Copper company is now saving about 90 per cent of the mineral content of its zinc ores, and under a still more careful treatment and finer crushing, such as is now being done by the Chilian rolls, it is expected that the saving will be increased to 93 per cent.

The Basin plant is now in excellent conditon, and the experimenting that has been going on for the past year has demonstrated the best methods of treating the ores so that when the mill and concentrator are built at the mine the latter plant will be one of the most approved for the treatment of zinc ores.

It is believed that the breaking of the ground for the concentrator at the mine will commence within the next sixty days. It is known that plans for the concentrator have been decided upon, and with the company in its present strong position financially there does not seem to be room for a doubt that the concentrator will be built and in operation early next year. It is understood that orders have been given for much of the necessary machinery.

Physically, the Butte & Superior was never in better condition. Considerable development work has been done during the past few months and there is now blocked out more than 1,000,000 tons of ore which will average close to 26 per cent zinc. Recent assays of ores taken from the 1,000 to 1,600-foot levels give returns as high as 38 per cent zinc and eighteen ounces of silver to the ton. The average is about 26 per cent zinc. There is also on some of the levels a distinct lense of copper ore which it is believed, if followed up, will lead to strong copper deposits.

If a store could be run without buyers, it would not be necessary to advertise.

SOX BEATEN BY RED HOSE

Second Game of Series Goes to Superior By 2 to 0 Score.

Johnson Holds the Slugging Taylorites After Opening Round.

Superior yesterday won the second game of the series between the two teams at the Head of the Lakes, the score being 2 to 0. The victory of the Red Legs leaves the two teams even in the games so far. Johnson was on the mound for the Sox and pitched a clever article of ball. Big Dunbar was on the mound for the Taylorites and held the Duluthians with a heavy hand of cunning curves.

Both of Superior's scores came in the first inning. After that, the kid settled down and pitched air tight baseball. But for this bunching of hits right off the red, it is very probable that the contest would have gone to extra innings.

Bancroft filed to Olson in left to start Superior's half of the opening round. Cy Bennett walked and Landry singled past Leber. Dolan singled to right and Bennett was over and Landry was on third. Hoffman singled by third and the second score of the game was in. The next two men were retired.

From the fatal first inning the Red Legs could not do very much with the curves of Johnson. He kept getting better as the game progressed. But Dunbar was as steady as the old rock of Gibraltar and the White Sox could not get a man by second base during the game. Throwing out the bunching of hits off Johnson in the first round, the game was one of the prettiest pitchers' battles seen at the Head of the Lakes this present season.

McGraw's throw in from right in the eighth inning was one of the features of the game. This was the only inning after the first that the Red Legs threatened to score. With Landry on second in this round, Dolan hit a long single out to right. McGraw gathered in the ball on the bounce and pegged true to the plate, the throw nipping Landry at the run register.

The hitting of Biddy Dolan was the feature of the game. Out of four times up he drew a base and got three singles.

The score follows:

EAU CLAIRE TAKES GAME FROM LA CROSSE.

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 2.—Eau Claire had little trouble in winning the second game of the series here yesterday by the score of 4 to 1. Chase twirled one of the best games he has pitched this season. Brenton was wild and erratic, having three wild pitches, hit one man and passed three. But for the error of Foss the locals would have scored a shut out.

PIRATES ARE BEATEN BY ROCHESTER MEDICS.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 2.—The Medics yesterday defeated the Pirates in the second game of the series, the score being 4 to 2. Baillies was not in the best of form and was hit hard. Reynolds struck out ten of the opposing hitters and was a puzzle to the Pirates in the pinches. The score: R. H. E.

WELLS HAS OFFER FOR FIGHT IN ENGLAND.

New York, Sept. 2.—George McDonald, manager of Matt Wells, the champion English lightweight, who defeated "Knockout" Brown Wednesday night in Madison Square Garden, announced that he received an offer of $30,000 for a bout in London between Wells and Packey McFarland or Wells and Ad Wolgast.

McDonald said he would do nothing until after the McFarland-Wolgast bout in Milwaukee, when he would begin negotiations looking to putting Wells in the ring at London or some Western city in this country in a bout to be staged by Tex Rickard. It is understood that Rickard stands ready to out-bid any offer from across the water.

DURNAN AND HACKETT READY FOR SCULLING RACE ON RAINY RIVER

HACKETT ON THE RAINY RIVER,
With H. Sullivan, Trainer, and W. Lucy, Backer.

Word comes to The Herald today that Eddie Durnan, the Toronto sculler, generally credited with being the champion single sculler of North America, has arrived at Rainy River, reaching there the day before yesterday and has taken his first row over the course where the race with Hackett will be rowed.

According to the advices received here today, Durnan is in the very best of shape and is ready to row one of the best races of his career. Harry Sullivan, one of the veteran trainers of oarsmen of this country, has been looking after the condition of Hackett, and says the long man of Rainy River is really in remarkably fine shape.

Duluth people will be interested in the fact that R. A. C. Manning of Winnipeg will be the referee. Mr. Manning is very well known in this city. He has for years been interested in the affairs of the Northwestern Rowing association, and was here at the regatta held during last July.

The race will be held on Sept. 7, instead of Sept. 9, as has been stated. The course is for three miles with a turn, and the purse will be $2,000, winner take all.

W. Lucy is the backer of Hackett, and the long veteran of the North country will enter the race a favorite over Durnan, because the people up in the Rainy River country have watched Hackett train and believe he is as good at the present time as he was in the old days, those days when John Hackett was considered the fastest man in America.

Big Crowd Expected.

With both men at Rainy River and taking their final workouts for the race of next Thursday, interest in the contest has increased wonderfully. It is believed that an immense crowd will witness the race. From miles around the Rainy River people will come to the contest, according to the word that has been received here. Many people are also coming from Winnipeg and the country around Kenora, where Hackett did much of his early rowing.

James E. Ten Eyck is going to the race, according to an announcement he made the other day. Some of the other followers of rowing of this city may also take the trip up to Rainy River to witness the contest. No sculling event in recent years has created the interest in Duluth that is being stirred up by the race that will be rowed next Thursday afternoon.

Speculation as to whether Hackett can "come back" has reached that point where people are awaiting eagerly for the result of the meeting. Durnan has met some very good men in his time, and according to general belief he is the fastest man in this country today, unless E. F. Butler, the wonderful young amateur sculler of Toronto, the boy who won three firsts at the recent national regatta at Saratoga Lake, without apparent effort, is a better man.

As in his day, Hackett was undoubtedly one of the greatest natural scullers who ever sat in a shell. Sinewy, powerful and of wonderful endurance, he was one of the distinct figures in American rowing circles of the earlier days. The question is whether he can come to that stage where he is anywhere near as fast as he was in his younger days. The people of Rainy River believe he can, and are said to be backing this opinion with real money.

If the race accomplishes nothing else, it will have created a new interest in sculling in this country. Should Hackett be the winner some of the people of Rainy River have announced their intention of bringing Arnst, the world's champion sculler, a native of Australia to the Northwest to row against Hackett. Such a race would attract attention all over the world.

BOSTON AND BROOKLYN DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Brooklyn won the first and lost the second of a double-header with Boston yesterday. Burke, Brooklyn's twirler in the first game, was taken out on account of wildness. The same defect caused Tyler of Boston to give way to Griffin, who was ineffective and retired in the eighth inning. Boston won the second game by virtue of Brown's steady pitching and by timely hitting.

GIANTS GRAB TWO HARD-FOUGHT GAMES.

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—New York's prospects took a big jump yesterday when McGraw's team won two pitchers' battles here. The first game went eleven innings, Mathewson opposing Moore. The visitors scored the winning run on Fletcher's single and steal and Devore's two-bagger.

In the second contest Marquard pitched the greatest article of ball seen here this season and came near getting a no-hit mark. The only hit made off him was a single by Luderus in the fifth inning. The latter was the only home player to reach first base as Marquard did not give a pass and was accorded perfect support, except for the muff of a foul fly. Marquard struck out ten batsmen and caused fourteen others to go out on fly balls. The New Yorkers won the contest in the eighth inning on the only base on balls Stack gave, a single by Meyers and a fielder's choice, and an error by Walsh. Lobert and Magee collided going after a foul fly and the former hurt his leg so severely that he was forced to leave the game. Scores:

NAPS TAKE CONTEST FULL OF FEATURES.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Four times the great Lajoie stood before the great Walsh yesterday and three times the great Lajoie struck at the thin air. But that was not enough. There was team play—and hitting in the keenest sense of the word which means that there was hitting at crucial moments. Cleveland won, 2 to 1. And besides there was Chouinard, who stood calmly in front of second base while Olson played the old "hidden ball" stunt, and Williams touched him out. It was the feature of an otherwise featureless game, and when Comiskey's team had a chance to win, they failed. Score:

RED LEGS DROP TWO GAMES TO ATHLETICS.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 2.—Although Boston out-batted Philadelphia in both games of a double-header yesterday, the world's champions won out in each contest, 1 to 0 and 3 to 1. The first game was a pitchers' battle between Bender and Cicotte, Cicotte excelling. Yerkes' error gave the Athletics the only run. Uncertain fielding by Boston lost the locals the second game. Scores:

First game— R. H. E.

WASHINGTON BLANKED BY PITCHER CALDWELL.

New York, Sept. 2.—Pitcher Caldwell shut out Washington yesterday, holding the visitors to five scattered hits. Groom was hit for two triples and a double in the second inning and Becker, who succeeded him, was easily found in the fourth and fifth innings. Wolter was put out of the game in the fourth inning for protesting a decision. Score:

SAINTS WIN FROM MILLERS IN BATTING BEE.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—The locals batted Waddell and Loudell out of the box yesterday afternoon and hit Leverett hard, winning the first game of the series from Minneapolis by a 8 to 6 score. Both teams hit hard but Devanitere was strong in pinches. Ferris' hitting was a feature, getting a home run, triple, double and single out of four times at bat. Score:

N. F. DAVIS WILL MEET KENNEDY

Local Stars Will Decide City Tennis Title at Oatka Courts.

Lauren Kennedy, holder of the Hartman trophy, which carries with it the city championship in tennis, and N. F. Davis, winner of the boat club tournament the present season, will meet at Oatka this afternoon to decide the present championship of the city. To the winner of the match played today will go the custody of the cup for one year at least.

It is generally believed that Kennedy has something on Davis, provided he is in his best form. But Kennedy will have to be right to defeat the winner of the 1911 tournament, for Davis is a game and enduring player who makes his opponent travel from the first set to the final game.

Fraker and Le Sure will also meet in the finals of the junior tournament for the possession of the Dickerman cup. Both of the youngsters have been playing a strong game and a good game is looked for.

MILLER AND DAHLGREN DRAFTED BY CINCINNATI

Reds Take Duluth Outfielder and Superior's Star Pitcher.

Toughey Breen Goes to Brooklyn—Brooklyn Gets Greatest Number.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 2.—One hundred and ten minor league baseball players will become members of the major league clubs next season as the result of the drafting process before the national Baseball commission here today. Of this number sixty-three will enter the National league while forty-seven will start their major league careers in the American league. The Brooklyn team of the National league and the Detroit and Cleveland clubs of the American league appear to have been the luckiest in the draw. Brooklyn secured sixteen players while eleven will go to Cleveland. While Detroit only secured nine, yet no less than four of the nine men were drafted by several other teams.

Cincinnati secured Miller of Duluth and Dahlgren of Superior. Breen of Milwaukee goes to Brooklyn. Cravath of Minneapolis, Vitt of San Francisco and Dubuc of Toronto were the best liked players. Detroit secured both Vitt and Dubuc, while Pittsburg secured Cravath, provided a claim submitted by the Philadelphia National league club that it had purchased Cravath is not allowed. In case it is allowed, Cravath will go to Philadelphia, while the Pittsburg club will get another Minneapolis player.

Results of the Draw.

The number of players secured by each major league club follows:

National league—Brooklyn, 16; New York, 5; Cincinnati, 10; Chicago, 5; St. Louis, 5; Philadelphia, 5; Pittsburg, 9; Boston 4.

American league — Cleveland, 11; Philadelphia, 6; Detroit, 9; Boston, 5; Washington, 5; Chicago, 4; St. Louis, 2; New York, 1.

Secretary Bruce previous to the meeting stated that he had received checks from the American league for drafted players, amounting to $78,650 and from the National league for $106,400.

Before the meeting at which the drafts were opened the commission decided to lay the matter of the Eastern league over for the time being.

Among those present at the meeting were the national commission, Frank Navin, Detroit; Charles Murphy, Chicago Nationals; Charles Ebbetts, Brooklyn; E. S. Bernard of Cleveland; John Dovey, Boston Nationals; Fred Lake, St. Louis Americans; Frank Farrell, New York Americans; Robert Hedges, ELMER MILLER.

St. Louis Americans; Horace Fogel, Philadelphia Nationals and a host of minor league magnates, the majority of whom attended the meeting of the commission.

There were no developments yesterday regarding the action that the American association will take on account of the refusal of the national commission to accede to its demands.

There were five drafts in for Crandall of Memphis, and one for Dixon of the same team. The draw showed Dixon as the man subject to drawing. There were nine drafts in for Cravath.

Drafts From Class A Leagues.

The following is the complete list of players drafted from Class A leagues, namely American association, Eastern league, Southern league, Pacific coast league, their clubs and by whom they were drafted:

Hyatt of Kansas City goes to Pittsburg; Hauser of Indianapolis to Boston Nationals; Breen of Milwaukee to Brooklyn; Cravath of Minneapolis to Pittsburg (there is a discussion as to the legality of this draft as it is claimed this player has been purchased. If he has been purchased then Peters of Minneapolis goes to the Chicago Americans); Yingling of Toledo to Brooklyn; Downs of Columbus to Brooklyn; Flynn of St. Paul to Washington American league; Rath of Baltimore to Chicago Americans; Danzig of Sacramento to St. Louis American; Kuhn of Portland to Cleveland; Vitt, San Francisco to Detroit.

The Cincinnati club secured the following players: Beebler, Springfield, Ohio; Bruch, Lynchburg, Va.; Bauserwein, Charlotte, N. C.; Romain, Maysville, Ky.; Miller, Duluth; and Dahlgren, Superior, Wis.

DESMOND DAY SHOULD SET NEW MINNY RECORD

(BY BRUCE.)

The time—tomorrow afternoon; the place—Athletic park; the girl—that's not for us to say.

Are you in on the 6,000 attendence scheme? Come in, the enthusiasm is fine.

Around town, for the past four days, the fans have been talking of Desmond day. It is safe to say that never before in the history of Duluth has there been so much talk about a baseball day.

Go out and ask anyone, "Are you going out to the park on Desmond day?" and his answer will be, "Yep, you bet."

By far the greatest crowd of the Minny league season is expected, if the old weather man will only do his part. There will be a band there, and there will be a speaker to do the honors of the occasion, maybe the mayor—and there will be the White Sox, playing their last but one game of the season, and the Red Legs, the pennant winners of the 1911 season.

Tallyhos, automobiles, trains and runabouts, and the good old trolley cars, will carry the crowd to the grounds. A big block of tickets has been sent over to Superior and has been sold to the fans on the other side of the bay. The delegation from Superior will be the largest, if present indications count, that has ever crossed over to this city to witness a baseball game.

With two great crowds Sunday and Labor day, the management of the Duluth team may be enabled to break somewhere near even. The present season has been a bad one. Practically every good holiday date has been spoiled by adverse weather conditions. Decoration day, Fourth of July, and some of the Sunday games have had to be called off because of rain. The result has been very disastrous for the treasury of the baseball association.

Fans the world over are the fairest minded people who attend any kind of athletic games. That is one of the reasons that has helped to make baseball the great national game, the greatest game in the world. The Desmond day suggestion has met with a great reception here in the city, simply because men, as a rule, admire pluck and gameness, and because, also, most fair minded men hate to see good fellows lose out in trying to support a good institution.

No Favors Asked.

It is not asking a favor—not by any means. No wise athletic promoter asks favors of the public. Instead, he gives the public a run for its money. That's just what the White Sox are doing today. They have been playing great baseball, perhaps the best ball in the league, and those five straight from the Winona Pirates are being lauded in every paper around the circle—all but save the papers in the sad city of Winona.

The press of Rochester has come out and thanked the White Sox for putting the Pirates out of the race. Other papers of the Minny league are saying that the Duluth team has shown some of the greatest baseball of the entire season.

Thursday we won against Superior on the Red Legs' own grounds. Yesterday we lost by a very close score. We want to more than break even in the present series of games, the series that will bring the season to its close. There is nothing like support to help a team to win. It was the rooting of the fans out at the park last Saturday that enabled the team to rally and take the second game from the Pirates. Let's all heave together and give the boys a wave of enthusiasm tomorrow, Desmond day.

Duluth is the biggest and by all odds the best city in the Minny league. During the three years that the Minnesota-Wisconsin league has been in existence the record of attendance has never passed above the 4,000 mark. In the old days the attendance figures probably never reached above that old landmark of baseball interest.

Every indication by which one is able to guage baseball enthusiasm points to the biggest crowd of the season tomorrow. It will be a big feather in the cap of Duluth to shatter the Minny league attendance mark. It will be a help to several men, liked by their fellow citizens of Duluth, who have put their good money up to keep the team going.

Desmond day isn't a benefit, or anything of that kind. The suggestion did not come from any man connected in the remotest way with the baseball association. It will be a mark of appreciation of the team and its backers.

Desmond day is tomorrow, and every fan is wanted at the ball yard.

CONFUSION IN GAME LAWS; ONLY ONE DEER MAY BE SHOT

How many deer will a hunter be allowed to shoot during the coming season. This is a question which is troubling some of the sportsmen who have taken occasion to look up the laws of the last session of the legislature in relation to hunting.

Chapter 93 of the laws of 1911 says that deer may be shot between Nov. 10 and Nov. 30 "but no person shall kill or have in possession during said time more than two deer or parts thereof." It also permits the killing of one male antlered moose. This chapter is an amendment to the general laws of 1905, Section 33, Chapter 344. It was approved April 7.

Then comes Chapter 373 of the laws of 1911 saying, after describing the license necessary, "Any person who has paid such fee and procured such license to hunt game animals, may during the open season hunt, take, and kill one (1) moose, and one (1) deer." This section has nothing to say limiting the moose hunting to males or grown moose. It is an amendment to Section 34, Chapter 344 of the 1905 laws. It was approved April 20, thirteen days after the previous amendment.

The attorney general has ruled on this apparent confusion, however, and he answers the hunters' queries very definitely. Only one male antlered moose and only one deer may be killed by any hunter in Minnesota during the coming season.

FROM RAZOR TO STARDOM

King Cole Was Once a Barber in Small Michigan Town.

Was Also Star Twirler for a Bloomer Girls' Team.

Born or poor but particular parents, raised with the cabbages and tasseled corn of an Iowa farm near Toledo, Leonard Leslie Cole, destined to become one of the greatest pitchers of his age, spent the first fifteen years of his beginning fitting himself for the profession of a barber. From the first young Leonard displayed the code marks of genius about his ears, writes Rex Conner in the Chicago Journal.

The wicked city had no call for him and he remained in the rural quarantine of his virtuous homes and until 1909, at which time he embarked for Bay City, Mich. Here he flourished in his chosen profession, playing odd ball now and again. Leonard continued his visiting over the lathered maps of his patrons. He got in some more "early training" pitching for the Bloomer Girls of Michigan. Then he joined the Bay City baseball team, Scout Huff got one of his second-sight flashes, and spent a short time criticising the beginner's play.

The 1910 season heralded Leonard Cole's turning point. He hid his shaving cups, his razors, shed his tonsorial garments and became a Cub, and a great Cub, as the golden records of that season shows. He practically twirled his team into the stellar standing and won the only world series game that the Cubs gathered in that year.

It is interesting to delve into the past of a great barber. Great barbers are like great policemen, one wonders what they were before—their childhood, their youth—is all mysterious. The mysterious childhood of a great barber may be influenced in Leonard Cole's primitive days. Leonard Cole attended high school, was chosen as third baseman of his school team, and later allowed to pitch.

Start of Greatness.

Hundreds of other young men go this far on the trolley of fate. But not so with Leonard Cole. The earmarks were not to be denied. Instead of settling down and becoming a farmer, pirate, second story man, chautauqua orator or whatever quiet pursuit you will, Leonard Cole became a barber. This is the first move of the earmarks. From thence on his future was a safe one.

A barber is always a great man in his small town. There are often mayors, aldermen, constabulary and such cluttered about, but none of them ever arrive at the distinction of their contemporary, the barber. Everybody goes to the barber shop from the time he first finds it necessary to shave. The barber shop is the center of gossip. It is the coffee catch as catch can—after tea, mass meetings, public debates, and the jury of peers of a small town.

So Leonard's future started being subtle with the first care-free stroke of his glit-edged weapon. He played ball. He had won a few shreds of reputation on his school team and he lent his studied graces to the Bloomer Girls' Michigan aggregation. Whatever he didn't know his patrons told him.

It is an authentic fact that barbers have been talking since B. C. Aside from the temperamental distinction of the white jacket and the snipping shears, people also were awed when they saw him pitch on the Bay City team. Cole joined this team and furthered its welfare at $100 a month. In a small town a pitcher and a barber rolled into one are irresistible.

People flocked to Cole and writhed in ecstacy as the hand that pumped the bill with that well-known precision added to the glory of their mugs as it swept their whiskers off. But it's hard having earmarks of genius without raising some kind of a disturbance.

Nubbed by Scout.

Old Scout Huff got some of the earmarks influence shed on him. That Cole could pitch become one of Scout Huff's religious principles after he had taken note several times. Cole was shipped over the ocean's wastes from Michigan to Chicago before the initiation of the 1910 baseball season. The virtuous homestead, the Bay City barber shop, the fact that he had been a real barber, and his name played pretty good second fiddle to his good arm. Time after time he was shoved into the Cub box at decisive moments. His six feet two turned the tide whenever such a demand was made upon it.

He opened the eyes, mouths and pocketbooks of his bosses in quick succession. He became old King Cole. And old King Cole had a Mother Goose pipe. His speed and curves, the overhand twin propeller agility put some brass tacks in his crown.

When the war was over and the last battle waged, the governmental report was twenty killed and four injured. In a jerk Cole won twenty games out of the twenty-four of the nine-inning games he started and finished during the period of engagement. When the smoke cleared, old King Cole had a baton in the mitt—the leading pitcher of the National league.

Snared by Gold.

President Murphy got busy during the piping times of peace that followed. The king pledged the support of his wing for three years for real big league gold, regular professional bonuses and all that. After this had been done, the king took his bride, whom he had acquired during the month of May, and in the course of time walked past the old Bay City barber shop, a great man in the eyes of the world from Memphis to Hoboken. Leonard Cole's earmarks had made good.

Fate dealt only one hard jolt to King Cole. She tempted him believing he was an actor and sent him forth on a tour of the provinces with a side partner and a monologue and dialogue. The dialogue became a monologue because the king's tongue clove to the roof of his mouth, or somewhere, and refused to work. The partner in the sketch had to do all the talking while the audiences tittered and admired the resplendent clothes of the king. Cole decided he was not built to shine—his audiences declared he was one—behind the footlights.

CLABBY HAS SHADE ON MIKE GIBBONS

Bout So Tame That Referee Threatens to Stop It.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2.—Jimmy Clabby of Milwaukee and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul boxed ten tame rounds of a no-decision contest before the Badger Athletic club last night, the popular opinion being that Clabby had a shade.

The bout was so tame that the referee threatened several times to stop it if the men didn't warm up.

Clabby seemed to have a shade the better of the fighting while the St. Paul man was the favorite in jibbing tactics. Both men finished strong.

The first three rounds were very tame and given to much clinching. In the fourth Clabby got a stiff right to the nose. After this Gibbons was very careful and fought a clever defensive battle, but seemed afraid to mix with his opponent.

Clabby's aggressiveness is really what earned him the popular decision. The remaining rounds were pretty near an even break with the exception of the ninth and tenth, when Clabby chased Gibbons around the ring, doing most of the work.

Kid Graves of Milwaukee had a shade over Eddie Wosinski of Grand Rapids, Mich., the latter taking Ray Temple's place in an eight-round bout which went the limit.

NEW YORK BOXING COMMISSION BUSY

Considers Complaints of Disorder and Crowding at Wells-Brown Match.

New York, Sept. 2.—Consideration of the complaints concerning disorder on the streets surrounding Madison Square Garden and the alleged crowding of the standing room inside the garden at the Wells-Brown fight Wednesday night was taken up at a meeting of the New York State Athletic commission yesterday. Action was postponed in order to give a chance for those interested in promoting boxing to be heard. Patrick M. Powers, representing the club which managed this contest, volunteered to appear before the commission today.

Frank S. O'Neill, a member of the commission, said the commission felt the matter should not be allowed to go unnoticed. Some of the objects of the commission, however, are to see that boxing contests are conducted in an orderly manner and to provide for the comfort and safety of the patrons by regulating the number of tickets sold.

Licenses will be granted to two athletic clubs, making eleven licensed in greater New York.

AMERICAN WILDCAT AND RUSSIAN BEAR ARE READY

Test of Speed and Science Against Strength and Weight Monday.

Both Gotch and Hackenschmidt Are Confident of the Result.

GEORGE HACKENSCHMIDT.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—The principals in the international match which is scheduled to take place at the White Sox baseball park next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, began early today the last of their training for the contest.

Frank Gotch, the champion, went from his hotel to the Chicago A. C., where during the day he will wrestle with his training partners and do some light gymnasium work.

George Hackenschmidt, the Russian challenger, was up early at his camp on the North side and went for a walk along the lake shore.

"I am going to wrestle carefully, and all these stories about me making a rushing bout are false," said Gotch. "If I allow Hackenschmidt to get hold of me at the start he is liable to break some of my bones with his mighty strength. He is a hard customer to handle because of his power, coupled with weight.

"I cannot say that I have outlined my plan of attack and probably won't until I have locked heads with him for five or ten minutes. I can appreciate the fact that Hackenschmidt has improved greatly and learned more since I last met him. It is because of this that I must be careful, for I am going to do my best to keep the title in America.

FRANK GOTCH.

Question of Endurance.

"I believe it will simply simmer down to a case of condition. The man with the greatest endurance will win because both of us are strong and able to stand a long, gruelling match. I am in condition and when I say that I am 'right,' you can take it from me, I'm ready.

"I intend to do a little work today, which will consist mostly of wrestling with my trainers. This will be the last mat work I will do until I enter the ring on Monday. Tomorrow I intend to do a little gymnasium work and then my preparation will be ended."

Gotch's New "Up-Ender."

Martin Delaney, physical director of the Chicago Athletic club said today that Gotch looked in perfect condition. "Gotch showed me some of his holds and the best one to my way of thinking is one he calls the 'new up-ender,'" said Delaney. "It is a simple improvement on the old hold of the same name. It is leg scissors applied from behind or when the defensive man is on the mat. With the scissors in place Gotch sits down, and using his leg as a stanchion, he has a pry with the other leg and both arms. The wrestler who gets into such a hold has no chance to get out and the more he works against the hold the easier it is for Gotch to win, for the underman works against himself."

Hackenschmidt expressed a desire to meet Gotch after the champion arrived from Iowa yesterday and it may be the two will visit between now and Monday.

Hackenschmidt has done most of his training in secret. Frequently he has had his trainers up at 5 o'clock in the morning and at other times has been on the mat at 11 o'clock at night.

About $50,000 has been taken in at the box office to date and before Monday, it is expected the receipts will reach $75,000.

The prevailing odds are 5 to 4 on Gotch, but betting has been light.

Champion Shows Up Well.

Gotch appeared on the mat in the gymnasium of the Chicago Athletic association yesterday, where he tusseled with Joe Rogers and Jesse Westergaard for two hard falls within as many hours. Two hard falls, they were too, for the near champions whom Gotch took on one after the other without intermission, and without more than the semblance of a "police" from the retinue of willing "rubbers" recruited from the club's over-willing staff.

Gotch appeared to have everything he ever had—and just a little more. He has been taught by "Farmer" Burns, into whose shoes Gotch has had the good fortune to slide uninvited.

The Iowa farmer is cautious. He is "soft pawed." He is as Eddie Smith, the referee, says of him, "oily" and behind those sinewy muscles of the Iowan whom "Farmer" Burns has trained so assiduously, there is a world of strength. Gotch is a Sandow, plus the agility of an Abe Attell.

But again there is Hackenschmidt. He is not for an instant to be forgotten by the Chicago wrestling "fans." They have watched him work for days. They know his prowess. He is to face Gotch next Monday. And if he wins the championship, it will be because Gotch cannot endure the "smothering." All the experts are agreed on this. It will be the sinewy "cat" opposed to the Russian "bear." Hackenschmidt isn't a lion. He isn't fast enough.

Great Interest in Match.

Chicago is upset over the approaching match. Sport fans who have seen wrestling matches since the days when the sport was young, in America, are agreed that there is adequate room for argument. One man is strong. Another is a master of the science of the game. Argument is rampant. Gotch will work today as hard as he has worked during the seven weeks of training at Humboldt, whence scores of the "home folks" followed him to Chicago to see "Frank beat that Russian guy." Sunday he will do light work. And Monday he will—

Chicago, and the Middle West for the matter of that, is asking what he will do on Labor day. Hack smiles answer. And under his breath he says Gotch will thereafter be only a defeated champion.

St. Louis sporting writers vie with New Orleans and New York experts in answering the all absorbing question. San Franciso has her representatives in Chicago as has Denver, and the ends of the earth.

Gotch is to meet George Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion. The sequel will be clicked over the wires next Monday.

No "Dirty Work."

Referee Ed Smith gave out a statement last night in which it was asserted that both wrestlers had agreed to a modified set of rules to govern the match. In these, it is said, all possibility of foul play is elimated. The match will be governed by the old Lancashire wrestling rules, supplemented by definite definitions of what shall be barred in order to assure clean sport.

"All strangle holds are barred, said Referee Smith, "as well as all holds and breaks which could in any way be considered 'dirty' wrestling.

"While this is to be no 'parlor match' the bout will be clean—and the best man will win—if it takes all the police in Chicago to enforce the referee's decisions."

CHARLEY CUTLER TALKS ABOUT HACK AND GOTCH

But one day remains before the long awaited meeting of Frank A. Gotch and George Hackenschmidt. Who is going to win the match? That is the question that is on the lips of every follower of athletics throughout the country.

Charles Kid Cutler, the Chicago Nonpariel, one of the greatest of American wrestlers and a man who was born and reared in the northern part of this state, has wrestled both of the two great grapplers. He believes the match will be very even.

In the story below, written by Cutler, will be found some of the reasons why the Northern Minnesota boy picks Gotch as the winner, and also some of the points of strength of the world's champion:

(By Charles Cutler.)

I've wrestled Hackenschmidt and I've wrestled Gotch and I think that the Russian is the stronger man. They are the greatest wrestling men in the world. Gotch works fast. He isn't handicapped by his strength. Hack is. Hackenschmidt can defend himself. He works on the defense, because it's easier for him. All he has to do is to use his strength. No man can throw him.

Gotch is almost as strong as Hack and goes after the man he's fighting from the first second. But I hear that Hack has been doping out the things he didn't know before. Also that he is using water as an element in his training and is the only thing that can give Hack the very thing he needs.

Hack is so strong that it works against him. His muscles are too hard. He needs to loosen them up. Water is the greatest thing in the world for this.

Water Exercise Best.

Water is a better thing to exercise in than air. There is more resistance and the water itself contains the stuff that will limber the great Russian and make him better able to rush things from his end of the fight.

Hack is game. He's one of the gamest men I know. Personally I would like to see Gotch win. Gotch has always treated me fairly and so has Hack. They're both gentlemen as well as wrestlers.

I don't like to hear people say that the Russian isn't there with every bit of strength there's in him. He's one of the kind that are not yellow. What it was that made him quit at the stock yards I don't know. Maybe, and I feel pretty sure that this is right, he thought he was up against a one-sided game. Whatever it was it wasn't cowardice.

I've wrestled Hack and I know that he isn't a coward and that he hasn't any yellow in him. When he took on the big Turk, some time ago, in my mind, that was the best exhibition of gameness any fighting man ever made. Hack was sick at the time. He was laid up with malaria. Two hours before the fight he was in bed. There wasn't a hint of stamina about him. His big muscles looked tired out.

But the Russian bucked up. He got out of bed and went against the Turk and stayed in the ring for three hours—stuck it out, sick and all—and beat his man. I don't see how any one can call a man who did that yellow.

Not a Spectacular Wrestler.

Hack's tactics in the ring are much the same as the rest of the foreign wrestlers. He is not spectacular. It's slow watching him, but he works. He doesn't fling you over his head the way his wonderful strength would easily enable him to do. He doesn't get any fancy holds on you, he works with his teeth shut and his mind on one thing—to win.

The greatest part of Hack's strength is in his arms. He settles down and rolls on you. He works one part of the body. He picks out a certain point in your anatomy which he has spotted, and worries it. He presses it, tugs, pulls at that one spot and his great strength wins out. When you've lost control of the part he's been attacking you're just that much weaker, have just that much less capital to work with.

Hack's Method of Attack.

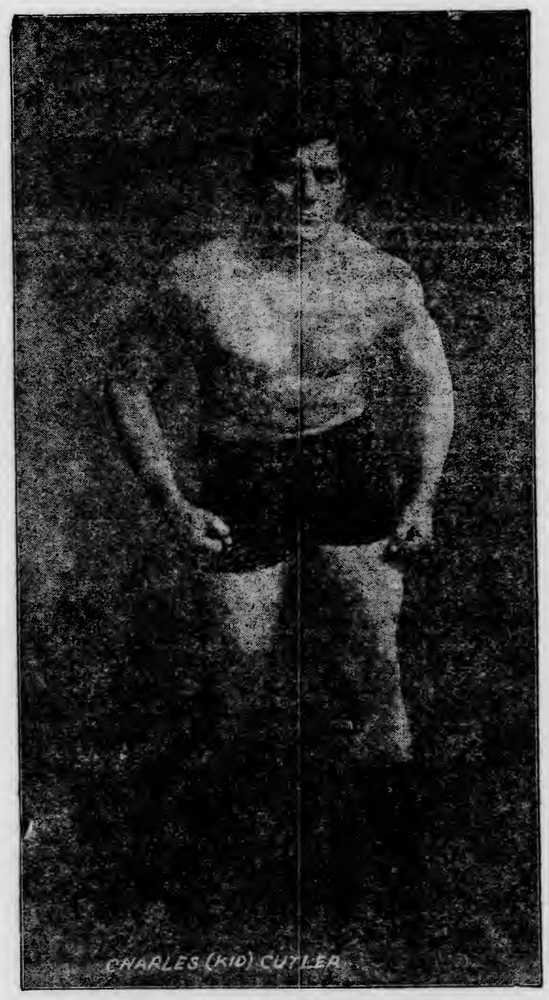

Then he slips the hammerlock on you. He crushes against you, and your own strength seems futile. You haven't any. He bends you slowly and you feel that there is an untold power behind him. It makes you dizzy, and his muscles grow twice as big as they are, to you. He weighs you down till you are on your back. There's no resisting. A mass of the greatest human strength lays on you and you lose. That's been my experience with the Russian. Gotch doesn't work like this. You feel more like his equal when you're fighting him. Then suddenly he gets you, without warning.

Pole Works the Same Way.

Hack impresses you more, sometimes he almost frightens you by his sheer strength. When I wrestled Hack I couldn't help thinking of Zbyszko. They work almost on the same idea. Zbyszko held me with his hands. He forced his knee against the back of my leg, kept it there. We lay like that for an hour and all the time the big Pole's knee was going further into my leg. The people watching must have thought we weren't working. I never worked harder in my life.

I don't believe Zbyszko did. He lay there quiet, looking at me and I at him with his knee working my strength out. I couldn't stir. My leg was getting weaker and my hand, that the Pole was crushing, got limp. Then he let go. I couldn't feel my leg. It wabbled, Zbyszko grinned. I knew what was going to happen, but I couldn't help myself. Then I went down. Strong as ever and madder than ever, but I couldn't do anything. I was working with one leg.

Because I've wrestled both Hack and Gotch, I've been asked, "Who's going to win?" I don't know. I wouldn't bet on the bout. It's going to be the exact opposite of what the first Gotch-Hackenschmidt match was. Both men are going to tear in. They're going to work on Gotch's tactics. Hack is bringing Gotch's own staff over with him from England. He probably may do a little stalling. He can't help that, because his first training was of the deliberate kind. Dr. Roller is the greatest physical expert in the world. All these things make me think that it's going to be too close a match to make any prophecies about.

CHARLES (KID) CUTLER.

MISS PAINTER WINS WESTERN GOLF TITLE.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Miss Caroline Painter of Midlothian won the women's Western golf championship yesterday, defeating her club-mate, Miss Alva Sanders, 3 and 2 in eighteen holes.

As in the semi-finals, Miss Painter won in a strong finish. She was one down when the ninth hole was circled and after evening the match in the next hole, won three and halved three. Neither of the cards were remarkable, Miss Painter going out in 47.

NEW PITCHING MARVELS IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

Never in the history of the greatest American game have the fans been treated to the surprising kind of ball that is being served by the pitchers in the big leagues this season. The peculiarity about the season which has most impressed the unprejudiced fan is the rise from obscurity of a pair of young pitchers barely out of their teens, who have set both the American and National leagues on fire with their brilliant work, and who bid fair to break all records for newcomers before the season has ended.

The fan of a few years ago picks up a paper nowadays and looks in vain in the headlines for the deeds of "Miner" Brown, "Cy" Young, Chief Bender and others of note who were at their best several seasons ago. Instead, names like Alexander, Vean Gregg, Harmon, Marquard and others catch his eye, and he is lucky to find the old favorites mentioned.

For real surprises the current season is entitled to the top of the first division as the most remarkable on record, both for the sensations it has produced and the closeness of the race for the flag in both the big leagues.

Of the crop of twirlers who have entered the big show, two men stand head and shoulders above the others in their organizations. Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Philadelphia Nationals, known far and wide as "Alexander the Great," who barely escaped the distinction of being first pitcher in the older organization to win twenty games this season, and has worked in and won more contests than any other twirler. No other man who ever broke into the league, with the exception of Russell Ford of New York, has approached this record. Ford won twenty-six games last season, but Alexander bids fair to surpass that figure by many games before the season is over.

Gregg Makes Good.

In the American league, Vean Gregg a youngster secured by Cleveland from the Pacific coast, who had a fair reputation when he came east, has proved invincible, and has the remarkable record of fourteen victories out of the first sixteen games in which he worked this season. Unlike Alexander, however, great things were expected of him when he came to Cleveland, but in their fondest dreams the Forest City club owners never thought that the coast player would deliver the goods as he has done against virtually all of the clubs which faced him. All batters look alike to him. It makes no difference whether the team is the Athletics or the St Louis Browns. His work is of the same superior order, and he is nearly always at the long end of the score.

Alexander of the Phillies came to the team unheralded, an outcast of two major league clubs, and narrowly escaped going to the minors in the spring when the weeding-out process started. Manager Charlie Dooin had about determined to sell the youngster whom he had secured from the Syracuse club of the New York State league for the paltry sum of $450, when the latter asked for a chance to pitch against the Athletics in the annual spring series between the National and American league teams of Philadelphia. Dooin, who was loath to let any of his men go without a fair chance to show, gave him the opportunity, and after Alexander had held the world's champions to two hits, Dooin decided that he would keep the state leaguer for at least another month.

Dooin's decision to hold the pitcher has kept the team in the race for the National league flag, for Alexander has won more than one-third of the contests for his team and is such a strong worker that he has asked to work every other day. He is after the record made by Jack Coombs of the Athletics, last year, when the latter won thirty-one games and lost 9, and hopes to even better this mark. It is a noteworthy fact that this same pitcher, who is the sensation of the National league, was turned down by Connie Mack, a manager whose mistakes can be counted on the fingers of one hand. He would come in handy now, with the Athletics battling desperately as they are to win the American league pennant again.

Philadelphia is not the only National league team that can boast of a new star. The New York fans have waxed enthusiastic over "Rube" Marquard, who has at last delivered the goods after three years' trial. The man who, for two years, had to stand the jeers and witticisms of the fans of the whole circuit, has at last shown his form, and his work has outshone even that of the great Mathewson.

A Ripe Melon.

The "lemon" has become a ripe, juicy melon, and Manager McGraw's judgment in paying $11,000 has been vindicated. With the "Rube" going along in his present form, New York fans are looking for a pennant and a possible world's championship.

While New York fans are enthusiastic over Marquard, they have not lost sight of the fact—or, for that matter, has any other city in the league—that Nap Rucker is pitching the greatest ball of his career for Brooklyn, and that he holds the record of twelve consecutive wins to his credit. The work of the pitcher is the more creditable in that he is with a second division club, and therefore has to pitch remarkable ball to win his games.

Last month he was robbed of the credit of pitching a no-hit game by Bob Bescher of Cincinnati, who made a hit in the last inning of the contest at Brooklyn when two men were out, thus beating him out of another record performance. He is rapidly amassing a great strike-out record this season, leading the National league in that respect to date and bids fair to make more records before the players put away their bats for the winter.

Lew Richie, the genial pitcher of the Cubs, is holding his team in the race by his great work, and Earl Moore, a Philadelphia man, is at his best this season and has been quite a surprise to the fans of the old league. He has been especially effective against the Giants, while his work against the other teams has been of the first-class order.

In Pittsburg "Babe" Adams is again working in great form this season, doing the bulk of the work for the Pirates. Adams is another youngster who sprang into fame in a year by his great work in the world's series against the Detroit team in 1909, when he won the world's championship for the Pittsburg team. While his work this season has not been as spectacular as that of some of the other pitchers in the league, it is mainly due to his good pitching that the Pirates are fighting for a berth in the first division.

The fans of St. Louis have discovered this season that the Cardinals are harboring three of the best pitchers who ever played in the league. Sallee, Steele and Harmon are the men, and it is their work which has put St. Louis in the fight as one of the contenders for the pennant.

Sallee has always been considered one of the best left-handers in the league, but he never showed to better advantage than this season. His teammates, Harmon and Steele, are youngsters who have a splendid future ahead of them.

Very few of the pitchers who are doing good work in the big leagues have cost their employers a large sum of money. The case of Marquard is an exception, but McGraw always did say that the "Rube" was good, and his judgment was vindicated. All that Marquard needed was confidence, and with the acquisition of this necessary quality, he became a star pitcher.

Russell a Failure.

The best example of a pitcher who has not made good is Russell of the Athletics. This player has shown very little since he joined the club, and it is the general opinion among experts that he will never be of any use to the Athletics, who paid what was until recently regarded as the high-water mark in prices for pitchers.

Connie Mack authorized his scouts to go as high as $12,500 for the Baltimore pitcher, and they purchased him for that sum. His work in the Eastern league led everyone to predict great things for him, but he was a failure from the start and is seldom used. Mack will hold unto him, however, until the end of the season.

The money is not taken into account these days by baseball magnates and managers. Any minor league club which has a star is pretty sure to get a good bit of money for the player, especially if he is a pitcher. Competition is so keen among all of the clubs that a good player will bring anywhere from $5,000 to $10,000. The high-water mark was reached last month when Marty O'Toole, the star St. Paul pitcher, brought a bid of $22,500.

OLD HORTON DAYS ARE RECALLED BY NEW LAW

New York, Sept. 2.—The revival of boxing under state supervision in New York has recalled the days of the Horton law, which was repealed because of the questionable practices of promoters and the fake performances of pugilists. Thousands of dollars were made by a chain of athletic clubs in this city. Big prices were exchanged for tickets and the fighters competed for enormous purses. The game thrived wonderfully for a time, but it received a black eye as soon as gambling got a foothold and sure thing persons fixed bouts so that they could not lose.

The Horton law did not limit the number of rounds to be fought and permitted not only decisions by referees but also the posting of forfeits and side bets. The clubs did not pay fees for licenses and the sport was not controlled by state commission. Finish fights could have been pulled off without violating the law, but matchmakers generally limited bouts to twenty or twenty-five rounds of their own accord. Domestic incorporated athletic clubs were permitted to hold bouts provided they operated in buildings leased for one year and used exclusively for athletic purposes. It was within the power of the police to interfere when scraps showed signs of unwarranted brutality.

When the old law went into effect fights had been conducted in this neighborhood for some time. Four-round bouts had been tolerated in Madison Square garden and several theaters, but more important and longer affairs were staged at Coney Island, Long Island City and Maspeth. The famous Coney Island A. C., dominated by John Y. McKane and managed by Dick Newton, both deceased, was the battleground for many big events. One of the longest fights on record was held there when Buffalo Costello and Aleck Greggains fought eighty rounds to a draw and retired from the ring just before sunrise. George Dixon, Eddie Pierce, Jack Skelly, Jack McAuliffe, Kid Lavigne, Young Griffo, Joe Wolcott and others boxed under the McKane regime and the club made nearly $100,000.

In the Empire Arena.

Maspeth was the home of the noted Empire A. C., in which the late Magistrate Tighe, Pat Gleason, Big Tom Kennedy and others were said to be heavily interested. In spite of the state law against prizefighting there was no interference with the Maspeth club, for several Queens county officials insisted that the law was not violated in the slightest degree. Lavigne and Wolcott met there in a 15-round scrap that still remains the most sensational on record. Wolcott stopped Scaldy Bill Quinn in the same ring, which also was the scene of Tommy Ryan's unexpected defeat at the hands of Kid McCoy, his pupil. Peter Maher knocked out Steve O'Donnell in a punch and Lavigne boxed a 25-round draw with the clever Griffo. Another memorable affair was the meeting of Mysterious Billy Smith and Tommy Ryan, bitter enemies.

The old Puritan A. C. of Long Island City, which was favored by Pat Gleason, the warlike mayor of that burg, did not last long; but before the doors were closed McCoy handed a terrific beating to Dan Creedon of Australia.

With enactment of the Horton law clubs sprang up all over Greater New York and in various cities up the state. Tom O'Rourke got into the game with the Broadway A. C., located in the old London street building on Broadway opposite Washington place. This was an ideal place for scraps, and when lofty bleacher seats had been erected on all four sides of the ring it was possible to seat nearly 4,000 spectators.

Historic Clashes.

O'Rourke hung up big purses and secured many star pugilists. Joe Gans was beaten by Frank Erne in a scrap that caused no end of unpleasant comment. Then Kid McCoy was declared the winner over Joe Choynski, although the latter was clearly fouled. Choynski was knocked out by Joe Wolcott, who was eight inches shorter and forty pounds lighter. Dixon lost the featherweight title to Terry McGovern after a one-sided, brutal fight. Joe Gans slaughtered Spike Sullivan, whereupon one of the latter's seconds jumped into the ring and assaulted the referee, Charley White.

Gus Ruhlin hammered Ed Dunkhorst, the human freight car, in the same ring. Kid McPartland, Elbows McFadden, Will Curley of England, Kid Lavigne, Charley McKeever, Owen Ziegler, Jack Everhardt and Horace Leeds also took part in rattling contests. Theodore Roosevelt then police commissioner, was present when Peter Maher knocked out Joe Choynski and when asked for his opinion said that there was no great harm in such a contest. Oscar Gardner, the Omaha kid, practically had McGovern out in one of the early rounds of a memorable battle, but McGovern was allowed to break the rules by hugging and clinching until he received his equilibrium. Then Gardner was shoved away, after which his manager, Paddy Sullivan, a brother of Big Tim, showed resentment by handing a wild wallop to

ITASCA II OF DULUTH.

One of the most beautiful crusing motor yachts on the St. Lawrence river this year is the Itasca II, owned by E. B. Hawkins of Duluth. She is 98 feet long and has beam measurement of 16 feet, 6 inches. In the engine room are two 100-horse power air-reversing motors, which drive the vessel at a speed of fifteen miles an hour. The Itasca II is registered at the port of Duluth.

Historic Club.

The Lennox A. C., with headquarters in the ice rink at Lexington avenue and One Hundred and Seventh street, was opened by O'Rourke later on. It was the scene of the never-to-be-forgotten Maher-Morrissey fake and the Corbett-Sharkey fiasco, which was "investigated" and "whitewashed" by the club's backers. In the same ring Jeffries made his first bow here when he failed to stop Bob Armstrong in ten rounds and then refused to tackle Steve O'Donnell in another bout the same night. Frank Erne got a decision over Dixon in twenty-five rounds that caused a storm of protest, although there was no evidence to prove crooked methods.

W. A. Brady, O'Rourke and Martin Julian, Bob Fitzsimmons' brother-in-law, were identified with the management of the big club at Coney Island, which made a ton of money. In that arena Jeffries won the heavyweight title from Fitzsimmons and later whipped both Corbett and Sharkey. Fitzsimmons knocked out Sharkey there too, while Joe Walcott stopped Mick Dunn of Australia and other middleweights. The Madison Square Garden was operated by big Jim Kennedy and others. The Walcott-West battle, which was roundly scored, and the Corbett-McCoy fake, which drew a $75,000 gate were among the dishes served up to the liberal fight fans.

Over at the Hercules A. C. in Williamsburg Fitzsimmons put Dunkhorst to sleep for the first time in the latter's career, while Ruhlin took a nap after Fitz had landed a solar plexus blow in the sixth round of a terrific battle in the garden. The Polo A. C. at Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, staged numerous important bouts, including two hair-raising affairs between Patsy Haley and Dave Sullivan, both of which were won by the latter with knockout punches. The American A. C. had a ring in a stable in West Forty-second street, within a stone's throw of Broadway, and many boxers were put to sleep there.

Up in the Bronx there was the Union Park A. C., near the Willis avenue station of the New Haven terminal. The biggest scrap in that arena was that between Bob Armstrong and Frank Slavin, once champion heavyweight of Australia, who was literally cut to pieces. Other clubs were conducted in Manhattan, Brooklyn, Bay Ridge and Staten Island, but their operations were comparatively insignificant.

In Buffalo Kid Lavigne lost the world's lightweight title in a decision to Frank Erne, and Kid McCoy slashed Ruhlin to pieces in a twenty-round affair in another up-state city. By that time there was such an outcry against the fighting game and so many queer contests had been decided that Governor Roosevelt advocated the passage of the Lewis law, which put an end to boxing in the public.

When the Lewis law went into effect in 1900 it was enforced to the letter, with the result that even a burlesque boxing bout in a theater could not be held. The sport remained dead for several years until several promoters hit upon a plan to open up by holding bouts exclusively for the entertainment of "members." This method prompted many arrests and much inconvenience to followers of the sport, but the promoters stood by the guns and finally received court decisions that enabled them to run under the protection of the corporation membership law. As a result the game thrived remarkably last winter, the Brown-Wolgast bout at the National Sporting club proving so attractive that members paid $19,000 for reserved seats to see it.

Under the new law, passed at the instance of Senator Frawley, there will be many reforms and few expect a repetition of the Horton law days. The only improvement over the conditions that have prevailed here for three years is the chance for the public in general to pay admission to the various clubs that will receive licenses. With no decisions by referees the betting feature will be eliminated and with it the temptation to frame up contests.

MISS STOKES LEADS FIELD

Has Easy Victory in Feature Event at Readville Track.

Peter Red Has Hard Fight for First in 2:16 Trot.

Readville, Mass., Sept. 2.—Miss Stokes, owned and bred by W. E. D. Stokes of New York, was a handy winner of the American Horse Breeders' futurity, valued at $7,000, of which $5,000 goes to the first horse, at the Grand Circuit meeting at Readville yesterday. It marked the opening of the meet, rain having caused postponement since Tuesday. The track was heavy.

Justice Brooke, a prominent candidate in the race was withdrawn and shipped to Kentucky for the $21,000 futurity there next month. In his absence, the chief rival of Miss Stokes was Peter Thompson, but he "broke" at the quarter in the first heat. Up to the five-eights pole in the second heat, Peter Thompson and Box were head and head with Miss Stokes, but Thompson again broke and Box dropped back.

In the 2-year-old division of the Breeders' futurity the laurels went to Princess Todd, while Miss De Forrest jogged home the winner in the pacing division of the futurity.

The 2:16 trot was the best race of the day. Eva Tanguay gained the first heat by a neck from Baron Aberdeen. The second heat looked like a dead heat between Peter Red and Eva Tanguay, but the judges saw Peter first and he had speed to spare in the two remaining heats.

The meeting closes today with the classic Massachusetts and Blue Hill stakes and the 2:11 pace.

TOMMY BURNS MAY COME BACK

The sporting editor of The Herald received yesterday a letter from Willard Mack, the well known actor, who at the present time is visiting with his father at Bassano, Alberta. In the letter the actor gives out some information relating to Tommy Burns, who lives only a short distance from where Mack is stopping.

"Don't be surprised if Tommy Burns re-enters the ring," writes Mack. "He is only 30 years of age and is a fellow who has always taken the very best of care of himself. The one thing that may keep him out of the ring is the injury to his leg.

"Tommy has lots of money, a big general store, a fine home, a fine little wife and an awfully cute little baby. What more can a man want? He never need worry about the old wolf prowling around.

"Not so long ago he told me that many of the stories about Johnson's dreaded left are myths. Tommy told me Johnson hit him about twenty times flush on the jaw with his left hand and did not hurt him. He says the greatest asset the negro has is his defense. He is of the opinion that Johnson wants none of Langford's game.

"Burns received a letter from his protege, Jack Lester, who is in Australia at the present time. You will remember that Lester lost to Bill Lang on a foul.

"In his letter to Burns, Lester says that it was only his greenness that lost this fight. He was hit on the funny bone and went down on one knee to take the count. He was promptly disqualified. In this letter to the former heavyweight champion Lester swears he believes he can beat Lang. As the two men are matched for another fight, we will probably find that out for ourselves.

"Give my best regards and the best regards of Mrs. Mack to our Duluth friends. Mrs. Mack is here and we are contemplating a tour of Australia. We also may go into vaudeville. This is a great country, one of the greatest countries in the world, and a country that has a great future."

IN THE MOTOR WORLD

UNDERSLUNG TYPE IS POPULAR

But Small Chance of Breaking Springs on Regal Automobiles.

With the great wave of popularity for the underslung type of motor car construction has arisen a question, which, to the unitiated, may seem important. The problem is this: What would happen if a spring should break?

The frame work of the underslung car is slung below the axle, as its name indicates. The natural conclusion, therefore, is that if a spring break, the car would jar to the ground with more or less serious results.

In a car of underslung construction, there are four sets of springs supporting the frame at its four corners, with two points of suspension at each spring. If a spring breaks, therefore, the only result is a sag of perhaps two inches on the side of the broken spring. The other seven points of suspension take up the added weight imperceptibly. In this car, however, the springs are built particularly to stand the hanging strain placed upon them, so spring breakage is reduced to a minimum.

If two springs should break at once, a thing practically unknown in motor annals, the other six points of suspension would hold the car up and keep it clear of the ground.

In fact, there is little possibility of any dangerous accident happening when using a car of this construction. The body being slung below the axles instead of balanced unsteadily on top of them, means a low center of gravity with the resultant factor of safety of the nation's leaders, none is more which alone makes it a car supremely right for the automobilist. This low center of gravity assures a minimum of the dangerous body sway which causes the accident of turning turtle, the root of 90 per cent of all automobile fatalities. Motorists everywhere are at last awakening to the appalling number of such fatalities and are united in their convictions that the underslung motor car is the only one that the man who values his life and the lives of those who motor with him, can afford to use.

The Regal Motor Car company is placing the underslung type of automobile on the market in the shape of machines of superior design and faithful construction. A ride in one of their cars is a revelation. The effect is one of flying rather than riding over the ground. The long, well set springs take up the roughness and irregularities of the road and leave their passengers rested at the end of their day's journey. These Regals are essentially touring cars, big, powerful, safe, beautiful, sturdy, reliant and comfortable.

FEDERAL AID FOR THE STATES

Government May Help in Matter of Interstate Road Communication.

Federal aid in roads building may become an actuality within the next twelve months. From all over the country accumulates positive evidence of the pronounced belief that the national government should give attention to better interstate communication by road, and men prominent in affairs of state are declaring themselves one after another as being in accord with this progressive policy. Of the nation's leaders, none is more emphatic than Speaker Champ Clark, who, in a communication to President Robert P. Hoper of the American association expresses this opinion:

"I believe the time has come for the general government to actively and powerfully co-operate with the states in building a great system of public highways."

Congressman Borland of Missouri, who is putting forward the Lincoln highway bill in the house of representatives, summarizes the matter very briefly:

"What we need is a monument that will be of some use to the people now living on earth. If we could have the views on the subject of the great commoner, Abraham Lincoln, I am satisfied he would be in favor of such a tribute. There is no monument so enduring as a highway."

POWERFUL CAR.

Capt. A. B. Wolvin Receives Pierce-Arrow Machine of 1912 Type.

A 1912 Pierce-Arrow automobile, probably the most powerful car in the city, is now the property of Capt. A. B. Wolvin. The new car, the first of the 1912 model Pierce-Arrow cars to be received in Duluth, is of the heavy touring car type. It is big, roomy and its graceful lines are being much admired. The new car was ordered some time ago. It was received only recently. It was shipped from the factory by rail and is one of the three 1912 models now in Minnesota.

The new car is finished beautifully in dark blue. It is silent and many new mechanical devices have simplified greatly the operation. With its straight lines, roomy appearance, beautiful finish, power and silence, it is perhaps the finest, as well as the latest of the higher-priced automobiles in the city.

ALHO WILL WRESTLE WHIPPS FINISH MATCH.

Monday afternoon at Cloquet, Ed Alho, ono of the best welterweight wrestlers in this part of the country, will meet George Whipps of Minneapolis, a wrestler whom Young Miller failed twice to throw, in a finish contest.

Alho is a young Finn who has achieved quite a reputation. He has wrestled Joe Carr and Sailor Jack, and this before he had any practical experience in the game. In both of these contests he made a great showing for a youngster, Carr failing to get a fall in an hour's handicap match, though he had agreed to throw Alho three times in the match.

Whipps has a victory over Matsuda, and is considered a very strong wrestler, who has had considerable experience with the best men in the mat game.

A victory for Alho means a foothold on the ladder of championship aspirations for the young man who has ambitions to meet some of the best welterweights in the country this season.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY 17

The two society weddings of next week will claim much of the attention of Duluth's social set.

Miss Madge Millar, whose wedding to Clay Beckwith will take place Monday will be the first of the social events of the week. The members of her bridal party will be Miss Rachel St. Clair, maid of honor and the bridesmaids, Misses Isabel Patrick and Barbara Rupley. Walter Cheney will serve as best man.

Rev. Robert Yost of the First Presbyterian church will read the wedding service at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Millar, 1331 East Third street in the presence of relatives and immediate friends.

A number of affairs have been given for them this week.

Miss Isabel Patrick was hostess at a dinner party Monday evening at the Kitchi Gammi club in their honor at which covers were laid for twelve.

Tuesday evening, Miss Rachel St. Clair gave a theater party at the Orpheum and Wednesday Miss Barbara Rupley entertained at luncheon at her home in the St. Elmo flats.

Wednesday evening, Miss Millar and Mr. Beckwith were the guests of honor at a supper given by Alfred Hanchett at Worthington Telford's cabin on Park Point. Covers were laid for twelve.

Duncan-McLeod.

The second big wedding will be that of Miss Grace Duncan to Norman McLeod which will take place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Duncan, 2215 East Second street. Rev. Alexander Millie of the Pilgrim Congregational church will read the service at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of friends and relatives.

The members of this bridal party will be Miss Mary Curtiss of Newton Center, Mass., who will be maid of honor, Mrs. R. N. Marble, Jr., of Hibbing and Mrs. J. A. Bradley, sisters of the bride, who will be the matrons and Miss Helen Forsythe of Yonkers, N. Y. and Miss Virginia Frick, who will be the bridesmaids. Mr. McLeod will have as his best man David Duncan.

Mrs A. J. Bradley of 2530 East Sixth street was hostess at an afternoon card party Thursday at her home in compliment to her sister. Hearts were played at five tables and the favors were won by Miss Mabel Moore of Marquette, Mich., and Miss Lillian Gowan.

Yesterday Mrs. E. J. Collins was hostess at a beautifully appointed luncheon at her home, 2561 East Fifth street, in compliment to Miss Duncan and her bridal party. Nasturtiums were used in profusion on the table and throughout the rooms and covers were laid for:

Mesdames—
C. A. Duncan — J. A. Bradley
R. N. Marble, Jr. — Collins
Misses—
Grace Duncan — Mary Curtiss
Helen Forsythe — Virginia Frick

Mrs. Oliver S. Andreason of 2609 East Fifth street entertained for Miss Duncan and Mr. McLeod last evening at her home and today Mrs. A. W. Frick and Mrs. F. A. Brewer gave a beautifully appointed luncheon at the Country club in compliment to Miss Duncan. The table appointments were pink and white with an effective arrangement of sweet pea and the table was set with sixteen covers.

The opening of school next Tuesday has kept the mothers busy preparing their school wardrobes for the girls and boys and the college folks are making preparations for their departure during the month.

The rain this week has made the number of automobile parties fewer, but among those who have taken the trip to neighboring inns are the following:

Island Lake Inn.

To Island Lake inn on the Pike lake road: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Seanson of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McLeod, Miss Jane McLeod, Alex and Frank McLeod and Mrs. W. L. McLennan.

A party of nine enjoyed an afternoon of bridge there Monday. Among them were Mrs. C. H. Bagley, Mrs. Roger S. Powell, Mrs. C. W. Traphagen, Mrs. F. Salter, Mrs. J. H. Harper, Mrs. F. L. Finkenstaed, Mrs. J. Q. A. Crosby, Mrs. Hans Christensen.

Mrs. I. Freimuth entertained at a dinner party there Wednesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoffheimer of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Ben Heller of Minneapolis and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Abraham of Duluth.

Other guests there were Mrs. Ward Ames, Sr., and party, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bagley and Mr. and Mrs. George Wells.

Hotel Cloquet.

Those who went to Hotel Cloquet at Cloquet, Minn., were: Mr. and Mrs. Mille Bunnell, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Traphagen, Miss Kribbs of Washington, D. C., Misses Marie and Minnie Turrish, Chauncey Hazen, Joe Morrow, F. Williams and party, Mrs. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Ware, B. N. How and a party of seven, Mrs. W. H. Cole and guests, Mrs. Ed. Florada, Miss Florada, Miss Farnsworth, Miss Martin and Master L. Harvey. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Abbott entertained: Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Miller, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Silvey, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lum, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, Miss Markell and A. N. Taussig.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Patrick of Twenty-third avenue east and Superior street have issued invitations for the wedding of Miss Barbara Page Patrick to Dr. Floyd Ferdinand Clark of this city. The date set is Sept. 12 and the ceremony will be performed at the Patrick home, at 8:30 in the presence of relatives and intimate friends only.

Invitations have been received here from Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Benton of Belmont, Mass., for the wedding of their daughter Blanche Avola to Carl E. Lonegren of this city. The event will take place Friday, Sept. 15, at the chapel on their estate and will be followed by a large marriage reception.

Mr. Lonnegren and his bride will reside at 2313 West Third street, and Mrs. Lonnegren will be at home Wednesdays in December.

An announcement which will be of interest to Duluthians is that of the wedding of Mrs. Sarah F. Vance of Minneapolis to Theodore F. Olmsted of Geneseo, N. Y., which took place Saturday afternoon at Oak Grove Lodge, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Chadwick, near Bloomington, Minn. Rev. S. W. Le Grange of Bloomington officiated at the ceremony which was performed in the presence of only a few immediate relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Olmsted will make Geneseo their future home, where Mr. Olmsted is a prominent banker.

Mrs. Vance is the widow of C. M. Vance, an early resident of Duluth, and is very well known among the older settlers here. She is an aunt of Mrs. M. A. Thomson of this city and Mrs. R. H. Redman, also of this city. She is also an aunt of Mr. Chadwick.

At a quiet wedding ceremony at the Sacred Heart cathedral Wednesday morning, Miss Anna McDonnell became the bride of Michael McKenna of Portland, Or. IS LEADER OF AMERICAN SOCIETY

MRS. OGDEN MILLS.

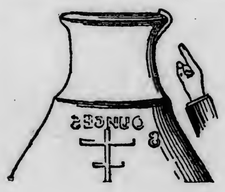

Mrs. Ogden Mills claims to be the leader of American society or at least her friends claim it for her. She was one of the Livingston twins, the other having married George Cavendish Bentinck of London. Through her husband she is related to the Whitelaw Reids. Mrs. Mills is now on the crest of the social wave at Newport because she is entertaining her daughter and son-in-law, the count and countess of Granard, who are quite the social sensation of that fashionable summer resort.

CHOLERA IS GETTING FOOTHOLD IN TURKEY.

Constantinople, Sept. 2.—The cholera is obtaining a firmer hold in Turkey. Partial returns made by the health authoritles show that on Aug. 31 there were seventy cases and twenty-five deaths in Constantinople. In addition to these totals there was a heavy mortality in the Turkish garrison and at the Albanian camps on the outskirts of Belkos.

At Uskup, in the vilayet of Kossovo, there is an average of fifty cases daily, while at Monastir, in Macedonia, the disease is equally virulent.

MOTOR CYCLISTS DIE IN HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 2.—Dashing down a hill and around a corner here yesterday, two motor cyclists met and were hurled to death. The cycles were demolished and both men instantly killed. The dead:

FRANK MORRISSEY, aged 21.
JOHN BOWMAN, aged 19.

Morrissey was a rural mail carrier and was making his route in a rush in order to get back and participate in the motor cycle races at the county fair. No one witnessed the collision. A farmer discovered the mangled bodies and broken machines by the roadside a few minutes later.

AVOID DECEPTION

Use Newbro's Herpicide Instead.

Wearing artificial hair is a harmless deceit of which many ladies are guilty. These women are all objects for sympathy rather than criticism.

Early neglect in the care of the scalp has caused the loss of so much hair that their personal appearance is sadly marred. To correct this defect they resort to artificial hair.

Most ladies would resent any imputation of personal carelessness and neglect. And yet very many woman permit their natural hair to become so dull, brittle and lusterless that it looks no better than the artificial.

All this is as unfortunate as it is unnecessary. Hair that is unsightly or thin may usually be attributed to the malevolent activity of the dandruff germ. This vicious germ burrows down into the hair follicle, shortly destroying its life. The hair becomes dead, loose and finally drops out.

There is a remedy sold by all druggists, the intelligent use of which will kill the dandruff germ. It also cleanses the scalp of all accumulations and makes the hair shine with the luster of life and beauty.

Applications may be obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich., will send a nice sample and booklet to any address upon receipt of 10c in postage or silver.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

LILLIAN SHANNON.

Mrs. Lillian Shannon of Seattle, who is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rankin of this city, has recently come to Duluth and will become an active worker in musical circles here.

She has had wide experience, having had charge of the musical work in the University of Washington, at Seattle and also in the Egan Dramatic school there. She has also sung for a number of seasons with various opera companies, the San Francisco Opera company, the Egan Opera company, the Bert Smith Musical Comedy company and has sung leading roles in many of the well known light operas.

Mrs. Shannon also plans to put on home talent entertainments.

NORDICA COMING.

Greatest of American Sopranos Will Sing in Duluth This Year.

MME. LILLIAN NORDICA, the greatest of the American sopranos, she who has achelved triumphs in Germany, France, England, Russia and America will appear in Duluth during the autumn, this city being included in her trans-continental concert tour. Arrangements have been concluded for Mme. Nordica's appearance at the Lyceum in November. Mme. Nordica sang in concert in Duluth a few years ago and at that time Duluth arose to unheard of enthusiasm and gave an ovation to the great artist. Since her appearance Duluth has grown in musical stature and the appreciation and pleasure in her coming will surpass all previous records.

—Copyright by A. Dupont.

MME. NORDICA.

Mme. Nordica has been hailed as the greatest concert artist of American singers, not only in her beauty of tone and the technique of singing but in interpretation and dramatic power. She has triumphed in every field the singer enters and of recent years she has added to her accomplishments. She is an American and one of whom her country people are justly proud. Mme. Nordica will appear at the Lyceum the third week of November.

Duluth Festival Chorus.

THE reorganization of the Duluth Oratorio society which in the future will be known as the Duluth Festival chorus, is proceeding rapidly. Horace W. Reyner will be the conductor. This chorus will make its first appearance with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra at the Lyceum theater on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10 and 11, in dramatic and operatic selections, with full orchestral accompaniment.

Vocalists who wish to join the chorus can forward their applications for membership to the secretary, H. E. Voigt, 201 First National bank building.

AUTHOR READS.

Mrs. Eaton Gives Series of Evenings at Stryker Home.

MRS. CHARLOTTE EATON of New York, who is a writer of both prose and poetry and who has produced many interesting works has been entertaining friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stryker at whose home she has been a guest this summer, with a series of interesting readings. Last evening she gave the last of six readings, her subject last evening being on the French artist "Millet." This paper was written by her late husband, Wyatt Eaton the artist and proved as delightful as its predecessors. Another evening was devoted to a reading on "The New England Poets" and another to "Robert Louis Stevenson."

This series of readings have also been a delightful social affairs.

Mrs. Eaton will leave soon for New York.

PRESIDENT'S DAY.

Matinee Musical Opening Recital By Mrs. O'Meara.

THE matinee musical season will open next month with President's day on Oct. 2. The program for the day will be a song recital by Mrs. Frank O'Meara of St. Paul.

Mrs. O'Meara is a contralto singer and has been heard here before by the members of the Matinee musical. She sang in one of the reciprocity programs and the members of the club are delighted at the prospect of hearing her in a recital program.

The work for next year promises to be extremely interesting as the program is a well chosen one and the artists who will appear in concert here during the year are of the best. Arrangements have been completed for the coming of the Flonzaley quartet which will appear in concert here on Jan. 31 and Madame Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler, the noted pianist who will play Nov. 4 in a concert program.

Mrs. Taylor Gives Musical.

MRS. BERT LESTON TAYLOR of Chicago, formerly of Duluth, gave a recital yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker, 1014 East Second street.

Her old friends and lovers of Brahm's music received her with enthusiasm. Her playing displayed a fine comprehension of this difficult composer, the piano speaking the tones of the orchestra. She is not bound down by minute attention to technique detail, but gives one the impressionable effect with splendid sweep throughout the program. Mrs. Henry Nesbitt entertained last evening in her honor.

Miss Campbell Leaves.

MISS ADA CAMPBELL, who has been general secretary of the Young Women's Christian association for the past year, has resigned and left last night for her home in South Bend, Ind. She has made many warm friends, who are sorry to have her go, and her work in the association has been most efficient.

Miss Campbell plans to devote her entire time to the teaching of the Bible.

Weather Report Shows August Was Cooler Than Average for Duluth.

According to the monthly report of the weather bureau, the month of August just passed was somewhat colder than usual, the mean temperature for the thirty-one days being 3.9 deg. colder than normal for the month. The highest temperature attained during the month was 85 deg. on Aug. 15, and the lowest was 42 deg. on Aug. 29. A light frost was recorded on this date.

The month was also somewhat deficient in rainfall, the total precipitation being 3.02 inches, which is .51 inch less than the average rainfall for August for the last forty-one years. The rainfall for the year has, however, been very close to normal, the accumulated deficiency since Jan. 1 being only .02 inch.

The highest wind during the month occurred on Aug. 15, when the city experienced a thirty-seven-mile breeze from the northwest. There were six clear days, twenty partly cloudy, and five cloudy days during the month. Rainfall was registered on eleven days.

MINER'S INJURIES FATAL.

Former Northern Michigan Man Meets Suspicious Death.

Cuyuna, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Nystrom, a miner, died Monday. Mr. Nystrom was found about ten days ago in an unconscious state, as told in The Herald, and it is the theory that the man was hit over the head with a club, as two ugly wounds were discovered on his head upon examination by the hospital physician. It is thought that the man was robbed by some unknown parties as an empty pocketbook was found near the scene. The local police will take the matter up with the county authorities and an investigation will be conducted to ascertain whether Nystrom met with foul play. Little is known of the man in Cuyuna. He came here a short time ago from some point in Northern Michigan.

FAMOUS COMPOSER AND NOTED TENOR AT PLAY IN ADIRONDACKS

VICTOR HERBERT AND GEORGE HAMLIN.

Victor Herbert, the composer, has been spending his summer at Lake Placid in the Adirondacks. A few days ago he celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his marriage and entertained a large company. This snapshot of Mr. Herbert was made while he was decorating the grounds, assisted by George Hamlin, the tenor, who is one of his guests. Mr. Hamlin is to sing in Mr. Herbert's opera, "Natoma," during the coming winter.

MILLER SAYS CANADA WILL INDORSE RECIPROCITY

Congressman Clarence B. Miller returned this afternoon from Washington.

Mr. Miller was asked whether or not he intended to be a candidate for re-election, but stated that it was too early to discuss the matter, saying the election was still more than a year away, and that he did not care to discuss it.

Mr. Miller is in a position to discuss reciprocity sentiment in Canada intelligently. On his way home he passed through Canada, stopping at Ottawa, Quebec, Montreal and Toronto.

"In Eastern Canada they are opposing the treaty very strongly," he said. "The commercial interests are fighting it hard, and they are stirring up patriotic sentiment, and talking of the commercial integrity of the British Empire. They are also using the religious feature against Laurier in Quebec, the premier being in bad standing with the church.

"But Laurier is strongest where the opposition is working so hard. He is a French Canadian, and the people there look upon him as all that is just and honorable. He is having good success with his meetings.

"Minnesota people should feel great sympathy with those in Western Canada. They have been unable to secure reapportionment up there and have not a fair representation. The vote in Western Canada would be six or eight to one in favor of reciprocity, and if it were a popular vote there would be no question whatever about the result. Reciprocity would carry easily.

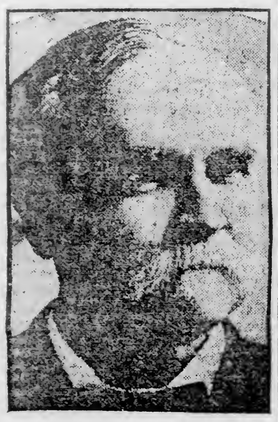

"The vote is hard to forecast, from my brief visit, but I believe reciprocity will carry in Canada, and the Laurier government will be upheld."

CONGRESSMAN C. B. MILLER.

OBITUARY

Roger Quarles Mills, former United States senator from Texas, died Sept. 2 at his home in Corsicana, Texas. Roger Q. Mills was born March 30, 1832, in Todd county, Ky., and moved to Texas with his parents in 1849. At the age of 20 years he was admitted to the bar by an act of the legislature, and at once took up the practice of law at Corsicana. In 1858 he married Caroline M. Jones. In 1859 he was elected to the Texas house of representatives. He served in the Confederate army and was made colonel of the Tenth Texas infantry, C. S. A. Later he succeeded Gen. James Deshler and was wounded in the battle of Missionary Ridge, and was twice wounded in subsequent battles of the war. He was a representative in the Fifty-first and Fifty-second congresses, resigning to succeed Horace Clifton as United States senator, and was re-elected to the senate for one term on the Democratic ticket. During his service in the house he was speaker of that body, and was author of the Mills tariff bill.

Oliver Anderson, one of the most prominent business men of St. Peter, Minn., is dead. He was born in Norway 70 years ago. He began his business career in La Crosse, Wis., and later moved to Winona, Minn. He moved from there to St. Peter in 1867 and established a drygoods business. He is survived by his widow and one son, A. M. Anderson.

CLEARS WOMAN OF MURDER CHARGE

Husband Is Found to Have Died From Fall Down Stairs.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 2.—Mrs. Mary Wertclewski, charged with the murder of her husband, who was found dead in their home at Pound, Wis., two weeks ago, was discharged from custody last night by Judge Bernardy, the examinating magistrate He found that the man came to his death by a fall down stairs.

When the opinion of the court was announced there was applause and cheering for the defendant, and relatives and friends hurried to her side, kissing and embracing her. The demonstration was the most marked ever seen in a local court room.

There is considerable feeling against the officer who exhumed the remains of the deceased and brought the head, heart and lungs here for trial exhibits.

Omaha Girl Getting Well.

Cecilia Donahue, the 5-year-old girl who fell down the elevator shaft at the Spalding hotel a week ago is recovering rapidly, according to reports from St. Mary's hospital.

Argue Old Question.

Another inning in the 2-year-old battle between the board of public works and the board of water and light commissioners relative to the First avenue west sewer repairs bill was fought out this morning in the office of the board of public works. This sewer was damaged when the gas main above it blew up shortly after the big storm of two years ago. The city repaired the sewer and sought to charge the water and light department with the cost, $1,500. This they refused to pay. This morning an arbitration committee consisting of Commissioner Hudson and Erd of the water board continued the arguments with the board of public works. No decision was arrived at.

Sewer Contracts.

The following men were the low bidders on the sewer jobs for which bids were opened by the board of public works yesterday: Gust Hiner, sanitary sewer in Sixth street between Twenty-first and Twenty-third avenues west, $942.50; Gust Hiner, sanitary sewer in Eighth alley between First and Second avenues east, 250 feet, $263; Charles Ecklund, sanitary sewer in Fifty-sixth alley west from Paducah place to Eighth alley and in Eighth alley to Central avenue, $626; M. Fitzgerald, sanitary sewer in Ninth alley between Sixth and Seventh avenues east, $895.60; C. Engle, sanitary sewer in Third street between Thirty-ninth and Forty-first avenues west, $1,219.40; Charles Ecklund, sanitary sewer in Seventieth avenue west, between Raleigh and Waseca streets, with outlet to Seventy-first avenue sewer, $1,543.90; C. Engle, sanitary sewer in Sixth alley between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east, $255.25; E. Engle, sanitary sewer in Ninth alley between Ninth and Twelfth avenues east, $1,645.25; C. R. McLean, sanitary sewer in Chestnut street between the west line of Bryant's addition to Walnut street, $2,202.20.

RUNS GAMES FOR WOMEN

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A gambling house patronized exclusively by wealthy women and operated by a woman has been in operation in Minneapolis for weeks, according to the police. Scores of women have sat in the games, they say.

It is asserted the place is on Nicollet avenue, the principal commercial thoroughfare of the city, and could be picked out every afternoon by an imposing line of automobiles lined up at the curb.

It is said the police took steps to close the place after husbands of players complained that their wives were losing money there, and asked that the house be put out of business.

The woman operator of the place was summoned to police headquarters by Michael Mealey, superintendent of police Friday, and asked for an explanation. She was told that men who operated gambling houses were sent to the workhouse, but as she was a woman she would be allowed her freedom on her promise to suspend operations. The woman gave the promise the police say.

According to the police, whose investigation of the place is not yet finished, the rooms occupied by the woman contained as many as two dozen tables, all of which were kept busy during the afternoons. The place was handsomely furnished and luncheon was served.

GET READY FOR THE DUMAS CASE

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alexander James, assistant attorney general, who has charge of the prosecution of the arson case against Dr. Dumas of Cass Lake, which will be considered by the grand jury of Beltrami county at the term of court which opens here Tuesday, Sept 12, and Sam Fullerton, deputy state fire marshal, who has been prominent in the case ever since the fire marshal's office was given the information which led to the shooting affray at Puposky arrived in Bemidji this morning from St. Paul.

Asked if any further arrests are contemplated, Mr. James refused to answer. Speaking of the published article in which it had been insinuated that the arrest of Dr. Dumas by federal authorities was persecution, Mr. James said:

"The federal government has been conducting an investigation of the Puposky affair and independent of the state authorities, and undoubtedly held the warrant for the arrest of Dr. Dumas until additional evidence was procured. The federal authorities are charged with the enforcement of the law of the United States, and it certainly is not becoming of any man to characterize their acts as persecution without a full knowledge of all the facts."

So far as is known here, the state does not know the whereabouts of Mike Davis, who escaped from Puposky while Martin Behan was wounded and captured, and nothing is given out as to the present whereabouts of Behan, who left here after the preliminary hearing.

CITY EMPLOYE COULD NOT TELL JUDGE NAME OF MAYOR

Because a certain city employe showed such absolute ignorance as to municipal government at a hearing for citizenship papers held last evening at 7:30 o'clock, before Judge Dancer of the district court, he was denied the right to become a citizen, and his case continued for six months, during which time he will probably learn a few things about Duluth.

This man was well known to Judge Dancer, and the fact that he showed such ignorance came as a big surprise to the court. K. B. Doe, naturalization examiner for the government, was equally surprised, while twenty-four other applicants looked on with amazement.

This man has been working for the city for several years, it is said, in one capacity, and in such a position that he comes in contact with many of the officials. But here are a few of the things he did not know:

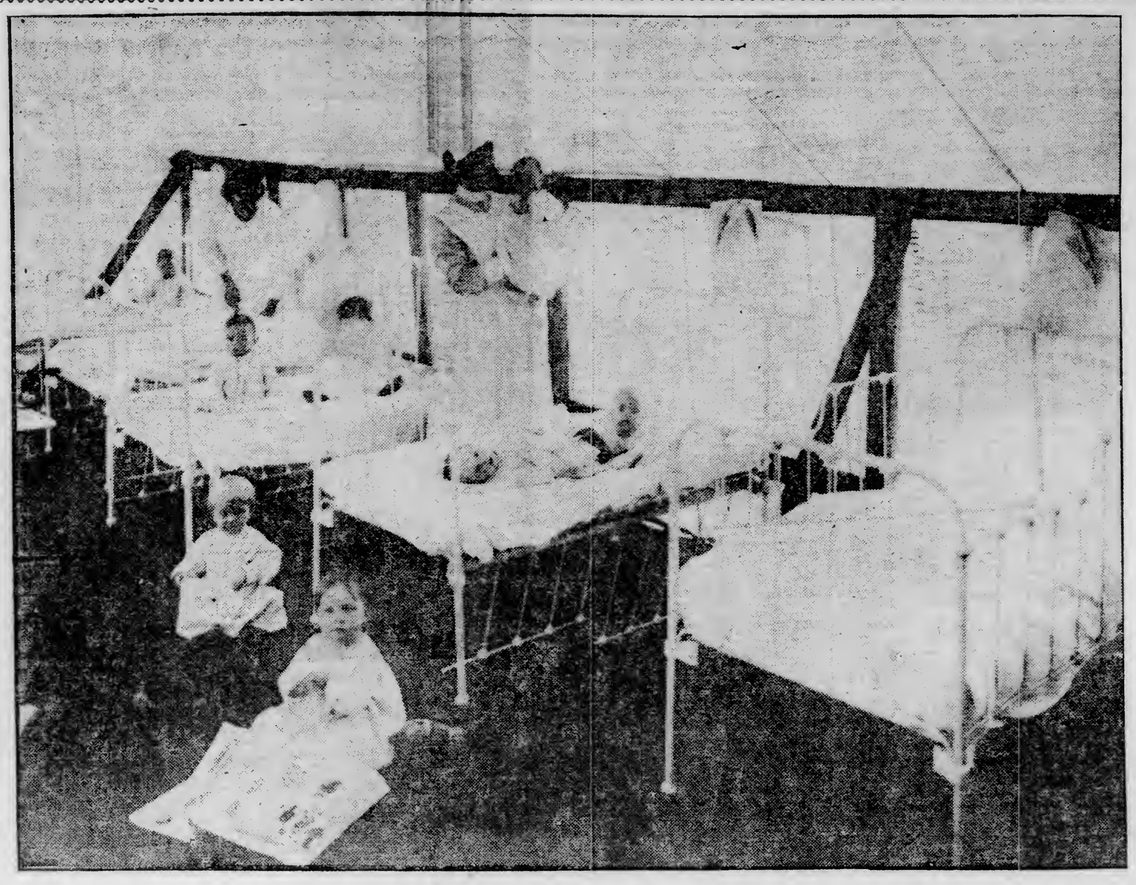

Who the mayor of Duluth is.
What an alderman is.
What a ward is.
Who his representatives in the city council are.
What a precinct is.

After quizzing him for some time, Mr. Doe moved the court that his case be extended for six months in order to give him time to learn some of the things concerning Duluth.

Nine others had their cases continued, some of them for a year, for they showed such utter, dense ignorance. Five cases were denied, and ten men were made full citizens.

The government is becoming more particular as to the admission of aliens to citizenship, for the department of naturalization is convinced that it does no one harm to have his citizenship papers withheld from him for a short time in order that he may learn more of the government and the customs. The only thing that a man loses by not being a citizen is a vote, for he can hold property and has practically all the rights of a full citizen.

Quietly and unobtrusively, humbly situated in a tent in the shelter of some large trees on the hillside at the corner of Fifth avenue east and Fifth street there is developing what promises to be perhaps the most effective and beneficial cahrities on Duluth's list of benevolent undertakings. In its present form it is the "outdoor baby hospital," maintained jointly by the Bethel Home, the Scottish Rite Masons and the Associated Charities, and today it is caring for fourteen ailing babies, most of them from homes where proper care cannot be given them.

The tent used is a large one and has carefully screened ventilating places and doors. The interior, lined with its rows of neat white iron cribs rivals a hospital operating room for scrupulous cleanliness. Most of the beds are filled now, and the youngsters are being given the best care that modern science can afford.

Dr. O. W. Rowe, who makes a specialty of infantile troubles, was the originator of the tent hospital. He wanted some place where the babies from the Bethel Home could be taken and properly cared for when ill. The tent was the result. Miss Thiele, visiting nurse for the Scottish Rite Masons, then expressed a desire that they might be allowed to bring babies there when necessary and share in the expense. Later the Associated Charities joined in the work and now has several babies in the tent.

Miss McKaig of the Bethel Home is permanently in charge of the work, but her place is being taken at present by Mrs. Frances Frost Stewart. The diet of the little ones is taken care of by Miss Thiele, who prescribes everything that is given to the ailing babies to eat. Miss Hernan of the Associated Charities, Miss Mauck, Bethel Home nurse, and Miss Beatty, school nurse, are rendering such assistance as they are able to give under the pressure of their other duties.

One of the most enthusiastic workers for the home is Miss Weller, one of Duluth's trained nurses, and through her friends, whom she has interested in the work, much has been gained in comfort and convenience at the baby hospital. She has, besides securing quantities of clothing for the little ones, been instrumental in the installation of electric lights, heating apparatus and other conveniences.

Those in charge of the home are anxious to have it understood that any physician, or person, having a baby under his care, which is so situated as to be incapable of doing well under existing conditions, may bring the child to the tent. There care will be given free, the only charges made being for the food and other things which would be necessary were the child left elsewhere. Sebenlus dairy milk is furnished to the babies at the cost of ordinary dairy milk.

The hospital will be conducted in the tent through September and probably October, and the promoters of the project are already looking around for quarters where it will be possible to cary on the work during the winter months.

RAILROADS

MACKENZIE IN DULUTH

R. J. Mackenzie, one of the firm of Mackenzie, Mann & Co., the owners of the Canadian Northern railroad, and M. H. McLeod, general manager and chief engineer of the road, both of Winnipeg, are in the city today en route to their homes from Chicago, where they have been on a business trip.

Work all along the Canadian Northern road is progressing satisfactorily, they say, and within a short time this city will be in direct connection with the Canadian city by their own line. The first passenger train, however, which they will run through from Winnipeg, will not arrive here on Nov. 1, as was at first planned, and it is probable that it will not be here until Jan. 1. Some delays have been experienced in the construction of the line, and a few details in the business affairs must be adjusted before the train can come here. All arrangements are said to have been made with the Northwestern line for the use of its terminals in this city.

Although no definite confirmation could be secured as to the possibility of the company building a lake fleet, it is intimated that the company will have one, which will consist of passenger, package freight and ore boats.

Steel for New Road.

The England Towing company, and Whitney Bros., of Superior, were awarded the contracts for the transporting of the graders' outfit for the Westerdahl Bros., who have part of the contract for the construction of the branch of the Canadian Northern railroad from Port Arthur to Sudbury. The England Towing company will take up sixteen carloads of steel and other material from this city for Nipigon lake on Monday. The Whitney Bros. will start their hauling about the middle of next week.

Holiday for Freight Men.

Although the ticket offices of the railroads will be opened on Monday, which is a legal holiday, to accommodate those who are going to the state fair, the freight departments will be closed and no business is to be transacted. The members of those departments will take a day off and many of them will be at the fair for the opening day.

AMONG RAILROAD MEN

H. T. Hazen, chief engineer of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad, returned yesterday from Port Arthur, where he has been inspecting the work on the construction of the branch of the Canadian Northern from that point to Sudbury.

Ray Clark, traveling freight agent for the Canadian Northern railroad is in the city today.

C. E. McMullen, superintendent of the Northern Pacific terminals at Seattle and Tacoma, is in Duluth today on his way home after a few weeks visit in the East. Mr. McMullen is well known in this city having been superintendent of the Union station, and assistant superintendent of the Northern Pacific here.

J. C. Simonton, general agent for the Northern Pacific railroad at Minneapolis, is in Duluth on business today.

John Lunyon, traveling freight agent for the Northern Pacific road at St. Paul, is in the city today.

Edward C. Simmons, chief clerk in the freight department of the Omaha, will leave this evening on a ten days' vacation, which he will spend in Illinois.

Michael Michalick, cashier for the Duluth Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad, is in the city from Virginia.

BUSINESS "KINGS" OF ONE SORT AND ANOTHER

A Connecticut Man Grows More Peaches Than Any of His Fellow Countrymen—The Coke "King" is Henry Clay Frick, and the Bond Owning "King" is Andrew Carnegie—One of Wyoming's Senators Holds First Place as a Sheep Raiser, While to a Dakota Man Belongs the Title of Wheat "King"—The Guggenheim Brothers Are the Greatest Owners of Silver and Lead Mines—The Biggest Cotton Manufacturer is M. D. C. Borden, and an English Syndicate Will Soon be the Cotton Growing "King" of America—Other "Kings" of Business.

Written for The Herald by E. J. EDWARDS ("Holland")

(Copyrighted, 1911, by E. J. Edwards.)

WHO ARE the biggest business men in the United States — the men who would be referred to in picturesque popular phraseology as "kings" of one sort or another?

John D. Rockefeller stands at the head in several categories. He is undoubtedly the biggest moneyed man in the country; the sum total of his possessions is said to be, and probably is, close to $1,000,000,000. On account of his position as head of the gigantic Standard Oil business, he is sometimes referred to as the "Oil King." He is probably the greatest individual holder of bonds in the United States. He was at one time, and probably is today, the greatest holder of bonds of any one industrial enterprise. Not many years ago he was the possessor of $300,000,000 of United States Steel Corporation bonds. In founding libraries and making gifts to public institutions he has parted with a very large number of these bonds—his gifts which are always in the form of Steel bonds, amount to more than $150,000,000—but he is still the greatest possessor of these securities.

Biggest Land Owners.

The biggest banker in the United States is J. Pierpont Morgan, both in the amount of capital he commands and the magnitude of the enterprises that he has financed. If one speaks of the greatest holders of real estate, the name of Astor comes to mind, the Astor holdings of real estate in New York city being the most valuable interest in land in the country. As to which one of the Astors deserves the title of greatest real estate owner, there is considerable much uncertainty, but the most reliable opinion seems to be that Col. John Jacob Astor really is entitled to this distinction, and that his holdings of real estate in New York are more valuable by a very considerable margin than are those of his cousin, William Waldorf Astor. The Astor holdings rank first only in value. There have been individuals who have possessed more acres of land even in New York city than the Astors own. Miss Mary C. Pinckney, who died a few years ago, owned at one period about 5,000 New York city lots, probably the most extensive interest in improved New York city land ever held by one person.

The greatest land owner in the United States, if it is meant by that the individual whose landed possessions cover the greatest area, is E. J. Marshall of Texas. His estates in Texas and Colorado comprise 4,000,000 acres—6,250 square miles. Add one-fifth of its area to the state of Connecticut, and you will have a pretty good notion of the expanse of this one man's holdings in land.

Cattle raising is practically the only use to which Mr. Marshall has put his huge domain, and some of the biggest herds of the West graze upon it. Much of it, however, could be adapted easily to intensive farming, and undoubtedly it will be put to use in that way some day. Mr. Marshall made his start in a very modest way in Texas, and built up his estate by combining cattle raising with dealing in land and banking operations.

In the Railroad World.

It would not be very easy to say who is the biggest railroad man in the country today, if the term be taken in a very broad sense. Two years ago in the general opinion, Edward H. Harriman, undoubtedly, was that man. His pre-eminence was conceded, when he was considered in the several aspects of owner, organizer and operator combined. Since Mr. Harriman's death his place as head of the Harriman system of railroads has been filled by Judge Robert S. Lovett, who previously had been associated with that system as general counsel, and doubtless he has a strong claim to be considered in some sense the biggest man in the railroad world today. There are many persons, on the other hand, doubtless, who would be inclined to say that the removal of the dominating personality of Mr. Harriman has left James J. Hill, the great railroad builder, organizer and operator of the Northwest, as the greatest figure among railroad men. Very probably this view is correct, if both the ownership and the operation of railroads are to be taken together as the criterion.

If it is merely a question of the ownership of railroad stock, then the biggest railroad man in the country is probably William Rockefeller, although there is some question whether Henry C. Frick is not in a position to dispute the title with him. Mr. Frick is believed to be, at any rate, one of the very greatest owners of railroad stock in the country. Mr. Rockefeller's railroad interests are believed to be more diverse than those of any other man; he is understood to own stock in a greater number of railroads than any other individual does, and it is surmised that there is hardly a railroad of any importance in the whole country in which he does not own a considerable block of shares.

While John D. Rockefeller is the biggest man in the associated industries connected with the utilization of petroleum, it is Col. James M. Guffey of Pittsburg who is accounted the greatest individual producer of oil. Col. Guffey went into the oil business in Pennsylvania about forty years ago, and he has made a great fortune out of it. He has been prominent for many years as a leader in Democratic national politics, and is probably more generally known as a politician than as a business man. He has been active in politics not because of any desire for public honors, but because of his liking for the game, and he is one of the few politicians of national prominence who has never held a public office and has never been a candidate for one.

The Coke King.

The "coke king" is Henry C. Frick, who for many years has been not only the greatest manufacturer of coke, but also one of the leading men in the steel business of this country. As a very young man Mr. Frick saw the possibilities in the coke business, and put all the money he could raise into coal lands and coke ovens. He started in on a small way in the district around Pittsburg, and became several times a millionaire in a few years. The coke producing plan of which Mr. Frick is the head has a capacity of about 7,500,000 tons a year. That is almost exactly one-third of the total amount of coke manufactured annually in the United States at the present time.

United States Senator Frances E. Warren of Wyoming was referred to in one of the debates in congress recently as "the greatest shepherd since Abraham." Whether or not that description is strictly accurate, Senator Warren is regarded as one of the greatest sheep raisers in this country. A little more than forty years ago he was a farmer and stock raiser in Massachusetts. He settled in Wyoming when it was a wilderness, and he is one of the most prominent of the men who helped to make it a great state. He has represented Wyoming continuously in the United States senate since 1890, that is, as long as Wyoming has been a state.

If Senator Warren holds the first place among sheep raisers a place very near the front is held by John David Waite of Montana, whose flocks number about 60,000 head. He is also a large raiser of horses and cattle. Mr. Waite has figured prominently in Montana politics, and has held several public offices. For several years he was a member of the Republican national committee.

The greatest lumberman in the United States is Frederick Weyerhauser. His right to be called "lumber king" is not disputed. He is the owner of vast tracts of timber land and is interested in a great number of lumber companies, and has besides many other business interests.

The Man of Most Peaches.

The distinction of being the "peach king" belongs to John Howard Hale of Glastonbury, Conn. He is owner of immense peach orchards in Georgia and Connecticut. One of his orchards in Georgia, containing more than 3,500,000 trees, is the largest peach orchard in the world. He is also the greatest grower of apples in the section north of Virginia and east of Illinois.

Mr. Hale has had a career that will match with that of any of the men who from small beginnings have attained the very first rank in business and industry. He began with a small truck garden in Glastonbury about forty years ago, and for a while he sold his produce from a hand truck which he pushed about himself. People found out that his goods were always just what he said they were—that the bottom of the basket was just like the top—and they were glad to buy of him. He showed a lot of darling and resource even in those days of small things. He would stake his year's profits, as his neighbors would suppose, on the success of a single crop, but if that crop failed, he always managed to have something else to fall back upon. In the same way today, if a late frost blasts the buds of his peach trees he has his acres planted to canteloupes, or something else, before many men would have finished figuring up their losses.

Mr. Hale has had the benefit of no scientific training except that which he has given himself, but he is a recognized authority on pomology, and has made a reputation as a writer and lecturer on horticultural topics. He is in great demand as a speaker at meetings of agricultural bodies, and is noted for his fund of good stories, each one pointing a moral, and for his readiness at repartee. Mr. Hale prepared the agricultural section of the census of 1890, which was esteemed as a very thorough and highly valuable piece of work.

Frederick Wellhouse of Topeka, Kan., is regarded as the biggest apple man in the country. He has been raising fruit, especially apples, for more than fifty years, and he has more than 1,600 acres of apple trees which he has planted and grown himself.

The Wheat King.

The biggest individual wheat farmer in the United States is said to be John Dalrymple, who operates the huge family estate in North Dakota founded by the late Oliver Dalrymple. There are 22,000 acres of some of the finest wheat land in the world in this big farm, and from them as many as 3,000 carloads of grain have been taken in a single year. John Dalrymple is a young man, a college graduate, and his tastes and interests are by no means confined to agriculture. His winters, which are his vacation time, he spends in Europe. If he is not exactly a farmer of the old type, he knows his business thoroughly none the less, by all accounts.

Among the "cattle kings" George W. Littlefield of Austin, Tex., and Burdett Aden Packard are of the first rank. Which of the two is the bigger is a question. Littlefield controls 50,000 head of cattle and 450,000 acres of land; Packard owns with the estate of the late Col. William C. Greene, 700,000 acres of ranch land and 40,000 head of cattle.

Ex-Senator William A. Clark of Montana is the greatest owner of copper mines in the country. Copper was the real foundation of the big fortune of which he is the possessor and which is invested in various kinds of mines, in railroads, real estate, farms, timber lands, flour mills and lumber mills, banks, cattle ranches, sugar plantations, and enterprises too numerous to mention.

The Guggenheim brothers are without question the greatest owners of silver and lead mines in the country. Their interests are so closely associated that it is a matter of surmise whether Isaac or Daniel or Simon Guggenheim ranks first in this respect.

The Biggest Cotton Manufacturer.

The biggest individual cotton manufacturer in the United States is M. D. C. Borden, who has been known to buy a million dollars' worth of cotton in a single deal. Mr. Borden is a man who does things on a big scale, and who often succeeds where others would fail because magnitude does not appall him. For instance, when President Hadley of Yale was trying to raise a million dollars for the Yale bi-centennial fund, and had become rather discouraged, he consulted Mr. Borden.

"You are going at this the wrong way," Mr. Borden said to him. "The thing to do is to get half a dozen men to give $100,000 apiece, and you won't have any trouble raising the rest. I will undertake to get six men to subscribe in that amount."

Mr. Borden found the six men, he was one of them himself. After that the money came easily. He solved the problem because he attacked it in the big way.

Until last February when he sold a large part of his cotton plantations to an English syndicate, Charles Scott of Mississippi, was accounted the greatest individual cultivator of cotton. He was understood to own and operate plantations covering more than 20,000 acres. He is still one of the large cotton planters in the South, notwithstanding that he has greatly reduced his holdings of cotton land.

Mr. Scott is one of the best known of the business men of the South. He has been prominent in politics in Mississippi and some years ago was a candidate for governor of that state. Like almost all the Southern gentlemen of the old school, he is a great hunter. Only a few weeks ago he started for Alaska on an extended hunting trip.

The English syndicate which acquired some of Mr. Scott's properties, besides thousands of acres from other cotton growers, is expected to carry on the cultivation of cotton on a scale that will dwarf the operations of the biggest individual cultivators of the state. Among the very largest individual cotton planters today are Allen Gray of Evansville, Ind., who cultivates an immense plantation at Dahomie, Miss., and J. E. Smith, Jr., of Georgia, who cultivates something like 15,000 acres.

The biggest owner and operator of telegraph and cable lines is Clarence H. Mackay, who succeeded to the great business interests of his father, the late John W. Mackey. Joseph P. Grace of New York city is said to be the owner of the greatest mercantile fleet flying the American flag. He succeeded his father, the late William R. Grace, who was for years prominent in Democratic politics in New York, and was mayor of New York in 1885 and 1886, as head of the house bearing his father's name and carrying on a great trade with South America.

The late B. F. Jones of Pittsburg was at the time of his death the biggest independent steel manufacturer in the United States. His son, B. F. Jones, Jr., has inherited this title along with his father's business interests.

King of Inventors.

The greatest of inventors, the number and variety of his inventions and the wealth that they have created considered together, is unquestionably Thomas A. Edison. Yet if this title were to be based on the merit and importance of a single invention, it might be claimed very plausibly in behalf of Alexander Graham Bell. Bell's patent, which covered the basic principle of the telephone, of which he was the original discoverer, is said to have been the most valuable patent ever taken out in this country. It would be impossible, probably, to estimate with any degree of certainty the vast amount of wealth that this single invention of Bell's has created directly and indirectly.

The biggest man in the telephone business is Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telegraph & Telephone company. It was he, who showed how Bell's invention could be made commercially available, and it was he who built up the great continental Bell system.

The greatest manufacturer of electrical machinery and devices is Charles A. Coffin, president of the great General Electric company, of which he was one of the organizers. He went into the electric manufacturing business when it was in its infancy, and has been one of the most conspicuos of men who have developed it to its present colossal proportions.

The title of the biggest theatrical man belongs without any doubt to Charles Frohman. His first connection with the theater was as a ticket seller. That was thirty-five years ago. Today he owns and controls more theaters than any one person has ever owned or controlled, and that by a big margin. He is proprietor and manager of half a dozen of the leading play houses in New York and of almost as many in London and his theatrical interests besides extend to many of the leading cities of this country.

The biggest man in the coffee business is John Arbuckle. With his brother, the late Charles Arbuckle, he founded the firm of Arbuckle Brothers, which was a pioneer in the business of selling roasted coffee in packages, and which became the greatest concern of its kind in the country. Mr. Arbuckle is one of the greatest sugar refiners in the country. His individual interests in the sugar business are said to be greater than those of any other man in the East. In the West, the biggest sugar men are John D. and Adolph B. Spreckels, sons of the Late Claus Spreckels, whom they succeeded in the management of his great manufacturing, shipping and railroad interests. The Late Henry O. Havemeyer, whose death occurred in 1907, was the greatest sugar refiner in the country. His fortune, at least at the time of his death, was not so largely invested in the American Sugar Refining company, the so-called trust, as had been supposed, and the ownership of that company is said now to be rather widely scattered.

The Biggest College President.

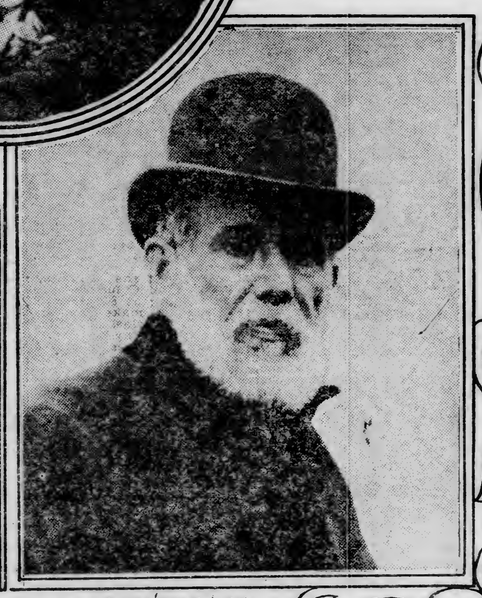

Who is the biggest college president in America? If we measure the importance of the man merely by the wealth of the institution of which he is at the head and the size of the student body, there is no doubt about the answer. It is Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, for Columbia, with its productive funds of more than $28,000,000, and its student body of nearly 7,500 is the richest and the biggest university in America.

But it would probably be urged that a university is not a business enterprise, and that the rank of a college president is not to be measured solely by the wealth and size of the institution over which he presides. It would be said that the personality of the man, his prominence and influence should be taken into consideration. A few years ago it would have been possible without dissent, probably to name the greatest college president in America on this broader basis of distinction. Charles W. Eliot, whose retirement as president of Harvard occurred in 1909, is the man who unquestionably held that position in the view of the American people. Who is it today? Is it Butler of Columbia, or Hadley of Yale, or Lowell of Harvard? In view of the interest that is being taken by the educational world in the methods developed at the University of Wisconsin, it may be asked if it is Van Hise?

The Late Marshall Field of Chicago was generally recognized in his day as the greatest merchant in America. It is said that John Claflin of New York is today the man who is probably entitled to this designation, in view of the extent of his combined wholesale and retail interests.

Young Mothers

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both she and her coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby too is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

FEARFUL BURNING ITCH WAS CURED

By Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Another Man Had Itching on Scalp. Hair Fell Out, Leaving Bald Spots. Now Hair Has Grown, Thanks to Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"I deem it my duty to tell about a cure that the Cuticura Soap and Ointment have made on myself. My trouble began in spiotches breaking out right in the edge of my hair on the forehead, and spread over the front part of the top of my head from ear to ear, and over my ears which caused a most fearful burning itch, or eczema. For three years I had this terrible breaking out on my forehead and scalp. I tried our family doctor and he failed to cure it. Then I tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and used them for two months with the result of a complete cure. Cuticura Soap and Ointment should have the credit due, and I have advised a lot of people to use them." (Signed) C. D. Thartenton, Creek, N. C., Jan. 26, 1911.

"I will say that I have been suffering with an itching on my scalp for the past few years. My hair fell out in spots all over my head. My scalp started to trouble me with sores, then the sores healed up, and crusts formed on the top. Then the hair fell out and left me three bald spots the shape of a half dollar. I went to more than one doctor, but could not get any relief, so I started to use the Cuticura Remedies. I tried one bar of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment, and felt relieved right away. Now the bald spots have disappeared, and my hair has grown, thanks to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I highly recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all that are suffering with scalp trouble." (Signed) Samuel Stern, 236 Floyd St., Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin, will be sent post-free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 9A, Boston, Mass.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ONE OF KITTSON COUNTY'S MOST PROGRESSIVE CREAMERIES

KARLSTAD CREAMERY AND SOME OF ITS PATRONS.

Karlstad, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The butter output of the Karlstad creamery has doubled since it was opened for business, three years ago, and it ships out more cream now every week than any of the neighboring creameries. The amount of butter shipped this year for the eight months ending Aug. 31, reaches over 671,000 pounds, which is 10,000 pounds more than last year for the same time. Diversified farming is the leading industry of this section, and in this the creamery business plays no small share. All the other creameries in this district are two or more years older than the Karlstad creamery. Karlstad scored 92½ at the state butter contest in June and in July.

ROSS LAKE LAND BOOM

Stampede for Crow Wing County Land Believed to Contain Iron.

Patrick Hamel and Other Duluthians Figure in Deals Being Made.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local men who have had lands listed for sale in township 137, range 25, have had such brisk demand for the property that they have sold about all of it. This is the town of Ross Lake, just across the Aitkin line in Crow Wing county, on the north side of the Mississippi, and this quiet stampede for lands there turns out to be what may develop into the next big iron find on the Cuyuna range.

Explorations have been conducted so quietly that few have realized what was going on, but for more than two years some most diligent work has been under way in that locality. One of the heaviest land owners is Frank J. MacKey of Chicago, who is interested in Mesaba range properties and is a wealthy man. M. P. Botsford is in charge of the field work for MacKey, and nearly two years ago a Longyear drill was moved onto his lands in section 26. After working for a time the MacKey people put in a drill of their own which has been running continuously since, working north and west from the starting point in the south half of 26, but returning to this locality again this year. Some time ago another Longyear drill was brought onto the work.

Duluth Men Are Active.

Through Patrick Hamel and other Duluth men much of the land in that locality has changed hands without the real owners being known, but as time goes on, it is apparent that some of the well known men interested in iron properties are back of these transfers. In section 34 a tract owned by Aitkin people will be drilled this fall, Gran & Kaye of St. Paul are owners of land in several sections in the locality and it is stated their properties are not for sale.

Work on the north side of the river farther west has been going on for a long time and it is claimed that the highest grade ore on the entire Cuyuna range has been located on the north side. Land transfers have also been made for mineral purposes in Deal Lake township, just south, and over in the Esquagamah lake country in Aitkin county, 49, 26 and 27, a great deal of property has changed hands of late through Aitkin real estate men

Say Ore Is Being Found.

The men engaged in the exploration work in 137, 25 positively refuse to give out anything, but those who have been over the ground after the drills say they have seen enough to convince them that ore is being found, and that it would be folly to believe that the machines would be kept in the field for two years in practically the same locality without gratifying encouragement. In the meantime land in that locality is more eagerly sought and more reluctantly disposed of, and Aitkin is interested as a village because it means the bringing of the operations that much nearer the supposed deposits in this county.

The matter of transportation is said to be assured if iron is found, as an official of the Soo Line stated that he had heard of the prospects there and that the company planned to follow the development of the range, and if iron was proven up in 137, 25 and farther east, a loop would be built from the Kennedy mine at Cuyuna across the river and connect with the Taief River division. This route would be a shorter haul to the Head of the Lakes from the north side of the river.

FARM PRODUCTS FROM SANDSTONE

Many Articles Raised in That Section Sent to State Fair.

Sandstone, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis Christensen, secretary of the Progressive Farmers' club, was selected by Manager Hostetter of the St. Louis county exhibit at the state fair to represent the Producers' Market association there also, and he left for Hamline Friday evening to arrange the produce from Northern Minnesota. The local club hurriedly gathered up a shipment of several varieties of potatoes, beets, cabbage, onions, carrots, rutabagas, parsnips, cucumbers, cauliflower, sweet corn, turnips, rhubarb and preserved raspberries, and the local exhibitors expect to carry off some of the awards to be given. Antes Dupee forwarded one barrel of cabbage which contained only three heads, two of which weighed twenty-three and twenty-seven pounds respectively. Among the exhibitors from here are Louis Christensen, Andrew Edin, Louis Mottaz, Chris Christensen, Antes Dupee, John Michels and Erick Johnson.

HINCKLEY HOLDS ANNUAL MEMORIAL

Governor Eberhart, Adam Bede and Others Pay Tribute to Fire Victims.

Hinckley, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual memorial exercises in remembrance of the 418 victims of the Hinckley fire in 1894 took added interest yesterday on account of the presence of Governor Eberhart and other state officers. The exercises took place at the cemetery where lie the 248 charred bodies buried in four trenches without identification.

A prayer was offered by Rev. D. E. Jackson and addresses were then made by Governor Eberhart and Former Congressman Adam Bede. Charles Spimquist, a member of the state railway and warehouse commission, and other state and county officials attended. The various officials came in a body from Pine City. The day is celebrated annually here.

"We are living in an age of negligence and waste," said the governor. "There is developed by the accidents in this state each year more than it costs us to run our government, including towns, villages, cities and the state. Now the plan is now in vogue in the schools of the state set aside a day to consider the immense loss of life and property through carelessness with fire and to instruct the young in methods of prevention."

REGISTRATION IS 19,191.

Nearly 20,000 Seek Homes on Fort Berthold Reservation.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 2.—The total registration for claims in the Berthold Indian reservation, the drawings for which will be held Sept. 6, is 19,191 as announced by Judge Witten in charge of the registration.

Judge Witten announced that Douglas Devine, son of ex-Governor J. M. Devine of Minot, will assist Robert Hanna, son of Congressman H. B. Hanna of Fargo in drawing the names Wednesday.

AITKIN PUBLIC SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aitkin public schools will open Mnday with the following list of instructors: George E. Butler, superintendent; Kathryn Carey, Clafre Barker, Catherine McDonnell, Minnie Brohaugh, Mae Gardner, Lillian Johnson, Gertrude Trainor, Zieda Drake, Ethel Stickney, Clara Broderson, Phoebe Olson, Jennie McMullen, Fred Magnus, Myra Sinclair, Antoinette Henderson, Roy Neff, Mathilda Hokanson.

DULUTHIANS DRILLING IN DEERWOOD BACKYARD.

Deerwood, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ole P. Erickson, former sheriff of Crow Wing county, seems destined to change from a politician to a mine owner, for yesterday morning the Duluth Diamond Drilling company set up a drill in his backyard near Deerwood. Mr. Erickson is the owner of a fine farm near Serpent lake to the north of Deerwood and the iron indications were so strong that Andrew R. Davidson of Davidson & McCrae of Duluth leased the property and set the drill at work.

GIRLS RUN AWAY WITH OLD MAN

Sleepy Eye, Minn., Pair and Aged Admirer Halted at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eva Isaacs, aged 16, and her sister, Marion, aged 15, daughters of Harris Isaacs, a junk dealer at Sleepy Eye, Minn., were arrested here yesterday in company with French Barnes, aged 64, said to be an old soldier, formerly living at Sleepy Eye, and later at Marshall. The trio had registered at a local hotel and were looking about for a house when they were arrested on advices from Brown county, the father of the girls swearing to a warrant charging that Barnes had kidnaped the girls. The girls said they met Barnes at Marshall and that they traveled to Brainerd with him, Barnes buying their tickets.

Are Taken to Sleepy Eye.

Last night Sheriff Augustus of New Ulm and County Attorney August G. Erickson of Springfield took the three back to Sleepy Eye. Both girls are rather pretty and Marion asserts she ran away to find work in a hotel. Eva says she went away to write for the newspapers and in her trunk had a collection of verses. The case is not without its many features for the girls persisted in calling their aged admirer "grandfather." They sang themselves to sleep in jail and considered the whole matter a great lark. They will probably be sent to the girls' state training school. What disposition will be made of the old soldier is not definitely known.

RUGGLES TIMBER FOR STATE PARK

Splendid Tract Along Lake Bemidji May Be Reserved for People.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The state forestry board, acting favorably on the suggestion of Chief Forester Cox and Assistant Chief Tierney, will make every effort to co-operate with the city of Bemidji in securing possession of a portion of the fine stand of Ruggles timber, on the east side of Lake Bemidji, in order to preserve permanently to generations to come a tract of land that would make an elegant public park or reserve, covered with tall and stately pine trees, within the limits of the city of Bemidji," says L. F. Johnson of Bemidji, state fire ranger, who makes Bemidji his headquarters and who has charge of the district of which Bemidji is a part.

Mr. Johnson had a consultation here with Assistant Chief Tierney. Messrs. Johnson and Tierney visited the Ruggles tract, which is in the Fourth ward of the city, lying in sections 2 and 11, and traveled over approximately 200 acres, which they believe would make an excellent park. There is a fine stand of Norway pine, some white pine and considerable jack pine.

MANY HOMESTEADERS.

Applications by 227 at Cass Lake for Chippewa Lands.

Cass Lake, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lester Bartlett, register, and E. B. Wood, receiver, of the United States land office have closed their books for the month of August. This shows that 277 applications were received from Aug. 22, the day of opening of Chippewa Indian lands, to the end of the month. Thirty-three thousand acres of the $2,000 opened to entry on the 22nd inst. have been segregated as a result of such applications. Of the balance of the land not taken up at this time the greater portion lies in Koochiching county and is too swampy for practical homesteading. Conditions will not remain in this manner much longer as Koochiching county has several immense drainage projects in view at the present time which, when completed will drain all the swamp land and as a result this swamp land will be homesteaded with a rush.

The rapidity with which the lands opened on the 2nd inst. have been entered illustrates the land hunger that is constantly growing for the desirable tracts in Cass and adjoining counties.

SERVING SUBPOENAS FOR STEPHENSON PROBE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2. — Frederick Weber, sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate, began serving subpoenas on witnesses in the Stephenson senatorial investigation yesterday. Mr. Weber is said to have preceded Senator Heyburn and his party to Milwaukee.

The story that the inquiry might not reach to the primary was disposed of when a subpoena was served on Leo Kilpinski. The evidence he will give concerns only the primary, and the fact that he was summoned is taken to indicate that the inquiry will follow the same lines as the legislative probe.

HIKING TO STATE FAIR.

Granite Falls Boy Scouts Are on 400 Mile Walk.

St. Peter, Minn., Sept. 2.—A group of sixteen Boy Scouts from Granite Falls, who are "hiking" to the state fair to attend the Boy Scout encampment, camped here Thursday night. They left Granite Falls a week ago and have marched on an average of twenty-five miles a day. They will march to Hamline and then to Hudson, Wis., after which they will return to Granite Falls. The route that will be covered is 400 miles in length.

SAVES BEDE'S GRANDSON.

St. Paul Girl Pulls Youngster Out of Cross Lake.

Pine City, Minn., Sept. 2. — Ruth West, aged 11 years, saved Harold Bede, aged 2 years, from drowning in Cross lake yesterday by promptly jumping into the lake after the child when he fell from the dock.

The little boy, who is a grandson of ex-Congressman J. Adam Bede, was standing on the edge of the dock waving his hand at his father, who was going across the lake in a launch, and fell into the water, which is four feet deep at that point. Ruth West is a St. Paul girl and with her parents has been spending the summer at Cross Lake.

SANDSTONE YOUNG MAN LAID TO REST THURSDAY.

Sandstone, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry G. Ford, a popular young man of sterling qualities, died Wednesday morning after a month's illness. He was 18 years of age and last year graduated from the Sandstone high school. About a year ago his father died and the deceased became the sole support of his mother, who is also very feeble. The funeral was held Thursday morning and the services were conducted by Father Raymond of Duluth at the Catholic church.

Mill City Postal Bank.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—Twenty-five persons were in line yesterday morning waiting to deposit sums varying from $1 to $25 when the postal savings bank was opened here at 8:30 a. m. in the federal building. The line began forming as early as 6:30 a. m. The first depositor was Mrs. A. F. Drew, private secretary to the postmaster Maj. W. D. Hale. Twenty-five dollars was placed to Mrs. Drew's credit.

Sandstone's New Priest.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ADMITS HE IS GUILTY

August Gursh Pleads Guilty to Shooting Virginia Officer.

Carmine Sacco Is Found Guilty of Murder in the Second Degree.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — August Gursh was brought before Judge Hughes yesterday afternoon charged under the indictment of the grand jury of assault in the first degree, also under indictment for burglary in the third degree. He entered a plea of guilty under the indictment for assault.

Gursh is a cripple, having lost an arm in the Brunt mine of the Pittsburg Iron Ore company last summer. He was also badly injured in the back and head.

He was indicted under the above by reason of his shooting Officer John Reardon of the city police force while Reardon was attempting to arrest him for disorderly conduct. His examination before Judge Hughes elicited that this was the first time he was ever before a court. He is a German, 30 years of age, all relatives residing in Germany. Judge Hughes sentenced Gursh to the state penitentiary at Stillwater to an indeterminate sentence.

The indictment of Gursh for burglary in the third degree was on motion of Assistant County Attorney Boyle dismissed, on the grounds of insufficient evidence. The grand jury found an indictment against Gursh charging him with entering Milavitz's store and taking some articles of jewelry.

Sacco Found Guilty.

The trial of Carmine Sacco, the Italian indicted along with two others, closed yesterday afternoon. Assistant County Attorney Boyle for the state presented his case in a very able and conclusive manner in his plea to the jury. At 2 o'clock Attorney M. H. McMahon for the defense finished the presentation of his case to the jury, the jury then retiring and in one hour and forty minutes returned a verdict of guilty in the second degree, which under the status provided for a life sentence. The case was heard before Judge Martin Hughes. Sacco was held for the murder of Casana Bomaci. The case of the second Italian charged under the same indictment will come before Judge Hughes' court Tuesday morning, owing to the county attorney not being ready in his case of state vs. Santo Tuuaino for the murder of Caesera Bomacci.

In Judge Dibbell's court the personal injury case of James McGrath vs. Republic Iron & Steel company still occupies the attention of the court with prospects of an early presentation to the jury.

CHISHOLM DOOMS FRAME BUILDINGS

Village Council Orders Such Structures From Fire Limits.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Monroe club gave the first of their series of winter dances at Karl's hall Friday evening. The Oliver orchestra furnished the music and the attendance was very good.

Mose Sapero returned Thursday from an extended visit to eastern jobbing centers.

A. Hillebrandt of New York arrived in the city this week and has taken a position with Jalo J. Kekonis.

Miss Martha Jacobson of St. Paul arrived in Chisholm last Saturday for a week's visit at the home of C. M. Beek. Miss Jacobson is a teacher in the St. Paul schools.

Dr. E. H. Nelson and family left Friday morning for the state fair in the doctor's big Mitchell touring car. They expect to take three days for the trip and will spend a day visiting friends at Duluth and Superior.

At a special meeting of the council last evening a resolution was adopted requiring all frame buildings within the fire limits to be removed forthwith. The action was taken because of the fear of property owners that unless this was done insurance rates might be boosted.

Owing to the inability of the committee in charge to make satisfactory arrangements for an excursion train for next Sunday, the scheduled excursion to International Falls has been abandoned. The local committee did everything in its power to complete the arrangements but the railroad officials apparently were unable to arrange a special train.

Placing Additional Lights.

A carload of poles were received this week by the Range Power company to be used in stringing additional arc lights to the Glen and Clark locations and in a number of outlying streets where the lighting has been inadequate up to this time. About forty new lights will be put in, making a total of nearly a hundred arc lights which will serve to illuminate the city.

It is rumored that the surveying crew which has been running lines in this vicinity for some time for the new range electric road, have been called to Duluth, and that the work of building will be deferred until spring.

J. J. Hayes and family left for Duluth this morning where they will board the steamship Hamonic for a trip down the lakes to Detroit, Mich. After a few days visit with Mr. Hayes' relatives who reside in that city, they will proceed to South Bend, Ind. Arthur will enter Notre Dame university, there he will take up a course preparatory to study of law. Winnifred Hayes will enter St. Mary's college, which is also located near South Bend.

LITTLE BOY IS DROWNED IN WELL

Missed From Home Near Hibbing, Body Being Taken From the Water.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alna Haklund, the 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haklund, residing about six miles south of Hibbing, was drowned Thursday afternoon. The body was brought here yesterday morning from which place the funeral occurred this afternoon. Interment was made in the Hibbing cemetary.

The little Haklund boy was playing alone in the yard. In his play he wandered too near a deep and open well on the premises. He pitched head first into the water and was not missed by his parents for several hours afterwards. As a last resort the father, with the help of several neighbors, dragged the well, finding the limp body.

BIG MAUSOLEUM BEING PLANNED

Cemetery Association of Virginia Decides to Build Compartment One.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special meeting of the local cemetery association the question of erecting a compartment mausoleum was considered.

The members of the board were unanimously in favor of the project and voted to set aside a plat of ground for a site.

The proposed mausoleum will be of solid, re-inforced concrete, finished upon the interior with finest white marble, while the exterior will be a distinctive style of architecture. It is possible that a chapel may be included in the plans and also a room for mourners.

The cemetery association has worked for years under a disadvantage, but by vigorous action on the part of the present board during the past three years coupled with the untiring efforts of Sexton Brough has brought about a wonderful change in the appearance of the local cemetery.

A committee of citizens may be selected to visit some of the cities in Iowa, Wisconsin and other states where some of the finest mausoleums have been built, for the purpose of determining the style of architecture to be used.

Eveleth, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Ada McKenzie, for several years a teacher in the local schools, returned yesterday from Seattle, Wash., where she spent a year's leave of absence in school work and will resume her duties as principal of the Adams school. Principal V. R. Boardman, Supt. Greening, Prof. Harry L. Lyons and Prof. John S. Peoples, are here preparing for the opening of the schools, Tuesday. Many teachers arrived today. Monday afternoon a teachers' meeting will be held and the instructors assigned. This year's list of teachers includes thirty new members.

Married in Duluth.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carl August Eckstrom of Duluth and Miss Laura Sebersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Sebersen of Hibbing, were married today in Duluth, where they will make their future residence. Miss Sebersen was formerly a resident of Duluth, having removed here four years ago.

DRAINAGE WORK BOOMING LAND

Eveleth People Becoming Interested in Northern Minnesota Farms.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Aho returned yesterday from Marshall, Douglas and other northern counties where he has been viewing lands. He reports the land very fertile about Middle River and Greenbush, and that much work is being done by the state drainage commission in the swampy sections. John Rauma, a local electrician, is cutting wheat on a very fertile 480 acre tract of land owned by William Talkari, a local boardinghousekeeper, near Greenbush.

John A. Saari of Duluth, who in company with Mayor Jacob S. Saari of this city, owns a 1450 tract of land near Greenbush, left last evening for that point to visit his farm. Patrolman Jacob Kentta, who recently visited the lands near Greenbush and Middle River, contemplates purchasing land there with the completion of the drainage work.

CHISHOLMITE REARRESTED.

Released From Jail, Frank Garnick Faces Another Charge.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Garnick, an Austrian about 30 years of age, was placed under arrest Thursday evening on a charge of stealing various articles of wearing apparel from John Kusma. He had just been discharged in court on a charge of drunkenness upon his promise to reform, and he had no sooner gained his freedom than he again landed in the police court.

DISCOUNTING PREMIUMS

Is Charge Made Against Virginia Insurance Agent.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—Insurance Commissioner Preus has notified F. J. Mollan, an insurance agent of Virginia, to appear before him Sept. 12 and show cause why his license should not be revoked on a charge of giving discounts on fire insurance premiums.

The charges against the agent come under the head of violations of the Minnesota law regulating the charging of fixed rates for insurance and follow an investigation made two weeks ago by State Fire Marshal Leller, who declared that Mollan had received $50 on a premium for a fire risk and had returned, it is alleged, $6 of the amount to the insurer, constituting a rebate.

P. R. VAIL PURCHASES HOTEL IN VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ex-Senator P. R. Vail has purchased the European hotel property at the corner of Cleveland avenue and Chestnut street for $33,000. It is of brick, fireproof, 120 by 50, and consists of commodious dining room, office, sample room and buffet. It is three stories high and has thirty rooms. Louis Fong, the original owner, is a pioneer resident of the city and built this building in 1901. It is rumored Senator Vail has options on several substantial business blocks.

DULUTH FIRM GIVEN BIG BIWABIK CONTRACT.

Biwabik, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Biwabik village council decided Monday evening to lay a plain concrete pavement on Main street, and gave the contract for the work to Pastoret & Lawrence of Duluth.

The contract price for five inches of this material on Main street and on the side streets north and south across the alleys half way in the block totaled $19,840, the firm having offered to do the work for $1.32 per square yard, with $700 added for filling and excavating.

Virginia Woman Returns.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Amy Whittin returned Wednesday morning from Fort Frances, where she was the guest of the Misses Theresa and May Fitzpatrick and Rita Paul.

Will Preach In Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. M. Dungan of Nebraska, who is visiting his son Raymond M. Dungan, will preach at the church tomorrow evening. Rev. B. D. Hanscom, the regular pastor, will speak at the same church in the morning on "The Laboring Man and the Sabbath."

Miss Olive Apps returned Wednesday from Duluth, where she has been visiting for the past two weeks.

Mrs. William Kumm of Crandon, Wis., is here visiting her sister, Mrs. A. G. Wudtke.

Ironwood schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 5.

Margaret Downey will leave Saturday night for Calumet, Mich., to teach in the domestic science school.

Miss Lillie Gardner returned Wednesday from a two weeks' visit at Superior.

Miss Ella Malone, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Goe, for the past month, left for her home at Oshkosh on Thursday.

BULLET HOLE IN HEAD

Of Former Minnesotan Found in Saskatchewan.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The decomposed body found near Regina, Sask., Thursday has been identified as that of Nelius Miller, formerly of Queen township, eastern Polk county, who went to Canada several years ago. He was found dead on a dumping groung with a bullet hole through his head. Relatives will start an investigation at once. They had not known of his whereabouts for some time.

FOR KILLING HUSBAND.

Mrs. Stannard Will Be Tried at Ontonagon This Month.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The most interesting murder case in the history of the upper peninsula of Michigan will be tried at Ontonagon during the September term of circuit court, when Mrs. Laura Stannard, charged with the death of her husband, Charles Stannard, will be tried.

Circuit Judge Cooper of Ironwood, who was to have presided at the trial of Mrs. Stannard, is in Europe, and Circuit Judge Flannigan of Crystal Falls, therefore, will sit on the case and Judge Cooper will handle some of Judge Flannigan's work on his return from abroad.

It is charged that last April Mrs. Stannard placed poison in the coffee of her husband.

FORMER GREEN BAY MAN DIES AT CLOQUET.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. P. Seible died early yesterday. Mr. Seible appeared to be in good health Wednesday and had carried on his usual duties at the Northern Lumber company's office, where he was bookkeeper, and where he had missed but one day in the past six years. He was 51 years old and leaves a wife, a son, Clifford Seible, 17 years old, and a daughter, Lucile, 8 years. A mother and sister reside in Washington, and another sister in Manitowoc, Wis. The family came here eight years ago from Green Bay, Wis., and for two years Mr. Seible was employed by the St. Louis River Mercantile company. The funeral will take place Monday.

BOY DEAD, FATHER HURT: STEPMOTHER ACCUSED.

Kimballton, Iowa, Sept. 2.—The 8-year-old son, Stephen, of Mrs. Paul Anderson, is dead and his father and stepmother are suffering from wounds inflicted by revolver bullets. Mrs. Anderson is in jail at Audubon, charged with killing the boy and attempting the life of her husband.

The Anderson home was burned following the slaying of the boy and his body was nearly consumed in the fire. This deed, also, is charged to the stepmother. It is thought the shooting resulted from a violent quarrel.

SULTAN PROMISES TO HELP TURKISH WOMEN.

Constantinople, Sept. 2.—For the first time in Turkish history the sultan yesterday received a deputation of women and promised them he would do what he could to improve the lot of Ottoman women. The deputation wore Western European costumes and all its members were heavily veiled.

VAN SANT WALKS FROM ST. PAUL TO MINNEAPOLIS.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Governor S. R. Van Sant walked the ten miles from St. Paul to Minneapolis in 3 hours and 7 minutes yesterday. It was the fiftieth anniversary of his enlistment in the Union army at Chicago. When he had finished the hike he said: "I feel bully and could do it again."

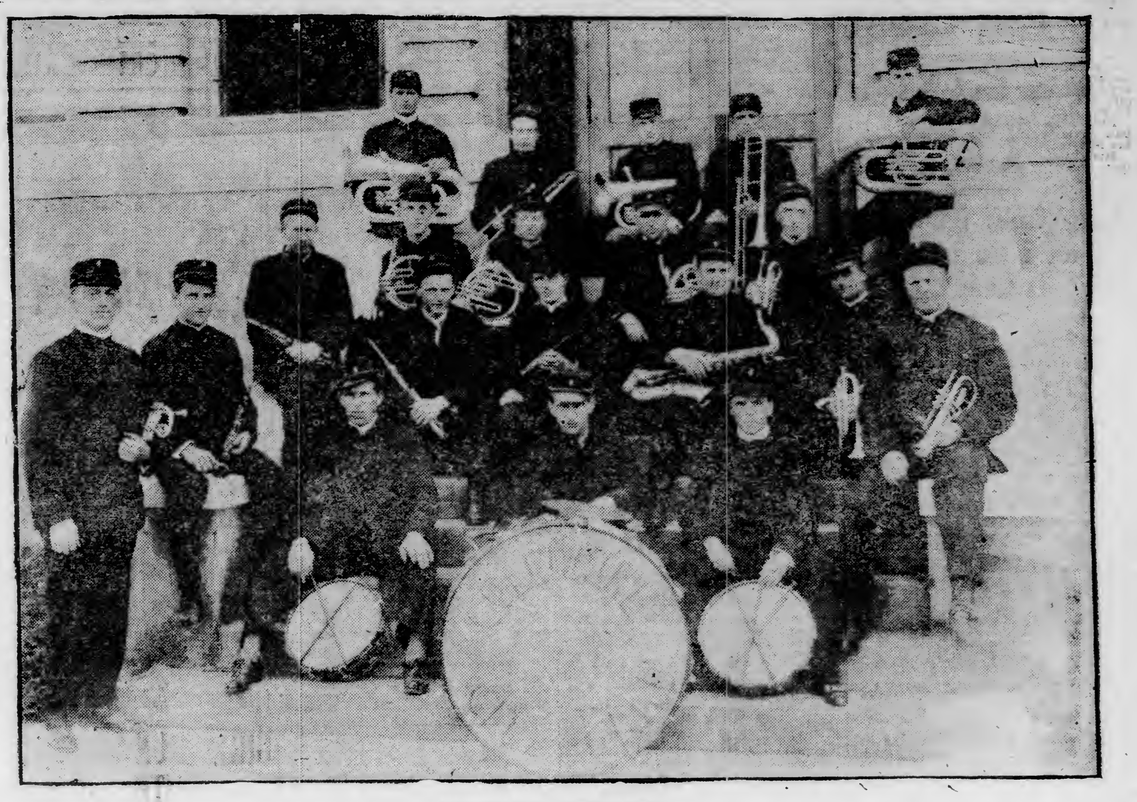

STATE MAY CALL IN FUNDS FROM BANKS.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seldom in the history of the state has the balance in its revenue fund been so low as it is now. At the close of the month's business Thursday, only $153,804.32 was in the fund. This condition, it is said, will necessitate the calling in of a major portion of the $3,056,589.90, which is on deposit in various banks of the state. It is expected the call for funds will commence about Sept. 18.

SLAYER WHO SANG OVER VICTIM'S BODY, HANGED.

Sylvester, Ga., Sept. 2.—William Rouse was hanged in jail here yesterday. Rouse was convicted of killing William Bailey after a quarrel at Rouse's house in 1909. He shot and cut his victim's throat and then sat by the body and consumed a bottle of whisky while he sang "Bill Bailey Won't Come Home."

THE LIQUOR HABIT CURED

God's True Root Discovered By John B. Fisete. The Only Sure and Permanent Cure For the Liquor Habit.

Prof. J. B. Fisete of Duluth is in town at 114 Lake Street, Chisholm, Minn. He has a well known and reliable cure for the liquor habit and guarantees to cure the worst case in two weeks. Hundreds who have been cured can testify to this fact. No matter how far gone a man may be or how desperate a case, even when there seems to be no hope for saving the man, I can positively cure him in two weeks and make a new man of him, both mentally and physically. If you have tried other cures and have gone back to the liquor habit again, I will guarantee to cure you in two weeks and turn your taste against intoxicating liquors or refund you your money. Prices reasonable. Here are some testimonials from those who have been benefited; $500 reward will be paid any one who can prove that they haven't been cured by my wonderful remedy.

CHISHOLM, MINN., June 26, 1911.

I have been a heavy drinker for the past five years and have tried a great many ways to stop drinking but never succeeded until I resorted to try J. B. Fisete's wonderful cure and at last I have conquered.

For the last five years I was suffering greatly from heart disease caused by drink and I cannot praise too highly Mr. Fisete's liquor cure as it not only cured me of drinking but cured me of heart disease. Anyone afflicted the way I was should give this wonderful remedy a trial.

Yours truly, GEO. BISSONETTE.

CHISHOLM, MINN., June 20, 1910.

I have taken Mr. Fisete's cure for the liquor habit and am entirely cured. I will advise all that suffer from the habit of drinking to take a cure, and I am sure that I feel like another man now. I can eat and sleep well, for I am not craving for liquor any more. It is a sure cure.

Yours respectfully, A. ANDERSON, Chisholm.

CHISHOLM, MINN., June 30, 1910.

Dear Sir: I have been a sufferer from dyspepsia for many years and endured a great deal of pain but found nothing to do me good until I tried J. B. Fisete's dyspepsia cure and after a two weeks' treatment found that I had greatly improved, and today am glad to say I have been entirely cured. Anyone suffering with dyspepsia should give this wonderful cure a trial.

Yours, MRS. A. ANDERSON.

STRONGER AT THE CLOSE

Trend Was Decidedly Bullish During the Entire Session.

Strong Cables Due to Failure of the Russian Crops.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 2.—In the face of favorable weather reports for harvesting and thrashing through the Northwest and Canada and the absence of any apparent factors in this country that could give wheat much of a boost, that staple was strong almost throughout the session today in all the leading grain markets of the Western continent. Duluth September, which closed at $1.04¾ yesterday, opened today at the same figure and closed at $1.05⅝. This is a fair index of the general trend.

What seems to be bulling wheat in this country is the fact that Europe bids fair to be a splendid customer. Russian offerings are very light indeed and as a natural consequence Europe looks to America to be fed. Berlin closed with a remarkable increase of 4½c in wheat. Just what this excitement on that exchange means the Chicago brokers say they do not understand. It indicates very plainly, however, that Europe will be a good buyer of wheat. The Liverpool close in wheat was ½d higher.

The trend of flax is still upward. Little is coming in, but the arrival of the new crop is no longer many days off. Duluth September gained 5 cents today.

September durum made a remarkable increase today, gaining 2¼ cents. Time is short to make the September deliveries and shorts, it seems, have been making a rush to get hold of enough to make good on futures.

Oats went up 1⅞ cents and corn ⅝ of a cent.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bullish Sentiment Prevails on Character of Cables.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Bullish sentiment had the lead today in the wheat market here owing to the strength of European cables. Unsatisfactory thrashing returns from Russia and light offerings by that country formed the basis of much of the firmness. Fine harvest weather in the Canadian Northwest exerted some influence in favor of the bears, but the effect was only temporary. Opening prices were the same as last night to 1⅛c higher. December started at 94½c to 94⅝c, no different from the market as a whole, dipped to 94⅝@94½c and then rose to 94⅞@95c.

A slump of 4 cents at Berlin did considerable to lift prices to a still higher level. The strained situation regarding Morocco was a decided factor. Closing figures were strong with December 1⅜c net higher at 95¾c.

Excellent shipping demand gave a strong tone to corn. The seaboard reported nearly all the exporters in the market. December opened in a shade to 1c up at 63¼c to 63¼@63⅜c, touched 63⅛@63¼c and advanced to 63⅜c.

Dry weather in Kansas led to a further advance. The close was strong, 1⅛@1¼c net higher at 64⅜c.

Free deliveries weakened oats. There was a good deal of selling on the part of longs. December started unchanged to ⅛c higher at 45⅜c to 46c and fell to 45⅝c.

Big decreases in lard stocks helped prices for all hog products. Initial sales were 2½c to 12½@15c decrer with January delivery $16.30 for pork, $9.30 to $9.32½ for lard and $8.42½ to $8.45 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Offerings Are Moderate With Slightly Better Demand.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—Advance of 4¼ centimes in Berlin was reflected in the strong domestic wheat markets. Local offerings were moderate and the demand slightly improved. September closed ⅞c higher than yesterday, December ⅞@1c higher, and May ⅞c higher. Chicago was relatively stronger. Only 200,000 bushels of wheat was delivered on contract here today. Local elevator stocks decreased 85,000 bushels for one day and stocks of oats increased 15,000 bushels for one day.

Minneapolis today received 241 cars of wheat against 429 a year ago; Duluth 246 against 284 and Winnipeg 74 against 180.

September opened $1.01¾, high $1.02⅛, low $1.00¾, closed $1.02⅛. December opened at $1.03¼, high $1.04¼, low $1.02⅞, closed $1.04⅛@1.04¼; May opened $1.07, high $1.08⅛, low $1.07, closed $1.08¼.

The cash wheat market was steady to a trifle easier. Offerings more liberal of mostly low grade. Demand active for choice milling wheat but slow for poor varieties. No. 1 northern sold for 1@3½c above the September contract. Closing cash prices: No. 1 hard, $1.06⅝; No. 1 northern, $1.03⅛@1.06¼; to arrive, $1.03⅛@1.04⅛; No. 2 northern, 99⅛c@$1.04⅛; to arrive, 99⅛c@$1.02¼; No. 3 wheat, 94¼c@$1.00¼; No. 3 yellow corn, 62½c; No. 3 white oats, 43¼c; No. 2 rye, 80½@81c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,939 tons; market strong and active; mills well sold ahead; prices unchanged. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $20.50@21.00.

Flour—The market showed some further improvement. The demand was more active and shipping directions came in more freely. Prices unchanged. Shipments, 54,661 bbl. First patents, in wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis, $4.90@5.10; second patents, $4.40@4.65; first clears, $3.25@3.45; second clears, $2.25@2.40.

Flax—Receipts, 16 cars, year ago 16; shipments, 2. Closing prices for spot were 8c higher than yesterday and to arrive, 3c higher. Demand strong and offerings light. Closing price, $2.60.

Barley—Receipts, 107 cars, year ago 76; shipments, 23. Heavy offerings made the market slightly easier. Demand was active, especially for the choice malting grades. Closing prices were 1@3c lower than yesterday. Closing range, 75c@$1.14.

REAL ESTATE

DEALS FOR WEST DULUTH DOCK PROPERTY PENDING

Eastern Firm Is Seeking Location for Branch House in Duluth.

Nashville Division in Glen Avon District Is Transferred.

Another large Eastern firm is looking upon this city as one of its scenes of business activity, according to a rumor afloat among the real estate dealers of Duluth. During the past two days members of this firm have been in the city and have looked over several sites in West Duluth, where it is said, they expect to secure water frontage for dock purposes.

During the past two months there have been some lively inquiries for dockage property in West Duluth, and from the rumors that are current some deals are pending which will mean much to the Head of the Lakes. The name of the latest propective firm to enter this city is withheld at this time, but it is said that they are well pleased with the location and the future of the Northwest. For what purpose they want the water frontage is not known, although there is strong talk about another coal dock. The rumor, however, has it that if this concern purchased the site, it will construct a dock of some kind there this fall and winter.

The greatest activity in real estate circles in Duluth during the past week was in farm lands and small tracts about the city. Nearly every firm in Duluth reports sales in outside property, with the greatest business centered around the outskirts of the city. The people have taken up with the small farm proposition, which affords them an opportunity to raise their own garden truck and stock, while holding their positions in the city. The tracts consist of from one acre to ten acres.

W. M. Prindle & Co. report a heavy business during the past week, which they say was the best they have enjoyed for years along this particular line. The Woodland garden tracts, of five acres each, are going very fast. The land is excellent for farming purposes, and is within easy reach of the Woodland car line. This company is also having a big sale of the Riverside suburban tracts, while the house and lot propositions at Crosley park are being picked up rapidly by those who want small homes at reasonable prices and on the easy payment system.

Whitney Wall has been doing a big business in the Hall & Linderberg addition, which is a short distance from the Woodland car line. These lots are two and a half acres in size, and make an excellent piece of land for farming purposes on a small scale for people working in the city. Besides these sales, Mr. Wall reports the sale of several lots in the Homewood division, which is located near the boulevard east of Eighth avenue east. A special sale is being conducted today, tomorrow and Monday, after which the prices are to be advanced from 5 to 10 per cent. The Duluth Street Railway company plans to extend its line within easy walking distance of this addition, which will materially benefit the locality and increase the value of the property.

The most important transaction of the week comes in the form of the transfer of the Nashville division platted on the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 11, 50-14, from Charles A. Nash of New Jersey, to E. C. Wright of Newark, Ohio, and Stryker, Manley & Buck of this city. The seller was represented by L. A. Larsen, and the consideration in the deed is given at $1.

This forty lies between Lewis and Victoria streets, Glen Avon, immediately west of where H. B. Fryberger is building his new $30,000 residence. The Hartley road, which is an extension of Victoria street, runs directly through this division, and gives ready access to it.

In this locality are springing up some of Duluth's handsomest homes, and Glen Avon, which adjoins this forty, has been noted for years for its desirability as a residence section. As this center for homes enlarges, the natural expansion will be westward, upon the Nashville division, which was platted this year by the former owner.

Stryker, Manley & Buck also report the following sales:

A lot of Fifth street between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues east from Jacob Laux to Ellen E. Berne for $1,275.

A double house at 1509 and 1511 London road from E. R. and W. D. Brace to Donald McLennan for $4,500.

Through the office of Richardson, Day & Harrison the deal whereby the easterly one-half of lot 14 and all of lot 15, block 15, Willard's addition was transferred from the Atlas Investment company to William W. Watson for $2,625 was made during the week. Among other sales two lots were sold in West Duluth, and four in the Norton Steel Plant addition.

To Raymond Bruber, two lots on Glendale street, near Fifty-fifth avenue east for $600, upon which Mr. Bruber intends to build.

To Victor Bruber, one adjoining lot to that of Raymond Bruber's, upon which he intends to build. Consideration $300.

To Mary A. McDonald, the house and lot of Fred Meyer, on Regent street near Fortieth avenue east for $4,600.

To Henry Dembeau, a house and lot on Juniata street, near Fifty-seventh avenue east for $4,350.

The Highland company reports the sale of two lots at Highland division on the Duluth Heights, and that several other deals are pending. This company is having about 200 lots cleared, adjoining this division, which will be put on the market after the improvements to the streets have been made.

The N. J. Upham company also reports activity in that locality, where they have the Home Acre tracts for sale. There are meeting with much favor with the people, for the locality is not only a most desirable one, but the soil is said to be the best for gardening.

T. W. Tilke, agent for the West Duluth Land company, reports the sale of a lot on Fifty-first avenue west, north of Wadena street, for $350 to Martin Phalen. He states that many deals in West Duluth have been made this week, and that several others are hanging fire.

At Gary twelve lots were sold this week by A. C. Volk & Co. Inquiries from outside parties are continually coming in and many deals are pending. Many of the laboring men at the steel plant are figuring on purchasing property there, with a view to constructing homes for themselves. The housing problem is becoming more serious in that locality every day as more men come to the western part of the city to work at the plant. Offers of high rentals have been made by these men, but even then they have been unsuccessful in securing houses.

The Knippenberg-Drummond agency is a new real estate concern which has started business in West Duluth, with its offices at 304 Central avenue. This company will specialize in the mortgage loan business, and will construct homes for sale on the easy payment system.

HERALD'S POPULAR PRICED HOMES

This attractive design is for a three-room cottage which contains a large living room, part of which is to be used as a dining room, a large bedroom in connection with bathroom and a kitchen.

Modern conveniences have been arranged for, including a fireplace.

The kitchen is equipped with a large cupboard containing flour bins, ample drawers, shelving and a pan closet.

The finish would be of birch, stained. Floors would be of maple.

These plans can be altered or reversed to suit the client's wishes and can be obtained from the architects for a nominal sum.

The cost of this house in Duluth or vicinity would be $1,800.

Tomorrow, Sunday, we have decided to offer a limited number of lots in to those who either cannot or do not wish to avail themselves of our home-owning proposition and who yet wish to share in the immense increase in value which will be the direct result of the building of so many homes in this district.

$1 to $2 Down, $1 to $2 a Week!

—on these very easy terms. without interest, mortgage, notes, or payments while sick or injured, YOU can get a fine lot in this rapidly growing residence park, and share in the increased values which will result from the immense development work we are now doing. "FOR INVESTMENT:—BUY LOTS WHERE THERE IS 'SOMETHING DOING.'"

W. M. PRINDLE & CO.
LONSDALE BUILDING.

How To Go: Take any Lakeside car to Fifty-fourth avenue east; walk north four blocks, and you will be on the grounds.

More Desirable Every Day!

For the prospective home maker Colman's addition at Woodland is becoming more desirable every day as the ideal home site.

Advantages unequaled are offered here. Free wood from one hundred and sixty acres adjoining is offered for the next two or three years to those making their homes in Colman's Addition. Enough truck can be raised in the back yard to keep the table supplied the year around.

Every lot 50x150 feet and none further than three blocks from car line. Graded streets, sidewalks, water, gas, telephone, electric light. Prices: $150 to $300, payable weekly at $1.50 to $2.50, without interest. No payments when sick.

HOW TO GO: Take Woodland car, get off at Winona street, walk two blocks west and call at the log cottage on the right, where you will be awaited all day tomorrow. Come and see the new homes and fine truck gardens. There will be no selling Sunday.

Monday being Labor Day, visitors are invited to come out, when they will be awaited, shown over the Addition and afforded the opportunity to make selections.

TWO NEW BUSINESS BLOCKS ARE PLANNED FOR DULUTH

Contracts Call for First Street and Lake Avenue Structures.

Opening of Fall Season Sees Revival in Building Lines.

Two contracts will probably be let during the coming week for large structures to be built this fall, one on the upper side of First street, near the Wolvin building, and the other on Lower Lake avenue.

The preparation of the plans was kept secret, and even now no information is given out as to who the prospective builders are. John A. Stephenson, real estate dealer in the Wolvin building, will be the agent for both structures.

The First street building will be a fireproof structure to be used for store and office purposes. It will be 140 feet deep with a frontage of 50 feet. It is reported that several tenants have already been secured.

The Lake avenue building will be a large wholesale building, with a frontage of 80 feet and extending back to the railroad tracks. Details concerning these buildings have not been given out, except to prospective contractors, but it is said that they will be valuable additions to the business district of this city.

With the opening of the fall season the lull which has existed in the architectural field for the past two months seems to be vanishing, for all the architects of the city report that there is a growing demand for sketches and plans. While most of the work that they now have is in the preparation of sketches, still those who are ordering them are people looked upon as good prospects.

From the standpoint of the contractors, the summer has not been as inactive as is generally supposed. In spite of the general depression all over the country, which has had its influence in this city, there have been many large jobs let, work on which is still going on. Progress is reported by McLeod & Smith on the Episcopal church at Seventeenth avenue east and Superior street, and they expect to have it entirely enclosed within a short time. The seven-story addition to the Northern Cold Storage building at the foot of Seventh avenue west is completely walled in, and the reinforced concrete structure being erected for the Rust-Parker-Martin company at Lake avenue and Sutphin street is practically enclosed, and interior work will be started soon.

The Gray-Tallant building on Superior street, which George H. Lounsberry is rebuilding, is almost finished, and the contractor believes he will have it ready within a few weeks. This contractor is also building the Duluth Marine Supply company's new home at the foot of Fifth avenue west. Work has been started already on the superstructure.

During the past week the building inspector issued twenty permits for construction of buildings or alterations, the total estimates for which amounted to $29,215. This is a trifle in excess of the previous week, when twenty-four permits were issued for $27,575.

Plans are being prepared by Austin Terryberry, architect, for a two-story brick building for the West End camp of the Modern Woodmen of America, costing about $16,000. It will be located on First street and Twenty-first avenue west, facing the street. The first floor will have a large auditorium with a sixteen-foot ceiling, and a large stage. In the rear will be a kitchen and other rooms for various functions. The second floor will have two large lodge rooms, equipped with all the necessary furniture and paraphernalia of an up-todate lodge room. Pressed brick will be used in the front, and the interior will be all hardwood finish.

W. A. Hunt, architect this week let the contract for the remodeling of the Eerkshire building of Superior to the Barnett & Record company. The entire second floor, which has been used for offices, will be changed, and new offices will made. It is estimated that the work will cost about $15,000.

P. M. Olson, architect, this week let the contract for the construction of T F. McCarthy's residence at Eighth street, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth avenues east, to Gust Carlson, and the electrical work to the Burgess Electric company. The building will be of stucco, and cost about $8,000.

Bray & Nystrom have let the contract for the electric wiring and fixtures in the Mountain Iron high school to the Richardson Electric company of this city.

Ellerbe, Round & Sullivan are preparing plans for a seven-room frame house with stone foundation, for Mrs. Mary Sullivan, to be erected on the lower side of Sixth street, between Second and Third avenues east. The cost is estimated at about $3,000.

J. J. Wangenstein will let the contract next week for J. Peterson's flats, which will be erected on Sixteenth avenue east between Superior and Jefferson streets.

No arrangements have been made yet for the letting of the contract for the Bethel, which is to be built at First street and Piedmont avenue. The plans were prepared by F. G. Germar some time ago, but the directors have not held a meeting for several weeks, although the bids on this building were received three weeks ago.

The bids submitted upon the proposed four-story manufacturers' building to be put up on Second avenue west and Second street have not been acted upon by the parties who had the plans prepared by J. J. Wangenstein. It is said that they are endeavoring to secure more tenants before any further steps will be taken, and that at least three-fourths of the space will be rented before the contract will be let.

F. L. Young & Co., architects, this week let the contract for the heating and plumbing for the Massachusetts Realty company's building at Tenth avenue east and Fourth street, to Stack Bros., and the electrical work to Richardson Electric company.

The contract for the construction of the county jail at Grand Marais, will be let on Monday, Sept. 11, by the architects, Kelly & Lignell. The building will be of re-enforced concrete, and cost about $5,000. At the same time the contract will be let for the electrical work in the Grand Marais courthouse, which is now in the course of construction.

These architects report progress in the work of the alterations of the French & Bassett flats on First street, between Fourth and Fifth avenue east. The cost of the improvements there will amount to $2,000.

At the steel plant work has been started on the seven large concrete smoke stacks, three of which have been put up to a considerable height, while the foundation for the other four have been completed. The steel construction for a number of the buildings is in progress and much has been accomplished in the last week.

J. A. Smith is having a brick residence erected for him on the north side of Greyson road, between Thirtieth and Thirty-first avenues west at a cost of about $10,000.

The Karron Investment company is having two brick buildings put up between Tenth and Eleventh avenues east on the south side of Fourth street, costing about $8,000.

Following were the closing permits issued during the past week:

To Mrs. C. Larson, frame cottage, Luther avenue and Osakis street	$ 500
To Zenith Box company, frame barn, Rene street between Forty-third and Forty-fourth avenues west	500
To T. Austin, frame cottage, East Tenth street between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues	200
To B. Ellingson, frame cottage, West Fifteenth street between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth avenues	500
To Charles Wall, for the construction of a frame cottage on the east side of Fifty-ninth avenue west between Highland and Medina streets, to cost	500
To the Woodruff Lumber company, for the construction of an underground gasoline tank on Rice's Point, to cost.....	50
To A. W. King, for a frame

WEEKLY SURVEY OF REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENTS

Visiting Real Estate Men Greatly Impressed With Duluth's Possibilities—Fall Outlook Bright — That Summer Hotel.

HON. WILLIAM H. CRAFTS of Mantua, Ohio, and S. J. Tilden of Garrettsville, Ohio, have been in Duluth for several days.

Mr. Crafts is a prominent business man and banker. He was a member of the Ohio legislature several terms and chairman of the finance committee of the house. He was a close friend of the late Mark Hanna. Mr. Tilden is also a prominent business man and interested in banking.

In an interview with a Herald reporter, Mr. Crafts said: "This is the first time my friend Tilden has been in Duluth and he is very much impressed. The magnitude of business and the broad foundations for a great city already established, surprise him although he had a most favorable opinion of Duluth before coming here.

"My first visit to Duluth was made more than twenty years ago. I thought then that Duluth had a great future and every subsequent visit has confirmed that opinion. I am pretty well acquainted with the cities of the country and I know of no city of three times its size that has a future to be compared with what I feel certain is in store for Duluth. The reasons are so perfectly manifest to every one that they need not be repeated. Being at the head of the chain of great lakes and 300 miles west of Chicago while just as near all of the great commercial cities of the East by water, is enough to make a great city.

"A water power made Minneapolis, Spokane and several Eastern cities what they are. You have a fine water power well developed and susceptible of further development. The lumber business has built up many Western cities. You have it. Mining made Denver a large city. You have the largest and richest iron mining district exclusively tributary to Duluth to be found anywhere on earth. This will contribute infinitely more to the building of a great city than any other kind of mining for iron and steel are the great commodities of commerce—in fact, this is the iron and steel age.

Logical Site.

"The people of Duluth do not fully realize what a tremendous thing it is to have such immense iron mines in your backyard," as some one has said. The United States Steel corporation did not decide to build one of the greatest steel works in the world here to please Duluth people. It was the logical thing to do, and I have good authority for saying that the finance committee of that great corporation decided to build here some time before the tonnage tax bill was introduced.

"Then to add to all other advantages you have an immense tributary country which means that even without reciprocity, Duluth will surely become one of the largest wholesale centers in this country. Your large commerce is already so great that the actual facts stagger the ordinary Eastern man, and it goes without saying that it is in its infancy so to speak. What will it be in even ten or fifteen years?

"It may seem strange that I should see these things in a stronger light than many of your own people do. But I have watched Duluth for more than twenty years and while the panic of 1893 evidently gave the city more of a setback than most cities suffered, yet I am sure that conditions are such that from now on Duluth will go forward with tremendous strides.

"What astonishes me is that Duluth real estate is so cheap. I have been making inquiries and I find that prices of property, in many parts of Duluth, are no higher than they are in most of the towns and cities in Ohio of 1,500 to 5,000 inhabitants—inland country towns. This is particularly true of West Duluth, and even lots in the vicinity of the great steel plant are what I would call village prices notwithstanding the fact that in five years' time there will be enough people living in that vicinity to make an important city. The more manufacturers locate in Duluth the larger the growth of the West end of the city and the more the whole city will grow.

"I was here about a year ago and can see many improvements made since then. I am a firm believer in Duluth and if ever a city deserved to be boosted by its own people, Duluth is that city. I predict that in the near future a crop of outside capitalists will come here and put money in your real estate and into business and when they do you will see prices advance rapidly and millions can be made and still the price of real estate be moderate compared with other cities."

WM. COX, a prominent real estate man of Peoria, Ill., who has been in Duluth for his health, returned this week to his home.

To a Herald reporter he said: "Mrs. Cox is fairly in love with Duluth. She thinks it the most beautiful city she has seen and I am afraid that if I keep peace in the family, I will have to sell out in Peoria, and locate in Duluth.

"There is no question but Duluth has a great future. I never saw a city that has so many natural advantages. But what surpr'ses me is the low price of your real estate. You can't buy lots in the inland towns of Illinois for anything like the prices of lots at West Duluth and near the steel plant. Your people will wake up sometime and find a regular real estate boom on and you can't stop it. Duluth is all right."

WITH the coming of fall, business in both building and real estate is beginning to pick up, and according to dealers, the outlook is most encouraging. During the past week deals have been carried through, though of small considerations, which are of an encouraging nature and tend to open up the way for one of the most active seasons ever experienced in local real estate circles.

One real estate firm, which did not care to be reported, cleaned out an entire section of land in small tracts, just east of the city, and this week is putting on another section adjoining. The buying at this time seems to confine itself mostly to small tracts, and those who have the homecroft fever are certainly carrying out their ideas of getting a small tract of land for their own cultivation.

It has been demonstrated in the last few seasons that a small tract of land from one acre to five acres, is sufficient to produce all the garden truck that a family cares for, and those who are fond of all kinds of green stuffs and find the cost of living high, are going back to nature, raising their own goods and beating out the middle man who has victimized them for years.

THE visit, during the past week, of the boundary commissions of the states of Minnesota and Wisconsin is of interest to nearly every real estate firm of the city, and especially those who have the agency for water front property. The decision as to the boundary line will be watched with interest, and many local men hope to see them reach an agreement at their next meeting which will be held in St. Paul on Dec. 6.

ALTHOUGH the touring season is almost at its close, the promoters of the idea of spreading the fame of Duluth as a summer resort do not intend to let the matter of the need of a summer hotel die out. They are anxious to see that such an institution be started here, and it is probable that some of those directly interested will take the matter before the Commercial club with the hope of getting some action taken in the matter. Now is the time, they claim for some step to be taken if a summer hotel is to be built for next season. That there is need of such a hotel has been demonstrated every day during the present season, for the city hotels have been crowded to the doors, and many of the tourists have had to cut their visits short because they could not secure the accommodations that they desired.

With a summer hotel there would be no loss of business for the city hotels. It is claimed but in fact more tourists would continue to pour in, and all would be enjoying their full share of the business.

10 ACRE FARMS!

Last week we advertised five-acre tracts. There were twenty-four of them. During the week we sold them all. Why? Because it was a good bargain. The land was good—the price was right—the terms easy.

We have four ten-acre tracts which we will offer upon the same terms and conditions as the above were sold, except that these ten-acre tracts we now offer are located a little further out; but on the other hand they are fronting the Howard-Gnesen county road, and are in a location that is rapidly being settled up. The timber alone is worth more than we ask for the land. The soil is excellent.

2½ ACRE TRACTS!

We are placing on the market a number of 1¼, 2½ and 5-acre Tracts, located on the Morris Thomas and Hutchinson roads, within easy walking distance of the Piedmont Avenue car line, and immediately adjacent to the West End.

The land is partly cleared. The soil is a rich sandy loam on a clay bottom and is admirably adapted for all garden purposes, being very easy to work.

Prices for these tracts range from $300 and up, per tract, according to size, location and desirability. Terms: $10 to $25 cash, balance $10 to $15 per month, without interest. A special discount will be allowed cash buyers.

We have already sold several tracts. The proposed extension of the car line will run by these tracts, and with the growth of the city the purchase of a tract here will prove a paying investment, while in the meantime you can live on the land and derive a good income from the soil, and fifteen minutes' walk takes you to the car line.

We will show these Tracts on Labor Day afternoon, if appointments are made with us during the forenoon. Arrange to go then.

5,000 DULUTHIANS DAILY GRAB THEIR MIDDAY MEAL AT THE "EAT AND RUN FACTORIES" OF THE CITY

4,000 Cups of Coffee Served Daily in the Digestion Testers.

"Gimme some beans on a stick, once on the Sherby, stars and stripes, along with one in the dark."

The man wasn't crazy; he was giving his lunch order at the counter of a local "grab and run factory," or in other words, a local quick lunch counter.

Out of the tangled mass of humanity which struggled before the counter the little man emerged in safety with some corn on the cob, a ham sandwich, some bread pudding and a cup of black coffee, for that is what he meant by the order, you see.

Out of Duluth's population of over 80,000, it has become the custom of nearly 5,000 to eat downtown daily at the quick lunch counters.

The number of people fed each twenty-four hours, the amount of money spent for lunches, the amount of food consumed and the amount of money invested in quick lunch business places in the city will surprise many who have simply taken the growth of the business for granted and have not thought much about it.

For instance: Four thousand cups of coffee are taken over the quick lunch counters in Duluth each twenty-four hours; 300 pies, cut into six pieces each and making 1,800 pieces last but a scant twenty-four hours; 1,500 loaves of bread made into sandwiches, toast or pudding, last but one day; 50 bushels of potatoes cooked in every style, 20 gallons of soup, 150 gallons of milk, 400 pounds of fish, 2 bushels of beans and 214 pounds of meat, outside of poultry, last but a single day.

Seven times the figures given will give some idea of the business done in a week. In two of the lunch counters, owned by the same firm, it is claimed that 3,000 people are fed each day. Duluth has in all six large quick lunch counters and there is to be another, the store having been contracted for near Lake avenue.

Aside from the immense business done by the firms there is the amount of capital invested in the business of feeding people quickly in Duluth. One of the lunch places in the Zenith City is said to have cost nearly $30,000. The floor is of tile, the walls, counter and tables of marble and the rest of the furnishing are in keeping with those mentioned. Another place is said to have cost nearly $20,000, while the estimate on one of the first put in was $18,000.

Year's Receipts.

During the year past the firm which owns two stores in Duluth took in $130,000. All this money came in over the counter at different times during the day in small change. It is estimated that during the year past Duluthians have spent more than $200,000 in quick lunches.

The growth of these places has been gradual even though at the present time it is considered phenomenal. The counters were first tried in a small way more by way of an experiment than for anything else, and so popular were they that soon they were installed all over the country. Today it is the popular method of getting lunch over in a hurry. Americans cannot take their time to eat. They are always in a hurry and everything that saves time is popular with them. At the lunch counters they do not have to wait. Ten minutes does for lunch time while under the old restaurant style it took at least half an hour.

The idea of quick lunches started in the saloons. It had been customary to give something hot with a glass of beer. In some cities ordinances were passed forbidding this practice and then the owners of saloons sold the lunches. From this the quick lunch was developed until at the present time it is not only a popular method of eating all over the United States, but it gives employment to thousands and is making many companies a very high rate of interest on the amount of money invested.

The business has developed from infancy to its present large scale in about three years. Its growth has been almost as great as that of the moving picture shows that sprang up in all parts of the country during the last few years.

The lunch counters are sanitary in every respect and one would be surprised on learnig of the attention given to the details of the business. Of late a new feature has been inaugurated in some of them. It is that of having girls to take the money and make change. She can tell at a glance what the order amounts to and it does away with the person handling the food who handles the money.

Slang Phrases.

Slang used to be the feature of many of these lunch places and in the larger cities there are some places still maintained where the reputation for slang in the calling out for foods is still maintained by the waiters. It is not allowed in any of Duluth's lunch places, although many of the customers now use it in giving their orders.

"Ship wreck three and let 'em fly" means scrambled eggs and buttered toast; "Adam and Eve on a raft" is poached eggs on toast; "one thousand on a plate' is a plate of beans; "beans on a stick" means corn on the cob; "two in a bathtub" is two soft boiled eggs; "graveyard stew" is milk toast; "one in the dark" is a cup of coffee without cream; "with or without" means pie with or without ice cream; "Murphys with jackets" means potatoes with jackets on; "stars and stripes" means bread pudding with sauce; "Sherby" is a ham sandwich and derived its name from the boy mayor of Milwaukee, who used to call for it every day; "a slab of yearling for a gummer" means a piece of tender porterhouse for some one without teeth, and "lay one in the hash" means corn beef hash with a fried egg.

"A bowl of bedding" refers to a bowl of corn flakes, and "excelsior" means a shredded wheat biscuit.

There are many other slang terms for foods called for at the quick lunch places. Old ones are being dropped and more appropriate ones taking their places each day. They are used in Duluth only by the customers, however.

VESSEL LINE FOR MILLERS

Minneapolis Shippers Said to Be Planning Strenuous Methods.

Duluth Traders Are Divided on Question of Its Feasibility.

Business men of Duluth hold widely different opinions in regard to the real meaning of a dispatch from Minneapolis to the effect that the flour milling interests are on the eve of inaugurating a freight steamship service of their own on the Great Lakes, on account of a disagreement with the Eastern roads on a through rate on flour from Minneapolis to New York. Some say it is nonsense; others that there is really something in it.

The Eastern railroads own controlling interests in practically all the steamship lines that carry flour on the Great Lakes. The Anchor Line is controlled by the Pennsylvania; the Western Transit by the New York Central; and the Mutual Transit by other Eastern lines.

Though it is a well established custom on the part of railroads to adopt the through rates that are inaugurated by the lines where the shipments originate, it seems, from the Minneapolis dispatch, that the Eastern roads demur to falling in line with the Western roads in establishing a through rate on flour from Minneapolis via Duluth of 21½ cents a hundredweight. The present price is 23½ cents a hundredweight.

W. L. Martin of Minneapolis, vice president of the Soo Line, and chairman of the Minneapolis flour rate committee, is said to have received a telegram from certain Eastern road officials, protesting against the change, which the Western roads propose to put in on Oct. 6.

It is reported that arrangements have already been made by the Minneapolis Traffic association to assemble boats at Duluth to commence carrying flour, in case the Eastern interests persist in opposing the new rate. It is also said that arrangements have been made for dockage.

"I can hardly think," said A. D. Goodman, manager of the Duluth Universal Milling company, "that the Minneapolis people really intend to put their own boats on the lakes. What good would it do them? They would have to patronize the Eastern roads anyhow after they got their flour to Buffalo, or whatever other port they chose for landing. They might ship there at the local rates, but I am inclined to believe that would be more expensive than to use the present through rate."

"I believe," said Julius Barnes, president of the Ames-Brooks company, "that the plan of the Minneapolis people to have their own boats on the lakes is entirely feasible and that it could be made to pay."

"Might not the Minneapolis-owned boats discriminate against Duluth trade in favor of Minneapolis?" he was asked.

"I don't see how they cold," he replied.

MARK TWAIN'S HOME IN HANNIBAL BOUGHT.

Hannibal, Mo., Sept. 2.—The boyhood home of Mark Twain, built by his father, John Clements, in 1839, was bought yesterday by George A. Mahan, a wealthy farmer, and was given by him to the city of Hannibal that it might be preserved.

The old home is a two-story frame house in a good state of preservation. It is only a few feet away from the alley where "Tom Sawyer" had the other boys paint the fence. "Huckleberry Finn" lived at the other end of the alley. It is a block to Holliday Hill., and across the street was the town newspaper office.

SHOWERS FAIL TO QUENCH LOYALTY OF UNION LABOR MEN

Fully 1,500 Workingmen March in Spite of Downpour.

Parade of Downtown Streets Followed By Celebration at Pavilion.

Former Mayor Lawler Gives Stirring Talk on Present Day Conditions.

"The problem of subsistence for the majority of the race, seems to be as difficult and laborious today as it was for the savage, who centuries ago hunted, fished and fought along the shores of this lake."

"Nations of the earth today present the grotesque spectacle of devoting a large portion of their time in preparing for war and bloodshed."

"It is a singular fact that in caring for the welfare of their superannuated fellow citizens, the people of the United States are backward in comparison with other peoples."

"Most men keep on thinking and doing the same as their ancestors thought and did. Most men have a superstitious reverence for the principles of law to which they have grown accustomed."

"There is no special reason why the employe should be compelled to assume the ordinary risk of his employment."—Extracts from D. W. Lawler's address.

The weather man frowned on Labor day.

Early in the morning clouds overspread the sky, and at 9 o'clock, the time set for the parade to get started, a drizzling rain fell on the heads of the members of the unions who had congregated on West First street.

At least 1,500 men took part in the parade, which was featureless, except for the fact that hundreds of men were willing to get wet to show their loyalty to the union cause.

Organized labor was out in full force. Every union was represented in the parade which was the feature of the day.

With appropriate banners flying, each union had out a representative membership. Each organization made a showing of which it may well be proud.

Three bands took part in the parade. First came a platoon of police. Then came Mayor Upham and the speaker of the day, Daniel W. Lawler, ex-mayor of St. Paul, in carriages. Frank Duffy, general secretary of the carpenters, union, also rode with the mayor and the speaker of the day. Then came the city engineers in their automobile and other city officials followed in carriages. After them came the various unions.

The general celebration of the day was held at Fairmont park this afternoon. It was there that Daniel W. Lawler, the speaker of the day, made a stirring address to the people who

MITCHELL IS THE ORATOR

Union Men of Three Iowa Cities Unite in Celebration.

Clear Sky and Bright Sun for New York's Big Parade.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Sept. 4.—With John Mitchell, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and former president of the United Mine Workers of America as the principal speaker, the labor unions of Ottumwa, Oskaloosa and Albia carried out an extensive Labor day program here today. A parade of thousands of unionists from the three towns, a picnic at Caldwell park, a baby show and a number of speeches at the park made up the program.

Big Parade in New York.

New York, Sept. 4.—Clear skies and a bright sun greeted the Labor day celebrants in New York today promising success for parades, picnics, and festivals planned in observance of the holiday. The principal feature of the official program was the Fifth avenue parade, under the auspices of the Central Federated union. The hundred or more locals represented promised the central body that they would marshal 50,000 men and 10,000 women.

A special committee was early afoot, delegated to the task of inspecting everything that was worn or carried in the parade, to see that no non-union articles gained a place. Even the shoes of the horses which the marshals had retained for the day were carefully inspected. In some of the past parades were horses which had been shod by non-union men.

McNamara League Prominent.

A special place in the line was provided for the McNamara league, formed for the purpose of collecting funds for the defense of the alleged dynamiters. The cause of the accused men was stoutly defended by a score of emblems and mottoes condemning in forcible terms the arrest of the brothers.

There are only two unions on strike in New York at present—the Marble Cutters and the Architectural Iron Workers—and neither of these strikes is regarded as serious by labor leaders.

AUTO ACCIDENT MAY BE FATAL

Mrs. A. O. Nustad of Couderay, Wis., Likely to Die—Mrs. C. M. Olson Hurt.

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. A. O. Nustad received probably fatal injuries last night when she was thrown from an automobile here. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Olson were thrown out also, but Mrs. Olson escaped with a badly sprained foot and Mr. Olson was not injured. Mr. Nustad and Teddy, aged 4 years, stayed in the car.

Mr. Nustad lost control of the car for a moment and it went into the ditch. Mrs. Nustad was taken to a hospital at Eau Claire this morning, still unconscious. Witnesses say that both women had remarkable escapes from instant death.

CARRY 600-POUND SAFE TWO MILES

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—After stealing a 600-pound safe and carrying it two miles and then blowing it open yeggmen got only $34, as the fruits of their raid last night on the postoffice at Kragness, Minn. They left the stamps undisturbed. The men were traced to Fargo and the police and postoffice inspector anticipate arrests soon.

TYPOTHETAE IN ANNUAL MEETING

Over 500 Delegates Attend Sessions at Denver.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 4.—The twenty-fifth annual convention of the United Typothetae of America opened here today with over 500 delegates from all parts of the country in attendance. The third international cost congress, which will be opened here Thursday in connection with the meeting of the typothetae will bring a large number of additional delegates.

The most important work of the conventions will be the installation of a standard system of computing the cost of producing printed matter, jurisdiction of the typothetae, and an attempt to bring all crafts engaged in printing books, pamphlets and circulars, etc., under one organization.

BATTLESHIP HITS EXCURSION BOAT

Crowd Going to See French Naval Maneuvers Has Close Call.

Toulon, France, Sept. 4. — The French battleship Brennus, while speeding toward the rendezvous of the naval maneuvers near here this morning, crashed into the excursion steamer Magali of Marseilles. There were no fatalities, though the Magali was taking out a large party from Marseilles to witness the maneuvers of the warships off this port.

A dense fog hung over the water, and when the two ships collided there was a wild panic among the excursionists. The steamer was badly stove in, but was able to reach a landing stage here and put her passengers safely ashore.

FLYERS ON LONG RACE

Cross-Country Perils Make Four Aviators Drop From Entries.

Atwood Among Contestants in New England Contest.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 4.—The cracking of a bomb high in the air over the aviation field of the Harvard-Boston aero meet at Squantum at 11 o'clock today was the signal for Arthur B. Stone to whirl skyward and point the nose of his double Gnome motor-equipped monoplane Queen into the Northwest, the first aviator off for the 160 miles cross-country flight to Nashua, N. H., thence to Worcester, Mass., Providence, R. I., and back, for prizes aggregating $17,500.

The flight is the most pretentious cross-country event ever attempted at an open meeting in this country, and compels the fliers to pass over nearly a dozen cities, a condition which, at the last moment, influenced Claude Grahame-White to decline to take the risk, although he was supposed to be practically sure of winning first money with his speedy Nieuport monoplane.

Ely Also Withdraws.

Tom Sopwith, a brother Englishman; Eugene B. Ely of the Curtiss camp, and George W. Beatty, who flies a Wright, also declined to enter the cross- country, although before going over the course as near as railroad trains could carry them last week, they had expressed their intention of being participants.

That the flight would be an interesting one was assured, however, in that Stone would find every inch of the route debated with Earl L. Ovington, to whom flying over cities has no terrors.

In the bi-plane division, Harry N. Atwood was the aviator.

COUSINS DYING OF THEIR WOUNDS

Both Are Attacked By Unknown Man in Oklahoma.

Shawnee, Okla., Sept. 4. — Grace Hughes, 14 years old, and her cousin, J. Hughes, 20 years old, both of Purcell, Okla., were attacked late last night by an unidentified man while driving across Squirrel creek, one mile north of this city.

The girl was terribly beaten about the head and probably will die. Hughes was shot through the stomach and will die. A sheriff's posse with bloodhounds is on the trail of the assailant.

DYNAMITE AT PASTORS' HOMES.

Denison, Iowa, Sept. 4—Residents of this city are excited over the discovery of packages of dynamite found on the porches of the houses of Rev. J. H. Senseney of the First Methodist Episcopal church and Rev. J. J. Defree of the First Presbyterian church.

MINNESOTA FAIR OPENS

Races, Air Flights and Fireworks Are on Amusement Program.

Secretary Simpson Predicts Record of Attendance.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota's annual fair, the greatest agricultural fair in the country, opened its gates today at 7 a. m. for a week's business.

A multitude of attractions make up the week's program, among them being horse racing, daily flights by two Wright aviators, and a nightly presentation of Paine's pyrotechnic display, "The Battle in the Clouds."

This afternoon a special championship for four furlongs will be run between Minor Heir, Lady Maud C., Hedgewood Boy for George Gano.

Yesterday 4,000 people paid admission to hear a band concert which served as an informal opening of the fair. By reason of this Sunday attendance, Secretary Simpson expects to exceed the week's record of 1910 when 318,264 people bought tickets to the fair.

SEEK THIEVES FROM LONDON

Five Men Who Pulled Off Diamond Robbery Wanted in America.

New York, Sept. 4.—Upon the request of Scotland Yard, every steamer that arrives here from England for the next few days will be watched in hope of catching five men involved in a London diamond robbery.

The first trans-Atlantic liner to be scrutinized was the Adriatic, which came in last night. Six central office detectives, four private agency men and a deputy United States marshal met her at quarantine, ransacked the cabins and steerage and watched every passenger who came ashore both last night and this morning, but without success.

The American police are particularly interested because the five men are said to be under indictment in various parts of the United States for a variety of crimes, including murder, train robbery and safe-cracking. The London robbery is said to have netted them jewels worth nearly $25,000.

OFFICIAL ESTIMATE OF CANADIAN CROPS.

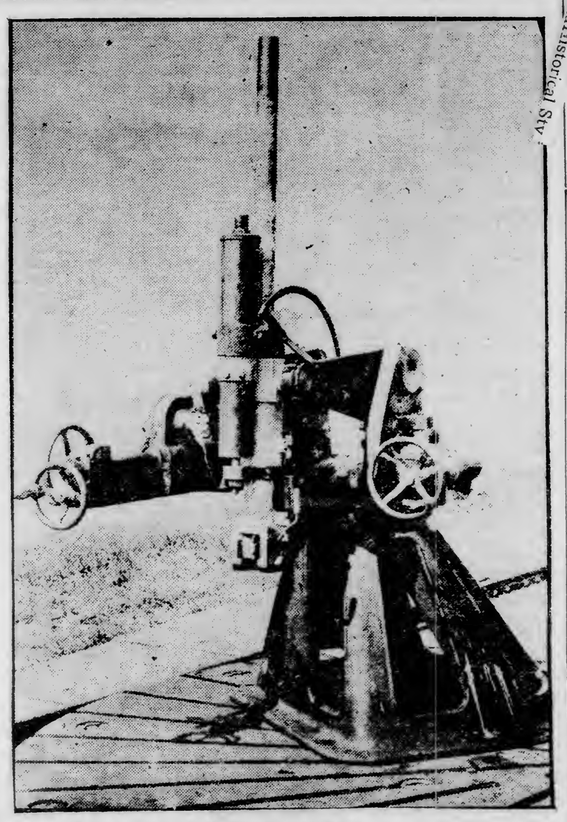

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 4.—The official estimate of the Western Canada crop in three provinces shows:

Wheat, 178,500,000 bushels; oats, 233,500,000 bushels; barley, 33,250,000 bushels, and flax, 80,000,000 bushels.

The season goes on record as the most unfavorable of recent years, but the crop is by far the largest in Canada's history.

BEATTIE TAKES THE STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE--BEGINS STORY OF EVENTS PRECEDING WIFE'S MURDER

UNCLE SAM'S AEROPLANE DESTROYER

AEROPLANE GUN,
Invented by Admiral Twining, U. S. N.

This is the one-pound gun, designed by Admiral Twining, which recently sent a shell 18,000 feet into the air in search of an imaginary aeroplane. No aeroplane ever flew as high as 18,000 feet, so the range of this gun is effective. This shot was made when the gun was elevated to an angle of 85 deg., and it is calculated that this is the greatest angle at which it can be fired with safety. The attending officers will now develop the sighting aparatus to greater perfection, and build a three-inch gun on the same model. It is believed that the larger gun will send a shell seven miles in the air and will effectually stop any attacking aeroplanes.

TWO FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA IN BELGIUM.

Ghent, Belgium, Sept. 4.—Two fatal cases of cholera were reported to the health authorities today at Meirelbeke, two miles south of this city. The victims were watermen on the river Scheldt.

Denies Paternity of Child Claimed By Binford Girl.

Also Says That Beulah Admitted That She Was Not Its Mother.

Stands Erected Outside Courtroom Windows to Accommodate Crowd.

Chesterfield, Va., Sept. 4.—Perfectly calm, in spite of the fact that he was facing an ordeal that was certain to last all day and possibly well into the evening, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., this morning stepped on the witness stand to testify in his own behalf in the trial in which he is accused of murdering his young wife.

Beattie's testimony was delayed until today on request of his counsel, Judge Watson promising the jurors that he will hold night sessions this week in order to expedite the case. He will be the last witness except for such as may be recalled for rebuttal purposes. These may include Beulah Binford and Paul Beattie, cousin of the accused.

While thousands of care-free people throughout the country prepared for a holiday festivity, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., remained silently in his cell early today and awaited the hour when he was to tell his story of the murder of his wife on Midlothian turnpike last July, for which he stands indicted. All day he was to battle for his life, closing the case for the defense.

From an early hour, when the glimmering lamp from his cell cast its long beams of light on the courthouse

MURDERS HEAD OF RUSSIAN PRISON

Unknown Man Shoots Down Governor and Is Arrested.

Nertchinsk, Asiatic Russia, Sept. 4.—The governor of the Zarantui penal settlement was shot and instantly killed today by an unknown man. The assassin was arrested.

The man presented the card of an engineer of the prison and was received by the governor in the latter's private office. Immediately upon crossing the threshold the assassin drew a revolver and fired two shots at the officer. Both bullets took effect.

Guards, attracted by the shooting, rushed in and the man, after a struggle, was overpowered.

It was at the Zarantui prison that Sasonoff, the revolutionist, who in 1904 assassinated Minister of the Interior von Plehve, committed suicide last fall as a protest against corporal punishment inflicted at the prison.

100,000 DIE IN FLOODS

Yangtse Kiang Disaster Reported to American Mission.

Ninety-five Per Cent of Crops Destroyed By Water.

Hankow, China, Sept. 4.—The American mission at Wuhu has received a report that 100,000 persons have been drowned by floods caused by the water flowing over the banks of the Yangtse-Kiang river.

The floods are the worst that have been experienced in many years.

It is estimated that over 95 per cent of the crops have been destroyed.

NEGRO ATTACKS MAN AND WIFE

North Carolina Lumberman May Die—Three Arrests Made.

Lamberton, N. C., Sept. 4.—Gray Tolar, a wealthy lumberman, was probably fatally injured when his wife was attacked by an unknown negro at their home here early Sunday. Tolar's skull was crushed by a blow from a plow bar, and Mrs. Tolar was choked nearly into insensibility when by her screams she frightened off her assailant. Posses immediately took up the search. Three suspects have been arrested.

New Church Dedicated.

Harvey, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bishop Robert McIntyre was the central figure in dedicatory ceremonies carried out in this city yesterday when the new First Methodist church was formally dedicated. The bishop delivered the dedicatory sermon at the evening services, and he also delivered an address in the forenoon. Rev. C. E. Vermilya of Minot, district superintendent, was also prominent in the services, while Rev. J. W. Mahin, Rev. A. J. Asher and Rev. H Styles Harriss, also participated.

WIDOW JOINS IN MAN HUNT

Mrs. Frederick Wennerstrom of Chicago Seeks Husband's Slayers.

Body, Wrapped in Rubber Laprobe, Found in the River.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Frederick Wennerstrom, widow of a Chicago auto livery man, whose body was found in the Fox river at Cary, Ill., left this morning for the scene of the crime, accompanied by the victim's two brothers, William and C. C. Wennerstrom, and three Chicago detectives. Early in the day nine Chicago detectives had been sent to Cary, Ill., to cooperate with the authorities of McHenry county in searching for those responsible for Wennerstrom's death.

Before noon a state-wide search for the murderers was under way and several Chicago detectives had disappeared from Cary to follow clews.

Although suffering from nervous shock, Mrs. Wennerstrom will remain on the scene and assist the officers of the law in their efforts to trace the murderers of her husband.

"I will never rest until the men who murdered my husband have been captured," said Mrs. Wennerstrom. "I am going over the scene of the crime step by step, and will work with the detectives in every way in which I can help until the chase is over."

Wennerstrom's body was found wrapped in a rubber laprobe in the Fox river at Cary, alongside the Chicago & Northwestern railroad bridge. Evidently he had been shot to death, and the automobile, in which he had been riding with several men, was missing.

CARBUNCLE PROVES FATAL

Willow River Man Dies From Huge Boil On His Neck.

A carbuncle proved fatal to Joseph W. Sherrick, aged 52, whose death at the Duluth hospital occurred last evening. Mr. Sherrick came to the hospital three days ago from Willow River, Minn. He was suffering from a malignant boil on the back of his neck. The tumor grew in size and is believed to have been the direct cause of his death.

The body was removed to the Richter & Bellmeur undertaking rooms, 425 Central avenue. He is survived by a wife and eight children, living in Willow River. The body will be sent to Willow River this evening. The funeral will be held there tomorrow.

BISHOP TALKS.

Head of Diocese of Western Colorado Urges Faith in Humanity.

Bishop Brewster of the diocese of Western Colorado conducted the regular morning and communion services at the Holy Apostles Episcopal church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Elinor street, yesterday morning. He chose as his topic "Faith In Humanity," and delivered an eloquent sermon.

Bishop Brewster pointed out the need of greater confidence in mankind, and pointed out the modern tendency toward distrust and suspicion by contrasting a prominent detective with whom he had been talking and who said that he had no more faith in humanity, with the sublime trust of the bishop in Hugo's "Les Miserables" who received the thief into his house and trusted him. He pictured the uplifting effect which being trusted has upon even the most criminal, and said that if greater trust of one's fellows was impractical it was scarcely more so than our present system, with the results in crime and evil which it is attaining.

DON'T WANT PAVING WORK ON SUNDAY.

A number of West Duluth people are complaining about the practice of the Grand avenue paving contractor in carrying on the paving operations on Sunday. They say that work of this kind should be suspended on Sunday, and may ask the council for an ordinance which prohibits it.

People going to and from church have complained that some of the laborers on the street work use rough language in the presence of women and children. It is claimed that the services in some of the churches in the immediate neighborhood have been interrupted with the noise and clamor from the paving operations on Grand avenue Sunday mornings.

Ties His First Knot.

The first marriage ceremony performed by Justice J. J. Moran of West Duluth took place Saturday evening, when Miss Jennie Karing and William Brockman were united. The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simpson of 520 North Fifty-eighth avenue west. Mr. and Mrs. Brockman left for the state fair for their honeymoon. They will reside in West Duluth.

Surprise Party.

Miss Ruby Mitchell was pleasantly surprised at her home, 208 South Sixty-second avenue west Friday evening, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Lunch was served and games were played. Those present were: Misses Mayme Davidson, Zella Herbert, Agnes Carmody, Lillian and Beatrice Ramstad, Florence Mattson, Esther Donald, Anna Brand, Mabel Isaacson, Theressa Wendstad, and Messrs. G. Brown, Herbert Erickson, Ernest Kuckendecker, Roy Onsgaard, Robert Dunn, Stanley Gilland, Earl Donald, John Hicks and Alex Donald.

West Duluth Briefs.

The funeral of August Koenig, aged 48, who died Friday, took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence, 4332 Grand avenue, to Oneota cemetery. Rev. Walter Sievers, pastor of the German-English Lutheran church, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McComber of Taconite are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richter of 425 Central avenue.

Edward Burns and E. Whalen left this morning for the Twin Cities where they will visit the state fair.

The funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Vukodonivich of the Gary location, who died yesterday, was held this morning at 9 o'clock from the Fillatrault undertaking rooms to Oneota cemetery.

The funeral of George Gurich, aged 28, one of the two laborers who were drowned Saturday morning at the foot of the Forty-first avenue sewer, took place this morning at 10 o'clock from the Fillatrault undertaking rooms. Burial was in Oneota cemetery. The other victim of the double tragedy who is thought to be Fred Romano has not been definitely identified and no funeral arrangements have been made.

The annual picnic of the Sons and Daughters of Norway was held yesterday at the picnic grounds near the end of the Grand avenue car line. Several hundred people were in attendance. The afternoon was given over to the usual picnic sports and games.

BOY KILLED BY BEING RUN OVER BY ENGINE.

Lidgerwood, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Instant death was meted out to James Hoverson, the 7-year-old son of H. Hoverson, a thrasher, on a farm near Fairmount. The boy was riding on the front of the engine tender and tried to get off while the machine was in motion, falling to the road and being run over by the heavy machine. His father heard the screams and ran back and picked the lad up in his arms, where his death occurred. His skull had been crushed in a horrible manner.

Proclamation!

WHEREAS, the highest Legislative Body of this great and prosperous State has very wisely directed that the first Monday in September of each year be dedicated to the honor of that large portion of our citizens, who, by their faithful toil, have supplied the dominant force in developing and making the great Industrial and Commercial supremacy which is ours in this country today;

IT BECOMES THE DUTY of every citizen to do his full part towards the proper observance of Labor's Holiday. I hereby request that, on Monday, September fourth, all industrial operations be suspended; that all commercial houses close, and that citizens generally turn aside from their daily avocations and all join together in paying a tribute of respect to that host of toilers upon whose success and happiness depends the future development and prosperity of our city. Let the Gospel of Good Will Towards All Men be spread.

RAILROADS

BIG CROWD TO THE FAIR

Railroads Take Nearly 3,000 People From Duluth Saturday and Sunday.

Every Train Carries Extra Coaches and Is Crowded to Capacity.

Although the low rates on railroads to the Twin Cities did not go into effect until this morning, nevertheless nearly 3,000 Duluthians went to the state fair on Saturday and Sunday, paying regular rates. Every train leaving Duluth for St. Paul and Minneapolis was filled to its capacity even though from four to six coaches had been added.

With the rates of $4.50 for a round trip in full force from today until the end of the week, it is expected that many thousands will go to the fair. This fare makes the rate one and a half cents per mile, or a half cent less than the rates before the increase was made on July 1. The companies are ready to add more coaches to any train, and if the demand becomes too strong, a special train can be made up quickly.

WRESTLING FANS CROWD TRAIN

Chicago Line Is Forced to Add Three Extra Sleepers.

Owing to the big crowds that left Duluth to see the wrestling match between Frank Gotch and Hackenschmidt at Chicago, the Northwestern line was forced to add three extra sleepers yesterday. Every available berth on the train was taken, and according to the officials of the road at this city, it was the biggest crowd they have taken care of for years, from this point.

New Car Ferry.

Mart Adson, general passenger agent for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad, has just returned from the East. While at Toledo he attended the launching of the car ferry steamer Chief Wawatam, which his road will operate between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City, which took place on Saturday, Aug. 26. It was constructed by the Toledo Shipbuilding company, and will be ready for use on Oct. 15. This car ferry is the largest and heaviest ever built by this company, and is 362 feet long, 62 feet beam, and has a carrying capacity of 25 of the largest freight cars. It is expected to make seventeen miles per hour.

AMONG RAILROAD MEN

L. Kaples, general agent for the New York Central lines, at New York city, is in Duluth on a short business visit.

W. L. Stannard of Detroit, Mich., general agent for the Northwestern line, is one of the railroad visitors in Duluth today.

STANLEY LEAVES FOR HENDERSON

Kentucky Congressman Surprised By Magnitude of Operations on Range.

Congressman A. O. Stanley of Henderson, Ky., chairman of the congressional committee investigating the United States Steel corporation, left Saturday evening for his home in Henderson. He and R. W. Wooley, the special investigator working on the investigation, returned Saturday from the Mesaba range, where they visited the iron mining properties of the Steel corporation. They were escorted on the trip by P. H. Nelson of Hibbing.

Mr. Stanley expressed his astonishment over the development of the iron mining industry on the range. He said he had no idea of the immensity of the operations being conducted, and that the scale on which ore is taken out of the ground was astonishing to him. Mr. Stanley declined to discuss his impressions in their bearing on the investigation.

He again said that witnesses would be called to tell the entire history of the iron industry in Northern Minnesota, and said that the question of the rates for the transportation of ore on the range railroads would be gone into when then the committee hearing is resumed, Oct. 15.

Mr. Stanley's secretary remained in Duluth to attend to some detail work in connection with the calling of witnesses from here.

OBITUARY

Cassius P. Taylor, the oldest United States marshal in the country in point of service, died in Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4, at the age of 66 years. He entered the government service in 1873.

H. O. Wills, who was largely instrumental in the formation of the Imperial Tobacco company (of Great Britain and Ireland), limited, the so-called "tobacco trust," died in Bath, Eng., Sept. 4.

GRIEF FOR DEAD WIFE CAUSES MAN TO SUICIDE.

Bowman, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grief over the accidental death of his wife in a kerosene explosion last spring caused Claude Mackey, a homesteader residing near this city, to take his own life. While members of the family with which he was staying were absent from home, he secured a 12-gauge shot gun, lying down in bed and sending the double charge into his breast.

BROTHER OF CURTIS JETT

Clarence Jett, Member of Famous Kentucky Family, Arrested in Duluth.

Brother Is Serving Time for Murder of Governor Goebel.

Clarence Jett, brother of Curtis Jett, who is now doing time for the murder of Governor Goebel of Kentucky, and hero of a series of feuds in which the Jett family was involved in that state, was picked up Saturday night by Patrolman Hannold and booked as a plain drunk.

Jett says he was in the Philippines doing army service when the assassination occurred or he would probably have been involved in it. It will be remembered that Goebel was shot as the culmination of a political feud, and that his assassination was generally attributed to those running the campaign of the opposing candidate, Taylor. Taylor fled to Indiana and defied extradition through the terms of three governors. Jett was found guilty after one of his "pals" had turned state's evidence and was sentenced to ninety-three years in the penitentiary. His brother stated this morning that there were a number of prominent Kentuckians working to secure a pardon for his brother and that it was expected at any time now.

Jett said this was his first trip north of the Ohio river, and that they didn't arrest people in Kentucky until they got a whole lot more intoxicated than he did. He was given a suspended sentence by Judge Windom this morning.

State Needs the Money.

Walter J. Smith, state treasurer, was in the city Saturday afternoon on his way to his home in Eveleth, from St. Paul. In speaking of the appropriations made by the last legislature, Mr. Smith stated that as a result of the larger appropriations he will be forced to call upon the banks of Minnesota within a short time. The call upon the deposits of the state in the banks will be made rather heavily in about thirty days.

Three Are Deported.

Mrs. Alice L. Kelley and her two children, Douglas, 6 years old, and Doris, 4 years old, left last evening in charge of United States Immigration Inspector Brown McDonald, for New York, from which port they will leave on the steamer Campania on Sept. 6 for their native country, England. They have been in the United States, making Hibbing their home, since Jan. 13, this year. On June 3, Kelley, who has been in ill health for some time died, leaving his family in very needy circumstances.

R. H. Fagin Back From the East.

R. H. Fagin, who discovered the famous Section 30 mine on the Vermilion range, in which he is one of the largest fee owners, has returned from the East. He had been away since May, with the exception of one flying trip to Duluth.

MARINE

ORE SHIPPING ON INCREASE

Activity Shown In Local Harbor Saturday and Sunday.

A rush seems to be on at this time by ore shippers, for the movement of ore from the local harbor is on the increase.

During the latter part of the last week a large number of vessels light for ore, and many others with coal which will carry ore down, have been assembling at the Head of the Lakes. The busiest forty-eight hours in the local harbor for many weeks were those of Saturday and Sunday, during which time forty boats left for lower lake ports, with ore, nineteen of them departing on Saturday and twenty-one on Sunday.

Five boats left Saturday with lumber and another on Sunday. Two boats departed on Saturday with grain. In all there were forty-eight arrivals on those two days and fifty-seven departures.

SUPERIOR AND DULUTH LEAD THE LAKE PORTS.

An interesting report compiled by the secretary of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce, of the six largest ports of the Great Lakes shows that Duluth and Superior are in the lead in the shipments and receipts for the season. Superior has a big lead with a tonnage of 5,214,051, with Duluth second, having a tonnage of 3,355,903. The others are Buffalo, third, 3,085,955 tons; Chicago, fourth, tonnage, 2,932,740; Milwaukee, fifth with 2,634,492 tons; and Cleveland sixth with a tonnage of 2,422,132.

The secretary attributes the lead of Superior to the fact that the ore shipments have been so heavy.

WRECKERS HAVE TWO OTHER BIG TASKS.

An agreement has just been entered into between the Gilchrist Transportation company and the Reid Wrecking company and Capt. H. W. Baker to raise the steamer City of Genoa, which was sunk ten days ago by the steamer W. H. Gilbert, in the St. Clair river, opposite Sarnia. Work will be started immediately, and according to Capt. Baker, the sunken vessel will be in the Reid drydocks opposite Port Huron in a week or ten days. There is a big hole in the forward part, which will be patched up and a cofferdam will be constructed about the ship.

What the contract calls for as remuneration for the job is not made known although it is understood that it is a lump sum, no pay being made if the task proves hopeless. While work is going on in the raising of the City of Genoa, Capt. Reid will continue his work on the steamer Moreland, part of which is still left. As soon as the crew which is working on the Moreland has raised her, they will go to Buffalo, to make an attempt at the steamer Richardson which was sunk near the Waverley shoal, Lake Erie on Dec. 9, 1909.

Barge Ashore.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4.—The steam barge David Z. Norton, with a cargo of 8,000 tons of coal, went ashore near White Fish Bay, several miles north of Milwaukee, Saturday. The steamer is commanded by Capt. William Hagen. Her forward part is six feet out of water. Only two passengers were aboard and these were taken off by the life saving crew and brought to Milwaukee.

A wrecking tug has been ordered from Port Huron.

The steamer is being lightered and is said not to be in danger unless a storm comes up.

Admiral Leaves.

The steamer Admiral, which has been in ordinary at this port for many weeks, left this morning for Chicago, where she will load grain for storage.

Offices Closed.

Owing to the fact that this is a holiday, the offices of the United States engineers, and the hydrographic office were closed all day.

THE EARTH'S CORE.

Scientific American: At a meeting of the seismological association at The Hague Prof. Weichert asserted that his studies of the varying velocity of earthquake tremors passing through the interior of the globe led to the conclusion that the earth consists of a central core of iron or steel about 5,580 miles in diameter surrounded with a stony shell 230 miles in thickness.

Between the outer solid ring and the inner layer of rock covering the metallic core he thinks there is a layer of liquid or plastic material lying a little less than twenty miles below the surface of the earth.

J. M. Gidding & Co.

"Gidding Corner"—Superior St. at First Ave. W.

THE style advantages of American Women are increasing every year. Season after Season, Fashion is becoming a deeper study. Prominent American firms invade the European fashion centres continually—in the quest of "something new". Not alone do manufacturers do this, but high class retailers as well.

Ever since the opening of this store in Duluth seven years ago the name Gidding has always been associated with correct styles and the Gidding establishment has always been admitted authority on "Correct Dress for Women". Several years after the opening of this store the opening of our Cincinnati establishment marked the beginning of a new era of High Class Women's Apparel in the middle west. And now we have an establishment in the heart of the most fashionable shopping district in the world—Fifth Avenue, New York. This shop, which is said to be the finest of its kind in the world, is already one of the recognized Fashion arbiters of the Metropolis.

We get the styles as soon as they are designed. High class New York manufacturers telephone our New York headquarters as soon as something new is created. If the style is accepted it is immediately sent on to the other Gidding establishments.

Thus, "Milady of Fashion," we offer you a fashion service that can be equaled nowhere. Not alone do we give you the best that this country produces, but we have inaugurated a foreign fashion service. With headquarters at 2 Rue de Parides our buyers search European markets every season. We offer all this correct knowledge of fashion to you first-handed.

With all these advantages in buying Gidding merchandise, it costs no more than the ordinary kind. Our immense outlet for garments of this sort commands greater buying facilities. And hence you get the high-grade Merchandise at sensible prices.

In the meanwhile investigate this. Do not allow mere newspaper type to convince you. This is only to tell you about it. The merchandise proves it.

New Suits

The Tailored Suit is really most essential to a woman's wardrobe. The garment in which she appears oftenest and that represents her, one might say.

It is imperative that this garment should be tailored by the best workmen, made of the finest materials and in correct style.

Hundreds of Duluth women carry the Gidding label in their coats, because it represents the highest type of tailored garments.

Our tailored suits for women are priced from $55 up for imported cloths, while domestic models start as modestly as $25.

New Polo Coats

The Polo Coat is getting to be more of a necessity than a fad. Ever since the Gidding store first introduced this garment to Duluth women, it has steadily gained favor. We have a beautiful assortment, and every new style is shown.

Polo Coats are sold as low as $25, and some of the imported materials sell for $55. They are shown both in plain colors and two-toned effects.

New Dresses

New Frocks are making their appearance. Many styles are ready for inspection. Street and afternoon gowns and also those suitable for evening wear. Many Chiffons, Voiles, Foulards and other favored materials.

Bath Robes

We have made preparations for the girl going away to school in our Robe section. Complete lines in both the Elderdown and Blanket Robes. Nothing is as handy for a girl than a nice roomy robe, and you will find plenty to choose from here. Prices range from $3.50 to $10.

Corsets

Gidding Corsets have a reputation at the Head of the Lakes. We sell only the best lines. When a woman once wears one of our corsets she will wear no other. See the new models—third floor. Expert fitters—private fitting rooms.

Madame Irene (back lacing), Gossard (front lacing), Successo and R. & G. are our most important lines.

WHAT "OBG" MEANS.

Chicago Tribune: After his name the registering guest wrote "Obg" in the place of addres.

"Beg pardon," said the clerk at the Congress hotel, blotting the signature, "I would like to ask, if you please, what 'Obg' stands for. You know, we keep a record of addresses."

"And you a hotel clerk?" he snorted. "Why, 'Obg' means Owensburg of course. Everybody knows that. It has as plain meaning as 'N. Y.' Owensburg! Owensburg!"

At a late hour last night the clerk was very much engrossed with a postal guide endeavoring to find out what blankety-blank state Owensburg was tucked away in.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

BIG CROWD EXPECTED

North Dakota W. C. T. U. Convention to Be Held at Jamestown.

Mrs. Florence E. Atkins of Tennessee to Give Principal Address.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.) — The twenty-second annual convention of the North Dakota Women's Christian Temperance union will convene in Jamestown Friday, Sept. 22, and will continue in session until the following Monday. Mrs. Florence E. Atkins of Tennessee will give the principal address and she will speak Sunday evening at a large mass meeting. A grand diamond medal contest, the first in the history of the state, will be held on Saturday evening, and for Monday evening a platform meeting has been planned at which the speakers will be Rev. F. L. Watkins of the North Dakota Enforcement league, and F. O. Hollstrom, warden of the state penitentiary.

Mrs. Elizebeth Preston Anderson of Valley City, who has been state president for twenty-two years, is expected to be present, taking an active part in the convention, but the annual address will be delivered by the acting president, Mrs. Necia Buck of Starkweather. The other speakers secured for the gathering are prominent in the temperance field and include Mrs. R. M. Pollock of Fargo, Mrs. Mazie Stevens of Grand Forks; Rev. James Anderson of Valley City, and Rev. W. A. Snow of the North Dakota Sunday School association. The music will be in charge of Mrs. Walter R. Reed of Amenia, and Mrs William Kavanaugh of Jamestown, and the various other assignments appointed in the convention city are Mrs. Fred M. Wanner, entertainment; Mrs. W. E. Boise, finance; Mrs. S. L. Corwin, reception, Mrs. W. B. beNault, decoration; Mrs. N. F. Hemmi, badges; Mrs. Charles Scott, ushers, and Mrs. T. J. Hatton, postoffice.

The citizens of Jamestown are making elaborate preparation for the entertainment of the temperance workers and they hope to have the largest convention in the state's history. The various city unions will elect their delegates during the coming two weeks, and the work to be taken up at the convention is now being discussed at the regular meetings.

MARENGO MAN BADLY WOUNDED

Indian Accused of Having Stabbed Him Is Under Arrest.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 4. — Samuel Nairay, aged about 35 years, a resident of the town of Marengo, a short distance from here, is in a hospital in this city suffering from eight knife wounds inflicted on him late Saturday night, supposedly by one Joseph Cloud, a full-blooded Indian. Doctors have examined Nairay and say that his condition is serious, most of the wounds having taken effect in the head, neck and back.

Joseph Cloud, the accused Indian, is in the county jail here, having been arrested by Sheriff Dormedy and his deputies.

It is said that Cloud, who apparently had been drinking at other places, entered the saloon of Joseph Halliday, Jr., of Marengo on Saturday night and demanded liquor. His demand was refused. The Indian then sullenly left the saloon. Naieray was in the buffet at the time. About an hour later Naieray, who had nothing at all to do with the refusal of the drink, left the saloon. Out of the dark a form leaped upon him and stabbed him eight times and fled. It is believed that the Indian thought the man making his exit was the proprietor who had refused him and was seeking revenge.

REALTY RECORDS PHOTOGRAPHED

Novel Method Adopted When Pennington County Was Organized.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first official examination made of the books and records of Pennington county were completed Saturday by Deputy Examiner Boostrom of St. Paul. The county was organized on Jan. 1 last, and last Wednesday the county officers opened their records to the careful inspection of the state. The examiner reported everything in first class condition and all the records kept in the required manner.

It is interesting that all the transcriptions of the real estate transfers, which necessarily were made when this county was set off from Red Lake county last fall, were made by photographing the pages of the books in the office of the register of deeds in the old county. The photographs made are exact copies of the old records, and not over ten weeks were required to perform an act of transcription by this short method, where under the old way of copying by hand at least two years would have elapsed before the work could have been accomplished. The new county is on a cash basis and in splendid condition financially.

CRUEL TREATMENT OF INDIAN FREAK

Effort to Have Him Committed to State Institution.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 4.—Investigating a complaint made to the authorities at Catesville, Wis., that an imbecile, crippled Indian exhibited as a freak at the county fair which closed last week there, Sheriff Van Horn yesterday found John King, aged 49, recently from the reservation at Seymour, Wis., lying in an improvised state, virtually starving.

The investigation revealed a case of appalling cruelty and neglect. The Indian's legs grew in such a manner that his feet locked over his head and he was advertised as the "living man tied in a knot." He was otherwise deformed and helpless.

The authorities say he was not provided with sufficient shelter, food or drink. He was left at night to lie on the bare ground.

The sheriff took King to Whitehall the county seat, where an effort will be made to have him committed to some state institution.

WEDDINGS AT ROSEAU.

Former Teachers in the Public Schools Are Married.

Roseau, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two interesting weddings took place in Roseau last week. Saturday occurred the marriage of Miss Clara Olson, daughter of Mrs. R. Olson, to A. P. Sweegan of Minneapolis at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Thorson. They left the same day for Minneapolis where they will make their home. The bride is well known here having at one time taught in the Roseau schools. The past two years she has been assistant principal of the Brooten and Mahnomen schools. Mr. Sweegan is a graduate from the state university and is an instructor in rhetoric in that institution and at present in charge of Prof. Bothne's department in Norwegian.

Friday Miss Viola Rice was married to Peter J. Bottom. She has been employed in the Roseau schools as teacher and he is a young business man at Warroad. They gave a big dinner and reception and more than 200 guests were present.

DRAMATIC SCENE

When Woman Was Acquitted of Murder of Her Husband.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 4—(Special to The Herald.)—A dramatic scene which outrivaled the climax of "Madame X," and which brought tears and sobs from men who were spectators in the courtroom, when Justice Bernardy, after hearing the testimony in the Wertelweski case, discharged the wife of the dead man, who was accused of his murder. The woman, unable to understand the English language, did not realize that she was free until some one explained it to her in Polish, and then the mental strain which the prisoner had been under for three weeks caused her to give way and she fell into a dead faint.

The trial presented many horrible and revolting features, including the exhibit of the mutilated head of the dead man—one of the most brutal exhibitions ever made in a courtroom in this country.

RED RIVER VALLEY COUNTIES PROSPER

North Dakota Counties Form Organization to Boom That Section.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the Red river valley counties in North Dakota are entering upon a period of progress that will be one of the most marked of any district in the Northwest, is the view held by prominent residents of the several counties who attended the meeting held in Hillsboro, at which the "Red River Valley Boosters" was organized. Six counties — Pembina, Walsh, Grand Forks, Traill, Cass and Richland—will all have a hand in directing its advertising campaign.

There is a possibility that as the work of the organization advances that the Minnesota counties in the valley will be asked to participate, and the organization would then be one of the most comprehensive that has been attempted.

That the St. Paul land products show and the North Dakota industrial exposition will bring on a number of organizations similar to that launched in the Red river valley, appears very likely at the present time. Throughout this state there have been meetings of representatives of commercial clubs of various counties, and at these meetings temporary organizations have been launched for the purpose of preparing exhibits for the two big shows.

COUNTIES' LIABILITY

In Educating County Poor to Be Determined.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The liability of the counties of North Dakota in providing education for the county poor, as well as the provinces of the district school in which such county institutions as care for the poor chance to be located, will be thrashed out in the courts of the state soon, as a result of the condition that has arisen in Grand Forks county, where the Arvilla school district has announced that it will refuse to accept pupils from the county poor farm located in the district.

In Ward county the same question has arisen and a committee of the county board investigating the situation, advised that some plan be adopted whereby an amicable agreement could be made between the school district and the county for the schooling of the children.

The Grand Forks county situation is rather peculiar. In the Arvilla schools last year there were twenty-one children who were inmates of the county hospital. To attempt to afford accommodations for that number of children again this year would mean that the district would have to construct an additional building, and this, the board declares, it is not compelled to do.

There is another question that has also arisen, that being in connection with the receiving of the state tuition apportion. The state apportions the funds in accordance with the number of children in the district, and the county charges in the Arvilla district are, naturally, included in the school census of the district, and that district, thereby, gains benefits from the state.

JUDGES HAVE HARD TASK.

Annual North Dakota Grain Contest Awards Made at Bismarck.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 4.—The annual state grain contest was decided Saturday by the judges, Governor Burke, George A. Welch, H. S. Smith, C. F. Wyncoop and B. J. O'Neill. Samples were received from every county in the state and there was a noticeable increase in samples of corn and alfalfa.

The first prize went to P. J. Hennen of Fargo; second prize, C. F. Nelson of Bisbee; third, John B. Wentz; fourth, W. J. Wiltse of Lisbon; fifth, John Yegen of Bismarck; sixth, E. L. Nelson of Bisbee; seventh, Theodore Kristjanson of McLeod; eighth, Charles Schebler of Bismarck; ninth, Bernie Stayton Newhall; tenth, Kristjan Holvorson of Mountain; eleventh, Sather brothers of Sather; twelfth, George Kempf of Hamilton.

The prize winning exhibits will be part of the display of the North Dakota industrial exposition to be held here this month.

FISHERMEN DROWNED IN WHITE BEAR LAKE.

St. Paul Minn., Sept. 4.—An overturned boat found on White Bear lake started a search for its occupants and yesterday resulted in the discovery of the bodies of two men identified by relatives as Charles Coughlin of St. Paul and Richard Varien of Hastings, Minn. They rented a boat to go fishing and were not heard of afterward.

Injured by a Fall.

Roseau, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Gould, an elderly man, fell through the bridge at the end of the street connecting with Main street and injured himself severely after dark Saturday evening. This bridge has been in need of repair for some time.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—The two Beagle hounds belonging to Roy Wimmer, which wandered away from home the first of the week while chained together with a short chain, returned home Thursday evening, still united by the iron hoops.

Walker—Frank Anderson came into town with a turnip Tuesday which he couldn't very well get in to a bushel basket and handed it over for the state fair exhibit.

Brainerd—The funeral of the young twin boy of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gardner was held Friday afternoon from the residence of the family, 611 North Fifth street. Rev. W. J. Lowrie, paster of the First Presbyterian church, officiated at the services. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Pine River—The new M. E. church at Emily will be formally dedicated on Sunday, Sept. 17, when an elaborate and appropriate program will be rendered with the ceremonies conducted by Rev. E. K. Copper, presiding elder of this district, who will be assisted by Rev. B. A. Barker of this pastorate.

Little Falls—Peter Picotte of Belle Prairie has brought to the office of John Vertin some fine specimens of field corn for exhibition at the state fair. A Mr. Holslander has also submitted some nice samples of sweet corn. The corn brought in by Mr. Picotte measures 10½ inches in length and the ears are well rounded and plump.

Long Prairie—Secretary Deuhs of the county fair has been advised by the secretary of the Minnesota Live Stock Breeders association that the Tood county fair has been selected as one of a few fairs in the state at which the association will offer a silver cup for a live stock exhibit.

Red Lake Falls—George L. Austin has been appointed dairy and food inspector for the Detroit district and assumes the duties of the office tomorrow. Mr. Austin is well known here, having had charge of the local creamery a few years ago.

Stillwater—The steamer F. Weyerhaeuser arrived at the levee Friday morning from Rock Island, having on board a company of pleasure seekers. They travel by day, tie up at night and make side trips on two touring cars they carry on the steamer.

Fosston—At an advanced age not positively known but believed to be between 85 and 90 years, Timothy Moore died Thursday morning, Aug. 31, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Darie Lavoi, where he has been cared for a number of years. The deceased was not only one of the first settlers in this community but he was an early settler of the state.

Bemidji—All paving originally contemplated and any blocks that may be added, will be completed this fall, according to those in charge of the work which is being done by the Northern Construction & Engineering Company of Grand Forks.

Barger—A change has been made in the butter-maker at the Badger creamery. Ole Stomsvik who has been connected with the local institution since the beginning has decided to quit the business for good and expects to locate in one of the Western states. His successor is Harry V. Larson of Fairmont, Minn.

Crookston—The crop reports from Erskine and vicinity are very favorable. C. C. Strander received word that the wheat is yielding from 20 to 30 bushels per acre. One party thrashed a little over 2,000 bushels from 80 acres—better than 25 bushels per acre, and 436 bushels of oats from 8 acres, or 54½ bushels per acre.

Hawley—A car of cattle belonging to McDonald Bros. caught fire and was burned Wednesday morning near Philbrook, a little station about twenty miles the other side of Staples. The car which contained thirty-five head of cattle, was being shipped to the St. Paul stockyards and was in charge of James McDonald.

International Falls—Some time ago an organization was launched in Koochiching county with headquarters at International Falls whose purpose is to explore the country near Island Lake in Itasca county for iron ore. The company has already done considerable drilling with satisfactory results.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—That the American Association of Insurance Commissioners has paved the way to proceedings which will be even more far reaching and as of great sensational interest as characterized the Armstrong investigation of life insurance companies, is the belief of Insurance Commissioner W. C. Taylor of North Dakota in respect to the affairs of casualty companies doing a health and accident business.

Grand Forks, N. D.—It is announced at the state university that the papers of candidates writing for high school certificates in the last examination have all been marked, and there were 7,224 candidates successful. In all there were 10,399 candidates in the state writing, making a total of 3,175 that were rejected, a percentage that is not considered very good.

Minot, N. D.—Otto Johnson, who has a bonanza farm near Mankoti, N. D., was run over by a Soo train at Mankoti Thursday, losing both legs and an arm. Johnson was crawling under the train when the engine started suddenly. The injuries proved fatal. Johnson was 50 years old and leaves a family.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Copies of the agreement between the paving contractors and the Grand Forks Street Car company, in which the local corporation agrees to assume the cost of repairing the paving between the rails, providing that the contractors make repairs needed at the present time, have been sent to the head offices of the paving companies for signatures.

Crosby, N. D.—Work has commenced on the sub-structure of a brick hotel to be erected by Guy Grove of St. Paul, owner of the Crosby townsite. The building will be two stories above ground with a frontage of forty-seven feet and will be seventy-five feet in length, and will be provided with all modern appointments.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Harold Oleson, a transient who was removed from the Northwestern hotel in East Grand Forks on Thursday morning to St. Michael's hospital in this city, died Thursday afternoon of typhoid fever. Little is known of the man, other than that he came to this part of the country from the East. A letter from his sister, giving the name Kristianson, 413 Washington avenue, south, Minneapolis, and also a letter written from the Henry Engers hotel in Minneapolis were found in his pockets.

Minot, N. D.—A mammoth steel elevator is being constructed on the bonanza farm of Frank Linha on the north hill to take care of the big wheat yield which M. Linha will receive this harvest. The elevator is one of the largest in Northwestern North Dakota and was put up for the exclusive use of M. Linha.

Ishpeming—The jury in the case of the people vs. Charles Carlson of Diorite, which was tried in the municipal court found the defendant not guilty of the charge of cruelty to animals, preferred against him. Carlson was charged with abusing a horse, belonging to Ed S. Unmuth of this city.

Marquette—Wilber E. Campbell, formerly with the Manistique Courier-Record, who is a newspaper man of wide experience, has purchased an interest in the Marquette Evening Chronicle, and he will become business manager of the Chronicle company.

Calumet—George D. Westermann, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. received a telegram from J. K. Swanson of Albion college, who had accepted the assistant secretaryship of the local association, stating he cannot come here. Mr. Swanson gave no reason for this action, but it presumed a more profitable offer has been tendered him.

Hancock—A patent has been issued under date of Aug. 15 to Charles B. Ulrich of Hancock, upon an improved suction clip to be used in fastening articles for dispay in store windows.

Houghton—Prof. Herbert Edwin Jordan, instructor of physics and mathematics at the mining college, leaves this week for the Lawrence university at Kansas, where he has accepted a position as an instructor along the same lines.

Calumet—The wedding of Miss Bertha Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Anderson of Eighth street, to Scott Coffin of Sandusky, Ohio, will take place next Tuesday evening, Sept. 5, at 8 o'clock at the Anderson home.

Laurium—Contractor Paul P. Roehm of Laurium, has purchased a new concrete block making machine, and is using it in the erection of the Ahmeek school. The machine has a capacity of several hundred blocks per day.

Negaunee—Miss Helen Reidy, who recently resigned her position as school teacher in this city and accepted a similar position at Kalispell, Mont., left last week for Duluth, where she was to spend a few days visiting before continuing her journey to Kalispell.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—The treasury balance of the state at the close of business, Aug. 31, was $3,706,981.09, as compared with a balance of $2,580,328.01, Aug. 31, 1910.

Oshkosh—Postmaster E. M. Crane has received notice from Postmaster General Hitchcock to open a postal savings bank here.

Waukesha—Otto A. Gunderson of Clintonville, Wis., employed on the Northwestern road extension, was killed Friday when a steam shovel fell upon him.

Eau Claire—Rev. Father Connelly, chaplain of the Sacred Heart hospital, is at St. Vincent sanitarium, state of New York, taking treatment for rheumatism with which he hos been grievously afflicted for some time past and which has been impervious to all local remedies.

Ashland—Attorney M. C. Riley of South Milwaukee, a lawyer of high standing of that city, has accepted a position with Sanborn, Lamoreux & Pray, and has arrived here with his family, and will make Ashland his future home.

Milwaukee—There was an increase of $770.87 in the receipts at the postoffice for August 1911, over August, 1910. The figures for the month just ended are $123,896.94, the biggest increase being in the sale of stamps, $102,577, being the total amount netted from this source.

Madison—Another attempt to secura from the state an amount for Wolf county in excess of what might lawfully be claimed was partially nipped in the bud Friday when Secretary of State Frear cut the claim of Otis Goslin of Muong, Burnett county, for $120 in half.

Neenah—The thirteenth annual reunion of the Winnebago County G. A. R. association closed Friday. The following Oshkosh veterans were elected: President, C. W. Briggs; vice president, Robert Brand; secretary, H. L. Bacon; treasurer, John Wadleigh. Oshkosh was chosen os the next reunion place.

Appleton—Appleton is aggrieved at President Taft for allowing this city only ten minutes on his prospective trip through this valley. An effort is being made to change the president's schedule.

Madison—Tax Commissioners T. S. Adams and N. P. Haugen and Supervisor of Income Tax K. K. Kennan will attend the meeting of the international taxation conference to be held at Richmond, Va., this week. Commissioner Lyons cannot attend.

LABOR DAY APPEAL!

Price and Quality being equal or better, we ask your support for the following reasons. We are the only firm in Duluth that manufactures all of our Trunks, Wardrobes excepted. The only trunk firm whose proprietors live in Duluth. The oldest firm in Duluth under the present management, and at that, we are only two and a half years old. (That shows what a square deal will do. We are located on First street with our expenses just one-third of what a more central location would be.

Being manufacturers, and our expenses cut to a minimum, is it not reasonable that we can sell you a better article, at a lower price than some so-called makers, that handle Eastern sweatshop trunks, and sell them as their own make?

If our reasoning is logical, your support will be appreciated.

S.S.S. FOR SUMMER SKIN DISEASES

During the summer most persons are annoyed with pimples, boils, rashes or eruptions, while others suffer more severely with Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or some kindred skin disease. All skin affections come from humors and acids in the circulation. The blood, as it circulates through the system, deposits these humors and acids in the sensitive membranous flesh which lies just beneath the outer skin. This acrid matter causes inflammation and a discharge which breaks through the delicate cuticle, and skin diseases are the result. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be freed from all acids and humors, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. It removes every particle of the impurity, enriches the blood, and in this way permanently cures skin diseases. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Dates for the reciprocity programs between the Matinee Musical Club of this city and the Twin City Musical club have been arranged. Mrs. George S. Richards, president of the local club, has just returned from a visit in St. Paul and she has announced that the following arrangement has been made: Duluth dates—Thursday Musical Club of Minneapolis, Monday afternoon, Nov. 13 and the Shubert Club of St. Paul on Monday afternoon, Feb. 26. The Duluth Matinee Musicale club will send its representatives to play in the Twin Cities, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.

These programs are events of the club year which have proved of especial interest in the past and are being pleasantly anticipated.

ONLY TWO MORE.

Bridge and Tea at Country Club.

Only two more of the popular Tuesday afternoon bridge parties will be held at the Northland Country club.

Following the programs of tomorrow and a week from tomorrow, the season will close. As a special feature for the remaining two afternoons tea will be served, so that those who do not care to play bridge, may also be attracted to the club.

The bridge afternoon have proved very popular this season, and will probably be continued next year.

DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Flaaten Hosts at Their Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Flaaten of 1906 East Fifth street, entertained at a delightful musical at their home Saturday evening, in compliment to Miss Bausemer of St. Louis, Mo. An exquisite program was rendered and the evening was enjoyed by about fifty guests. The house was most effectively decorated throughout. The parlor was a mass of beautifully arranged sweet peas, golden glow was used in the sun-parlor, the dining room was pretty with astors and in the living room the mountain ash berries were used.

Mrs. Flaaten was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Lawitsky, Miss Margaret Anneke and Mrs. Alpine Flaaten.

MILLAR-BECKWITH.

Wedding of Popular Young People This Afternoon.

At a pretty home wedding this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Millar, 1531 East Third street, their daughter, Madge, will become the bride of Clay Beckwith.

Rev. Robert Yost of the First Presbyterian church will perform the ceremony at 4 o'clock in the presence of relatives and immediate friends. A. F. M. Custance will play the wedding march and Mrs. R. C. Caples of New York will sing during the ceremony.

Miss Millar will be attended by Miss Rachel St. Clair as maid of honor and Miss Isabel Patrick and Miss Barbara Rupley as bridesmaids. Mr. Beckwith will have as his best man, Walter Cheney.

Mr. and Mrs. Millar gave the bridal dinner last evening at their home for the members of the bridal party and a few other guests. It was a progressive dinner and the tables were decorated in pink and white. Among the guests were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
R. C. Caples, New York, G. A. Tomlinson.
Mesdames—
Florence M. Beckwith, H. Reeves.
Misses—
Millar, Patrick,
Rachel St. Clair, Rupley.

Some of the New Fall Styles Seen at the French Summer Resort

The latest demonstration of current fashions was made two weeks ago at Trouville in France. The dressmakers who had displayed the spring gowns at the race course in Paris showed their fall models at this fashionable summer resort. These snapshots of the mannequine wearing the new styles show that the long skirt has returned to favor. This is not surprising for the French women have the biggest feet of any women in the world and it was remarkable that they should ever have accepted the short skirt. The waistline has been quite lost in the new models and the lines of the gowns are straight from shoulder to hem.

THE DOCTOR

Gall Stones.

The gall bladder is a small receptacle connected with the liver in which is stored the bile produced by the liver in excess of the quantity required for immediate use.

Sometimes little solid concretions called gall stones form in the bladder varying from a mere grain to a mast that takes up almost the entire space of the gall bladder.

They may, and generally do, set up inflammation and possibly ulceration of the bladder, when considerable pain and tenderness will be felt; or a stone escapes from the cavity and passes along the bile duct into the bowel, causing intense pain.

This comes on suddenly, and disappears again as suddenly, the relief being caused either by the escape of the stone into the intestine or by its slipping back into the gall bladder.

There are often other constitutional symptoms of an alarming character, such as faitness, vomiting, great prostration and feebleness of pulse. Whenever the presence of gall stones is suspected medical advice should be sought without delay, because if a stone becomes fixed for any length of time in the bile duct it naturally obstructs the flow of bile between the liver and the intestines, and the result will be an attack of jaundice.

In the meantime temporary relief may be obtained by the use of linseed meal poultices and hot fomentations. If the gall stones are large, surgical measures are sometimes necessary to remove them. Any one prone to their formation may, between the attacks, take a daily dose of Epsom salts or sulphate of soda with advantage.

THE EVENING STORY

Graft's Ugly Shadow

By M. F. Phillips.

"I'm afraid they've got to young Callendar," observed the lieutenant governor, as he sat at lunch with his family.

"Just what do you mean by 'got to' Alfred?" asked Mrs. Maitland.

The lieutenant governor smiled. "Politics is death to grammar," he owned. "What I mean is that the railway crowd has won him over?"

Alice Maitland looked up quickly. "Really, papa?"

"So it seems. I heard Ackerman, whose notorious 'pie bill' comes up this afternoon, tell the railroad attorney, Banks, that he could handle Callendar, because they went to school together. Later I surprised Callendar and Ackerman in close conversation. If the bill passes, it means millions to the C. & Z. system. And they are spending money like water to pass it."

"And, Mr. Callendar—" the girl started to ask a question, and paused.

The lieutenant governor nodded his head regretfully. "That's the way it looks. Politics has spoiled him, as it has many another young man who was thrust into public life without proper testing and preparation."

"Robert Callendar was a country lawyer when an accident sent him to the state senate. He got into a much more expensive way of living since he came here. He owns a dress suit, now, and has rooms in a good hotel. He's spent all his salary."

"But papa, has all that hurt him?" asked his daughter. "Hasn't his experience here broadened him, taught him something about the world, fitted him to be a better lawyer?" Mr. Maitland smiled a trifle grimly.

"He's learned bad as well as the good. He wanted to go back home, I imagine with something to show for his seven months in the senate. When your salary's gone, there's only one way to get it—graft."

"Graft?" echoed Mrs. Maitland. Alice started at the ugly word.

"But, papa, are you sure?"

He shook his head. "No, I'm not sure, but appearances are against him. What Ackerman said about handling him, and then what happened—"

His daughter spoke spiritedly. "I don't care. He'll have to tell me himself before I believe they can buy Senator Callendar! Surely, it isn't a crime to speak to Mr. Ackerman. That's all he has done."

Despite her brave words, Alice Maitland noted in herself a desire for a "good cry" when he rose from the table. The discovery of her father's belief in Callendar's unworthiness had moved her more than she deemed possible.

She liked Robert Callendar. She had met him soon after the session opened. And now, if it were true, his career was cut off, his character destroyed, by the blighting shadow of graft. The tears could hardly be choked down at the thought. For he had been coming rather frequently to the home of the lieutenant governor, of late; had fallen into the habit of walking home with her after the session and calling in the evening to see, at first her father, then herself. She had learned to like him, she said defiantly to herself—to like him, that was all.

But she trusted those she liked, and she still liked Robert. Surely it was no crime to speak to Senator Ackerman! That was all he had done. But her heart sank: she knew her father for a keen, shrewd observer, charitable, too, in his judgments.

A resolution came to her and she acted on it swiftly. She would go down to the capitol—it was but a step away. Perhaps if Callendar were wavering she could help him. There would be time; she had learned the ins and outs of legislation, and guessed there would be some hypocritical oratory for the consumption of suspicious constituents at home.

"How shall I bring it up?" she asked herself. "I'm sure he is innocent, no, almost sure."

She slipped up the narrow corridor to the rear of the senate chamber, through a maze of committee room passages, until she stood just outside a doorway a few feet from the raised desk of the lieutenant governor. Evidently the warm summer sun had its effect on the senate. There was a general air of somnolency in the great room. Her father, lounging in his leather chair, seemed on the verge of nodding; the senators were yawning, reading, or gazing out of the windows; the pages moved on leaden feet.

The clerk was droning over a roll call, which he started just as she reached the doorway and caught the eye of the nearest page. "Senator Callendar, please," she whispered to the boy. The clerk was calling the "B's" when Callendar received her message. He rose and sauntered up the aisle, whispering to the clerk as he passed. In a moment he was before her. His pale preoccupied face brightened wonderfully at sight of her. "You're early," he said extending his hand; "welcome to our humble abode."

As she heard his voice and took the profered hand, all the misgivings and doubts slipped away. No one could look or speak as Robert looked and spoke and be dishonest. A sense of peace was with her. "You look tired," she said, impulsively.

"I am." He frowned absently and then shook himself together. "I'm tired of it all. I want to get back home again, and stay there. I feel these seven months have been almost wasted."

"I am sure your constituents will not say so," she defended.

He smiled with wry humor. "They'll say I might better have stayed there and paid the mortgage on my farm," he said frankly. "They'll pretend to think mother's starving before now."

"You have your record," she observed loyally.

"They think it's as poor as the next one's," he shrugged. "But I don't care what they say. I'm through with politics. I've just been casting up what it's cost me. I brought some money when I came—not much, but quite a little for a poor man. That's all gone, and my salary too.

"I don't regret the time I've spent here, though," he continued thoughtfully. "It's been a play spell, and I never had one before. There were many things which I learned that will help me in my practice. And," his boyish face lighted with the smile that unconsciously won him friends. "I've met a lot of real people—your mother and father among the rest, and —you."

There was no mistaking the accent on the last word. Alice Maitland's face flushed and her heart beat quickly. But she fought down the agitation which the caressing tone aroused.

"After all," he mused, "when the tumult and the shouting die away, that's all there is to politics; the friends one makes, the people one learns to—love," he finished softly.

"What about the Ackerman bill?" asked Miss Maitland.

"We've handed the C. & Z. something that will hold them for awhile," he replied trimuphantly. "That's one reason I'm glad I've been here. Ackerman and I were boys together, and he presumed on that old friendship. He tried to bribe me this morning."

The face of the young attorney hardened into sternness. "Offered me the job of railroad attorney at $3,000 a year if I'd vote for his bill."

"You refused," replied Alice, with happy certainty.

"Well, I told him I'd move to table the bill this afternoon. If he didn't consent to its dying that way, I threatened to tell the senate of his offer. He gave in—at least he said he would. I made the motion just before you came and gave the clerk my vote as I passed. Boy!" He beckoned a dawdling page. "What was the vote on the table?"

"Seventy-six for, six against," replied the youngster. "Say, the reporters are looking for you, senator. You got a big 'rep' for killing the bill."

Apparently the senator did not hear for a moment. He was looking into the eyes of Alice Maitland—reading with love and reverence and a touch of awe.

Then he roused himself. "Tell the reporters I won't be back this afternoon."

And they went away together.

"Waltz me around and around
On this platform so commanding,
To think of the treat
Beneath my feet
Will quicken my understanding."

Be Wary in Pampering

By CARA REESE.

You will never be able to pot those chickens after making pets of them. You will never be able to screw your courage up to the point of execution after treating the poultry yard inhabitants as one of yourselves. You will never be able to wring the necks and pluck pin feathers after allowing the little chicks and the big ones the run of the house and teaching them all sorts of cute and pert antics. You will not have the heart to take a hand in annihilation or a thrust in the neck on the well-liked and familiar: It would be something like raising a club against members of your own "set."

You should be more distant with some creatures. You may not win confidence only to destroy. "Chickens is chickens." They are meant for the frying pan or for the dumpling stew or a roast of some sort. They are meant as a source of profit in feathers and eggs. Too much pampering and petting and coddling, too much welcoming and treating as visitors and as select company is only laying up trouble for yourself. You will never be able to pot that which you have fondly petted.

It does not do to allow the affections or sentiment to run away with good judgment, not only in chickens, but in weightier matters. The unsuitable companionship, perhaps, on which you have lavished enthusiastic attention and made your confidant or welcomed to all familiar privileges of your home and friendship, may not be consigned to the pot so to speak when you are weary of the pecking and fluttering. You will not have the courage to issue the edict of banishment. Indeed, sometimes you are afraid even to step out yourself and leave the whole place to that which you have encouraged and unduly petted.

It is somewhat the same in paid service. While no one is trying to liken good honest service to a poultry yard, yet even servitors know only too well that an over-done sentiment as to their welfare is more likely to be embarrassing to employer and employe than otherwise. In the practical order of affairs, heads must come off as the vernacular runs, and there must be edicts of retirement. A dignified distance maintained seems to be a necessity and conducive to good order. Be kind and observant always, but be wary in pampering.

Queer Itches and Tingles

By LURA STANLEY.

If the crown of your head itches more than ordinary you may expect to be advanced to a more honorable position in life.

If your right eyebrow should immoderately itch be assured that you are going to look upon a pleasant sight—a long-absent friend, or a long-estranged, but newly reconciled lover.

Should your left eyebrow be visited with a tantalizing itching it is a sign that you will look upon a painful sight.

A ringing in your right ear is an augury that you will soon hear some pleasant news.

A ringing in your left ear is a sign that you will in a short time receive intelligence of a very unpleasant nature.

When your left ear tingles some one is backbiting you.

An itching on the right shoulder signifies that you will shortly have a large legacy bequeathed you.

When you feel an itching sensation on your left shoulder be sure that you are about to bear a heavy burden or sorrow and trouble.

If your right elbow joint itches you may expect shortly to hear some intelligence that will give you extreme pleasure.

Should you be annoyed with a violent itching on your left elbow point, you may be sure that some vexatious disappointment will be experienced by you.

If you feel an itching on the palm of your right hand you may expect soon to receive some money which you have long been expecting.

NANSEN PAID TRIBUTE TO SVERDRUP IN "FARTHEST NORTH"

Modesty is one of the predominating traits in the character of Capt. Otto Sverdrup, the Arctic navigator, who is visiting friends in Duluth. With modesty goes courage and in Capt. Sverdrup, both qualities are developed to a high degree.

Capt. Sverdrup dislikes the white light of publicity. He keeps in the background, declines to attend banquets in his honor, will not talk of his Arctic expeditions when there is a possibility that what he says will find its way into print, and when he does talk he neglects to mention exploits in which he is a central figure. The "ego" has little use in his vocabulary.

Capt. Sverdrup's bravery has not gone without exploitation on account of his own reticence. He is prominently mentioned in Nansen's book, "Farthest North" and many stories are told of his bravery and resourcefulness in difficult situations. It is told that at one time the Fram, on which Nansen made his north pole expedition and of which Capt. Sverdrup was navigator, was caught between two icebergs. There seemed no possible escape. Nansen had resigned himself to certain destruction of the Fram and the death of the crew, but Capt. Sverdrup put heart into the crew by his confidence and pulled the ship through.

It is said that at another time, the Fram was in a heavy storm. It could make no progress and was drifting before the wind. Capt. Sverdrup ordered all heavy canvass off, put up a light sail, and then went below to his cabin for a sleep while the vessel rode out the storm.

As Capt. Sverdrup expresses it, Nansen and his party were only as far from Duluth to Minneapolis away from the pole. They had counted on getting in with the north flow of the ice, but they were unsuccessful and were balked by the return flow, which prevented them proceeding to the pole.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, Sept. 4.—In the steel trade two points stand out prominently—a normal volume of business and low prices for finished products—the lowest in ten years, and in some instances the lowest since 1899.

Competition is keen because of the excess mill capacity, but the low prices stimulate consumption, as most of the orders placed are accompanied by specifications.

The greatest activity last month was in structural and fabricated steel and wire products, but the stand for higher prices for fabricated structural material last week checked the placing of contracts, which aggregated only 17,000 tons.

Activity in tin plate was increased by the freer offering of concessions of 10 cents per box and orders for plates, bars and merchant pipe were developed through freer concessions of from $1 to $2 per ton, but, although the Steel corporation and independent companies are making concessions, they do not recognize the cuts by official action. It is an open market.

Orders for railroad equipment are still far below normal, bridge contracts in August being only about one-third of the total orders placed—130,000 tons.

The August orders for railroad cars aggregated 9,122, locomotives 200, while rail contracts aggregated 150,000 tons. Last week the principal rail orders were placed by the Chesapeake & Ohio and Texas-Pacific. The Western Maryland put in an inquiry for 5,000 cars, and the Boston & Albany is on the point of closing for 5,000 tons of bridge material.

No large building orders were placed last week, but John McCall was the lowest bidder on the general contract for the convention hall at Philadelphia requiring 11,000 tons of steel shapes.

The volume of business in pig iron was light and keener competition for business at the end of the month brought about some concessions in prices. The total orders placed in August, however, were surprisingly large—375,000 tons, including 100,000 tons of Southern iron, sold early in the month at minimum prices.

UNITE TO LAUD PEACE

Prominent Men Write Articles for Religious Publication.

President Taft Hopes to Secure Treaties Beyond Any Yet Made.

New York, Sept. 4.—President Taft and a number of others prominent in public and civic life contributed articles on the subject of peace which the Christian Herald will issue the coming week. President Taft says:

"I yield to no one in my love of peace, in my hatred of war and in my earnest desire to avoid war.

"I believe we have made great strides toward peace within the last decade. No one that I know of goes further in favor of settling international controversies by arbitration than I do, and if I have my way and am able to secure the assent of other powers, I shall submit to the senate arbitration treaties broader in their terms than any that body has heretofore ratified, and broader than any that now exist between the nations.

"In laying down my office, I could leave no greater claim to the gratitude of my countrymen than to have secured such treaties."

One by Woodrow Wilson.

Woodrow Wilson, governor of New Jersey, says:

"I consider the present agitation for international arbitration and world-peace a deep-seated and permanent thing, representing the fixed and universal desire of the human heart."

John Sharp Williams, senator from Mississippi says:

"No greater folly was ever indulged in than 'the tremendous armament of the leading nations.' It would be better for the mass of mankind to have a general war and be done with it and find out who is the strongest and let the strongest power exert its tremendous power by disarming everybody else. Quick death in a universal war would be preferable to slow death by universal taxation."

MAIL SACK BREAKS SWITCH; 12 HURT

Peculiar Accident Occurs on the Union Pacific.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 4.—As the result of a peculiar accident twelve persons were injured Sunday by the wrecking of two cars on the east-bound Union Pacific passenger train No. 14, at Kersey, Colo.

All the injured except Ruth Wallace of Coucil Bluffs, suffered simple bruises and shocks. The latter suffered a fractured wrist. The two rear cars of the train, a Pullman sleeper and an observation car left the track.

The accident was caused by a mail sack which was thrown from the train striking a switch stand, and breaking it. This was the means of releasing the switch after all but the two rear cars had passed over it. The two rear cars were considerably damaged, but did not turn over.

GLADDEN QUITS PULPIT.

Aged Churchman Turns Over Pastorate to Younger Man.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 4. — Because there are too many empty pews in his church, Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden, pastor of the First Congregational church of this city for twenty-nine years, noted both as a churchman and author, in an open letter to his flock has laid down his active duties and announced his intention of spending his remaining years in semi-activity. He is 75 years of age and believes his duties can be better performed by a younger pastor.

In his letter to his congregation Dr. Washington Gladden tells the members that he yields the leadership to the new associate, Rev. Dr. Carl L. Patton, formerly of Ann Arbor, Mich., who began his new pastorate in Columbus yesterday.

He deplores the lack of interest in Sunday services, not only in his own but in other churches, and makes an appeal for a better attendance at these services.

Dr. Gladden is famed for his opposition to accepting John D. Rockefeller's money for missionary purposes and is the originator of the term "tainted money."

Oysters Catch Rats Easily.

Catching rats with oyster shells is the unique method employed by some pearl fishers near Bromo, Australia. They leave a large oyster on the cabin floor at night. It opens for a breath of fresh air, and the smell of the fresh meat attracts the rats. When the rodent tries to take a bite Mr. Oyster thinks he don't like fresh air. The oyster is thrown away with the dead rat, of course. Some people can be caught by inferior beers, but those who have good taste, choose golden grain belt beers, which cost most to make but sell for no more than inferior kinds. BIGGEST FIGHTERS IN THE WORLD

Battleships Utah and Florida Will Be Completed By Nov. 14.

Washington, Sept. 4.—The sister dreadnoughts, Florida and Utah, the mightiest warships in the American navy, will be in fighting trim Nov. 14, according to predictions of the naval experts. Within a week the Utah, just placed in commission, will enter the docks of the New York navy yard to receive the finishing touches. This work involves the installation of conning towers and the sights for her guns. Much secrecy surrounds these devices, as they are always constructed at a government yard instead of in the plant of a private builder.

The Florida will be placed in commission about Sept. 15 and will be ready for active service simultaneously with the Utah.

These two floating fortresses will be attached to the first division of the Atlantic fleet, the Florida becoming the regular flagship of the division and the Utah occupying that signal relation whenever her sister goes to drydock for overhauling. Capt. Harry S. Knapp will command the Florida and Capt. Henry S. Benson the Utah.

Biggest in World.

Greater in every respect—size, armor and armament—the Florida and Utah will wrest from the Delaware and North Dakota the honor of being the most powerful war vessels afloat. The displacement of the two new dreadnoughts is 21,825 tons each. Ten twelve-inch guns distributed in five turrets and sixteen five-inch rifles constitute the main batteries. The hulls are belted with armor ranging from nine to eleven inches in thickness, while steel walls, a full foot through, protect the turrets. The ships are 521 feet long and are equipped with turbine engines, generating 28,000-horse power, which, it is expected, will drive them at a speed greater than the 20.75 knots required by the navy department's specifications.

Each of these castles of the sea will be manned by a crew of sixty officers and 888 men.

NOTHING TO DO WITH POTASH

David Jayne Hill Issues Statement on Retirement From Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 4.—David Jayne Hill, the retiring American ambassador, on the eve of his departure from Berlin, has broken silence with regard to his resignation, which was accepted by President Taft last April. The ambassador gives out a statement intimating that there has been a deliberate intrigue to discredit him and misrepresent the reasons for his resignation.

He announces his declination of a decoration which the emperor offered him.

"I cannot leave Germany," says the ambassador, "without expressing appreciation of the kindness I experienced here, particularly from his majesty, who generously intimated his wish to confer upon me an honor which the laws of my country forbid me to accept. I have, however, considered it proper to receive from his majesty as a souvenir of our agreeable relations, a piece of porcelain from the royal potteries, and I wish to make a public acknowledgement of this mark of friendship.

Denies "Potash" Story.

"At the time of my resignation in April, there was much speculation regarding the reason therefor, and a legend concerning my course in the negotiations between my government and Germany over the potash controversy was carefully prepared and widely circulated, positively declaring, on alleged authority, that my conduct was displeasing to the department of state.

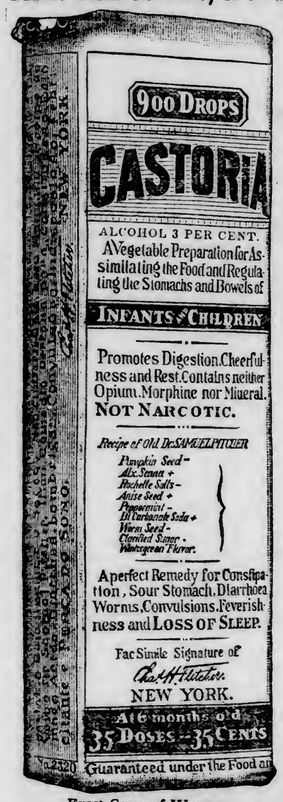

"On leaving office six months after my resignation, I believe that it will be a pleasure to the president if I make public at this time an autograph statement made by him some months ago, which should effectually silence and exterminate the legend which certain newspapers have endeavored to keep alive. He says:

"'I write now to assure you that I never had the slightest reason to criticize your course and service at a very important post. You have vindicated your appointment in every way, and it has given me pleasure to deny emphatically and categorically that your resignation grew out of any disagreement on the part of the administration with your conduct in this country's relations with Germany in regard to the potash, or any other question. * * *

"'I write this to you as you are entitled to have a statement, written by him whom you have worthily and well represented at the great capital of Berlin.'"

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. Alexander E. Mintie, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria and have found it a reliable and pleasant remedy for children."

Dr. Agnes V. Swetland, of Omaha, Nebr., says: "Your Castoria is the best remedy in the world for children and the only one I use and recommend."

Dr. J. A. McClellan, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria for children and always got good results. In fact I use Castoria for my own children."

Dr. J. W. Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I heartily endorse your Castoria. I have frequently prescribed it in my medical practice, and have always found it to do all that is claimed for it."

Dr. C. H. Glidden, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "My experience as a practitioner with your Castoria has been highly satisfactory, and I consider it an excellent remedy for the young."

Dr. H. D. Benner, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria as a purgative in the cases of children for years past with the most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy."

Dr. J. A. Boarman, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

Dr. J. J. Mackey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I consider your Castoria an excellent preparation for children, being composed of reliable medicines and pleasant to the taste. A good remedy for all disturbances of the digestive organs."

LAEOR AND LABOR DAY.

The purpose of Labor day is not to provide a holiday, though holidays are good when they are well used.

Labor day was not set apart by law merely to provide an opportunity for merrymaking and rest. Merrymaking and rest are secondary considerations in all holidays, though the tendency is to forget the real meaning and purpose of the day and to make these purposes of first importance.

Labor day was created to give the people of this country occasion for thinking, at least once a year, a little about the debt they owe to labor, and a little more than they usually do about their obligations to labor.

Labor—speaking broadly—is the foundation of civilization. It is maker of all wealth, the builder of all that is sound and good and strong and useful and permanent. When society pays its tribute to the capitalist because he gives employment to labor, and swallows too easily the false doctrine that it is to him that obeisance and honor is due, it overlooks the very obvious fact that it is labor that makes the capitalist rich, that it was labor's surplus which first created capital, and that without labor there would be no capital, no capitalist, no civilization.

Nowhere, as yet, has labor had its due. Universally wages tend to seek the level of the bare cost of living. Society employs the laborer at too scant wages during his years of usefulness and absorbs the benefit of his production, and when old age, sickness or injury terminates his usefulness it casts him aside like a sucked orange.

Labor-saving machinery has been invented, but the benefits have been diverted into the coffers of others than the laborers. Labor toils just as many hours—except where by the strength of its organization it has compelled their shortening—and gets little more pay than it did before labor-saving devices were known.

Labor builds palaces that other people live in. Labor builds automobiles, steam yachts and rich carriages that other people ride in. Labor makes luxuries that other people consume.

Labor demands a greater share of the fruits of its toil than present economic conditions provide it. It also demands a position of greater economic security. It is entitled to these things, and it has been more humble in making its demands known than it needed to be. This has been because it has been unconscious of its power, and because it has not been united politically. Neither has it been united industrially as it might have been.

Of late a consciousness has been growing that labor, the builder and perpetuater of civilization, is entitled to better things. An awakened social consciousness is submerging that old infamous individualism which amounted to a doctrine of "the devil take the hindmost," and which, instead of fostering the survival of the fittest, fostered the survival of the strongest, the most brutal and the most remorseless.

There is plenty to go around, or there would not be so many congested fortunes hanging like millstones around the necks of the pitiably rich. Labor is entitled to its share, and it will get it, but not until government is conducted for the common good instead of for special interests—and to that end the thoughts and prayers and votes and work of every patriot should be directed.

CONGRESSIONAL JOKESMITHS.

The campaign publicity law which congress passed so heartily and which President Taft signed with such smug self-satisfaction, is not what it professes or seems to be.

Fair enough on its face, congressional jokesmiths quietly undermined it and put so many little jokers in it that it is a good deal of a joke as a whole.

The other day The Herald's Washington dispatches reported that a couple of Virginia senatorial candidates had filed their statements of campaign expenses with the secretary of the senate.

When the reporters asked to see these statements they were told that they would not be made public, for the present at least; and they were also told that the law did not provide for making them public.

This led to an earnest examination of the law, which developed two very interesting and rather startling facts:

First, that though this is a "campaign publicity" law, it does not provide publicity.

Second, that though this law seems to limit the expenditures of candidates, it limits expenditures with such gaping loopholes that it amounts practically to no limitation at all.

Section 5 provides publicity for candidates for the house, specifically, as follows: "The statements so filed with the clerk of the house shall be preserved by him for fifteen months and shall be a part of the public records of his office, and shall be open to inspection."

That's ample so far as congressional candidates are concerned, but while the bill was going through the Republican senate astute senators saw to it that it is different as to them. The act merely prescribes that senatorial candidates shall "file" their statements with the secretary of the senate. It says nothing about making these statements public.

And that wasn't the only little joker that the senatorial jokesmiths got into this law. On its face the law limits the campaign expenses of a candidate for the house, including both nomination and election, to $5,000, and the expenses of senatorial candidates to $10,000.

But—legislative jokesmiths are prolific in "buts"—while the measure was on its way through this provision was deftly slipped into it:

"Provided, further, that money expended by any such candidate to meet and discharge any assessment, fee or charge made or levied upon candidates by the laws of the state in which he resides, or for his necessary personal expenses, incurred for himself alone, for travel and subsistence, stationery and postage, writing or printing (other than in newspapers) and distributing letters, circulars and postage, and for telegraph and telephone service, SHALL NOT BE REGARDED AS AN EXPENDITURE WITHIN THE MEANING OF THIS SECTION and shall not be considered any part of the sum herein fixed as the limit of expenses, and need not be shown in the statements herein required to be filed."

So if a candidate wishes to bribe a voter or to buy his services in a campaign, all he needs to do is to charge the sum used up to one of these excepted accounts, and he need not count it as part of his expenses or report it in his statement. He can hire a voter for any sum he pleases, for instance, to distribute letters, circulars or posters, and it does not count.

A great joke, eh? A joke on the people, indeed, who had been sanguine enough to expect a real campaign publicity and corrupt practices law from a senate constituted as the present senate is constituted.

PUT IT UP TO THE PEOPLE.

Just when The Herald was having a little controversy with the Twin City newspapers about how it happened that the nomination of candidates for congressman-at-large was taken away from the people and turned over to the bosses, copies of the congressional reapportionment law come to hand explaining it all very fully.

According to the Twin City newspapers, the appearance of these copies does away with all doubt about the matter; and The Herald so far agrees with them.

According to the Twin City newspapers the law leaves no doubt about the method of procedure in nominating candidates for congressman-at-large; and still The Herald agrees with them.

But according to the Twin City newspapers the law distinctly compels the nomination of candidates for congressman-at-large at the state conventions; and there is where they and The Herald part company.

For the Federal law distinctly leaves the nomination of candidates for congressman-at-large to the methods provided by state law, and in Minnesota the method provided by state law is the primary election and not the convention.

The whole matter is covered by the Burton amendment adopted in the senate, which is as follows: "That candidates for representative or representatives to be elected at large shall be nominated in the same manner as candidates for governor UNLESS OTHERWISE PROVIDED BY THE LAW OF SUCH STATE."

That's all clear enough. The amendment is intended to cover cases where there is no provision of state law that will apply. But that is not the case in Minnesota. This state has ample provision of law for the situation. Let us again call attention to Section 181 of the Revised Laws of 1905: "On Tuesday, seven weeks preceding any election, an election of party nominees, hereinafter designated as the 'primary election,' shall be held in each election district for the selection of party candidates for ALL ELECTIVE OFFICES except offices of towns, villages and cities of the fourth class, and state offices, and members of school, park and library boards in cities having less than one hundred thousand inhabitants."

That law, too, is plain enough. It means that candidates for all elective offices except those specifically excepted shall be nominated by the people at the primary election. Those specifically excepted do not include congressmen, whether they are elected by districts or at large. Therefore the law includes congressmen, whether they are elected by districts or at large.

The Burton amendment is intended to apply to states where there is no provision of state law that will cover the situation.

It does not apply to Minnesota because Minnesota has ample provision of state law to cover the situation.

Those who control the public affairs of this state have decided among themselves that they will not let the people nominate the candidates for congressman-at-large at the primary election, and that the nominating shall be done by the bosses themselves in the convention.

Nevertheless it seems quite clear, when the Burton amendment and the Minnesota primary election law are considered together, that the proper place for the nomination of candidates for congressman-at-large is in the primary election.

And that is where the nominations should be made—by the people and not by the bosses.

PATRONIZING HOME INDUSTRIES.

The Red Wing Republican states that a Red Wing man, lately returned from Germany, reports that notices teaching the duty and advantage of patronizing German industries are posted conspicuously all over the empire. These notices read as follows:

1. Never lose sight of the interests of your compatriots or of the Fatherland.
2. Do not forget that when you buy a foreign product, no matter if it is only a cent's worth, you diminish the Fatherland's wealth by just so much.
3. Your money should profit only German merchants and workmen.
4. Do not profane German soil, a German house or a German workshop by using foreign machines and tools.
5. Never allow to be served at your table foreign fruits and meat, thus wronging German growers and, moreover, compromising your health, because foreign meats are not inspected by German sanitary police.
6. Write on German paper with a German pen and dry the ink with German blotters.
7. You should be clothed only in German goods and should wear only German hats.
8. German flour, German fruits and German beer alone make German strength.
9. If you do not like the German malted coffee, drink coffee from the German colonies. If you prefer chocolate or cocoa for the children have a care that the chocolate and cocoa are exclusively German products.
10. Do not let foreign boasters divert you from these sage precepts. Be convinced, whatever you may hear, that the best products, which are alone worthy of a German citizen, are German products.

Substitute the word "Duluth" for the word "German," and make a few trifling changes in the commodities treated, and these precepts are in complete harmony with the "Do It For Duluth" idea.

Your first duty is to your home community, your home state and your native land. Do your buying so your money will remain as close to you as possible, and you will build up your home town to your own substantial advantage.

Bede, Tawney, Rockne, Clague—next!

Somehow it is hard to blame President Taft for leaving Winona off his speaking schedule this time.

Senator Crawford says Taft blundered. Senator Crawford's goodness of heart does him credit.

The campaign publicity law will pass into history as another example of the Taft administration's methods of keeping promises to the people.

Mark Twain's old home in Hannibal, Mo., has been purchased and presented to that city to be maintained as a memorial to the author. That is all right and a good deed, even though it seems a good deal like trying to add glory to the sun.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writter, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"SAVOYARD" CORRECTED AS TO SENATOR GORMAN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Permit me space in your valuable paper to suggest that "Savoyard" is in error when he states on page 9 of today's issue that the late Senator Arthur Pue Gorman never gave a categorical answer to anybody. If "Savoyard will turn to the files of Baltimore papers of the first Sunday of August, 1903, likewise the files of the New York papers, same date, he will find the senator quoted direct to the extent of two columns on national and Maryland politics; also the race issue. He was interviewed between Quarantine and the American Line dock. No doubt the interview, which created wide discussion, has been overlooked by your special writer.

As a Democrat who hopes that the son of the senator will defeat Goldsborough for the governorship and who believes that misstatements about the late leader of the Maryland Democracy should not go unchallenged, I respectfully ask that you publish this communication. N. LE FEBVRE.

Duluth, Sept. 2.

NOMINATIONS FOR CONGRESSMEN-AT-LARGE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Your editorial "Interference or Trickery" in today's issue makes a gross misstatement that Minnesota alone nominates its state ticket in convention and all other officers, including congressmen, by primary. Ohio does, as do some other states which I will not risk naming as my authority is not at hand.

As a matter of fact, where there is no machinery for a state-wide primary, how would you name a congressman-at large except by convention—or "as candidates for governor" are nominated?

To avoid the certain necessity of special sessions of state legislatures next winter congress very wisely enacted as it did, the amendment being made in the act accomplishing the object named, by Senator Burton of Ohio. Yours truly,

FRANCIS W. TREADWAY,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Duluth, Sept. 2.

Has Taft Committed Suicide?

New York World: Congress never does anything until after New Year's. If the work of "scientific" tariff revision is begun in January, 1912, there is no chance of its being completed in less than three months, and it will more probably require six months. Even then it is extremely doubtful if the contending elements in congress will agree merely to please the president.

Mr. Taft must deal with the same congress that he dealt with this summer. He must deal with the same coalition that passed the wool bill and the free-list bill; for the Republican insurgents are compelled by circumstances to keep step with the Democrats on the issue of tariff reform. They cannot go back to the regular wing of their party without discrediting themselves.

Indeed, the relations between Mr. Taft and the insurgents are likely to be more strained at the regular session of congress than at the special session. He intends to invade their country in the fall. He must defend himself, and a defense of himself is inevitably an attack upon them in the presence of their constituents which they cannot fail to resent. There is no common ground upon which they and Mr. Taft can meet, and a tariff bill passed by Democrats and insurgents next summer may suit Mr. Taft no better than the tariff bills passed by the same coalition this summer. He may be compelled to use the veto power again, and if so, what becomes of his "scientific" tariff? What has he accomplished except to make matters worse?

But whether Mr. Taft signs or vetoes forthcoming legislation to reduce the Payne-Aldrich schedules, the tariff is bound to be a presidential issue. The president has placed himself in the unhappy, unfortunate, vulnerable position of having postponed tariff reform, even if he has not absolutely prevented it during his term of office. He must take the consequences. Only the gravest Democratic blunders, only the odium and shame of Tammany hall, can save him if he is to be saved.

We say this without exultation, for The World has the kindest feelings toward Mr. Taft, and no Republican newspaper has made more generous recognition of his great service to arbitration and reciprocity. But facts are superior even to friendship, and Mr. Taft has cast his fortunes with the Republican element that represents tariff abuses, not tariff reform.

Without prejudice or partisanship The World repeats its question—Has Taft committed suicide?

The Millennium.

When Earth's last evil is righted, and
Earth's last sinner reformed,
When all of the graft is ended, when sin's last fortress is stormed,
We shall rest for an age or longer,
and gaze with a happy smile
On the work that we have accomplished—a world that is void of guile.
But when the resting is over, and we start on the job anew,
What will be left for the doing, and what in the world will we do?

There will be no sorrows to lighten,
no poverty, crime, or pain,
No greedy robbers to battle, no octopus to be slain;
And those who were ever foremost in fighting the goodly fight,
Will find no foemen to grapple and never a wrong to right.
A mood of perfect contentment the heart of the world will lull
And each of us will be happy—and
Lord! but it will be dull!

When Earth's last evil is righted—I hope I shall not be there—
I should long for the old-time conflict, for the work and worry and care;
There's fun in the bitter fighting,
there's joy in the mighty game
Of battling against the forces of evil and woe and shame,
You may long for the perfect era, but
I'm for the clash and jar,
The shouts and the cheers and the tumult in the world of Things as They Are!

About the Dog.

Our Dumb Animals: When choosing a dog, ask your self what purpose he is to serve.

If he is to be a watch-dog and live out of doors, give him a good kennel, sheltered from wind and cold; make it rain-proof and keep it clean.

Place his kennel on dry ground, facing southwest for warmth in the winter, and northeast for shade in the summer. Don't place it in a damp or dismal yard. Make the bed of clean straw, and change it often.

Feed the dog regularly twice a day, on meat, vegetables, and dog discuit. Give him the bigger meal late in the day, so that he will not feel hungry during the night, and start barking.

Put plenty of fresh water where he can always get it.

Exercise is absolutely necessary for the health of the dog. Give him his freedom for at least one hour every day, of course much longer if possible.

Don't keep him chained up day after day. The dog is an energetic animal, and if not allowed to work off his energy, he may become wild and vicious.

The dog craves human companionship and unless you give him attention and care he will desert you or develop into an unnatural and uninteresting dog.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Taft and the Wool Bill.

Northfield News (Rep.): The News has had occasion to commend President Taft for his stand on reciprocity and in regard to other matters of public importance. But it believes that the president has made a very grave mistake in vetoing the wool bill. That mistake is one which will cost him the support of thousands of Republicans in every section of the country. Perhaps the bill was not the best that could have been drawn, but it was surely a step in the direction which the people have sought—that of tariff revision downward.

Didn't Take Long.

St. Cloud Times: Governor Eberhart made good his claim that he would tell the board of control all he knew. But it doesn't appear to have been very much.

Doesn't Want Much.

St. Peter Herald: A country editor down in Martin county has just sold his newspaper, moved to Minneapolis and invested in a block of stock in a big department store. When we retire we intend to buy an express company.

The Consumer's Chance.

Carlton Vidette: When the "ultimate consumer" has his say it will be at the polls next year.

A Question.

Park Rapids Enterprise: Question! When the net proceeds from one acre of potatoes raised in Hubbard county will buy four acres of land adjoining, what is the value per acre of the land?

Some Talk.

Red Wing Republican: There isn't near as much need of a new political party as there is for a larger measure of saving common sense and a new citizenship among the ranks of the people which shall have a sane, vigorous and constant regard for the common welfare. Systems and parties are easy to construct, but they will fail in their purpose, however worthy, unless a citizenship of the right fiber is behind them. The supreme need of America is men and women of higher aims and more determined purposes.

Coming Into Its Own.

Nashwauk Herald: More state lands have been sold in Northern Minnesota during the last three months than at any other similar period of the history of the state. The price per acre has been higher than ever before. This proves that more settlers have gone to the north than at any other time. In Itasca county alone 2,605 acres of land were sold.

A Way St. Paul Has.

Red Wing Republican: St. Paul is planning to build a new public library building and wants the state to contribute the site. St. Paul is always generous when it comes to spending the state's money.

Where Taft Stands.

St. Cloud Times: If President Taft is again elected president of the United States it will be a sure sign that a majority of the people are standpatters. When the Democrats and independent Republicans were fighting to give the people a reduction in the tariff that they wanted, Taft did all he could to defeat them even to the extent of sending the members of his cabinet on the floor of the house to line up members of congress to sustain his veto. And who used his high office to elect Cannon? Taft, of course. And who tried to save Cannon? Taft, of course. And still there are some Republicans who try to make themselves believe that Taft will give them a new tariff law "scientifically" revised downward.

Off the Keynote.

New York Globe (Rep.): From this morning's Beverly news we quote two sentences. First: "While the president will speak on many subjects on his Western trip, it is certain now that the question of tariff revision will receive most of his attention." Secondly: "Mr. Taft is said to realize that he must attack the Democrats and Progressive Republicans who put the tariff bills through congress."

If this is so, and if Mr. Taft intends to go on attacking the Democrats and Progressive Republicans exactly as he attacked them in his Hamilton speech, then he might as well give up his Western trip, stay in Beverly, and spend his days on the golf links.

His attack was on the methods by which the wool bill, free list bill and cotton bill were made, and upon the motives of the men by whose votes they were passed.

Much can be said, truthfully and effectively, against the methods by which the cotton bill was made; much, but not so much, against methods in the case of the free list bill; very little against the methods of the wool bill makers.

Yet at Hamilton Mr. Taft said of the wool bill: "No tariff bill within any one's recollection has ever been passed with so little care." Surely Mr. Taft will soon discover, if he has not discovered already, that such a statement will not help his cause. Why say things which almost nobody believes or can be induced to believe?

A Sensible Law.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Tomorrow there will become effective in New York a law forbidding the placing of advertising matter along the highways of the state. The law does not stop at prohibition, but even makes it legal for any individual to destroy any advertising matter that he may discover thus posted or painted.

Several automobile clubs are to make the day a gala occasion. They plan to sally forth along the disfigured highways, armed with ax and hatchet, and start the crusade in a truly smashing manner. No glaring billboard of the roadside, no horrible or grotesque device to attract attention to the merit of any article of merchandise will be spared. The farmers and others who allow their houses and barns to be "decorated" will not be molested, as they have acted wholly within their rights in giving their private property over to disfigurement. But whatever is found on post, fence or roadside tree will be utterly demolished.

The frightful marring of natural scenery in the vicinity of great American cities by such methods of advertising has for years aroused protest, but nothing definite has before been done to check the evil. Many individuals have determined to purchase none of the articles advertised at the expense of nature, and it is possible that the signs may have done more harm than good to those responsible for their erection. They have, however, been free from legislative inhibition.

The New York law is a good one. Not only does it bring about the demolition of many of the existing disfigurements, but it calls the attention of the public, including the advertisers themselves, to the lack of wisdom inherent in such unpopular methods of publicity.

John Gates' Last Bet.

Minneapolis Tribune: The late Mr. Gates recalls the Southern congressman who put in his biography the information that he is married and lives with his wife. Mr. Gates lived blissfully with the wife of his youth and poverty till his death in her arms, and there is no evidence that he ever wanted a change.

Gates was a very human creature, and his most human impulses were clean, even if boisterous and torrential. He could not have craved money like Sage, and he certainly never loved power like Harriman. He loved the game and played it madly for its own sake, indifferent to his growing pile of chips. The tide of his life ran full and red, and no worldly prudence checked or chilled it.

Nothing is more characteristic than the two wills he dashed off in the presence of death, like hedging orders to his broker, whichever one happens to be latest. One conserved his fortune, and the other bet half of it on the chance of his son keeping a head not proved too strong so far. Here is a Bet-a-ten-million Gates to the very life.

Best of all is that homely rustic thoughtfulness for the swarm of humble relations of his wife and himself that scattered liberal legacies all the way from Chicago to Texas. What cold-blooded keeping of money together can compare with this warm diffusion of beneficence?

C. F. Thorpe of West Duluth is receiving a visit from his mother, Mrs. J. P. Mitchell of Negaunee, Mich., and his sister, Mrs. J. O. St. Clair of Republic, Mich.

J. H. Hackett is moving his household goods from West Duluth to Milwaukee and will follow with his family in a few days.

The early morning uptown car from Oatka beach, on the Park Point suburban railway (limited) had on board yesterday the following members of the Chantee club: Misses Lelash, Pettibone, Mackinnon, Burdick and Whitney and Messrs. George French, A. G. Strong, Will McKinley, C. J. O'Donnell, J. H. Coffin and Judd Powell. At the first switch the car jumped the track and fell over into the ditch, throwing the astonished passengers into a confused heap in one corner. Luckily no one was injured, but some one came down solidly upon a cake that was being taken to town by Miss Burdick and the destruction was complete. The party at once set sail in a boat, but the wind died out and a boatman had to row out to them and bring them ashore. By this time another car had come along and they were able to get to town.

Caroll Graff has gone to Gettysburg, Pa., to attend a collegiate preparatory school in connection with Lafayette college.

J. E. Paul, Herbert Poirier and Otto Polrier left yesterday for a year's study at St. Boniface college, Winnipeg.

Paul Ray, formerly of the grain firm of Wright & Ray of Duluth and now a reporter on the Chicago Inter-Ocean, was married a few days ago to Miss Effie Hunt of Kansas City.

George W. Buck and family left last night on the Nyack for Towanda, Pa. They were accompanied by Miss Sarah Morgan, who will remain in the East to attend school.

Miss Dorothy Morton of the Wilbur Opera company, who recently played such havoc with Duluth scarfpins, has sent 20 cents to a Duluth druggist to pay for soda she had charged up to her. Evidently she has read the papers and is repentant.

Colgate Hoyt, president of the American Steel Barge company, says the company wants $25,000 to $30,000 bonus, besides land, before it will build a dackyard at Superior.

Miss Belle Hamilton, who has been spending the summer at Detroit, arrived home on the Badger State.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Catholic Standard and Times: "Yes," said Miss Knox, "I saw her in that new suit of hers and she really behaved as if she were happy?"

"Well?" queried Miss Ascum.

"Well, it's remarkable how happy some people can be no matter how they look."

Success Magazine: Col. Dennison had become the happy father of twins, and his unbounded pride in this twofold blessedness found expression on every occasion. He stood with a friend on the bark steps one day as a young woman passed wheeling a baby carriage containing a pretty girl baby.

"Doesn't a woman look queer," said the colonel loftily, "with only one child!"

Chicago Record-Herald: "Some of the railroad companies are trying to persuade their employes to be courteous to the public."

"Isn't it remarkable! If things go on this way the time may come when the public will have cause to give up the belief that it exists merely to be imposed upon and treated with contempt."

Answers: He had the poet's instinct for leaving practical matters to others. But his father-in-law-to-be did not know this.

"Look here, young fellow," he said, "I think it's about time the date of your marriage with my daughter was fixed.

"Yes, perhaps," the young man agreed, "But I am leaving that entirely to Ermyntrude."

"Ah! Is it to be a quiet or a stylish wedding?"

"I think, sir," answered the young man, quietly, "I can leave that safely in the hands of Mrs. Bullion."

"Yes, quite so," nodded Mr. Bullion. "But a young fellow generally has some idea with regard to the expense—bridesmaids' gifts, you know. And—by the way, what is your income?"

"Well, that, sir," said the young man, modestly, "I am leaving entirely to you."

Natural History.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "I don't suppose," remarked Gregg Halloway, grinning ruefully, "that I'll ever have the nerve to call my son down again."

"What went wrong?" we asked him.

"It was this way. We were invited out and the kid exhibited his worst table manners. I leaned over to him and, whispered—in a stage whisper—'You're a little pig.'

"The kid just grinned.

"'Do you hear?' I hissed. 'You are a little pig.' Do you have sense enough to know what a little pig is?'

"'Yes, papa,' answered the child, trying to look innocent.

"'Well, then, what is it?'

"'A pig is a hog's little boy!'"

AN APPRAISAL.

It may sound stretched, but it's the truth.
That when I started for Duluth,
A friend of mine took me aside,
And grasped my hand and deeply sighed,
"Old man," said he, "I can't express
My fond hopes for your best success,
And ne'er a warning 'gainst the place
That lies before your steadfast face.
Perchance you've not been fully told
Of that town's bas relief so bold,
Its beetling cliffs thung 'long the sky,
A city fully one mile high
By one-half wide and twenty long;
I make the figures none to strong.
Why, streets are like my pig pen roof,
Hipped, slanting, sloping, sharp — in sooth
Some portions have no streets at all,
But merely ladders 'gainst a wall.
Homes rise in rows like organ stops,
And housewives often empty slops
Or ashes down their neighbor's flues,
Likewise tin cans and worn-out shoes.
And men can't wear stiff-bosomed shirts,
While women's knees beneath their skirts,
Bowed are, and sprung, from traipsing down
And up the trails that cross the town.
In winter time—" He tried in vain
To check his tears. I took the train.

Now I've been here a dozen weeks;
I've walked the shores and scaled the peaks.
I believe I've seen each house and yard
By walking 'round the Boulevard.
There are some hills, I'm bound to say,
But swamps enough are 'cross the bay
To suit the man who can't delight
And glory in the mountain height.
And everybody's legs, believe me,
Are straight and shapely as can be.
(I'm judging by the men's of course.
With frequent glance at dog or horse.)
Speaking of "filled shirts," by the way,
I counted nine in one cafe.
Take any season, for me t'will do.
Your Southern knocker can't some
With bluffs to me about the snow
Just count on me to pen the truth,
And watch me 'Do It For Duluth.'

A Poor Cure.

San Francisco Chronicle: Mayor Speer of Denver, at a recent temperance banquet, was discussing a drink cure of little efficacy.

"When I think of this cure," he said, "I recall a poor old woman with a red nose who entered a magistrate's office and said:

"'I'd like to take the pledge, if ye please.'

"'Very good,' said the polite clerk. 'And how long did you wish to take it for?'

"'In the past,' said the old woman, 'I've always taken it for life.'"

SCHOOLS OF CITY TO OPEN

Normal, Public and Parochial Terms Will Begin Tuesday.

Increased Enrollment Is Expected—Merritt Building Not Ready.

The teachers are in the city, the children are resigned to the termination of their long vacation, the summer repairing and remodeling of buildings have been completed, and the school year of 1911-12 will open tomorrow morning.

The opening tomorrow will include the public schools of the city, the state normal and the parochial schools. All schools are expected to have an increased enrollment. Last year, there was a gradual increase in attendance at the public schools during the year, the total enrollment increasing from about 12,500 at the opening of the school year to about 13,600 at the close.

On account of the non-arrival of seats for the new Jerome Merritt school and the four-room addition to the Lowell school at Duluth Heights, the work at those two buildings will be somewhat confused for the first few days of the term. Supt. Denfeld has decided to assemble the classes just as if the schools were ready for use. The classe will be organized, home lessons will be assigned and preparations made for the beginning of work just as soon as the seats are installed.

WAREHOUSE AT MOOSE LAKE

Produce Will Be Shipped in Carload Lots This Year.

After years to that end, C. F. Mahnke, mayor of Moose Lake and the publisher of the Star-Gazette at that town, has succeeded in getting a produce warehouse established at that place.

A produce warehouse has been one of the most pressing needs of Moose Lake. Shipping in small quantities, the farmers of the district could not get the best market or the best prices. There was no place where produce might be accumulated for shipment in carload lots and the Moose Lake farmers were consequently handicapped.

Moose Lake is in the center of one of the most promising farming districts in Northeastern Minnesota. Its importance as an agricultural center has increased greatly this year and shipments from the town will be heavy. Mr. Mahnke, who is one of the most enthusiastic workers for development Moose Lake has, pointed out the opportunity for a produce man, and a produce warehouse will be built.

With a warehouse, shipments will be assembled into carload lots and Moose Lake will be able to command attention in the market.

RICH FIND MADE BY ROCHESTER WORKMEN.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 4.—Workmen excavating for a new business block uncovered a $150 diamond ring and a diamond necklace of no mean value. Paul Rose found the ring, H. P. Phillips the necklace. It is thought the jewels were hidden in 1870, when a store in Rochester was burned. Phillips, until recently a homesteader, and forced to return here by recent crop failures, hailed his "find" as a special dispensation of Providence.

BRYAN DENOUNCES GAMES OF CHANCE.

New York, Sept. 4. — William J. Bryan, in a lecture last night at Grace Methodist church on "The Old Religion," strongly denounced all games of chance. His face lighted up with a broad smile as he said:

"During the three campaigns when I ran for the presidency I always advised my friends not to bet." And he added, amid a shout of laughter, "They always appreciated the advice after the election."

WEST END

PASSES AWAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Louis L. Raymond, aged 26, junior member of the firm of Raymond Bros., grocers and butchers, 3823 Oneota street, died of tuberculosis early Sunday morning at his summer home at

LOUIS L. RAYMOND.

Fond du Lac. He had been sick for three years and was not active in the business of the concern.

He is survived by three brothers residing at 3823 Oneota street. They are Charles F., Joseph M. and Harry B. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Charles La Salle of 15 North Fifty-fourth avenue west.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence to Oneota cemetery.

SAY CONTRACTORS ARE CARELESS WITH DYNAMITE.

Carelessness on the part of contractors who are blasting for an excavation for water mains on Twenty-third avenue west, has aroused the ire of a number of West end residents who live in that vicinity.

Last week, a piece of rock was hurled on the veranda of the home of Peter Olson, Twenty-third avenue west and Eighth street. The porch was damaged, several windows smashed and electric lights broken.

The cost of repairs has been met by the contractors, but it is understood that the board of public works has been asked to see that there is no repetition.

WEST END PEOPLE ENJOY GOOD HEALTH.

The West end is enjoying good health. Inspector Oscar Lingvall of the West end district says that the western end of the city is free from contagious diseases, and that at the present time there exists only one case of diphtheria and two of scarlet fever in his district. Inspector Lingvall says that the improvement in conditions was probably due largely to the interest the citizens have taken in keeping their yards clean and their rubbish burned.

Visits Lodges.

L. A. Simonson, vice chief templar of the Minnesota International Order of Good Templars, has returned from a tour of several Wisconsin towns on business connected with the order. Among other places visited by Mr. Simonson were Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Spooner, Drummond, Mason, Hayward, Washburn and Ashland.

Junior League Banquet.

A banquet will be held at the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church, twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, this evening, under the auspices of the Junior league of the church. The arrangements for the affair are in charge of a committee consisting of the Misses Hannah and Lydia Oleson and Gertrude Jorgenson.

BADGER STUDENT MAY HAVE DIED

Leigh Garrett Caught in Storm Upon Mount Ranier.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 4.—Leigh Garrett, 25 years old, a student of the Wisconsin agricultural college, is believed to have perished in a fierce storm which broke over Mount Ranier late Sunday. He started at 2 p. m. to attempt the ascent of the precipitious southwest side of the mountain, and has not been heard from.

Being alone and thinly clad, and with scant provisions, it is believed by old mountaineers that he could not have survived. A searching party headed by a famous guide, is looking for him.

BEMIDJI ODD FELLOWS.

Visited By Grand Patriarch McDowell and Complimented.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. A. McDowell of Luverne, grand patriarch of the Minnesota encampment branch of the I. O. O. F., has enthused local Odd Fellows by a visit to the Bemidji lodge and participation in a banquet served in his honor. Mr. McDowell delivered a fine address and complimented the Bemidji brethren on their splendid lodge and its prosperous condition. After the banquet a meeting of the encampment was held and reorganization was affected. Mr. McDowell stated that sometime within the next two months members of the grand lodge encampment would visit Bemidji and assist in the initiation of a large class of applicants for membership.

SHOT BY MISTAKE.

Peterson Thought Wavra and Companion Were Hold-up Men.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—That he was shot by Ole Peterson and that Peterson was first made the victim of hold-up men and was laboring under the delusion that the victim of his bullet was one of the robbers, is the statement secured by East Grand Forks officials in connection with the shooting of Henry Wavra of this city. Navra and his companion chanced to come on the scene of the holdup just in time to be mistaken by Peterson as a friend of the man who had taken his money away, and he opened fire on them, Wavra receiving a bullet.

The authorities will not make any charge against Peterson, as he has made a clean breast of the affair.

CONDUCTOR HIATT IS FIRED AGAIN

Man Whose Discharge Caused Des Moines Strike, Once More Let Out.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 4.—Conductor B. L. Hiatt of the Des Moines City Railway company, whose discharge a few weeks ago, following the report of an inspector, resulted in a strike of all the union employes of the company, was again discharged Sunday, together with two other conductors. The men were dismissed for alleged violation of the company's rules, according to W. E. Ralston, superintendent of the company.

The provisions of the injunction issued by Judge De Graff, which put an end to the recent strike of the employes and ordered the reinstatement of Conductor Hiatt, have not been violated, according to the company officials.

Boy Severely Injured.

Napoleon, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—To have one tooth of a hayrake driven into his body near the left hip, going clear through and coming out at the right hip, and to live, is the experience that Bentler Berghart, Jr., aged 8, living eighteen miles from here, will be able to tell if he entirely recovers.

Fred Baxter of Superior has been awarded the contract for the grading and excavating for the portion of the Soo Frederic extension from the present northern end to a junction with the Brooten line near Boylston. Mr. Baxter is ready to commence on the work and will have a force of men on the job at once. In coming into the city, the new line will go under the Great Northern tracks. A large camp will be built near Boylston to accommodate the men on the construction crews.

Luther League Convention.

The annual convention of the Lake Superior district of the Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church opened yesterday for a two days' session at the Pilgrim Swedish Lutheran church. Delegates were in attendance from about twenty leagues from all parts of Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota. Devotional services occupied the attention of the delegates yesterday and this morning, a business meeting took place. This afternoon the delegates took a trip around the harbor on the steamer Plowboy. One of the features of the program in connection with the convention yesterday was the appearance of Miss Martha Levin of Minneapolis in several vocal selections. She is known as the "blind vocalist."

AUDITORIUM MEETING CLOSES CONFERENCE

Sixth Missionary Department Council Ends Successful Convention in Duluth.

Visitors Have Words of Praise for Duluth as Convention City.

With the services held last evening at Trinity Pro-Cathedral, the Sixth Missionary Department annual council came to an end.

For three days past the conference has been meeting in Duluth, the meetings being held alternately at St. Paul's and at Trinity church.

The conference was one of the most important religious conventions ever held in the city. There were about 100 delegates, fourteen of whom were bishops of the Episcopal church, from every part of the Northwest.

After the evening services last night at which Bishop Edsall of Minnesota told of his work in the Southern part of the state and Bishop Graves, formerly bishop of Kearney, told of the need of reaching country people, the convention came to an end. Many of the delegates got away on evening trains and the rest left today.

All are enthusiastic over Duluth as a meeting place. "Duluth has done nobly," said Bishop Morrison. "The convention has been a success and we are pleased at the way in which our people turned out."

"The hospitality of Duluth has been a credit to Minnesota," said Bishop Edsall.

"Duluth is a beautiful city and I have enjoyed every minute of my stay here," said Bishop Tuttle of Missouri.

Many others among the bishops, visiting clergymen and laymen here for the meetings were heard to remark on Duluth as a convention city.

The Mass Meeting.

The mass meeting held at the auditorium yesterday afternoon was the climax of the three days' session. More than 1,000 people were in attendance. A girls' choir under the leadership of A. F. M. Custance furnished the music. Bishop J. D. Morrison presided and introduced the speakers. "The Church's Message To the World," was the general subject discussed under the following sub-topics:

"The Messhage Universally Needed and Longed For," Bishop Olmstead of Colorado; "The Acceptance of the Message, the Indispensable Condition of the Social and Political Welfare of a Nation," W. H. Lightner. "The Earnestness With Which We Give the Message to the World, the Measure of the Value We Place Upon It," Bishop Lloyd of New York; "The Victories of the Message in the Past," Bishop Cameron Mann of North Dakota, and "The Vision of Its Coming Triumph," Presiding Bishop Tuttle of Missouri.

Yesterday morning the visiting bishops were scattered over Duluth and Superior. They had been assigned to the different churches.

Saturday afternoon at a meeting held in the interests of the Sunday school at the Trinity pro-cathedral a permanent organization was formed to be known as the Sunday school convention of the Sixth Missionary department. The officers elected follow:

Executive president—Bishop Mann of North Dakota.

Representatives to the executive council—Bishop Mann and Prof. P. L. Palmer of Seabury Divinity school, Faribault, Minn.

Department secretary—Rev. U. S. Douglas of Minneapolis.

Next Meeting Place.

At the last session held Saturday afternoon it was decided to hold the next meeting at Grand Junction, Colo. The session will begin Oct. 18 and will last three days, as did the Duluth meeting.

Saturday evening a banquet was held at which time the visiting delegates were the guests of the churchmen of Duluth.

HARPING ON ANNEXATION

Canadian Conservatives Stick to That Cry in Campaign.

Nova Scotia Liberals Use Billboards—Lisgar Man Explaining.

Toronto, Can., Sept. 4.—With the departure from the Ontario district of the opposition leader, R. L. Borden, the campaign has been left to the lieutenants of the two leaders and the candidates in the respective ridings. Premier Laurier, however, will address a series of meetings in the western portion of the Ontario province. Meanwhile there was been no diminution in the bitterness of the campaign.

An important development limas been the agreement of all parties to support W. German, M. P., in Welland county. This is the home of the fruit-growers of the Niagara belt. Mr. German is a Liberal, but is unalterably opposed to reciprocity. He unquestionably is the most popular man in the district, and the Conservatives have withdrawn their candidate and he will be elected by acclamation. Anti-reciprocity has thus scored first blood.

Conservatives Are Turning.

To off-set this, many life-long Conservatives have announced their intention to support reciprocity, and to what extent the party cleavage will extend, only election day will show.

Meantime the Conservative party does not intend to drop the annexation cry. Loyalty is the dominant note at the majority of the meetings. The famous declaration of Sir John McDonald, "a British subject I was born; a British subject I will die," appears in every hall, and practically all the speakers devote a large portion of their speeches to warning their hearers against annexation.

Use of Billboards.

Halifax, Sept. 4.—In Nova Scotia and in Prince Edward island, the slogan of the Liberal party in the seething political fight now going on is "Laurier, Fielding and Larger Markets." This catchy sentence adorns billboards and dead walls and is a text for reams of literature dealing with fish, lumber and agricultural exports.

The answering battle cry of the Conservatives in this struggle is their contention that reciprocity with the United States will lead to annexation, and the Conservative press and speakers are pressing the argument with every resource at their command.

Hot in Western Canada.

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—The chief campaigners on both sides of the reciprocity election contest were in the field last week. Premier Sifton of Alberta stumped Southern Alberta and Premier Scott of Saskatchewan addressed gatherings in Manitoba, both favoring reciprocity.

Premier Roblin of Manitoba held several meetings in Manitoba, condemning reciprocity because of its alleged injury to British trade, and the set-back that it will give to the proposed preference of Canadian wheat in British markets, which he claims the Unionists will accord Canada when they come into power.

Mr. Roblin admits that the householders of Winnipeg, under reciprocity with the United States, will be able to buy eggs, chickens, bacon, milk and vegetables 30 to 50 per cent cheaper than they are now buying them, but that on the other hand, the farmers of Canada will get so much less for their produce.

Sharpe in Trouble.

Sharpe, the opposition candidate in Lisgar, is having difficulty, it is said. In explaining a speech he made in the last session of parliament, before reciprocity was introduced. At that time Sharpe said that farmers in Mowbray, Man., in his constituency, shipped grain to North Dakota, paid duty and realized 14 cents a bushel more than if sold in Canada; and that on account of this better price, farms in North Dakota are worth about one-third more than in Manitoba.

Saskatchewan appears almost solid for reciprocity; in Alberta it is thought only the Calgary and Medicine Hat opposition candidates have a chance to win out, and in Manitoba the ten seats are expected to break even.

The speeches of President Taft and other United States statesmen favoring reciprocity are being freely quoted and circulated in Canada to show, it is alleged, the evident desire on the part of the United States to annex Canada. It is thought this will turn many English residents of Western Canada against reciprocity.

DENEEN HURT IN DOING HERO ACT

Tries to Hold Horse Scared By His Auto and Is Thrown.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 4.—In an attempt to prevent a collision between his automobile and a two-seated buggy near Glenarm, about fifteen miles from this city, Governor Charles S. Deneen was seriously injured Sunday afternoon when he fell, suffering a compound fracture of his left ankle.

The governor, seeing that a collision was unavoidable, sprang upon the running board of the machine in which he was riding and grasped the bridle of the horses to keep them from plunging and injuring Mrs. I. B. Lloyd and children, the occupants of the vehicle. In some manner he fell with his left leg under him.

He was brought to this city and is confined to his room in the executive mansion.

Brakes Failed to Hold.

Going uphill, the brakes failed to hold the heavy car and its occupants and it started downhill backward. Looking back, the governor saw a team of horses attached to a two-seated conveyance coming toward them up the hill. The governor, seeing that the automobile would hit the surrey, grasped at the horses to keep them from running away, thinking of protecting the occupants of the surrey.

When the automobile struck the vehicle the governor fell. The force of the collision broke the rear right wheel of the vehicle and the women and children were thrown to the ground but none of them was injured.

KILLED TRYING TO SAVE FRIEND'S HAT

Harry Saywell of Cleveland, Ohio, Falls From Automobile.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Harry Saywell, treasurer of the Colonial theater of Cleveland and well known in theatrical circles, died early Sunday at Lakeside hospital from a fractured skull received an hour before by a fall from an automobile. His wife and several friends were in the car with him at the time. Saywell jumped on to the running board in an attempt to seize the hat of a friend which had blown off, and fell to the street.

Loses an Eye.

Escanaba, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alderman John Garrity, while at work removing the machinery from the old Iron Port mill, was struck in the eye by a rusty spike, receiving an injury which necessitated the removal of his eye.

BEHEADED IN CAGE IN MINE

Five Men Are Instantly Killed in Butte-Superior Workings.

Sixth Dies of Injuries Later —Bodies of Victims Chopped Up.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 4.—Caught in a vortex of whirling steel drills while being hoisted to the surface in a mine cage, five miners met instant death in the shaft of the Black Rock mine of the Butte-Superior company early Sunday, and a sixth person died a few hours later in the hospital from the injuries he received.

In their anxiety to reach the surface, the workmen jumped on the cage upon which the dull steel was being taken to the surface. It is presumed that in their crowding they dislodged the steel shafts from the box in which they were held, and these caught in the wall plates on the sides, the ends whirling with terrific force among the men on the cage, clearing the deck of miners, fairly mincing their bodies as the steel bounded back and forth, and sweeping them into the dump 1,400 feet below.

Heads Cut Off.

Charles Green, station tender, was hurled from the upper deck of the cage to the lower level by the impact when the brakes were applied, and was decapitated as well as all the other miners with the exception of James Lee, whose head was mashed into a pulp.

Thomas Dennihay, station tender, pleaded with the miners not to board the cage while the steel was being hoisted, as the act was in violation of the company's rules, but they passed him by, as they were anxious to reach the surface before "tally."

All stepped on the car below the 1,000-foot level, with the exception of Charles Green and James Lee. Dennihay left the cage at that station and was succeeded by his partner, Green.

The signal to hoist had been given and the cage had shot up to a point between the 300 and 400-foot levels when the steel began to move. It is the conjecture that it became a death-dealing mass in a moment, for one drill is stuck in a wall plate and bent double.

Hurled Down 1,400 feet.

Instantly the men were crushed and torn, while their bodies were hurled with tremendous force off the deck to the dump just below the 1,600-foot level, where the fragments of flesh and mangled torsos were found in about three feet of water.

ALL MARKETS ARE CLOSED

Copper and Grain Exchanges Are Observing Labor Day.

Today being a legal holiday, there were no market reports available, either in copper or in grain.

Horace J. Stevens of Houghton, Mich., the copper specialist, says: "Taking everything into consideration, I fail to see any very bright prospect of materially better prices in the copper share market until the present extended political agitation is decided, one way or the other. We are rapidly edging into the presidential campaign of 1912, and presidential years are always off years in business. Furthermore, both political parties are so badly torn by internal dissensions that political prophecies for 1912 are mere guesses. Better prices for the copper metal and for copper shares will come in time, but I fear we must wait another year, at least, before even the optimist can say that there is any boom in the metal or the mining shares. In my judgment this is not a good time in which to buy, for the man who is willing to wait another year, or possibly two years, for his profits."

Red Warrior has been displaying considerable strength since the connection of the upper level from the north drift of the 50-foot level, showing a splendid body of ore.

Calumet & Arizona, with copper at 12¾ cents, and its output curtailed, is more than earning its present dividends. These dividends are $4 per share per annum. As there are 628,500 shares on which to pay this dividend, the payments require a total of $2,514,000 a year. It is planned to construct a new smelter at a cost of about $1,500,000.

The Kamloops Copper company, Duluth, is getting ready to build the first unit of its own smelter. There will be an aerial tram to connect it with the mines.

The Butte - Ballaklava Copper company has resumed shipping from its new ore bodies on the 1,200 and 1,400-foot levels. Here a five-foot vein gives four ounces of silver and 5½ per cent copper to the ton. It is hoped that this stock will soon again be on the dividend list.

The Butte-Alex Scott has many millions of tons of ore blocked out and in sight. Directors are considering whether it should be sacrificed at the present prices or should be held until prices of copper are more satisfactory.

It is expected that the building of the new spur to the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific railway for the transportation of ore from the Tuolumne mines to the Washoe smelter will be completed and in use by Sept. 10. The new steel engine house at the mines will be ready early in November.

The Calumet & Sonora has completed the installation of an electrical hoist at its Catalina shaft.

The production of the Calumet & Arizona smelter for the month of August, 1911, was 4,650,000 pounds blister copper.

FLOWERS AT FUNERALS MUST BEAR UNION LABEL.

Chicago, Sept. 4. — Floral pieces without union labels are not emblems of respect when placed on the biers of union men, according to sentiment expressed at the meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

Louis Heittmann was the delegate from the florists' union who entered a plea against Chicago Beer Drivers' local having purchased a non-union wreath for the funeral of one of its foremost members.

Heittmann declared the act was an indignity to the deceasd as well as unfair to the florists' union. His view was supported by numerous other delegates, who urged some action to prevent a repetition.

INTERESTED IN DULUTH'S FUTURE

J. Horace Harding of New York Has Real Estate in the City.

The extraordinary commercial development that has taken place in Duluth during the last four years has made quite an impression on J. Horace Harding of New York, who has been visiting the city for the first time since 1907. Mr. Harding owns a large amount of Duluth real estate and is also financially interested in the development of water power on the St. Louis river. Mr. Harding declared that Duluth had a wonderful future. He remarked that the investments that the United States Steel corporation is making here would be a powerful factor to push the city ahead.

Speaking of business conditions in general, Mr. Harding said he did not see much chance of a great deal of improvement, until the hue and cry against corporations should become less popular. That, he said, tended to frighten capital. It was right and proper to regulate corporations, but not to go after them in a manner that prevented them from doing business, kept them from getting funds and tended to stagnate commercial enterprises generally, he said. He cited Germany as a country that treated its corporations well and thus fostered its own prosperity. In the German markets, for example, the demand for copper had increased 10 per cent during the last ten years, whereas in America there had been scarcely any increase in the demand for that metal.

Mr. Harding, accompanied by Mrs. Harding, has been staying at the Spalding. Mr. Harding was the guest of W. L. Harkness on the yacht Gundlda, which was recently lost off the north shore of Lake Superior. Mr. and Mrs Harding and Mr. and Mrs. Harkness left last evening for New York.

CANADA'S GROWTH IS WONDERFUL

A. D. McRae Says Population Will Increase 8 Per Cent This Year.

A. D. McRae of Vancouver, B. C., a former Duluth business man, of the firm of Davidson & McRae, is in the city on a business trip. He is enthusiastic over Western Canada, and predicts that the Dominion will make rapid strides hereafter.

In speaking of the development of that country, he stated that the immigration for this year will be about 400,000 or an increase in the Dominion's population of 8 per cent. Such an increase in the population of the United States would mean an influx of 7,000,000 people.

Referring to the growth of cities, he cites Vancouver as a very progressive city, whose building permits for the entire year, based upon the report for the first six months which amounted to $9,000,000, will total about $18,000,000. He said that Winnipeg's building permits will be about the same figure.

The crop yield of Canada this year will be heavy, and he estimates that the total wheat crop, after the frost has destroyed some, which he believes will be about 1 or 2 per cent of the amount now uncut, will be in the neighborhood of 200,000,000 bushels, against 110,000,000 bushels last year. The flax crop will be four times as great as last year, 75 per cent of which has already been cut.

Col. A. D. Davidson, land commissioner for the Canadian Northern railroad, who has been in the city for two days, left last evening for Winnipeg, where he will meet Sir William Mackenzie, president of the road. The two will leave for Vancouver, where they will join Sir Donald Mann, vice president of the road. They will then make a visit over the entire road, coming to Duluth about Sept. 23.

R. J. Mackenzie, one of the directors of the Mackenzie & Mann company, and a son of Sir William, was in the city Saturday, accompanied by his wife. They were met here by M. H. MacLeod, general manager and chief engineer of the Canadian Northern. All left on the evening train for Winnipeg, their home city.

NOTES OF BOYS' DEPARTMENT

With the opening of school the schedule of the swimming periods for the boys' department members will change. The new hours follow: High school students, Tuesday and Thursdays at 2:15; intermediates, Wednesday at 4:15, and Saturday at 9 o'clock; evening classes, Thursday and Friday at 7 o'clock.

During the month of September, Mr. Batchelor will conduct a special gymnasium class on Monday and Wednesday evenings preparatory to the opening gymnastic exhibition to be given the first week in September.

Commencing tonight the boys' building will be open every night. During the month of August it was open only during the day.

Oct. 1, the fall activities will commence. There will be a grand opening the first week, of all gymnasium classes, annual dinner of all committeemen, Sunday meetings, Bible classes, clubs, etc. There will be various socials, for schools, and groups of boys.

TWO BODIES RECOVERED.

Five Victims of Collision Yet Remain in Maumee Bay.

Toledo, Ohio., Sept. 4.—The bodies of William Caroll and William Blatt, who were drowned with five other city officials and employes early Saturday morning when their launch was struck by a barge in Maumee bay, were recovered Sunday afternoon.

Dynamiting was later resorted to locate the remaining five bodies. The search, which was interrupted at nightfall, was resumed this morning.

In nearly all the churches yesterday, regardless of denomination, prayers were offered for the drowned men, and the ministers spoke of the disaster.

CHURCH BUYS UP AND BURNS POOL FIXTURES.

Vinson, Okla., Sept. 4.—Cheering and singing hymns, the members of the Christian church here yesterday applied the torch to the furniture and fixtures of the town's only pool hall, after the articles had been piled in the main street and saturated with oil.

Instead of trying to close up the resort, the church people bought it. Immediately after the conflagration the town council met and passed an ordinance forbidding the operation of pool halls in the city limits.

TAYLORITES WIN PENNANT

Three Straight From Duluth Put Red Sox Far Ahead.

"Desmond Day" Brings 3,800 Fans Out for Double Bill.

"With the pennant race over, and the season about done for we broke all records for attendance at the ball park yesterday. I feel that this was largely due to the efforts of The Herald, and I want to thank you sincerely for what you did. It was a great crowd, and we had about 3,800 paid admissions."

"JAWN" DESMOND.

Some 3,800 loyal fans were at the ball park yesterday and the Speed Boys got stage fright in its most disastrous form. They were way off form and Superior drove a couple of more nails into the pennant pole by taking both games, the first 6 to 4, and the second 8 to 6. Baseball enthusiasts from both sides of the bay responded loyally to the "Desmond day" appeal, and the attendance yesterday must have gone a long way toward patching up the shortages that existed. They were been fairly good since at that, and some sensational catches by Miller, a home run by the same artist, and some fast work by Kramer of the big mitts brought the stands to their feet on a number of occasions.

The Red Sox won in the seventh inning of the first game. Lippold singled, went to second on Miller's error, and third on Jensen's single. Then Bancroft dumped one to Blancke, who got it back to Hargrove in fine style, and from the stands Elliott's decision which allowed Lippold to score, looked pretty raw. Bennett fanned, and then Landry sent one into left field for three bases, scoring Jensen and Bancroft. He scored on Dolan's out.

The Taylorites won the second game in the first frame, the first five men up all scoring. Two errors, a hit batter, a single, a double and two sacrifice flies did the business. The 8ox pulled into the lead in the seventh. Leber got first on an error. Menefee and Miller singled, Hargrove walked, and Krame rpoked out his third two-bagger, scoring all three. Three runs in the ninth for the Reds wound things up however, when a walk, a single, an error, another single and a double did the business.

WINONA AND LA CROSSE DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a pitching duel between Watson and Dauss in the first game here yesterday Watson drew a little the better of the bargain and pulled out with a 2 to 1 victory over Winona. Winona took the second game, which went only seven innings, and was something of a farce. Bond and Davey, fielders, did the leaving.

SENATORS BUNCH HITS AND SWAMP INDIANS.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Five hits, three after the side should have been retired, gave Columbus a safe lead in the fourth over Indianapolis. Four hits, a pass and an error ahead of Packard's homer off White in the sixth brought seven more runs. Catcher Jackley shared batting honors with Perring. Walsh retired with a mashed finger in the first inning. Two of Packard's seven strikeouts were secured in the fifth with the bases full and none out. Score: R. H. E.

STATEMENTS OF WRESTLERS.

"I am going to wrestle Hack this afternoon with as much confidence as I ever went about anything in my life. Should defeat come, I shall admit that I was defeated at my best, for I have done all within my power to make me fit and ready for the hardest kind of a match.

"As I have said before, I expect to win; but it will be the hardest struggle of my career, for in Hackenschmidt I am meeting one of the strongest men in the world. I hope the contest will be a clean one, for I do not want a technicalvictory such as my first and only meeting with 'Hack' was called."—Gotch.

"It is true that I have been nervous and fretful, but I have no fear of Gotch. It is part of my nature to be nervous; the continual waiting and the eagerness to get into the battle makes me that way.

"I never did boast about what I have done, and I shall not attempt to say what I will do. All I can say is that I am prepared for a desperate match. I will try to show today that I am Gotch's master, and will do all within my power to make the match a clean one."—Hackenschmidt.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Gotch and Hackenschmidt impatiently waited to begin a desperate struggle for the premier wrestling honors of the world today.

Each man before entering the ring declared himself to be in the finest possible condition, and each declared that the contest must go to a finish. Hackenschmidt, the challenger, insisted that the match is a continuation of the one he abandoned unfinished with Gotch three years ago. Gotch, the champion, said he would pin the shoulders of the Russian to the mat beyond all questlon.

In Chicago, on the night of April 3, 1908, Gotch and Hackenschmidt wrestled for the championship of the world. After two hours and three minutes of desperate defense, Hackenschmidt admitted himself defeated, and to the Iowa farmer was awarded the championship of the world.

Drawn by the promise of a finish struggle, thousands of wrestling enthusiasts gathered from all corners of America and even from Europe to witness the contest today.

Stand in Line at Park.

Hundreds of visitors were turned away from hotels last night unable to secure accommodations, and many of them spent the night near the baseball park standing in line to obtain general admission tickets. From the East came many sports, and the Pacific coast contributed a quota, but it remained for Iowa, the home state of Gotch, to send the largest delegation. Humboldt, where Gotch has lived since boyhood, was represented by nearly all of its male population.

Late last night the line began to form for tickets, which were placed on sale at 11 o'clock this morning. Scores stood in line waiting their opportunity to sell their places or dispose of their tickets at a premium early. Ticket sales indicated that by far the largest crowd that ever witnessed a wrestling match would be in the park when the men entered the ring at 3 o'clock. Reserved seats were snapped up in large quantities by late arrivals.

There was a different spirit in the camps of the rivals at breakfast. Gotch was all confidence. He announced that he would take a brisk walk and then rest until time to go to the arena. He spent much of his time greeting his Iowa admirers and smilingly telling them that he would be the victor.

Roller Explains Nervousness.

Hackenschmidt, on the other hand, was a trifle nervous.

"Hack is nervous, but his nervousness does not come from fear but from eagerness," said Dr. B. F. Roller, the foreign invader's chief trainer. "His worry is not because of Gotch, but to get into the ring and have it over with. If he loses, he will lose honorably to a better man; but he won't give up or hold out."

"Gotch is in the best condition of his career," said Emil Klank, Gotch's manager. "I certainly believe that he will win, but it will be a long desperate struggle. Nobody can tell what will happen immediately after time is called and it will be useless to speculate upon it, so far as making our plan is concerned. I will say, however, Frank will be guided solely by what 'Hack' does."

Two hundred and fifty policemen were in the grounds to maintain order and to see that the crowd was seated rapidly.

Betting on the contest was slow although several small wagers have been reported. It was predicted in Gotch's camp that the champion would enter the ring a 1 to 2 favorite, while the odds would be 7 to 5 against Hackenschmidt.

Hack Apologizes.

Hackenschmidt today apologized to his trainers for his petulence: "I know I've been rather short tempered lately," said the big fellow, "but I have no criticism as to my training. I am not nervous over the match, but I'm tired of the routine of training, I've been at it nearly five months, in one way and another, and it will be a great relief to actually get my hands on the man I have been training to conquer."

The Russian did not awaken until 9 a. m. when he was served with coffee and toast in his room. This was followed by a two-mile walk, after which there was more coffee and toast with four soft-boiled eggs in addition. He planned to rest until 1:30 p. m., starting at that hour in his manager's automobile for the arena. He said he had purchased a ticket to sail on the Olympic Sept. 9 for England.

DULUTH GOLFERS DEFEAT HOUGHTON

One More Victory Will Give Northland Club the Calverly Cup.

Northland Country club golfers won the fourth of the Houghton-Duluth golf tourneys at the local club Saturday afternoon. The day was ideal for golf and a good sized crowd watched the play. R. T. Goodell played with the Houghton team, and he and Mayor Cullum played one of the best matches of the day, the mayor pulling out by a two-point margin.

This is the third victory for the local club in the series for the Calverly cup. Four wins will give the Duluth golfers the trophy. The next match will be played at Houghton next spring.

The scores Saturday were:

DULUTH-SUPERIOR LEAGUE

OAK HALLS WIN AMATUER LEAGUE FLAG.

The Oak Halls cinched the pennant in the Duluth-Superior league by winning from the Pease team of Superior, 6 to 5, yesterday. The Oak Halls also won the pennant last year.

Yesterday's game was an exciting one. With the Pease leading, 5 to 2, at the beginning of the eighth inning, the Duluth boys went up and scored two in the eighth and two in the ninth for the victory. Olson had the better Bradley in the pitching end, while the Oak Halls gave their pitcher perfect support and the Pease team had five bobbles. Score: R. H. E.

Batteries—Bradley and Mawdale; A. Olson and Hussey. Umpire—Mahan.

BIG DULUTHS' RALLY FALLS ONE RUN SHORT.

The Big Duluths made a game rally in the last two innings of their game with Duluth Heights yesterday, getting twelve runs in the eighth and ninth, but the Heights had too big a lead and the Big Duluths fell one run short of victory. Score: R. H. E.

Duluth Heights	4 2 4 0 2 1 0 2 0	15	23 7
Big Duluths	0 0 0 0 1 0 1 9 3	14	19 7

Woodruffs Forfeit.

The Woodruffs forfeited a game to the Kenny & Anker team yesterday, the Woodruffs being unable to assemble their men.

U. C. T. TEAM BEATS THE ELKS

The Duluth U. C. T. baseball team defeated the team of the Duluth B. P. O. E. in a swift, vigorous game Saturday afternoon at Athletic park by a score of 5 to 3. The Travelers would probably have rolled up a considerably larger score had it not been for the quick work of the star player of the Elks, "Cy" Bennett, who is center fielder of the Superior team. The members of the two teams were as follows:

U. C. T.—Ray Fenton, Geiselman, Hoar, Olson, Hickey, Burrow, Kleffman, J. Kleffman and Booth.

Elks—Bennett, Culbertson, Tresise, Maitland, Wegman, Smith, Goodmanson, Stephens, Bailey, Roulo, Staudt, Randall, Oppel and North.

PITCHER FARTHING TO BE REINSTATED.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 4.—Pitcher Farthing is to be reinstated by the Lincoln management at once. Farthing was sold to the Chicago Americans last fall for $5,000 and turned back by them to the local Western league club this spring. He has been benched or suspended most of the summer for inability to get into pitching form.

TWO INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE RACE

Harry Knight Wins 200-Mile Sweepstates on Columbus Track.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Two men, a driver and a mechanician, slightly injured, two wrecked cars, a world's record made for the fastest contest mile on a dirt track and Harry Knight of Indianapolis, driving a Westcott machine, winning in 3 hours and 45 minutes, in brief tells the story of 200-mile sweepstakes race held here yesterday afternoon. The race was held at the driving park under the direction of the American Automobile association.

The injured were Lee Frayer, driver of the Redwing Firestone-Columbus car, and Ben Lawwell of Columbus, substitute mechanician on a Buick, driven at the first of the race by his brother Frank, and at the time of the accident steered by Ramy of Cincinnati, whose machine, early in the race, went out of commission.

Both men are in hospitals, but will recover.

As Frayer was entering his eighty-sixth mile, speeding little short of a mile a minute, the right rear tire on his machine blew up. His machine skidded seventy-five feet and was hurled into a row of fence posts. The machine executed two complete somersaults sideways and landed right side up.

DAVIS IS CITY TENNIS CHAMPION

Lauren Kennedy Loses Five-Set Match to the Challenger.

Winning three out of five sets from Lauren Kennedy, former city champion, N. F. Davis, winner of this year's singles tournament, took the city tennis title from Kennedy Saturday afternoon, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, 3-6, 5-4. The result was rather a surprise for local tennis experts, as Kennedy had not lost a match in nine years he has been playing tennis at the head of the lakes.

Kennedy has been out of the city a large part of the time this year, and has not been playing as much as formerly, but he showed practically his old-time form Saturday, and Davis 4-5 serves scarce credit for his victory. The win gives Davis possession of the Hartman trophy.

In the last set Kennedy made a beautiful sports, bringing the score up to 4-3 for himself after Davis had secured a lead of 3-1, but he lost the last two, giving the set and match to his opponent.

Detail scores:

First Set.

Davis won, 6-3. Points won by games:

Davis	3	7	8	3	4	1	1	5	6	—41
Kennedy	5	5	6	5	2	2	4	3	4	—36

Davis drove out 13 times; Kennedy drove out 19 times. Davis netted 10 times; Kennedy netted 11 times. Davis made 10 place shots; Kennedy made 11 place shots. Davis made two double faults; Kennedy made one double fault.

Second Set.

Kennedy won, 6-2.

Kennedy	4	4	5	4	5	1	6	—33
Davis	0	2	1	7	1	3	4	4	—22

Davis made 16 outs, 6 nets, 5 place shots and no doubles; Kennedy made 6 outs, 10 nets, 11 place shots and one double.

Third Set.

Davis won, 6-4.

Davis	2	1	6	1	9	1	7	5	4	4	—41
Kennedy	5	4	4	4	7	5	3	1	1	—38

Davis made 17 outs, 7 nets, 15 places and no doubles; Kennedy made 12 outs, 13 nets, 14 places and one double.

Fourth Set.

Kennedy won, 6-3.

Kennedy	4	4	0	2	6	4	4	4	4	—32
Davis	6	0	4	4	1	1	2	1	—23

Davis made 15 outs, 6 nets and 2 places; Kennedy made 9 outs, 12 nets and 11 places.

Fifth Set.

Davis won, 6-4.

Davis	4	4	2	6	0	0	1	4	6	—31
Kennedy	2	2	4	4	4	4	2	3	2	—32

Davis made 13 outs, 8 nets and 8 places; Kennedy made 17 outs, 6 nets and 11 places.

Walter Fraker defeated Coolidge Le Suer in the finals of the Junior singles, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3. This gives him possession of Dickerman cup. The match was well played, and both players look like comers.

GOOD FEATURES AT THE ORPHEUM

Nat Wills and Musical Act Score With First Night Audience.

A young man in a red jersey who keeps fourteen punching bags going at the same time; Nat Wills, the millionaire tramp; a stunning young woman who sings from the back of a milk white horse; six young men who tear loose on saxaphones and leave the audience red handed from applause; a very good song and dance team; an amusing sketch, and a good acrobatic act—these constitute a "bully good show" at the Orpheum this week.

Nat Wills is the headliner, and a good headliner, but this week's bill keeps Nat traveling a pace to maintain his position, and there are two or three other acts that trot Nat a good lively heat for the applause purse.

The Six Brown Brothers probably set the pace last evening. The Brown Brothers have a musical act of the usual type as far as their first part is concerned. They play cornets and the xylophone, and then come out in front of the curtain and begin the really amusing part of their act with a sextet of saxaphones. A blackface comedian keeps things moving all the time the act is on the stage, and supplies comedy in plenty. His stunts with the saxaphone, and the amusing rendition of popular airs stopped the show for a time last evening.

Nat M. Wills, tramp monologist extraordinary is funny. His monologue consists of anecdotes of a recent European trip, and contains some new jokes and also some old ones, for as Nat says himself," the old ones go best. Which he proved to the satisfaction of the audience last evening, by springing one that originated in the court of Pharoah. It drew perhaps the biggest laugh of the act, and this let gave the performer himself a chance to laugh. The best feature of this act, however, is his parodies. He has several amusing parodies of popular airs, and he has a real voice—something rare in comedians.

La Titcomb has a most spectacular and effectious act. She appears perched on the back of a beautiful white horse and sings several songs. The horse is then put through some classic dance steps, and she closes her turn by some beautiful serpentine dancing on horseback. The electrical effects are mostly elaborate, and La Titcomb's unquestionable charms and the graceful horse make a most charming stage picture.

The afore mentioned young man with the fourteen punching bags has an act that is worthy of a more important position on the bill than the opener. Harry Seaback is his name, and he claims a bag punching championship. He certainly is an extraordinary performer with the bags, and his feat of keeping fourteen going at once, is nothing short of marvelous to anyone who knows how difficult it is to master the feat of keeping one bag moving. He is assisted by an attractive young woman, who makes up in appearance what she lacks in voice.

The sketch this week is a farce comedy called "Mrs. Potter's First." It is a nonsensical melange of absurd situations but it keeps moving, and it is well played by three capable actors. It kept last evening's audience roaring throughout its presentation, and as that is the principal reason a vaudeville sketch has for existence, criticism is disarmed.

Mack Williams and Ida Segal have a smart well dressed, and attractive little song and dance turn, with some pretty costumes and clever clog steps. They more than "got by" last night.

The Leas Troupe closes the show, replacing the Pedersen Brothers. One of the Pedersens was badly injured by a fall in Minneapolis Friday, and the substitution was made. The Leas work on parallel steel wires, and have a really remarkable acrobatic act.

The Kinodrome and the concert orchestra complete the bill which will continue all week with a daily matinee, a special Labor day matinee being given on this afternoon.

COMEDY ACT AT THE EMPRESS

"A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps" Feature New Vaudeville Bill.

"A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps" features the new vaudeville bill the first performance of which was given yesterday at the Empress theater.

The act is uproariously funny. Yesterday it proved to be the big noise on the bill. The people are all comedians and are past masters at the art of funmaking. It is partly a trick act and many mechanical devices are used.

In the act there is always something out of the ordinary happening, and all of the happenings make fun. The act is a big surprise package that unfolds itself gradually to the great delight and enjoyment of the spectators.

Charles Montrell is a juggler and balancer. He juggles everything from a cigar to household furniture. He is as strong as an ox, seemingly, and his touch is as light as a feather. His performance is wonderful. He does his stunts quickly and makes them all interesting. His act is out of the ordinary in that he has left out some of the more ordinary tricks and has substituted new ones in their stead.

The Two Roses are two pretty girls who have a dainty singing and dancing turn. The girls were a big hit with yesterday's three large audiences.

"Ambition" is an emotional sketch played by Carlyle Moore and Kathlyn Palmer. It is a highly entertaining feature of the new bill. Both actors are talented. The act is well written and a special setting is used.

Edward Clark is a character actor. He appears three different times, once as a man of 50, a girl of 20 and a boy of 13. Mr. Clark's girl is particularly entertaining.

The performance is concluded by the usual moving pictures, which are more entertaining than ever. There will be three performances daily, one each afternoon and two each evening during the remainder of the week. A special Labor day matinee will be given today.

Lyceum Notes.

Hosts of theater-goers throughout the country who remember Trixie Friganza's splendid work in "The American Ideal," will be anxious to greet her in her latest and greatest hit, "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," which comes to the Lyceum tonight and Tuesday night, with a special matinee today, direct from a run of more than 200 performances at the famous La Salle Opera house, Chicago. She is surrounded by the same clever and meritorious host of more than eighty funmakers who supported her during the engagement in the Windy City, even the famous and original La Salle beauty chorus being persuaded to appear on tour for the first time. "The Sweetest Girl in Paris" contains no less than sixteen musical numbers, all from the pen of the ever popular Joe Howard, and three of them are celebrated as "Friganza Hits."

These, however, are only three of the sixteen big song hits contained in the play. "Neither Man." "Boys, Boys, Boys." "I Want a Man." "I Love All the Girls From A to Z." "Mary's Lamb." "There's Nothing Too Good for You." "The Osculation Bombashey" and a delightful intermezzo called "The Sweetest Girl in Paris."

Miss Friganza has the support of a company of the utmost merit, composed, in fact, of her associates who created their respective roles at the La Salle in August of last year. Mr. Askin has also sent along with Miss Friganza the original La Salle Opera house beauty chorus. Furthermore, "The Sweetest Girl in Paris" has been equipped with an entirely new outfit of scenery and costumes.

The book of this play is from the pen of Addison Burkhardt, who first won national fame as the author of "The Runaways." The lyrics are all by Collin Davis, who turned the "Three Twins" from a first night failure into a consistent success. While the music is Joe Howard's—the most widely-known composer of popular music in America.

The first performance for the farewell week of the Gus A. Forbes Stock company at the Lyceum theater will be given Wednesday afternoon of this week. "The Wolf," Eugene Walters' great play, will be the bill, and the play will be repeated every evening for the remainder of the week and next Sunday evening, and there will be Saturday and Sunday matinees.

This play is a fitting climax to the season of interesting productions which Mr. Forbes has offered, and the advance sale for the performances this week has been large. "The Wolf" is the most interesting of the plays that Eugene Walters has given to the American stage. His other works include "Paid in Full," which has been seen in Duluth, and "The Easiest Way," a much discussed play which has not as yet come this way. "The Wolf" is quite different from either of these, and is a play with an absorbing interest and thrilling moments. The performance Wednesday afternoon will open the week's engagement for Mr. Forbes.

WHITE MAN DIES IN RACE BATTLE

Further Outbreaks Are Feared —Negroes Leaving Durant, Okla.

Durant, Okla., Sept. 4.—Horace Gribble, a white farmer, was killed in a battle between five white men and five negroes near Caddo. The white men declare they were fired upon while passing the home of a negro named Daniels, while the negroes say the whites threw a stick of dynamite at the house and then commenced firing.

Feeling against the negroes is bitter and further race trouble is feared.

A stick of dynamite, with the fuse partly burned, was found near the hut after the encounter. After the fight the white men fled to Caddo and told of the fight. Officers hastened to the scene of the encounter and found Gribble's body. The negroes did not know they had killed the man until informed by the authorities.

The negroes here, fearing retaliation by the whites, are sacrificing their crops and property in order to get away.

The clash resulted from race trouble which has existed for the last month, during which one white woman was attacked and killed and three attempts at similar crimes have been made by negroes.

NEW McNAMARA STAMP APPROVED

It Must Not Be Placed on Address Side of Envelope, However.

Washington, Sept. 4.—The design of a new McNamara defense fund stamp submitted to the postoffice department by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, has been approved.

The new stamp differs materially from the original McNamara stamp. The word "stamp" is eliminated, the coloring is lighter and it is octagonal instead of oblong in form. Under the regulations of the postoffice department, the new stamp may not be placed on the address side of an envelope or printing, but can be placed on the reverse side. If the stamp should be placed on the address side, the letter would be sent to the dead letter office as unmailable.

SWALLOWS OPEN SAFETY PIN

Carlton Infant Is Hurried to St. Mary's Hospital By Automobile.

Carlton, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. H. Hassing's 13-month-old son, Barton, swallowed an open safety pin about noon yesterday. The local physicans were unable to recover it and he was hurried by automobile to St. Mary's hospital at Duluth, where an X-Ray examination yesterday failed to locate it. A radiograph will be taken today.

FIRE DESTROYS PART OF FREIGHT HOUSE.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the northeast end of the old Singer freighthouse at Morse street and Lake avenue last night, doing damage amounting to several hundred dollars. It was used by the Booth company as a storehouse.

The alarm was turned in at 10:33, but when the department reached the spot it was seen that the eastern part of the building was ablaze and beyond control. The department concentrated its attention on saving the two-story portion of the structure to the west and was successful. In twenty minutes the fire was under control. Two explosions, probably caused by inflammable materials stored in the structure, marked the fire. It was a spectacular fire, and was witnessed by a big crowd from the central part of the city. There is little freight kept in the building at this time of year.

AUGUST BUILDING MAKES GOOD SHOWING.

During the month of August, 1910, the building permit granted to the Minnesota Steel company for the steel plant work amounting to $10,000,000 brought the totals far beyond the usual mark. If it had not been for this huge grant the totals for August, 1911, would have shown a substantial increase in building work.

During the month just passed the building inspector's office issued 126 permits, totalling $278,910. The August, 1910 totals, excluding the steel plant permit, were only $195,140, and the increase in building therefore, over last year amounts to $83,700. The buildings going up this year are of a more expensive class as is shown by the fact that in spite of the increased total, there were twenty-eight less permits issued during August this year than last.

During the month the department also tested 200 electric meters. Eight house-moving permits were issued, and six electric sign permits and six elevator licenses were granted. The total fees for August, 1911, were $552. Last year the steel plant fees brought the total up to $1,415.

GOOD TEMPLARS HOLD PICNIC AT RABBIT LAKE.

Cuyuna, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large picnic was held yesterday in Pine Grove on the shores of Rabbit lake by the I. O. G. T. lodge of Cuyuna. There was a large attendance from Ironton, Crosby, Deerwood and the various towns of the Cuyuna range. Music was furnished by the brass band of Deerwood. The Good Templars reorganized their lodge here in July of this year and now have a membership of over 100.

GENEVA BEACH HOTEL BURNED WITH CONTENTS.

Alexandria, Minn., Sept. 4.—The Geneva Beach hotel, on Lake Geneva, two miles east of the city, a popular resort, burned Saturday. The building was of frame construction. All the furnishings were a total loss. The origin of the fire is not known. The Geneva Beach hotel was built in 1883 and was owned and managed by J. H. Letson. The loss is estimated at $12,000, partially covered by insurance.

Shot His Nephew.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 4.—Angered, it is said, to the point of insanity over a line fence dispute, Gunder Chinous, aged 50, shot and killed his nephew, Harry Chinous at his farm, ten miles south of Blanchardville, in the town of Argyle, Lafayette county.

Expected to Recover.

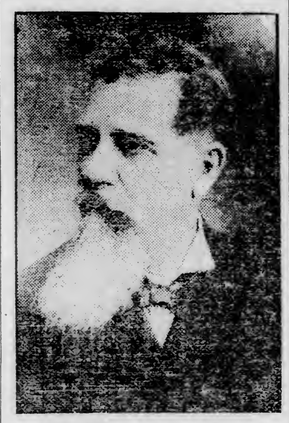

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 4.—Congressman J. P. Latta of Nebraska, who underwent an operation ten days ago, is making fast headway and there seems little doubt that he will completely recover.

REYES STONED BY MEXICAN MOB

Aged General Is Attacked in Streets of Capital and Robbed.

City of Mexico, Sept. 4.—Stoned and forcibly robbed of 3,000 pesos by a mob of Maderistas, in the principal thoroughfare of the capital, Gen. Bernardo Reyes, candidate for the presidency in opposition to Francisco I. Madero, was forced yesterday to abandon an effort to address his constituents and to run the gauntlet of a jeering crowd, upon whom the police had received orders not to fire except as a last resort.

Repeatedly the police charged the turbulent element, and the records of the Red Cross, the White Cross and the commissary account for forty-three wounded as a result of the day's disorders. Most of these were injured by stones, but many show bruises and gashes made by the sabers of the mounted police.

Climax of Riot.

The stoning of the aged general was the climax of a riot which began about 10 o'clock in the morning and had not been entirely quelled at a late hour last night. Since its beginning police and soldiers have patrolled the streets, but because of the government's desire not to use the iron hand, the heavily armed horsemen had but an intimidatory effect upon the rabble.

The Maderistas crowded about Reyes' machine, making progress difficult. Stepping from the car, the general rebuked the mob for its conduct, but his words provoked louder jeers, supplemented by a rain of stones and other missiles. The automobile was abandoned, its occupants walked away from the rowdies, who followed and threw stones.

Once from the crowd, Reyes made the discovery that he had been robbed of 3,000 pesos ($1,500.)

THRONGS ATTEND LEISER OPENING

Interest Shown by Visitors Makes Reception an Auspicious Event.

Crowds of interested visitors thronged the new ladies' furnishing store of the Leiser company, 24 West Superior street, during the opening reception, which was held Saturday afternoon and evening. The artistic decorations, the elaborate and beautiful fixtures, the splendid lines of the latest wearing apparel for women and misses, the brilliant illuminations and the sweet strains of music, all drew the people inside as fast as those who left made room for new comers.

A unique feature of the decorations consisted of the oil-painted landscape, which forms the border. The furnishings and fixtures were of the finest quality of hog oak. The goods on display included about everything the feminine heart could desire in the way of cloaks and suits, all duplicates of the latest fashions of Paris. The store was lighted with 200 Tungsten lamps. Beautiful souvenirs of the establishment, to the number of 5,000 and more, were given away during the reception.

The Leiser company has other stores in New York, Chicago, Quincy, Ill., and Lima, O. B. Blumenthal, manager of the Duluth store, was formerly with those at Chicago and Quincy. C. C. Pray, associated with Mr. Blumenthal, was also formerly with the Chicago store.

WINSLOW HEADS LAW INSTITUTE

Wisconsin Judge Is Elected President at Boston Meeting.

Boston, Sept. 4.—Reports of special committees and officers on matters pertaining to criminology and law occupied the attention of the delegates to the annual convention of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology at its closing session. A report was given on "Indeterminate Sentences," and release on parole, by Albert H. Hall of Minnesota, and on "State Branch and New Membership," by Eugene A. Gilmore of Wisconsin. The following officers were elected:

President, Chief Justice John B. Winslow of the Wisconsin supreme court; vice presidents, Dr. Morton Prince, Boston; Justice Charles A. De Coursey of the Massachusetts supreme court; George W. Kirchwey of Columbia university; Prof. James W. Gardner of the University of Illinois, and Col. Harvey D. Carbaugh, United States army of Chicago; secretary, Prof. Eugene A. Gilmore of the University of Wisconsin; treasurer, Bronson Winthrop, New York; chairman of executive board, Prof. John H. Wigmore of Northwestern university, Illinois.

CANNON TO TAKE MARKET OVER

Negotiations With Producers' Co-operative Market Association Are Closed.

George H. Cannon, manager of the Producers' Co-Operative Market association's market on Michigan street, when the association decided to go out of the commission business, has come to terms with the association for taking over the warehouse and business on Michigan street. It is expected that the deal will be closed today or tomorrow, and the holdings turned over to Mr. Cannon.

Mr. Cannon will operate the house as a regular commission business, but will pay special attention to the marketing of home-grown products. In that, he will have the co-operation of the members of the Farmers' association. He will find channels through which the farmers of the surrounding country may reach their market, and he expects to continue the business on very much the same lines as before the association decided to go out of the commission business, the only difference being that it will be a private enterprise instead of a co-operative market.

TAFT AND KAISER EXCHANGE CABLES

Steuben Statue Unveiling Basis of Mutual Expressions.

Washington, Sept. 4.—In response to Emperor William's cablegram of thanks for the replica of the Steuben statue, the Prussian-American soldier, which was unveiled at Potsdam Saturday, President Taft has sent the following message to the German ruler:

"I cordially appreciate your courteous cablegram announcing the unveiling of the replica of the Steuben statue and conveying your thanks and those of the German people for this present transmitted by virtue of the joint resolution of the congress of the United States.

"I shall take great satisfaction in communicating your majesty's telegram to the congress of the United States at the opening of its next session in December next, as an evidence of the cordial relations which have ever existed between the United States and the German empire."

SHOOTS HER BOY; DOESN'T KNOW WHY

Indianapolis Woman Talks Incoherently About Affair.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 4.—"Freddie, I am going to shoot you," said Mrs. George W. Stone Sunday as she lay on the bed in her home here with her 4-year-old son, according to the story she told the police.

"No, mamma, let me shoot you," and the child playfully reached for the revolver.

The mother, however, did the shooting, and the child lies at the city hospital, probably fatally wounded, with a bullet hole through his lungs.

Mr. Stone left Sunday morning for Columbus, Ohio, to visit his mother. The wife's statements are incoherent, and she says she does not know why she shot her boy, unless she had also intended to commit suicide.

May Be Disfigured for Life.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clifford Enstrom, age 7, was knocked down by an automobile on Main street, and so badly cut about the face that it is feared that he will be disfigured for life. The occupants of the car which struck the little fellow made off as fast as they could without atempting to render him assistance.

TRADES $22 FOR GOOD EXPERIENCE.

During his brief sojourn in Duluth he picked up an acquaintance with a stranger who induced him to take a walk with him down the street. On their way they were met by "Man No. 2" who said he had lost a pocket-book, and inquired if either of them had found one. Both answered in the negative, and to put an end to the persistent inquiries of "No. 2," Sewell produced his own pocket-book, declaring that was the only one he had. "No. 2" took it, looked it over, handed it back and apologized. A few minutes later, as Sewell finished a meal in a restaurant, he opened the pocket-book and was amazed to find in place of his roll of $23 there was nothing but a $1 bill, wrapped around a wad of newspaper. Happily he had already bought his ticket to Chicago. He immediately made his way to the depot, where he remained until it was time for the train to leave. At that, he got off cheaper than many another on whom that same trick has been worked.

BLACK HAND BLAMED.

Sicilian Is Killed With Shotgun in New York City.

New York, Sept. 4.—A shotgun again came into play Sunday as the weapon of supposed "Black Handers." The victim was Frank Busso, a Sicilian, who was shot to death under a shed in the rear of an East Sixty-third street tenement. His slayer escaped.

The row of houses in the rear of which Busso was slain is known by the police as the "Black Hand" belt. Fifteen bombs have been exploded there within a year and there have been many shootings and several kidnapings.

ENROLLMENT TO BE INCREASED

Virginia Schools Open and North Side School Building Crowded.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia public schools opened Monday morning with an unusually large enrollment for the first day. A teachers' meeting was held Saturday afternoon at the office of Supt. Hilss when the assignments to the various grades were made and special instructions were given by the superintendent. Last year the total enrollment reached over 2,800, but it is expected that the 3,000 mark will be closely approximated this year.

While the new high school building was partially occupied last January, the entire building will be used for the first time this fall. This will relieve the former crowded conditions in other buildings. The interior decorating work has not yet been completed in the new high school building and the kymnasium equipment has not been installed, but this will be done during the school year.

The North side school will be crowded this year and many children will have to come over to the Roosevelt school on the South side, but next year an eight-room, brick, $50,000 school building will relieve the situation on the North side.

GRAND RAPIDS JUNIORS WIN

Take First Game of Series From South Superior Team.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first game of a series of three games which are being played here between the Grand Rapids Juniors and the South Superior baseball team resulted in a victory for the local team, who shut out the visitors by a score of 6 to 0. Never during the entire game did the visitors have a chance, except in the seventh inning, when they got a man on third. Weaver, the Rapids pitcher, however, pulled himself out of this very nicely and kept the zero on the Superior side to the last inning. Grand Rapids secured two double plays, both pitcher to second to first, and they got seven hits off Kell, the Superior pitcher. Only one hit was secured off Weaver, the Rapids twirler. Batteries: Grand Rapids, Weaver and Erskine; South Superior, Kell and Buchanan and Melchow.

The South Superior outfit are a clean-cut bunch of young men and they behaved in a manner which won the commendation of the large crowd in attendance, taking their defeat in a manner which brands them as clean sportsmen.

NEW VIRGINIA DEPOT.

Canadian Northern Will Begin Work of Construction at Once.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—The Canadian Northern railroad will commence building at the head of Lake Boulevard and Chestnut street, on the present site of the public library, at once. The cost of the building will approximate $50,000. It will also erect at the present site of the shops of the Virginia, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad, shops and roundhouse, the contract for which is already let to cost $61,000.

A large gang of men will soon begin laying tracks into the city along the shore of Silver lake and Lake Boulevard to the new depot site.

HIBBING MAN STARTS DAIRY AND TRUCK FARM.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Anton Passard of Hibbing was a visitor at the home of his brother, James Passard, Saturday, on his way West, where he was going to purchase a couple of car loads of milch cows which he will place on the fine farm which he is clearing in the town of Goodland. Mr. Passard recently purchased about 200 acres of land west of Goodland, in this county, and he at once set a crew of men to clearing it, now having some sixty acres ready for the plow. He proposes to go into dairying and truck gardening on a large scale, and he says that he can get a market for all he can raise in Hibbing.

LINEN SHOWER IS GIVEN FOR BRIDE-TO-BE AT ELY.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 4.—The Misses Ethel Prisk and Myrtle Hedloff entertained at a linen shower Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. Prisk, on Fourth avenue, in compliment to Miss Emily Petherick, whose marriage to James Trezona of Eveleth will take place on Sept. 23. The rooms were decorated with an abundance of fragrant flowers. The afternoon was delightfully passed with musle and games, after which a dainty luncheon was served. The guests were: Misses Emily Petherick, Beatrice Peterick, Cora Thomas, Vida Thomas, Edith Trezona, Doris Knutson, Anna Knutson, Carman Miller, Audrey Miller, Annie Mitchell and Fanny Trezona.

ITASCA COUNTY SCHOOL TEACHERS

Partial List of Those Engaged for the Coming Term.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schools of Grand Rapids will open tomorrow for the season of 1911-12. Preparations are being made for one of the most successful years in their history. There will be very little difference in the personnel of the teaching corps of the schools. Numerous changes in the schools have been made, such as an addition of a room here, and a combination there, all of which will have a tendency to enhance the efficiency of the work of the teachers. All of the teachers for the Grand Rapids city schools and for the Cohasset school have been engaged, and a list of the teachers is given herewith. All of the country school teachers of School District No. 1 have not yet been secured, but a list as far as completed is also given. WOMAN BURGLAR MAKES A HAUL

Coleraine, Minn., Sept. 4.—Several homes in Coleraine and Bovey were entered and burglarized in broad daylight during the past week, the losses varying in amount and character, the thief taking anything that came conveniently to hand. For a time no one knew how the thefts were accomplished, but they are now all laid at the door of a woman burglar.

Mrs. C. Gustafson of Coleraine was one of the heaviest losers, about $40 in cash being taken from her home while she was on an errand to the store. In all it is thought the female Raffles made away with over $100 of Coleraine money as well as many other articles, and several victims were also reported at Bovey.

The woman's plan was to walk quietly into houses at a time when the owners were absent. If undisturbed, she took what she could find, but if surprised would fumble at her skirt and after apologizing for intruding, explain that she wished to adjust her clothing. Generally she would aver that she had knocked before entering. In this way she gained entrance to a number of homes without attracting suspicion and at other houses pretended to be looking for rooms. She was well dressed and of good appearance. So far the police of Bovey and Coleraine have been unable to trace her movements.

SETTLEMENT WILL BE MADE

Great Northern to Pay Damages Due to Grand Rapids Fire.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Hughes, owner of the large brick building which was destroyed by fire on May 6 last, was called to St. Paul Tuesday to confer with the Great Northern Railway company officials regarding the fire which destroyed the Hughes building. It will be remembered that while the building was afire, the firemen having it well under control, a Great Northern locomotive steamed up, ran over torpedos and a red light signal, which had been put out to stop any trains which might pass, and ran over two lines of hose, which had been stretched across the track from a hydrant on the south side of the track, and the total destruction of the building was due to the loss of these two lines of hose, which were cut by the Great Northern engine.

Mr. Hughes, as well as all the tenants of the building, started actions for damages against the railroad company, and Mr. Hughes' trip to St. Paul is in connection with this matter. It is anticipated that a settlement will be made with the railroad company.

The site of the Hughes block is being cleared of the debris caused by the fire. The refuse, ashes, etc., are being hauled to the west end of Fourth street, to fill that thoroughfare, which is low at that point. The brick is being cleaned of mortar, and is being piled up on the lot ready for use when the building is rebuilt, which will probably be next spring. The most of the foundations of the old building can be used again in the construction of a new building.

MUNICIPAL WATER AND LIGHT PLANT

Ordinance to Be Presented to the Virginia City Council.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is expected that Tuesday evening there will be presented an ordinance to the city council upon the petition of nearly 25 per cent of the registered voters of the city, providing for the appointment of a special water and light commission of five members to take up the matter of a proposed municipal water and light plant, the commissioners to hold office two years, to expend at least $2,500 in investigating things with a view of ascertaining the rights and powers of the city with regard to purchasing the privately owned water and light plant and what steps are necessary to assure municipal ownership.

Under the initiative clause of the city charter, upon petition of 15 per cent of the registered voters of the city, the city council must submit proposed legislation initiated by the voters at a special election to be called within thirty days, the alternative being the passage of the proposed legislation by the council without any alteration in its contents.

The Virginia Progressive league is back of and urging the initiative legislation relative to the proposed municipal ownership of the water and light plant and is also back of the recall petition affecting the office of alderman in the Fourth ward. Several men have been mentioned as possible candidates for aldermen in the special election to be held under the recall petition.

MILITIA COMPANY BEING ORGANIZED AT VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—Preliminary steps toward the organization of a militia company here have been taken. The meeting was well attended and much interest was manifested, about sixty young men agreeing to join. Officers were elected as follows: Charles Parker, captain; Leroy Edwin, first lieutenant; R. G. Sherwood, second lieutenant.

As there are vacancies for but two companies in the state, the approval of the adjutant general is required, and Mr. Parker will go to St. Paul for a conference with him.

ELY MAN RAISING BIG CROPS ON DRAINED LAND.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 4. — I. G. Cox, proprietor of the Exchange hotel, who has a farm directly south of town, expects to garner between 5,000 and 6,000 bushels of potatoes off a 35-acre patch.

The farm, which little more than a year ago was a swampy stretch of land, has been reclaimed by a drainage system and is now a striking illustration of what lands in this section of St. Louis county will raise when under scientific management. Mr. Cox has been enabled to grow many different kinds of vegetables and has supplied the hotel demands from the farm. After saving enough potatoes for his own use the balance will be disposed of to the St. Croix Lumber company for their winter camps.

The harvesting of the big crop of potatoes will be commenced this week and a new potato digger bought especially for this purpose will be used.

New Mine to Ship Ore.

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 4.—The Platt mine has suspended stripping operations as it is now ready to ship ore. First shipments will probably be made in two weeks. The Platt is a new proposition opened this season. The La Rue, which has been shipping heavily the past few weeks, has been forced to suspend work until the arrival of lake freighters.

Mohamis Win Again.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mohami baseball team defeated the Nortons of this city Sunday afternoon at Oliver park, 8 to 2 in a good game. The Mohamis have lost only two games this season and are being talked of as possible members of the Eastern Mesaba league next year.

EVELETH LOSES CHAMPIONSHIP

Eastern Mesaba League Pennant Is Captured By Biwabik.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an exciting game, witnessed by the largest crowd of the season, Eveleth yesterday lost the championship of the Eastern Mesaba league to Biwabik, 8 to 4, with Bobby Benson and Carey as the battery for the winners and "Ding" Richards and Andrews working for Eveleth. The game was featured by the consistent work of the winners, and the pitching of the two opposing twirlers, Richards striking out twelve batters and Benson eleven.

The Elba-Gilbert game to have been played at Gilbert was lost by default by the Elbaites, who were unable to make an appearance.

Eveleth will play the final game of the league season Sunday at Elba with the Elba nine.

NEW STEEL SHAFT

In Leonidas Mine Reaches Depth of Over 400 Feet.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—Special to The Herald.)—The new steel shaft in the Leonidas mine has reached a depth of over 400 feet, and much progress is being made by the pipemen and miners, who are working eight-hour shifts, in sinking the shaft. It is planned to start drifting operations this fall and some mining will be done before spring. The original depth of 620 feet will not be sunk this year, but will be reached eventually. The property will be placed on the shipping list next year, but according to mining officials the new mine will not be a heavy shipper the first season.

PLATE GLASS WINDOW BROKEN BY BOOTBLACK.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Monk," a local bootblack, who is about 35 years of age, was arrested yesterday morning on Grant avenue for breaking a large plate glass window in the Oakman saloon, valued at $40. Following the refusal of a customer to pay for a shine, the bootblack became indignant and threw his box at the man. His aim was poor and the box struck the large window, shattering it to pieces. He was unable to furnish bonds at the lockup and spent the night in jail.

LABOR DAY IS WELL OBSERVED AT EVELETH.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Labor day was well observed here. Many of the business places remained closed, while many laborers refrained from work. The opening of the schools, was, as usual, postponed until tomorrow. Last evening Rev. B. D. Hanscom spoke on "The Laboring Man and the Sabbath," at the M. E. church, while Rev. Philip A. Schwarz, Jr., of the First Presbyterian church, spoke on the same topic, which was used by all members of the Range Ministerial association.

TWO PORTABLE SCHOOLS ERECTED AT EVELETH.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two portable schools have been erected here by the school board. One is located in the rear of the high school, while the other has been built near the Adams school. Desks will be installed in the new schools today.

The buildings, which are an innovation on the range, are very sanitary, and will be able to accommodate many pupils. Windows have been installed on the east end of the buildings and sufficient light for studying purposes will be available.

VIRGINIA TEAM DEFEATS HIBBING

Dahlgren and Lizette of Superior Play With Virginia.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia baseball team, under the leadership of the three Boyle brothers, Eddie, Pat and Hank, the latter appearing in the batting order under the assumed name of Kelley, and more than ably assisted by a "borrowed" battery from the Superior team of the Minny league, made a trip over to Hibbing yesterday afternoon and walloped the Colts fairly and squarely, the total score being 11 to 2.

Loose fielding by the locals and the wildness and ineffectiveness at crucial moments of Gene Grady, the Colts' pitcher, coupled with the fact that several members of the team seemed to be taken with "stage fright" when they faced Dahlgren, was responsible for the defeat of the Colts. Another game between the two teams is being played on the local diamond this afternoon. The score:

Dies From Blood Poisoning.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of John, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Macher of the Adams location, who died Saturday after a week's illness from blood poisoning sustained by stepping on a rusty nail, was held yesterday afternoon at the Holy Family church, Rev. Father M. Bilban officiating.

Labor Day at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Labor day was observed here by the closing of public buildings and banks and some business houses. There were no special exercises, though many attended the mass meeting at the Methodist church Sunday evening, when Dr. Wilcox preached a labor sermon.

Arrested on Bench Warrant.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—Charles Lauscher was arrested here Saturday evening on a bench warrant issued by Judge Martin Hughes and following his indictment at the last meeting of the grand jury. He is charged with having acted as an insurance agent at Eveleth without the necessary license.

Murder Trial to Start.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—Bruno Demase will be placed on trial for murder in the first degree before Judge Hughes when district court resumes here Tuesday morning. Demase is charged with having killed a man at Gilbert. About twenty-five witnesses are to be called.

EVELETH VOTERS ORGANIZE CLUB

Italians Start With 125 Members—Austrians Indorse Candidates.

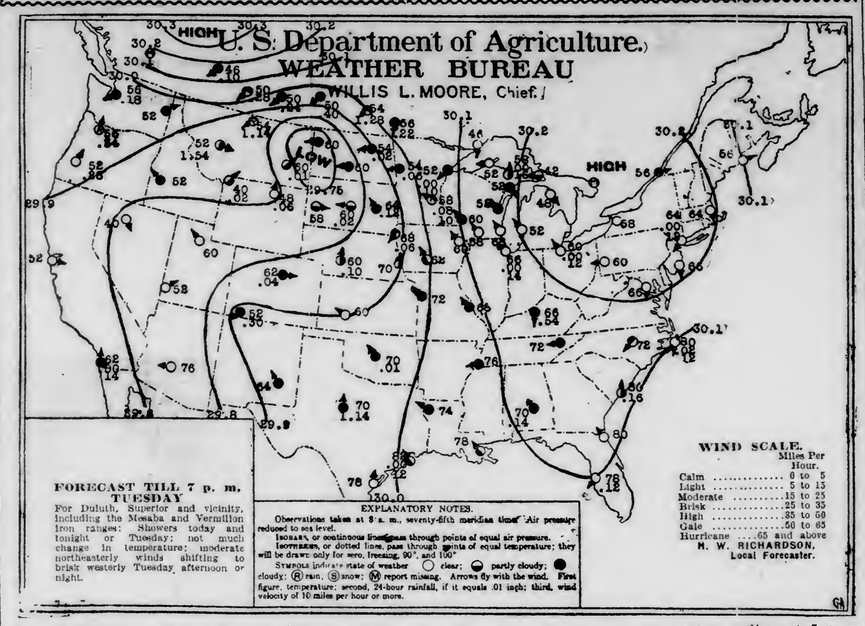

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of 125 Italian voters, the Italian Political club was organized with the following officers: President, S. Massucci; vice president, K. Primo; treasurer, Santi Forti; secretary, John Castalano.

A committee of eighteen, three members for each ward, was appointed to confer with all the Italian voters to join the club at the next regular meeting, Sunday, when all the officers of the club will be elected and committees appointed to care for the year's work. At the future meetings of the club candidates for political offices will be invited to make addresses and to state their positions on matters affecting local politics.

The members of the Austrian Educational society met in the afternoon at the Stiplitch hall and discussed the political issues of the day. The club indorsed President Joseph Brince, who is a candidate for alderman-at-large; Joseph Wilson of the First ward; S. A. Meade, a candidate for alderman of the Second ward, and will urge Joseph Francel, a pioneer Eveleth merchant, to make the race for the Third ward aldermanship.

At the next meeting of the Italian Political club the candidacies of Vincent Menghenni and James Marra for mayor will be discussed, as both desire the backing of the organization. An agreement has been made between the two candidates to accept the decision of the club and the organization's favorite will make the race with the loser dropping out of the campaign.

RAIN

The weather man is a bloated plutocrat. He is lined up with the capitalistic foes of union labor and he shows his enmity in petty form. Last year, he made Labor day a day of storm in Duluth. This year ditto. Yesterday was a beautiful late summer day. The temperature didn't get above 64 deg. but the sun was so bright and the air so clear that one hardly noticed the fall touch in the atmosphere. After putting over a Sunday like that, the weather man turned J. Pluvius loose this morning and the old boy with the sprinkling can was on the job early and often.

Cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:31 and it will set at 6:43 this evening, giving thirteen hours and twelve minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A barometric depression that extends from the Dakotas southwestward to Arizona has caused light to heavy showers over Western Canada, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Nebraska, Colorado, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Oklahoma, Gulf and South Atlantic states and the lower Ohio valley during the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours, besides somewhat warmer weather from Manitoba southward to Eastern Nebraska. A rather strong high pressure area developing over Alberta is causing cooler weather there and in Montana, Idaho, Northern Utah and Wyoming. Low temperatures prevail in Northern Alberta. The easterly movement of the low pressure now central over Western North Dakota will result in more or less showery weather at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Minnesota—Unsettled weather with showers tonight or Tuesday; warmer in the southeast portion tonight; cooler in the west portion tonight and Tuesday.

Upper Michigan—Showers tonight and Tuesday; warmer in east portion.

Upper Lakes—Moderate east and southeast winds, probably becoming brisk on west Superior, increasing cloudiness followed by rain tonight and Tuesday on Michigan and Superior and Tuesday on Huron.

Duluth Man Throws Large Doe in Bout Near McGregor.

Hunter With Camera Gets Better Picture Than He Counted On.

In the woods near McGregor, a little station on the Northern Pacific road, a tussle took place that would put Teddy Roosevelt in the shade in his African escapades; a wrestling match with which the championship contest this afternoon at Chicago cannot even compare.

The participants in this contest were a large doe and a well known Duluthian, A. A. Farrington, who for years has held the position of court stenographer for Judge J. D. Ensign. It took only a few minutes, for Farrington, with agility equal to that of Gotch, secured a strangle hold and with one desperate effort hurled the animal to the ground.

The referee, Ed Devitt, sales manager for the Northern Lumber company at Cloquet, called time, after he had used the last film in his camera to take the picture, and the doe was let free, to pursue her ramblings again, unmolested.

The contest took place yesterday afternoon. According to friends, Mr. Farrington, while proud of his feat, is so modest that he will not talk about it. When pressed for remarks about the affray, he admitted it to friends, but requested that they say nothing for fear that he may be placed in the Ananias club.

But Mr. Devitt is not so modest, and he tells the story with much freedom. According to his tale, he and Mr. Farrington started off yesterday morning to hunt deer with a camera. Near McGregor is a little path frequented by deer, and knowing this, they decided to lay in wait for one and to snap it. Prior to this, several snapshots had been taken of birds.

Mr. Devitt concealed himself in the brush near the path, and had his camera set for the first animal that showed itself. Mr. Farrington took his station behind a big tree on the opposite side of the path and patiently waited.

Soon a doe was noticed coming down the path, and Mr. Devitt got into position. As it approached, Mr. Farrington watched with interest, and finally his nervousness and excitement had reached the limit of endurance, and he darted out, grabbing the animal about the neck. The deer, greatly startled, raised herself up, and as she stood in this position, Farrington gave one swift turn, and hurled the deer to the ground.

Mr. Devitt, in the meantime, was focusing the instrument, and when he saw Mr. Farrington's legs waving in the air, he snapped the machine. He claims he has a good picture of the affair.

WOMAN MISSING FROM STEAMER

Wireless Message From the Minneapolis Suggests Drowning.

New York, Sept. 4.—Police headquarters learned this morning that a woman was reported missing from the steamship Minneapolis, which left New York Saturday.

Supt. Thomas of the International Mercantile Marine company, who reported the disappearance, said the Adriatic, as it was coming up the bay yesterday, received a wireless message from Capt. Hosker of the Minneapolis, which was then 450 miles out. The message read:

"We miss Caroline Mercer, 5 feet, 6 inches, 118 pounds, light brown hair, brown eyes, clothing marked C. M. If body washes up, notify W. Farnham Smith, Omaha, Neb.

SUSPECTED OF MURDER

Kuzman Sorich Arrested in Wisconsin By Sheriff Riley of Itasca County.

Admits Being Holdup Man, But Denies Firing Fatal Shot.

County Attorney McOuat and Sheriff Riley of Itasca county arrived at the police station this morning with Kuzman Sorich, alias Mike Miller, who is suspected of the murder of Tudor Skorich. He was located, after a long search, at Niagara, a small town in Wisconsin, not far from Iron Mountain, Mich. The officers brought him through three states to Duluth, but he made no fight on extradition and was brought in handcuffed by the two officers this morning.

The crime for which Sorich is wanted is a murder committed between Holman and Taconite, Itasca county, on June 19. It was pay night and Skorich, a man named Eli Yerkovich, who is still at large, and another named Steve Milkovich, who was arrested soon after the murder by Officer Hartz in Duluth, planned to hold up some fellow laborers on their way back from Holman, which is a saloon town, to Itasca. The murdered man and his brother were the victims of their attack, and when held up they started to run down the road. Some one of the holdup men fired after them, killing Skorich instantly. He fell with his pocket book in his hand, and it lay under his body and was not discovered by the robbers.

Both men in jail admit that they were the hold-up men, and were armed, but each claims that is was the other who fired the fatal shot. There were two guns used and the one of the larger caliber killed Skorich. Milkovich claims that Skorich had the big gun, while Skorich claims it was the one of the smaller caliber which he carried.

SHOWERS FAIL TO QUENCH LOYALTY OF UNION LABOR MEN

had congregated. Frank Duffy, general secretary of the International Carpenters' union, also made a few appropriate remarks.

Following the speeches there were to have been athletic contests, but these were called off on account of the rain. Dancing was indulged in at the pavilion both afternoon and evening.

H. E. Trudeau, business agent for the carpenter's union, was chief marshal of the day and he was assisted by W. R. Thompson, who headed the first division and Joseph Miller, who headed the second and third divisions.

The weather was a big disappointment. It was planned to have the largest labor showing in the history of the city, but the rain interfered and many who were to have marched failed to show up. The parade, nevertheless, compared well with former ones.

There were special cars to and from Fairmont park, where the exercises of the day were held.

Daniel W. Lawler, speaker of the day, spoke as follows:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"It is the usual custom of Labor day speakers to devote considerable time in describing and eulogizing the dignity of labor and in viewing with amazement the resources and progress of modern civilization. The present speaker will, however, forego any extended discussion of these two subjects for the reason that the dignity of labor seems to be universally admitted, and even if it were not, it would be neither safe nor proper to maintain the contrary at this time and place.

"While fully impressed with the advantages and triumphs of our modern civilization, we are, however, at times compelled to doubt its perfection. Within the past few days London and Liverpool, the business capitals of the world, have been on the verge of epidemic, starvation and revolution as a result of a strike lasting forty-eight hours. The common expression about the man who boasted of keeping twenty-four hours ahead of the sheriff seems to express the condition of the great centers of civilization, culture and industry. The problem of subsistence for the majority of the race, seems to be as difficult and laborious today as it was for the savage, who centuries ago hutned, fished and fought along the shores of this lake and on the site of this imperial city.

Arbitration of Labor Disputes.

"One of the important subjects of thoughtful consideration, not only by labor leaders and organizations, but for the humanitarian as well, is the subject of arbitration for the prevention of strikes and lockouts. Students of this question who have not gone very far beneath the surface, are apt to dismiss the subject with a wave of the hand, and the declaration that arbitration is the only and the easiest remedy to prevent dangerous and wasteful contests between employer and employe, culminating in the strike and in the lockout. Bitter experience, however, has demonstrated the natural disinclination of the employe, whose chief capital is his labor, and whose proudest possession is his manly independence, to submit to the decision of others, questions involving these priceless possessions. The employer in the past has also as a rule repudiated the idea of allowing other perons to manage his business or interfere in what he has been in the habit of regarding as his private concern. One of the greatest benefits conferred upon humanity by organized labor has been to bring the employer and the employe together in friendly and profitable relations. The employer has gained in knowledge and in pocket by dealing with the representatives of organized labor and the chief way in which labor has been recognized by its employer has been when it has been represented by intelligent and responsible labor organizations. To the critic who expresses surprise that there is no tribunal to which such controversies can be referred, and by which they can be settled, we can but say, that the world is not yet governed by the practical application of the law of charity and unselfishness.

War and Bloodshed.

"Nations of the earth today present the grotesque spectacle of devoting a large portion of thei rtime in preparing for war and bloodshed. The peace conference at The Hague, called by the Czar of Russia, which met in the spring of 1899, attended by representatives of all the civilized nations and which established a permanent court of arbitration for the purpose of preventing war, had hardly adjourned before Russia and Japan grappled in one of the greatest wars of history. If the concentrated intelligence and enlightened selfishness of the world resulted in such utter failure, have we a right to wonder at the failure of labor and capital to peacefully adjust their complex and antagonistic relations? For half a century labor leaders and capitalists have attempted to prevent strikes and lockouts and today there is only one civilized nation on the face of the earth which provides for compulsory arbitration. It is unnecessary to say to this audience that New Zealand occupies this distinguished position, as it does in all other matters relating to industrial advancement.

"In our own country sentiment is strongly gathering in favor of compulsory arbitration. It would be utterly sentimental, however, to say that compulsory arbitration is within hailing distance. The employer fears that the tribunal would be subject to popular opinion, and the employe is still antagonistic, believing that his industrial freedom would be sacrificed. Under the law of New Zealand the labor organization or trade union is recognized as a legal entity and only by belonging to such a body does a workman secure standing in court. The advantage to the labor organization of being legally recognized is apparent. It is my own opinion that in the future, perhaps in the distant future, there will be in this land a court of permanent arbitration, to which will be submitted controversies between employer and employe, and before which the labor organizations will stand with the same power and dignity with which the middle ages the craft guilds confronted the king and tyrant and defended successfully the rights of the people."

Defect in Erdman Act.

The speaker referred to the so-called Erdman law enacted by the national congress, June 1, 1893, entitled: "An act concerning carriers engaged in interstate commerce and their employes," in substance as follows:

"In the preceding language, I do not wish to be understood as in any way minimizing the importance of the laws passed by many of the states, providing for voluntary arbitration. The so-called Erdman law, applicable to interstate transportation, has been of untold value and benefit to the people of the country. It provides that when disputes arise between employer and employe in interstate transportation systems, the president of the interstate commission and the national commissioner of labor shall in the first instance act as medlators between the parties. Mediation failing, provision is made for a tribunal of arbitration of three members, one to be chosen by each of the contending parties and the third by the arbitrators so chosen. By the intelligent and patriotic action of the officials above mentioned and the co-operation of the employes, serious strikes and lock-outs have been prevented during the existence of this law. It is, however, almost neutralized by one of the most astounding provisions ever incorporated in legislation of this kind. Section 3 of the law provides that 'The status existing immediately prior to the dispute shall not be changed during the pendency of the arbitration proceedings.' Under this provision an appeal can be taken from the award of the arbitrators to the circuit court of the United States and from that court to the circuit court of appeals, holding the case in court for a period of from two to four years, during all of which time, the schedule of wages, and other industrial conditions existing at the commencement of the controversy must be maintained and respected by the employes under peril of contempt of court. Under this provision the railroad company by simply filing and prosecuting its appeal can compel the employes to accept for a period of several years the very conditions and wages against which they are contending.

"Two years ago as counsel for the Switchmen's Union of North America, in the great strike then pending, it became necessary for me to examine this law critically and both as a lawyer and as a citizen I was astounded on discovering and realizing the full effect of this provision. It has resulted, of course, in employes generally refusing to accept arbitration under the act, except where the employer has agreed to waive the right of appeal and the consequent advantage given the employer under the statute.

Old Age Pensions.

"The subject of pensions for the aged, while comparatively new in this country is in most of the countries of Europe past the experimental stage. The present Liberal government of England in supplementing previous legislation of the same kind, has enacted into law a measure providing for pensions for the aged and the system in different forms exists in many of the leading countries of Europe. Representative Victor Berger of the Milwaukee district of Wisconsin has introduced into congress a bill which is now pending and which in all probability will be the entering wedge for public consideration of this important question. The subject is one of great importance to the patriot and humanitarian and is worthy of deep study and careful consideration. It is a singular fact that in caring for the welfare of their superannuated fellow-citizens, the people of the United States are backward in comparison with other peoples. This want of progress cannot be attributed entirely to motives of financial economy. It is due, it seems to me, chiefly to the erroneous idea that pensions are charitable donations and impose the badge of pauperism on those who receive them. The people of this country gladly pension the veteran soldier of the Union army, the retired officers of the army and navy of the United States and the retired judges of the federal bench. There is not the slightest taint of mendicancy in these payments. The taxpayers of the three large cities in Minnesota gladly pay their proportion towards pensions for policemen, firemen and teachers. All of these pensions both federal and state, are paid as a compensation for services rendered. The time will come in the not very distant future when the relation of the individual and of the state will be more thoroughly comprehended than it is today, and when man will understand that every person born into citizenship is entitlled to maintenance in old age, by the very fact of manhood and citizenship, unless that right shall have been forfeited by wilful and deliberate crime.

Employers' Liability.

"During the past decade the labor organizations and labor leaders have aroused the public mind to the necessity of a radical change in the laws regulating the right of the employe to recover for injuries received during the course of his employment. It is difficult for the average man to get out of the rut in which he has been placed by the circumstances of his environment. Most men keep on thinking and doing the same as their ancestors thought and did. Most men also have a superstitious reverence for the principles of law to which they have grown accustomed. It is somewhat startling to realize that two of the principal doctrines of the law of negligence, namely, the assumption of risk by the employe and his assumption of the negligence of a co-servant are peculiar to the jurisprudence of Great Britain and the United States. Both of these principles are 'judge-made law' and were enacted by judges on the bench and not by legislatures representing the people. I do not know when the doctrine of the assumption of risk by the employe was first laid down. There is no special reason why the employe should be compelled to assume the ordinary risk of his employment. In the forum of logic and fair dealing the employe is not under obligation to his employer. The relation is not one of charity. Each contributes to the common enterprise and each should receive his commensurate reward. In cases where the employe has been injured through no fault of himself, but entirely by the ordinary dangers of the employment, essential fairness and justice would seem to demand that the party to the agreement endowed with greater power and foresight in equipment should bear the natural and inevitable calamities of the compact. The principle of law which generally obtains in this country making the employe responsible for the negligence of a co employe is a striking instance of 'judge-made law,' made in the interest of the employer. It has not even the excuse of being old. It is no product of legislative wisdom, nor is it derived from the consent of the people represented in any legislative gathering.

"About seventy years ago the doctrine was first announced by a somewhat obscure judge of the supreme court of South Carolina. About a year afterwards the same principle was laid down by Chief Justice Story of the supreme court of Massachusetts. About ten years afterwards the English courts adopted the same rule and were followed by the Scotch courts in about ten years. It implies no disrespect to law or to court to say that there is not a single argument in its favor that cannot be met by equally convincing arguments to the contrary. The legislatures of most of the states have recognized its injustice by enacting statutes depriving railroad companies of its benefits on the ground of the extraordinary hazard of railroad employes in railroad work.

"The application of these principles has resulted in compelling the employe, who has received physical injury, to bear the burden of the necessary litigation to compensate him for his injuries.

"I do not propose to rehearse the weary story of personal injury litigation. That species of litigation has brought into being during the last few years the employers' liability companies, whose methods have done more to corrupt and disgrace the administration of justice than any one other agency. The economic fact to be considered, however, is the tremendous loss to the injured employe of the present legal system. In a paper read last year before the Minnesota Academy of Science, by Hon. W. McEwen, he said that in the year 1906 in the state of New York alone for that year, the employers' liability companies paid approximately $4,381,624 out of which not more than 20 cents on the dollar got into the pockets of the injured workmen. It is probable that this situation is typical of the stuation in other states. From my own experience on both sides of personal injury litigation, I believe that this figure vs about right for the state of Minnesota. There is no argument, therefore, from justice or expediency in behalf of the present system."

The speaker concluded this passage of the address by advocating the passage by the legislature of a law providing adequate compensation to injured employes, payable by the employer and to be considered as part of the wages of the employe.

The New Nationalism.

"In the consideration of three important questions which have been referred to," he continued, "it is impossible to escape the conviction that the remedy so far as legislation is concerned, can be had only by recourse to the national congress. I yield to no man in my intelligence to the doctrine of state rights and opposition to unlawful encroachment on the part of the national government, but it is the part of wisdom to remember that the checks and balances of the national constitution were devised for the government of thirteen infant colonies and not more than three millions of people, living under the social and industrial conditions of a century and a quarter ago. The national government was to the people of the original thirteen states largely an object of suspicion and jealousy. The people of that day justly feared the encroachment of place and power. The country was primitive, unsettled, chiefly agricultural and varying in its citizenship and methods of thought and business. Each community was practically sufficient for itself. Today with a population of one hundred millions, closely knit together by modern agencies of communication and transportation, there is an absolute necessity for uniformity of laws, regulating the business of the entire country. It is futile to expect that fifty sovereign and independent states will pass laws uniformly dealing with the important subjects which we have discussed, arbitration, old age pensions and workmen's compensation. The remedy when it does come will come in the shape of a national law passed by the representatives of the people in congress assembled, and extending its sway over every foot of American soil."

BEATTIE TAKES THE STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

nearby, the prisoner read and reread the typewritten pages of his own testimony at the inquest and prepared to relate the identical story on the witness stand today of how a bearded highwayman approached his automobile, stopped it, and with a shotgun fired at Mrs. Beattie, who sat beside her husband on the front seat of the car.

Watched the Jurors.

Through the iron bars of his cell Beattie could see moving about on the green in front of him the twelve men to whom for him the story will mean electrocution or freedom.

The gray-haired father of the accused had made all plans to be the first to arrive at the jail and bend over his son, embrace and kiss him, the same affectionate greeting which he has brought daily since the trial began.

Through the prison bars the accused man reiterated his statement of yesterday that he was confident of acquittal.

"God knows I am innocent of the murder of my dear wife," said he.

He spoke in a deep voice and his tone was both firm and emphatic.

"I'm going to tell the jury and everybody just how it happened," he continued. "I was the only eye-witness, and I am confident they will believe what I say against the circumstantial evidence that has been collected against me."

Faced All-Day Ordeal.

The prisoner was expected to go on the stand immediately after the convening of court, and was ready to answer the questions of counsel, carefully rehearsed with him yesterday on the lawn in front of the jail.

After the direct examination by Harry M. Smith, Jr., and Hill Carter, counsel for the defense, the accused was to be kept on the stand all afternoon by the prosecution under rigid cross-examination.

Beulah Binford, the so-called "girl in the case," and Paul D. Beattie, a cousin of the accused, the two persons upon whom the commonwealth has relied for the foundation of its case, will not be brought here from the Richmond jail, where they re confined, until tomorrow, when the commonwealth will begin its effort to impeach the testimony of the prisoner.

Paul, who said he bought for Henry the gun with which Mrs. Beattie is alleged to have been murdered, and the Binford girl, who is alleged by the prosecution to have been the motive for the crime, will be produced in the court room only to controvert the statements of the accused in his testimony today.

To Jury on Thursday.

The prosecution is expected to occupy tomorrow in rebuttal, and for Wednesday the argument of counsel for both sides, including the question of instructions to the jury, is scheduled, the case probably going to the jury on Thursday.

Every available seat in the little room was occupied early today and a large crowd had gathered on the lawn surrounding the little red building. It was a day of sunlight, one of the rare days of clear skies during the trial.

The crowd came in a constant stream, automobiles, farm wagons and rigs of every description bringing loads of people from Richmond and vicinity in a vain hope of hearing the prisoner's story. Harry M. Smith, Jr., and Hill Carter, lawyers for the defendant, arrived at 9:20 and immediately were closeted with the prisoner in his cell. Prosecutor Louis Wendenburg reached the courthouse a few moments later, accompanied by the other attorney for the commonwealth, L. M. Gregory.

An eager, expectant crowd jammed the little courtroom to overflowing, and as soon as the prisoner's name was called there was a noisy rustle behind the bar and a straining of necks outside the windows where platforms had been erected.

Walked Calmly to Stand.

At 10:47 a. m. Beattie walked calmly to the witness chair and faced the twelve men who, before the week is out, are to pass judgment on his story.

With one hand on his hip and his eyes on the Bible held by the sheriff, the prisoner swore "to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

"Please state your age," said Mr. Smith.

"Twenty-six."

"Your business?"

"Mercantile business with my father."

"What do you do?"

"I do all the buying of shoes and men's furnishings."

"Do you own the store?"

"Yes; I carry the keys to the store."

"How long have you been doing it?"

"About a year."

Relation to Paul Beattie.

"What relation to you is Paul Beattie?"

"A second cousin."

"Have you ever had any confidential relations with him, or has he been your intimate?"

"No, sir," with emphasis.

"Has he ever run around with you?"

"No. I only saw him when he would come to the store to get money or something, and he was never left a minute without being watched."

"You had no confidence in him?"

"None in the world."

"Did you ever trust him with any secret?"

"None in the world."

Meeting With Binford Girl.

"How long have you known Beulah Binford?"

"I met her in August, 1907."

"How did you meet her?"

"I was coming down Broad street in a machine with four or five fellows. Some one attracted attention to two girls. I stopped the car and one of the girls asked me if she could take a ride. Beulah and the girl then got in."

"Had you ever been introduced to her before?"

"No."

"Was the other girl Henrietta Pittman?"

"Yes."

"What was Beulah Binford's reputation?"

"That afternoon the rest of the boys, with the exception of one fellow, told me not to have anything to do with her."

"When did your improper relations with Beulah Binford break off?"

"In the fall of 1908."

"What was the cause?"

Knew She Was Sick.

"Well, she went to Washington. I knew she was sick and I didn't go with her."

"When Beulah's child was born what did she do?"

"Her mother wrote to me."

"Did they think you were responsible?"

"I suppose so as they thought I had more money than anyone else. Next thing I knew I was called to her lawyer's office, and as a consequence I saw nothing to do but fork up the money, and was the laughing stock of the town. I never for one minute thought I was the father of the child, and Beulah Binford swore at the coroner's inquest that she was not its mother."

CAR SPLASHED WITH BLOOD

Three Young Men Are Killed By Fig Four Flyer.

Wellington, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Three men were instantly killed last night by a Big Four train. The bodies were hurled against the sides of an excursion train, windows being broken and the sides of the cars spattered with the blood of the three victims.

The victims were identified as Frank Handley, 17; Howard Rugg, 17, and Howard Pifer, 18, all members of well-to-do families of the village of Huntington. The young men were standing on the track awaiting the passage of the excursion train and did not see the fast train.

Witnesses say the headlight of the fast train was not lighted.

NO RELIEF.

Chicago News: "Now, mister, you don't need to stand at my door wasting your own time and mine, too, trying to sell me any of your gumbo bitters," explained Mrs. Curfew. "I have so many things to do this morning that I don't know what to do first, and here you come pestering me to buy."

"If you will permit me to explain the merits of this liniment, madam," said the agent, "I'm sure you will wish to have a bottle in the house. It is commounded by Dr. Haeckelenkampenschneider, Emperor William's private physician—"

"I don't care who it's compounded by. Take it away before something happens to you. If my husband comes around the corner of the house and sees you here you will have to use up all your liniment on your own back and go to the hospital besides, for he has one of his homicidal streaks, and I won't be responsible for anything that happens. Now, run away with your liniment and your healing herbs, for my married daughter is coming on the noon train with her little girl, to spend a few days with me, and I must get the house in order.

"If you could see that little girl you wouldn't have the cheek to stand here talking about barks and buds and emperors and such things. She's a dear little girl, and just the image of me, as everybody says, but if there is a bee within a quarter of a mile she is sure to sting herself with it, and consequently she is always suffering great agony.

"A week ago that little girl was playing in the garden, and presently she began shrieking as though the house was on fire, and her mother ran out and found that wasps had stung her. Well, there wasn't a thing in the house that was good for wasp stings, and my daughter was wringing her hands in desperation when an agent came to the door with a liniment that was just the thing, he said, though of course nobody can depend on anything an agent says. If the little girl had been fished out of the cistern unconscious that agent would have said his liniment was just the thing for drowned people, being compounded by the emperor's horse doctor.

"My daughter paid $1 for a bottle, the agent taking advantage of her excitement, as agents will. When the trouble was over my daughter read the label on the bottle carefully and the people were cautioned on that label not to pay more than 50 cents, which goes to show just how much reliance may be placed on banks and bunk and agents with red noses, to say nothing of emperors' physicians.

"There was the little girl rolling on the floor screaming, and my daughter had no time to read cautions to the public, so she opened the bottle and applied some of the liniment to each of the wasp stings, and I don't deny that it eased the pain so that the little girl went to sleep. But, lo and behold, that poor child has a dark blue spot wherever the liniment was applied, and it does seem as though she is marked for life, for the blue won't come out, and if you could see that unfortunate little spotted girl you would begin to realize your sins and surrender yourself to the sheriff.

"My daughter called in a doctor and he looked at the blue spots and said they seemed permanent and charged $2. Now what will the future of that little girl be like if those blue spots don't wash out? And yet you come here to my door just when I'm so busy that I don't know which way to turn and try to sell me a new kind of baking powder invented by the emperor's chief blacksmith.

"If you want to sell such things go and see Mr. Sparks, who is just recovering from an attack of blind staggers caused by taking some sugar-coated pills that he bought of an agent. And here comes my husband, agent, and if he resorts to violence you have only yourself to blame, for I gave you fair warning!"

LIFE ON A CATTLE RANCH.

The fiscal year of the cowboy begins in the early spring just after the snow has melted from the hills and the grass gets a good start and the season for feeding the poor stock is over. Then it is, says a correspondent of the Outlook, that he puts aside his winter ways of recklessness and buckles his belt to a hard six months' work.

As soon as the weather permits the "feeders" are driven to the fresh green grass on the hillsides. About this time it is necessary to bunch the cattle that have wintered on the "high desert" and on the plains where the grass is protected by the summer droughts.

A little later the range and the pastures are systematically ridden and the lively days of the great roundups begin. The cook's wagon has previously been loaded with grub and cigarettellke rolls of bedding and each "buckaroo" has picked out his string of four or five saddle horses, one or two of which are usually fresh from the bunchgrass bronco.

The spring ride is meant to accomplish two things, to brand the calves and to get the cattle that will make beef in the fall to a good fattening pasture. One might think that where the cattle are kept within wire fences for a good part of the year and some of them all of the time the process of searing an ugly big brand deep into their hides and hacking off a big fraction of each ear and cutting loose the skin of the jaw or neck or brisket so that a bloody piece of themselves may grow into a chin waddle or neck waddle or "dewlap"—one might think that all this college fraternity initiation heartlessness were useless.

So thought a historic, tender hearted man named Sam Maverick, who came from Boston to Texas in an early day to scatter seeds of kindness and to make his fortune in the raising of cattle. He didn't have a wire pasture but he trusted humanity, and his calves and cattle carried their ears and their hides whole as nature had given them. As the old story goes, the catching up of Maverick's "slick ears" became very popular among the worldly, get rich, ambitious stockmen of the section.

The story became sectional parlance and today Webster tells us that a maverick is a "bullock or a heifer that has not been branded and is unclaimed or wild." Also the lesson of Maverick's loss of his herds seems to have been remembered. So it is today that the brand of the cattleman must be registered with the county officials and becomes legal proof of ownership unless of course theft be proved. But the days of stock rustling are almost over in the West, largely owing to the rigid brand inspection at the larger market centers.

Driving beef to the railway is the most important work of the cowboy year. Perhaps it is also the most interesting, though physically wearing. Many of the steers are very wild and a herd has been stampeded by the fright of one animal that was surprised by a bird flying suddenly from a bush.

Every effort is made to keep the beef from wearing away their tallow. It is the greatest of cowboy sins ever to allow them carelessly to go faster than a slow walk. To afford a better trail the cattle are strung out single file when the country is open. From a high point one can then look down the road sometimes for three miles and see the same living, vibrating, slowly moving thread.

At the extreme point a cowboy will be driving a few faithful leaders or maybe riding in front to lessen their pace. Back and forth along the line other horsemen will be riding, constantly on the watch to prevent a break, to keep out strays and to watch the brush patches and prod along the hungry. The leaders will have had their fill of water at the creek and have been lying in the shade for an hour or two before the footsore and lazy trailers come along with their cloud of dust and two or three whip-snapping cowboys.

From six to ten miles is a day's drive, and if the range is good before dark the cattle will have satisfied the desire for grass and water. Then they are bunched, and they soon lie down in one compact, cud chewing mass.

In the early days of the drive they must be night guarded, the men being grouped in shifts each to spend half of the night in riding slowly around and around the herd from one sage brush fire to another. Later the cattle can be left alone after they have quieted down and they will not stir until daybreak.

CHARMS AGAINST EVIL.

Pall Mall Gazette: Perhaps the instinct to avert the evil eye is born in our natures. Civilization has lessened it to a great extent, but in every race we find such an instinct exists. The wearing of nearly all personal adornment seems to have originated in an idea of pacifying evil deities.

The savage wears ornaments symbolizing the protective powers supposed to be able to keep away harm or danger. In the West Indies there is a bean or seed which the natives think possesses many valuable properties. If carried in the purse they say the owner will never want for money; if hung on a watch chain good luck will ever be with the wearer. But woe betide the man who loses his precious charm. The East Indian leaves a tiny corner of his embroidery unfinished to propitiate the gods; the dusky mother calls her baby hard names for fear her love should bring ill fortune upon him.

In England superstitious country folk tie amulets around their necks to prevent disease. Some of the earliest of these were skilfully wrought by the people who inhabited this country thousands of years ago and treated flint much the same as a cameo, producing varied effects by cutting through into the different layers of color. Several examples of this practically lost art may be seen in the museum at Ipswich. They are carved to represent the heads of men and women, birds, fishes and reptiles and are for the most part cleverly and prettily done.

The fossil belemnites found on many of our coasts embodied in the rocks were once thought to be thunderbolts and were worn as charms by fisher folk. Farmers in ancient times decorated their horses by hanging amulets and gypsy fetish charms among their trappings to insure a good harvest. These amulets were frequently associated with the worship of the sun and were of Egyptian, Moorish and Persian origin.

Although most people profess to laugh at the idea of wearing them purely for luck or from superstitious motives charms are worn still with good humored toleration and, for reasons none can explain, secretly favored, just in the same way that sober minded men and women cling tenaciously to a crooked sixpence and treasure a three-penny bit with a hole in it as omens of good luck.

A pink coral hand in Italy is supposed to ward off the evil eye and plays its part in ornaments. Ruby ornaments are supposed to disperse evil spirits and are considered a protection from poison and other dire evils. Emeralds banish blindness. Garnet ornaments are supposed to keep one in good health; the sardonyx insures happiness. The sapphire keeps off fever. Amethysts keep off worries. A turquoise means that you will never want a friend. A four leaved clover in a crystal locket is a favorite charm and is said to bring good fortune and long life to its wearer. Jade also has a reputation as a luck bringer.

A LIVING FROM THREE ACRES.

Suburban Life: There are few people who are able to make a good living from so small an amount of land as is Oliver R. Shearer, who lives at Hyde Park, a suburb of Reading, Pa. Mr. Shearer is two and one-half miles from the heart of the city, and raises vegetables and poultry.

His farm consists of a trifle over three acres, but there are only about two and one-half acres that are under actual cultivation. A little mountain stream runs one corner of the place to pieces so badly that it cannot be cultivated.

The little farm produces about 10,000 heads of celery, 200 to 500 tomato plants, and anywhere from 3,000 to 7,000 each of lettuce, endive and beets. From five to ten bushels of onion sets are usually planted each year and yield a bountiful crop.

MISTOOK SNAKE FOR WHIP.

Putman correspondence, Hartford Courant: George Deady, a farm hand living in Wilsonville, had a hot time on Friday and he fainted dead away from fright. Deady picked up what he thought was the tip of a horse whip in the grass beside the road, only to find that the horse whip was alive. It proved to be a black snake. It wound around Deady's arm and poked its head in Deady's face and grinned at him.

Deady let out a yell that could be heard all over Wilsonville and ran to Henry Pearl and implored him to pull the snake off his arm. Pearl refused to meddle, saying he was no snake charmer, whereupon Deady fainted in the road. Pearl says the snake then uncoiled and wiggled off into the bushes. It was about five feet long.

THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

There have been more fireworks in sugar. Cane granulated has taken another rise from $6.63 to $6.75 a hundred pounds. Yard dates are a little higher, the 12-pound boxes now selling at $1.40 instead of $1.35. New potatoes have dropped from 50c to 35c a bushel and sweet potatoes have risen from $2 to $2.25 a bushel. Dressed spring chickens are down 1 cent, the price now being 10c to 11c a pound. Live hens, which have been bringing 10c to 11c a pound, are now bringing 11c to 12½c.

Quotations given below indicate what the retailers pay to the wholesalers, except the hay list, which gives what the farmers receive from the jobbers.

THE FEAST OF BOYS.

Mrs. Ellen Beadnell in the June Wide World: In Japan there is an annual feast-day for boys, when each house that is the proud possessor of male children hangs out strings of paper carp, which, inflated by the breeze, become most life-like monster fish. It was on this feast-day that we left Yokohama for Kamakura, once the eastern capital of Japan, now merely a quiet little seaside village. As it was such an important occasion, the whole world made holiday;

BEATTIE FINISHES HIS TESTIMONY IN WIFE-MURDER TRIAL

State Immediately Begins Attack on Defendant's Story.

Witnesses Say They Saw Cousins Together Week of Murder.

Prisoner Rehearses Account of the Crime Just as at Inquest.

Chesterfield, Va., Sept. 5.—After asking Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for wife murder, the one question as to how he could account for the translation of the same shotgun from the hands of Paul Beattie, his cousin, on Saturday night, to the hands of the alleged highwayman on the following Tuesday night, the prosecution ended its cross-examination of the prisoner today.

The accused denied that he knew his cousin Paul had a gun on the Saturday night in question, or that he was with him during that week.

The commonwealth thereupon began its attack upon the prisoner's story. The rebuttal was practically an attempt to corroborate Paul Beattie as to his alleged meeting with Henry on Thursday night to arrange for the delivery of a shotgun to his cousin on the Saturday following.

Saw Cousins Together.

Several witnesses testified that they saw the two cousins together on Thursday, and Mrs. E. J. Houchens, mother-in-law of Paul Beattie, stated that Henry brought Paul home in a machine that same evening.

A second point taken up by the commonwealth was an assault on E. H. Neblitt's testimony that Paul had a shotgun on the bridge where he worked on Sunday following the night of the alleged transfer of the gun to Henry. Witnesses sustained Paul that he had no gun on the bridge that day, and one man said that he was there during the time of Neblitt's visit, and saw no gun.

On Stand Again.

Henry Beattie at 9:30 today returned to the witness stand and Prosecutor L. O. Wendenburg resumed his cross-examination, court convening at an

MORE ARRESTS IN HONDURAS PLOT

Jesus Ulloa, Former Consul at New Orleans, is Accused.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 5.—According to passengers returning on steamers from Honduras today, Col. A. Valladares and Jesus Ulloa, the latter Honduran consul in this city under the Davila administration, have been ordered by the government to Tegucigalpa and forcibly detained there in connection with the alleged recent revolutionary plot. Their arrest followed soon after the arrest of Teodoro Hernandez, a wealthy planter, two weeks ago.

ITALIANS RESIST CHOLERA FIGHT

People Think Officials Are Deliberately Spreading Disease.

Chiasso, Switzerland, Sept. 5.—Since the beginning of the present year the total number of deaths from cholera in Italy has passed the 30,000 mark. Terror and superstition are causing outbreaks of violence among the inhabitants, who consider the authorities responsible for the scourge.

Health measures are opposed by the people, who think that the measures have been in effect for the purpose of spreading the infection, firmly believing that it is the desire of the authorities to kill, through poison, a large number of the people, and in that way get rid of the poor.

SEES PICTURES; SHOOTS GIRL

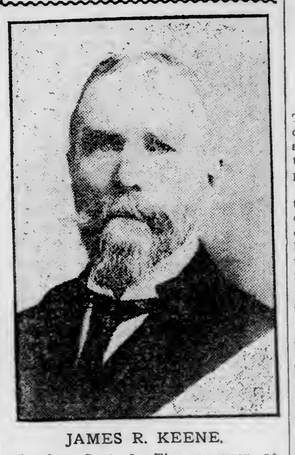

Double Crime Follows Father's Visit to the Show.

New York, Sept. 5.—At a moving picture show last night, Raffaelo Richetti and his 18-year-old daughter, Rosa, saw the story of a tragedy in which a father killed his daughter and then himself.

"I'll do that to you some day," Rosa says her father told her.

Early today Richetti crept to his daughter's bedside and shot her, then fired a bullet into his own head. Both will probably die.

FINANCIER RALLYING AFTER OPERATION

JAMES R. KEENE.

London, Sept. 5.—The surgeon attending James R. Keene, who on Sunday underwent an operation for stomach trouble, reports that the condition of the American financier this morning is favorable. There have been no complications.

Mr. Keene's family was not informed that an operation was contemplated until it had been accomplished.

MISSIONARY IS MURDERED

Rev. O. E. Davis, Adventist, Killed in British Guiana.

Georgetown, British Guiana, Sept. 5.—Rev. O. E. Davis, superintendent of the British Guiana mission of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination, the headquarters of which are at Washington, D. C., has been murdered in the interior while proselyting among the natives.

SAY MINNEAPOLIS MAN IS "RAFFLES"

Ohio Police Arrest John A. Garland as "Fashionable" Burglar.

Findlay, Ohio, Sept. 5.—John A. Garland, said to be the son of a wealthy Minneapolis manufacturer, was arrested here today charged with burglary. The police assert he is a fashionable "Raffles," and has been committing robberies for two months. They say he carried a kit of burglar tools and a revolver when he was arrested.

DRAGGED INTO CRIME; SLAIN

Theory Is Advanced for Murder of Chicago Chauffeur.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—While funeral services for Frederick Wennerstrom, the chauffeur whose body was found in the Fox river at Cary, Ill., were being held here today, dozens of detectives and the marshals from nearly every county in Northern Illinois continued their search for the men responsible for the victim's death.

Several detectives working on the case believe that Wennerstrom was the innocent helper of a band of safeblowers, who decided to put him out of the way after he had refused to become a party to their lawless acts.

PERMITS CHANGES IN CLASSIFICATION

The Commerce Commission Grants Right to Railroads.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The interstate commerce commission today granted general permission to all interstate carriers to make such changes in classification ratings, rules and regulations, affecting class freight rates now at variance with the long and short haul provisions of the law, as may be suggested in the ordinary course of business.

Changes frequently are necessary in the classifications to meet the recommendations of the committee on uniform classification, and the order was issued to facilitate the work of meeting the requirements of the law.

STATE FAIR IS DRENCHED

Rain Soaks Grounds and Makes Pond of Part of the Plaza.

St. Louis County's Exhibit Gets Much Attention From Visitors.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a thorough drenching yesterday, visitors to the state fair awoke this morning to find the rain still falling, and with no apparent prospect of bright weather.

The hard downpour of the last twenty-four hours has made serious reductions in the attendance, and some of the outdoor features have had to be postponed. These will be pulled off whenever conditions are such as to make it possible. Just at present parts of the grounds are mere mudpuddles and some other parts are under from half an inch to an inch of water.

All through yesterday, the opening day, the rain poured in torrents and the grounds were a sea of mud. This drove the visitors indoors, but even then they paid comparatively little attention to the various counties, scarce noticing any except a few of special interest. Chief among those that enforced attention was the exhibit of St. Louis county, and many hundred persons stopped in the big room decorated in red and white, to look at the products of the soil near the Zenith City.

Poor Farm Potatoes Lead.

The St. Louis county poor farm has twenty different varieties of potatoes on exhibition, grown on the county's property. It is the best exhibit of potatoes at the fair. Near it is the exhibit of Floodwood, in which A. A. Bush has the largest display of flat

THREE DIE IN WRECK ON SOO

Velvet Special, North Bound, Jumps Track at Fremont, Wis.

Fremont, Wis., Sept. 5.—Three men were killed early today when part of the Soo Line "Velvet Special," northbound train from Chicago to the Twin Cities, struck a misplaced switch near Fremont and jumped the track.

The dead:

ENGINEER AUGUST KUESTER, aged 35, North Fond du Lac, Wis.

TWO TRAMPS, names not known; riding blind baggage.

Fireman Earl Helmsden jumped from the engine and was badly bruised, but his injuries are not thought to be fatal.

It is reported a number of others were injured.

FARMER IS KILLED BY PREMATURE EXPLOSION.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—While blasting stumps at Wallace, Frank McKash, a farmer, was accidentally killed by a premature explosion.

WOULD HAVE TAFT BEATEN

Cummins Issues Statement Saying He Should Not Be Re-Elected.

Condemns Reciprocity Bill and Vetoes of Tariffs.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 5.—Asserting that he entertains none but the most friendly personal feelings for President Taft, but that the nation's chief executive does not take the "progressive view," Senator Albert B. Cummins, in a signed statement, today sets out, in a "bill of particulars," the reasons why he thinks Taft should not be returned to the presidential chair.

Among other things mentioned, Mr. Cummins points to the executive's position on the Canadian reciprocity question. That measure the senator calls "the most unfortunate act of legislation passed within the period of the present administration."

Topics of current political discussion, from the Payne-Aldrich tariff law to Taft's veto of the woolen bill and statehood measures of New Mexico and Arizona including the recall of the judiciary, are taken up one by one by Senator Cummins.

Taft Men Standpatters.

In conclusion, Senator Cummins avers that on all vital things the allies and supporters of Taft have been the reactionaries and standpatters in the senate and house, and says that if the Republican party believes in perpetuating this leadership it cannot do better than nominate President Taft. However, Mr. Cummins says, he does not believe in it, and is therefore hoping for the nomination of a Progressive Republican.

KAISER REVIEWS GERMAN FLEET

Thousands of Spectators See Maneuvers at Kiel.

Kiel, Germany, Sept. 5.—The great German naval fleet was reviewed by Emperor William in the harbor here this morning, thousands of spectators being given the opportunity to observe the program and to see the German fleet as it could take to sea tomorrow for action if necessary.

Contrary to expectations, the three newest battleships of the Ostfriesland type did not join the fleet for the review, as technically they still are undergoing trials and have not yet been enrolled in the German navy.

Though fully completed, these three 20,000-ton warships remained at anchor in the harbor and saluted the emperor as he passed out of the bay to board the flagship Deutschland.

Omaha Adopts Commission.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 5.—At a special election the city of Omaha adopted the commission form of government by a vote of 5,341 to 2,345. Those opposing the plan point out that less than one-third of the registered voters of the city cast their ballots.

New City officials will be elected under the new form in May 1912.

WAR SCARE IS GROWING

German Provincial Towns Are Filled With Wild Rumors.

Resumption of Negotiations Over Morocco Causes Fear.

Berlin, Sept. 5.—The nervousness over the protracted Franco-German negotiations with regard to Morocco seems to have increased with the resumption at the German foreign office yesterday of the conversations between the French ambassador, M. Cambon, and the German foreign minister, Herr Von Kidderlein-Waechter.

Wild rumors are being circulated in the German provincial towns. At Stettin large sums of money have been withdrawn from the savings banks, owing to rumors that war was impending. The banks are enforcing the rule that notice of the intention of depositors to withdraw funds must be given in advance, and the officials have published communications showing the baselessness of the reports.

Hear Ambassador Is Slain.

Other rumors circulated on the Alsatian frontier, to the effect that the German ambassador to France, Herr Von Schoen, had been murdered in Paris, and that Germany immediately would declare war, were strengthened by the return of a dragoon regiment to Colmar, the capital of Upper Alsace, from the scene of the army maneuvers. An outbreak of dysentery among the troops, however, was the reason for their return to barracks.

There was no meeting today between M. Cambon and Herr von Kiderlein-Waechter, but it is possible another conference will be held tomorrow after the German imperial chancellor general, von Bethmann-Hollweg, returns to the capital from Kiel, where he had been called for the meeting between the German emperor and Crown Prince Franz Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary.

Naval Power Shown.

The magnitude of Germany's naval resources now assembled was strikingly shown by the review today at Kiel. There were twenty-nine fighting ships

STREET RAILWAY CHANGES OWNERS

Fargo & Moorhead Line Sold to P. M. Byllesby & Co. of Chicago.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fargo & Moorhead Street railway was sold this morning to P. M. Byllesby & Co. of Chicago. The latter company owns the electric light plant here and at Grand Forks and Minot, in addition to many others over the Northwest. The street railway was owned by Congressman Hanna and J. W. Smith of Fargo.

The new concern will retain the present management. Possession is taken at once and the new company announces improvements and extensions, one of which probably be to Dilworth, Minn., a Northern Pacific division point.

CRISIS IS REACHED IN ILLINOIS CENTRAL DISPUTE WITH MEN

PRESENCE AT FRONTIER HAS AROUSED GERMANS

GEN. SIR JOHN D. P. FRENCH.

Paris, Sept. 5.—Gen. Sir John D. P. French of the British army has been inspecting the French fortifications on the German frontier and the Germans have got very much excited about it. Gen. French has been decorated many times for bravery and was discussed as a possible commander of the united French and English armies in case of war with Germany. The Germans seem to regard Gen. French's visit to the frontier as a threat.

Markham Refuses to Meet the Federation's Representatives.

Officials of Nine Unions Involved Meet in Conference.

Strike Plan Said to Have Been Approved By High Officials.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—The question whether a strike will be called or whether any effort will be made to adjust the controversy between the federated shop employes of the Illinois Central and the railroad, is to be settled at a conference of the officers of the international unions involved, to be held at 10:30 o'clock today.

The apparent crisis was brought about by a communication sent last night to W. F. Kramer, secretary of the Blacksmiths' and Helpers' union, by President C. H. Markham of the road, refusing to grant an audience to the federation representatives. President Markham also made it plain that he would not recognize the federation.

Despite the fact that the letter apparently left the union men the alternatives of calling a strike or receding from their demands, both President J. F. McCreery of the federation and Secretary Kramer asserted that they still had hopes that an amicable adjustment may be reached.

Union Men Confer.

The representatives of the nine international unions of the Illinois Central employes went into conference shortly after 10:30 o'clock this morning. The crafts participating in the meeting were the machinists, boilermakers, helpers, carmen, blacksmiths and helpers, steam-fitters, painters, sheet metal workers; federation union of miscellaneous workers and the railroad clerks.

Secary W. F. Kramer of the international Blacksmiths' and Helpers' union, presided at the conference.

President McCreery of the Federation of Illinois Central Railroad Employes received an important telegram from the officers of the international unions of the Harriman lines, in session in San Francisco which was said to sanction a strike if the Chicago conference decided to order a walkout of shopmen on the Illinois Central.

He declined to discuss the contents of the telegram, but admitted that it contained important information.

Hope in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 5.—The presidents of the international railroad shop unions who came to this city last week to meet Vice President Kruttschnitt of the Harriman lines, expect that by tomorrow the advisory board of the federation of shop employes of the Harriman system will be in the city. The meeting was called for Friday, but J. W. Kline, spokesman for the international presidents, said today that there may be a meeting tomorrow afternoon.

The international presidents were in conference today. Kline said there would be no decision in connection with the shopmen's demands until the advisory board arrived. Kline said he had every hope that the differences would be settled peaceably.

THINK CHILDS WAS JEALOUS

Friends of Beautiful Miss Van Wyck Explain Double Tragedy.

New York, Sept. 5.—The inquest today is expected to shed little new light upon what motive led William A. Childs, Jr., to murder Miss Catherine Van Wyck and then commit suicide last night at the girl's summer home in Quogue, L. I.

Jealousy and the anger of a rejected suitor are the causes generally ascribed by their friends.

Just before Childs shot Miss Van Wyck and then himself, they were walking together. The youth was talking excitedly and waving his arms, and the girl was emphatically shaking her head.

Miss Van Wyck belonged to a prominent Brooklyn family and was related to Former Mayors Robert A. Van Wyck and Former Supreme Court Justice Augustus Van Wyck of New York. Her father formerly was connected with the Standard Oil company and is rated as wealthy.

Friends Since Childhood.

Childs had known the girl since childhood. He would have graduated from Princeton next year. His father was an inventor prominently connected with the development of the telephone. The Childs family had recently given up their home at Englewood, N. J., and were preparing to move to California.

Two years ago Miss Van Wyck went to Europe, where her beauty attracted much attention, and she was entertained by many prominent members of the American colony in Paris while she was visiting her uncle, the former mayor. It is said that when she returned home she began to receive attentions from older men than young Childs, who was only one year her senior.

GEIDEL IS GIVEN TWENTY YEARS

Bellboy Is Sentenced for Murder of Jackson.

New York, Sept. 5.—Paul Geidel, the bellboy who murdered William H. Jackson, the broker, was sentenced today by Judge Crain in general sessions court, to serve not less than twenty years in state prison.

DISEMBOWELED BY GUN CAPS

Michigan Boy Is Killed by Explosives in His Pocket.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 5.—The exploding of gun caps which were carried in his pocket resulted in the death of Hjalmar Rosenlaff, a lad about 18 years old, while at play with a companion near Crystal Falls, Mich., yesterday.

One of the boys tried to lasso the other. When Rosenlaff stooped to escape the noose of the lasso, the caps and his knife came together in such a manner that the caps were exploded. The explosion tore away the front of his chest and abdomen so that the stomach and intestines dropped away from their places. He died a few hours afterwards.

CITY PRIMARY IN CLEVELAND

Six Candidates for Mayoralty Nominations on Ballots.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 5.—Cleveland held its municipal primary election today with 317 candidates in the field for 162 nominations. Interest centered chiefly in the mayoralty contest and the nomination of candidates for the new municipal court.

There are six candidates for mayor—two Democratic, two Republican, one Labor Democratic and one Socialistic. Newton D. Baker, political successor of the late Tom L. Johnson, and Charles P. Salen, Johnson's bitterest political enemy in the party, are the Democratic candidates; Frank G. Hogen and Miner G. Norton, the Republicans; Laurin W. Tilden, the Labor Democratic and Carl Ruthenburg, the Socialistic.

MILK MAN DROWNS IN BUTTERMILK

Tank Containing 1,000 Gallons Upsets on Driver.

Gilmore, Neb., Sept. 5.—Thomas Iler, a milkman, was drowned near here today in 1,000 gallons of buttermilk. Iler was driving a tank containing the buttermilk to this city, when the wagon dropped into a depression in the road and overturned. The tank burst and the milk filled the depression. Iler was caught beneath the tank. When occupants of a passing automobile pulled him from the pool of milk a half hour later he was dead.

French Aviator Killed.

Huehlva, Spain, Sept. 5.—A French aviator, M. Le Forrestier, while flying here yesterday, fell from a height of 250 feet and was killed. The motor exploded, setting fire to the aeroplane, and the aviator was incinerated.

SCHOOL OPENED TODAY.

CLOUDY FOR STATE FAIR

Attendance for the Second Day May Reach 50,000.

Aviator Coffyn Falls But Is Not Badly Injured.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota state fair went through another day of adverse weather today, with flying colors. At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon 22,500 persons were on the grounds, according to the turnstile record.

Early in the day the crowds began jamming into every gate, the spectators being drawn by the unusually fine exhibits and the fact that an augumented card of races will be pulled off each day, because of the postponements yesterday.

It was a gay holiday crowd in spite of the leaden skies, and both officials and exhibitors were optimistic when speaking of prospects for the remainder of the week. Prayers of the managers are for good weather. The exhibition of the rest of the week, they all agree, will break records of former years.

May Be 50,000 for Day.

It is believed that the attendance for the day will reach nearly 50,000. Large crowds from the country have been coming, apparently unmindful of the mud and rain. At noon today the fair grounds and buildings were fairly well filled with people. Although the clouds were heavy all forenoon no rain has fallen and the spectators were not inconvenienced.

"Give us two hours of sunshine and we'll break some attendance records today," said President Glotfelter of the state fair this morning, as the great crowd thronged into the grounds at such a rate as to necessitate a change of system to prevent blocking.

The race track was heavy, but bright and early the horses were jogging around the big mile track, and by noon the track had been worked into some semblance of a race course. While the going is anything but good, the board decided to start the race porgram at 1 o'clock sharp and rush it through.

Aviator Has Fall.

Although Aviator Coffyn, who attempted a flight this morning, fell from a height of about 100 feet and smashed his machine a bit, the management announced that the afternoon and evening flights would be run off.

BULLISH CLOSE IN THE COPPERS

Red Metal Shares Strong Throughout Session—Copper Up in London.

Drawn upward partly by the general rise in the New York stock list, and partly by advices from London, showing higher prices for the red metal, the copper quotations showed a strong close today. Amalgamated made very marked gains, closing $1.25 up.

Up to noon today, quotations showed well, both for coppers and general stock list. The general stock list made a weak opening. Coppers opened irregularly, but, as a general thing, standing at about the closing figure of Saturday. Coppers stood firm, for the most part, even during the early weakness of the general list. This list, however, soon began to strengthen, and before long both the Boston and New York quotations became decidedly bullish.

Advices from abroad pointed strongly to the conclusion that there would be no war between France and Germany over Morocco. The German minister of foreign affairs declared that such a war was impossible. George Gould was quoted abroad as saying that better times could not come until the politicians stopped persecuting the corporations. Basically, he said, things were all right. One bearish influence was the danger of a strike on the Harriman lines on account of the apparently irreconcilable positions of the management and the federation of the employes. Hearsey of Boston wired that he considered coppers now pretty well liquidated and that there was at present quite an opportunity for good purchases.

Among the copper quotations were following:

Amalgamated, Saturday's close, $57.75; today, $57.25, $57.50, $57.37½, $57.12½, $57.50, $58, $58.50, $59.25, $59; Butte Ballaklava, Saturday, $3.75 bid, $4.50 asked; today, $3.75, $3.75 to $4.12½; Butte Coalition, Saturday, $14.75 bid, $14.87½ asked; today, $15; Calumet & Arizona, Saturday, $50.50 bid, $51 asked; today, $50.50 to $51, $50.50, $50, $50.25, $51, $51.50, $52, $51.25; Giroux, Saturday, $4.25 bid, $4.31¼ asked; today, $4.37½, $4.25, $4.37½, $4.12½, $4.18¾; Greene Cananea, Saturday, $6 bid, $6.12½ asked; today, $6, $6.06¼; North Butte, Saturday, $23.50 bid, $24 asked; today, $23.50, $24, $23.75, $24, $24.50; Ojibway, Saturday, $5 bid, $5.50 asked; today, $5.25; Shattuck, Saturday, $14.75 bid, $15.50 asked; today, $15 to $15.50, $15.25, $15.50.

Curb—Keating, Saturday and today, $3 asked.

The Butte Balkalava Copper company has resumed ore shipments after nearly a year's suspension on account of litigation instituted by the Anaconda Copper Mining company. The Butte Balkalava company has opened up five feet of six per cent ore on the 1,400 foot level in a vein not in dispute. On the 1,200 foot level nearly two feet of bornite and copper glance is being mined and the ore shoot is steadily widening out. The ore shipments soon will be doubled. Sinking may soon be resumed.

FUNERAL FOR VICTIM OF ACCIDENT NOT YET PLANNED.

No funeral arrangements have yet been made for Charles J. Hastings, who fell from a train near the Twenty-first avenue viaduct early yesterday morning and died a few hours later at the hospital. He has a brother, E. X. Hastings, residing at Green Bay, Wis., who has been notified and is expected to arrive here this afternoon to take charge of the body. The dead man was aged 40 and was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad conductors.

GIVE DINNER TO PENNANT WINNERS.

An informal dinner in honor of the Superior Red Sox, the Minny league pennant winners, was held last evening at the Superior Commercial club. Outside of a few impromptu speeches and some story telling, there was no program. Every member of the team except Gilchrist was present as was also President Bill Sommers and Vice President Darwin Scoon of the Superior club. The banquet was in the nature of a testimonial of appreciation of the efforts of the Superior club in winning the pennant. Gilchrist, the only Red Stocking absent from the banquet board, is confined to St. Mary's hospital with typhoid fever. A toast was drunk to his quick recovery and a place was set for him at the table. After the dinner, the Red Sox and club officials were entertained by a troupe of seven players from the Savoy theater.

Bowlers Will Organize.

At a meeting Thursday evening, the Superior Bowlers' association will reorganize for the coming year and discuss the possibilites for an nter-city league, comprising teams from Superior and Duluth. The officers of the league are: H. Swanson, president; E. Berg, vice president; C. Blaxwell, treasurer; F. Swan, secretary; W. Anderson, assistant secretary, and Charles Wedge, press agent.

Broadways to Organize.

The Broadway football team will be organized for the season at a meeting of the former members and new recruits which will take place Thursday evening. It is expected that the eam will make application for admittance into the Twin Ports league, which has been proposed.

WISCONSIN MAN ON THE HOUSE NAVY COMMITTEE

ARTHUR W. KOPP.

Washington Sept. 5. — Arthur W. Kopp is a Republican member of congress from Wisconsin and is serving his second term. He is a member of the important naval affairs committee. The village of Big Patch, Wis., gained its only distinction from the fact that Mr. Kopp was born there. He now lives at Platteville, where he has been city attorney and district attorney.

WHICH IS THE REAL CANADA, ANYHOW?

BEFORE THE RECIPROCITY CAMPAIGN. AND NOW. —From the Chicago News.

Only One Recruit.

The report of the local recruiting office of the United States navy for the month of August show that only one applicant out of fifteen was received. This was John Ross, who gave his address as Center Park, B. C. He is a citizen of this country, but for some years his parents have been residing in Canada. This month is the poorest the naval department has experienced in Duluth.

Itemized Account.

The itemized account of the liabilities and assets of the Russell Motor company were filed this afternoon with the clerk of the United States court. The liabilities amount to $12,890.37 and the assets $8,338.33. This company was forced into bankruptcy proceedings a few weeks ago by a number of the creditors.

Injured in Runaway.

Carl Button was injured about the head and body yesterday afternoon when he was thrown from a runaway rig near Eighth avenue west and Sixth street. He was removed to his home at 605 East Superior street in Ford's ambulance. It is not thought that his injuries are dangerous.

Exchange Meets.

The regular monthly meeting of the Duluth Real Estate Exchange was held this afternoon at the Commercial club rooms, following which a luncheon was taken at the club. No matters other than routine business were taken up.

Council Meeting.

The meeting of the city council will be held in the council chambers this evening. Monday is the regular meeting night, but as yesterday was a legal holiday, the meeting was held over until tonight. Only routine business is scheduled. Alderman Z. D. Scott, chairman of the council committee which investigated the "paving scandal," stated this morning that he did not expect the report of the committee would be ready today.

MEXICAN HOME LIFE.

Los Angeles Times: Mexican families are proverbially large. Almost all of the actual care of children is turned over to servants, who are expected to humor every whim of their charges.

The existence of sharp caste distinctions and the preponderance of a slavelike element make a great difference between the atmosphere of American and of Mexican homes. In the latter the children are little tyrants over those who serve them. Middle and upper class parents do not educate their offspring to respect and engage in wholesome labor. There is a notable absence of discipline in the training of children.

A Mexican family, besides wife and children, includes more often than not dependent relatives. A man is bound if called upon, as though under the old Hebrew law, to care for his parents, his wife's parents, the maiden sisters on either side, as well as orphan nieces and nephews. But the same custom which provides that a woman's male relatives shall care for her also places her under their control.

The Americans it seems that the only hope of freedom for our sister of the southern republic is to become a widow. As a girl she is under the surveillance of her parents. Till she marries, if she be of the upper middle or upper class, she does not to this day go upon the street unattended. The extent to which protection of women is carried may be seen from the fact that in the higher castes they never attend burials, the experience being considered too public and excruciating for them.

The Mexican girl never sees her sweetheart alone excepting from the balcony. She knows nothing of athletics, of the independent and busy life enjoyed by the English or American girl. As to intellectual culture, some of the wealthiest senoritas are educated in Europe and many at home in music, a smattering of painting and in the languages, but they do not attempt science, history or mathematics. The majority of the women of the country know little beyond reading and writing.

The Mexican women being left more free from household cares than the women of most other countries would seem to have much opportunity for social life. But this phase with them is extremely quiet. They drive in their carriages and visit close friends or relatives. They entertain old friends on the occasion of family birthdays and saint's days. But there is lacking the busy system of calls, clubs, receptions and constant thestergoing which obtains among American women.

Till a few years ago even the shopping was done largely at home, the stores obligingly sending quantities of silks, laces or other goods for the inspection of an intending purchaser on receipt of a message borne by a servant. The custom was modified by the buyers driving to the stores and having goods brought out to their carriages. Now Mexican women shop as Americans do.

In the capital of the nation and in the state capitals there is more or less holding of official functions. Young people enter with romantic zest into their occasional balls and into garden parties held in the "alamedas" or parks of suburban towns and smaller cities. There are the peculiar Christmas festivities, lasting for a fortnight. But on account of the close chaperonage it all seems tame and oppressively formal to foreigners.

Mexican homes are pretty well closed to foreigners. But when once a stranger is admitted to the family circle he is accorded not only warm hospitality but, what is more to be appreciated, a tolerant and unmeddlesome respect. Mexicans are thorough Catholics and live under a social regime which belongs to feudal and chivalric times rather than to modern days. Yet they leave a stranger in their midst to worship or fail to worship as he may choose, to come and go and live socially after his own bent.

BLACK OPALS.

The gem most sought after in Australia is the black opal. It appears in limited quantities in the matrix of ironstone and sandstone in the Lightning Ridge district of New South Wales. It is estimated that since 1890 opals valued at over $5,500,000 have been found in the state of New South Wales. The state of Queensland also produces many opals, the production up to the present time amounting to nearly $1,000,000.

Sapphires rank next among Australian gems in value of production. They are found in New South Wales and in Queensland, chiefly in the latter state, in the gravel or creek beds. According to Daily Consular and Trade Reports, the gems show excellent fire and lustre, but the color is darker blue than the Oriental sapphire. In Queensland the present production amounts to about $75,000 per year, the total output to date being about $700,000.

Other precious gems found in different parts of Australia include emeralds, turquoises, topazzes, ircons, garnets, rubies, amethysts, tourmalines and beryls. Diamonds are found to a limited extent in New South Wales and in South Australia. In the latter state the total production up to date has been somewhat over $500,000. The diamonds found locally are used mostly for glass cutting, while South African diamonds are mostly used in the jewelry trade. Pearls found in pearl shell fishing along the northern coast of Australia are usually small, but their aggregate value is probably considerable.

Just as it pays a man to be seen associated with the successful, so it pays a store to have its announcements appear in the company of the prosperous.

"Gidding Corner"—Superior St. at First Ave. W.

To be correctly dressed—to know that your Tailored Suit, Coat, Waist, Gown, Wrap, Fur or Hat can stand muster wherever it be—East, West, North or South, is something worth thinking of when buying one's clothes.

Half the satisfaction in being well dressed, lies in the self assurance that one has the right thing.

This establishment stands pre-eminent as style arbiters—with its fashion representatives permanently stationed in the world's fashion centers—also, with its retail establishment in the heart of New York Fashiondom, Fifth Avenue at Forty-Sixth Street—it is by the very nature of things in a position to know what well-dressed women want.

Yet, because of a vast outlet for high-grade apparel we are in a position to pass them along to our patrons at sensible prices. Lower, in fact, than inferior grades usually sold for at most places.

A visit and comparison will prove this fact to you, as it has to hundreds of others who are staunch admirers and patrons of our establishment.

Autumn styles are arriving daily. See them if you wish to keep in touch with the newest in Fashiondom. Lookers or buyers are equally welcome.

ABUNDANCE OF SOFT, FLUFFY HAIR AND NO MORE DANDRUFF.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine and just try this—stops hair falling out at once.

Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff like snow beneath the blazing sun, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp; forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

WHY WE CURE MEN

It takes a builder three or four years to learn his trade thoroughly. How long would it take him to learn all trades?

The doctor who spends four years at a Medical College is incapable of treating with success all the countless diseases of men, women and children. He knows a little of everything, but nothing thoroughly. We cure diseases and weaknesses peculiar to men. This is our sole field. The true specialist never attempts to do more than he can do WELL. His persistent study, diligent research, and scientific investigations are all on the line of a few diseases. A SINGLE CLASS OF THEM, on which all his efforts are concentrated, and to which his entire practice is strictly limited. Hence, he becomes supreme in his chosen field.

We do not pretend to know all about disease. In fact, our knowledge is very limited and extends to only this one class—DISEASES OF MEN. If you are afflicted with any disease that is peculiar to men, STOMACH TROUBLE, SKIN DISEASE, BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, RHEUMATISM, OR ANY OTHER DISEASE OF A CHRONIC OR NEWLY CONTRACTED NATURE, we invite you to consult us and promise you a cure. Twenty-six years of hard and constant effort here have given us the means, methods and remedies to effect PERMANENT CURES. We assist every afflicted man to clear up and out of his body all poisons, we free him from his bad habits, we cure his maladies and return him to perfect health.

We publish no names though we have the testimony of hundreds of men, many of whom had been given up as hopeless. Our principles are HONESTY AND INTEGRITY. We have no schemes to offer you, no "Trial treatments," no cheap bargain-cures, but we DO offer you the advantage of our strict professional honesty, our superior ability and our successful experience.

A personal examination of your case is most desirable, but if it is impossible for you to call, send us an account of your trouble, ask for a symptom blank and we will give you the benefit of our knowledge by mail, confidentially.

Competition

is a worn-out fallacy of an old and obsolescent political economy. The full significance of this fact is not yet very widely realized, perhaps, but the Era of Co-operation has dawned. For thousands of years the World has tried competition, and has found it a dismal and wasteful failure. The Human Race is ready for something better.

That something-better is Co-operation. Co-operation is the watch-word of the time. No great work, no great business, no great movement for the amelioration of suffering, for the betterment of any community, can be carried on—nay, can even be started—without co-operation.

Competition sacrifices, wastes, destroys, kills. Co-operation saves all, helps all, builds up for all.

Just as surely as International Arbitration must and will eventually take the place of war, Co-operation must and will eventually supercede competition, which in the final analysis is nothing but commercial warfare.

You may think that it is a far cry to that time. But a beginning has been made.

In the field of public utilities it is now almost universally acknowledged that competition is criminally wasteful, disastrous, ruinous. "Competition as a guarantor of good service and a regulator of rates has failed," says Prof. B. H. Meyer, Chairman of the Wisconsin Commission. And every Public Service Commission in the country agrees with him.

A municipal electric plant in Duluth means competition—war to the knife—with the Duluth-Edison Electric Company, and means that YOU, THE TAXPAYERS, will have to finance that war—will have to pay for it.

On the other hand: YOU can prevent enormously higher taxes; YOU can stop the increase of the City debt by hundreds of thousands of dollars; YOU can secure for Duluth the best bargain in public lighting enjoyed by any city in America; YOU can insure to the users of Electric Light in this City a saving of $30,000 a year; YOU can prevent the City's taking a backward step that would do more than anything else to injure and retard the development of Duluth for a quarter of a century to come.

How? Simply by co-operating with this company.

Will YOU do it? Just let your aldermen know where YOU stand on this question of piling up a gigantic city debt and making taxes climb higher and higher for a needless municipal plant.

MAY BUY AN AUTOMOBILE

County Commissioners Seem to Favor Machine for the Sheriff.

Meeting of County Board Will Be Held at Courthouse Wednesday.

The matter of an automobile for the sheriff will probably be taken up and discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the county commissioners, which will be held tomorrow in the board room at the courthouse.

It is known that a number of the commissioners are heartily in favor of giving the sheriff authority to purchase a machine, as from figures recently given out it would be much cheaper for the county to own its own conveyance.

Some of the commissioners are in favor of getting two machines. One would be used by the sheriff, the county commissioners and the probate judge. The other would be for the use of the sheriffs on the range.

The commissioners say that with a car they would go out about the county more and would be able to do better work on the roads, as they would know exactly their condition at all times. At present this is impossible, as the work is spread all over the county, and to go over it would take many days.

Annually the sheriff spends enough money for the hire of livery rigs to pay for an automobile. The rigs are used to carry prisoners to and from the courthouse. The amount spent each year by the sheriff's office does not include the amount spent by the probate judge for livery hire.

The commissioners seem to be greatly in favor of getting at least one car, and it is probable that the matter will come up for discussion at the meeting tomorrow.

There are also some road matters to come up. Secretary Walker says that they are of the usual routine kind, however.

The levy was to have been decided, but it is thought that it will be put over until a later meeting.

Biggest Family Tree.

The biggest family tree in the world is believed to be the one which traces the geneology of Queen Elizabeth back to King David and thence to Adam, or as near as one could get to the first man. The coat of arms is given in nearly every case, with full particulars of births and deaths. The chart measures forty-five feet. No such large chart is necessary to tell the history of golden grain belt beers, made perfect by recent discoveries of bacteria preventing processes, and health giving forces. Just try them—that's all. Buy of your dealer or duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

At the Threshold of a New Season!

Already our stocks are rapidly augmenting with the new Fall modes, and this week finds us prepared to show prevailing Paris fashions in Gowns, Robes, Tailored Suits, Coats and Skirts, together with the new Silks, Dress Goods and Trimmings. As the most striking of these come in they are covetously bought by women who trust in this store and its authoritative style showing. Of course, equally as good looking garments and goods daily replace those sold. The Millinery, too, is already receiving marked attention from women who had their hats from us last season and who come back with increased enthusiasm over their purchases. Below we outline a few new arrivals of especial note and beauty:

The New Suits

Follow the most approved of the models brought over from Paris. Longer coats, mostly 28 and 30 inch, with an occasional 32-inch model; some plain tailored and others prettily trimmed The skirts are slightly fuller than last spring but still maintain their straight lines. The suits shown here are "different" than you will find in other Duluth shops, as they were selected after the Paris Dressmakers' Exhibition on Aug. 15th, when it was definitely known just what might be expected in style innovations. Examine them for yourself and see that "difference."

Plain Tailored Models, $25, $35. $45 and $57.50.
Fancy and Trimmed Suits, $37.50, $47.50, $52.50 and $65.

Smart Coats

The effort this Fall is to supply "comfortable and roomy" coats in soft materials. Some are rough finished, others of fine weaves. Many are reversible with contrasting colors, forming the collar and reveres. The Polo coat has come to occupy a permanent place, especially for young girls and small women. For those of normal or large build the range is large, from a tailored diagonal coat to an imported vicuna.

For Misses, $10,75, $15, $19.50, $25.
For Women, $19.50, $25, $35 $45.

The New Hats

are ready in profusion of style and shapes. Among the new arrivals are:

Stunning Street Hats of Felt, Velour and Velvet.
Quaint Misses' Hats of Corduroy, Scotch Mixtures and Felt.
Dressy Picture Hats, elaborately trimmed.
Semi-Dress Pattern Hats of Velvet and Scratch Felt.
All so reasonably priced that they will meet the needs of any purse.

NOTE—Mrs. Cate, Miss Campbell and our full corps of milliners are back and already busy with the new season's styles, so there need be no delay in making selections. They will tell you what is proper and becoming, the result of observation and study in the leading Eastern fashion style centers during the past four weeks.

DENAZ ON TRIAL AT VIRGINIA

Murder Several Months Ago Is Being Looked Into.

Virgina, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bruno Denaz was placed on trial today on a charge of murder in the first degree. It is alleged that he deliberately shot and killed Joe Bruner at Biwabik several months ago. A jury will be secured and the case will probably continue over tomorrow. The defendant claims the victim owed him $35 and when he went to collect it Bruner, with a shotgun, fired twice at him and then Denaz pulled a revolver and shot Bruner.

DISCRIMINATION IN FREIGHT RATES

Traffic Commission Complains Against Roads Operating to South Dakota.

Discrimination against Duluth and in favor of the Twin Cities, in freight rates between Duluth and South Dakota points, is alleged in a complaint prepared by the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club. The complaint will be filed with the interstate commerce commission this week.

All railroads operating between Duluth and South Dakota points are named as defendants in the action. It is charged that the rates maintained make the entrance of Duluth jobbers into South Dakota almost prohibitive, while favorable rates are maintained to the Twin Cities.

A similar complaint, covering rates to North Dakota territory, has already been filed with the Interstate commerce commission. With the grain rate case and the lake and rail rate case pending, the Duluth traffic commission is busy trying to straighten out Duluth's traffic troubles through the commerce commission. Appeals were first made to the railroad companies, but they availed nothing, and now more drastic action is being taken.

Baseball at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virgina and Superior league team play three games here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

MARINE

BOATS DELAYED BY STORM ON LAKE

Only One Steamer Left Port in Twenty-Four Hours.

Owing to the rough sea on Lake Superior during the past twenty-four hours, only one ship has ventured from the local harbor, this being the Juniata, of the Anchor Line, which left last evening. According to reports from masters of vessels which entered the harbor this morning, the weather on the lake was quite severe.

A wireless was received this morning by local representatives of the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company stating that the steamer Minnesota, which is due here at noon today, will not arrive until 3 o'clock tomorrow morning. As she has a heavy cargo of merchandise to unload, and is scheduled to take down another big load to Chicago, she will be unable to leave here until noon tomorrow. She is said to have a capacity list of passengers, and will return with a boat full.

The Huronic, of the Northern Navigation company, also due at noon, will not arrive for several hours. According to a message from the ship's master, she will be here at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY HYDROGRAPHIC OFFICE.

The United States hydrographic offices announces that about Sept. 15, the characteristic of the submarine fog-signal on Gray's reef light vessel, northern end of Lake Michigan, will be changed, and from that date the bell will sound seven strokes followed by a silent interval of ten seconds. No other change will be made. Approximate position: Latitude 45 deg. 46 minutes 51 seconds N., longitude 85 deg. 10 minutes 34 seconds W.

The department also announces that about Sept. 20, a submarine fog-signal bell will be established in forty feet of water about three-fourths mile 50 deg. 30 minutes from White Shoal light station, northern end of Lake Michigan. During thick or foggy weather this bell will sound the number 23 at regular intervals, thus, two strokes, silent interval two strokes, three strokes, silent interval seven seconds. The position of the submarine bell will be marked by a white spar buoy.

Masters of vessels are warned not to anchor between the buoy and the light, and fishermen must not use nets in the vicinity.

Approximate position of White Shoal light station, latitude 45 deg. 50 minutes 30 seconds N., longitude 85 deg. 08 minutes 08 seconds W.

STEAMER RELEASED AFTER COAL IS THROWN OUT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 5. — The steamer D. Z. Norton was released from the beach north of here last night after 2,000 tons of coal had been thrown into the lake to lighter the steamer as a rising wind, it was feared, might imperil the vessel.

Vidette to Ontonagon.

The United States steamer Videtta, of the engineering corps will leave either this afternoon or this evening for Ontonagon, Mich., where the government will make about $5,000 worth of repairs to the crib, most of which will consist of decking and filling in with rock. The vessel will stop at Houghton on its way down to take on material needed for this work. She will be gone about ten days or two weeks.

BANDAGED ARM WAS A "FAKE"

Police Arrest Beggar and Find Him Able to Work.

With his arm wrapped in bandages and a look of patiently bearing up under excruciating pain, James Wise, labeled by the police as a professional beggar, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Oscar Olson while begging on the Bowery.

At the police station not a mark was visible on the arm when the bandage was removed. He pleaded guilty to begging and got $10 or fifteen days, but sentence was suspended with the understanding that he would get out of town before noon. Wise was passing out cards stamped with the legend, "Please give what you can," and the verse:

"If a little act of kindness
Gave you courage when you thought
All the world was dark and lonesome,
Live the lesson that is taught.

"Give a helping hand to others;
As they need it, you may need;
All the world is made the brighter
By a generous, kindly deed."

BIG DITCH CONTRACT IN ROSEAU AND KITTSON LET.

Karlstad, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Ditch No. 95 in Roseau and Kittson counties, the only drainage project undertaken by the state this year, has been let for construction to William Sherwood of Alexandria, Minn., for 7.97 cents per yard, or a total cost of $167,645. The estimated cost placed upon this work by State Drainage Engineer George Ralph was $200,000. The contract calls for the handling of 1,800,000 cubic yards of earth, 103 miles of ditch, 92 miles of road, 105 culverts and 7 bridges. Of this the state pays $12,000 as its share of the assessments on state land.

VETERAN ENGINEER DIES SUDDENLY AT BRAINERD.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry J. Cunningham, for thirty-five years a locomotive engineer of the Northern Pacific railway, his last run being from Brainerd to Morris, died of heart disease early Sunday morning. He was a Mason and Knight Templar, and the funeral will be under Masonic auspices.

STOMACH MISERY JUST VANISHES

No Indigestion, Sourness, Gas or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common, every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid. Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath with nauseous oders.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

Mile Posts of Age Banished From Skin

(Fashion's Mirror.)

Women with aged, wrinkled or rough, unlovely skins will be delighted to learn of a new and simple lotion that permanently removes every vestige of dead cuticle and causes wrinkles, fine lines, pimples, blackheads and other blemishes to vanish as if by magic. This lotion is made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in 8 ounces of witch-hazel.

When used as a massage, the mayatone lotion gradually removes the outer layer of dead or roughened skin, revealing the under pink and white velvet-like structure in all its virgin purity and rich embellishment. No powder or rouge is necessary when the mayatone lotion is used, and as it is greaseless, there need be no fear of its encouraging the growth of hair.

WOMAN'S REALM.

At a beautiful and impressive wedding service, read yesterday afternoon by Rev. Robert Yost of the First Presbyterian church, Miss Madge Millar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Millar, became the bride of Clay Beckwith. The service was read at 4 o'clock at the Millar residence, 1531 East Third street, in the presence of about sixty guests.

The house was transformed into a perfect bower of green and white for the occasion, the rooms being artistically decorated with a profusion of Southern smilax and white asters, and in the living room a pretty canopy was arranged under which the wedding party stood. In the dining room sweet peas and roses were used with the smilax.

The large porch was screened in with vines and evergreens and a quantity of golden glow and nasturtiums added bright touches to the scene.

Preceding the wedding ceremony Mrs. R. C. Caples of New York sang "Because," a beautiful little number which created a charming atmosphere.

The bridal party then descended the stairs to the strains of Lohengren's wedding march, played by A. F. M. Custance. The bridesmaids, Miss Isabel Patrick and Miss Barbara Rupley, headed the procession and stretched the white satin ribbons marking an aisle for the rest of the party. Miss Rachel St. Clair as maid of honor was next and the bride followed on the arm of her father. Mr Beckwith was attended by Walter Cheney as best man.

After the ceremony Mrs. Caples again sang several numbers.

Miss Millar made one of the prettiest brides of the season in an exquisite gown of white satin with an overgown of white net with wide panels of duchess lace. It was made with a round neck and very short sleeves and long square court train. Her veil fell over the entire gown and was fastened into a dainty little cap of the lace and a few lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids and an interesting little innovation which she introduced was the concealing of a miniature ring, thimble, coin, wishbone, and bachelor button in different strands of the shower arrangement of her bouquet, which she clipped off and tossed down to the guests. Miss Barbara Patrick, who is to be one of this month's brides, received the coin which donates riches and the ring which donates the approaching marriage. Miss Isabel Patrick caught the wishbone, and Fred Brick caught the bachelor's button. The name of the maiden who caught the thimble is a secret and Miss Margaret Anneke caught the rest of the bouquet.

Miss St. Clair wore a handsome gown of rose-colored chiffon over white satin with gold trimmings, and her hat was of pink, trimmed with a large American beauty rose and blue forget-me-nots. Miss Patrick's gown was of yellow chiffon over pink and she wore a hat of the same colors trimmed with tiny pink rose buds. Miss Rupley wore a gown of ecru marquisette embroidered in blue, made over white satin, with a hat made entirely of pink roses. All of the attendants carried arm bouquets of pink roses.

Mrs. Caples' gown was of embroidered ecru net over gold-colored crepe with elaborate trimmings of Irish lace and marabon.

After an informal reception at the home following the ceremony and the cutting of the wedding cake, which was a huge heart of angels' food, by the bride and the tossing of the bouquet, Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith and the members of their bridal party went to the steamer Juniata, where they had a delightful dinner party. Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith left on the same steamer for a trip East, where they will visit for a month. They will be at home at the Berkshire flats after Oct. 15.

Johnson-Vince.

A wedding of interest, which will take place this evening, is that of Miss Pearl Louise Johnson and Washington C. Vince, both of this city. The ceremony will be performed at the home of Mr. Vince's uncle, George Martin, 2130 East Third street, at 8 o'clock, Dr. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church officiating.

The ceremony will be performed in the presence of relatives and only a few of their intimate friends. The bride will have as her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Mabel Johnson, and Stephen Dingman will be best man. Miss Olive Kreitter will play the wedding march and Arthur Kreitter will sing two solos before and after the ceremony.

The bride's gown is of white chiffon over rose-colored silk and she will carry killarney roses. The maid of honor will wear a gown of marquisette over green silk and carry white sweet peas, and Mrs. Martin will wear a gown of yellow chiffon over yellow satin.

The Martin residence has been beautifully decorated for the occasion with garden and wild flowers.

In the living room, where the ceremony will be performed, masses of delicate flowers have been arranged and a pretty altar has been improvised of palms and dainty white blossoms. In the hall and on the wide staircase, golden glow and goldenrod are arranged in big bowls, the dining room is in green and white and sweet peas and ferns and in the sun room wild flowers are effectively arranged.

Mr. Vince and his bride will leave this evening for a short trip and upon their return will be at home at No. 8 Chester terrace.

Redlock-Sternal.

Miss Ida B. Redlock and Stanley W. Sternal were married yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Polish Catholic church by Rev. S. A. Ickek. The bride wore a white chiffon dress made over white silk, with a long bridal veil and she carried a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes C. Redlock, as bridesmaid, who wore a white marquisette over pink silk and a large white picture hat. Her bouquet was of pink roses. Little Miss Lucile Poterek was the flower girl, carrying a beautiful basket of sweet peas, and Master Edward Kazmier was ring bearer, carrying the ring in a lily.

Mr. Sternal was attended by George S. Malecki as best man and the ushers were William Bird and Frank Borskl.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, smilax and white asters. A large arch was made of the smilax and a pretty bunch of asters tied with white satin ribbons marked each pew.

During the ceremony John Koneczny sang.

HAS SCORED TRIUMPH IN GERMAN CAPITAL

MME. LA SALLE RABINOFF.

Mme. La Rabinoff, who made her debut in Chicago last January and later surprised Boston opera goers with a clear, sweet coloratura soprano, has now sung to German opera goers and scored a success in Berlin. Mr. Dippel discovered Mme. Rabinoff, who is a Nebraska girl. Her experience had been confined to the City of Mexico. She was successful there, as she was afterwards in Chicago and Boston. Now she has added a European triumph to her record.

THE EVENING STORY

LESSONS IN LOVE.

By Gwendolyn Brewster.

"Up stage, please, Miss Truman!" shouted the stage manager, waving a packet of papers at a frightened looking girl, who, as the directions came across the empty stalls, appeared more bewildered than ever. "Please—oh, for goodness' sake, move! Don't stand there like a statue. I said 'up stage,'" roared Jordan stamping his foot, as Barbara Truman came a little nearer to the footlights.

"I do not know what 'up stage' means, Mr. Jordan," she said gently.

A laugh rose from the group of actors and actresses leaning against a pile of scenery on the otherwise bare stage, and one tall, handsome man laughed a little louder than the others, and turned to the stage-manager's wife, whispered, and then a woman's titter of amusement was heard. Barbara grew hotter and hotter.

"Don't know what 'up stage' means! Good heavens, woman, where were you for us! Go off; we must get on with the next scene. Hi! next scene, please;" Jordan called to a few stage hands standing ready to shift a few benches, wooden boxes and chairs, which at first rehearsals represented marble terraces, rustic arbors, and waterfall.

Slowely, almost dazed by the bullying, Barbara walked off the stage, her eyes full of tears, and her tiny hands clenched together. This was her first time on the stage, whither she had come from necessity, and assistance, as far as introductions went, of the actor playing lead. Norman Masters had told her that she would make a splendid actress, and that her life was being wasted in toiling at home giving music lessons to unwilling pupils.

Norman Masters, also, had slowly but surely won a little corner of her heart during the three months he had boarded with her widowed mother. But the advent of the handsome and fascinating actor had been far from welcomed by Ralph Sykes, a reserved young man, who was the only other paying guest in Mrs. Brewster's household. He was a struggling doctor, with his way to make, so that he crushed his love for Barbara down into his heart, where it refused to die, however, but flourished and grew apace.

Ralph knew Barbara was young and thirsting for a life which would take her away from all drudgery, and he was not surprised when he heard of her engagement as a "walk on" at the new theater. The words 'up stage' beat into Barbara's brain as being utterly meaningless, and even as she was pondering over them she heard Jordan talking to Norman on the other side of the stage exit, near which she was standing.

"Why, man, she can't understand the simplest directions; Whatever made you bring her here? I thought she had some experience. All she's fit for is to be knocked into shape by some touring panto company. There's no time in a big theater to train youth and beauty; we're not kindergarten," ended Jordan, exhausting all his energies in the speech, and pausing to take another breath.

"For that matter, she pestered the life out of me to introduce her. I gave in because life was becoming intolerable, and I didn't want to shift my quarters—her mother makes particularly good coffee," answered Norman languidly, as he strolled away to answer his cue.

Barbara felt as though her cup of misery was full to overflowing, and tired, hungry, and strung up to breaking point, the tears insisted upon coming. Slowly they ran down her face as she thought of the words she had just heard. "Pestered the life out of me!" As she remembered the sentence she imagined she must be in some ugly dream. Why, it had been Norman who had suggested going upon the stage! He had never allowed an opportunity pass of persuading her to enter upon the new life, and of painting glowing colors.

"All ladies to go slowly up stage when Mr. Masters comes down terrace. Yes, that's right. Thank heavens some one knows that it's the back of the stage I mean!" shouted Mr. Jordan once more. But the information as to the meaning of the words which caused Barbara's downfall did not interest the girl now, and she watched the proceedings listlessly, longing to run away and forget that such a place as the theater had ever existed.

Presently the scene was over, and, to Barbara's surprise, Norman came over to her side. "Well, Miss Brewster, and how are you enjoying this play work?" he asked patronizingly.

"Not at all, Mr. Masters," answered Barbara trying to speak casually. "I should not call it 'play work.' I think it is the hardest task I have ever experienced. I ache all over with fatigue."

"Pooh! That's nothing. You'll soon get used to it. Aren't you glad I suggested this new life for you?" asked Masters irritably, an angry gleam in his eyes.

"No; and I am glad to hear you say that you were responsible for me coming here. Just now I thought you said that I had pestered the life out of you. Oh, why—why did you bring me here?" And Barbara held out her hands as though begging for one comforting word from the man before her. Norman Masters bit his lips, and his eyes grew dark with anger.

"Eavesdroppers never hear—well, you know the rest. As to why I persuaded you to come into the same company as myself, the explanation is an easy one. I wanted to flirt with you, amuse myself with the heart of a thoroughly unsophisticated girl. Also, my friend, Ralph Sykes, I wanted to spoil his pretty love dream, for no other reason than mere dislike of the book devouring man, and so thought it might prove an amusing pastime to—er—put a spoke in his wheel. But both proved dull. You could not, or would not, flirt, and Ralph Sykes seemed to keep out of the game altogether, so I became bored."

"You—cad!" Barbara faltered, her white lips trembling.

"Ah, well," laughed Norman, as though amused, "your mother will miss the cad's money, for he leaves her select house tonight," and, turning upon his heel, he disappeared through a stage exit.

An hour later still found Barbara standing in the wings, weary and miserable, and waiting for permission to go. The last scene of the play was about to commence, and a heavy piece of scenery was being let down from the flys. It was a gigantic bridge from which the hero, Norman Masters, was to dive to save the heroine from drowning. It was the only scenery that was ready, and it remained poised in mid air so that no time should be lost in lowering it down on the stage.

Barbara watched the huge thing swaying slowly above the hero's head as he rehearsed his preliminary lines, and shuddered as she thought of the possibility of its failing. But she soon forgot all about it in the misery of her shattered dreams. Norman did not care for her, and he had failed her in her hour of need, when one little word of praise might have weighed the scales in her favor. She knew that her love was dead.

"What's that creakin'?" one stage hand suddenly asked another, looking up as he spoke. Barbara gazed at the bridge instinctively, but it appeared to be quite stationary. "There it is again," muttered the man.

"You've got the umps, Bill—that's wot it is," observed his companion carelessly.

"Lower the bridge!" broke in Jordan's shout; and instantly the men in the flys lowered the ropes. "Out of the way! Out of the way, Masters!" shrieked the manager as the scenery began to move. But the warning came too late, for there was a mighty rending of rope, and, with a crash which seemed to shake the building, the scenery plunged on to the stage, the ropes breaking like threads. Barbara covered her eyes with her hands, feeling sick with horror. Presently she became conscious that someone was bending over the injured man, but a curious noise was ringing in her ears, and people around her became like shadows.

"He will live, but only to be a cripple for the rest of his life," said a familiar voice in professional tones, and, looking up as though in a dream, Barbara saw Ralph Sykes. With a little moan; she fell forward, and he caught her in his arms.

A month later Barbara was sitting in her mother's tiny drawing room watching a departing pupil down the road, and she failed to hear the door open and shut softly. "Dreaming?" a quiet voice asked her, and she found Ralph standing beside her.

"Yes," she answered simply, but she wondered why her heart beat so quickly. "I am wondering what I am to do when all my pupils grow too advanced for me. I have not even the stage as an alternative now," she added, in a low voice.

"I wonder how you would like to be a pupil instead?" And Ralph looked tenderly at the fragile form.

"A pupil?" she echoed.

"Yes—to learn the lesson of love." Barbara's cheeks grew pink, and her hands trembled.

"I don't — know," she murmured. Ralph imprisoned her hands in his.

"Might I give you an example of my teaching?" he asked softly.

"Yes," same the low answer; "but I think you have already taught me a little."

Ralph took her in his arms, and she nestled her head on his shoulders. "My pupil—forever and ever! My sweetheart—the girl I love!" he whispered.

BRIDGE GOES ON WINTER SCHEDULE

Trips Every Twenty Minutes Except in the Rush Hours.

With the passing of the summer season and its heavier travel, the aerial bridge across the ship canal will be placed on a slower schedule. Beginning tomorrow the ten minute service will be in effect between 6 and 7 a. m., 12 o'clock and 1 p. m., and 5:20 and 6:40 p. m. The remainder of the time the bridge will operate on a twenty minute schedule, except between midnight and 6 a. m. when the car will be operated every thirty minutes, subject to call. A member of the board of public works stated this morning that he has been informed that the Interstate Traction company, which operates the Park Point street cars, has eliminated the extra service which was given during the summer months.

BIRD SEASON SOON TO OPEN

Hunters Already Taking Out Licenses at County Auditor's Office.

Partridges Said to Be Plentiful; Duck Season Opens Thursday.

Hunters are already beginning to take out licenses to shoot partridges. The licenses have been going out since last week when the first call was made for them. In all about fifty licenses have already been issued.

The licenses are taken out by those who expect to shoot and ship birds from points in other counties. No license is required by residents of St. Louis county to shoot birds in the home county.

The licenses cost $1 each, the same as licenses to shoot deer. The money taken in goes to the state game and fish commission. The season opens Oct. 1.

The call for licenses this year is much earlier than usual. As a usual thing hunters do not begin coming in for them until a day or two before the season opens.

The season for ducks begins Sept. 7. Thursday it will be lawful to shoot ducks in Minnesota, but as the weather is said to be very unfavorable for them, it is probable that but few will fall for the next month or so. The ideal weather for ducks is said to be what is known as "Indian summer." This period of the season comes later in the year. At that time there is usually a heavy frost in the early morning while during the day the sun shines warm and clear.

Partridges are plentiful this year, it is said. Those who have been in the woods say that never have they seen so many birds.

The deer season opens Nov. 10. About a month from this time the annual rush for deer licenses will be on at the auditor's office, it is expected. So great was the rush last year that an extra clerk had to be put on whose sole duty it was to issue licenses to hunters.

STATEMENT OF BANKS CALLED AS FOR SEPT. 1.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks of the United States at the close of business on Friday, Sept. 1, 1911.

CHILDREN ASK PERMITS

Many Would Take Positions Instead of Going to School.

Law Now Rigid and But Few Permits Are Being Issued.

Miss Jean Poirier, deputy state factory inspector, is besieged today with applications for permits to work.

During the past week the matter of permits for children who are under sixteen years of age and who have not graduated from the common schools, has kept Miss Poirier busy at her office at the courthouse.

Out of 110 who have made application for permits during the last week only a small porportion have been granted. The state law in regard to compulsory education is rigid. The poverty clause has been dropped and no excuse is taken other than that the child has either reached the age of sixteen or has passed the eighth grade.

Miss Poirier says that it is undoubtedly a fact that many families are in need, and that this need is what presses them to send the children to work. In cases of this kind the matter is referred to the Associated Charities. A representative of the society calls on the family, learns the cause of the poverty and helps them by the aid of other societies.

The new law was evidently made so that every child in the state would have educational advantages until he or she has reached the age of sixteen or has graduated from the common schools.

To refuse to send a child to school is a misdemeanor under the law and the offender can, when proven guilty, be sentenced to jail for a period not to exceed thirty days. It can be made to pay a fine of not to exceed $50. Any one who encourages a child to stay away from school is also guilty of a misdemeanor.

Miss Poirier's office is a busy place these days. Many do not know how strict the law is this year and many are disappointed when they find that they cannot get permits for their children.

THE HERPICIDE GIRL KNOWS.

While shopping the most annoying thing for me is to have someone try to sell me something "just as good" when I ask for Newbro's Herpicide. To be sure there are not many druggists who do this, but what few there are should know that such a policy will destroy the customer's confidence. When they try it on me I never wait for the story, simply hunt a store where they will sell me what I want.

It is absurd for anyone to say that a preparation is as good as Herpicide. I don't think they believe it themselves. Every druggist knows that there is but one genuine, original dandruff germ destroyer and that is Newbro's Herpicide.

It keeps the head free from dandruff, prevents the hair from coming out and stops itching of the scalp.

Herpicide is really a wonderful remedy which does just what you want and expect it to do.

One dollar size bottles are guaranteed. Sold by all druggists. Applications at good barber shops.

Dutch cabbage. By his side is the squash from the Jean Duluth farm and another squash from Lewis Graff from Floodwood.

There are "fifty seven varieties" of vegetables grown on St. Louis county farms to be seen. A. B. Hostetter of of the Duluth Commercial club is in charge of the exhibit.

Record Poultry Display.

More than two thousand chickens, turkeys, geese, ducks and squabs are exhibited this year in the poultry building at the extreme north end of the grounds. According to Lester Parlin, superintendent of the department, it is the largest display of birds ever brought to the fair, and he has been in charge of the department for twenty-eight years.

"We have never had anything to equal it," he said.

Big, husky brahmas and cochins, leghorns, wyandottes, Plymouth rocks, game birds, bantams as well as an endless variety of fancy fowls are shown. The barnyard melody that emanates from the brown brick building is vociferous, and it starts before sunrise and lasts till after sundown. The shrill cry of the bantam mingles with the squawk of the goose and the quack of the duck with the call of chanticleer. It is an endless cackle.

See Incubator in Use.

An incubator in which a hundred little white leghorns are hatching attracts much attention. It is lighted so persons may peep in and see the chicks just cracking their shells, see them struggling to rise on unsteady legs, and rolling down into the little brooder beneath. Next to this incubator is another, stocked with eggs which are due to hatch Thursday. Close by is an exhibit of pigeons, (squabs, they are called when served at fashionable hotels and restaurants.) The birds are from the coops of a St. Paul firm which has 10,000 pairs of imported birds.

The fowls are all in good condition and are overcoming the nervousness which was evident when they were first placed in the big hall. That is, all are getting over it except the gamecocks. These long-bodied, tall, angular birds are unhappy and ill-humored. They appear wild to get from their coops into some of those nearby and settle the crowing privilege. For a time, one of the attendans said, the gamecocks seemed endeavoring to answer all the defis hurled at them by mere barnyard fowls. But they have given this up as a hopeless task now, and are merely walking around their cages, "mad through and through." Their antics attract much attention.

"Convention of Animals."

In front of a log cabin in the northeast corner of the grounds, a "Convention of Animals" was advertised by a fur dealing firm. In front there stood an enormous specimen of mountain lion—a "critter" that measured fully five feet from tip to tip. Long ago his natural life ended, but its appearance attracted the attention of all the old woodsmen who had heard the shriek of the mountain lion in the night.

"They used to be heard in the north woods," one old-timer said as he looked at the work of the taxidermist. "Many a lumberjack has quailed as he listened."

"Ain't it fierce to be lonesome?" says a card got out by an implement firm in Minneapolis. "Well, let's get acquainted," it adds.

Many young men had fun with the cards as they passed them out to pretty girls during the afternoon.

Another card said: "Any show for a pleasant chap like me? Your address, please?"

Too Wet for Concert.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a band concert was to have been given in the Plaza. At 2 o'clock the Plaza resembled White Bear or Bald Eagle or Minnetonka at floodtime. A large, extensive pond had formed on the green, and a miniature lake surrounded the benches where listeners were expected to sit. There was no concert. Instead, visitors sought shelter anywhere the rain did not percolate.

earlier hour than usual so as to complete the prisoner's testimony today.

Judge Watson announced that it seemed to the court that the case, along its main lines, had been developed carefully and at great length, and that the case had reached a stage where the court would be justified in placing some limit on counsel.

He added that owing to the two and a half hours of direct examination and the cross-examination of three and a half hours yesterday, the examination of the prisoner should not be a test of physical endurance, and that the court would permit an hour more of cross-examination and only a half hour of redirect examination.

Resumed Cross-examination.

Cross-examination of the prisoner, when dusk interrupted its progress yesterday, had reached a point where Prosecutor Wenderburg had touched upon Henry's alleged intimacy with his cousin, Paul Beattie, before the murder, his relations with Beulah Binford as the supposed motive for the crime, and the preliminary details of the homicide itself.

The prosecution continued to contend that the prisoner sat on his wife's body to conceal it during his flying trip to the Owens home.

Today the prosecution was ready to renew its fusillade of questions upon that portion of the story of the accused which the latter claims to have told to various people immediately after he reached the Owens home in South Richmond with his dead wife.

Beattie's Lawyer Pleased.

"I think Beattie stood up well under the cross-examination of yesterday," said Harry M. Smith, Jr., one of the lawyers for the defendant, "and he has certainly made a good witness for himself."

The prosecution believes that Beattie admitted enough on the witness stand yesterday to make it possible for them to introduce in rebuttal many new witnesses to controvert certain important points of his testimony.

Prosecutor Wendenburg said he only intended to ask one or two questions.

"Mr. Beattie," he began, "will you explain how the same gun which your cousin bought on Saturday night was in the woods on the Midlothian turnpike that night?"

"I didn't know anything about the gun. I didn't see it till the highwayman raised it."

"And will you admit that if your wife hadn't suggested the ride you would not have been there—"

"No. My mind wasn't made up as to the ride when my wife suggested it."

"Well, how did the man with the gun know that you and your wife were going up the road that night?"

"I protest," said counsel for the defense, and the judge sustained them.

On Stand Seven Minutes.

Mr. Wendenburg here concluded his cross-examination.

Mr. Smith said no redirect examination was intended, and the prisoner was excused at 9:37 o'clock, just seven minutes after he took the stand.

Only a meager crowd was in the courtroom on account of the early hour.

Paul Beattie, cousin of the accused, was brought to the vicinity of the courthouse by the prosecution and Mr. Wendenburg said he intended to put him on the stand in rebuttal.

The prisoner walked back to the bar, surprised at the brevity of his examination, asking Judge Watson as he rose from the witness chair if there were not additional questions.

"That will be all," replied the judge, who remarked that perhaps he had been over-generous in his limitation upon counsel.

Testifies in Rebuttal.

Harry Latham was the first witness called by the prosecution in rebuttal. Latham was alleged to have stated that while with the prisoner preceding the murder, Beattie immediately after leaving a telephone, said he was going to Short and Main streets in Richmond. Paul Beattie had testified that he met Henry on Thursday night at this intersection. The prosecution attempted to show that the telephone conversation concerned the alleged meeting.

In his testimony, however, Latham maintained that all he knew was that Beattie had mentioned going to Short and Main streets. He knew nothing as to the previous telephone conversation or whom the accused intended to meet at the corner.

W. R. Hart, who was with Latham, was called. He said he had been a friend of the accused for fifteen years. On the Thursday night preceding the murder, Hart said he overheard Beattie say on the telephone, "Will be there in fifteen minutes," and that when he came from the telephone the accused explained he was going to take Paul Beattie and his wife out riding.

Paul's Mother-in-law Called.

Mrs. A. B. Houchens, mother-in-law of Paul Beattie, next took the stand. Living in the same house with Paul, she was asked if she knew anything about the receipt of a telephone message from Henry C. Beattie, Jr., on Thursday night.

"It was Thursday night, July 13, about 9 o'clock," said Mrs. Houchens, "when I answered the telephone and Henry said he was on the way to the West end and asked for Paul. I called Paul and I heard Paul say: 'You want me to meet you at Short and Main in fifteen minutes. All right, I'll meet you in a half hour.' Paul then called up a Mrs. Fisher and said Henry would be up later."

"Did you hear anyone come by later that night?"

"I heard Paul say 'Good night, Henry,' when the machine brought Paul home that night."

"Did they seem to be doing anything about the machine?"

"Yes, they were both fixing the light or something."

"Do you remember what time Henry brought Paul home Saturday night?"

"About 11 o'clock. It was the same car there that was there Thursday night."

"Did Paul tell you anything about the alleged confession on that Thursday night?" asked Mr. Smith.

"He told us only about the purchase of the gun," was the answer.

Confectioner Saw Paul.

John Joseph, who has a confectionery store at Short and Main streets, testified he saw Paul Beattie at his stand Thursday night, July 13.

"What did Paul do at your store?"

"He came in between 8 and 10 at night and sat down."

"What did he do?"

"He had been there seven or eight minutes and a machine came. Another young fellow was in it and they went west."

"When did you meet the prisoner?"

"In the jail."

"Was it the same man who came for Paul?"

"I think so, but I wouldn't swear."

Frank Mason, who claims to have been in the Joseph store at Short and Main streets, testified that he saw Paul there on Thursday night and that a machine called for him.

Saw Cousin Drinking.

William McEvoy, a bartender, testified that he saw Paul and Henry together about 8:30 o'clock in McEvoy's bar, drinking beer "on either Wednesday, Thursday or Friday night before the murder."

On cross-examination he was asked if it was not Saturday night, but he said he did not work that night.

John Britton corroborated McEvoy's testimony, declaring he saw Paul and Henry at the bar on Thursday night before the murder. He said he thought they had a machine outside and came between 8 and 9 o'clock.

Counsel for the prosecution at 11:15 o'clock asked for ten minutes' adjournment to arrange for the bringing of some witnesses.

Bucks Up Kestleberg.

By previous agreement the defense was permitted to bring in the testimony of John D. Blair when it could, and the amendment appeared after the interruption ten minutes by the prosecution. Blair was one of the boys who came from a dance at Bon Air on the night of the murder. He corroborated Kestleberg's testimony that it was he whom the boys saw with a woman on the running board of a machine that had stopped on the road.

James Rafter, a night watchman on Mayo's bridge, relieved by Paul Beattie at 7 o'clock every morning, testified that on the Sunday morning when E. H. Neblitt said he saw Paul with a gun in the cement house, he saw no gun there.

"If it was there I would have seen the gun," said Rafter.

"Did you see Paul when he came to work?"

"Yes."

"Did he have a shotgun or any other kind of gun?"

"No."

Could Have Hidden Gun.

"The gun could have been hidden, however, in the cement house, couldn't it?" asked Mr. Smith on cross-examination.

"I suppose so."

E. J. Houchens, father-in-law of Paul Beattie, said he saw the latter going to work on the Sunday morning in question, and that he carried no gun.

W. H. Leads said he was at the bridge on Sunday morning, saw E. H. Neblitt come and go, and during the whole time did not see Paul with a gun.

Mrs. F. B. Nolan, who lives next door to Paul Beattie, testified that she saw Paul come home in a machine with another man on Thursday night before the murder. The porches of their homes adjoin, she said, and Paul bade her "good evening" when he entered the gate.

Court took a recess for luncheon at 1:10, just before Mr. Wendenburg announced that Mrs. Paul Beattie would be the next witness.

Made Many Denials.

On the witness stand yesterday Beattie categorically denied that he took part in or knew anything of his cousin, Paul Beattie's, purchase of the shotgun with which the witness' wife was killed. The witness likewise flatly contradicted almost the entire testimony of his cousin, particularly with regard to the alleged confession which Henry is supposed to have said to Paul, "I wish I had not done it."

Tightly clenching a handkerchief with which he nervously rubbed his face, the prisoner rested his head on one hand and half reclined in the armchair, faced the jury. His answers were quick and decisive and he showed an apt memory in relating the details of the manner in which the alleged highwayman approached the prisoner's machine and, intending to shoot at the witness, murdered the latter's wife, who sat on the same seat in the automobile.

Story Was Unchanged.

It was the same story, identical even in its phrascology, with that which the accused man told to the coroner's jury, although he now admitted more of his relations with Beulah Binford, following the course of the defense throughout the trial in pointing her out as a disreputable girl for whom the prisoner had only a passing fancy and for whom he never would have murdered his wife.

For nearly two hours and a half Beattie was in the witness chair. Before court took a recess for luncheon, the direct examination of the prisoner, closing the case for the defense, was concluded, except for the demonstration requested by counsel for the prisoner that the jury be shown by the accused man, on the lawn outside the courtroom, the exact manner in which the murder occurred while he was seated in the car.

Described the Murder.

Beattie said that the part of their ride during which the murder occurred was suggested by his wife. His description of the murder was as follows:

"About three-quarters of a mile or a mile from where we turned, we were going along easy when a man came from the left hand side of the road. He was so close to me that I had to put on the brake so as not to hit him. He asked if I was going to hit him, and I said he had plenty of room, and that I should have. I then put on the low gear and reached over to take the brake. He pointed a gun at me and said, 'Stop or I'll soot.' I didn't want to aggravate him, so I said nothing. As I touched the clutch he fired and my wife fell back of me."

"She fell between your back and the back of the seat?"

"Yes. In the space of a moment I jumped out of the car and started toward the man. He raised the gun to hit me. I caught the gun as it hit me on the nose. He let loose and being overbalanced I fell back. There has been something said about blood on the gun. Tom Owen said my face was bloody. I picked up the gun and the man ran up the road."

"Who was the first man you told?"

"Tom Owen."

"Was your statement to Tom Owen as you made at the coroner's inquest?"

"Yes."

Went to Look After Wife.

"Why didn't you follow the man?"

"Well, after getting the gun and seeing him run up the road my next thought was for my wife. She was lying on the left hand side of the car. I had to step on her dress to get in. I felt of her pulse but I knew I couldn't tell, being excited, whether she was dead or living. I hollered 'murder' and 'help' and blew the horn, but knowing there was a doctor at Tom Owen's I seated my wife on the left side. Her head dropped way forward, and holding her with one hand, I ran the car with the other. A little way down the lights went out. I fixed my wife in the seat and jumped out to fix the lights. I realized that I had no coat on. I then lit the lamps and went on to Mr. Owen's house."

"How fast did you run back?"

"About forty or fifty miles an hour."

"Can you recall how near the Belt Line it was that you stopped?"

"No; I remember, though, that the car jumped nearly two feet when it did cross the Belt Line tracks. There was one bad turn where I had to let go of my wife once to use both hands for the turn. Mr. Owen and Dr. Mercer helped me carry my wife into the library. I asked if I should send for an ambulance. I remember asking for a second time if she was dead."

Rumors Sweep France.

Paris, Sept. 5.—Although Germany had made no reply as yet to France's proposal of yesterday relative to the Moroccan dispute, and while none is expected by the French foreign officials for some days, many rumors, doubtless due to uncertainty as to the outcome of the negotiations, are current.

La Patrie, in headlines running across its entire front page, announces a considerable movement of French troops toward the French frontier. Inquiries made at the ministry of war elicited the information that this movement is connected with the maneuvers of the French army, which, beginning today, will last until Sept. 13.

The Paris bourse was affected to only a slight degree today by the Moroccan situation. Some French money in the process of withdrawal from Berlin, either directly or through Swiss banks, was explained by the unusual demands of the approaching January payments.

Engineer Killed and Fireman and Two Passengers Hurt.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 5.—Engineer Charles Lassfolk of this city was killed, Fireman James Slater of St. Joseph was badly scalded, and two women passengers, one of them Mrs. Anne Wakefell of Chicago, were injured when a northbound Pere Marquette passenger train jumped the track near Hard, eighteen miles north of here. Several other passengers were hurt, but all are expected to recover.

Spreading rails is believed to be the cause of the accident. The engine went over a six-foot embankment and the engineer was buried beneath it. All of the coaches left the track.

RAIN

Last year was a drouth year, so nature in the equalization process has chosen this year to make up the average. The weather man selected Labor day as a convenient day for sending a large part of this year's surplus moisture, so that the celebration of the holiday was confined largely to the homes of Duluth. Up to 7 o'clock this morning, 1.7 inches of rain fell in twenty-four hours and the sky shows no signs of clearing. The weather man says that after more showers tonight, Wednesday will be fair.

A year ago was Labor day and wet. The sun rose behind the clouds at 5:33 this morning and it will set at 6:41 this evening, giving thirteen hours and eight minutes of sunlight. The chances are that the sun's attention will be confined to planets other than the earth today.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light to heavy rains fell over Oregon, Washington, Western Canada, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Missouri, Eastern Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas and Arizona, in connection with the barometric depressions centered over Minnesota and Utah. Higher temperature also resulted throughout the Lake region, Ohio valley, Utah and Nevada. The Alberta high pressure has caused freezing weather over the northern part of that province and cooler temperature over Saskatchewan, Manitoba, North Dakota and Montana. Further showers are probable at the Head of the Lakes during this afternoon or tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Showers tonight and probably Wednesday; cooler tonight and in east portion Wednesday.

Wisconsin—Showers and cooler tonight; Wednesday cloudy with cooler in southeast portion.

Minnesota—Threatening and cooler tonight; Wednesday generally fair.

Iowa—Unsettled weather with showers tonight or Wednesday; cooler tonight and in southeast portion Wednesday.

North Dakota—Cloudy tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight.

South Dakota—Cloudy with showers tonight or Wednesday; cooler in east portion tonight.

Montana—Unsettled tonight and Wednesday with rain.

Why Actresses Never Grow Old.

(Theatrical World.)

Nothing concerning the profession seems more puzzling to the dear old public than the perpetual youth of our feminine members. How often we hear remarks like, "Why, I saw her as Juliet forty years ago and she doesn't look a year older now!" Of course allowance is made for make-up, but when they see us off the stage at close range, they need another explanation.

How strange women generally haven't learned the secret of keeping the face young! How simple a matter to get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, apply it like cold cream, and in the morning wash it off! We know how this gradually, imperceptibly absorbs old cuticle, keeping the complexion new and fresh, free from fine lines, sallowness or over-redness. We know, too, that this mercolized wax is the reason actresses don't wear moth patches, liver spots, pimples and the like. Why don't our sisters on the other side of the footlights learn the reason, and profit by it?

Advance Display of Fall Dress Goods

—The advance showing of new suitings and coatings now ready for inspection are indeed pleasing. Foremost mills of America and Europe have contributed to these early displays, sending their choicest patterns and weaves in the various weight fabrics.

—A dominant fashion note in suitings is the men's wear weaves—very pleasing innovations for fall and winter. Coatings that will have greatest vogue are the rough weaves and double faced cloths.

—A visit to the new dress goods section, on the second floor, will prove very informative and interesting. We cordially invite you to visit us Wednesday, or this week, and suggest that you examine—

All Wool Challis 59c

—Pretty new fall bordered, rosebud and Dresden patterns, with delicate colorings, strictly all-wool, 30 inches wide, very desirable for house dresses, and priced only, per yard, 59c.

Imported Suitings 1.00

—A very special value and very new is an imported 46-inch suiting, that comes in all the new colors, and bought for a leader at, per yard, $1.

Worsted Suitings 1.25

—All-wool worsted suitings in neat striped patterns, all new shades, 50 inches wide, a quality seldom sold under $1.50, Wednesday at $1.25.

Men's Wear Serge 1.75

—Excellent quality, with black hair line stripe, shades of brown, navy, wine, tan and Copenhagen, material that lends itself admirably to tailoring, per yard $1.75.

New Grey Suitings 2.25

—Genteel pattern in black and white effect with white silk stripe running through, forming an ideal men's wear pattern, 56 inches wide and selling at $2.25. —Second Floor.

Big Towel Sale

—What was not sold of the three great lots of towels that were placed on sale Saturday will be offered Wednesday at most unusual savings. The quality of these goods is above reproach, and one is not likely to find such values duplicated in the run of months.

—39c Linen Hucks, 25c: All pure linen huckaback towels, ends scalloped and finished in red. Towels have pretty damask border, are extra heavy and 21x40 inches. One might consider themselves fortunate to get these at 39c, but they go at 25c, the dozen $2.75.

—59c Huck Towels, 29c: Extra heavy hemstitched huck towels, all white, 22x44 inches; the kind that always sold for 59c, this lot at 29c; per dozen $3.45.

—45c Bath Towels, 29c: Extra large Turkish bath towels, heavy pile, 25x45 inches, customary 45c values, each 29c; per dozen $3.45.

Fall Dress Trimmings and Garnitures

—The newest Parisian ideas in the embellishment of suit or dress are here shown. Advance displays are quite complete and give a well defined idea of what is to be popular for Fall. Present lines include—

—Silk Braids, new shades to match all suits, 1 to 5 inches wide 50c to $1.98 the yard.

—Chenille Bands, the newest thing of the season, effectively worked up in net grounds, 2 to 4 inches wide, $2 to $4.50 per yard.

—Beaded Bands, in the new East Indian and other Oriental colorings and designs $2 to $7.50 the yard.

—Beaded Edges, the new trimming motif, with the popular coronation beads, 15c to 98c per yard.

—Garnitures, of pearl, East Indian and coronation effects, in various pendant designs, $1.25 to $6.98.

—Nets, Chiffons, and allover laces, all the new shades and in the plain or East Indian colorings $1 to $2.50 per yard.

WAR ON RED SIGNS BEGUN

Six "Closing Out" Sales in Progress on Central Avenue.

Other Merchants Protest Against Wrong Impression Created By Practice.

The merry war which is continually breaking out between a certain class of retail merchants on Central avenue is now waxing strong, and this morning, a fresh batch of red signs announced another monster slaughter sale. Without a doubt, there was to be a premeditated and cold blooded murder of prices. Incidentally, they heralded the annual closing out sale, of which there are six in progress at the present time in one block.

While the alleged slashing of prices and the so-called sensational slaughter of profits is going on, another class of merchants is preparing for battle against the practice. The time is ripe, they say, for a protest against having the main thoroughfare of the West Duluth business district plastered up with "closing out" signs.

"It gives the wrong impression to the visitor," said A. E. Swanson, a Central avenue druggist. "West Duluth is not going out of business even if a certain class of our merchants would have it appear so. The practice should be stopped. It is not good business ethics and hurts the town."

F. H. Wade of Wieland & Wade, hardware merchants, says: "Such business methods ought to provoke a storm of general disgust among the progressive commercial interests in this end of town. It gives the wrong idea of the town and keeps away new business ventures."

W. E. Hurst, jeweler, Central avenue, says "Their game may get the business for the time being, but the aftermath will be a general slump in all business lines in the retail trade."

J. J. Moran, newsdealer and cigar store proprietor on Central avenue thinks that the evil could be eradicated by the council passing an ordinance against the placing of such signs in the street in front of the places of busines.

A. J. Lindgren, druggist, Central avenue, is of the opinion that West Duluth gets the wrong kind of advertising from such sales and strongly condemns the practice of decorating the main thoroughfare with big red signs.

William Cruse of Dormedy & Cruse, Central avenue grocers, goes on record as being much opposed to such business methods and believes in a public protest against them.

C. J. Erickson, a Central avenue druggist, declares that he is enlisted in the fight against this practice and hopes to see Central avenue cleared of such signs.

A number of others have also expressed their disapproval of the practice and the movement against those who emplay these methods is gaining friends rapidly, it is said.

DRIVEN TO DRINK BY DREARY DAY

West Duluth Police Grist Assumes Unusually Large Proportions.

Two holidays in succession and the unpleasant weather proved too much for a few citizens of West Duluth, who have otherwise been of the law-adding sort and yesterday and today, the West Duluth police had a larger grist of drunks than usual.

This morning, Otto Ellstrom, aged 56, a blacksmith, was arrested for drunkenness on the complaint of his wife. She claimed that Ellstrom came home this morning and after throwing dishes around the house, beat her and then threw the family out of the place.

Peter Isaacson, aged 54, a laborer, was found prowling around the house at 19 South Sixty-third avenue west by Patrolman Charles Cranston last evening and was arrested for drunkenness.

John Berg, aged 69, was ordered out of the Michigan house by the proprietor for being drunk and when he refused to go, a policeman was called and placed him under arrest.

John Olson, aged 54, a dairyman, was taken from a milk wagon to the police station, when an officer found him to be in a state of intoxication.

Joe LeGare, 47 years old, and a laborer, was sleeping in the street at Central avenue and Roosevelt street last evening, the drizzling rain failing to disturb his slumbers, when a patrolman found him and arrested him for drunkenness.

Dead Man Identified.

So far as can be learned, the name of the laborer who was drowned in the bay at the foot of Forty-first avenue west sewer, Saturday morning with George Jurich, aged 28, a fellow workman, is Rocki Morino, about 32 years old. He had no friends nor relatives in Duluth. The funeral will take place at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning from St. Peter's Italian Catholic church, Eleventh avenue west and Superior street. Burial will be at Calvary cemetery.

Death Due to Dropsy.

Mrs. Kate S. Johnstone of Chicago died of dropsy this morning at the Duluth hospital. She had been ill for some time, but had been confined to the hospital only a short time. The body was removed to the Richter & Bellmeur undertaking rooms, 425 Central avenue, and will be forwarded Wednesday evening to Chicago, where the funeral will take place Thursday. Mrs. Johnstone's only living relative is a son, Thatcher W. Johnstone of 518 Lake avenue north of this city. He is employed by the Duluth & Iron Range railroad.

West Duluth Briefs.

Nels Sodahl, photographer at 313 Central avenue, will leave this evening for the Twin Cities, where he will attend the state fair.

Iligo Jacoby, traveling salesman for the Zenith Coal company in the Nebraska, South Dakota and Southern Minnesota districts, is enjoying a short vacation with relatives, who are camping on the St. Louis river.

William Smart, a former resident of West Duluth, now of Chisholm, Minn., is renewing acquaintances in the western end of the city.

The Ladies' Guild of Holy Apostle's Episcopal church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Collier at the rectory, 634 North Fifty-eighth avenue west.

Miss Irene McNulty of 24 North Sixty-third avenue west, and Miss Kate Conley of 114 North Sixty-third avenue west left last evening for Minneapolis, where they will attend the state fair. Next week they will go to Le Seuer, Minn., for a short visit.

Hurst, watch repairing, West Duluth.

DIVORCES TO BE FEATURE

Fifty Will Ask Decrees at September Term of District Court.

New Term Will Be Heaviest in History of the County.

With a total of 320 cases on the calendar, not to mention the fifty criminal cases to be tried, the September term of the district court will begin the call of the calendar tomorrow morning.

The calendar is said to be the largest in the history of the local court. Those who have worked at the courthouse for years claim that the setting of 320 cases on the calendar is without precedent in the history of the county.

The usual calendar consists of from 120 to 150 cases. It has seldom run over the latter number. Judge Cant will probably call the calendar. He will also hear the divorce and criminal actions. With three courts going nearly all of the time and a fourth part of the time, it is expected that the calendar will be cleaned up as well as the shorter ones were before there were the two additional judges.

The calendar consists of 31 continued jury cases, 23 continued court cases, 7 continued divorce cases, 173 new jury cases, 43 new court cases, 43 new divorce cases, which makes the total 320.

A feature of the coming term will be the divorces which are this term more numerous than ever before. Fifty divorce actions will keep the presiding judge busy for some time.

The great number of cases brought and set for trial at this time is due to the fact that there has not been a term of court since May.

The grand jury will go into session tomorrow. There will be about 50 cases for consideration. It is thought that the men will be in session at least three days.

DEATH IS FAST THINNING RANKS

Grand Army Men Are Becoming Fewer in the Zenith City.

Death is fast thinning the ranks of veterans of the Civil war in Duluth.

Out of a membership of nearly 500 soon after organization in 1882, Gorman post of this city has now but 100 members. Thirty-two members of this post died in one year.

Out of a membership of nearly 200 Culver post has at the present time only fifty-three members left. Sixty-eight have died and fourteen moved from the city.

Not only are the ranks becoming thinner in Duluth, but so great has been the death rate among Grand Army men that it is noticeable all over the country. At the recent national encampment held at Rochester, N. Y., but 10,000 Grand Army men were in line. In 1905 at Denver, there were 30,000.

Letter Carriers Meet.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 5.—The business work of the biennial convention of the National Letter Carriers' association was taken up at the opening of the second day's session today. Tomorrow the carriers will elect officers. There is a spirited contest on between Baltimore, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Omaha, Hartford and San Francisco for the next convention.

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color--Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and notice the difference after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Special agent, Max Wirth, 13 West Superior street.

PEANUT PLANT RAISED IN SWANVILLE

The above illustration shows one of the peanut plants raised at Swanville, Minn., by Otto Rhode. The nuts were planted as an experiment and the patch which is of a good size, has thriven wonderfully. The plants are most healthy and compare favorably with the Southern product in both quantity and quality. The nuts are alone remarkable for being raised so far north, and when one considers that no artificial means were resorted to and that they have been produced under natural conditions, the fact is unique.

COUNTY FAIR AT BARNUM

Carlton County Farmers Preparing for Best Exhibit on Record.

Thursday the Big Day—Special Evening Train for Visitors.

The twenty-first annual fair of the Carlton County Agricultural and Industrial association will be held in Barnum next week, running for three days, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Thomas Spencer of Barnum, secretary of the association, is in Duluth today in the interests of the fair, and he says that he expects a big attendance from this city.

Thursday is to be the big day of the fair, the features of the racing program, most of the field sports and a ball game being scheduled for that day. Visitors from Duluth and from the range points are expected to come down on the morning train, and on Thursday a special will be run from Barnum to Duluth to accommodate the returning crowds.

A fine racing card is being prepared, a total of $700 in prizes being offered. The stock exhibits promise to be finer than any Carlton county has produced before, and men from Carlton county say they never had better crops in that region. The Carlton county state fair exhibit which is attracting a lot of attention at Minneapolis this week will be on exhibit at the county fair and will be a considerable attraction. Besides the regular premiums offered by the association, there are a number of special prizes up in the stock section. The Minnesota Dairymen's association has offered a handsome silver cup for the best herd of three females and one sire of a dairy breed, and McKay Bros. of Duluth, who own one of the best farms in Carlton county, have offered a special $20 premium for the best Guernsey sire.

There will be special departments for exhibits from the manual training, domestic science and general divisions of the public schools, and Prof. Schiffett, instructor in agriculture in the Cloquet high school, will give an address on "Silos" at one of the meetings.

The officers of the fair association include: H. R. Patterson, president; Thomas Spencer, secretary; Winfield Holmes, vice president, and H. Gerlach, treasurer.

The executive committee members from the various towns in Carlton county include: Atkinson—J. Atkinson, C. B. Oswell, G. Anderson. Skelton—W. W. Beck, Jesse Doan, G. Mesenbring, Holyoke—A. C. Willcuts, R. Jones, A. C. McClusky. Mahtowa—O. M. Scott, A. Bentfield, Charles Johnson. Twin Lakes—Ed Watson, H. Baldwin, F. A. Watkins. Split Rock—Steve Tomczak, H. Patrick, F. Anderson. Knife Falls—O. Anderson, F. D. Vibert, William Kelly. Blackhoof—C. P. Munter, George Mathews, S. Naslund. Eagle—G. H. Merwin, E. Johnson, Red Clover—C. Morse, J. Wright, Ed Walker. Lake View—L. Roderick, Thomas Trepenen, D. Anderson. Wrenshall—F. B. McLaren, T. M. Ferguson, F. Habbegger. Kalavala—John Peters, Jake Mann, Charles Johnson, Thompson—Charles Mark, A. Eskio, E. E. Fisher. Moose Lake—Hon S. Swanson, George Skelton, William Wesley. Barnum—Ben Peterson, John Medjo, John Swenson.

FAIR RUSH IS UNUSUALLY HEAVY

Railroads Are Handling Big Crowds From Duluth This Year.

Business in the passenger line between Duluth and the Twin Cities is still on the increase, and every day since the fair rush started the traffic has range from 1,500 to 2,500 per day. According to railroad representatives here, the business from Duluth this year is better so far than it was in any previous year, and it is probable that with any improvement in the weather the traffic will increase.

Every train leaving the city for St. Paul and Minneapolis is made up of from five to eight cars more than the usual number, and all are crowded to the limit. So far, however, the railroad officials here have not found it necessary to put on any extra trains, although they are ready to do so should the business demand it.

FORTY-SIX CARS OF MACHINERY

Big Consignment of Farm Implements to Western Canada.

A freight train of forty-six cars, loaded with agricultural implements of all kinds, passed through this city enroute from La Porte, Ind., to Winnipeg, Can., from which point they will be distributed throughout Western Canada. The freight was brought here over the North Western Line, and shipped from here over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern to Virginia and thence over the Canadian Northern.

This train is probably the biggest ever shipped through here with farm implements alone, and merely gives one an idea of the remarkable increase that it being made in agriculture in Western Canada. The machinery comes from the manufacturing plant of M. Rumley, La Porte, Ind., and is consigned to George A. Bross of Winnipeg.

RUSSIAN SPENDS RESTFUL NIGHT

Restlessness Disappears and Hackenschmidt Sleeps Soundly—Sails Sept. 9.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—George Hackenschmidt slept soundly last night. The restlessness from which he is said to have suffered for several nights prior to his match with Frank Gotch and which had been put forward as an excuse for his defeat, apparently had entirely disappeared. He still complained of pain in the knee which had been given a severe wrenching by the Iowan, but there was no indication of a serious injury. The Russian is expected to sail from New York for England on Sept. 9.

Gotch also had a good night's sleep, being in bed shortly after 10 o'clock and not again being visible to callers until nearly noon today. He will return at once to his Iowa farm, leaving for Humboldt tonight.

TAKE TESTIMONY IN TOWNSEND CASE HERE.

Capt. John Monaghan and Capt. M. F. Chalk, United States local vessel inspectors, this afternoon held a hearing in connection with the trial of Capt. Henry H. Townsend of the steamer Stephen M. Clement, which on May 4 this year collided with the steamer Edward L. Fisher, in Detroit river, sinking that vessel. Capt. Townsend is on trial before the vessel inspectors at Detroit, Mich.

Charles Jagenow, pilot of the steamer Benjamin Nobel, which is now at Two Harbors, and who was pilot of the Fisher when she was struck, was the man who was summoned to appear before the local men, and submit testimony regarding the collision. Attorney Hill of Detroit appeared as representative for Capt. Townsend.

The testimony given here will be forwarded to Detroit. As the testimony was wanted immediately, the hearing was held in Duluth instead of waiting until Jagenow arrived in Detroit on his return trip.

WINNIPEG AVIATOR FALLS AND MAY DIE.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Alexander McLeod, 28 years old, of Winnipeg, Man., a pupil at the Chicago school of aviation, was probably fatally injured by falling from an aeroplane in which he was flying. The accident occurred at a practice field in West Pullman. McLeod fell several hundred feet. He was unconscious when taken to a hospital. The victim's neck was broken and he received also internal injuries.

CHILD MORTALITY IN SUMMER

Every summer the newspapers are full of horrifying stories of the death list among infants and children and extremely old people. In nursing infants and children still being fed largely on milk this is usually due to the quality of the milk itself, and in aged people to a general weakening of the system because of extreme heat. Still, a great many of the deaths are due to digestive trouble, and these can usually be avoided by the timely use of a reliable laxative-tonic. There is no remedy for this purpose that lends itself better to the uses of children and aged people than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which for a generation has been the reliance of thousands of mothers and which is gaining in favor every year. This remedy, unlike purgative, salt, laxative water or "infant medicine," contains nothing that is dangerous to the health of the weakest or youngest person, and its repeated use does not form a habit, as is the case with narcotic remedies for children. Go to your druggist this very day and buy a 50 cent or $1.00 bottle, and like thousands of other parents, keep it on hand for an emergency. You can obtain a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE by addressing

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

THRASHING IS RUSHED

Practically Every Machine in Crookston Running at Full Blast.

Barley Is the Most Profitable Crop Raised This Year.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The anxiety to finish thrashing operations was emphasized Sunday when practically every machine in this section of the country was seen running full blast, and if there were any tinges of conscience they were all quieted yesterday noon when a steady downpour started which lasted till 9 o'clock last night and will delay thrashing till Wednesday at least, and longer if the weather is not bright with a breeze.

The thrashing returns continue very satisfactory. Very little wheat is going below 16 bushels and a great deal is averaging around twenty bushels per acre, while extra fine fields run up to twenty-four and as high as twenty-eight bushels per acre

Barley is the most profitable crop raised this year. Frank Kobetsky of Tabor township thrashed 1,537 bushels from forty acres, thirty-eight and half bushels per acre, which he sold for $1.12 per bushel, and deducting 7 cents freight it netted him $1,615.85 or $40.37 per acre for land which cost him but $20 per acre five years ago, double the price of the land in one crop. This yield has been duplicated in hundreds of instances in this section this fall.

Oats are also an immense crop. The oats and barley both bring more money than wheat, this being the first time in the history of the valley that barley has sold for more per bushel than wheat.

However, some good thrashing weather is badly needed. There has not been a stretch of more than three days without rain thus far since harvest, and not over one fourth of the thrashing is done.

PEACEMAKER IS BADLY INJURED

Struck With Neckyoke and Has Been in Critical State.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 5.—The role of the peacemaker is far from smooth and Wendelin Schwartz, still lying in a Bismarck hospital from injuries which he received in a wedding festival brawl at Odense, this county, is evidence of that fact. In the testimony that was introduced at the hearing of Mike and Alexander Zahnner, charged with assault with intent to kill, it was shown that Schwartz had attempted to act as peacemaker when he received such a beating that he has been on the verge of death for some time, one of the brothers it was charged by witnesses in the case, struck him with a neckyoke, while another struck him with a stick after he had fallen to the ground. They were held to the district court.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS

For Congregational Conference to Be Held at Minot.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the first time in its thirty years of existence, the North Dakota Congregational conference will meet in Minot, and in doing so it will establish its furthest west meeting place also. Sept. 26 to 29 are the dates for the big conference. The event will be one of unusual importance to the Congregationalists of the state, and there will be about 200 delegates participating.

There are a number of prominent speakers from outside of the state on the programm that has been arranged. These include Rev. Hubert C. Herring, D. D., of New York city; Rev. Theodore Clifton, D. D., of Chicago, Rev. John X. Miller of South India, and Rev. J. L. Gordon of Winnipeg.

CROW WING COUNTY WINS LIQUOR LICENSE SUIT.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the case of the county of Crow Wing against the city of Brainerd, brought to recover the 10 per cent on liquor licenses, Judge W. S. McClenahan has handed down an opinion sustaining the plaintiff's demurrer to the defendant's answer. The effect of this decision is that the city will have to pay the county the money sued for, the law requiring that 10 per cent of all such licenses shall be paid to the county for roads. The amount involved is about $1,200.

MRS. NUSTAD DIES FROM INJURIES AT COUDERAY.

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Nustad, wife of A. O. Nustad, postmaster and merchant of this place, died this morning at the hospital at Eau Claire from injuries she received when she was thrown in the automobile accident here Sunday evening. She is survived by her husband and five children. Interment will be held at Westby, their old home.

Mrs. C. M. Olson, who was also thrown from the car, landed sixty-four feet from where she left the car and had a remarkable escape from death, receiving only a sprained foot and other small bruises.

TWO MEN KILLED IN MICHIGAN MINE

Eighteen Others Narrowly Escape at the Calumet & Hecla.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 4.—William S. Chinn, aged 43, and John Kierttle, aged 25, were killed and eighteen others narrowly escaped death in an accident in the Red Jacket shaft of the Calumet & Hecla mine late yesterday afternoon.

The men were ascending in a cage on one side of a two-compartment shaft. A car, which was being lowered in the other section, rolled off the skip, catching the tail rope attached to the ascending car, and completing an endless chain. The hoisting apparatus broke and the sudden jolt caused the two men to fall into the shaft.

Peculiar Case Involved Tract Never Patented By Government.

Grafton, N. D., Sept. 5.—On the plea that she had been engaged in farming the tract for many years and that former owners had done the same thing, and that there had been a mistake in the government surveys when the original lines were laid, Mrs. Juliana Paschke will retain possession of ninety acres of land in St. Andrews that the records fail to show was ever patented to anybody. Phil Doyle's claim to possession of the land by squatter's right was responsible for bringing the matter before Judge Kneeshaw.

The ninety acres in question are along the Red river and was described as being bounded on the east by the Red river, but further than that the government records failed to indicate anything, although the quarter section of land originally patented and to which the ninety acres became attached is shown on the record. Another result of the decision of the district court is the placing of the ninety acres on the county tax rolls.

WILL HANDLE POTATO CROP

Producers Form Association With Headquarters at Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern Minnesota Producers' Co-operative association, the new organization of farmers and producers of general agricultural products, with headquarters in Bemidji, will not only handle the marketing of the 1911 potato crop of the country adjacent to Bemidji, but will remain as a permanent association for the purpose of securing better cash marketing for the farmers and assisting in building up the grades of potatoes and other products, and co-operating for better results in all branches of farming.

At a meeting of the members of the association held yesterday, it was decided to incorporate, and the articles of incorporation were adopted and filed with the register of deeds of Beltrami county. There had already been named seven directors, and two additional directors were chosen, A. G. Wedge, Jr., vice president of the First National bank of Bemidji, and S. E. Thompson, the Tenstrike merchant.

SEEKS SHARE OF ESTATE.

Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars Involved in Dispute Over Property.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 5.—Attorney and Mrs. A. T. Twesme and John Hovre of Galesville have left for California. The mission of Mr. Twesme and Mr. Hovre is to protect the interests of Eling Iverson of French Creek, across the river in the estate of his son, recently deceased.

John Iverson married a woman formerly Mrs. Martha Sauers. As Mrs. Sauers she lived in Galesville till the time of her divorce from her first husband. Later she married Iverson and they became residents of California. The husband died a few months ago, leaving an estate valued at $25,000. Under the laws of California, when there are no children, the father of the husband is legal heir to one-half of the estate. The knowledge of his son's death came in a roundabout way to the elder Mr. Iverson, who now seeks to come into possession of his share of the estate.

INSTRUCTOR RESIGNS.

Harvey Hanson Will Not Return to Cloquet Indian School.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harvey Hanson, who was instructor last year at the Indian school in the village north of Cloquet, has resigned his position and gone to Oshkosh, Wis. Mr. Hanson was expected to open the school again about the middle of September. It is reported that he has left the Indian service permanently.

Mr. Hanson has been in the Indian service several years and formerly had charge of the government school at Sawyer until the latter was closed and the pupils sent to the public school. A. A. Bear, agent here for several years, left for Union Agency, Okla., to which place he has been transferred.

EXHIBITION HALL FOR CROOKSTON FAIR READY.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The big exhibition hall for the Northwestern Minnesota Agricultural associteion has been completed, with 6,000 square feet of floor space. The capacity of the stock sheds has also been more than doubled, the race track is the fastest it has ever been, and the exhibits have already started to come in for the big fair which will be held Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15. It is going to surpass all past fairs held here. The race bill, the aeroplane flights and special amusement features will attract unprecedented crowds.

DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Mother of Duluth Women Passes Away at Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Nettie Lakin died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. A. Penney in this city, following a long illness resulting in peritonitis. The body was taken to Warren, where the funeral took place. The deceased was born in Vermont and moved to Illinois in the early days, where she married Judge Lakin, who with his family later came to Minnesota. For a long period Mrs. Lakin has made this section of the state her home. She is survived by three daughters, two of whom reside in Duluth, one being employed in the public schools of that city.

MASTODON TOOTH FOUND ON NORTH DAKOTA FARM.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 5.—Donald Faucett of Rhame, Bowman county, brought in a fine specimen to the state museum a few days ago and offered it for sale. It is a perfect and well preserved tooth of some prehistoric monster, probably a mastodon. Faucett dug the curiosity up while working in a gravel bank for the Milwaukee Railway company. The tooth weighs 2½ pounds, is 7 inches long, and 2½ inches wide at the cutting edge. The roots are 3 inches in circumference. The specimen is one of the finest ever found in the state. At the place where the molar was unearthed a number of bones were found, evidently belonging to some mammoth animal. Faucett took the specimen away with him, saying he would give it to his boss.

To Revive Field Trials.

Towner, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dog fanciers of North Dakota will make an effort this fall to bring about the re-establishment of the annual field trials, which trials have been abandoned this year.

Badger Herald-Rustler Sold.

Karlstad, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A deal has been closed by which G. J. Brenden has sold the Badger Herald-Rustler, published at Badger, Roseau county, to Thomas H. Smith. Editor Brenden has been at the helm of the Herald for twelve years. Smith takes possession this week.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Pierz—Frank Kugel died from consumption last Friday morning at 5 o'clock at the age of 34. He was born on the Stangl farm and moved to the village with his parents at an early age, and had ever since made his home here. He was twice married. His first marriage was eight years ago with Magdelena Schafer, who died two years later; his second marriage occurred three and one-half years ago with Katherine Wise, who survives him.

Fergus Falls—T. O. Udbye, who has spent the last six months or more in Norway, is at Lisbon, Ill., visiting his cousin. He will return home this week.

Hawley—A car of cattle belonging to McDonald Bros. caught fire and was burned, near Hillbrook, a little station about twenty miles the other side of Staples. The car which contained thirty-five head of cattle, was being shipped to the St. Paul stock yards and was in charge of James McDonald.

Henning—A. O. Stromsodt died at his home in Calma, Iowa, last Saturday morning, Aug. 26, from cancer of the stomach. He sold out his real estate and merchandise business in Henning about a month ago on account of ill health and returned to his old home in Iowa. He was 51 years old.

Sauk Center—The Grand Forks aviator, Prof. McGoey, who was on the program at the county fair at Winona, came near meeting with a fatal accident. In trying to make an ascension he was unable to get high enough off the ground to clear the fence surrounding the fair grounds. He crashed into the fence and wrecked his motor and had a narrow escape for himself.

Winona—Besides Governor Eberhart, the principal speaker of the tri-county fair to be held here this month, will be James J. Hill, the railroad baron, and Attorney General George T. Simpson. The Tri-County Fair association have already asked them to speak and acceptances will likely be forthcoming soon.

Owatonna—Herbert Allen, a young man working with the telephone crew, met with a serious accident last Tuesday. He was out in the country at the line and jumped off his horse after a wrench which had fallen to the ground. This started the horses and they started up and the young man was struck on the head by a plank on the wagon. He was unconscious for some time and although he received quite a cut on the head, he is recovering nicely.

Cass Lake—Lester Bartlett, register, and E. B. Wood, receiver, of the United States land office at Cass Lake, have just closed their books for the month of August and it appeared that 277 applications were received from the 22nd of August, the day of opening of Chippewa Indian lands, to the end of the month. Thirty-three thousand acres of the 82,000 opened to entry on the 22nd inst. have been segregated as a result of such application.

Northome—H. T. McIntosh, president of the Northern Minnesota Iron company, located near this place, states that Mr. Kennedy and Capt. L. W. Wilson, iron experts of Duluth, arrived Tuesday evening. They are now with the Northern Minnesota Iron company and at present are making preparations for the drilling their first hole and getting the new diamond drill which arrived here last week ready for work.

St. Hilaire—Adolph Avelson came over from Warren Thursday for a short visit with friends here. The young man is said to be quite a wanderer, having visited nearly every state in the Union.

Moorhead—The Rev. Father Charles Cannon, formerly in charge of St. Joseph's parish in this city, was the guest of the Rev. Father Gerard Friday evening, having arrived from Tacoma. Father Charles has been assigned to the parish at Detroit, Minn., and left at 10:55 p. m. for that point.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Eau Claire—Eau Claire county has a total of $11,100 to use for highway improvements this year. Five towns voted $3,700 together, the county appropriation is $3,700 and the state appropriation the same. This sum should be sufficient to get the road improvement work well started the first year under the new law.

Madison—Frank H. West, general secretary of the university Y. M. C. A. has arrived in the city and soon will take up his duties in Association hall. He succeeds Arthur Jorgenson, who is to take up work in China. John L. Childs, a graduate of the university with the class of 1911, has acted as secretary during the summer months and will be assistant secretary during the ensuing school year.

La Crosse—Harry Thorson, a young man residing near Arcadia, was sentenced to six months in the state's prison by Judge Higbee in circuit court. He was found guilty of sending obscene matter through the mail. Thorson is alleged to have mailed letters to several girls in the vicinity of Arcadia which were unfit to read.

Eau Claire—T. E. Meyers, who has been in the city for some days, returned Saturday to Kansas City, Mo. He is interested in establishing an industry in Eau Claire for the manufacture of paper boxes, and he is now going back to Kansas City for the purpose of packing up his machinery and shipping it here.

Oshkosh—R. C. Russell, retired banker and former legislator, is dead after a long illness, aged 81. Mr. Russell was born in Sunderland, Mass., and came to Oshkosh in 1856. In the 90's Mr. Russell took a leading part in the organization of numerous banks in Wisconsin. He became heavily interested in Western lands and mines, as well as in manufacturing enterprises in this state.

Hudson—Harold L. North, aged 46, only son of the late Lemuel North, died at the Hudson sanitarium Friday night after a day's illness. He was president of the Bank of Hudson and had extensive real estate interests. He was one of the promoters in the new bridge now being constructed across Lake St. Croix. A mother and sister survive. He was prominent as a Mason.

Oxford—While working on an engine at a Northwestern road gravel pit near here, Herman Needham, a flue cleaner, was instantly killed when another engine bumped the one upon which he was working and dashed him to the rails under the moving locomotive.

Waupun—The Wisconsin state board of control purchased six acres of land adjoining the prison farm on the east for the site of the new state hospital for the criminal insane. The legislature two years ago appropriated $100,000 for the construction of the buildings, while the last legislature appropriated $20,000 for a site. The new hospital buildings will be located about half a mile east of the prison buildings.

Fond du Lac—Bishop and Mrs. R. H. Weller have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to George Bliss Nelson of Stevens Point. The announcement was made at a dinner at the Weller home when Miss Weller entertained sixteen of her friends. Miss Weller is a graduate of Grafton hall and of Wellesley college. Mr. Nelson is a member of the law firm of Nelson & Murat of Stevens Point. No date has been set for the wedding.

Madison—Regents of the university have authorized the organization of the La Crosse district of the extension division of the university and appointed W. H. Roseman, principal of schools at Watertown, to take charge. Extension districts now are located at Milwaukee, Oshkosh and La Crosse. Others will be formed until the entire state is organized.

Fond du Lac—Attorney Maurice McKenna has received a third volume of the transcript of the evidence in the John Dietz murder trial. The volume, like the two preceding volumes, contains 300 pages. There will probably be one or two more volumes of the size of those already completed.

Madison—Maj. Harry Burdett, winner of the international fencing championship in Sweden in 1891, fencing and saber champion of the British army in 1887 and a veteran of the Soudan and Egyptian wars, has been appointed by the board of university regents as instructor in fencing.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—A. O. Bowers of Brainerd, Minn., is in the city for the purpose of interesting local capitalists in a manufacturing plant which he hopes to locate here for the manufacture and sale of Bower's patent road graders and road drags. A number of Fargo men have become interested in the proposition and it is not unlikely the city will add this plant to those already here.

Minot, D. D.—As a result of drinking water from a can which contained lye, Mrs. Chris Lucken, who lives two miles east of Plaza, N. D., is dangerously ill and the physicians state that recovery is doubtful. Mrs. Lucken picked up a can to get a drink of water and did not notice that it contained lye.

Bismarck N. D.—Pure snuff may be sold in North Dakota, Sept. 1 the statute commonly called the anti-snuff law, went tinto effect. It has been the common impression that the law would bar all kinds of snuff from sale in this state, but recently a close scrutiny of the law shows that it is aimed at "impure" snuff and expressly permits the sale of snuff made from pure tobacco and flavored or scented with pure and harmless extracts. At least that is the opinion of the attorney general.

Fargo, N. D. — City Attorney Shure was directed at a special meeting of the city council to take the necessary legal steps to compel City Treasurer Charles H. Mitchell to certify to the $65,000 filtration plant bonds which were bought by the Minneapolis Loan & Trust company, and which were sent back because the treasurer's certificate had not been attached.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Thomas Griffiths of this city left on Sunday evening for Arnaud, Man., where he will act as associate judge in the great Manitoba field trials which are scheduled to open on Sept. 5. The honor conferred on Mr. Griffiths in asking him to act with Revins of Tennessee as one of the two judges in the greatest field trials on the continent is no small one. The trials will probably last four or five days and the best dogs from all over the country will run for the prizes offered.

Drayton, N. D.—The crop yields in this vicinity are turning out a little better than was expected a few weeks ago. Lauritz Jensen thrashed ten acres of barley and he received $426.23. The barley was a fine sample and tested forty-five pounds. Mr. Jensen's wheat was even better than his barley, yielding thirty-three bushels to the acre. John Hanson thrashed fifty acres of wheat and got thirty-two bushels to the acre.

Fairmount, N. D.—A son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoverson fell off of the tender of a thrashing rig while it was moving and the wheels passed over his head, killing him instantly. The little fellow was 7 years old. None of the men on rig noticed him fall.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Mrs. H. E. Scattergood and little daughter, Florence, are expected to arrive from Coldwater, Mich., this week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jewell, until her husband is settled in business in Colorado. The ill health of Mr. and Mrs. Scattergood's daughter necessitated their moving West.

Pierre, S. D.—The potato crop in this part of the state promises to show up well this fall, and there will be plenty of the tubers to supply the home market, with probabilities of a surplus. One gardener near Canning will have over 2,000 bushels to market, and all of good size and quality. They were raised without irrigation and it is claimed that in quality they will excel the irrigated product.

Minot, N. D.—Walter MacGregor of St. Cloud, Minn., has been the guest of his uncles, J. A. and R. R. MacGregor, for the past few days and left for Spokane, Wash., where he has taken a responsible position as instructor in one of Washington's private colleges.

Elgin, N. D.—While driving north of town in his auto, George Herauf met with what might have been a more serious accident, when the steering gear of his machine broke. He was running at a fair speed when this occurred and the car swerved suddenly and turned turtle. In some way George extricated himself, but with a broken shoulder blade, and a severe shaking up.

Aberdeen, S. D.—C. M. Young was arrested here on a criminal charge preferred by his wife. The Youngs resided at Wahpeton, N. D., but Mrs. Young alleges that her husband left Wahpeton about the middle of July with a woman named Mrs. Johnson, and came to Aberdeen where they registered as C. Collins and wife at a local hotel.

Jamestown, N. D. — While driving horses up from the pasture, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Norheim, who live near Kensal, met an untimely end. While endeavoring to keep one of the colts from becoming entangled in a wire fence the colt reared and kicked him on the side and back of the head.

Minot, N. D.—State's Attorney Dudley A. Nash has applied for papers from the secretary of the state at Washington, D. C., for the requisition of Harry Webber, Charles Anderson and Jack Brown, who are under arrest at Moose Jaw, Can., on a charge of breaking into the P. M. Cole and G. A. Bodner stores at Kenmare, N. D., and securing a large quantity of clothing and hardware.

Aberdeen, S. D.—The new bridge across the Cannon Ball river at Mott, built by the Fargo Bridge & Iron company, and for which the Northern Pacific railroad donated $3,000, is completed. It is a fine structure and makes access to the city much easier.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Crystal Falls—There is widespread sorrow over the death of Mrs. John H. Parker from heart trouble, from which she has suffered for six years. She was 57 years of age and came here in 1882. Her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Edna Jolliffe, survive her.

South Range — Wilfred Holman of the Trimountain mine office has returned from a trip through the southern part of the state.

Palmesdale — J. A. Bentz, station agent here, has returned from an extended trip through the East. His wife and family have returned from a visit with friends and relatives in Milwaukee.

Houghton — M. J. Finnegan of Atlantic, former surface boss at the Winona mine, paid a visit to old friends at Winona Thursday night. A number of [illegible] gathered to surprise him by presenting him with a memento of their regard in the form of a pair of diamond studded cuff links and an amethyst scarf pin.

Lake Linden—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Marvin have arrived here from the lower part of the state. Mr. Marvin is principal of the Washington school building, having been engaged for the coming year. In addition to being principal he will be instructor in mathematics.

Calumet — Calumet School District No. 2 demands more schools and it is probable that a new school will be erected shortly just north of Copper City to take care of the children of farmers residing in that section.

Laurium—William J. Reynolds was recently elected president of the First National Bank of Laurium, succeeding M. E. O'Brien, who is now located in Detroit. Fred S. Eaton was elected vice president and Peter J. McClelland a director.

Mohawk—There are thousands of bushels of hazel nuts going to waste all over Keweenaw county, as there are too many for our people to gather. It is nothing uncommon for one to go out in the woods near Central and inside of two hours return with a sack full of the nuts.

Hancock—Ohl Olson, 60 years old, died at his home in Frenchtown on Friday. He had been a resident of the Copper country for thirty years. A wife and seven adult children survive. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with interment in Lakeside cemetery.

Quincy—Rev. M. H. Eldred, who for five years has been head of the spiritual and temporal affairs of the Pewabic Methodist Episcopal parish, will take his farewell of the congregation on Sept. 13, when he will leave to rejoin the conference at Detroit.

Munising—J. S. Roeseler of Madison, Wis., who has been engaged by the Chippewa county school board as the first superintendent of the agricultural college, was in Munising last week for the purpose of looking over the situation in connection with the work of the prospective institution. Prof. Roeseler, with the members of the board, Mayor Short, City Attorney McDonald and Contractor Hunt, visited the site for the school at Charlotte river.

Marquette—La Verne Seass and wife returned Friday from Escanaba, where they attended the funeral of John Teehan, who was killed in Chicago, and who was a brother of Mrs. Seass. Mrs. Anna Teehan, her mother, who went to Escanaba with them, is reported as being very sick since the news of the death of her son came to her. Mrs. Teehan's health had been poor for some time before.

Champion—Miss Jessie Marchand of Duluth, daughter of Gidgeon Marchand of Champion, will be married Wednesday to R. P. Morck, also of Duluth. The wedding will take place in the local Catholic church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Father Hasenberg, the pastor. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Morck will make their home at 1016 Ninth avenue east, Duluth.

Ishpeming—Prof. Gerhart T. Alexis, former organist in the Swedish Lutheran church, who resigned his position several weeks ago, will leave Ishpeming in about two weeks for the University of Nebraska, where he will take advanced studies in music.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

R. B. Postal, Highland Ave., Duluth Heights, Duluth, Minn., says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills at different times in the past eight years and they have always given me relief from backache and other symptoms of kidney complaint. I am willing to recommend this remedy, for I have been given the best of proof that it is a good one. I keep Doan's Kidney Pills in the house most of the time."

PRIVILEGE OVER-REACHES ITSELF.

If Special Privilege were wise, it could perpetuate itself indefinitely.

But it never is wise.

Its downfall comes, inevitably and invariably, from the fact that it over-reaches; that its pride and confidence in its own infallibility and supreme power make it arrogant and grasping and heedless and blind.

The system of high protection, which has meant wealth for the few and hardship for the many, heavy tax-paying for the many and rich tax-taking for the few, is coming rapidly to its end in this country.

And the reason is that its beneficiaries were not content with getting a lot more than they were entitled to by any rule of reason or justice. They insisted on getting it all and always; so they have killed the goose that laid their golden eggs.

Something very like this has happened in England, where privilege takes the double form of aristocracy and plutocracy.

Privilege has kept the people down in Great Britain by keeping them out of power. Having abused its ill-gotten power, privilege has awakened to find the people in control. The people are masters, privilege is becoming servant.

It hasn't happened all at once. First began a steady expansion of the suffrage. Then the rule that a man to be a member of parliament must have an income of $1,500 from land was repealed. The rotten borough system gave way to something like equal electoral districts.

But still there was the provision that members of parliament should receive no pay. This acted nicely to restrict the parliamentary field to men of means.

Labor organizations got around this by supplying labor members with living expenses out of union funds. Privilege did not like this, so it had this use of union funds declared unlawful. That done, privilege was smugly content and well-satisfied. Demagogues and representatives of that herd of cattle, the people, were to be heard no more in parliament.

But that was where privilege was mistaken. After its usual stupid, piggish fashion, it had over-reached again. The result of its action was that an agitation began for salaries for members of parliament. Privilege, greatly shocked at this iniquitous proposal, protested. But the people were making themselves felt, and privilege was less powerful.

Parliament, at its last session, passed a law providing that hereafter each member of parliament shall receive a salary of $2,000 a year. It isn't much, but it is enough. Men of the people, without vast rent-rolls to back them, can afford to become members of parliament.

Privilege had again made itself a laughing stock by defeating its own ends through excess of greed and arrogance.

Seeking to embarrass labor representatives and to make it impossible for them to enter parliament, privilege succeeded only in making it easier for them to participate in governing Britain.

And—here is something that American workers of liberty will be deeply interested in—there isn't the slightest probability that that law will be taken into court and declared unconstitutional. That is one point where England has the better of this country.

BACK TO SCHOOL.

Tradition has it that when the school children of Duluth returned to school this morning after their summer's vacation they went reluctantly, with melancholy thoughts of the vanished vacation and gloomy foreboding of the year's labors to come. Shakespeare embodied that tradition in his report of the "whining school boy, with his satchel and shining morning face, creeping like snail unwillingly to school." Girls, it seems, like it better.

On the whole, while there is much to this tradition, there are a good many boys that don't feel so badly about it, and anyway all of them will find, as their elders did who lately returned from their brief two or three weeks of surcease from labor, that while it is rather tough going the first day or two it is not at all bad later, and that there are many compensations.

THE RIGHT TO A JOB.

The other day a lad in New York decided to become a highwayman. So he took a revolver and started out, but his nerve failed him at his first attempt at amateur brigandry, and he was turned over to the police.

The fact that a young man who had determined to be a highwayman didn't have the courage to go through with it seemed to the reporters to be the meat of the incident, and they based their stories on that.

But that isn't the meat of the case by a long shot. That lad was from the country. He had come up to the city, hopeful and confident, and had spent two weary weeks in a fruitless search for work. Nobody who hasn't tried it, with the wolf of starvation licking its chops hungrily at every step, knows what that means. Hope fades and then blackens into desperation. The feet grow weary, and the soul grows wearier. When despondency gets a firm grip, the poor devil is likely to turn to most anything.

That doesn't excuse him for setting out to break the laws by making a thief and perhaps a murderer of himself.

But the fact that men are driven to such straits is a reproach to society.

It ought to be a truism, at least in a republic, under a government by, for and of the people, that every man who is willing to work has an inborn right to a chance to work. Yet always, even in the best of "good times" when the land is bursting with plenty, there are men wearing out shoe leather and hope and courage in the dreadful, pitiful, heart-breaking search for work that they cannot find.

Says the Boston Globe: "A judge who has had long experience in municipal court cases declared recently that in his opinion three-fourths of the offences against persons and property were due directly to economic, not moral, causes. Careful observation of the lesser criminal cases in all the courts certainly tend to confirm this opinion. Crime is less often the cause than the effect of property."

This isn't saying that a man who can't find a job should go out and steal.

It is saying that society, through its organized governments, should take some steps to make sure that every man who wants work shall find it.

Society, through its organized government, imposes tariff taxes to guarantee profits to manufacturers. In its first feeble attempts at regulation of Big Business it is very tender of the rights of stockholders to enjoy uninterrupted dividends. In its regulation of railroads it considers this right first, and never gets down to the right of the railroad employes to wages fitting to American citizens.

But so far society has done nothing to guarantee a right that is far more important, and far more fundamentally just, than the right of a stockholder to his dividends—the right of the man who is willing to coin his brain and brawn into wages to find the chance to do so.

WASTED ADVICE.

The Philadelphia North American, at one time a believer in President Taft but driven reluctantly into complete disbelief in his good faith toward the people, offers the president some timely advice to be thought over before he starts out on his campaign tour of the country.

It is based on the very reasonable theory that the people are tired of promises and anxious to see something done; that the people are weary of mere words, and would like to see some tangible acts.

And there will be few who will not concede that the advice is good; almost as few who will not realize that it is so good that it is wasted on the person for whom it is intended. Says the North American:

"If we had the right to advise, which right we have no wish to acquire, we should say it would be well for Mr. Taft to wipe from memory, for the time being, the close relations he established with Cannon, Aldrich and Penrose, and all the other errand-boys of Special Privilege, whose insolence all the 1908 friends of Mr. Taft thought they were working with him to overthrow.

"If we were as ardent a believer in Mr. Taft's ability and motives as we once were, we should say to him. 'Before you begin to talk tariff to those men of the West, Mr. President, prepare yourself to tell them that you have fired the decrepit and incompetent Wilson from your cabinet; that you have ousted the scandalous McCabe and his underling Dunlap; that you have restored Wiley to his right powers as protector of the people against food poisoners, and that you stand for the man the people trust, even to the extent that should he annul your own whisky decision you would take personal satisfaction in having the law of the land laid down once again as it was interpreted by your honored father.'

"We would counsel President Taft to sanction and make his own the wise, practical proposals for the development of Alaska approved by Pinchot and Roosevelt and formulated in Senator La Follette's bill, and thereby do more than by any other conceivable means to rid his administration of the Morgan-Guggenheim taint.

"And what is absolutely necessary, we should counsel President Taft not to face the men of the West until he has sunk the chief Jonah of his administration, Attorney General Wickersham, beyond the reach of any beach-bound whale.

"Mr. Taft may as well save the expense and fatigue of travel if he persists in remaining identified with the sugar trust lawyer; the coadjutor with Lawler and Ballinger in making the president sponsor for falsified public documents; the official reader out of the party of progressive Republicans; the preacher of the Gary-Perkins brand of Big Business Socialism; the McCabe in a larger scale in Alaskan matters; and a McCabe's mouthpiece in demanding 'condign punishment' for Dr. Wiley."

Good advice, this, every bit of it. But wasted advice, too, every bit of it. President Taft will start on his tour of the West still handicapped by his Wickershams, his McCabes, his Wilsons, his Dunlaps and his evil habit of listening to bad advice from self-interested sources; and therefore his trip will be a failure.

TAMING A LION.

The admirable Mr. Gotch did more yesterday than make secure his title to a world's championship in his brief dallying with the interesting but apparently futile Mr. Hackenschmidt. He performed the marvelous Barbankian feat of turning a Russian lion into a badly scared lamb.

Though Hackenschmidt is bigger in every way than his stalwart American opponent, and undoubtedly stronger, there is a difference that counted against him, and that difference appears to be somewhere inside the skulls of these two marvels of physical development. Though smaller, lighter and less strong, Gotch's brain works quicker and his nerve fiber is more substantial. Even allowing everything reasonable for the Russian's complaint of an injured knee, no doubt is left as to which is the better man.

The match also showed another interesting thing: that the man who enters a contest obsessed by the belief that he is going to lose might about as well back out of it before he begins. Hackenschmidt very clearly was in a blue funk, and that undoubtedly had as much to do with beating him as Gotch's superior skill, finesse and alertness.

DOESN'T APPLY TO MINNESOTA.

The Cleveland gentleman who wrote to the Open Court last evening charging The Herald with misstatement in its discussion of the nomination of candidates for congressman-at-large in Minnesota would have made a better case if he himself had not misstated The Herald's assertion. The Herald did not state that Minnesota alone nominates state officers by conventions and all other officers by the primary election system, but that if the Burton amendment applies to Minnesota this is the only state to which it applies where ample provisions of state law for the nomination of congressman-at-large are to be over-ridden by the Burton amendment.

For the primary election law of Minnesota not only provides that its machinery shall be used for the nomination of all except candidates for state offices, but it contains ample provision for getting the names of candidates running in more than one county, even though they run in every county, as the congressman-at-large would, upon the primary election ballots. That done, the people will do the rest.

The Burton amendment does not apply to Minnesota. The nominations of candidates for congressman-at-large should be made by the people at the primaries, not by the bosses in the conventions.

AN ORATOR AND BANQUET HALL

By SAVOYARD.

I was in the heart of the Piedmont a short time ago and stopped at Asheville, N. C., in glorious old Buncombe county, where was born, lived, and died, and is buried our republic's only Zeb Vance. It is happily named the land of the sky, combining beauty with grandeur, and there nature has wrought to create a landscape paradise. But I do not intend to talk about the Piedmont, its rich soil, its invigorating ozone, pure water, and magnificent scenery. It is another theme, as follows, viz.:

It was a beautiful Sunday night and there were gathered at the intersection of the two main streets of Asheville, where the monument to Vance adorns the plaza, a considerable crowd of men and women drawn together to witness the proceedings of a "holiness meeting." The preacher was a young man about 30, and a natural born orator, ignorant and uncouth as he was. He was a man of commanding presence and overflowing with animal magnetism. He opened the meeting with a song, set to ragtime, that was simply thrilling. I remember one line of every stanza. It was, "I Saw the Ocean," and as the singers delivered it the effect was like that of "A Hot Time in the Old Time Tonight." The preacher was assisted by three women, all of whom exhorted and shouted in a whirlwind of delirium until physically exhausted. One of the women was young and rather comely. She had fine teeth, which she constantly showed, and there was human nature in that, especially female human nature.

Indeed the preacher was an orator. He seemed to harbor a great deal of very vicious malice against grammar, and delighted in double and even triple negatives, but everybody understood what he was driving at, and that is the true mission of speech. His preaching, was visionary in the extreme, and mentally one quoted from "The Merchant of Venice":

"In Law, what plea so tainted and corrupt,
But, being seasoned with a gracious voice,
Obscures the show of evil? In religion,
What damned error, but some sober brow
Will bless it and approve it with a text,
Hiding the grossness with fair ornament?"

And as the squad went into ecstasies one thought of the passage in Macauley's chapter on Von Ranke's history of the popes: "At Rome the Countess of Huntington would have a place in the calendar as St. Selina, and Mrs. Fry would be foundress and first superior of the Blessed Order of Sisters of the Jails." And then the great essayist proceeds to imagine Ignatius Loyola at Oxford and John Wesley at Rome, St. Theresa in London and Joanna Southcote at Rome.

The preacher to emphasize a climax would jump up and down like a spoiled child in a tantrum, and now and then he would finish a sentence by inclining his body till his head was within a foot of the ground, and he was over six feet at that. He appeared to know the Bible from lid to lid and gave chapter and verse to clinch his every position. He seemed to have a grudge against the medical fraternity, and claimed that when one was sanctified like himself he was immune to all the physical ailments to which flesh is supposed to be heir.

I was delighted with the man's eloquence, and could but regret that he was not a politician, as familiar with the current issues between the parties as he is with all the books of the Holy Writ. If he is a citizen of North Carolina, and should enter the broad and expanding field of politics on the Democratic side of the hedge, there is nothing more certain than that he would run Marion Butler out of the old north state before he had been on the stump a week. Why will the round peg get out into the square hole, and the square peg into the round hole? This man was made for the stump, and for the Buncombe county stump at that.

In the new state department, to be erected on the grounds between the Avenue and the Mall and Fourteenth street and Sherman's statue, there are to be several suites—"sweets" they call 'em here—of rooms gorgeous in the extreme, and hard by is to be a magnificent dining room in which state banquets are to be pulled off. The third assistant secretary of state is to be created "Superintendent of Functions," and is to reside in the building, and be the Ward McAllister of the administration. There is to be a grand chef with subordinates and attendant scullions and turnspits besides waiters and lackeys. The whole world is to be laid under tribute of food and drink and the gold and silver plate, cut glass, cutlery and linen are to surpass anything in those lines ever attempted in this hemisphere.

This establishment is to be provided for the entertainment of foreign celebrities who may become "guests of the nation" like Togo, the Jap sailor, who was with us a while ago. It is said that Prince Henry is to come again soon, and it is possible that we may entertain another Prince of Wales early in the reign of his gracious majesty, George V.

When I was a boy Democratic newspapers like that old John H. Harney printed in Louisville used to carry at the masthead a declaration of Maj.-Gen. Andy Jackson, the leader of the Democratic party in his day. It was in appreciation of a splendid government, and a plea for simplicity and frugality. But that sort of thing is now out of fashion. A function at the White House overrun with Andy Johnson's plebeians from East Tennessee would cause Uncle Sam to throw a fit.

The patrician 400 are now the style, and hence those "sweets" and that banquet hall that would be the despair of Lucullus. Simplicity and frugality have had their way. This is the age of Sardanapalus.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

GRAND AVENUE PAVING AND THE INSPECTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am sorry that the inspectors have construed my criticism as a reflection against them, instead of against the contractor. I am convinced that they are doing all they can to have the contractor deliver the goods as called for in the specifications. Now my charges concern only the contractor and the party that pays the bills, and the inspectors have no business to butt in. I don't think any one envies them their job. It keeps them busy to see that the concrete work is done according to contract, and that has been their job, and I believe it has been well looked after, and they do not know what is going on at the other end of the work, for it takes several inspectors to look after the different parts of the work as it progresses. There were rumors of war between the head foreman and the inspector, Mr. Conoly, when parts of the work were condemned but we are glad to know that the inspectors are still on deck behind the gun. Now I don't accuse the inspectors of trying to carry water on both shoulders, but it does look rather amusing for them to take up the cudgel to defend the contractor, and say my charges were untrue, and then go right on and admit my charges, saying that the loam that was hauled on the concrete for a filler was promptly removed by the contractor at the inspector's request and sand screened according to city specifications substituted.

Now the contractor has put down at least seventy-five feet of sand and gravel that wasn't screened—used for a filler, and the brick was laid on it, and is there now, and I suppose the chief engineer will put his signature to it of being O. K., according to specifications. When I saw them using the sand without being screened I made inquiries and no one seemed to know anything about screening sand, so I called up the engineer's office to inquire about it and was told that they would send Mr. Nass, the head inspector, to the work, and he finding gravel and clay in the sand, had the work immediately stopped, and ordered them to screen the sand. Then again, I found a ditch where clay was used in filling. I asked one of the contractor's foremen why it was not filled with gravel. He said he did not know, so I looked up this offended inspector, Mr. Conoly, and told him about it, and he went and had it removed. Again when they were short of sand, and that occurred when the city stopped them from taking any more sand out of the street, they hauled gravel and screened it, but the inspector (not Mr. Conoly) ordered it stopped and removed because it made almost a solid filling. Also, the asphalt was put on the brick for a filler right after a big rain, when everything was dripping wet, until there was a complaint, and the inspector ordered it stopped. Now anyone knows or ought to know that does that kind of work what tar or asphalt will do when it comes in contact with moisture, and again there have been places where the grading was cut too deep, and of course it has to be refilled with gravel, so in those cases the contractor gets pay for cuts and fills, and there is where the final estimate comes in, and the fellow that pays the freight will simply have to take his medicine. Now those charges can be substantiated notwithstanding Mr. Conoly defying me to show him. Now all those irregularities would have gone into the work if it had not been for a continued warfare on the inspector. And under those conditions as above enumerated, the insinuation of the contractor against the West Duluth people was uncalled for, when he suggested the idea of having a smelling committee appointed. I think a man with a glass eye could readily see the defects in his work.

Personally I have nothing against the contractor, Paddy McDonnell. This is simply a business transaction. They are both good-hearted fellows, Paddy and his brother. Owen has a hobby of giving something extra besides what there is on the bill of fare. He can't help it, seems to be second nature with him, but he is very accommodating. If you don't want the extras, speak up, and he will bring you what you call for. Thanking you for the space, I remain yours respectfully,

J. J. FREY.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Golf Illustrated: Infuriated Farmer (to golfer who has driven out of bounds and is vigorously searching for his ball among the growing crops)—Now, then, you've no business to be there.

Modest Player—I know. Rotten shot, wasn't it?

Success: When the doors opened in the little Indiana theater a farmer wandered in and looked around.

"Ticket, please," said the doorkeeper.

"The only thing I've got agin these here op'rys," said the Hoosier, as he walked away, "is that they don't begin till bedtime."

Life: "So you have adopted a baby to raise?" we asked of our friend. "Well, it may turn out all right, but don't you think you are taking chances?"

"Not a chance," he answers. "No matter how many bad habits the child may develop, my wife can't say he inherits any of them from my side of the house."

Chicago Tribune: With extreme reluctance Hercules had put on women's garments and was spinning wool.

"Look at me!" he exclaimed bitterly. "Ain't I a lovely thing to be courting a queen of Lydia!"

Worse than that, he suspected the wool of being three-fourths cotton.

Pittsburg Post: "I can give you the part of a butler."

"I couldn't take a small part like that."

"You are evidently not used to society drama. The butler has his share of the epigrams."

Hen Hen: "My coffee is not quite sweet enough," remarked he.

"Well, if you don't like it, I suppose you'll have to lump it," said she with a smile, passing the loaf sugar his way.

Judge: Purist—How is this? Your card reads, "R. E. Vise, Rectifier and Compounder," and you tell me you are a proofreader.

R. E. Vise—Why, yes; I rectify errors and compound words.

Judge: "The man called for the back installments on the piano today."

"And what did you do?"

"I asked him to take a chair."

"And what did he do?"

"He took the piano."

Her Secret.

Lippincott's: One day a pastor was calling upon a dear old lady, one of the "pillars" of the church to which they both belonged. As he thought of her long and useful life, and looked upon her sweet, placid countenance bearing but few tokens of her 92 years of earthly pilgrimage, he was moved to ask her, "My dear Mrs. S., what has been the chief source of your strength and sustenance during all these years? What has appealed to you as the real basis of your unusual vigor of mind and body, and has been to you an unfailing comfort through joy and sorrow? Tell me, that I may pass the secret on to others, and if possible, profit by it myself."

The old lady thought a moment, then lifting her eyes, dim with age, yet kindling with sweet memories of the past, answered briefly, "Victuals."

War Between Capital and Labor.

In "Why Men Fight for the Closed Shop," in The American Magazine for September, Clarence Darrow gives a clear, sane statement of the labor unions' position. To prove the necessity of labor organization, he writes as follows:

"This effort of the capitalist to get labor as cheaply as possible makes him encourage the immigration of men and women with lower standards of living; makes him bid for the European in place of the American; for the Asiatic in place of the European; the woman instead of the man, and the child instead of the woman, while the constant invention of great machines have made the method of production simple and done away with the need of learning a trade. The capitalist is seeking to get his labor as cheaply as he can, and the workman, like the coal dealer, is using every effort to get as high a price as possible for the one thing which he has to sell—his toil. The equities of the matter can have nothing to do with the case. Even though an employer might wish to pay higher wages, he is still bound by the laws of trade and cannot survive if he pays substantially more than others engaged in the same business with himself. The ethics of either side can have nothing to do with a business matter. Both are selfish. Both are bound to be selfish, and nothing but a change of the system of production and distribution can modify it."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

A great deal of uneasiness has been caused among the owners of Minnesota iron lands over the filing of a suit involving over $2,000,000 worth of iron land north of Duluth. The suit is brought against Robert W. Jameson of Minneapolis by the Mountain Iron company of Duluth and involves State Auditor Bierman. The company claims to have had a lease on the land since March, 1890, and on April 21 of this year appealed to Auditor Bierman for a renewal of the lease. Mr. Bierman recognized its rights and gave a separate lease, but on April 25 Robert Jameson asked the auditor to reject the Mountain Iron company's applications and give him the leases on the mineral tracts. Mr. Bierman complied with the request. The company asks the court to adjudge it the sole owner of the lease. Alfred Merritt says: "We are prepared to show that there was a conspiracy to defraud us, involving officials up to and including Governor Merriam. The Jameson application covered exactly the same land as ours, and no more. It even covered a piece of land to which we had the patent, and for a lease of which we asked by mistake."

President F. W. Hoyt and General Manager L. F. Hubbard of the Red Wing & Southern road were here yesterday with Eugene J. Swan of Brooklyn, who is negotiating the sale of the company's bonds, $8,000,000 being necessary to complete the line to Sioux City. Mr. Swan expects to float the bonds in England.

Mrs. Thomas Dahl, wife of the grocer at First street and Tenth avenue west, is dead from injuries received falling down stairs at Minneapolis, where she was visiting.

The railroad and warehouse commission has appointed the following grain inspectors: J. S. Knapp, St. Paul, and O. E. Jones, Duluth, to be sub-inspectors at Duluth; Nelson Hoople, to be deputy inspector at Duluth. J. O. Milne was appointed deputy weighmaster at Duluth.

W. E. Gallienne has resigned as foreman of the West Duluth fire department and is succeeded by Fred Patton. E. F. Darby has been elected secretary, vice E. W. McCormick, resigned.

Miss Bertha Randall has accepted the position of teacher in the Fond du Lac school.

Mrs. J. B. Wood of Chapleau and Mrs. William Tresise of Sault Ste. Marie and family, arrived on the steamer China to spend a few weeks with their brother, Frank Tresise.

Mrs. R. P. Cogin has returned to her home at Lakeside, after an extended visit with her parents, who reside near Buffalo.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Progressive Duluth.

Cuyuna Miner: The business men of Duluth have progressive ideas. Every little while the wholesale and jobbing houses send out large delegations with special trains touring the state and advertising the great possibilities of the great city at the Head of the Lakes and incidentally boosting Northern Minnesota.

Spotted!

Northfield News: Jakey Preus says Governor Eberhart's opposition is confined to a very few uninfluential papers. Take 'em off, Jakey, we know you.

Presence of Mind.

Fergus Falls Journal: When Col. Archie Hayes, the governor's executive clerk, spat upon the subpoenae issue by the board of control, requiring Governor Eberhart to give testimony in the Whittier case he maintained the dignity of the executive office. A less diplomatic man than Col. Hayes would not have known what to have done in the absence of both the governor and Private Secretary Wheelock.

Viewed With Alarm.

Bemidji Pioneer: All small boys—and some girls—view with alarm the announcement that the public schools are to open on Sept. 5.

Queer.

St. Peter Free Press: Railroads contend that they cannot afford to carry people for less than 2 cents a mile, yet they offer a 1½-cent rate for the state fair. As only a very small percentage can afford to attend the fair the discrimination in favor of the few is apparent. Why should this be permitted?

Up, And Then Down.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Mister Taft, by his reciprocity proceedings, raised himself up a notch, but his subsequent actions let him slip down several notches below where he started from.

An Appeal.

Pillager Herald: On account of the new floor being in the E. P. Bacon store also postoffice, you people that did not receive your Herald will please consider the difficulties the postmaster as well as the editor was in on account of not the proper mail service as the postoffice was completely torn down. Don't be too hard on us.

Nobody Else Has Time.

Thief River Falls Times: Governor Eberhart will soon take a two weeks' vacation. But who will do his traveling while he's away?

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Temptation never fails to come to those who wait.

When a man doesn't have to make excuses about anything, it's a sign he's a bachelor.

You think you are considered a great man for spending money foolishly on people; you are only despised for it.

Mr. Hobo—A Human Being.

Appleton Press: It is often said that a weed is a plant in the wrong place. A hobo is often a man in the wrong place or rather a man who hasn't found any place. We have made a special study of the bird for the past three years, acting as father confessor to the whole mangy tribe that pass this way, and we have come to the conclusion that the hobo, even the worst of the species, is made and not born, and that he is not self-made but society-made. They are the waste products of our mighty civilization factory; and society should study modern business methods and try to find a way to utilize these waste products. The stationary hobo who whittles store boxes, and the migratory loafer, who counts ties, are not failures from choice, not one in a thousand cases, and they are not failures because they have no ability for useful activity. One man in a million hammers out a place for himself; the majority of men blow into their niches with some chance wind or are boosted in by friends, and the rest become tramps. Native ability has very little to do with it. We have met tramps with more brains than some railroad presidents have. Some kindly hand must lift the diamond into the light before it can show its wonderful powers, and for every gem that flashes fire a million lie dull and dead in the earth. The individual can do very little to help himself, but society could do a great deal to help the individual. Prevention is better than cure in the case of poverty as well as any other disease. If the young man is not getting on, if he is not getting hold of himself, if he cannot find a market for his talents, let society step in and investigate and lend a hand to get things started. It is cheaper and better than charity and criminal courts and jails. Many a "leading citizen" is a prosperous man today instead of a convict because at some crucial period of his life he lacked the courage to break loose and commit some desperate deed. The stolid ox will plod through where the thoroughbred horse would perish. Let society count her loss and do something to remedy conditions which produce our great army of tramps.

Spoiled Willie's Joke.

New York Herald: Willie is convinced that women have no sense of humor. Willie is 7 years old, and he judges all women by his mother. What he considered a splendid joke occurred to him, and he resolved to make his father its mute and admiring witness or auditor.

"Mamma," Willie said, "when papa comes home I'll climb upon the step-ladder and pretend to be doing something to the picture. Then you say:

"'Willie, what are you up to?' Then I'll say, 'Up to date.' Won't papa be surprised?"

Papa came home in due time and was hardly seated before Willie dragged in the step-ladder and climbed up to a picture. This was mamma's cue to ask the question that would give Willie the opening for the joke. So mamma hurriedly asked:

"Willie, what are you doing up there?"

Willie turned a look of disgust, chagrin and disappointment upon his mother, climbed down the ladder and left the room without a word.

Why We Have Fires.

Edward F. Croker in World's Work: Here are some reasons why we lose yearly something like $5,000,000 and 10,000 lives by fire.

Carelessness in factories, which in most cases means dirt and rubbish and oily waste.

Carelessness in the use of matches. Do you stop to watch where a lighted match falls after you have lighted your cigar?

Bad electrical wiring.

Careless housekeeping.

Dark and dirty hallways. People at night, scratch matches to find their way about, throw the match in a corner into a pile of rubbish, and a few hours later there is a call for the firemen.

Dark basements. Tenants go down after coal or wood with a candle or with matches. A startling number of bad fires occur this way.

Oil stoves.

Old-fashioned oil lamps.

Cigar and cigarette stubs.

AMUSEMENTS.

MAN SHOT AT COLERAINE

Jealous Lover Opens Fire on Escort of Bovey Girl.

Had Proposed and Been Rejected on the Previous Evening.

Coleraine, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pete Wenarick, who attempted to murder Frank Lusick on Sunday night, was committed to jail at Grand Rapids yesterday with the charge of assault with intent to kill. The cause of the attempted crime is jealousy.

It seems that on Saturday night Wenarick proposed to Miss Anna Badak of Bovey and was refused. On Sunday night, as she was accompanying Lusick to the picture show, her rejected lover opened fire on her new escort on the main street of Bovey in front of the Bovey coffee house.

One bullet struck Lusick in the back and another passed through the back of his neck. He was hurried to the Coleraine hospital where the bullets were promptly extracted, and he will recover. The wounded man is a bar keeper in Ferguson's saloon in Coleraine. Wenarick is a brakeman on an Oliver Iron Mining company's work train.

HIBBING FORMS AUTOMOBILE CLUB

Two Days' Meet to Be Held at County Fair Grounds.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hibbing Automobile club sprang into existence Sunday evening as the result of a meeting of many of the auto owners of the village held at the office of Attorney Victor Power. Officers for the new club were elected and it was decided to hold the first meet of the club at the St. Louis county fair grounds on the afternoons of Sept. 16 and 17, at which time an excellent card of motor and motorcycle races will be pulled off.

F. M. Smith was elected president of the club; Dr. G. N. Butchart, secretary and treasurer; O. G. Tucker, publicity manager and Thomas Healy, general manager.

The card arranged for the two days' meet is an attractive one, and includes a fifteen-mile race for a $200 loving cup; five, ten and fifteen-mile races, for which monetary prizes are not yet fixed, and in which the cars entered will be classified; the 20 to 40-horse power machines, the 40 and 60-horse power machines and all above 60 as free-for-all; a special touring car race, each machine entered to be driven by its owner and various motorcycle races.

The newly formed association held another meeting last evening at which further arrangements were made for the initial meet.

The event is already being advertised about the surrounding country as far as Duluth, and Mr. Smith left this morning for the state fair with a large package of advertising. The outlook is bright for many entrants to the races.

ASKED TO LIGHT AND HEAT LIBRARY

Virginia Alderman Makes Proposition to the School Board.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alderman Michael Boylan of the city council appeared before the school board and requested on behalf of the council that the board furnish heat and light for the proposed new library building to be erected at the corner of Spruce street and Central avenue, just across the street from the Roosevelt school building, in which block the school heating and lighting plant is located. Andrew Carnegie has agreed to add $10,000 to the $12,000 fund for a new library building, but negotiations are being continued with the vew of raising the total appropriation to $30,000.

Superintendent Lafayette Bliss of the public schools favors the proposition for the school board to furnish heat and light for the proposed new library building and thinks no charge should be made, and is also in favor of the establishment of a department in the new building devoted to the needs of the public schools as a public school circulating library, maintaining the reference libraries in the various buildings as at present.

Packey McFarland's Secret for Fatigue

We are not all pugilists and so cannot remain in the pink of condition all the time by exercise. But even as great a pugilist as Packey McFarland becomes exhausted once in a while, and his method of restoring his nervous energy is not by hardening his muscle but by using the very same method which thousands of men and women are using today.

Packey's secret is really no secret at all. Here it is, in his own words: "While training I at times become fatigued and find splendid use for Make-Man Tablets, as I found them, from personal use, the best tonic I have ever used."

Any man or woman who will try Make-Man Tablets for building up the nerves and purifying the blood (and we all need it at least once in a while) will find them the most effective tonic ever offered the public. They enrich the blood cells, infuse the starving "zig-zag" nerves with the natural strength they need. For Nervousness, Insomnia, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Trouble, Make-Man Tablets have no equal. The first box will prove it. Free sample sent on request. Make-Man Tablet Co., Dept. 15, Chicago, Ill. Sold and recommended by A. E. Swedberg, White Swan Drug Co., at 50 cents, 3 East Superior St.; also 2015 West Superior St.

GOVERNOR GIVEN RAP BY PASTOR

Says He Misled Range Ministers Regarding Sunday Racing.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—In his address yesterday morning at the Methodist Episcopol church on "The Laboring Man and His Sabbath," Rev. B. D. Hanscom characterized Governor Eberhart as a day late in many matters, especially in the recent attempt to prevent the St. Louis county fair at Hibbing from being held on Sunday. He recited the various facts in the case and showed how the executive of the state had mislead the Range Ministeral association mebers in their effort to stop the Sunday races at the fair. His address was one of the most stirring delivered here and was closely followed by the large congregation present.

FUNERAL IS HELD AT TWO HARBORS

Impressive Services for C. D. Pegelow at the Methodist Church.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral services of C. D. Pegelow were held at the First Methodist Episcopal church of which he had been a member for some years. The pastor, Rev. T. Stanley Oadams, delivered a most impressive address touching upon his many enduring traits of character, his long and faithful service with the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, and made an eloquent appeal to the large congregation of railroad men present, to live to its fullest enjoyment the great ideal of brotherhood which was ever before them in the great iron ore industry in which they were engaged, where the efficiency of the unit and the co-operation of all was not only a necessity to the end of sucessful business operation but to the development of individual character that gave dignity to labor and made possible the happy homes and loving hearts such as our brother had left behind.

Beautiful music was rendered by the church male quartet, and Miss Florence Oadams played appropriate selections on the organ. The floral offerings were numerous and elaborate, among which were a massive cross of roses and pedestal of gladiolus from the Duluth & Iron Range general office employes at Two Harbors, where he last served the company; and floral devices from the Order of Railroad Conductors, the Brotherhood of Trainmen, Knights of Pythias, Modern Woodmen, and the Two Harbors marine band. The services at the grave were in charge of the Pythian order in the presence of a large concourse of people.

DEADLOCK IS ENDED.

Clerk and Treasurer Chosen By Virginia School Board.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The deadlock over the election of a clerk of the school board which occurred at the first meeting of the board was settled at another meeting by the election of C. E. Hendrick as clerk and Guy Moore, treasurer, each to receive a salary of $10 per month. Heretofore the clerk has been paid a salary of $75 per month.

It is expected that a special school election will be called soon for the purpose of taking action on the propositions to erect new buildings on the North side and in the Lincoln location.

RANGE MINISTERS

Helmuth, Hibbing; 2:15 p. m, discussion; 2:30 p. m., paper, "Are the Methods of Jesus Adapted to Present Day Needs," Rev. R. W. Wilcox, Virginia; 3 p. m., discussion; 3:15 p. m., unfinished business.

The members of the association will be well entertained by local church workers. At noon hour Monday the visitors will be served with luncheon at the Methodist Epscopal church by the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

LARGE ENROLLMENT AT THE VIRGINIA SCHOOLS.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The enrollment for the opening day of the Virginia police schools was the largest in the history of the city, being fully 300 larger than for the opening day of last year. Fully 100 pupils were enrolled who removed to Virginia since the close of school last spring, indicating a healthy growth in the city. The Northside, Central and Johnson schools are well crowded and several grades have been removed to the Roosevelt building, which is also pretty well filled. The freshman class of the high school is more than double that of last year and the senior class is much larger, the largest in the history of the high school.

FOOTBALL AT EVELETH.

High School Students to Elect Captain and Manager.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of high school students interested in football will be held this week to elect a captain and manager. Of the old men back at school are End Pryor, Quarterback Saari, Tackles Finnegan and Crotler, End Hill, Fullback Turnquist, and Guard Toblin of the first team, and Owens, Moon, Turnquist, Levant, Farnand, J. Saari and Neimi of the second team. A second team will also be formed this year. Milton Fellows of Iowa will be among the new candidates who will try for back field positions. Prof. John S. Peoples of the science department of the high school, who coached the winning school teams of the last season, will again have charge of the eleven and is confident of a successful season.

A meeting will soon be called of the old college, the high school and experienced football players here to organize a city eleven to compete with the elevens being formed in other range towns.

WILL BE ENTERTAINED.

Eveleth May Give Banquet for Steel Corporation Officials.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The officials of the Steel corporation who will visit the range on their annual tour of inspection this week are assured a hearty welcome here Friday, as they are to be met by fifteen local automobile owners who will show them the Eveleth mines in their machines. The party is expected here Friday morning in private cars over the Missabe road and will be met at the depot by the automobiles.

Following the visit to the Eveleth mines the steel officials will continue on to Virginia. There is some talk of providing a banquet for the visitors, and arrangements will probably be completed tomorrow for the affair.

ARRESTED FOR TRYING TO SELL SOME VENISON.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Geer, who has been in the employe of the state forestry commission in the Sand Lake country erecting a watch tower, was arrested Monday afternoon in this city on the charge of offering for sale some venison which he is alleged to have secured in the Sand Lake country while in the service of the state. The arrest was made on complaint of Deputy Game Warden James, who believes he has sufficient evidence to secure a conviction, though Geer says that some one is trying to put up a job on him. Geer was taken to the city jail, but expects to secure bail shortly.

DAMAGES DONE BY HEAVY RAIN STORM AT EVELETH.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth last evening witnessed one of the most severe storms of its history. Rain fell during the entire evening, flooding the streets and doing much damage to the walks. An electrical storm also passed over the city.

Dance Is Successful.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the inclement weather the dance given last evening at Vail hall by the E. O. N. H., with music being furnished by the Owls' orchestra, proved a huge success, many attending from the surrounding towns.

Away With the Corn Dentist!

"BINGO" Beats Knife and Chisel

Have you a corn, callous, bunion, wart? Use judgment—use "Bingo." Don't try to slice it off or dig it out—don't run risk of blood poisoning! Don't let corn surgeon cut or sandpaper your feet. How can he know how deep to go without hurting you—without drawing blood? Why pay him more for just temporary relief than a whole bottle of "Bingo" costs (2 bits)? Don't use sticky plasters with thin coating of dope to affect surface only—with straps to bulge the stocking—increase pressure against tender, painful spot—and make you wear larger shoes.

Bingo's better, quicker, safer, more thorough. Get rid of these pests entire. Allays pain and inflammation quick's a wink. Corn or callous shrivels up—you pick it off, throw it away! Harmless to normal flesh.

Bingo's 25c at drug stores, or sent direct by Meda-win Mfg. Co., 5057 Indiana Ave., Chicago, Ill. Sold in this city by Max Worth, 13 West Superior street; Smith & Anderson, 1932 West Superior street; Boyce Drug store, 831 West Superior street; Fred Scott & Co., 3 West Superior street; Jeronimus Drug Co., 503 East Fourth street; Smith & Smith, 101 West Superior street; J. J. Palmer Drug Co., 2132 West Third street; August E. Holmberg, Superior, Wis., (3 stores); F. B. Priest, Est End, Superior, Wis.; Priest Pharmacy, 1012 Tower avenue, Superior, Wis.

MINES WORKED ON LABOR DAY

Stores and Other Business Houses at Ely Closed in Afternoon.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A quiet day was observed here yesterday, as all of the mines worked in full force, the stores and business houses only observing the Labor day and these only in the afternoon. A game between the bartenders and the clerks was held at Athletic park in the afternoon to pass away the time, the clerks getting the long end of a 12 to 10 score. Nearly all of the game was played in a drizzling rain which kept up all afternoon and evening.

A teachers' meeting was held in the high school building yesterday morning at which methods of teaching were discussed. All the teachers were present and were assigned their rooms in the different schools.

Mrs. Dominick Satori returned last night from a short trip from Milwaukee, where she and her daughter, visited with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gouze and son, John, are in St. Paul this week taking in the state fair.

The school census has just been completed, and Mr. Labeau, who had the task of getting the children's ages, names, etc., has turned in the figures at 1,337. These figures include all of the school age population in the school district, which includes Ely, Winton, Savoy and White Iron. This is a great increase over last year, which willl mean more crowded school rooms.

MATT HERRALA BURIED.

Funeral at Ely Conducted By Finnish Temperance Society.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matt Herrala, who died in Fergus Falls last week, was buried Sunday. The funeral was under the auspices of the Finnish Temperance society and they went out in full force to attend the funeral from Laing hardware's undertaking parlors to the Finnish church. Rev. Hirvi officiated at the services, and the body was escorted to the cemetery east of the city.

Jake Kolstad, tourist agent for the Duluth and Iron Range Railway company here, has received an automobile which he had purchased in Two Harbors. Mr. Kolstad intends to use it in connection with the Ely Lakes Outing company, running a stage line between here and Burntside lake, where the company has its summer hotel.

C. L. Newberry, who was formerly superintendent of the public schools here, made a short trip here last week He has some property here, and besides looking it over, visited with the many friends he made while here. He was accompanied by his daughter, Marion. Mr. Newberry is now located in Gilbert, where he is superintendent of the schools.

Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin and daughter, Mary, returned last week from a two weeks' trip in Milwaukee, where she had been visiting with relatives.

Mrs. Charles Grabowsky and children returned last Wednesday, after a week's visit with friends here.

Rev. W. T. Hughes of the Presbyterian church left last Saturday for the Copper country, where he will stay for a short time. Rev. A. H. Mutchler of Tower will take his place here in his absence.

H. A. Stein, who ran a barber shop here for the last three years, has removed to Winton, where he will continue to do the same business.

Mrs. Alice Brown and family arrived from Aurora, where they were formerly located, and has taken up their residence in the back rooms of the James Drug store. Miss May Brown will teach school this year in the Savoy school.

Rev. and Mrs. Farrell have returned from a week's outing in the Basswood region and other points around here.

Leon Daun, a French student, was here last week, looking over the mines. He will also look over the mines and their methods of mining in the Mesaba range.

Mrs Russ of Pueblo, Colo., was visiting with her sister, Mrs. George L. Brozich, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Horovitz left here last Wednesday for Minneapols, where they will be at home hereafter. Mr. Horovitz was in the clothing business while here, but later traveled for a woolen mill. The Horovitzs were in the city since its beginnning, being here the last twenty-two years.

DAM AT PIKE RIVER

For Hydro-Electric Plant for Tower Being Constructed.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The H. L. Bartlett company of Virginia is busy at work on the contract of putting in the dam at Pike River Falls for the hydro-electric plant for the city of tower.

The Misses Helen Benson and Esther Strand left Monday morning for Duluth to resume their school duties.

A. H. Lofgren, accompanied by a Duluth gentleman, took a drive to Cook on Monday.

Rev. A. H. Mitchler of Tower conducted services Sunday in the Presbyterian church at Ely.

ELY WINS FROM WINTON IN HARD-HITTING GAME.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Winton baseball club came to Ely Sunday and were trimmed by the score of 10 to 4. The game was a good one despite the rather large score. Errors were few, and most of the runs were brought in by the heavy hitting of the Ely players. The feature of the game was the hitting of Skala, who made a home run, a three-bagger and received a base on balls. Gianotti's great pitching was also a feature. This was his first attempt at pitching and made a hit with the fans. The score by innings is as follows:

	R.
Ely	1 1 2 0 0 3 2 1 x—10
Winton	0 3 0 1 0 0 0 0 0—4

HOTEL MANAGEMENT AT TOWER CHANGES.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the first of the month F. E. Kolb the manager of the Vermilion hotel left for Pittsburg and O. Wiseman has been secured to manage the hotel. Mr. Kolb was fortunate in securing Mr. Wiseman as he is experienced in operating the Vermilion. The hotel has enjoyed a large patronage the past summer and there are good prospects for a very actice fall business.

NEW CHURCH AND SCHOOLS

Father Hogan Buys Site for Buildings of New Parish.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father James Hogan, the recently installed priest of the new parish, which includes Hibbind south of Mahoney street and the towns of Alice and Brooklyn, yesterday purchased three lots at the corner of Fourth avenue and Mahoning street with the old public school building located there for $7,500. The old school building will be remodeled into a church building, and the plans of Father Hogan include the erection of a parochial school here later. There is no parochial school in Hibbing at the present time and those who are backing Father Hogan's plans believe that there is need for one.

ATTENDANCE IS DOUBLED.

Hibbing Has Twice as Many High School Pupils as Last Year.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The public schools opened here this morning. In the grades the regular work is being done, but at the high school the day was given over to preparation for the regular work which will start tomorrow. The enrollment records this morning show 487 registered at the Washington, 331 at the Jefferson, 175 in the seventh and eighth grades of the Lincoln school in the high school building. In the high school 175 pupils were enrolled, an increase of almost 100 per cent over last year's opening day, when only ninety-eight were present.

Returns From Ontario.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 5.—George K. Trask, who was reported to have given up his position as clerk of the municipal court, has returned after an absence of thirty days and is back at his old position. He visited his parents in Ontairo.

DULUTH IS RAIN SOAKED

Total of 1.70 Inches Fell in Twenty-Four Hours.

Downpour General Over Northwest---Potato Crop Sustains Greatest Damage.

Although Duluth and the territory round about have been soaked with rains that have been coming with great regularity, the weather man does not seem to have any inclination to let up, today at least, and give this oommunity a brief dry spell. During the twenty-four hours ending at 7 o'clock this morning, the city has been doused with 1.70 inches of rain, which, while not a record, is enough to keep the community in a soggy condition.

But relief is in sight tomorrow, according to a statement from Weather Forecaster W. H. Richardson, who says that the prospects are for clearing weather then.

The rain and disagreeable weather are not confined to the territory about Duluth, as so many are inclined to believe. During the period that Duluth had 1.70 inches of rain, Minneapolis was visited with 1.72 inches, and St. Paul with 1 inch. Moreover Canada from Manitota westward, and all of North Dakota were drenched with heavy rains.

During the last week of August the rains totaled .76 of an inch, the precipitation varying from a tracc to .87 of an inch per day, according to weather bureau reports. For this month, .05 of an inch fell on the first, and there was clear weather on Sept 2 and 3.

Probably the greatest damage that these rains bring at this season of the year is the destruction of garden truck and other produce, which have not been taken up yet. In many localities potatoes have been rotting for some time, and it is estimated that in low places the loss sustained by farmers reaches from one-third to one-half of the production.

Yesterday's rain put a damper upon the celebration of Labor day. Thousands of Duluthians who planned to spend the day at Fairmont park were forced to stay away. Many other outing affairs were marred because of the disagreeable weather.

MEET TO ELECT A NEW PASTOR

First Swedish Lutheran Congregation Will Hold Important Session.

A meeting of the First Swedish Lutheran congregation will be held this evening at the church, Sixth avenue east and Third street, for the purpose of electing a new pastor.

Rev. Carl G. Solmonson, the former pastor, who left several weeks ago for a trip to Sweden and a tour of the Scandinavian countries, will not return to the First church.

Recently the congregation tendered a call to the Rev. Oscar Sandahl of Marquette, Mich., but he declined. The election this evening is held for the purpose of extending another call. Rev. Carl G. Olson, pastor of Bethany church of the West end will conduct the election.

Taft Commutes Sentence.

Washington, Sept. 5.—President Taft has commuted the court-martial sentence of dismissal in the case of Lieut. Robert G. Rutherford of the Twenty-fourth infantry. The penalty is changed to a loss of fifty numbers in rank. Lieut. Rutherford was tried on charges of financial irregularity at Madison Barracks, N. Y.

Try this test in a "Wear-Ever" Aluminum Cooking Utensil

Pour one pint of milk into a saucepan. Place over a low fire and without stirring let the milk boil down to one-quarter pint. The milk will not be scorched.

THAT'S because aluminum is a better distributer and retainer of heat than other materials of which cooking utensils are made.

You can cook quicker and you therefore save fuel.

"Wear-Ever" utensils are made without joints, seams or soldered parts from thick, hard sheet aluminum. They have no coating to peel, crack or blister. They cannot rust, cannot form poisonous compounds with acid fruits or foods, and they last a generation.

Let us supply you with the one-quart sample saucepan advertised in magazines—and show you other utensils bearing the "Wear-Ever" trademark.

VICTIM PLAYS DETECTIVE

Causes Arrest of Men He Claims Took His Money.

After being fleeced out of $22 Sunday by an old pocketbook con game, Gordon Sewell yesterday did some detective work and caused the arrest of the two men whom he claims got his money. They gave their names as Andrew Rusky and Steve Adamovich and were booked on charges of swindling.

Donning some old clothes, Sewell loafed around the downtown section until he saw one of the men who had helped him to get rid of his cash. He trailed him until he was joined by his partner, and then called in Patrolman Fred Grandmaison, who placed both of them under arrest. Rusky had $19.83 in his pockets and Adamovich had $71.31. The former is 21 years old and says his home is at East St. Louis, while the latter gives his age as 26, and claims to hail from Minneapolis.

WILD RICE MILL BURNED ON THE BIG FORK RIVER.

Deer River, Minn., Sept. 5.—Fire caused the total destruction of the wild rice mill of F. Vanve at Popple, on the Big Fork river, at an early hour yesterday morning. All the machinery in the mill and about 500 sacks of rice ready for shipment were burned.

Mr. Vance has made a big success in the wild rice business and had a complete equipment.

Wrinkleless Skin Now Easy to Have.

(From Family Physician.)

There's no excuse for any woman having wrinkles now. It has been found that a simple mixture of saxolite and witch hazel has a remarkable action upon the deepest wrinkles, no matter what their nature, whether caused by worry, habitual frowning, a debilitated condition or the ravages of Father Time. This harmless remedy, which anyone can easily make, obtaining the ingredients at any drug store, acts both as an astringent and a tonic. The combined effect of tightening the skin and heightening its vitality is to immediately affect every line and wrinkle, keeping the cuticle smooth and firm as in youth.

The proportions are one ounce saxolite (powdered) to one-half pint witch hazel. The solution should be used as a wash lotion. It is equally effective in disposing of flabbiness of cheek and neck, as well as sagging below the eyes.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATE

D. W. Lawler Makes No Secret of His Political Aspirations.

Says He Is Getting Acquainted With People of State.

"I make no secret of the fact that I am getting acquainted with people of Minnesota as fast as I can with a view to running for the United States senate," said Daniel W. Lawler, former mayor of St. Paul, while stopping at the St. Louis hotel, yesterday.

Mayor Lawler came to Duluth to deliver his address for the Labor day celebration at Fairmont park.

"Yes, I will certainly file for the Democratic nomination for the United States senate under the new law, which required candidates for the legislature to state in advance whether they will abide by their party's choice in voting for United States senator," said he "I do not know just when I shall file. That is a matter of small consequence. I have plenty of time. During the next year I shall visit many places in Minnesota, and I expect to make many speeches. Sunday I was at New Ulm, where I spoke at a harvest festival. During the next few days I have half a dozen engagements, largely at county fairs in different parts of the state."

"Do you hear much about the candidates for governor to run next fall?"

"Oh, yes; on the Democratic side there is talk of Fred Johnson of New Ulm, brother of the former governor; also of Congressman Hammond and others. I do not think there is any doubt that Governor Eberhart will have opposition for renomination on the Republican side. The Gordon men seem pretty aggressive. The same thing is true of those who are pushing Bob Dunn. Bob is a good fellow. I like him."

Mr. Lawler was accompanied by his son, Samuel P. Lawler. Among those who called on him at the hotel was Capt. Harry H. Hawkins of Duluth.

"Here," said Mr. Lawler, "is the man who ran on the Democratic ticket with me as candidate for lieutenant governor when I ran for governor in 1892. He and I have gone through many a speech-making tour together."

AN IRON FURNACE PLANNED FOR ELY

White Iron Lake Iron Company Arranging to Smelt Low-Grade Ores.

J. Lebrec, president of the White Iron Lake Iron company, which has a producing mine, the Euclid, at Chisholm, on the Mesaba range, and John T. Jones of Iron Mountain, Mich., inventor of the Jones' step-furnace for the smelting of lowgrade iron ores, returned today from the Ely district, on the Vermilion range, where they made an inspection of the White Iron Lake company's property, two miles from Ely. Two shafts are being sunk on this property and both are in ore.

The White Iron Lake company is completing a deal with Mr. Jones for the erection of one of his furnaces on their Ely property for the treatment of lowgrade surface ores. The first of the Jones' furnaces, at Coleman, Mich., will be in operation in about two months and White Iron lake ores will be sent there for treatment preparatory to the erection of the furnace at Ely. It is claimed for the Jones' furnace that it can handle 40 per cent iron ore and turn out pig iron worth $9 a ton at a cost of $7.

N. Moran, a retired lumberman of Vancouver, B. C., has returned home, after a tour of the Vermilion range, during which he purchased 20,000 shares of the treasury stock of the White Iron Lake Iron company, at par. Mr. Moran was desirous of acquiring more of the stock at the same figure, but the company has decided not to issue any more stock at this time and if later necessary to issue more, to increase the price.

GOOD STRIKE ON VERMILION

Two Holes 145 Feet in High-Grade Ore Adjoining Section 30 Mine.

On Silverman Property, Optioned to Mr. Fargo, of Express Fame.

News reached Duluth today of an important strike of high-grade iron ore on property belonging to the Lazarus Silverman estate adjoining the famous Section 30 mine near Ely, on the Vermilion range. Two diamond drill holes on the southeast quarter of section 25, 63-12 have encountered the ore body at a dept of 108 feet and each hole is 145 feet in 66 per cent ore.

Lazarus Silverman was a banker and mining man of Chicago who died three years ago. Drilling is being done by Mr. Fargo of Chicago, of the Wells-Fargo Express company, under an option for lease from Edward Romberg, son-in-law of the late Mr. Silverman and executor of his estate. The Silverman holdings consist of fourteen forties in section 25, four of the forties adjoining the holdings of the Section 30 Mining company.

The new find is only 150 feet west of the west line of section 30, which experts figure contains an ore body of high grade, equal to the Pioneer mine at Ely, whose value is estimated at $75,000,000. Mr. Fargo is rich and can develop his strike into a shipping mine without help.

CONFISCATES BOYS' RIFLE

J. A. Robertson of Highland Park yesterday complained to the police that he has had close escapes from being hit by stray bullets while driving in that vicinity. Yesterday afternoon he claimed that a shot whizzed past his head and buried itself in a nearby fence. Upon investigating he found two boys with a repeating 22-caliber rifle. He said that he asked them for the gun, which they gave to him, and then informed them that they could get it by calling at the police station. He brought the gun with him to headquarters yesterday.

NEW YORK FIREMAN BEATS WESTON'S TIME.

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—Seventy-nine walking days from where he started to lower Edward Payson Weston's record of 105 days across the continent, John Henry Mooney, a member of New York city's fire department, has arrived in Oakland, Cal., practically completing his task and winning the $10,000 prize contributed by as many thousand members of New York's fire department, each of whom paid a dollar to the fund.

WOULD HIRE BOYS TO DO POSTOFFICE WORK.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 5.—"The United States government can save from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 yearly by placing boys in the postal service about the age of 15 years," was the statement made by Postmaster Maher of New Haven, Conn., at the national convention of the Association of Supervisors of Postoffice Employes, being held in this city. Mr. Maher as the superintendent of mails at New Haven, stated that young men between the age of 15 and 18 years would prove efficient as clerks or carriers in the service. He said they could be paid at the rate of $500 per year.

GREAT NEED OF LEADERS

To Fight Arrogant Attitude of the Railroads in Minnesota.

Real Gasoline in the Tank and Less Hot Air Demanded.

To the Editor of The Herald:

As a resident of Minnesota I read with interest, your recent issue giving the poll of the Minnesota house and senate on an extra session of the legislature to increase the gross earnings tax, to compensate the state, in a measure at least, for the arrogant attitude of the railroads of the state toward the traveling public and shippers, by restoring the old rate of 3 cents a mile and holding up the business interests and consumers of the state by putting into effect the old freight rates.

It is indeed refreshing to note that there is some sentiment in the state against the apparently unjust condition of affairs. The legislation which resulted in the 2-cent fare and lowering of commodity rates was the result of a hard fight conducted many years by good old time fighters and champions of the people's rights, and it seems in the face of present apathy on the part of our governor and many to whom the people look for vigorous initiative, that the state had become the lifeless victim of the railroads.

I read with interest the expressions of opinion on the part of the members of the legislature, and therein is mirrowed the legislative type of statesmanship. I was amused at a certain senator, while willing to do what his constituents wished, was of the opinion that what the state needs is a rest, that big interests are not in a mood to stand any more legislation that would in any way affect them. Of course the names of many who are non-committal and are not in favor of an etxra session, are old familiar landmarks—guide posts that never guide, while some defend their attitude in a way that one cannot question their motives.

But if ever Minnesota needed some good fighting leaders, it is right now. Never in the history of any Western commonwealth has a state been so badly defeated and humiliated as was Minnesota by the Sanborn decision—right or wrong. If this decision is right in law and equity, then it is high time the state started in to exact from the railroads a tax based on a physical valuation that will measure up to the standard accepted by the master in chancery and circuit court of appeals. If the railroads of Minnesota must be allowed to charge 3 cents a mile passenger fare and immeasurable freight rates, then let us see that the state fully and completely taxes the railroads.

If the decision is wrong or unreasonable, then the sooner the people of the state arouse themselves and demand redress, the sooner will it stand among its sister states as a state demanding its rights.

It is progress with a vengeance when Minnesota goes back to paying the same railroad fare it paid thirty or forty years ago, and is powerless as a sovereign state to demand and receive just and equitable freight and passenger rates,—and 3 cents a mile is an unjust rate in this day and generation, in the light of economic conditions now in vogue, all opinions of all courts, to the contrary notwithstanding.

In Wisconsin you can ride for 2 cents a mile and yet railroad valuations in that state are no lower than in Minnesota, or ought not to be, but by a showing before a court of appeals there is no telling what the railroads might make the valuations appear. In the newer state of North Dakota one can ride for less than in Minnesota, settled for generations before North Dakota.

Minnesota lacks good old-fashioned leaders. This case will soon be heard on appeal before the supreme court of the United States and the result no one can foresee, but it matters not what the decision may be, the state, its governor and its legislators, need to exercise more progresive initiative. I mean progressive in its true sense, and not as relating to any typo of statesman or politician.

Instead of so much grandiloquent praise of Minnesota, so much self-praise under the banner of state development for goodness sakes, let's have some real gasoline in the tank and less hot air.

Let's have re-apportionment—just and proper, regardless of where the shoe pinches. Let's leave less crazy, irresponsible inactive, dodge-the-questions law-makers, and a few more with some regard for justice and fair play. Just look at that "Seven-Senator" rarebit dream! If this is all the state gets after spending $75,000 on a census, constitutionally provided for, as a basis for re-apportionment,—if this is all the state gets, then let's go back to a territorial government, or roam with the Indians.

Your vigorous attitude and agitation anent this railroad legislation and decision is commendable and at least may serve to keep the lights burning.

HOOSIERS PREPARE TO ENTERTAIN I. O. O. F.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 5.—Odd Fellows of this city and state are preparing to entertain more than 250,000 visiting members of the lodge and their friends next week when the sovereign grand encampment of the order will be held here Sept. 16 to 23. More than twenty-five special trains are expected to be run into Indianapolis.

AMATEUR FLIES ACROSS OHIO.

Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 5. — Albert Elton, amateur aviator of this city, completed his flight with a passenger from Dayton yesterday, making the last leg from Trinway. He made stops yesterday at Canton and Salem before landing her. In an xhibition flight after reaching here he damaged one of his planes in landing, striking a woman. She was not injured. Elton left Dayton Saturday afternoon.

U. S. STEEL CORPORATION HEADS COMING TO DULUTH

Officials of the Steel corporation are expected in Duluth on Thursday morning to spend four days in Duluth and on the range. The trip is made to inspect the new steel plant at Gary and to visit the iron ranges. During the stay in this state, they will be the guests of the officials of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, the Duluth & Iron Range railroads, and the Oliver Iron Mining company.

W. J. Olcott, president of the Oliver Iron Mining company, left this morning for Chicago, where he will meet the visiting officials, and will accompany them to this city. The party from the East will be made up of twenty-three of the most active men in the Steel corporation.

Shortly after arriving in the city on Thursday morning over the Northwestern line, the presidents will gather in Mr. Olcott's office for a brief business session. At noon a luncheon will be given at the Duluth Commercial club by the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company and the Duluth Missabe & Northern Railway company, to which invitations have been issued to a number of prominent Duluthians.

In the afternoon a trip will be made on a special over the Northern Pacific branch to the site of the new $25,000,000 steel plant, which is located at Gary.

In the evening the visitors will be guests at a dinner given by the Oliver Iron Mining company at the Kitchi Gammi club, to which as many prominent citizens of Duluth have been invited as the club can accommodate.

On Thursday evening the party will leave Duluth for the range to visit the mines, and will spend two days there, returning to this city on Sunday morning. They will leave Sunday evening over the Northwestern line for Chicago, Sunday evening.

The following is the list of steel officials who are expected in the party: James A. Farrell, president, United States Steel corporation; D. G. Kerr, vice president, United States Steel corporation; John Reis, vice president, United States Steel corporation; W. J. Flibert, comptroller, United States Steel corporation; R. C. Bolling, assistant general solicitor, United States Steel corporation; E. P. Thomas, president, United States Steel Products company; W. J. Sullivan, secretary to president, United States Steel corporation, New York city; A. C. Dinkey, president, Carnegie Steel company; D. M. Clemson, president, Carnegie Natural Gas company; J. H. Reed, president, Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad company; William B. Schiller, president, National Tube company; Thomas Lynch, president, H. C. Frick Coke company; E. H. Utley, vice president, Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad company, Pittsburg, Pa.; Daniel Coolidge, president, the Lorain Steel company, Johnstown, Pa.; S. A. Davis, vice president, American Sheet & Tin Plate company, Pittsburg, Pa.; William P. Palmer, president, the American Steel & Wire company; H. Coulby, president, Pittsburgh Steamship company, Cleveland, Ohio; J. S. Keefe, vice president, the American Steel & Wire company, Chicago; George G. Crawford, president, Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company, Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Buffington, president, Illinois Steel company; A. F. Banks, president, Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railway company; Edward M. Hagar, president, Universal Portland Cement company, Chicago; August Ziesing, president, American Bridge company, Pittsburg, Pa.

MRS. STONE ACCUSED OF MURDERING SON.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 5.—Following the death last night of 4-year-old Willie Stone, who was shot by his mother, Mrs. George W. Stone, Monday, the woman was charged with murder. The police believe she had intended to commit suicide after she shot her son, but that her courage failed.

"This means that I am a murderess" said Mrs. Stone when told that her child was dead. "I only wish I might follow my son to heaven and be with him always. I knew when the child was born that I could never rear him. I did not deserve him."

ELEVEN DIE IN FIRE IN ALASKA

William Morrison Formerly of Wisconsin, One of the Victims.

Juneau, Alaska, Sept. 5.—Eleven persons were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the Juneau hotel and the McGrath building Sunday night. Six bodies have been recovered. The identified dead are:

WILLIAM MORRISON, day clerk, formerly of Portland, Or.

WALTER DAVENPORT, a painter, of Tacoma.

SELINA DOWLING, a native girl.

The bodies of Morrison, Davenport, two unidentified men, and two unidentified women have been recovered.

Of the fourteen injured, William Southkick of Michigan and Boyd Miles of Montana are believed to be fatally injured.

William Morrison, who was a native of Wisconsin and came to Juneau from Portland, was killed when he jumped from the third story.

Selina Dowling was reputed to be the most beautiful half-breed maiden in Alaska. She was recently acquitted of a charge of having murdered her mother.

OPEN SEASON FOR OYSTERS; THIS YEAR'S CROP OF HIGH GRADE

"A dozen raw, sir."

Those words have a most delightful sound, especially after four long months abstinence.

This is the opening month of the oyster season and once more those who are fond of the dish will be ordering oysters to their hearts' content.

Stewards of leading cafes and dealers in oysters claim that this year's crop will be excellent and that they will be better than ever.

These opinions are given out as a result of the report from the government officials to the effect that increased care has been taken by the government in the supervision of the oyster beds and increased skill used in the planting.

With this increased care, comes the increase in prices. It is said the wholesale price will range about 25 cents higher this season than last year. This, however, will not effect the retail price, it is thought.

BACK FROM THE SOUTH.

John Millen Says Both Corn and Cotton Crops Are Good.

John Millen, president of the Alger-Sullivan Lumber company, and vice president of the Alger-Smith company, returned yesterday from a business trip through Florida and Alabama.

The Alger-Sullivan company operates extensively in this territory.

Mr. Millen says that cotton and corn crops in the South are very good and that business conditions are quite satisfactory.

The Alger-Sullivan company has not as yet completed its deal for the timbered lands of the Michigan Land company. These lands are in Alabama and consist of about 50,000 acres. It is expected that the land will be the property of the Alger-Sullivan company by Oct. 1.

LAURIER ACCEPTS SOULANGE NOMINATION.

Ottawa, Sept. 5. — Premier Laurier yesterday signalized his return from Eastern Canada by accepting the nomination for member of parliament for Soulange county in Quebec, and addressing a political meeting at Alexandria, Ont., where he spoke for reciprocity and against the election of Duncan McMartin, Conservative.

Premier Laurier accepted the Soulange nomination to end a dispute between the rival Liberal candidates who retired in his favor. He also will be Liberal candidate in Quebec, East.

Sir Alfred left last evening for Coberg, where he opens an Ontairo campaign, which will occupy a week. He expresses himself confident of a return to power, and that reciprocity will be ratified and in full power by November.

MEXICAN REBELS BEATEN IN BATTLE

Madero's Candidacy for President Damaged By Unpopular Running Mate.

City of Mexico, Sept. 5.—Sixty Zapatistas lost their lives Sunday afternoon in two encounters with federal troops under command of Col. Morelos in the State of Morelos, according to official advices. No mention is made of federal losses.

Under the personal direction of Emiliano Zapata, the rebels made two stands on the Hacienda Chinameca. From the first they were dislodged by Morelos' men, who charged. Fifty bodies were found on the field following this engagement. The other ten men were killed in the second encounter, following which the rebels fled. They are being pursued and another battle is expected.

During the first engagement Zapata himself barely escaped death, his horse being shot from under him.

Suarez Unpopular.

"Viva Madero; Muerta Pino Suarez" (Death to Pino Suarez), the shouts with which the people in Pueblo greeted a speech by Francisco I Madero Monday, indicate the manner in which the candidacy of Jose Pino Suarez for the vice presidency has been received in many parts of the republic.

Only in a few quarters has the insurgent movement been directed against the progressive nominee for the presidency, but the spirit of antagonism toward Suarez has been manifested by means of public statements and editorials throughout the republic.

Even friends of Madero express a fear that the selection of Suarez and the riot in which Gen. Bernadino Reyes, the opposition candidate for the presidency, was stoned, may have the effect of lessening the chances of Madero for election.

WEST END

WEST END REPRESENTED AT LUTHER LEAGUE.

Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, was represented by five delegates at the annual conference of the Lake Superior district Luther League societies. The sessions were held Sunday and Monday at Superior and were well attended. In addition to the five delegates, a number of the Luther League members not delegates, were in attendance. The meetings were very instructive.

The local delegation consisted of Rev. Carl G. Olson, the pastor, who appeared on the program; George Anderson, who gave a talk on "The Duty of the Luther Leaguers to the Church"; Miss Evodia Olson, who rendered a piano solo; Miss Elna Akerman, and Herman Olson.

Junior League Banquet.

Members of the Junior League of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church enjoyed an informal banquet last evening in the church parlors, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, despite the inclemency of the weather. After the spread, Raymond Anderson gave a toast to "The Girls" and Miss Esther Grenvall responded with a toast to "The Boys." Miss Valborg Newborg sang and Henry Anderson, president of the Epworth League made a few remarks. This was followed by a class song and informal games.

Will Attend Conference.

Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, left this morning for Kiron, Iowa, where he will attend the annual meeting of the general conference of the Swedish Baptist churches of the United States and Canada. The sessions will last for a week and a number of prominent speakers will take part in the program.

West End Briefs.

The Young People's Society of the First Swedish Baptist church will hold a meeting this evening at the Swedish temple, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peterson and Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Gredson spent yesterday at Two Harbors.

William Anderson was a visitor yesterday at the state fair at Hamline.

C. O. Johnson, a contractor at Hill City, Minn., is visiting with friends in the West end.

C. J. Loff, a patrolman on the police force who resides in the West end, who was operated upon for appendicitis at St. Mary's hospital, is said to be on the road to recovery.

The weekly business meeting of the Sunday school teachers of the First Swedish Baptist church will be held Friday evening at the Swedish temple.

The funeral of Louis L. Raymond was held this afternoon from the residence of a brother, Harry B. Raymond, 3821 Oneota street at 2 o'clock to Oneota cemetery.

Mrs. Jonas Anderson of 216 North Thirty-eighth avenue west will entertain the Westra Society of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church at her home tomorrow afternoon.

The Parthenol Society of the Swedish Mission church will be entertained this evening at the church. The choir will also meet.

Mrs. John Olson of 2301 West Seventh street will entertain the Bethany Aid Society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church at her home Thursday afternoon. She will be assisted by Mrs. Alexander Nelson.

The Tabitha Society of Bethany Swedish Lutharan church will be entertained Thursday evening at the home of Miss Evodia Olson of 2305 West Third street.

STANLEY SAYS TRUST'S POWER IS IN RAILROADS.

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 5.—Congressman A. O. Stanley has returned home after making investigations in Duluth and Gary, Ind., in connection with the search into the affairs of the United States Steel corporation by a committee of the house of representatives, of which he is chairman. In discussing the situation he said:

"There is no doubt that if the independent manufacturers are placed upon the same footing by these railroads as is the Steel corporation, the independents can force the trust out of business or make lower its prices."

STORM LEAVES HAIL PILED FOUR FEET DEEP.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 5. — Horse Creek reports a storm which has left hail four feet deep over a wide area of country. At the foot of Round Top mountain it is reported to be twenty-five feet deep. Crops are destroyed for a radius of twenty miles, and stock killed by the score, while the damage from the wind is enormous among the farm homes of that section.

DODGE RESIGNS.

Chief Clerk of Holland Will Go to Minneapolis Hostelry.

H. L. Dodge, chief clerk of the Holland hotel, who has smilingly welcomed guests to Duluth's junior hostelry since its opening, will leave at 6:15 tonight for Minneapolis. He has resigned his position here to take that of chief clerk at the Dyckman hotel there. Mr. Dodge has made many friends during his stay here, and will be missed by the patrons of the Holland as well.

SCHOOLS ARE REOPENED

Nearly 15,000 Duluth Children Return to Their Studies.

Opening of New Jerome Merritt Building Delayed for Few Days.

Laying aside vacation joys, nearly 15,000 Duluth children tramped through the gloom and rain, back to school this morning. Teachers, nearly 400 of them, were stationed at the different buildings ready to begin their year's work. Except in a few of the buildings, where teachers were missing or where expected relief for congestion failed, there was little confusion. Classes were organized and preparations were made for the beginning of work.

The greatest congestion noted this morning was at the Bryant school. It was expected that the new Jerome Merritt school would be completed and ready for occupancy by today. The Bryant school has been crowded for two or three years and better conditions were expected at the opening this year, on account of the relief to be afforded by the new building.

The school board has been notified that the seats for the Jerome Merritt school, and also for the four-room addition to the Lowell school, cannot be shipped until tomorrow. It will be a week, at least, before they can be installed, so no attempt was made to open the new building this morning. The children were instructed to report to their regular classes in the Bryant and Oneota buildings, so that those buildings will be required to take care of a great number of children for a few days.

Nine or ten teachers who were assigned to duty failed to report this morning. Substitutes were quickly rushed out and if the missing teachers do not report from later trains today their places will be permanently filled. The teachers assigned to the Jerome Merritt school will be assigned to substitute work this week.

People of Colbyville and Riverside Park object to the Colbyville school being closed this year. Last year the children from that district were transported to the Washburn school. The same arrangement had been made for this year. This morning children were sent by their parents to the Colbyville school and, in protest against the building being closed, the children are reported to have stood around in the rain for some time before returning to their homes.

A petition for the reopening of the school was presented to the school board last week and referred to the committee on schools and teachers. No action has been taken. It was reported this morning that forty children had assembled at the school this morning. If there are that many in the district the board will probably have the school reopened.

The Bay View Heights people won their fight for a continuation of the school there. Last spring the board decided to close the building and allow the children to enter the Irving school. A protest was filed by the people of the suburbs, and a teacher was sent to the building this morning. Sessions will be held there as usual.

No attendance figures will be available for several days but it is believed that the attendance for the opening day will be greater than at any previous opening, despite the fact that the rain this morning would tend to keep many of the little ones away. The enrollment will increase daily for the first week and when all are in it is believed that the attendance records will be broken.

The parochial schools of the city and the normal school also opened this morning. The enrollment at the normal school is unusually heavy and President Bohannon looks forward to a successful year.

BOOKKEEPER IS FOUND DEAD IN BED

Bert C. Gidley Dies Suddenly From Heart Failure.

Bert C. Gidley, 35 years of age, an employe in the office of the Globe Elevator company on the Board of Trade, was found dead in bed at the house where he roomed, 228 First avenue west this morning. He had been subject to fainting spells and heart failure is supposed to have been the cause of death.

Mr. Gidley was unmarried. He is survived by a mother and sister in Montreal, and two brothers, Ernest H. Gidley of this city and Harry Gidley of Exeter, Ontario. The body will be taken to Exeter for interment tomorrow afternoon.

PREDICTS SLACK STEEL MARKET

Agent of Penn Bridge Company Foresees a Dull Fall.

W. B. Bassett of Minneapolis, agent for the Penn Bridge company, which is constructing a bridge for St. Louis county at Burnett, was in Duluth this morning. Mr. Bassett says that he expects the steel market for the rest of the working season of 1911 will be rather slack.

"There are remarkably few big jobs requiring steel work in progress at the present time," said Mr. Bassett this morning. "I do not expect there will be any great demand for work of this kind during the balance of this year, but, unless the election ties things up, there ought to be a brisk lot of business moving in construction lines of all kinds next spring."

Mr. Bassett reports a washout of the company's falsework for the steel span at Burnett last week, caused by the sudden opening of the dam above the bridge. Several of the piers slid for some distance along the rock bottom there, and were only saved by quick work by the crew in anchoring them to the shore.

RESULT IS UNCERTAIN

William Craig Returns From Thick of Canadian Reciprocity Fight.

Thinks Reciprocity Will Carry But By a Small Margin.

William Craig has just returned from a trip through the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, where the reciprocity fight in Canada is at its height, and he expects to see a small Liberal majority returned and reciprocity indorsed at the election the middle of this month.

Mr. Craig visited Montreal in Quebec province, and Toronto, Kingston, Cornwall, Brockville and Picton in Ontario, and talked reciprocity with a number of business men and politicians in all of these places. Active work is in progress and interest in the election is at a fever heat all through eastern Canada according to the Duluth man, and the result in those provinces is uncertain.

A big majority in favor of the measure is expected from Canada west of Port Arthur, and the result will depend upon the effectiveness of the work of the Laurier party in the East.

SUCCESSOR TO SPEARS IS NAMED.

Dr. T. Benson of the White Earth Indian reservation has been made superintendent of the Indian school at Vermillion lake, succeeding Dr. A. H. Spears, who has been transferred to Rosebud, S. D. The changes have been made quietly by the Indian department. It is expected that the transfer of Dr. Spears will put an end to the disturbed conditions which existed at the Vermillion school the latter part of the last term. Julia De Cora, an educated Winnebago woman, and one of the most successful Indian women instructors in the service, has resigned and returned to her people at Nebraska. It is expected that she will soon rejoin the service and be assigned to the Lake Vermillion school.

Woman's Happiness

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an oily emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

BOYS' CABINET ORGANIZES AND ELECTS OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

LEDRU BEVIS, Vice President.

JULIUS NOLTE, Secretary.

REX ST. CLAIR, President.

The members of the boys' department cabinet meet yesterday for their organization meeting and outlined their work for the coming year. The policies when completed will show increased activities in all the departments of the club work. Rex. St. Clair, who starts on his fourth year as a cabinet member, was elected president of the cabinet; Ledru Bevis, vice president, and Julius Nolte, secretary. All the chairmen of the various committees will get together during the next two weeks and organize the members of their committee and prepare a policy of work, to be presented at the annual fall conference of all committees. On this occasion the officers are formally installed and committees are officially appointed to office.

At the meeting yesterday short speeches were made by the following former cabinet members: R. C. McLean, '03 cabinet, contractor; Arthur Dunning, '05 cabinet, graduate of Dartmouth college; Fred Cole, '05, graduate of Hotchkiss; William Eklund, '05, University of Minnesota; Palmer Bevis, the retiring president of the cabinet. Each referred to the importance of the boys' department work and the opportunity that it gave boys to be of service to their fellows.

The following compose the 1911 and 1912 cabinet and they along with their committees, which will be composed of 125 boys, will be responsible for the work of the club for this season:

Athletic committee, Forest Huyck; social committee, Palmer Bevis, Ely Salyards; Sunday club, Julius Nolte, Richard Cullum; Bible study, Rex St. Clair, Charles Little; entertainment, Caldwell Harris, George Martin; intermediate meeting, Irving Moore; music committee, Ledru Bevis, Mortimer Stanford; camp and outing, Russell Duncan, Robert Kerr; clubs, Thornton McLean; membership, Harold Bradley.

The members of the cabinet presented official Y. M. C. A. pins to Glen Merritt, vice president of the cabinet, who is leaving the city for California within the next two weeks; Nat McConaughy, who s moving to New York city, and Duncan Frick, who is going to Hotchkiss. All these members were doing efficient service and it was with regret that their resignations were accepted.

REMARKABLE FLAX YIELD ON FARM NEAR MINOT.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 5.—One single seed of flax sown on a farm north of Minot, June 10, this year has produced 1,000 seeds. If every seed sown on the place had done as well, the flax would have gone 500 bushels to the acre, as half a bushel was sown to the acre.

A newspaper man examined one flax stem on the field in question, and it had four strong branches, and on the four branches were 110 flax balls. The balls on the average had ten seeds to the ball, making a total of 1,100 seeds for the stem which sprang from one seed.

Flax generally in North Dakota looks excellent. Flax sown about June 1 is now beginning to turn, and the flax sown up to June 15 is far enough along so that only a very heavy frost would hurt it.

URGE FARMERS TO CO-OPERATE

Brooks and Senator Gore Talk at National Meeting.

Shawnee, Okla., Sept. 5.—That the farmers of America will be owned and controlled by a trust within the next thirty years if they do not co-operate and conserve their efforts, was the warning issued today by President T. J. Brooks of Tennessee, in his response to the address of welcome at the opening session of the National Farmers.

Brooks declared that farmers must immediately change their business methods and assist one and another, or they will soon be the playthings of "the interests."

United States Senator T. P. Gore, who followed Brooks, took up the cudgel for co-operation.

"You farmers will be buried deeper in misery than ever if you do not co-operate," declared the blind senator.

May Lose an Eye.

Drako, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The attempt of Sam Beutler to remove the cap from an empty .38-caliber cartridge will probably cost him the sight of his left eye. Mr. Beutler is a blacksmith and was only experimenting with the cartridge when the accident happened. He put the cartridge in a vice and touched the cap off with a hammer and punch. The explosion drove a piece of the cap into his eye and physicians have little hope of saving the sight.

WILL DISCUSS PLANS TO REDUCE FIRE LOSSES.

Prominent business men of Duluth, the Twin Cities and the larger towns of the state will meet with a number of state officials at the capitol at St. Paul Thursday to discuss the best manner of reducing fire losses in Minnesota. It is claimed that 50 per cent of the fires in the last year or more have been caused by incendiaries. Several in different sections of the state are now being investigated by the state fire marshal's office. It is stated that the meeting Thursday will result in a big convention being called some time this fall, probably next month. Among the state officials who will attend the meeting are Governor Eberhart; Insurance Commissioner Thomas Preuss; C. G. Schultz, state superintendent of schools; C. E. Keller, state fire marshal; and W. T. Cox, state forestry commissioner.

WET OR DRY ISSUE ON RAINY PRIMARY DAY.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 5.—A rainfall which is general all over the state, will undoubtedly have its effect on the Ohio municipal primary elections today, and a light vote is anticipated. Early voting in the larger cities was particularly light. In several of the smaller towns it was heavy to start with, but lagged later.

The "wet" and "dry" fight seems to have been dragged into most of the mayoralty contests and will turn the balance in many cases. In Cleveland, Columbus, Toledo and Cincinnati the nomination of mayoralty candidates practically hinges on that issue.

New Altitude Record.

Parame, France, Sept. 4.—Roland G. Garros, the French aviator, yesterday broke the world's record for altitude in an aeroplane. He ascended 13,903 feet.

"THE SWEETEST GIRL IN PARIS"

Trixie Friganza and Splendid Company Please Labor Day Crowds.

Harem skirt, massive green skypiece, spangles and all, Trixie Friganza bounced on to the Lyceum stage last evening, and proceeded to keep "The Sweetest Girl in Paris" moving through two bright and tuneful acts, ably assisted by a most competent company of fun-makers, and a big chorus that is much above the ordinary.

"The Sweetest Girl in Paris" is a good example of what a musical comedy should be. The production is new; the costumes clean and fresh; the company most capable, the music tuneful enough to be whistled, and the entire production has a smart, up to the minute tone that pleased the big Labor day audiences yesterday.

The libretto is by Addison Burkhardt, the lyrics by Collin Davis, the music by Joseph E. Howard, and the production is owned by the La Salle Opera House company of Chicago.

There is no use trying to deny the fact that Miss Friganza is growing stout—to put it baldly, fat. She admits it herself, and makes capital of her weight. She has retained her old high spirits, and the increasing avoirdupois has not proved a handicap to her fun-making abilities.

Miss Friganza's chief assistants as fun-makers are Robert Leonard as James Duquesne Armstrong of Pittsburg, Miss Mable Heron as Myrtyle Johnson, a buyer for a Chicago hosier, and Miss Cathryn Rowe Palmer, as Annette, a maid of all work.

Mr. Leonard looks the part of the Pittsburg millionaire son, with more money than he knows what to do with. He might have been a fine guard or tackle on a football team, and his voice would win him a place in a college glee club. His three songs were all well sung, with "I Love Them All From A to Z," standing out as his best.

Miss Daisy Leon as Mary Blake, a student of music, carries the heavy feminine voice of the company. Miss Leon would never take any medals in tragedy or straight drama of any kind. She speaks her lines as though she had studied them long hours, but she isn't a bit lost when the spot light is turned on and the orchestra begins. She has a voice that she uses to advantage in her two songs, "Boys! Boys! Boys!" and "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," and the numbers are all too few.

Miss Friganza has three songs, into which she carries the inimitable fun-making ability she displays all through the piece. "That's How Imitations Look to Me," was the scream of the show and the singer received encore after encore at both performances yesterday. "Don't Forget the Number" has a whistlable air and catchy words and Miss Friganza makes the most of it.

Cathryn Rowe Palmer, as the burlesque maid of all work, was a scream. Her terpsichorean efforts in the first act convulsed the house, and she was given a vigorous hand when she went from the ridiculous to the serious and did some dancing that was real in its art. Her "I Want a Man" was attended by "business" that was good comedy.

William Edwards gives a fine characterization of Coborse, a tenor, who has lost his voice.

"The Sweetest Girl in Paris" will not live forever, but it gives a first-class evening's entertainment for those in search of mere amusement.

The engagement at the Lyceum closes tonight.

Amusement Notes.

The first performance for the week by the Gus A. Forbes stock company will be given tomorrow afternoon at the Lyceum. This week is the farewell week for the Duluth engagement of this popular stock company and for this performance Mr. Forbes has chosen the most interesting of Eugene Walters' plays and the sensational drama "The Wolf" will be given. The performance will be repeated every evening this week and there will be a Saturday matinee. The Saturday night performance will conclude the summer's engagement.

The Forbes stock company has proved the most popular stock organization which has ever appeared in the Northwest and there is much regret at their departure. The advance sale for all of this week's performances has been large.

Harry Seeback, the holder of the gold medal for 1905-5-7-8-9, offered by Richard K. Fox for three best bag puncher in the world, is at the Orpheum theater this week.

Commencing with two bags, he increases the number to fourteen, keeping all of them beating a merry tattoo at the same time through the use of the head, hands, feet, elbows and knees. Hanging from his toes, he keeps two floor bags going at terrific speed. Lying flat on his back, he keeps three bags going, using hands and feet. In this feat he is blindfolded.

In speaking of bag punching recently, John L. Sullivan said: "In my day bag punching was not the art that it is at present, although it formed a part of every fighter's preparation for battle. I always used a heavy, slow-moving bag with a long, stout rope and would swing at it with all my might for ten or fifteen minutes. Nowadays it is not used much by fighters, and then only to gain speed and accuracy.

HARRY SEEBACK.

"Harry Seeback, the champion bag puncher of the world, is well deserving of the title. I have seen his work in private and in public, and they will have to go some to wrest the title from him. He is still a young man, and I look for greater things from him in the future."

Mr. Seeback has invented what he calls a noiseless punching bag. It is placed on the top of a pedestal of rubber. Mrs. Seeback gives a demonstration of its possibilities at every performance.

The company announced for appearance here on Sunday night, Sept. 10, in that delightful drama of the Blue Grass state, "In Old Kentucky," will contain a charming young actress in the person of Miss Mildred Johnson, who plays the brave mountain lass who has so many feats of bravery to perform in the course of the performance. It is she who rides the fleet-footed Queen Bess to victory; it is she who swings across a mountain chasm on a rope to save her sweetheart from danger, and who does many other notable things in the play. This is Miss Johnson's third season with "In Old Kentucky."

Advisory Board Named.

Williston, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Williston is the first North Dakota city to adopt the "advisory board" plan of municipal government, Mayor J. W. Jackson inaugurating the system in accordance with pledges made by him in his pre-election announcement. The board is composed of eight prominent Williston residents and it is named with a view to gaining, so far as possible, general co-operation in municipal government work.

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

Mothers of Skin Tortured and Disfigured Children!

ARE your little ones suffering from itching, burning eczemas, or other torturing, disfiguring skin troubles? Are you, yourself, worn out with long, sleepless nights and ceaseless anxiety in caring for them? Then you should know that a warm bath with Cuticura Soap and a gentle application of Cuticura Ointment will in most cases bring immediate relief, the little sufferers will sleep, tired, fretted mothers will rest, and peace will fall on distracted households.

That those who have lost faith in every treatment and are without hope may try Cuticura Soap and Ointment without cost, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book, will be mailed free, on application. Address "Cuticura," Dept. BB, Boston. Sold throughout the world.

ARGUES FOR RECIPROCITY

Mallet Reads Paper Before the British Association.

Says Canadian Nationality Cannot Be Absorbed By America.

Portsmouth, Eng., Sept. 5.—The feature of today's meeting of the British association was a paper on the subject of reciprocity between the United States and Canada, read by Charles E. Mallet, ex-financial secretary to the war office and former member of parliament for Plymouth.

Mr Mallet strongly approved the Canadian-American agreement, and derided the suggestion that it would lead to annexation.

"The Canadian nationality is far too great a living force today," the speaker said, "to be swallowed up in the United States."

Mr. Mallet maintained that if Great Britain attempted to interfere with the Canadian-American arrangement, the government would not only be violating one of the first maxims of the British empire, namely, fiscal freedom for the self-governing dominions—but it would "be asking the greatest British colony to turn her back on the greatest market in the world."

The speaker argued that anything which increases the national development of Canada would be a source of imperial strength.

FOUR KILLED IN WRECK.

Forty Others Injured in Collision Near Erie, Pa.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 5.—Four persons were killed and at least forty others were injured in a collision last night between an Erie & Pittsburg passenger train and a Lake Shore freight train at Docks Junction, four miles west of here. The collision occurred at 8:55 o'clock, while the freight train was breaking onto a sidetrack to allow the passenger train, running thirty minutes' late, to pass on the main line. The dead:

JOHN S. JONES, engineer of West Tenth street, Erie.
FIREMAN, name unknown.
TRAMP riding on train.
UNKNOWN PASSENGER in the smoker.

The injured: S. C. Carr, Erie, suffering from shock; James Firman, fireman on freight, fatally injured; G. C. Williams, Erie, leg burned; F. C. Northup, Erie, head cut; J. O. Alonzi, miner, Barnsboro, Cambria county, Pa., shoulder broken.

PRINCIPAL YOUNG TALKS ON "EFFICIENCY."

Taking "Efficiency" for his theme, Principal Young addressed the pupils of the Duluth Central high school, at the first chapel exercises this morning.

Mr. Young urged upon the pupils the necessity of concentrating on their work, and avoiding waste of energy, and useless movements.

Only the old pupils reported this morning. The new freshmen coming from the grades did not report until 1 o'clock, owing to the confusion attendant on the opening day. The second, third and fourth-year students went through their regular classes, but the classes were shortened. At 1 o'clock the new freshmen reported, and were assigned to their session rooms.

TO BRING MANILA CIGARS.

There seems to have been a perfectly sincere though very misinformed impression among the people in Manila, says the United States Tobacco Journal, that the entire cigar trade in the United States was trying to knock the Manila product. Better informed people in the manufacturing end here are beginning to see that the only thing which knocked the Manila cigar in the United States was the cigar itself, or rather the condition in which it reached the smoker.

First, when the bars were let down and the initial shipments were unloaded at New York and San Francisco, these consisted largely of old stocks which had been gathered from the unsold discards of practically every factory, not inviting smokes even when put aboard the big ocean freighters.

But after close contact with bilage and brine, the odor of sea water and steamship damp, after being held for some time in bond, pending the application of the free entry clauses of the Payne act, they came on sale in such a state that no Manilan would ever have recognized them as forming a part of the cigars so popular at home.

Efforts made by American importers to recondition such shipments have not been successful for reasons which will be understood by any cigar leaf handler, and particularly by those conversant with the very peculiarly sensitive character of Philippine leaf. This tobacco is highly odorous and is naturally of a sweet, smooth taste, but when subject to resweating it develops acidity, thus making the product unpalatable.

Now those who have the welfare of the Manila cigar industry at heart are figuring upon the possibility of protecting cigar cases en route. And here comes the great suggestion. It is on the cards that an attempt will be made to induce the Pacific Mail Steamship company to place on the Manila route a humidor ship which will bring over cigars in good condition. If the plan is feasible it may prove a big boost to the Manila cigar.

THE WRONG INTERPRETATION.

Los Angeles Times: Robert Henri, the well-known New York painter, was condemning a stupid critic.

"His interpretations are always wrong," Mr. Henri said. "He always misunderstands totally an artist's conception. He reminds me of the Cincinnatus woman before Millet's 'Angelus.'

"When the 'Angelus' was on exhibition at Earle's in Philadelphia, a Cincinnatus woman dropped in to see it. She gazed with lively interest at the two peasants standing reverently in the sunset glow in the quiet meadow. Then she said:

"'A courtin' couple, hey. Seem a bit shy, don't they?'"

THE HAPPY MAN
Is the Owner of a Lot in HOMEWOOD ADDITION

Although it rained hard all day yesterday, a number of lot buyers visited this beautiful property and selected homesites.

Several who did not get out yesterday on account of the bad weather, have asked us to continue this sale at the old prices for a short time longer.

We have decided it is only fair to do so, but we will sell 25 lots only at old prices, closing this sale Monday, Sept. 11th, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon.

The demand for property in this vicinity warrants an increase in price. Street car service is now assured early next summer.

Remember HOMEWOOD is not a suburb. It is only 12 city blocks from Duluth's retail center, but prices are much lower than way out suburban prices.

All lots are marked with price and terms. If you see a lot that suits you, remove the tag and bring same to this office.

HACKENSCHMIDT IS LIKE A CHILD IN THE HANDS OF THE AMERICAN GIANT

Gotch Wins From Russian in Less Than Twenty Minutes.

First Fall Comes in 14:18 1-5 on Body Hold—Second in 5:32 1-5.

Hack Claims Injured Knee Was Responsible for Poor Showing.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—The geographical center of the wrestling world was more than ever fortified at Humboldt, Iowa, the home of Frank Gotch, yesterday.

Moreover, Referee Ed Smith, who proclaimed the world's champion victor over George Hackenschmidt, declared that for the next ten years there would be no shift of the wrestling capital, unless Gotch should choose to change his place of residence.

The Russian's showing was pitiful. The crowd declared that he had "quit" but the defeated challenger, through copious tears, averred that he entered the arena with a wrenched knee on which Gotch worked and reduced him to comparative helplessness.

In any event, it is certain that the foreigner's nerves were "on edge." He spent a sleepless night and was pale when he crawled through the ropes.

Dr. J. J. Davis, who examined both wrestlers before they went to the mat, declared that while there might be something wrong with Hack's knee, it was not evident during the examination.

While it took Gotch 14 minutes and 16 seconds to gain the first fall, the second fall required only 5 minutes and 32 seconds, which Hack's friends assert proved that his knee was in bad condition.

"Don't Hurt My Toe."

Referee Smith is authority for the statement that when Gotch secured the fatal tolock which won him the match, Hackenschmidt cried out "Don't hurt my toe" and a second later "Don't break my leg," and fell with his shoulders to the mat frothing at the mouth.

The first fall resulted from a reverse body hold after the men had struggled 14:18 1-5.

That terrible toehold, for which Gotch is famous was responsible for the second fall. He clamped it upon the left foot of Hack after the second fall had gone 5:32 1-5. Scarcely had he obtained the grip when Hack acknowledged defeat.

Hack's own statement, that it was the "easiest world's championship ever won" tells the story of the bout almost as well as it could be told. Gotch never was in serious difficulty at any time during the match. Neither was he forced to extend himself to win. The Iowan in all perhaps had half a dozen dangerous holds on his antagonist. Hack had Gotch worried but once.

Gotch Down Once.

During the first fall Hack obtained a body hold on Gotch that brought him to the mat, but the champion was on the canvas for but a few seconds. Then he was only down as far as his knees. Almost before the "lion" realized that his opponent was in a dangerous predicament, Gotch had wriggled out of the hold and was bounding across the ring to safety.

For his defeat, Hack offers but the one excuse—that his left knee, injured in training two weeks ago, weakened under the pressure of the iron hands of Gotch and it was useless to continue at the risk of being permanently injured. Hack went into the ring with the member bandaged.

But regardless of whether there be any merit to Hack's claim that his knee was in bad shape, it cannot be denied that the challenger was in no state mentally to enter into a gruelling contest. Hack was un-nerved before he entered the arena. Whether it was worry over his injured knee, or fretting over the match generally, cannot be said.

Russian's Nerves on Edge.

Like Jeffries, however, the Russian spent a sleepless night before the battle. His trainers tried every means to make him feel at ease. They had him room with Johann Kock, a German, and one of Kock's chief duties was to sing songs of the fatherland to the Russian and try to make him feel at ease. But Hack would not be calmed. After trying vainly for several hours to go to sleep, he arose and pleaded with his trainers to give him drugs that would make him rest. They refused to do this and Hack retired to fret the night away.

In the minds of the vast crowd that saw the match there was no doubt as to which was the better wrestler. The Iowan appeared faster than he ever had been before. His condition was perfect. He entered the ring filled with confidence and appeared so throughout. At every stage of the bout he smiled as though he never had the slightest doubt as to the ultimate outcome.

On the other hand, Hack seemed ill at ease. During the first fall, he went about his work with his face set and anything but the glint of confidence in his eye. And after Gotch had gained the first fall, the last semblance of courage the Russian possessed seemed to have fled.

With shoulders stooped and eyes downcast, he sat in his corner awaiting the starting signal.

Gotch's Wife and Mother There.

Up in a box in the center of the grand stand sat two women who did more, perhaps, to cheer Gotch on to victory than all the other persons among the thousands of cheering admirers—his old mother and his young bride. Frequently while in the thickest of the fray Gotch found time to look toward the two women and smile. During the ten minutes intermission between falls, he did not go at once to his dressing room, but stood for a moment in his corner smiling and waving at the two.

Hack was heartbroken over the result of the bout. In his dressing room for half an hour he sat in his wrestling garb, crying and refusing the proferred attentions and cheering words of his trainers.

"Go away," he said to all of them. "Leave me alone."

Gotch smiled after the match was over. He said the result was exactly as he thought it would be.

The First Fall.

The story of the actual wrestling is soon told.

Time was called at 3:15 o'clock. The contestants immediately locked heads and began feeling each other out. For five minutes they tugged at each other's necks, wrists and arms, but neither obtained a dangerous hold.

It was Gotch who first turned attention to the legs. He made several fake passes at Hack's knees before he finally obtained a knee hold at the end of eight and a half minutes. Once the Iowan's massive hands were fastened on Hack's left leg, the Russian went down. He struggled out of that and a subsequent hold of the same kind, and then became the aggressor. At ten minutes Hack secured a body hold and put Gotch to the mat. But he was down only an instant.

After fourteen minutes of wrestling Gotch started Hack downward with a knee hold, faked a crotch and then quickly worked the Russian into a half-nelson.

They struck the mat together, head to head. Then Gotch pivoted on his opponent's stomach, clamped on a reverse body hold and the first fall was over.

Toe-Hold Ends Match.

The first five minutes of the second fall was a replica of that period in the first. But of a sudden Gotch reached down with his right hand, grasped Hack's left ankle and unbalanced the "lion."

While Hack was trying to regain his equilibrium, Gotch struck the "lion's" injured leg with his right knee and the Russian crumbled in a heap upon the canvas. Instantly Gotch was on him, his powerful right hand firmly locked upon the under man's left toe. Hack screamed twice, rolled over on his shoulders and gave up.

Rejoicing at Humboldt.

Humboldt, Iowa, Sept. 5.—The announcement that Frank Gotch had won his second victory from George Hackenschmidt at Chicago yesterday afternoon was the signal for the most enthusiastic demonstration Humboldt has witnessed in many years.

Last night the "home folks" informally celebrated the event and it is doubtful if there is a single farmhouse within a radius of fifty miles to which the news had not traveled soon after the match was over.

Friends and neighbors of Gotch gathered at the postoffice yesterday afternoon, where arrangements for receiving news had been made. The crowd, which completely filled the small lobby of the building and spread into the street, included not only citizens of Humboldt, but farmers gathered there to hear the news.

Quick Result is Surprise.

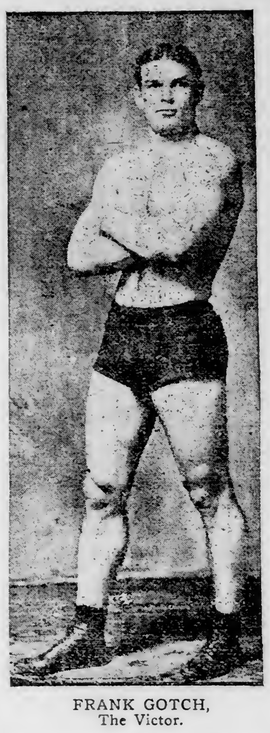

But the announcement that the contest had ended came so suddenly that for a moment it appeared to stun the crowd.

Victory had not been expected so soon nor so easily.

When the flash "Gotch wins" came in less than twenty minutes, the crowd gasped and then, as the full significance of the message was realized, there was a yell of delight. Cheering continued for twenty minutes.

In a sort of triumphal march the crowd made the rounds of the weekly newspaper offices, cheering as they went, and clamoring for more information as to how Frank "had done it so easily."

Informal plans are under way for a rousing demonstration with which to greet Gotch upon his return here.

ALL EXCEPT HACK AND CURLY SAY "LION'S" NERVE WAS GONE

STATEMENTS OF PRINCIPALS.

BY GOTCH.

"Honestly, I didn't think it would be so easy. Hack gave me such a desperate struggle in our first meet that I was prepared and expected to go through with a hard, long battle. The very minute we lock heads I felt confident that I would win, but I really did not think victory would come so quickly.

"Hack did not display the nerve and strength he did in our first contest. He was not aggressive. He appeared to be afraid. When I saw that Hack did not try to break down my defense or squirm out of holds, I became determined to end it as quickly as possible.

"I am sorry he laid his miserable showing to an injured knee, for I wanted to make the victory a clean one. When I defeated him here three years ago, it was charged that I won unfairly. Today I hoped that Hack would be at his best, for I wanted to prove that I was his master."

BY GEORGE HACKENSCHMIDT.

"It was the easiest world's championship ever won. I entered the contest with an injured knee and had my shoulders pinned to the mat for the first time in my wrestling career.

"I have no one to blame. I should not have gone into the match, but I was advised that I could wrestle without further injuring my knee. But I scarcely had gotten to work when Gotch began to torture me with his toe grips. I then realized that I was in no condition to continue. I am not a quitter, neither do I desire to say that I was not treated fairly.

"I am satisfied that my defeat was entirely to the injury. I would like to meet Gotch again, for I feel deeper than words can tell the loss of this match. I did my best under the conditions. That is all I can say."

BY REFEREE SMITH.

"Gotch won honestly and fairly. Hack did not show his usual gameness or aggressiveness. I do not doubt that he was not in the best of condition, for he looked worried and frightened when the match began. He begged Gotch to release his punishing toehold and evidently was in great pain. Gotch forced him to defeat.

"On cleverness alone Gotch should easily remain the champion for ten more years. He is without a doubt the most scientific man I have ever seen on the mat.

"His work in the first fall was marvelous and so fast that I could scarcely follow it myself, although I was within a few feet of the men.

"Gotch first fixed a crotch hold. Then suddenly he secured a half nelson on Hack. In the wink of an eye Gotch pivoted on Hack's stomach, switched to a reverse body hold and had downed his man. It was the speediest shift I have ever seen made on the mat.

"Hack was in great pain during the period when Gotch had the toehold on him. 'Don't hurt my toe,' he cried at first, but Gotch continued to put on the pressure. 'Don't break my leg,' was his next appeal. The end came a second later."

BY JACK CURLEY, MANAGER OF HACK.

"Deep in my heart there is a proud feeling that the American won, but I am very sorry that Hack lost this match, more sorry because I know positively that he went on as a personal favor to me to save the show, when only two weeks ago he tore two ligaments on the side of his leg which laid him up so he could not train for two days.

"The calling off of the bets was the result of the consultation among those interested, who feared that even if Hack was confident that he could depend on his leg, there was some chance that backers who wagered on him would not be getting the same run for their money that they would if his leg were well.

"I hope that when Hack rests up and is well, that he will receive another chance at the title at the hands of the American sporting public."

SAY WOODBURN WILL MAKE GOOD

St. Louis Players and Sport Writers All Like Duluth Pitcher.

(BY BRUCE.)

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 5.—The members of the St. Louis baseball team, and this includes the august and weighty Rajah Bresnahan, say that Woodburn, the former Duluth pitcher is going to make good. At the Sherman yesterday the writer had a chance to talk with several members of the Cardinal team, and also with Bresnahan.

"Woodburn has done all we expected of him," said Bresnahan. "The boy has a great curve ball and with the experience he is gaining should make a great pitcher. He is being carried as one of the regulars, and if he continues to show class will be a member of the team until the end of the season."

Woody is also praised by the St. Louis newspapermen who are traveling with the team. Eddie Ray of the St. Louis Post Dispatch believes the youngster will make good, and O'Connor of the Times is also a Woodburn booester.

When they introduce you to any of the St. Louis delegation as coming from Duluth, they say, "Oh yes, that's the place we got Woodburn from."

R. T. C. WINS IN STRAIGHT HEATS

Murphy's Trotter Takes Charter Oak Stake at Hartford Meeting.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 5.—The opening day of the Grand Circuit races was held here yesterday in connection with the annual state fair, with the historic $10,000 Charter Oak 2:14 trot as the feature and which was won by R. T. C. driven by Murphy in straight heats.

In the first heat Gordon Todd, driven by Geers, led until within 100 yards of the wire when he stumbled and almost fell, R. T. C. passing him and winning by a length from Chatty Direct. The second heat was won by R. T. C. by a few feet.

The 2:16 trot went six heats and was not finished until after sunset. Peter Red, with Geers up took three firsts after finishing fifth in the first heat. The best time was by the winner in the second heat, 2:11½. Sue D and Eva Tanguay finished second and third.

There were but three entries in the 2:04 pace, The Abbe, driven by Geers taking all three heats with 2:04¾ in the first heat, the fastest.

The winning of the Charter Oak yesterday by R. T. C. brings the winnings of Tom Murphy's stable for the season up to nearly $50,000.

BRAINERD WINS TWO GAMES FROM WADENA.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brainerd beat Wadena Sunday and Labor day before large crowds, these being the last games of the Brainerd city team. First game, score was 6 to 4 in favor of Brainerd. Batteries were: Alderman and Roderick for Brainerd; Roy and Smith for Wadena. Roy struck out seven and allowed eight hits. Alderman struck out two and allowed nine hits. A pretty double play was made by Brainerd from third to second to first. In the second game Brainerd won 2 to 1. Batteries for Brainerd: Leslie Bush and Roderick; for Wadena, Sky and McCarthy. Each pitcher struck out eleven men. Bush allowed eight hits and Sky seven. Preceded by the Brainerd city band, the team and fans paraded the field, the fans carrying Leslie Bush, the pitcher, on their shoulders.

NEW YORK A. C. EIGHT IS WINNER

Some Events in Spring Garden Regatta at Baltimore Are Closed.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 5.—The senior eight-oared shell race proved to be the premier event of the Middle States regatta, which was decided over the one-mile Spring Garden course here yesterday afternoon. The New York Athletic club, rowing in superb form, won the race with Vesper Boat club of Philadelphia, Ariel Rowing club of Baltimore and Arundel Boat club of Baltimore, finishing in the order named.

The New Yorkers finished in the excellent time of 5 minutes, 28 2-5 seconds.

The junior four-oared gig race was won by the Arundel Boat club of Baltimore, with the Ariels second and the Fairmont club of Philadelphia third. The boats lapped each other at the finish line.

The intermediate eight-oared shell race was between the Ariel Rowing club of Baltimore and the Potomac Boat club of Washington, the victory going to the local crew.

The intermediate single scull race was won by Stanley B. Furstenan of the Crescent Boat club of Philadelphia in a brilliant finish. The senior doubles event was won by Fred Fuesuel and Fred Shepherd of the Harlem Rowing club, New York, former national champions, who crossed the finish line with a great spurt ahead of Howard and Kronberger of the Ariel Boat club of Baltimore.

Minny League Season Closes With Superior Well in Lead.

No Post Season Games for Sox—Superior Not Yet Disbanded.

MINNESOTA-WISCONSIN LEAGUE.

Club—	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Superior	72	36	.667
Winona	70	45	.610
Duluth	60	49	.550
Eau Claire	53	55	.482
La Crosse	47	68	.409
Rochester	40	71	.360

The final day of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league season passed uneventfully yesterday. The steady downpour that was the only feature of Labor day at the Head of the Lakes prevented either of the holiday games between the pennant winners and the White Hopes being played. At Eau Claire and Winona, Rochester and La Crosse each dropped one game, and the Outcasts tied the Killianites up in a seven-inning contest without a score.

The Red Sox have a clear title to the pennant. Their spurt at the end of the season was given a big boost by the rally of Darby's colts in the Winona series, but the Taylorites have been putting up some of the best minor league ball on record for the past month, and their victory is well earned and undisputable. Duluth fans are glad to see the bunch from the mud flats across the bay in the lead. The fact that "we" helped to put them in the lead makes it seem the next thing to a Duluth victory. Besides, it is a cheering thought, and a credit to the league, that Joe Killian's methods cannot produce the pennant-winning club.

It would be pleasant to record that the Duluth team had played Class A ball all through the season. Unfortunately, that is not the case. There have been series in which Class D ball seemed a little beyond the reach of the White Hopes, and when the most loyal of the fans had sad and ofttimes scornful moments. There was a bunch of glorious rallies, however, that did much to dispel the gloom of the periods of listlessness, and the season closes with the old guard pretty well satisfied with the team.

Duluth will play no post-season games, and the members will be pretty well scattered over the country by tonight. Superior has a number of post-season contests on, among them a probable series with the flag winners of the Wisconsin-Illinois league.

Duluth will retain all the men who worked under Darby's colors this season with the exception of Miller, who has been sold to Cincinnati and Woodburn, who is now with the St. Louis club. Scout Pierano of the Columbus club wanted Miller, but he was drafted out from under him. He is now in Duluth negotiating for the purchase of Wormian and Leber, and has already secured Bancroft from the leaders.

This afternoon Blancke and Miller will leave for their homes in Sandusky, Ohio. Leber will go to Cleveland. Wormian will go back to his creamery at Bloomer, Wis. Altermott is headed for Springfield, Ill., and Mike Kramer will leave this afternoon for Seaforth, Minn., his home. O'Brien, Hargrove, Meneice, and McGraw will stay in Duluth. Olson is a Superior boy and will spend the winter there.

The Duluth club finished the season a little behind the game, but "Desmond Day," Sunday, helped to even things up and "Jawn" stated this morning that he was very will satisfied with the results. The accounts of the Duluth club have not all been figured out as yet and no definite statement of their financial condition can be given.

EAU CLAIRE ENDS WITH A VICTORY.

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eau Claire wound up the season in a blaze of glory, taking the final Labor day game from Rochester by a 7 to 5 score. The game was featured by frequent hitting and by gilt-edged work in the field on the part of the locals. Reynolds, for the Surgeons, had a bad inning in the third when a bombardment of hits netted Eau Claire five runs. The score: R. H. E.

Rochester .....003000002—5 12 2
Eau Claire .....10500010x—7 9 1

Batteries—Reynolds and Long; Chase and Benrud.

WINONA WINS ONE AND TIES SECOND.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Winona took the first game of a double holiday bill here yesterday by a 9 to 1 score, and neither La Crosse nor the Killianites succeeded in putting a tally over in the second game, which was called at the end of the seventh by agreement. The scores:

First game: R. H. E.

BOSTON AND NEW YORK DIVIDE A DOUBLE BILL.

New York, Sept. 5.—In a tenth-inning rally, in which they scored three runs in one of the host exciting games witnessed here this season, the Boston Rustlers split even with the Giants in the Labor day double-header.

Marquard pitched invincible ball for seven innings, and with a lead of five runs, crumbled to pieces in the eighth, when the Rustlers tied the score. With three men on the bases, Miller drove in the two tieing runs with a double, but Doolin was thrown out when he too tried to score on the hit.

A remarkable catch by Devore saved the game for Marquard in the ninth, but Boston's renewed bombardment in the tenth for five hits netted three runs. New York came back with a great rally, scoring two runs and had three on bases when Myers lined a hot drive at Ingerton for the third out. Score: R. H. E.

Boston .....0000000503—8 14 0
New York ....0002030002—7 11 2

Batteries—Brown, Hogg, Perdue and Rariden; Marquard and Myers. Umpires—Klem and Brennan.

The New York Giants won from Boston in the first game yesterday. The New Yorks were lightning fast on the base paths. Tyler was wild and ineffective. Manager Tenney was ordered off the field by Umpire Klem in the second inning for disputing a decision. Score: R. H. E.

Brooklyn .....10100601x—6 10 2

Batteries—Moore, Curtis and Kliemow; Rucker and Bergen. Umpires—Johnstone and Eason.

Brooklyn pounded the delivery of Alexander in the seventh inning of the first game and won, driving him from the box, Moore pitching the eighth inning against the home nine. Acting Manager Doolan was put off the field for protesting a decision at second in the fourth inning. Knetzer was hit on the top of the head by a line driven by Luderus in the fourth inning. The ball bounced twenty feet in the air. It was thought the pitcher's skull was fractured, but he soon recovered and pitched better than before. Score:

Philadelphia .....01100000—2
Brooklyn .....00010041x—6

Batteries—Moore, Alexander and Kleinow and Madden; Knetzer and Erwin and Bergen. Umpires—Eason and Johnstone.

PITTSBURG SPLITS EVEN IN DOUBLE HEADER.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 5.—Pittsburg broke even yesterday in a double-header with Cincinnati, losing the first game 3 to 1 and winning the second game 4 to 3. The afternoon game developed into a pitchers' battle after the first inning, both Leifield and Humphries being given errorless support. Score: R. H. E.

Pittsburg .....00010000—1 6 0
Cincinnati .....10000020—3 11 0

Batteries—Leifield and Gibson; Humphries and McLean. Umpires—O'Day and Emslie.

SENATORS BREAK EVEN WITH PHILADELPHIA.

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—Washington broke even with Philadelphia yesterday by winning the second game, 6 to 5 in eleven innings. The visitors overcame the home team's lead in the eighth and ninth innings, and won in the eleventh on Conroy's two-bagger and Milan's single. Johnson, who was used as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning, drove in the run that tied the score, and then went on the rubber and held Philadelphia safe. The score: R. H. E.

ST. LOUIS AND DETROIT TEAMS PLAY POORLY.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5.—Detroit and St. Louis split a double-header here yesterday afternoon. St. Louis bunched hits in the fifth and sixth innings, while Pelty was safe in all but two, and won the first game, 7 to 3. Detroit, one run behind in the seventh, bunched hits with errors and a base on balls in the second game, scored six runs and took the lead, which they held until the end, winning, 10 to 8. Cobb and Austin featured with the bat. The fielding of both teams was ragged. Scores:

First game— R. H. E.
Detroit .....0120000 00—3 7 2

Indianapolis .....10000010—2 7 1

Batteries—Criss, Priester and Wieden; Schlitzer, Merz and Ritter. Umpires—Handiboe and Hayes.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 5.—Link's masterly pitching featured the first game, which Indianapolis won easily from Louisville, 6 to 3. The visitors bunched their hits effectively only in the ninth when three singles and a double scored two runs. Score:

Louisville 00000012--3
Indianapolis .....10001103x—6

Batteries—Higgirbotham and Miller; Link and Ritter. Umpires—Handiboe and Brennan.

KILBANE WINS FROM RIVERS IN SIXTEENTH.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—With a hard right swing to the jaw, Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland knocked out Joe Rivers of Los Angeles in the sixteenth round of their scheduled 20-round bout at Vernon yesterday. With Rivers leading in almost every round up to the sixteenth, Kilbane scored the knockout thirty seconds after the gong had sent them together in that round.

Matches Are Postponed.

New York, Sept. 5.—The United States Lawn Tennis association has given its sanction to a postponement by the West Side Tennis club of the preliminary matches for the Davis cup between teams representing the United States and Great Britain. The matches will now be played next Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, instead of Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

W. A. LARNED HOLDS TITLE

National Tennis Champion Gains Easy Victory Over McLoughlin.

Fifth Successful Year That Larned Has Held the Title.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 5.—William A. Larned of Summit, N. J., is national lawn tennis champion for another year. This resulted yesterday by Larned's victory over Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco, the young player who on Saturday last won the right to challenge the champion by defeating Former Champion Beals C Wright of Boston in the final round of the all-comers tournament. The score yesterday was 6-4; 6-4; 6-2.

This is the fifth successive year that Larned has won the championship and the seventh time in the score of years that he has been a prominent figure on the courts. He has won two championship trophies and now has one leg in a third cup.

Larned made the pace from the start. After McLoughlin had taken the first game, the champion began a dashing game, driving McLoughlin back from the net to the base line where the Californian seemed unable to get back, his strokes netting many times.

Throughout the match of twenty-eight games, only eight went to deuce, and four of these were soon decided.

Larned's mastery was manifest in the strength of his stroke and accurate placements, while McLoughlin's returns were weak. The challenger made more than twice as many nets as he scored outs, although in the first set he scored five service aces.

NEVADA TROPHY MATCH FEATURE AT SEAGIRT.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 5.—The first team of Company C, Fourth New Jersey, the Tyro team of the same company, Lieut. W. B. Short of the Seventy-second New York regiment, Lieut. H. E. Simon of Ohio and the Veteran Association of Company C, Fourth New Jersey, carried off the honors in yesterday's matches of the twenty-first annual Seagirt shooting tournament.

A feature was the Nevada trophy match, arranged especially by the Association of American International Riflemen. It was a squad competition open to officers and enlisted men of the army, navy, marine corps and national guard, at 600, 900 and 1,200 yards, ten shots at each distance. The service rifle was used.

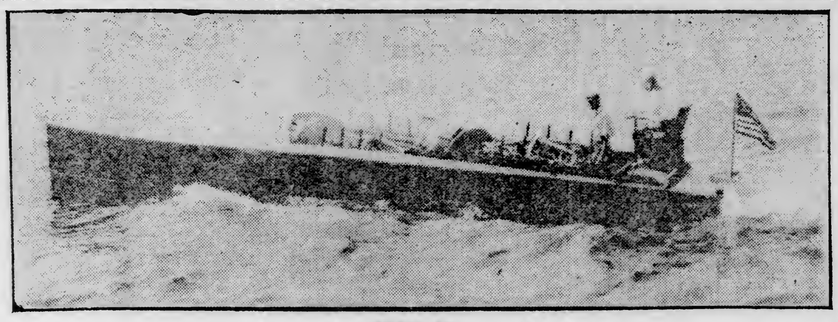

TWO INTERNATIONAL RECORDS ARE LOWERED.

New York, Sept. 5.—Two international records were lowered at the Irish-American Athletic club's Labor day games yesterday.

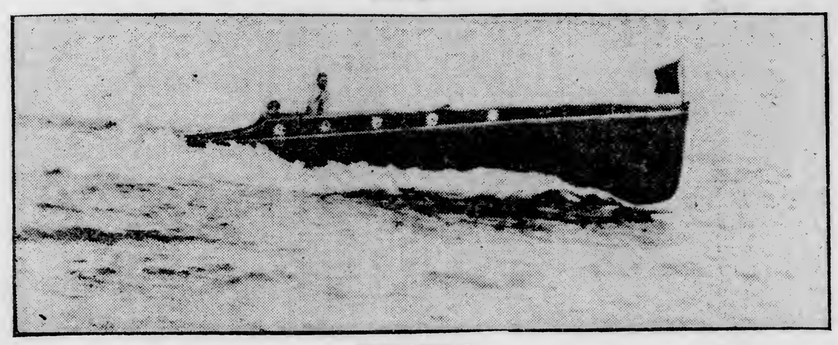

The one-mile relay race record of 3:29 3-5 made in 1909, was beaten by Henry Schaff, Melville Sheppard, Harry Gissing and Jim Rosenberger, who composed a team that did the mile in 3:18 1-5.

Matt McGrath broke the 56-pound weight record. His throw of 31 feet, 9⅝ inches, was 1¾ inches better than McDonald's at Pittsburg recently.

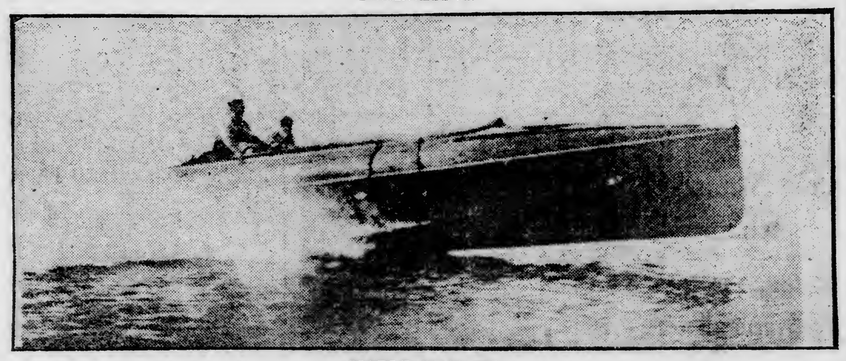

DIXIE IV WINS FIRST OF THE INTERNATIONAL MOTOR BOAT RACES

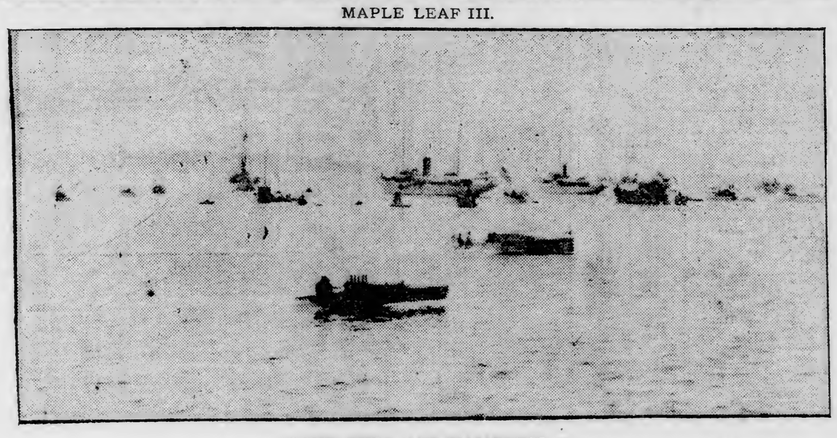

DIXIE IV.

TYRELESS II.

MAPLE LEAF III.

SAND BURR AND NAMELESS.

J. S. BLACKTON.

F. K. BURNHAM
Of Dixie IV Syndicate.

Huntington, L. I., Sept. 5.—In a decidedly one-sided race, Dixie IV, a 500-horse power hydroplane of the most pronounced type, yesterday won the first of the series of motorboat races between England and the United States for the world's championship trophy, known as the Harmsworth cup. The Dixie never once showed her maximum speed in the four rounds of the triangular course of about thirty miles in Huntington bay. She easily distanced the greatly feared Pioneer, owned by the Duke of Westminster, a 400-horse power boat, beating the Englishman by fifty-nine seconds.

Of the three English and three American boats, only four finished and three of these were Americans. The Disturber II of the American team trailed the English Pioneer across the finish 4 minutes 25 seconds, being followed in 13 minutes and 7 seconds by the Viva of the American trio. The Dixie's time was 35.01 knots an hour, that of the Pioneer 34.45 knots, that of the Disturber 31.31 and that of the Viva 29.24 knots.

English Boats Ruled Out.

The English boat Maple Leaf III broke her steering gear when near the finish of the second round, when it had gone about fourteen miles, and retired. In dropping out, the Maple Leaf called a tow and was pulled into her anchorage. This is a nautical sin—to call for help—and the international committee not only ruled out the Maple Leaf from yesterday's race, but barred her from competing in any other of the contests in this championship series.

A similar fate befell the British Tyreless. In the third round the Tyreless, apparently seeing that she was hopelessly distanced, dropped out of the contest after having covered only about eighteen miles. This was not to be permitted under the rules and the international committee issued a ban on the Tyreless competing in the other races of the series for the Harmsworth trophy.

This leaves only the Pioneer to compete as a challenger for the cup against the three Americans. The second race will be held this afternoon and if one of the Americans wins, the cup will remain in the United States a year at least. If Pioneer should win today, a third and deciding race must be run on Wednesday.

Great interest is being taken in the races. The Maple Leaf III is owned by E. Mackay Edgar; Tyreless III designed by Cox & King of England and owned by F. Gordon Pratt, and the Pioneer owned by the duke of Westminster. The Pioneer took part in the races last year and but for the blunders of her captain might have won the race. She is a Pauber hydroplane, 39 feet 11½ inches long and 7 feet 6 inches beam. Her planes are all below the water but at least two of them generally show when she is speeding.

The Maple Leaf III represents the British Motor Boat club. She is a Thornycroft model and not a hydroplane. She raced in Monaco in the spring. She has two engines, 12-cylinder each with a 7-inch bore and 7¼-inch stroke. She was designed by W. E. Astell. The Tyreless is a displacement boat, resembling a fast runabout of heavy build. She has two 6-cylinder Brooke engines, aggregating 350-horse power each, driving twin screws.

The Dixie IV, designed by Clinton H. Crane and built by the Staten Island Shipbuilding company for Commodore H. H. Melville, Vice Commodore Frederick H. Burnham and August Heckscher. She is fitted with two 250-horse power motors, and has a capacity of 1,000 revolutions per minute.

PUGH OF THE DISTURBER.

SECOND GAME OF THE TITLE SERIES

Adams and Fitwells Clash Sunday to Decide City Championship.

With the Minny league season over fans are turning their attention to the wind ups of the semi-pro and amateur seasons in the city. One of the most important games in this class of ball at the Head of the Lakes will take place next Sunday when the Adams and Fitwell teams will clash at the Athletic park in the second of a series of games for the championship of the city.

The Adams have already won one game in this series and will make a determined effort to capture the second one Sunday. Alder or Graham will pitch for the Adams and Talbot or Johnson will do the twirling for the clothiers.

BETTING ON MATCH LIGHT IN DULUTH

Two to One Money on Gotch Found No Takers.

Betting on the Gotch-Hackenschmidt match in Duluth was very light. The biggest amount reported staked at any of the cigar stores which handle this class of business was $500. Probably not over $1,500 changed hands in the city as a result of the contest.

Odds favored Gotch all through the betting here, and they rose steadily in favor of the Humboldt man. Just before the match there was more 2-to-1 money in sight than there were takers. Places where returns were received were well patronized, however, and cheers everywhere greeted the report of Gotch's easy win.

LANGFORD MEETS JOE JEANETTE

Boston Tar Baby Fighting Toward Match With Jack Johnson.

New York, Sept. 5.—A bout with Jack Johnson for the world's championship is the goal to which Sam Langford expects that his fight tonight with Joe Jeanette will lead him. So the Boston Tar Baby is taking no chances. He has trained harder than for any of his recent matches and is a decided favorite.

Jeanette, however, is expected to prove the hardest nut Langford has had to crack during his progress toward a championship match. The black fighters have met six times, and their last mill, won by Sam at Boston last September, was a furious battle.

The fight will be staged at Madison Square Garden.

BURMAN SETS NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Goes Mile in 48.62 Seconds With Flying Start at New York.

New York, Sept. 5.—Bobby Burman, using his 200-horse power Benz car, lowered the world's record for the one-mile circular track at the Brighton Beach motordome yesterday afternoon. With a flying start he made the mile in 48.62 seconds. The old record, which he made over the same track on July 4, was 48.72 seconds.

Besides the record Burman captured three distance races. He finished first in an Opel car in a five-mile dash for cars of from 301 to 450 inches displacement.

The next race, the second heat of the Remy Grand Brassard for a trophy valued at $3,000, went to Burman in a Benz car. Following this he walked away with first place in the race for cars of 600 inches displacement with an Opel car.

The 50-mile race was won by Hughie Hughes, driving a Mercer. His time was 49:56:06.

In a trial race Bert Foster ran his car into a fence and during the closing race, Spencer Wishart overturned his car, but no one was hurt.

CHICAGO WRESTLING MAD OVER GOTCH-HACK MATCH

(BY BRUCE.)

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Never in the history in this country, or perhaps the world, has there been the interest in a struggle between two men as was shown in the match between Gotch and Hackenschmidt. Chicago was wrestling crazy, and from the broad and fertile plains of Iowa, from New Orleans on the South to Boston to the east came fans to see this, the greatest struggle in the world.

There were hundreds of newspapermen in Chicago. Naughton of San Francisco, the dean of the sporting writers of the Pacific coast; Bud Fisher, the creator of Jeff and Mutt; the marquis of Queensberry, Claude Johnson of the Kansas City Star, and several of the best known writers of New York, are among the fourth estate delegation who have been camping around the various Chicago hotels.

It seems as if all of Iowa had swept down and taken possession of Chicago. Before the arrival of these prosperous citizens of the Hawkeye state the odds on the big match were posted at Jim O'Leary's and other well known betting places, at 5 to 4, with Gotch the favorite. Then came the deluge of Gotch money. It is estimated that there was over $60,000 of Iowa money, literally begging to get the opportunity to go down on the broad shouldered farmer who has brought fame to Iowa and distinctive glory to Humboldt.

It was no uncommon sight Sunday and yesterday to see some sunbrowned son of the soil flash a roll that would choke one of those money-bringing Shorthorn cows of old Iowa. These farmers are crazy over Gotch. They believe him invincible. Some of them came to Chicago with over $1,000 in real money, utterly disregarding the ancient stories of holdup and strong-arm men.

Around the Morrison, where Gotch made his headquarters, and down at the new Sherman, where the Empire Athletic club had established its down-town place of business, you could hear nothing but wrestling. For two days before and until long after the match Chicago has almost breathed wrestling.

Sudden Change.

Three days before the match there was a lot of wise money ready to go on the chances of the wonderful Russian. Then came the change of sentiment. Suddenly this big town went Gotch mad, and any time you whispered betting you would find several Gotch men riding you, anxious to get a bet down on the American. Undoubtedly the wild enthusiasm of the big Iowa delegation had its share in changing the sentiment and the betting odds. A few hours before the match 2 to 1 was being freely offered on Gotch.

It was a great and picturesque sight, out there at the Old Roman's park, one of the finest in the world. For hours before the time of the match the crowd wended its way into the enclosure, like some immense snake. Surface cars and the elevated trains seemed to belch forth thousands of people, as men shot from their gates and broke for the park. Men fought for tickets at the gate.

Reno, with its sweltering thousands, its excitement, its spirit of hazy uncertainty that came the last few hours before the fight, might have been more spectacular than the spectacle of yesterday, but hardly any more picturesque. Few great athletic events in the history of the world have been attended by so large a crowd as the immense throng that yesterday filled to the point of congestion the South Side ball park.

From "Thompson's," a modest restaurant, where the farmers of Iowa came in to get their "ham and," to the sumptuous and luxurious cafes of the Congress, the Blackstone and the La Salle, men were found taking wrestling with their meals. In a knot of men you could occasionally see William Muldoon the dean of American wrestlers, and years ago the champion, giving his opinion of the match. Farmer Burns was always the center of a knot of Iowa men, and Westergaard, the giant Swede of Des Moines, and others, were eagerly asked for information. Today men are remembering some of this information.

There never will be another match like the one of yesterday, and that may be one explanation of the fact that some men have traveled over 2,000 miles to witness a struggle that has passed into history.

RULE SUSPENDED BY BASEBALL COMMISSION.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 5.—The National baseball commission yesterday suspended that part of rule 55, which forbids the asking of waivers by any major league club for purchased minor league players previous to Dec. 1 of the year following the purchase. The suspension of the rule is for one year, but the commission warns the major leagues it is the last time a suspension will be allowed.

The commission states that it realizes that the difficulty experienced by major league clubs in observing special legislation of each league limiting the number of players each of the clubs may carry on the reserve list. The commission has adopted the following new rule to become effective at once:

"Rule 64: From and after the promulgation of this rule, no major league club will be permitted to carry on its annual reserve list more than forty players exclusive of ineligible players."

MASSACHUSETTS STATE GOLF TOURNEY ON.

Manchester, Mass., Sept. 5.—Two rounds of match play, the first and second of the annual Massachusetts state golf championship, were today before the survivors of yesterday's qualifying round.

Perhaps the most interesting match on the card for the morning round was between Rodney W. Brown of Meadowbrook, the longest driver in the state, and John G. Anderson of Woodland, a former champion.

SPECTATORS WILL GET HALF OF MONEY BACK.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 5.—That those who had bought tickets would be refunded one-half of their money was announced today by the New Orleans Athletic club, following the interruption of the match between Jack Dillon and Eddie McGorty last night. It was discovered in the fourth round that Dillon's right arm was in bad shape and the referee called off the bout.

TRI-STATE TENNIS TOURNEY AT CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 5.—The first part of the second round of the men's singles in the tri-state tennis tournament was played yesterday on the courts of the Cincinnati Tennis club.

Among the out-of-town players who participated were: R. A. Johnson of Philadelphia; Richard Bishop, Boston; Nat Thornton, Atlanta; W. F. Johnson and H. A. Johnson, Philadelphia; and C. P. Fahrber, Columbus, Ohio. Gustave Touchard of New York, B. W. Grant of Atlanta, and C. R. Gardner of the Pacific coast, forfeited their games, being unable to attend the tournament.

All out-of-town players won their matches today except Thornton, who lost to William Hall of Cincinnati.

WRESTLED TO DRAW.

Ed Alho and George Whipps Meet on Mat at Cloquet.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ed Alho of this city and George Whipps of Hopkins wrestled for one hour to a draw here last evening. Whipps showed more knowledge of the game than did the local grappler, but Alho had little difficulty in breaking his most dangerous holds. At the end of the hour Alho wanted to make it a finish match, but Whipps was unwilling. It is possible that the two men will meet again, as Whipps has agreed to throw the local wrestler twice in ninety minutes.

In the preliminaries, Andrew Cadden and Waino Wilson wrestler for twenty-five minutes, neither man getting a fall. The bout was fast and exciting.

FIGHT IS STOPPED TO AVOID KNOCKOUT.

Toronto, Can., Sept. 5.—The police last night stopped a fight between Knockout Brown and Johnny Moran of New York in the seventh round. It was to have gone ten rounds, but the police interefered to save Moran from a knockout.

"Kid" McCoy knocked out Bob Day, the Canadian heavyweight, in the first round of a six-round contest.

BEELL AND EVANS EACH GET A FALL.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 5.—In a middleweight wrestling match at Chilowee park here last night, Fred Beell threw Walt Evans of Knoxville in twenty-two minutes. Evans came back strong, winning the second fall in five minutes. When the third bout opened a heavy rain began falling and after fifteen minutes of work the referee called off the match.

"White Hope" Wins.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 5.—Joe Cox, Missouri's "white hope," last night gained a popular decision over Mike Schreck of Cincinnati, in a ten-round fight before the Springfield Athletic club.

Hogan Wins.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 5.—One-Round Hogan of California knocked out Young Evans in the fourth round of what was scheduled for a twelve-round bout here yesterday. The match was held in the open air.

Colt's Kick Is Fatal.

Manning, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—After lying for four days alone in a farm house, Stephen Kolesnik, the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kolesnik, who reside ten miles north of here, died from injuries received when kicked by a yearling colt.

DURUM WHEAT CLOSES AT PREMIUM OVER NORTHERN

First Time This Condition Has Existed for Five Years.

Proves the Claims of Duluth Traders—Strong Foreign Demand.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 5.—For the first time in nearly five years durum wheat sold in the Duluth market today at a premium over No. 1 northern.

Behind this fact is a rather interesting situation. For several years past Duluth traders, notably Julius H. Barnes of the Ames-Brooks company of this city, have been advocating the growing of durum wheat, and Duluth has been one of the greatest durum markets in the world, possibly the greatest. Mr. Barnes has had many controversies through the trade journals on the value of durum wheat, and has held that where the farmer could get one bushel more of durum to the acre than he could of No. 1 northern, it would pay him to grow durum. The millers have tried to depreciate the value of durum wheat, and have refused to buy it unless they could get it much cheaper than the No. 1 northern.

Durum finds its big market for the manufacture of macaroni and certain cereals. Five years ago the demand for it for macaroni shoved the price above No. 1 northern, but since that time it has never reached that level again until today.

The rise in price in the Duluth market today came from the strong foreign demand. Durum is selling at a premium over No. 1 northern in foreign markets, and it rose above the level of the No. 1 northern in Duluth today.

Outside of North Dakota, Russia is the big grower of durum.

The fact that a premium is being paid for durum in Duluth today vindicates the position taken by the Duluth traders, who have been trying to foster the growing of durum wheat by the farmers of Minnesota and North Dakota, and proves the value of that grain, not only to supply the rather limited demand from macaroni makers, but for many other purposes.

All the leading wheat markets of the United States closed with a break in wheat today. Duluth September, which closed at $1.05⅝, Saturday, opened today at $1.06¼ bid, in response to bullish cables from Europe, reacted before noon, and slumped steadily until it reached $1.04⅛, at which point it closed. For some days, wheat has shown a steady rising tendency, but today's break wipes out the gains. Oats fell off 1⅞ cents, barley, corn and rye are the same as at Saturday's close.

Though wheat started out this morning in a manner that indicated a day wherein the bulls would have things their own way, before noon there was a different tale to tell. Duluth September, for example, which closed Saturday at $1.05⅝, opened this morning at $1.06¼ bid. A little later it rose to $1.06⅜. There were bullish foreign cables, with the single exception of Berlin, in that market there was a reaction from an unduly high price in wheat, which was due to local and transitory causes. There were reports early this morning of quite a shortage of wheat in Russia. From Winnipeg came the statement that a vast deal of damage had been discovered through Western Canadian fields by frost and rust. Reports of cloudy and rainy weather through the Northwest and Western Canada helped to bull the market. But it seems to have been bulled too much, for a reaction set in. Before noon Duluth September wheat was selling at $1.04⅝ and later at $1.04½, nearly a cent below Saturday's close.

Flax showed steady strength, while wheat was making these fluctuations. Duluth September, which opened at the closing figure of Saturday, $2.45, rose afterwards to $2.55. Flax on the track before noon sold as high as $2.65. There were six cars of inspected flax on the track today, more than there has been at any time this season so far. Flax has begun to come in from Western Minnesota and North Dakota, but it has not yet arrived in such quantities as to affect the price materially.

All grains are coming in steadily increasing quantities. Today there were at Duluth 362 cars of grain on the track waiting for inspection.

Broomhall wires from Liverpool: "The wheat market at the opening showed a very strong undertone, with prices 1⅞@2d higher than Saturday. Following the opening there was a very nervous advance of 2@2¼d, with shorts very nervous. Yesterday's strength was due to the sharp advance in America on Saturday and heavy sales of cargoes to the continent. World's shipments were heavier than expected and on passage bullish, with spot markets strong in all positions. London was a heavy buyer in this market and buying continued this morning, with offers light. During the morning the market reacted sharply on profit-taking on the opening weakness in Berlin and the Canadian official report, and prices lost ⅝@¾d from the higher. At 1:30 p. m. the market was nervous and 1¼@1½d up from Saturday."

"Corn opened ½d higher in sympathy with wheat and scarcity of European offers, and later declined ⅛@¼d with wheat. The strength in America causes firmer offers in all markets."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Heavy Selling of Wheat Follows Opening Advance in Prices.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Heavy selling of wheat here developed today when the market showed an advance following a rise in prices at Liverpool. Both large and small holders were prompt to take profits. It was reasoned that the action of the British market was due to a previous uplift on this side of the Atlantic. Besides, traders here were more disposed to follow the lead of Berlin, where a decided reaction from high figures was reported. The fact that the amount of wheat for ocean passage had been greatly reduced, however, tended to maintain a strong undertone. Moreover, thrashing returns in Russia continued unsatisfactory, even in the best districts. Opening prices were ⅛@1¼ higher. December started at 96⅛@97⅛c, a gain of ⅛@1¼c, but steadied around 96¾.

Favorable harvest returns in Northwest Canada lowered the market several notches more. There were reports that stormy weather this side of the boundary would check receipts. The close was steady with December ⅜c down at 95½c.

Rainy weather gave corn a setback, and so did the bearish character of the Missouri state report. At first, though, the market displayed firmness in sympathy with wheat. December opened unchanged to ⅜c up at 64⅜@64¾c, but receded to 64c.

The market declined further owing to free consignments from the country and to cable offers to resell. The close was steady at 63¾c for December, a loss of ¾c.

Selling by local speculators carried down oats. This did not happen, however, till prices had made some ascent, owing to the initial strength of other grain. December started @ to ¼c higher at 46⅞@47 to 47c, and fell to 46⅝c.

Realizing on the part of longs eased provisions. First sales were 5@15c off to 10@12½c up with January delivery $16.50 for pork, $9.35 to $9.47½ for lard and $9.50 to $9.55 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Moderate Decline Follows Strong Opening in Wheat.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 5.—A strong opening in wheat was followed by a moderate decline. September closed ⅜c lower than Saturday, December ⅝@½c lower and May ⅝c lower. Local elevator stocks increased 125,000 bu for three days. Minneapolis today received 607 cars of wheat against 918 a year ago; Duluth 654 against 117 and Winnipeg 240 against 488. September opened $1.03; high, $1.03; low, $1.01¾; closed $1.01¾. December opened, $1.04⅜@1.05; high, $1.05⅜; low, $1.03¾; closed, $1.03¾@1.03⅞. May opened, $1.09⅛; high, $1.09¼; low, $1.07⅝; closed, $1.07¾. Cash wheat was steady to slightly easier. Most of the offerings were of low grade; choice milling wheat in strong demand; difficult to sell low grades. No. 1 northern sold mostly for 1@3c above September. Closing: Cash—No. 1 hard, $1.05¼; No. 1 northern, $1.02¾@1.04¾; to arrive, $1.02¾@1.03¾; No. 2 northern, 98¾c@$1.02¾; to arrive, 98½c@$1.01¾; No. 3 wheat, 93¾c@$1.00¾; No. 3 yellow corn, 63c; No. 3 white oats, 42¼@43c; No. 2 rye, 80½@81c.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 2,174 tons; market strong and active. Bran in 100-lb sacks, $20.50@21.00.

The demand for flour improved and several large mills reported an active market. Prices firm. Shipments, 45,673 bbls. First patents in wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis, $4.90@5.10; second patents, $4.40@4.65; first clears, $3.25@3.45; second clears, $2.25@2.40.

Flax—Receipts, 39 cars, year ago, 46; shipments, 12. Demand for spot flaxseed strong at 10c above Duluth September. Closing price, $2.65.

Barley—Receipts, 272 cars; year ago, 101; shipments, 30. Continued heavy receipts made barley a trifle easier again today. Demand good for all grades. Closing prices, unchanged to 1½c lower than Saturday. Closing range, 75c@$1.12½.

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Cattle—Receipts estimate at 5,000; market slow, steady; beeves, $5.00@8.10; Texas steers, $4.40@6.40; western steers, $4.00@7.00; stockers and feeders, 3.00@5.50; cows and heifers, $2.25@6.80; calves, $6.25@9.00. Hogs, receipts estimated at 14,000; market 5c lower; light, $7.10@7.70; mixed, $7.00@7.70; heavy, $6.80@7.60; rough, $6.80@7.00; good to choice heavy, $7.00@7.80; pigs, $5.00@7.45; bulk of sales, $7.05@7.40. Sheep—Receipts estimated at 45,000; market, 10c to 25c lower; native, $2.00@3.80; western, $2.40@3.85; yearlings, $3.00@4.80; lambs, native, $4.00@6.35; western, $4.25@6.25.

Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 5.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 4@14 points in response to higher cables, Liverpool having advanced over the local holidays. Trading was active and the South sold on the advance here, but there was trade buying around 11½ cents for the active new crop months and fluctuations during the early trading were comparatively narrow and irregular, with the market showing a fairly steady tone. Receipts in the Southwest are not increasing quite as rapidly as expected, and this probably accounted for some scattering covering during the morning.

Spot closed quiet, 15 points lower. Middling uplands, 11.60; middling gulf, 11.85. No sales.

Futures closed steady. September, 11.35; October, and November, 11.31; December, 11.39; January, 11.34; February, 11.38; March, 11.45; May, 11.56.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Depression on the Foreign Exchanges Causes Depression at Opening.

Prices Are Marked Up All Around in the Final Hour.

New York, Sept. 5.—Stocks opened on a decidedly lower level when trading was resumed after the three-day holiday. Opening transactions showed losses of a point or more among many of the railroad stocks with a decline of 3¼ in Canadian Pacific. Recessions among the industrial issues were less severe. The decline was ascribed chiefly to the fall in prices in the foreign markets since Friday.

First prices were the lowest. The market thereafter rose gradually, but trading became progressively smaller as prices went up. Canadian Pacific recovered 1½ and Union Pacific, Reading, St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central and United States Steel about half. Some of the most inactive railroads and industrials were bid up 1 to 2 points. St. Louis-Southwestern preferred off 3 points.

The stock market lacked sufficient resiliency to throw off the effect of depression on the foreign exchanges, which caused a break at the opening here, and prices generally remained below Friday's close throughout the morning. Trading was on a comparatively small scale. The crisis in the strike proceedings on the Western railways deterred traders from renewing bullish operation, and, in the absence of definite developments, the bear party was unusually active to act. Following the partial recovery after the opening the tone became heavy again when selling orders were executed in Atchison, Reading and Lehigh Valley, which sold at a point below Friday's closing. Little pressure was exerted against the general market and the whole list rose vigorously before midday. Bonds were steady.

The market closed strong. The most significant movement of the day occurred in the final hour when prices were marked up all around to the best figures of the session. Covering of shorts was the principal factor in the advance. Union Pacific was lifted 2 points above last week's close, American Smelting and Amalgamated Copper 1½ and the general list generally a point or more. Canadian Pacific reduced its early loss to a small fraction.

LEGAL NOTICES.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT.—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.
In Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Edwin C. Little, Decedent.
THE PETITION of Jennie E. Little, as representative of the above named decedent, together with her final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things that she has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on her bond,
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard and said final account examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday the 25th day of September, 1911, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald according to law.
Dated at Duluth, Minn., August 28th, 1911.
By the Court,
S. W. GILPIN,
Judge of Probate.
(Seal, Probate Court, St. Louis County, Minn.)

STAINS.

Cincinnati Enquirer: Fruit stains should be treated at once. Rub the stain with soft soap or good yellow soap, well wetted, and then cover it with a paste of salt and water.

If the fingers are stained from walnuts, dip them in strong tea, rubbing the nails well with it, with a nail brush, and wash the hands at once in warm water and the stains will disappear. If grass stains are rubbed with pure alcohol they will disappear, but this should be done at once. For claret stains soak the cloth at once in skim milk and wash out in cold water.

White stains on polished wood, caused by upsetting any spirit or by overhot dishes or plates, may be removed by applying to these spots a feather dipped in spirits of camphor. This must be used very sparingly and the furniture rubbed well with a cloth dipped in sweet oil, repeating the process if necessary. When the stain is completely removed, polish well with beeswax and turpentine or any good furniture polish. To clean ivory rub the stains with lemon juice, then with whiting made into a soft paste with lemon juice; allow this to dry on, and when perfectly dry, rub off with a soft cloth.

BEATTIE IS SURE HE IS TO GO FREE

Says He Is Confident He Will Be at Home Sunday.

Taking of Testimony in Trial Is Suddenly Ended.

Beulah Binford Kept in Jail Without Testifying.

Chesterfield, Va., Sept. 6.—"I expect to be home Sunday. I feel that my story has impressed the jury and believe they will give me a square deal."

This was the confident remark of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for the murder of his wife, as he sat in his cell here today, gazing in retrospect at the eleven days of evidence taking which was brought to a close last night.

Uneasiness or nervousness were not visible in his countenance or manner. He possessed the same outward calm which has characterized him either in the prisoner's chair as he heard witness after witness testify against him, or in the witness chair when he himself recited, in a matter of fact way, the story of his association with Beulah Binford and the alleged brutal attack of the highwayman which caused the death of his wife of a year.

The courthouse and its pastoral vicinity were clothed in peaceful quiet today. The twelve men in whose minds is locked the secret of Beattie's fate, rose early this morning, as usual, and after breakfast strolled about the courthouse lawn, singing religious hymns. Their friends call them "earnest, God-fearing men," and declare they are of the kind to weigh evidence carefully.

All the evidence has been heard and

KILLS WIFE; FIRES AT HIS DAUGHTER

St. Louis Man Then Sends Bullet Into His Own Head.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 6.—Andrew Frick, 50 years old, shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Emma Frick at their home here last night. Anna Frick, the 14-year-old daughter, heard the report of the revolver and ran from the parlor to the door of the kitchen, where the body of her mother lay.

"If you don't stay away from here, I'll kill you, too," the father cried, and sent a shot at her which missed.

Frick then backed into a bedroom and sent a bullet through his head. He died almost instantly.

No motive for the killing is apparent.

BARONESS' DEATH RECALLS ROMANCE

Chicago Millionaire's Niece, Who Married Foreigner, Dies.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—News of the death of the Baroness Curt von Biedenfeld in Berlin after a protracted illness recalled attention today to her romantic experience in this city. She was the favorite niece of the multi-millionaire Columbus R. Cummings, and was expected to inherit his fortune.

Against his wishes, she inarried the penniless baron who afterward killed a detective here in a quarrel over money matters. The nobleman was acquitted on the ground of self-defense. Instead of millions, his wife received on her uncle's death only $10,000.

ANTI-RECIPROCITY CANDIDATE QUITS

Howell Withdraws From Campaign at Battleford, Sask.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 6.—Reciprocity campaigners scored a victory when M. J. Howell of Battleford yesterday announced his retirement from the Dominion election campaign in Battleford, Sask., leaving the field to a former member, Champaigne, and an independent named McManus, both of whom are pledged to reciprocity.

Laurier at Coburg.

Coburg, Ont., Sept. 6.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier addressed a large meeting here yesterday, some 3,000 persons being present.

The American colony of summer tourists aided in giving the premier a reception. Reciprocity and its advantages was the keynote of his address. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, predicted that the adoption of the pact would give Canada a considerable portion of the carrying trade now held by the United States.

WILL RETIRE FROM THE U. S. SENATE

JOSEPH W. BAILEY, Senator From Texas.

SNOW FOR STATE FAIR

Cool Weather Is Keeping Attendance Below Expectations.

Management Proposes to Carry Out Program Despite Elements.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Snow fell at the state fair grounds this morning. It was not a great amount, but for fully two minutes the little frozen particles drifted through the air.

It was the first of the season and came as a fitting compliment to the general appearance of the grounds.

At 9 o'clock a very small crowd had put in an appearance and indications were that unless the weather warms materially the Wednesday attendance will be extremely small in comparison with the other days of the fair week.

Announcement was made by the management that unless there is a large precipitation the program will be completely carried out. This includes all amusements. Because of the density and dampness of the air, it was said, the flights of the aeroplanes today probably will be spectacular.

Excitement Among Women.

The woman's building was a scene of excitement this morning when a woman was detected opening one of the show cases of fancy work and deliberately extracting from the exhibit a handsome lace collar valued at $15. Miss Margaret Lindberg of Faribault, in charge of the exhibit, saw the woman take the collar and hurry out of the building.

Miss Lindberg gave chase, and after running through the crowd for more than block, caught the thief and made her give back the collar. Her only excuse was that there was no one to show her the collar properly, so she took it.

While all this was happening, some other woman pushed the bread show case out from the wall and stole a large German coffee cake, entry No. 1729. The cake was not a prize winner, but had attracted a great deal of attention on account of its appetizing appearance.

Since these two thefts everything possible to take is being nailed down or fastened to the wall.

"I am not worrying about the perishable things being stolen," said Mrs. Luther, "but we do worry about the valuables. We should have a corps of police watching the woman's building."

ARMOUR PLANT IN ALABAMA BURNS

Fire Starting in Beef Room Does $200,000 Damage.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 6.—Fire today destroyed the cold storage plant and local depot of the Armour Packing company, a handsome five-story building with complete refrigerating, sausage-making and packing apparatus. The loss is $200,000.

The fire started in the beef room. Its cause is not known. The plant was opened here about two months ago.

ANOTHER LINK IN ROAD TO WINNIPEG

Highway Eventually Will Extend to Galveston, Texas.

Caldwell, Kan., Sept. 6.—Another link in a great north and south road which, according to present plans, eventually will connect Galveston, Tex., and Winnipeg, Man., was covered today when the county commissioners of Sumner county, Kansas, established as a county road the old Chisholm trail from Wellington to this city, a distance of twenty miles.

The road already has been established across the state of Oklahoma from here to the Red river. It is planned to extend the road northward and southward, county by county, until the international highway is formed.

BAILEY WILL YIELD TOGA

Texas Senator Confirms Report That He Will Retire.

Is Sick of Being "Outsider" Instead of Leader in Senate.

Gainesville, Tex., Sept. 6.—United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey today confirmed the announcement made last night that he would not be a candidate for re-election to the United States senate. His term will expire March 3, 1913.

It is said Senator Bailey will go to New York city to practice law after his term in the senate expires.

Dissatisfied With Position.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Senator Bailey's announcement that he would not be a candidate for re-election was received here with some surprise, although it is understood that before he left Washington he confided to friends here that he proposed to retire at the end of his term.

It is said the senator's position in congress has not been satisfactory to him for a long time. Instead of being a leader, the brilliant Texan has been an outsider of late, and his differences with the controlling forces in the senate Democratic minority reached a climax last March when, after the Democrats insisted on approving the recall

CHICAGO STARTS WILSON BOOM

Club to Boost Him for President Is Organized There.

Chicago, Sept. 6. — The first club formed in the West to further the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson for the Democratic presidential nomination was organized here last night. The members declared themselves as also in favor of Former Mayor Edward F. Dunne for governor of Illinois.

GIRL SEES MEN; DIES OF FRIGHT

Drops Dead While Crossing Field With Companion.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 6.—Meeting two young men while crossing a field last night, Augusta Laskowski, 15 years old, dropped dead of fright. The men had not accosted her or another girl with whom she was walking, but physicians who examined the body said it was apparent that her heart action had been stopped by the shock of fear.

EQUALS FEAT OF CAPT. WEBB

William Burgess, Yorkshire Man, Swims English Channel.

Spends Nearly Twenty-Four Hours in Water in Doing So.

London, Sept. 6.—William Burgess, a Yorkshire man, today successfully swam the English channel from Dover to Cape Grisnez. The swimmer landed at Cape Grisnez at 10:30 this morning, almost exactly twenty-four hours after leaving Dover.

Burgess has been trying for years to emulate the feat of Capt. Webb in 1875, and several times he got within a mile of the goal, only to be swept away by the receding tide.

Won on Last Attempt.

On this occasion, which Burgess declared would be his last attempt, he started from South Foreland at 10:50 o'clock yesterday morning. A strong tide was flowing and the swimmer had a tough task to get past Goodwin Sands. Four hours after his departure the swimmer was only six miles on his way.

This was the last heard of him until the news of his success in reaching the French shore reached here, and considerable anxiety was felt as to his fate. A heavy fog enveloped the

DROWN ON CANOE TRIP TO BAUDETTE

One Canadian Loses Life Trying to Save Companion.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 6.— Dick Lepage of Saskatoon, Sask., and Frank Howan of Rainy River, Ont., were drowned in Rainy river today. They were paddling down the river to Baudette, Minn., in a canoe which upset. Lepage was a strong swimmer, but lost his life trying to save Howan.

WOUNDED MAN SPITS OUT BULLET

Tells Assailant to "Try Again," Then Goes Back to Work.

Benbow City, Ill., Sept. 6.—Tony Jenkins, during a quarrel here, drew a gun and shot Henry Klein, a boilermaker, in the mouth. Klein coolly picked two broken teeth out of his mouth, spat out the bullet, and told Jennings to try again.

Klein then went to a physician, had the slight wound dressed and went to work. Jennings was arrested.

WAR CLOUD DISSOLVING

German Chancellor Has Intimated Acceptance of French Offer.

Early Agreement on Moroccan Question Is Expected.

Paris, Sept. 6.—Advices from Berlin intimate that the German imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, has indicated his acceptance of France's proposals, presented last Monday to the German foreign minister, Herr von Kidderlein-Waechter, by the French ambassador, M. Cambon, looking to a settlement of the Moroccan dispute.

Dispatches which look as though they had common origin at the French embassy in Berlin, received today by several Paris newspapers, indicate that an early agreement between France and Germany is probable.

BUSY DIPLOMAT WEDS BY PROXY

Minister From Panama to Washington Has Long Distance Wedding.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 6.—Although Dr. Belisario Porras, minister of Panama to the United States, has been too busy to leave Washington, he was married last week at San Jose, Costa Rica, to a member of a prominent Costa Rica family, according to advices received here from Colon. The wedding was by proxy which is sanctioned by the government, although rarely resorted to in the Latin-American states.

Senora Porras is expected to sail soon to join her husband in Washington.

SLAIN MAN'S CAR USED BY BURGLARS

Theory in Wennerstrom Case Is Evolved By Chicago Sleuths.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Seventy-five Chicago detectives and a score of country marshals today continued their search for the murderers of Frederick Wennerstrom, the chauffeur whose body was found in the Fox river at Cary, Ill.

The authorities are working on the theory that the Chicago man was murdered by a band of safe blowers who have committed half a dozen robberies within fifty miles of Chicago during the past few weeks. The fact that two robberies where the men escaped in an automobile have occurred within thirty-eight hours strengthens this theory in the minds of the police.

A state wide search for Wennerstrom's automobile, bearing License No. 4284, is being made.

WILL ACCEPT FRENCH TERMS ON MOROCCO

DR. VON BETHMANN HOLLWEG, Chancellor of the German Empire.

NO. 1 DRAWN BY B. E. GLICK

Foxholm, N. D., Man Wins Big Prize at Minot.

Most of the First Fifty Winners Live in Northwest.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 6.—B. E. Glick of Foxholm, N. D., drew Homestead No. 1 in the Berthold Indian reservation today.

The name of the winner was announced by Judge James Witten to the thousands of landseekers who assembled from every corner of the United States, braved a rain to attend the drawing. The claim drawn by the winner who has first choice of the 160,000 acres of fertile soil is valued at from $10,000 to $15,000.

According to the plans of Judge Witten, who is in charge of the drawing, Robert Hanna, young son of Congressman Hanna, walked blindfolded to the center of the huge platform strewn with envelopes promptly at 10 o'clock and picked up an envelope marked No. 1. It was the first chance in 1,000 claims, and it is estimated that this envelope is worth $10,000 to the man whose name was written on the slip of paper inside.

Douglas Devine, son of Former Governor J. M. Devine, drew No. 2 and then the boys alternated in picking up envelopes. The drawing will continue three days.

Owns 120 Acres.

Mr. Glick, who drew No. 1, is 23 years old and owns 120 acres of land two miles from Foxholm.

He is an American and came to North Dakota several years ago. In

CLAIM THEY HAVE MASTER CRIMINAL

New York Police Pleased Over Arrest of Bomb Carrier.

New York, Sept. 6.—With a dapper young Italian, believed to be one of the country's master criminals, in their hands, the police today spread their nets for the gang of bomb throwers, blackmailers and kidnappers that have terrorized the Italian settlement here for the last four years. Giuseppe Castabile was arrested yesterday with a dynamite bomb under his coat.

"In many ways Castabile is the most important prisoner we have ever entertained," said Police Inspector Hughes. "There have been seventeen bomb explosions in the Italian quarter in the last month. How many of these Castabile, who was cast as 'The Fox,' and his subordinates are responsible for, I don't know; but we hope to fasten enough on him to remove him from the scene of operations for some time."

The detention of Castabile in $10,000 bail has proved the value of the new "deadly weapon" law, and for the mere possession of a bomb "The Fox" may be sent to prison for seven years. This law was passed particularly to assist the police against elusive Italian criminals, whom it is difficult to convict because their victims are afraid to testify against them.

GIRL KIDNAPED FROM HER BED

Seven-Year-Old Child Is Missing at Madison, Wis.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 6.—Little Irene Lemberger, 7 years old, was kidnaped from her bed during the night, according to the theory of the police. Nearly the entire police department is working on the case.

The child went to bed with her sister about 9 o'clock last night, and when her parents arose at 5:30 o'clock this morning they discovered their loss. The window had been opened and it is believed the child was spirited away. The Lemberger home is in the Italian colony here.

CRISIS IN THE I. C. TROUBLE MORE ACUTE

Labor Leaders Are Divided as to Action—Send New Letter.

Men Are Growing Restless and Eager for Order to Strike.

Kruttschnitt Goes to Chicago Without Settlement in the West.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—With no signs of concessions on the part of the railroad officials, divisions in the camp of the labor leaders which an eighteen hour conference yesterday failed to clear away, the men growing more and more restless over the withholding of the much desired order to strike, and the standing of the parties to the controversy unchanged, the crisis in the situation between the Illinois Central and the federation of its shop employes today reached a yet more acute stage than heretofore.

As yet there is no possibility of predicting the outcome. A letter sent by the union leaders to President Markham has as yet been unrecognized by an answer, and the railroad official has not intimated that he intends so to recognize it.

Kruttschnitt in Chicago.

The arrival here today of Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president and director of maintenance of way of the Harriman lines, was vainly expected to develop a bearing on the Illinois Central labor difficulties.

The Harriman executive, who rejected the demands of the railroad shopmen made at San Francisco last week, was believed to have a conference with President Markham of the Illinois Central, on his program for today. Mr. Markham on Monday declined to meet agents of the new federation of Illinois Central shop workers, just

PLANS SUICIDE; DIES OF STROKE

Chicago Composer Succumbs to Apoplexy Before He Is Ready.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—A stroke of apoplexy caused the death of Max Haurwitz after he had made plans for ending his life, according to physicians who examined his body last night.

Haurwitz, who at one time was a composer of music, died yesterday. Soon after his death the police found a letter written to his brothers at Sharon, Pa., in which Haurwitz outlined tentative plans for ending his life.

Physicians were unable to find any trace of poison and after an examination said death had been caused by arterial sclerosis and a stroke of apoplexy.

TOADSTOOLS START TRAGIC HAPPENINGS

Mother and Son Die; Father Kills Himself and Grandfather Tries To.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Michael Loprete's wife and their son, Michael, 8 years old, are dead from eating toadstools which he had gathered. Grief so preyed on Loprete that he shot and killed himself a few hours after the death of his family.

When Vincenzo Loprete, father of the suicide, learned of the fate of the family, he attempted to throw himself from a window, but was restrained.

LA FOLLETTE AND TAFT MEN BUSY

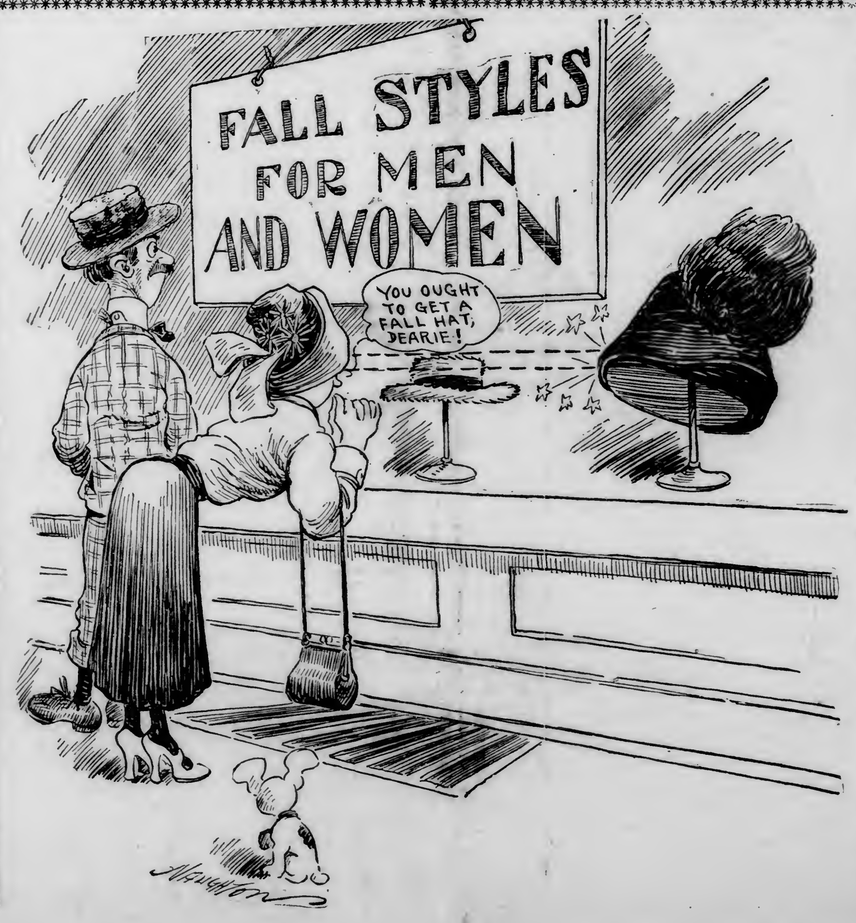

Meetings Are Held Simultaneously in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Held simultaneously, two meetings here last night sought to further respectively the interests of President Taft and of Senator La Follette in Minnesota.

The Taft supporters, at a session of members of the Young Men's Republican club, added a few more touches to the presidential program. At the same time, at a gathering of the executive committee of the Minnesota Progressive Republican league, enthusiastic followers of the Wisconsin senator completed arrangements for a banquet at the West hotel tomorrow night at which the principal speakers will be Congressman Lenroot of Superior, Wis., and Prof. Charles E. Merriam, recent candidate for the mayoralty of Chicago.

It was stated after the meeting of the Young Men's Republican club that Mr. Taft will be given a notable reception upon his visit to Minneapolis Oct. 24. The committees are working along lines indorsed by the president himself.

PUZZLE PICTURE: WHAT IS SHE THINKING ABOUT?

READY FOR BOY SCOUTS

State Encampment Will Be Held on Fair Grounds.

Four Minnesota Lads Get Medals for Life-Saving.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Everything is ready for the state encampment of Boy Scouts, which will open at the fair grounds tomorrow afternoon. A crew of men went to the grounds this afternoon and set up the tent which will be occupied by Governor Eberhart and S. A. Moffat, the representative from the national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America. The headquarters tent, the hospital tent, guard, comissary, buglers, and tents for the aides and judges also have been pitched.

The space back of the large parade ground, which will be reserved for the contests Friday afternoon, has been divided into streets, and space on each street has been marked with the name of the troop which will occupy it.

Maj. Lambert, who has charge of sanitary arrangements, is supervising the building of latrines and incinerators for the destruction of camp garbage and promises to have them ready in time.

A telephone has been installed at the headquarters tent. Several large arc lights will be placed today so the camp will be well lighted for the program Friday evening.

Medals for Life Savers.

Word has been received from the national headquarters that honor medals for life saving have been awarded to four Minnesota scouts, and these will be presented by Governor Eberhart on Friday evening. The boys who will receive the medals are Edward Grout of St. Paul, Glenn Dudley and Walter Jerrard of St. Cloud and George Moyer of Morris.

MANY DIE FROM BAD MUSHROOMS

Ten Deaths Recorded in New York in One Week.

New York, Sept. 6.—Poisonous mushrooms caused another death today, making a total of ten victims since the first of the month. The recent rains brought out an immense crop of mushrooms, both edible and poisonous and both kinds have been sold extensively.

Health Office Statistics.

Duluth had sixty-seven deaths in August, or one less than in July, according to vital statistics completed today by Deputy Segal of the health department. Of those, 53 were residents and 14 non-residents, while 42 were males and 25 females. Sixteen were under 1 year of age, six under 2 years and twenty-two under 5 years of age. August is generally one of the heaviest months for deaths of children, said to be due in many cases to warm weather, particularly among infants.

Held on Suspicion.

William Olson was arrested by Patrolman Oscar Olson this morning for investigation. He was peddling a box of cigars supposed to have been stolen. George Watson was also brought to headquarters in connection with the same case.

Had Open Clasp Knife.

Peter Lindahl was arrested in front of a West end saloon yesterday afternoon by Chief Troyer and Detective Irvine. He had an open clasp knife in his pocket. The attention of the officers was called to him by bystanders, who informed them that he was waiting for some one with the knife. It was found open in his trousers' pocket. He pleaded guilty to drunkenness in police court this morning and got $25 and costs or forty days in the county jail.

Petitions in Bankruptcy.

Two petitions in bankruptcy were filed this morning with the clerk of the United States court. Charles A. Erickson, a locomotive engineer of Knife River, filed a petition in which he states that his liabilities amount to $1,855.51, while his assets are $1,430.18, of which he claims $1,150 exempt. W. E. Barbar, a laborer of Crosby, declares his liabilities are $3,056.12 and that he has no assets.

Pleads Not Guilty.

Fred Desanders pleaded not guilty in police court this morning to having stolen a pair of boots and a cravenette coat from Arthur Jackson. His trial was set for Friday morning.

Non-Support Charged.

Joseph Poulard was arrested last evening by Patrolman Monahan on a warrant sworn out by his wife charging him with non-support. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried Friday afternoon.

For Obstructing Street.

George Semmen, driver of a pop wagon, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of obstructing Superior street near Third avenue west. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for this afternoon.

Case Continued.

Fined For Cruelty.

David Norman paid a fine of $7 in police court yesterday afternoon on pleading guilty to a charge of cruelty to animals. It was claimed that he allowed his horse to stand outdoors without protection several hours on Labor day.

21st Annual Opening Finds Very Heavy Enrollment.

The twenty-first annual opening of the Duluth Business University for its day and night classes, which occurred on the 5th inst., finds the heaviest enrollment in the history of the college, over 100 young people having entered the school for the first time. Among these young people are many high school and normal school graduates, an older and a better educated class of people than the school has had heretofore. This, of course, means better results and greater success for the class as a whole. The prospects certainly look bright for the school year. On Monday, Sept. 11, new classes will be organized in day and night school to accommodate many who could not arrange to begin at the opening. The college is located in the Christie building at 118-120 Fourth avenue west.

THRASHING IS RESUMED IN RED RIVER VALLEY.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thrashing operations were resumed again this morning after a two days' suspension in Norman and the south half of Polk county. The rain of Monday did not extend north, and Marshall and Kittson county farmers thrashed steadily. A ten days' run of good weather is now very badly needed to get the bulk of the crop thrashed.

Settler Found Dead.

Deer River, Minn., Sept. 6.—John Anderson, a settler, 75 years old, was found dead on Sunday afternoon on the porch of his home at Turtle Lake, twenty-five miles north of here. Heart failure is supposed to have caused his death.

FEAR FAMINE FOR COMING WINTER

Prussian Crop Reports Cause Great Anxiety for Peasant Class.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—The official crop report made public today describes conditions throughout Prussia in gloomy terms. The prolonged drouth not only burned the crops but also caused such a plague of field mice and other crop destroyers that great fears are entertained for the winter.

The crops of potatoes and sugar-beets are of the puniest kind. Fodder crops suffered so severely that owners are selling off their cattle, despairing of means to keep them through the winter. Pasturage has already partly or wholly given out.

Little progress has been made toward winter crops. The soil is baked so hard that plowing is difficult and sowing impossible.

PRODUCTION HERE AFFECTS ST. PAUL

Secretary of Growers of Capital Says They Feel Duluth's Influence.

The development of the Duluth produce market from almost nothing at all to a point where there is a large surplus for export has made a marked impression on the St. Paul market, according to Secretary Perkins of the St. Paul growers, an association of market gardeners tributary to St. Paul.

Mr. Perkins came to Duluth today to look over some of the market gardens in this vicinity and get a line on the productive possibilities of the secton. He says that the failure of Duluth to buy market garden products in the St. Paul market this year, and the influx of produce from this section, has seriously affected the St. Paul market from the viewpoint of the market gardeners near that city.

Mr. Perkins saw the St. Louis county exhibit at the state fair and he says that it is in a class by itself. The exhibit is causing comment and wonderment and thousands of people, who did not realize the importance of St. Louis county as an agricultural factor, are being awakened.

The Producers' Co-operative Market association has an excellent exhibit in competition. The St. Louis county exhibit, which is housed in a building of its own, is not in competition, out of courtesy to C. P. Craig, Duluth's member of the state fair board and superintendent of the agricultural department of the fair.

EXODUS OF HUNTERS

Hundreds of Duluthians Will Go After Ducks and Prairie Chickens.

Hunting again holds the boards, and tomorrow the season will be open in full blast. Hundreds of Duluthians have left already for the duck marshes and prairie chicken fields, and from the statements made many a bird is going to fall before their trusty shot guns.

Most of the Duluthians have gone to the territory north of Crookston, and the district near Bemedji. Other points which are said to be excellent hunting grounds are at Warren, Stephens, Middle, Warroad and Tower.

Judge Page Morris of the United States court left Monday for Thief River Falls, where he will be gone for a week or ten days. This is a favorite spot for His Honor, and he makes it a point to go there every year. According to reports, he is very successful, and before leaving, he is reported to have said he would have his share of the birds.

H. A. Blume, the laundry man, with a party of three left last evening for Crookston. Frank Berry and two friends went to the same field. J. A. Ferguson of the Northwestern Coal company and a party of four went to Warren. A few of the other hunters were, H. H. Myers, A. M. Millen, T. J. Storey, Frank Williamson, Howard Abbott, G. G. Dickerman, W. M. Webb, Hugo Eisenack and T. G. Frerker. C. E. Lum and a party of three will leave tomorrow evening for Tower, where they will spend a week. Thomas J. Michaud, left last evening for the western part of the state and Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Chapman expect to leave before the end of the week for Barnum.

And Increase in Operating Expenses on the Soo Road.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 6.—The annual report of the Minneapolis & Sault Ste. Marie Railway company, which will be issued soon, will show that during the fiscal year ending June 30 the expense of operation increased 7 per cent, while the gross revenue decreased about 10 per cent. The report will hold the short grain crop of the season of 1910 mainly responsible for the condition. Revenues from freight transportation will show a shrinkage of about 14 per cent.

As nearly as can be estimated in advance, the total revenue of the road will show $21,658,640, compared with $22,922,068, in the fiscal year preceding, a loss of $2,353,427. While the Soo line operated in 1909 at 56.3 per cent of the gross, the 1911 operating ratio will figure out equal to 68.11 per cent. Increased cost of labor and material will account for the increased expense of operation and maintaining the road.

The income account of the Soo line for the fiscal year ending June 30 will show the following figures, subject only to minor corrections: Total operating revenue, $21,658,640; decrease, $2,353,427. Total operating expenses, $14,699,810; increase, 974,564. Net operating revenue, $6,868,830; decrease $3,377,992. Total net revenue in 1911 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911, was $6,868,830, compared with $10,196,822 in the year before.

DECISION IN FAVOR OF THE RAILROAD COMPANY.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 6.—Judge Stanton has filed a decision favorable to the defendant company in the City of International Falls vs. the Dakota & Western Railway company, wherein the city applied for a temporary injunction restraining the railway company from building railway tracks across certain streets of International Falls.

The railway company is said to be the Backus-Brooks concern, owning the branch road already built from International Falls to Loman, on the Rainy river, some fifty miles in length.

COPPER STOCKS CHANGE LITTLE

Show Tendency to Rise Early in Session, But Reaction Sets in.

What bade fair at the outset to be a bullish day in coppers proved to be rather a featureless day. Coppers showed considerable strength at the outset and so did the stock list in general, but towards the close the general market became dull, and all stocks began to lose what they had just gained. Disturbing strike news from the West was in part responsible for this.

Up to noon today the market looked fairly well for coppers, generally speaking, though Amalgamated showed some back-sliding tendency. The New York general stock list was strong. This without doubt helped to boost coppers. There was not such a heavy demand for coppers as the general strength might seem to indicate, but light offerings helped to boost the prices.

Copper Range and Old Dominion today declared their usual quarterly dividends, the former 75 cents and the latter 50 cents. Copper Range, which closed yesterday at $53.50 bid and $54.50 asked, sold today at $54. Old Dominion, which closed yesterday at $38.50 bid and $40 asked, sold today at $39 and $40.

Logan & Bryan of New York expressed the opinion that the general stock list would probably fluctuate within a comparatively narrow range until the publication of the government crop report and the Steel corporation statement of unfilled orders.

The New York Sun helped bull the market when it announced that the Moroccan difficulty had been settled. Another bullish report was that the Harriman railroad unions seemed to be reluctant to strike, and might not do so. Another factor that tended to boost stocks was the report of increased cotton mill production in New England.

Among the copper movements were the following:

Amalgamated, yesterday's close, $59.25, $59.50, $59.75, $59, $59.25, $59; Butte-Ballaklava, yesterday, $3.75 bid, $4.25 asked; today, $3.75 to $4.25; Butte Coalition, yesterday, $15 bid, $15.12½ asked; today, $15.25, $15; Calumet & Arizona, yesterday, $51.25 bid, $51.50 asked; today, $51.50, $50.50; Giroux, yesterday, $4.12½ bid, $4.18¾ asked; today, $4.12½, $4.06¼, $4.12½; Greene-Cananea, yesterday, $6.06¼ bid, $6.12½ asked; today, $6.31¼ to $6.12½, $6.12½, $6; North Butte, yesterday, $24.25 bid, $24.50 asked; today, $24.62½, $24.50, $24.25, $24.75; Shattuck, yesterday, $15.50 bid, $17 asked; today, $17 bid.

Curb—Butte & Superior, yesterday, $9 to $9.62½; today, $9.37½ to $9.50; Keating yesterday and today, $3 asked.

Officials at Duluth of the Giroux Consolidated Mines company reported this morning that the Giroux shaft was inspected as far as the 1,000 level yesterday and found in good condition. However, some smoke was coming from the station on that level. The cage, with the two-inch steam line upon it, was lowered to a point five feet above the station, and steam is now being blown into the station. While this is being done, as a precaution against any smoldering fire getting another start, it was considered advisable to seal the shaft again for a few days.

SHIP WRECKED; EIGHTY-ONE DIE

Peruvian Steamer Goes Aground on Uncharted Rocks.

Lima, Peru, Sept. 6.—The Peruvian steamer Tucapel has been wrecked and is a total loss. Eighty-one persons were drowned.

The Tucapel grounded on an uncharted stretch of rocks twenty miles north of Quiloa, which lies several hundred miles south of Lima. A heavy fog prevailed. Latest advices confirm the report that the vessel is a total loss. Among the eighty-one drowned was the captain of the steamer.

Sixty persons were saved and are on their way to Callao on the steamer Maipi.

The steamer Tucapel was engaged in trading on the west coast of South America. She was of 1,912 tons net and was commanded by Capt. Marrow.

NEWBERRY'S CAR KILLS A GIRL

Former Secretary of Navy Has Accident With Automobile.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Sept. 6.—An automobile driven by Truman H. Newberry of Detroit, Mich., former secretary of the navy, struck and killed 8-year-old Helen Ellis of Millen, Mass., last night.

The child started to cross the street and had nearly reached the other side when her mother called to her to warn her of the approach of an automobile. The child turned and stepped back right into the pathway of the machine, and was instantly killed.

TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY.

Mr. Newberry immediately gave himself up to the police and was placed under arrest on a charge of manslaughter. He was later released on $5,000 bonds.

Former Secretary Newberry was badly broken up over the accident. It was unavoidable.

"I was going about twelve miles an hour and the child ran in front of the machine, too late for me to stop it. That's all there is to say about it," he said.

Witnesses of the accident generally hold Mr. Newberry blameless. The girl was about to step upon the sidewalk and could easily have reached it, had she not turned.

FRESHMEN ARE INITIATED

New High School Pupils Are Mildly Hazed By Upper Classmen.

Freshmen at the Duluth Central high school were mildly hazed this afternoon by the members of the upper classes.

Some luckless youngsters were caught outside the building by their old time enemies, the sophomores, and were forced to go through a number of stunts for the edification of the older pupils. Some of the new pupils at the big building were forced to remove their shoes and stockings and walk the cannon. Coats were turned inside out, and all the freshmen who could be found were put through the old exercise of "going over the cannon." The fatalities totaled one torn necktie, when some faculty members interrupted the proceedings.

Peace Conference Postponed.

Brussells, Sept. 6.—The Gazette says that on account of the bad sanitary conditions in Italy, the inter-parliamentary conference in the interest of world's peace, which is scheduled to be held in Rome in October, has been postponed, probably until the spring.

HUNTERS IN THE FIELD.

Dearth of Dogs for Opening of Chicken Season.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opening of the hunting season tomorrow will witness more men and dogs in the field than ever left Crookston. The trains from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth this morning were loaded with sportsmen with their dogs and equipment, who scattered along the branch lines to their favorite hunting places. The slaughter the first day would be terrific were it not that the limit is fifteen chickens per day. There appears to be a dearth of well broken dogs, and anything in the line of a fairly good dog will bring from $100 to $125.

Obstructing a Highway.

Washburn, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew Fahlgren, a farmer residing west of here, was brought up in justice court on a charge of obstructing the public highway which passes through his land. Fahlgren asked for time to take the matter up with the county commissioners and in the meantime agreed to leave the road unobstructed.

Italian Goes Insane.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Suffering from an attack of temporary insanity and under the delusion that the Black Hand society would get him, Giovanni Puriol, an Italian lumberjack, was taken in charge by Chief Reynolds in this city. The man is en route to his home in Italy from Harrison, Idaho, where he has been working. It is believed he will recover in a few days.

VIOLATION OF THE GAME LAWS ALLEGED.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. H. Newton of Mandan and F. A. Knowles of this city have been served with warrants charging them with violation of the game laws as the result of trying out Knowles' hunting dogs. The complaint was made by a farmer, who was incensed at the men for driving over his oat shocks and Deputy Game Warden Fred Larson served the warrants. The men claim to have only fired blank cartridges in a revolver.

Leg Badly Broken.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 6.—H. L. Farmer of Sioux City, Iowa, who has been up in this country looking over his extensive farm interests, had quite an accident Saturday on the Bufflington farm. He was riding horseback and the horse became frightened at an automobile, throwing him off. After bringing him to St. Vincent's hospital, it was found his leg had been severely broken and he had received many other minor injuries.

SOO LINE OFFICIALS BELIEVE TRAIN WAS DITCHED BY DISCHARGED EMPLOYE

MAP SHOWING SCENE OF WRECK.
Drawn From Description Given by Duluth Passengers on the Train.

Suspicion is placed upon a young man living on a farm near Fremont, Wis., for the wrecking of the Soo Line passenger train, which crashed into an open switch about 1:30 yesterday morning at Fremont, and which resulted in the death of four persons and the injury of many others.

President Pennington of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, gave out the statement last evening at Minneapolis that he believed the wreck was caused by train wreckers, and that all available detectives of the road had been hurried to the scene of the disaster in the afternoon to investigate.

Employes of the road at Fremont asserted to a number of passengers on the Duluth train that a certain young man, who lived on a nearby farm had recently been discharged from the service of the company, and that he bore a grudge against the company. At the time of the wreck attention was called to the fact that all the farm boys in the community with the exception of the one suspected, were at the scene of the accident.

Only one Duluth person, according to information available today, was injured. Mrs. Mary Garvey, a widow residing at 311 Second avenue west, was injured when the coach in which she was riding was hurled under the car in front of it. At the time it was believed the injuries were of a critical nature, and she was hurried to a hospital at Neenah. Telegrams received late last evening and this morning by members of her family from relatives state that her injuries are not serious, although she was badly bruised.

Twin City Train Safe.

The train was the Chicago-Duluth train, No. 17, known as the Twin Ports Limited. It left Chicago at 7 o'clock Monday evening and was due to arrive in Duluth yesterday morning at 9. Directly in front of this train, immediately before the wreck, was the Soo Line Twin City-Chicago train, which passed the switch into which the Duluth train ran, fifteen minutes before.

On the train were many Duluthians, among them being G. H. McCarthy, teller of the First National bank; Fred Winship, manager of the Mutual Transit company; Dr. J. B. Kohagen, a dentist in the New Jersey building; F. A. Hamilton, sales manager for the Duluth-Superior Milling company, and Mrs. F. A. Hamilton, who resides at No. 2, Barrington apartments; Dan Connors of the Duluth Logging company; Fred A. Merritt, a local broker; Bruce A. Davis, 16 years old, son of Joseph Davis of flat 6, Buffalo flats; Detective Frank Schulte and Deputy Sheriff Sig Levy, who were bringing George Oven and Clifford Dwyer, two young suspects in connections with the street car holdups which have occurred recently in Duluth, from Detroit, and Mrs. Mary Garvey.

At the locality where the wreck occurred, there is an even level stretch for many miles and the train was traveling at a rate estimated at about fifty-five miles per hour. As it occurred about 1:30 in the morning most of the people on the train were asleep or half dozing. The jar of the cars as they came to a sudden stop, and piled one upon another, was a severe shock to those who were not injured.

As soon as the uninjured realized the accident that had happened, they rushed out of the cars and offered help to the unfortunate. Probably the most active in lending assistance was G. H. McCarthy, teller of the First National bank, who occupied a berth in the first sleeper. Although the first sleeper was rolled off the rails and landed on its side on the high bank, the people were able to get out, and except for a few bruises and a severe shock, none were injured.

Tramps Killed.

Four tramps had been "beating their way" to Duluth riding on the blind baggage. When the wreck happened, one was cut in two by a section through the abdomen, and he was hurled far upon the bank. Another was mangled to pieces, and his body found on the bank, directly opposite the car on which he was stealing the ride. The other two men were badly injured, lying under the baggage car. They were taken to a hospital, and according to reports, one of them has since died.

August Huested, engineer, 35 years old, whose home was in North Fond du Lac, was caught under the tender of the engine as he tried to make his escape from the engine before the crash came. Huested was on his first run as a passenger train engineer, although he had been in the service as engineer for many years, and was considered a very capable man.

Earl Heinsden, the fireman leaped from the train, but was seriously injured, although reports state that he will recover. According to his story, the train was moving at its usual rate of this point, and at it approached the switch he looked for the signal, which he found was all right. He then began shoveling coal into the fire-box, and when he was through doing this he looked forward again, but found that the switch signal had changed, and that the red had taken the position of the green. The switch had been opened, but the train was too near and the train traveling too fast, to stop and avoid the wreck.

But the engineer had noticed the change in signals, although he said nothing to the fireman. He applied the full force of the brakes and shut off the steam, and then attempted to escape, only to be caught under the tender, when the crash came.

Help Injured.

Many of the passengers were pinned under the wreck, and immediately help was offered them by the more fortunate ones. G. H. McCarthy and several others, rushed to the front part of the train where they found Mrs. Garvey held down by heavy pieces from the train, and after some difficulty managed to get her out, and removed her to the rear sleeper, which was still on the track. McCarthy then went to the engine, where he found the two tramps, pinned under the baggage car. With axes and saws, and other instruments, they cut away the debris which held the men down, and rescued them from the perilous positions.

But for the fact that the train was made up of steel cars, except for the three Pullman sleepers in the rear, more disastrous a catassrophe might have occurred, according to the statements from the passengers.

"There is no doubt but that nearly all those in the coaches and the baggage and mail cars would have been burned if the coaches had been wood," said Mr. McCarthy. "Mrs. Garvey certainly would not have been saved for she was pinned down and it took a long time to get her out. The wreck would have been a far more horrible one if the train had not been steel."

"The Soo Line is entitled to much credit for the manner in which the officials handled the affair," said F. A. Hamilton. "As soon as the officials at Fremont heard of the wreck they sent out crews immediately, and the local superintendent gave the matter his personal attention. He directed it in a very able manner, and I believe the passengers had excellent attention as far as could be expected under the circumstances."

BRUCE DAVIS,
Duluth Boy Who Had Miraculous Escape.

There was much confusion when the wreck occurred, people screaming and calling for help. In the day coach were Detective Schulte and Deputy Sheriff Levy with their two prisoners hand-cuffed together, and all were awake, discussing various matters. The crash threw the men in different directions, and for a time the officers had some trouble in locating their prisoners. But the two men were in no position to escape, for not only were they safely bound by the cuffs, but they were pinned down in the debris. Soon Schulte heard them call to him for assistance, which was quickly rendered.

The train was but a jumbled mass of steel, according to reports. The tender of the engine was jack-knifed upon the engine, while the first car rammed into it, and standing on end. The baggage car was turned over, while the first coach was rolled on its side, with the front end rammed into the tender, and lying directly under the second coach. Of the three sleepers, the first was hurled off the rails, and fell on the side, resting on the bank. The other two sleepers were standing on the track.

As soon as the injured had been removed to the rear two sleepers they were taken to Neenah, where they were given medical attention. Such medical care as was possible had been given when they were taken out of the wreck.

Efforts to get another train to Fremont to take care of the passengers were made by the officials of the road, and a special train was on the scene within a few hours. This train arrived in Duluth yesterday afternoon, shortly after 5 o'clock.

PEOPLE ARE ON "STRIKE"

Colbyville Residents Refuse to Send Children to Washburn School

Members of Committee Will Investigate Before Taking Action.

The residents of Colbyville, or Riverside park, as the suburb is now termed by people living there, are still on "strike" against the decision of the board of education to keep the Colbyville school closed again this year and to transport the children from that locality to the Washburn school at Hunter's Park.

Only two families at Colbyville allowed their children to be taken to the Washburn school this morning. The other children remained at home and their parents are awaiting developments.

Members of the committee on schools and teachers, to whom the petition of Colbyville people for the reopening of the school this year was referred at the meeting of the board last Friday evening, take the position that the petition, the demonstration yesterday morning at the school building and the failure of the children to attend school at the Washburn, are not conclusive evidence that the people of Colbyville want the building opened.

A meeting of the committee on schools and teachers was held last evening and the matter discussed. No action was taken, but the members said today that if the situation warrants action, a hearing will probably be held at Colbyville. They say that all of the people of the suburb do not want the ungraded school opened and that others will probably take the same position when the situation is explained.

Centralization Favored.

"We do not like to commit the board to the policy of having ungraded schools in the near-by suburbs," said one member of the committee this morning. "Centralization is being practiced wherever poss'ble throughout the country and the board's action in closing ungraded schools in the district is in line with that policy. The instruction in the ungraded schools cannot be as efficient as in the graded school and it seems that the children should have the advantage of the graded school if the distance is not too great. It is certainly better for the children to attend the Washburn school, the distance is not great and the transportation facilities are excellent."

"However, if the people of Colbyville want the ungraded school opened there, I presume they will get it," he added. "It is not the policy of the board to refuse to listen to the demands of the people of any section of the city."

Increase in Enrollment.

An increase of ninety-two in the enrollment at the Central high school and an increase of twenty-five at the Industrial high school, over the enrollment on the opening day of the last school year, are the features of the opening day enrollment reports being made to Supt. Denfeld.

The inclement weather yesterday affected the enrollment in the grade schools, many of the little ones being kept at home on account of the weather conditions. In many of the grade schools the enrollment fell off from that of the opening day a year ago, although there are some increases also. The total opening day enrollment of fifteen schools which reported this morning showed a net increase of eight over the enrollment of the same schools on the opening day of last year.

The opening day figures are of little value in determining the actual enrollment of the schools. Every year the enrollment is greatly increased during the week following the opening, and the attendance on the first day of the second week is a better indication of the total enrollment.

The attendance at the Central high school on the opening day was 1,039, compared with 947 on the opening day last year. The number this year is divided into classes as follows: Freshmen, 400; sophomores, 236; juniors, 224; seniors, 125. At the industrial high school at West Duluth the enrollment yesterday was 155. On the opening day last year the attendance was 130.

St. Cloud Patrolman Ends Life.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 6.—John Patzer, aged 48, member of the St. Cloud police force for the past seven years, Sunday night shot himself through the temple with a 38-caliber revolver at the home of his brother-in-law, John Wirtman. Paltzer, who lived with Wirtman, was supposed to report for duty at 6 o'clock. He shot himself at 6:05. He had been in good health, was single and so far as known has had no love affair. The cause of his action is a mystery.

feature of the Arizona Constitution, the senator sent his resignation to Governor Colquitt. The governor declined to accept the resignation—then it was withdrawn. A dozen Democratic senators had said the resignation would be a national calamity.

Out of Harmony With Party.

Since then several incidents have occurred to arouse the senator's dissatisfaction and put him more and more out of harmony with his party in congress. When the vote on the farmers' free list bill was taken, near the close of the extra session, Senator Bailey prevented the adoption of the measure without amendment, being the only Democrat to vote with the regular Republicans against the alliance of Democrats and Insurgent Republicans. The motion to adopt was lost by one vote.

Senator Bailey was elected to the senate Jan. 23, 1901, to succeed Horace Chilton and was re-elected in 1907 for the term ending March 3, 1913. Prior to entering the senate he had been a member of the house since the fifty-second congress, serving as Democratic leader in the fifty-fifth congress.

CHICAGO THUGS TAKE VICTIM'S PANTS AWAY.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Thieves set a new standard for thoroughness last night when they enticed Charles Meyers into an alley off State street, knocked him unconscious and deftly removed his coat, vest, trousers and shoes.

Meyers returned to consciousness an hour later, gazed into a crowded and well-lighted street 100 feet away and crept deeper into the alley. He finally was discovered by a night watchman, who supplied him with a pair of overalls, clad in which Meyers reported the robbery to the Harrison street police.

EQUALS FEAT OF CAPT. WEBB

channel last night, and the crossing steamers failed to sight the swimmer.

Burgess' success today in swimming the English channel followed nine plucky but unsuccessful attempts to negotiate the narrow span of water between the French and English coasts.

Numerous attempts have been made to swim the channel since 1875, when Capt. Matthew Webb swam from Dover to Calais in 21 hours and 45 minutes, but until today no one has been able to duplicate the feat.

Burgess made his first try for the honor Sept. 6, 1904, but gave up after a struggle of about fifteen hours. The next day he started again, but after covering twenty-two miles in about nine hours, was forced to abandon his attempt because of a gale. In his successive tries, Burgess each time was forced to abandon the attempt when the goal was almost within his grasp.

The channel between Dover and Cape Grisnez is only twenty miles wide, but the tide through the straits is very strong, and swimmers are obliged to cross at a wide angle.

BUT ONE OF MANY!

A gentleman in Seattle wrote asking information about KAMLOOPS. In replying to his letter we laid particular stress on the character-men who have been backing our enterprise from its inception, inviting the gentleman to INVESTIGATE THEM AND THEN ASK HIMSELF IF SUCH MEN WOULD OR COULD LEND THEIR INDORSEMENT TO ANY ENTERPRISE THAT WAS NOT SOUND.

We told this gentleman that we wanted his confidence before his co-operation. Told him candidly and honestly how we regarded KAMLOOPS and urgently requested him to go and visit the mines after satisfying himself that the men behind the enterprise were WORTHY OF HIS CONFIDENCE. We tried to convey to him the absolute assurance that WE WOULD RATHER NOT HAVE HIM INVEST HIS MONEY WITH US UNTIL HE WAS THOROUGHLY SATISFIED that such an investment was the right thing for him to make.

This morning, (Sept. 6) we received this gentleman's check for one thousand dollars for KAMLOOPS stock, and this indicated to us that he was satisfied WITH HIS INVESTIGATION.

It was not adriotly devised and cunningly written advertising that brought this gentleman over to our side. It was merely the TRUTH, SIMPLY TOLD AND SUSTAINED BY THE CHARACTER MINES AND MEN COMPOSING THE KAMLOOPS INDUSTRY. This man became sure of HIS MEN as others have done and are doing, and feeling that he would like to have such associates, and knowing THAT HE COULD ENTER THE KAMLOOPS FAMILY ON PRECISELY THE SAME TERMS WITH THE OTHER STOCKHOLDERS, decided to enter and is now one of us.

ROCK PILE OPEN NOV. 1

It Will Probably Not Be Needed Before That Time.

Associated Charities Has $500 Available for the Work.

The rock pile will not be opened until Nov. 1.

That is, the officers of the Associated Charities will try to hold off the opening until that time as they claim that they will be short of funds if they are forced to begin it earlier. Beginning Nov. 1, it is thought that the funds on hand will be ample to keep it running.

The rock pile was a success last year, giving many men a chance to earn their board and lodging while in search of better jobs. Out of the $900 appropriated by the city with which to run the rock pile, about $500 is still available. The rock pile last season cost about $400.

At the present time the rock pile is not needed. But few men are applying to the Associated Charities for aid and for those that do, positions have been secured.

Secretary Courtenay Dinwiddie of the society states that there seems to be a great deal more work this year than last.

FINE CHANCE FOR HANDSOME MAN

Denver Wants "Flirt Cop" to Protect Males From Coquettes.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 6.—Are you tall, good looking and magnetic as to personality—the sort of man that women will turn to look at? If you are, there's a job waiting for you on the Denver police force. You won't have to wear a blue coat and brass buttons—your uniform will be the best the tailor can produce—for your task will be to lure unwary females, too flirtatiously inclined, into the police net.

In a word, Denver, patterning somewhat after Los Angeles, is to have a "flirt cop," but reversing the California plan, this individual is to be a man—a puritan in Don Juan guise—who is to discover when a roguish smile, a sparkling eye and a flash of silken ankle springs from sheer feminine coquetry and when otherwise.

"The women of Denver are well protected," says the fire and police board, "and now we must see about protecting the men. That's what comes of living in an equal suffrage state."

TAX RATE MAY BE REDUCED

Conference Committee Holds First Meeting to Fix City Budget.

Difference Between Comptroller's Estimate and Amounts Asked.

The conference committee is meeting at the office of the mayor in the city hall this afternoon. The meeting is the first of a series of meetings to fix the budget for the coming year. The committee consists of the mayor, the heads of the various departments and the presidents of the several boards.

The departments sent in estimates of expenses for 1912 totaling $1,041,056.85. City Comptroller William S. McCormick estimated that it will take approximately $869,450, of which amount $704,450 would be raised by general taxation and the balance from miscellaneous sources. This would give a city tax rate of 16.19 mills on an estimated valuation of $43,750,000.

Last fall the total appropriation for the current year was $904,162, of which $726,374.94 was raised by general taxation, giving a city rate of 17.60 mills on a valuation of $41,385,224.

The conference committee is taking up the items one by one, giving each separate consideration. The funds which will occupy the most time are those of the police department, the fire department, the park board, the board of public works, which includes those of the engineering department and the building inspector; the permanent improvement fund, the street maintenance and repair fund and the storm sewer ad street intersection fund.

These departments have applied for considerably more money than was allowed in the estimate of the comptroller. The police department asks $102,995, while the comptroller's estimate is $96,500; the estimate for the permanent improvement fund is $73,425 as against the comptroller's estimate of $50,000; the estimate for the street intersection and storm sewer fund is $47,162.92 and the comptroller's estimate is $43,500; the estimate for the street maintenance and repair fund is $85,000, which the comptroller cut down to $25,000.

There is but little doubt that the budget, when finally fixed, will allow these funds considerably more than the estimate allowed by the comptroller. They are not included in the $320,000 limitation fixed by the charter on funds numbered five through fifteen. Nor are the fire department or the police department funds included in the limitation. But the park board, public works and permanent improvement funds come within the limitation. It is not probable that the budget will be finally determined upon until several meetings have been held.

More Money Subscribed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 6.—H. A. Tuttle, president of the Commercial club and president of the Trans-Mississippi flight association, has received word that Burlington, Iowa, pledged $1,000 toward the fund now being raised for the Minneapolis-New Orleans aviation flight this fall. Minneapolis started the fund with a guarantee of $3,000.

SUPERIOR FOR EMPLOYING CHILD LABOR

Superior Box Manufacturers Are Arrested on Thirty-Four Counts.

W. H. Reickhoff and J. W. Brinstone, proprietors of the Superior Box company, were arrested this afternoon on charges of violating the Wisconsin child labor laws.

The warrants were sworn out by State Factory Inspector Ira J. Lockney, who has been in the city for the past few days investigating local conditions. There were thirty-four separate counts named in the complaint against Reickhoff and Brinstone.

Both men will appear in municipal court tomorrow morning to face the charges brought against them by the state factory inspector. It is more than probable that they will plead not guilty and that the cases will go to a higher court.

Mr. Reickhoff formerly owned a box factory at New Duluth, but his business failed and on the day that bankruptcy proceedings were filed the place burned down. It was never rebuilt.

AUGUST LIGHT MONTH FOR SUPERIOR POLICE.

August was a light month for the Superior police, only 273 arrests being recorded, in comparison with other months, when the number has been over 500. There were 151 plain drunks, 30 vags and 32 lodgers among the number. The report for August shows that twenty-nine business places were found open by the police and the proprietors notified; that eighteen children were restored to their parents after having been lost, and that an average of one person a day was taken home in an intoxicated condition.

SUPERIOR'S "WHITE WAY" WILL BE MAINTAINED.

Superior's "white way" will not be abandoned. It will be maintained partly at the city's expense, this being decided upon last evening at the meeting of the council. The property owners will also stand part of the cost.

The council appropriated $75 to send Fire Chief Olaf Johnson to Milwaukee to attend the annual convention of state fire chiefs, Sept. 19 to 22. Other matters of a routine nature were disposed of.

THREE SENTENCED BY JUDGE ROSS.

In circuit court yesterday, before Judge Frank A. Ross, three men were sentenced to terms at the state penitentiary and reformatory. A. W. Erickson, who stole $58, pleaded guilty and got three years. J. M. Howe admitted forgery and drew one year. George Brown, charged with assault with criminal intent, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one year at the Green Bay reformatory. The first two will go to Waupun. All three were from Barron county.

Enrollment Increased.

An increase of thirty-three over the registration of a year ago was noted yesterday at the first day's enrollment at the Superior high school. There were 521 students present at the opening, 168 of that number being freshmen. At the Nelson Dewey high school the enrollment was 105, of whom thirty-two were freshmen. The enrollment in all of the schools was fairly large. Actual class work will begin today.

Annual Camp Fire.

The second annual camp fire and clam bake of the Hector Swift camp of Spanish-American war veterans will take place tomorrow evening on Wisconsin point. A number of entertainment features has been prepared by the committee in charge. Both camps of Spanish-American war veterans from Duluth have been invited. It is expected that about forty will attend from Duluth and thirty-five from Superior.

Farm Products Display.

Under the direction of E. J. Delwiche, superintendent of the North Wisconsin Experimental farms, a display of Douglas county products took place this afternoon at the Parkland experimental station. Many business men and farmers attended. The publicity and the special committees of the Superior Commercial club accepted the invitation to attend.

Charity Workers to Meet.

A meeting of the directors of the Superior Public Welfare society, together with the representatives of the various charitable organizations of the city, will take place on the evening of Sept. 12 at the Commercial club. The object of the meeting will be to formulate plans for carrying on the work for the ensuing year.

Will Be Tried at La Crosse.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 6.—It was announced here today that the trial of the mayor and other defendants of Superior, Wis., on charge of padding the census of their city, would take place probably at the October term of the United States district court in this city. Judge Kenesaw M. Landis of Chicago will preside.

Fall Excursions Via the South Shore.

From Duluth, Sept. 8, 13, 15, 17, via St. Ignace and D. & C. steamers to Detroit, $12.50; Toledo, $13; Cleveland, $14; Buffalo, $14.50. Return limit approximately three weeks. Apply early for stateroom reservation. A. J. Perrin, general agent, 430 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

WILL INSPECT DAIRY FARMS IN THE STATE.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans are being made by J. G. Winkjer, state dairy and food commissioner, to inspect the Minnesota dairy farms. No effort has ever been made in this state to inspect the private farms, as was recommended by the chief of the government dairy division in his recent speech in Duluth.

RAIN

Mr. N. E. Wind is kicking up an awful fuss on Lake Superior. J. Pluvius is giving Duluth a respite, but the cold wind, the gray skies and the general atmosphere of fall is sufficiently depressing. However, Mr. Pluvius will not be off the job long, according to the sage on the hill. Rain this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow is the melancholy message that comes from the lookout tower today. To that is added, "brisk northeast winds." Oh, woe!!!

Threatening weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:34 and it will set at 6:39 this evening, giving thirteen hours and five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The low pressures centered Tuesday morning over Minnesota and Utah have advanced to Quebec and Kansas, respectively, light to heavy winds resulting throughout northern states and in most districts east of the Mississippi river. The Western Canada high pressure has caused cooler weather over the greater portion of the Northwest. Freezing temperatures continue in Northern Alberta. More or less rainy weather will prevail throughout Minnesota during the ensuing thirty-six hours in connection with the barometric depression overlying Kansas."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Upper Michigan—Unsettled with rain tonight or Thursday; cool.

Wisconsin—Unsettled tonight and Thursday with showers.

Minnesota—Unsettled tonight and Thursday with rain.

Iowa—Unsettled with showers tonight or Thursday; cooler in northwest portion tonight and in east portion Thursday.

North and South Dakota—Rain tonight; Thursday cloudy.

Montana—Cloudy tonight; Thursday generally fair; probably frost Thursday morning.

Upper lakes—Brisk and probably high northeast and east winds, shifting to northwest Thursday; rain tonight and probably Thursday.

SEPTEMBER CALENDAR HEAVIEST IN HISTORY

Nearly 300 Cases Set for Trial at Present Court Term.

With the call of the calendar by Judge William A. Cant of the district court, the September term of district court began this morning.

Out of a total of 320 cases on the calendar, 294 were set for trial; nineteen were continued; and seven were striken. The small number of continuances and the small number striken are a feature of the heaviest calendar experienced in the history of the local court.

Practically every attorney in the city attended the call and as the figures will show, they all wanted their cases marked for trial during the coming term.

Because a quorum of grand jurymen did not appear, the grand jury did not go into session for the consideration of criminal actions. Judge Cant dismissed those who were present and the sheriff was sent to round up the additional number required by law. The law requires at least sixteen jurymen to constitute a quorum.

Judge Cant is the presiding judge at this term of court. He will hear the divorce and criminal actions. The criminal calendar is the heaviest ever, there being fifty cases for trial later in the term. Nearly ever crime known is included. One strange fact about the criminal calendar is that there is but a new murder case for trial. As a general thing there is always at least one murder trial to a term. The case of Jackson McPherson, the man convicted of the murder of Otto Frank about a year ago and for whom the supreme court ordered a new trial after he had begun serving his life sentence at Stillwater, will probably be the only one to be tried on a murder charge. The cases include white slavery, forgery, assault, robbery and others.

The grand jury met again this afternoon at 2 o'clock and after receiving instructions from Judge Cant, went immediately into secret session. As there is nearly twice the usual number of criminal actions to consider, it is thought that they will be in session from two to three days with probably a fourth tacked on if they make trips of investigation to the poor farm and jail.

BEATTIE IS SURE HE IS TO GO FREE

it remains only for counsel of both sides to knit together the relevancy of the various testimony. The defense expects to make its strongest plea on the dangers of accepting circumstantial evidence, while the prosecution's main broadside will be delivered along the same lines which distinguished its rigid cross-examination of the prisoner and will center about the one question —"How did the same gun which Paul Beattie bought for his cousin Henry on Saturday, July 15, come to be in the hands of the alleged highwayman on Midlothian turnpike on the night of Tuesday, July 18?"

Admits Paul Bought Gun.

The defense has admitted by its witnesses that Paul purchased the very gun which was later identified by Henry as the one that killed his wife, but his only reason for the admission was that "there was blood on it," and because it was found not far from the scene of the crime.

The prisoner has denied, however, that he had seen or knew of the gun before the highwayman leveled at him on Midlothian turnpike.

The defense has attempted to puncture the story of Paul Beattie, the cousin of the accused, who not only told of the purchase of the weapon, but of the alleged confession of the prisoner to him having committed the crime. The defense, by numerous witnesses, endeavored to impeach the veracity of Paul as to his having transferred the gun to Henry on Saturday night, July 15, and by one witness, E. H. Neblitt, charged that Paul had a shotgun with him on Sunday, July 16, at the bridge where he was employed as a watchman.

The commonwealth introduced several witnesses to combat the testimony of Neblitt.

Other points in Paul's testimony of his meetings with Henry have been attacked, but the commonwealth considers that his story nevertheless remains intact in its main features.

Close Was Unexpected.

It was with unexpected brevity that both the commonwealth and the defense closed the evidence in the case shortly after 6 o'clock last night.

When court adjourned last night Beulah Binford, the "girl in the case," alleged by the prosecution to have been the motive for the murder by Beattie of his young wife, still was in jail without having uttered a single word of testimony. Scarcely an hour had passed in the eleven days of testimony when her name was not on the lips of witnesses or counsel for either side.

Admittedly fearing that she would scrupulously avoid injuring the case of her former companion, and since statements and interviews galore had fortified the prosecution with what is regarded as all necessary information, the commonwealth did not put her on the stand.

Another figure, Paul Beattie, cousin of the accused, whose confession concerning the purchase of a shotgun for Henry four days before the homicide led to the building of the case for the prosecution, likewise was kept in jail, but both he and the Binford girl were likely to be released at any time.

Judge Watson explained his attitude toward the girl's continued imprisonment by saying in the court room that unless the girl was to be put on the witness stand he wished her "turned loose."

May Release Girl.

Mrs. J. E. Binford, mother of Beulah, saw Judge Watson and attorneys for the prosecution today concerning the release of her daughter.

Judge Watson declared that unless something unforeseen developed he would issue an order for her release tomorrow.

The Binford girl received the news joyously. When asked if she knew why she had not been allowed to testify, she "guessed that they found out enough through other witnesses."

Paul Beattie, confined in the same jail, also expects his release tomorrow.

CRISIS IN THE I. C. TROUBLE MORE ACTIVE

as Kruttschnitt did at San Francisco.

The letter made public by the shopmen last night, in which Mr. Markham is informed that he will be responsible should a strike develop, was received by the Illinois Central head today.

Met His Assistants.

Mr. Kruttschnitt went direct to his offices, where he was in conference with his assistants for several hours.

Representatives of the nine crafts of Illinois Central shopmen and officers of the federated body resumed their conference behind closed doors shortly before 11 o'clock today to discuss the advisability of calling a strike. There is said to be a difference of opinion among the labor chiefs regarding what action shall be taken, which the eighteen-hour meeting held yesterday was unable to remove.

The leaders appear to be divided into three factions regarding a plan of action for the future. It is said that representatives of the federated body favor the calling of an immediate strike regardless of what action is taken by the shopmen on the Harriman lines.

A few of the international union officers are said to favor delaying any action of any kind until the outcome of the dispute on the Harriman lines is settled, while another element is in favor of submitting a plan of arbitration to the railroad.

No Decision in Sight.

Chairman W. F. Kramer, who is presiding at the conference of labor chiefs, said today:

"We are just where we were at this time yesterday. We have reached no decision, and I do not know when we will. I do not expect a reply to our last letter to President Markham of the Illinois Central."

When seen shortly before noon, Julius Kruttschnitt said:

"I am not interested in any official way in the Illinois Central railroad labor trouble and know nothing about it except what I have read in the newspapers. The Harriman lines and the Illinois Central are entirely independent and I do not see how I could be called in conference with President Markham.

"In regard to the situation on the Harriman lines there have been no new developments since I left San Francisco last Saturday. I have had no communication with the labor men, and they have had none with me. We were compelled to deny the demands of the men because of their unreasonableness."

Men Getting Restless.

President McCreery of the federation of Illinois Central employes said:

"The men want to strike and are growing very restless at the delay. I received word today that a few shopmen employed at the Burnside shops, just south of Chicago, took their tools with them when they went home from work last night, and will not return until some definite action is taken. I think it is due the men that some decision be reached today."

President Markham said he had received the letter sent by the labor unions, but had not decided whether he would answer it. He said there had been no new developments in the labor situation, and that the company had no statement to make.

No Effect in West.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 6.—Refusal of the officials of the Illinois Central to recognize the federation of shopmen of that system will not affect the situation on the Harriman system, according to a statement made by J. W. Kline, president of the Blacksmiths' union, who is chairman of the shopmen's committee, now in this city.

Kline said he had been in telegraphic communication with Secretary W. F. Kramer of the Blacksmiths' union in Chicago, and that the Illinois Central remained unchanged.

"If there is any likelihood of a strike being called back there it does not necessarily mean that such action will be taken here," said Kline. "There is not necessarily connection between that affair and the one in San Francisco. The only bond is a sympathetic one.

"The situation here remains the same. We shall go ahead with our arrangements and there will be a conference with the general committee just as soon as the members of that body arrive here."

Members of the general committee will reach here today, but it is not certain that a sufficient number will be here for the conference tomorrow.

—Second Floor.

Becoming Fall Millinery

—There's good showing of the new models in the millinery salon. These early hats are very chic, though unpretensive. In them one can readily see the helmet influence in their close fitting lines, though with a pleasing variation in their conical shaped crowns, which in most cases are draped with ribbon or velvet.

—Shapes are of felt, scratch felt, Ottoman and velvet, in a complete range of colors and priced at $3.98 and $4.98.

—Millinery Salon, Second Floor.

Silk Petticoats 2.95, Values to 4.95

—A fortunate trade chance brought this lot of taffeta and messaline petticoats to us at much under valuation. They are well made, with deep plain tailored flounce and dust ruffle, and there are light and dark shades as well as changeable colors, values to $4.95, special Thursday at $2.95.

—Second Floor.

Flannelette Gowns for 49c

—Full length garments of generous width, well made from pretty striped outing flannels, with high or "V" neck, special at 49c.

—Other gowns from good weight outing, plain white or pretty pink and blue striped, high or low necks, plain or trimmed at 98c.

—Third Floor.

Corset Covers 25c

—New lot of coset covers that are well made and trimmed with several rows of dainty lace, all ribbon run and in all sizes, special at 25c.

Muslin Drawers 25c

—You'll wonder at the splendid manner in which they are made. From good muslin and with deep ruffle, with cluster tucks, they're uncommon values at 25c.

—Third Floor.

23-inch Full Jointed Dolls--- Sale at 1.19, Value 1.75.

—Germany is noted for her manufacture of toys of various kinds, and especially dolls. An importation of ten dozen has just come to hand, and so good they look that we have decided not to hold them until Christmas, but to offer them now—Thursday. There are pretty blondes and handsome brunettes, with handsome sewed wigs; all have sleeping eyes and natural eye-lashes. The joints are all movable, and the feet are fitted with pretty shoes and stockings. The dolls stand 24 inches high and were bought to sell at $1.75. It's a rare good fortune for those that heed this announcement Thursday and get them at $1.19.

NEW JUDICIAL DITCH

Through Logan, Hebron and Bane Townships of Aitkin County.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge C. W. Stanton, in the chambers yesterday, had the preliminary hearing in the matter of the establishment of a judicial ditch through, Logan, Hebron and Bane townships of Aitkin county, known as Ditch No. 2. George A. Ralph, state drainage engineer, of St. Paul, was present. Phillip J. McCauley of St. Paul was appointed engineer. County Attorney Louis Hallum of Aitkin county appeared in behalf of the county board. Others present were W. Eastwood of Hebron township, Carl Taylor of Aitkin, John A. Jacobs of St. Paul, William A. Watts of Duluth, R. H. King of Aitkin, Mrs. J. Reich and Mrs. C. P. Chapman of Palisades. The ditch will be eighteen miles in length and will cost approximately $40,000.

SPECIAL ASSESSORS MAKE MANY FINDS.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to a statement made by the state tax commission, more than $100,000,000 will be reported in moneys and credits if assessors and special assessors continue obtaining increases as they have in the past.

Reports made by special assessors in five districts show a total of $65,556. The regular assessors reported $3,228. From Washington Lake, no return of moneys and credits was made, but the special assessor appointed to reassess the district, found $22,688. At Flaxton nothing was returned, but a special assessor found $2,560.

HOW TO KILL GRASSHOPPERS.

State Entomologist Gives Lessons at the Fair.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Insisting that the pestiferous grasshopper may be exterminated with little work, State Entomologist F. L. Washburn has a booth at the fair telling persons that sodium arsenite may be used as a spray for killing the pests. Hopper-dozers and burning of fields late in the fall to bury the eggs, and spraying again early in the spring, are pointed out.

A large poster is shown of a grasshopper playing an accordion and producing the soulful strains of "In This Wheat Bye and Bye." The concert is given in a wheatfield.

EIGHTEEN CHILDREN ARE AFTER ESTATE.

Mason City, Iowa, Sept. 6.—Eighteen children of the late William Christiansen, a farmer of Worth county, are fighting for his $75,000 estate. There are nine children on each side and each faction has three lawyers. He was twice married, having nine children by each wife. When he died a short time ago, he left his property to the children of the second wife, and the older children are seeking to break the will.

Held Court at Midnight.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At midnight in chambers, Judge C. W. Stanton heard the case of Theodore Mindrum, an Aitkin boy who pleaded guilty to the charge of grand larceny in the second degree. County Attorney Louis Hallum prosecuted the case and the judge heard the matter before returning to his home in Bemidji on the night train.

CONFESSES TO BURGLARY

Clifford Dwyer Admits Crime But Tries to Shield Cousin.

Stolen Plunder Hidden By Wife Is Returned to Police.

Self-confessed burglar with a former criminal record and suspected of being the masked street car bandit, Clifford Dwyer's first thought on being arrested was of his young wife and his child. His next was to absolve his chum and cousin, a former companion in crime, George Oven, of all blame for his latest exploit, the looting of a West end hardware store.

The two were arrested last week in Detroit with a part of the hardware store plunder in their pockets and were brought back to Duluth last evening by Detective Frank Schulte and Deputy Sheriff Levy. They were through the wreck of the Soo train near Fremont, Wis., yesterday without getting a scratch. On the way they told the officers that they were arrested because Oven could not stop turning his head to "rubber," at a Detroit policeman who chanced to be walking behind them thus attracting his attention to them.

Allowed to Visit Wife.

On the train Dwyer spoke constantly of his wife and baby. At the police station yesterday his first request was to be allowed to see her. When he was taken to his home on St. Croix avenue in the custody of the police his wife fell sobbing into his arms and he hugged and kissed her and then fondled the baby.

Pathetic were the efforts which the wife had made to shield her husband by concealing the evidence in the shape of several stolen rifles which he had in the house. Figuring out that the police would search the place, she sent Dwyer's young brother down to the bay with the three rifles and had him throw them into the water. Dwyer also knew that the guns were in the house, and realizing that the place would be searched, he told the police that they were there. Ia was partly to get them that the visit was made to the Dwyer home yesterday. Allowed to talk privately to his wife, she told him of her disposition of the guns, and he in turn informed the police, while she cried hysterically. The boy who had thrown them in the bay accompanied the police to the spot and recovered them.

Dwyer confessed to the police that he had entered the hardware store of Johnson & Peterson at 1918 West Superior street, stealing about $200 worth of rifles, revolvers, razors and jewelry. He says that he was accompanied by another man whom he does not know and declares emphatically that it was not Oven. He asserts that his cousin and pal had nothing whatever to do with the hardware store burglary, claiming that he and the strange man took the loot to his home and that he gave Oven the stuff which was found in Detroit. The police question their story, however, and state that it is not reasonable in view of the fact that they committed crimes together before. They say that there are also several inconsistencies in their statements which strengthen that conclusion.

Held to Grand Jury.

Oven and Dwyer were arraigned in police court this morning on charges of burglary in the third degree. They waived examination and were bound over to await the action of the grand jury, which is now in session. Bail in each case was fixed at $500.

Several street car men were called into the station this morning to learn whether or not they could positively identify them as the street car bandits, but as far as could be learned they were unable to do so having seen the hold-up men only with masks over their faces. The police think that they pulled off the recent jobs in Duluth and Superior, but this the prisoners deny. Mrs. Oven, mother of one of the prisoners, called at the station today to see her son. His father came to headquarters while she was talking with him.

Both young men are 21 years of age. Oven gave his occupation as a gardener and Dwyer stated that he is a machinist by trade.

INSPECTOR TAKES CHARGE

Former Winona Man Examines Candidates for Postal Station Jobs.

United States Post Office Inspector H. O. Smith, who was transferred to the Duluth district from Winona, arrived here this morning and took charge of his office.

This morning he held an examination of three applicants for the postal savings station which is to be installed here Sept. 15. It is probable that others will be examined also, as it has not been decided just how many men will be needed for the postal station. The duties of the men connected with the station are more difficult than at first appears, and the department is anxious to have the most competent men possible.

As the work on the modeling of the postoffice department for the establishment of the postal station will probably require from six to eight weeks, provision must be made in some other part of the postoffice for the new department. It is likely that one of the postal money order windows will be used while the repairs are being made.

Postmaster A. P. Cook is in receipt of many inquiries every day in regard to the station, some of which ask whether the department will be open evenings. Mr. Cook stated this morning that the office will be kept open evenings until 8 o'clock for the first few weeks at least, in order to accommodate the working men who are unable to come to the office on working days. If it is found that it is not patronized well in the evenings, it will be closed earlier.

DIRIGIBLE ON LONG JOURNEY

Zeppelin Ship Is Flying From Baden-Baden to Berlin.

Baden-Baden, Germany, Sept. 6.—The Zeppelin dirigible balloon Schwaben left this city with seven passengers at 6:05 o'clock this morning on an air voyage to Berlin. The airship is scheduled to make a stop today at Gotha, about half way between Baden-Baden and the German capital. The distance of the proposed flight is approximately 350 miles.

Passengers Reach Gotha.

Gotha, Duchy of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, Sept. 6.—The dirigible balloon Schwaben arrived here at half past 12 this afternoon by way of Frankfort. The passengers on the big airship were landed successfully.

SKATING AND CURLING RINK AT GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Norval Baptie of Bathgate, who once held the world's championship for ice skating, is here working with local enthusiasts for the establishment of a large skating and curling rink. A similar movement was started about two years ago, at which time $2,000 was raised, but as no competent man could be secured at the time to manage the rink it was dropped. That money is yet available.

BRAINERD PEOPLE WED

Miss Rose Poppenberg Is Bride of Judge W. S. McClenahan.

Ceremony Performed at Home of Rev. D. W. Lynch in West Duluth.

A wedding of interest, not only to Duluthians but also to the legal fraternity of the state, took place at West Duluth Monday evening, when Miss Rose Poppenberg of Brainerd became the bride of Judge W. S. McClenahan, judge of the district court of the Fifteenth judicial district.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. D. W. Lynch, pastor of St. James' Catholic church, 721 North Fifty-seventh avenue west. The wedding was a quiet affair, only intimate friends and relatives attending.

Judge McClenahan is known as one of the leading jurists of the state and has been on the bench for a number of years.

The bride is the daughter of County Commissioner and Mrs. Henry Poppenberg of Brainerd and is popular in her home town. Miss Margaret Cunneen, an instructor in the Irving school of this city, was bridesmaid at the wedding, and E. J. Kenney, former assistant city attorney, was groomsman.

After the wedding ceremony Judge and Mrs. McClenahan left on a wedding trip. They will live in Brainerd.

YOUNG WOMAN DIES.

Mrs. Anna Laurie Frazer Succumbs After Three Years' Illness.

Mrs. Anna Laurie Frazer, aged 30, wife of Fred Frazer, died last evening of pulmunary tuberculosis at her home, 115 Vermon street. She had been ill for three years.

A short funeral service will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence and at 2:30 o'clock at Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street. Burial will be in Oneota cemetery. Rev. William G. Boyle will officiate.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Frazer is survived by two children, a son, Alwood, aged 12, and a daughter, Ruth, 8 years old. She also leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Holt of 115 Vernon street, three brothers, George, Thomas and Louis and six sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Anderson, Mabel, Alice, Mrs. Hilda Mero, Mrs. Albert Swrove and Nora.

MARRIED AT WINNIPEG.

Miss Eva L. Seymour and William B. Dunn Surprise Friends.

Miss Eva L. Seymour and William B. Dunn surprised their friends in West Duluth by being married at Winnipeg, Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn returned to the city yesterday.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Seymour of 1002 South Seventy-second avenue west. The groom lived with his parents at Eighty-second avenue west and Grand avenue.

Miss Seymour was formerly a stenographer at the office of the American Carbolite company, West Duluth, but a month ago resigned her position to accept employment with a firm at Winnipeg. Last week Mr. Dunn, who is a railroad man, went to Winnipeg and the matrimonial knot was tied there.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn will reside in West Duluth.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED ON WIFE-BEATER.

Olaf Ellstrom, aged 56, blacksmith, arrested yesterday morning at the instigation of his wife, who charged him with assault, pleaded guilty before Justice Moran of the West Duluth court this morning and was fined $22.90 or thirty days. Sentence, however, was suspended for thirty days by the court. Ellstrom, his wife claims, came home drunk, beat her and after breaking up a number of dishes threw the family out of the house.

Five Days in Jail.

John P. Olson, a West Duluth dairyman, was given five days without the option of a fine when he was arraigned yesterday afternoon in police court on a charge of drunkenness. Olson was taken from his wagon in a deplorable state of intoxication on Labor day. This was his second offense within a few days.

West Duluth Briefs.

Frank Ehr, Carl McMillan, John Higgins and Jens Daugaard will leave tomorrow for a hunting trip.

David Hutchcraft, an instructor at the Irving school has returned to his work after spending the summer vacation at his home in Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Glover have returned to Chicago after a visit with West Duluth friends.

Roy Baker and Thomas Fitzgerald left this morning for a hunting trip near Rice lake, Minn.

Delmer Paradise has returned from a three weeks' visit at Tower, Minn., where he was the guest of his sister, Mrs. S. J. P. Lackie.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Stephen's German English Lutheran church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. Loll, 124 East Fifth street.

Hurst, watch repairing, West Duluth.

John Bjorke of 639 North Fifty-ninth avenue west left yesterday for the Twin Cities on a business trip.

The body of Mrs. Kate S. Johnstone, mother of Thatcher W. Johnstone of 518 Lake avenue north, who died yesterday morning at the Duluth hospital, will be sent to Chicago this evening. The funeral will be held there tomorrow.

The funeral of Rocki Morino, aged 32, who was drowned Saturday, took place this morning from the St. Peter's Italian Catholic church, Eleventh avenue west and Superior street, to Calvary cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Scott of 126 South Sixty-sixth avenue west have returned from a trip to St. Paul.

Miss Lillian Scott returned last evening on the steamer Hamonic from Port Arthur and Fort William, Ont., where she has been visiting with friends and relatives.

Swan Peterson of San Francisco, who has been visiting at the home of his brother, John Peterson, 605 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, left yesterday for his home. He will visit the state fair at Hamline while en route.

Miss Jennie Johnson of Marinnette, Wis., is visiting her sister, Mrs. William Janelle.

THE LAST HERALD BAND CONCERT

In "Old Kentucky" Pickaninnies and "Black Sousa" at Lincoln Park Sunday.

Next Sunday afternoon, Sept. 10, will be memorable as the date for the last Herald band concert of the season at Lincoln park. For this occasion The Herald has secured the reknowned pickaninny band of the "In Old Kentucky" company, the little darkies who have played themselves into the hearts of thousands of people all over the country, and make up one of the features of the popular melodrama.

JOHN POWELL
In "Old Kentucky."

The band will be lead by Maj. John Powell, "The Black Sousa," recognized wherever he has performed as one of the best conductors in the country. He makes a specialty of the catchy, tuneful sort of music that people whistle for weeks after hearing, and that is the kind of program which will be given Sunday. The little negroes, under the leadership of the major, will perform from 3 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Lincoln park.

BEAT THEIR WAY FROM ST. PAUL

Boys Carrying Revolver Are Arrested, But Released Later.

Beating their way from St. Paul to visit relatives at Lakeside, Louis Graves and Lester Hill reached Duluth last night. Each is 17 years old.

They started to walk to the suburb and ran into Patrolman Connor at Twenty-third avenue west and Superior street about 3 o'clock this morning. Remembering the fate of Patrolman Harry Chesmore, who was murdered by the Hotel McKay bandits last January, the first thing the policeman did was to search both of them. He found a cheap revolver in Graves' hip pocket. He placed him under arrest on a charge of carrying concealed weanons and sent both the boys to headquarters.

Graves pleaded guilty in police court this morning but sentence was suspended after the gun had been confiscated. The police concluded that the boys meant no harm and turned them both loose. They said they would go back to their homes at St. Paul.

OBITUARY

Armand Cochefert, a former noted chief of the detective service of Paris, is dead. He was born in 1850. M. Cochefert played a prominent role in the Dreyfus trial. He was a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

William Jerome Brown, 63 years old, widely known as a plow expert and demonstrator, is dead at his home in Minneapolis. He started in life as a blacksmith with Deere & Co., at Moline, Ill., and his early training was under such men as John Deere, C. H. Deere, S. H. Velie, Gilpin Moore and C. O. Mason. He assisted in the establishment of the St. Paul Plow works.

Mrs. Katherine Cecil Thurston, the Irish authoress, was found dead this morning at a hotel in Cork, Ireland.

Mrs. Thurston was a native of Cork and married in 1901 Ernest Charles Thurston, with whom she was the joint author of several popular novels. Among here books were "The Masquerader" and "Max."

The couple lived happily until 1907, when, according to Mrs. Thurston, her husband informed her it was necessary that he should live his life for the purpose of literary work. Mrs. Thurston was granted a divorce in the spring of 1910.

Upon retiring Tuesday night, Mrs. Thurston was in her usual health. Apoplexy is given as the cause of her death.

CITY NOTICES.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED VACATION.
Notice is hereby given that there has been filed of record in my office as City Clerk of the City of Duluth a petition for the vacation of the alley lying between Fifth and Sixth streets from Twenty-fifth avenue east to Twenty-sixth avenue east.
The object of the proposed vacation is that the alley is unnecessary and that from the character of the adjacent property, it would be benefited by the vacation of the alley.
Said petition will be heard and considered by the Committee of the Common Council on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks on Monday, Oct. 9, 1911, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., in the City Clerk's office in the City Hall in the City of Duluth, at which time and place said committee will hear the testimony and evidence on the part of parties interested.

RELIEF WORK FOR WINTER

Subject Will Be Discussed at Conference of Charities.

Every Society in City Asked to Send Delegate to Meeting.

From present indications every charitable society in the city will be represented at the meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 27, at Memorial hall. The meeting is under the auspices of the Associated Charities and the purpose is to talk over and discuss relief work for the coming winter months.

Some time ago notices of the meeting were sent out by Secretary Courtenay Dinwiddie of the Asociated Charities and in nearly every instance each society has promised to have a representative at the meeting.

Every one interested in charitable work is invited to attend. Notices have been sent to every known society which includes the church societies as well as those organized purposely for the doing of charitable work. If any have been overlooked the officers of the Associated Charities say that they consider the newspaper notices an invitation to attend.

In the notices recently sent out the following explanation of the purpose of the meeting is made:

"This meeting is for the purpose of securing a clear understanding of just what fields of social and relief work are or will be covered by the different societies and churches during the coming fall and winter.

"When the organization of the Associated Charities was being planned, representatives of the different societies, attending the preliminary meetings, agreed that it should be a centralizing agency, and not another relief society to duplicate those already existing. Last winter a tentative plan of distributing the city among the different societies and churches for the relief of destitution was adopted. It is to perfect this plan, or to adopt any modification of it that seems best, that the meeting will be held.

"Please discuss the matter thoroughly with the other officers or members of your society or church and come or else send a representative prepared to say what relief work you can do this fall and winter."

PRAISES RECIPROCITY.

Secretary Wilson Makes Address at Nebraska Fair.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 6.—Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson delivered an address at the Nebraska state fair here yesterday afternoon in which he warmly commended the reciprocity agreement with Canada and dwelt at length on the beneficial results which he believed would accrue from its adoption.

Secretary Wilson declared that it would be to the advantage of both countries. In connection with possible results of the proposed agreement, he dwelt exhaustively upon farming conditions, wages and export conditions prevailing in Canada as compared with the United States, declaring that the farmer in Canada labored under weather conditions so severe as to more than compensate for what other advantage he might have.

The most important advantage to be found for the United States, he declared to be access to Canadian woods, and the next free access for trade in agricultural products aside from the great cereal staples.

POSTAL CLERKS WANT AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 6.—Resolutions favoring the eight-hour day for postal clerks were passed in the executive session of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, in convention here. The postal clerks are the only federal employes who are not affected by the eight-hour working day law.

Congressman Kendall was among the speakers at last night's meeting.

WILL STUDY ORDINANCES

Officers Will Be Supplied With Booklets Containing Police Regulations.

City Jail Will Be Condemned By State, Unless Improved.

Duluth "cops" will be equipped with booklets containing the police ordinances and the amendments which have been passed since 1905.

At the request of Chief Troyer the council last evening authorized him to advertise for 200 such booklets, to be prepared by him and the city attorney.

The chief told the council, in a communication, that without the ordinances in some such concrete form it is impossible for the members of the force to become familiar with them. He stated that at present they are contained in large volumes, including the charter and the bound forms of the council proceedings.

The state board of control informed the aldermen last evening that unless steps are taken within thirty days to improve the lockup at headquarters, it will have to be condemned. The board asserted that it has called the attention of the city officials to the condition of the jail several times previously. Acting upon the communication the council directed the chief of police to make such recommendations for repairs or changes as he may deem necessary. The committee on city property stated that it is apparent that if the jail is to be thrown open to mendicants during the winter months it will have to be enlarged. It also asserted that $300 had been spent on the station last March, and that in view of the fact that it is uncertain how long the jail will be used, it would not be advisable to spend any great sum on it.

Chief Troyer reported that he would not deem it fair to Lieut. Wilcox of the West Duluth station to have his office used jointly by the justice of the peace at that end of the city. He said that the officer in charge at that end of the city should have his private office available for use at all times, and that when it was used before by the justice, the practice had become a nuisance, as the office was often filled with people when it was deemed necessary to use it for police purposes.

A petition was received asking for the installation of a city scale at Lake avenue and Fifth street. The petitioners stated that they reside in that vicinity and have been buying their feed from farmers in the nearby country. They said that the nearest city scale is now on Fourth street and that the farmers sometimes refuse to go down the hill four blocks and return with their loads.

A petition was received asking that the board of public works be directed to discontinue the proceedings for the improvement of Glenwood street between Fifty-fourth and Sixtieth avenues east and to cancel the preliminary assessment. The petitioners state that there is no public necessity for the improvement and that the benefits will not warrant the cost.

City Engineer McGilvray reported that the Steel Plant Transfer railway is willing to pay for the removal of 11,386 cubic yards of earth at 35 cents a yard in return for permission to reduce the grade of Commonwealth avenue three feet, adjacent to the gulch where the big bridge was recently burned. The dirt will be taken from the slopes on the south side. The council authorized the city officials to enter into a contract with the road to that effect. The grade will be reduced to enable teams to pass underneath the railroad bridge.

The Rust-Parker-Martin company asked the council to abate the sewer nuisance adjacent to its new building on Lake avenue north. The company claimed that the stench is so foul that in order to occupy its offices it would be necessary to keep the windows closed continually.

The council authorized the construction of a culvert over the creek at Twelfth avenue west and Michigan street, the cost to be paid from the street intersection and storm sewer fund, upon which it would fall should the street be improved in the future. After the culvert is built it will be possible to do considerable filling at small expense at that pace.

The railroad company which has tracks on Railroad street was directed to discontinue the practice of allowing its cars to stand on the street for long periods of time, thus blocking traffic. This is in violation of the ordinances.

Mayor Cullum and Alderman Shartel were appointed delegates to the next convention of the League of American municipalities, to be held at Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 4, 5 and 6.

The board of fire commissioners was directed to reject all bids for the repairs to the fire hall at Duluth Heights and to readvertise. One bid of $353 was received, which was in excess of the amount allowed for the work.

FORESTRY PLAN IS SUCCEEDING

System of Patrols and Protection Is Proving Valuable.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Forest fire fighters fared finely under the improved plans carried out by the forestry bureau as the result of lessons learned from last year's destructive fires.

Reports from government forest supervisors throughout the country show that the plans of building trails erecting telephone lines and keeping in closest possible touch at all times with everybody who might be of assistance in helping to fight incipient as well as larger fires, has worked satisfactorily.

CLEARED OF CHARGE OF KILLING HUSBAND.

Covington, Ky., Sept. 6.—Mrs. Ann May Readnower, who was arrested during the trial of her second husband on the charge of murdering her first husband, Annis, was acquitted in the Kenton county court here. Mrs. Readnower had come from her home in Vincennes, Ind., to Covington, to testify for her second husband. Readnower at his trial last week established an alibi for himself and later did the same for his wife.

NORTHERN ROUTE BEST

Farmers and Business Men of Carlton County Hold Meeting.

Favor Northern Route for Trunk Line From Moorhead to Duluth.

Carlton, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the largest meetings of farmers and business men ever held in Carlton county to discuss a public highway met at the courthouse here Monday to talk over the proposed trunk line between Moorhead and Duluth, and its route through this county. People were here from Wright, Cromwell, Sawyer, Cloquet, Kalavala and Moose Lake, besides a number from this city who attended the meeting. It was the regular meeting of the board of county commissioners. Chairman William Kelley being absent there was no official action taken on the matter of designating the highway through this county, but the board will convene again at 10 o'clock Saturday and will act on this proposition.

At the meeting of the good roads conference of the Northern Minnesota Development association held at Brainerd week before last, C. F. Manke of Moose Lake was the only representative of Carlton county in attendance. As he is secretary of the Carlton County Development association he has generally been delegated to represent the county at such gatherings as the one at Brainerd. On that occasion, however, he was representing the Commercial club of Moose Lake. His efforts were directed toward having the trunk line of highway designated by the different county boards so as to enter Carlton county at section 19, 46-21, which would be to the north of Mille Lacs lake and cut out Aitkin and come on straight cast through Moose Lake.

Refused to Designate It.

The Aitkin commissioners positively refused to designate that route, as the line had followed the Northern Pacific railway all the way from Moorhead and the natural supposition was that it should keep on. Mr. Manke then proposed to have the route pass to Aitkin and thence in a southeasterly course down to Moose Lake, being a route actually at least twenty-five miles longer, with the added expense of keeping up that much, and then turn back northeast on up through Barnum and Carlton.

It was discussed at length at the meeting Monday, the Moose Lake delegates advocating the longer route, while representatives from Aitkin county and all the towns along the line west from Carlton to the county line were in favor of establishing the route through between townships 48 and 49, which would hit the county line about one mile north and five miles west of Wright, and then follow the township line straight on east through the towns of Wright, Cromwell, Sawyer, Corona, Pine Grove and Carlton.

At the meeting of the commissioners Monday the exponents of the southern route claimed that some $7,000 had already been expended on the road between Atkinson and Mahtowa, and it was now in passable condition and the route should be completed the entire course for about $1,000, while on the northern route the road was not passable at present and would require some $20,000 to build it into condition to fill the requirements of the trunk line.

Would Cost Much More.

Advocates of the northern route say that, as long as this is to be an automobile road, it will cost more than $20,000 to put the southern route into proper shape, as it is only a wagon road west from Moose Lake now. Figures at the county auditor's office disclose that only a total of $2,510.53 has been expended on the road between Barnum and Mahtowa, instead of $7,000 as claimed by the Moose Lake speakers. Those who live along the northern route say that there is but a comparatively small part of it that is not passable at present, that they propose to take advantage of the Elwell law and get this road completed and that it will thus give the county added highway which has been long needed, and that it is an imposition on the traveling public, the automobile owners, the taxpayers and everybody except the town of Moose Lake to have the road pass down twenty-five miles farther south and back for the sole purpose of letting Moose Lake have the honor of a trunk line of highway pass through her limits.

Carlton county at the present time has only $10,000 to be expended on roads and improvements, but next year under the Elwell law it can spend $30,000, so that this line could be completed in one year's work and still have some left to expend on other parts of the county. The route from Carlton west to Wright has long been needed and if the declared friends of the county wish to prove themselves friends of the whole county instead of Moose Lake, they would endeavor to build up this western part instead of trying to keep it down.

WILL BID FOR OCEAN MAILS

New Steamship Company Incorporated With $15,000,000 Capital.

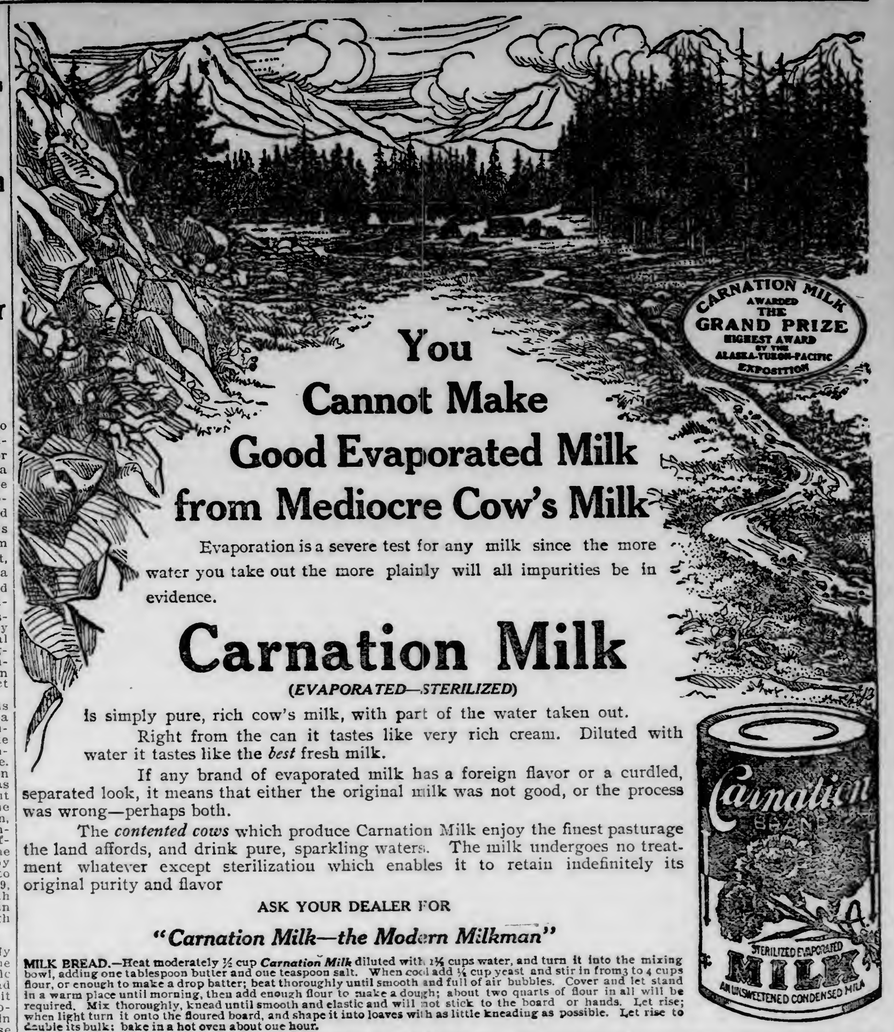

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 6.—Announcement is made of the incorporation of the Atlantic & Pacific Transport Company of New Jersey, with an authorized capital of $15,000,000. The incorporations are B. N. Baker, James S. Whiteley, C. G. Helm, T. B. Harrison of Baltimore, former president, vice president, treasurer and secretary respectively of the Atlantic Transport company, and Adrian H. Boole of Washington, formerly of the Wilson Steamship lines of Hull, Eng.

According to the announcement, the company has been formed to bid on the ocean mail service now being advertised for by the postmaster general, which calls for weekly service between New York and Colon; New Orleans and Colon; San Francisco and Panama, and fortnightly between Seattle and Panama.

The company, according to its announcement, is planning the construction, for the projected service, of fifteen speedy steamers that will embrace the latest developments in ocean comfort and luxury and comply with all the requirements of the "ocean mail act."

Prefers Death to Schools.

Joplin, Mo., Sept. 6.—Preferring death to attendance at school, Homer Davenport, son of Benjamin Davenport, who lives near here, killed himself. The boy shot himself through the heart and fell dead at the feet of his father.

You Cannot Make Good Evaporated Milk from Mediocre Cow's Milk

Evaporation is a severe test for any milk since the more water you take out the more plainly will all impurities be in evidence.

Carnation Milk
(EVAPORATED—STERILIZED)

Is simply pure, rich cow's milk, with part of the water taken out.

Right from the can it tastes like very rich cream. Diluted with water it tastes like the best fresh milk.

If any brand of evaporated milk has a foreign flavor or a curdled, separated look, it means that either the original milk was not good, or the process was wrong—perhaps both.

The contented cows which produce Carnation Milk enjoy the finest pasturage the land affords, and drink pure, sparkling waters. The milk undergoes no treatment whatever except sterilization which enables it to retain indefinitely its original purity and flavor

BOOSTERS' EXCURSION

Duluth Men Make Railroad Arrangements for Trip Through Wisconsin.

Railroads Seem Glad to Cooperate With Duluth Trade Getters.

Carl F. Rowe and Harry A. Earnshaw of the Duluth Traffic commission have returned from the Twin Cities where they completed arrangements for the next Boosters' Trade Extension excursion, which is to take place on Oct. 3, 4 and 5.

They report that they were successful, through the kindness of Vice-President Martin and General Passenger Agent Calloway of the Soo Line, in securing for this second trip the same splendid equipment that was used by the Boosters on the recent Minnesota excursion. The train will include several Pullmans a buffet, dining car and all the modern conveniences. Those who were on the first trip unanimously declared that the equipment could not have been surpassed for the purpose.

The rate will be straight 2 cents a mile, in addition to what is paid for meals, sleeping accommodations and other incidentals. The whole itinerary will include 415 miles. Of this journey more than 200 miles will be over the Soo Line. The rest will be divided between the Northern Pacific and Northwestern roads. The Soo will take general charge of the train throughout the excursion, and will attend to getting the service not only on its own roads but on the others as well.

Mr. Calloway, in whose department the operating details of the schedule will be arranged, showed to Mr. Rowe and Mr. Earnshaw a spirit of co-operation that insures his personal interest in the success of the excursion, and nothing will be left undone by the railroad people to make the trip both profitable and pleasant. It is probable that a number of railway officials will accompany the excursionists.

The train will go over the Northern Pacific from Duluth to Bayfield, Wis.; over the Northwestern through Washburn, Ashland, Odanah and Saxon, Wis., and Ironwood, Hurly, Bessemer and Wakefield, Mich.; over the Soo through Mellen, Abbottsford, Eau Claire, Rice Lake and Chippewa Falls, Wis.; and over the Northwestern through Bloomer and Spooner, Wis., and other towns back to Duluth.

Details will be more fully arranged at a meeting of the wholesalers' committee, which will be held on Saturday during the noon hour at the Duluth Commercial club.

INDIANS IN OKLAHOMA HOLD GREEN CORN DANCE.

Chickasa, Okla., Sept. 6.—On the Waseta river, eight miles west of here, 300 members of the Caddo, Delaware and Wichita tribes of Indians, for three days have been holding their annual green corn dance. The Indians have been dancing without intermission day and night. When one was exhausted another took his place in the circle. The festivities closed last night with the war dance of the chiefs.

WHY DID THEY PICK MINNESOTA?

Why did the railroads pick out Minnesota, alone among the states that have reduced railroad rates, for a demonstration of their ability to get away from state laws like the 2-cent fare law of 1907?

If that question hasn't occurred to you, Mr. Minnesota Citizen, it is high time it did, and high time you gave it a good deal of earnest, careful thought.

North Dakota reduced the railroad passenger rate by state law from 3 cents to 2½ cents.

Wisconsin reduced the railroad passenger rate by state law from 3 cents to 2 cents.

Iowa reduced the railroad passenger rate by state law from 3 cents to 2 cents.

Minnesota reduced the railroad passenger rate by state law from 3 cents to 2 cents.

But—

The railroads took the Minnesota law into the Federal courts and got it knocked out by the Sanborn decision. On July 1 the passenger rate was restored to 3 cents.

So that the passenger fare now is 3 cents in Minnesota.

But it is still 2½ cents in North Dakota, 2 cents in Wisconsin and 2 cents in Iowa.

Why did the railroads single out Minnesota in this manner?

Why is it that they have succeeded in getting back to the 3-cent rate, the rate that has been in force for a generation without any change except the brief one brought about by the 2-cent rate law of 1907, in Minnesota, while they have not even attempted to over-ride the state laws which make the rate 2 cents in Iowa and Wisconsin and 2½ cents in North Dakota?

There must be some reason for this. There is a reason for it. And it is time that every citizen of Minnesota set his wits to working to find out that reason.

Could it be that the railroads singled out Minnesota for this unenviable distinction because they realized that they were perfectly safe from any interference on the part of the administration of this state?

If that is the reason the present condition fully justifies their confidence.

Though the railroads have restored the old rates on both passengers and freight in Minnesota, no move of any kind has been made by the state administration.

Though the railroads are taking their pound of flesh without abating a jot of their demands, and though it has been shown again and again that railroad property isn't taxed half enough in this state, the administration hasn't even made a move toward bringing about fair taxation of railroad property.

If the railroads picked out Minnesota for attack because they were assured that they would not be disturbed in any way by the state administration, and that no move would be made in behalf of the interests of the people, the present condition of inactivity on the part of the administration shows that the railroads knew what they were about.

And if that is the condition in Minnesota, if the railroad interests can over-ride state law, defy public sentiment, and laugh at the plight of a state denied the right to regulate rates, though every state around it has that right, then it is time the people of Minnesota did something very positive, very aggressive and very revolutionary to change it.

Shall Minnesota be governed by special interests for special interests, or by the people for the people?

That is the present issue in this state.

THE WOOL BILL NO "MAKESHIFT".

President Taft's statement that the wool bill which he vetoed was hastily drawn, not based on proper information and not "scientific" was an ill-considered error that will rise to plague him often during the campaign that is close at hand.

Few of his most ardent supporters are willing to go so far as to confirm this statement. Most of them are glad to distract attention from the subject by pretending great indignation about the cotton bill, which confessedly was no such matured measure as was the wool bill. The president, however, made his charge sweeping, and it included the wool bill no less than the cotton bill or the farmers' free list.

The facts in the case, which should not be forgotten by any citizen who in forming his decision on how to vote in November, 1912, wants to know all the facts, are thus accurately presented by the Philadelphia North American:

"That bill was built upon the work of Dolliver of Iowa, the work that cost this country the life of that great public servant. The data upon which Dolliver based the most exhaustive and concededly the most correct presentation of the case ever made, were gathered by experts whose qualifications were admitted by the woolen trust and by the present administration, and that admission is written in the government records.

"And it was that work of Dolliver that was taken up, developed, improved and perfected by La Follette that enabled the senator from Wisconsin to meet the Democratic house conferees, not with one vague theory, but with three definite statutes, each containing an irreducible minimum of legitimate protection, but each contained the relation between the duties on raw wools and those on manufactures essential for a scientific tariff.

"Mr. Taft vetoed that bill.

"Concerning the farmers' free list bill, it would be folly to say that it was a scientific measure. It could not be. For it was intended only to be complementary to the utterly unscientific reciprocity agreement with Canada. Standing alone, the bill was not praiseworthy from any sane economic viewpoint. It was just a chance offered for a partial reparation; an opportunity presented to make a wrong to 30,000,000 Americans less grievous; just a life-preserver thrown toward a president.

"When administration utterances during the reciprocity debates are recalled, the veto of the farmers' free list bill by Mr. Taft speaks for itself concerning the worth of promises by some men in public life."

In making the wool bill Chairman Underwood, Senator La Follette, and others who participated in its framing, had the advantage of the profound researches made by Senator Dolliver, based on information furnished by admitted experts. Instead of being the least studied of tariff measures, as Mr. Taft has charged, it was the best studied of tariff measures, compromise though it was. And beyond all this, it offered the people real relief from the oppressions of tariff schedules the president himself had admitted to be "indefensible"; yet the president denied them this relief.

The farmers' free list bill, based on an academic concession that the farmers are right in their belief that it was wrong to remove the tariff from their products while leaving it on the necessities they must buy, complemented the reciprocity agreement by giving the farmers tariff concessions to offset their imagined losses through reciprocity.

And the president even denied them that concession.

VANISHED SIMPLICITY.

Savoyard, in his letter to The Herald published last evening, deplores the passing of the old time Jacksonian simplicity in public affairs.

He and others may deplore, but simplicity has vanished, and nearly every public official who can manage it likes to put on as many lugs as the public treasury and the public watchfulness—or lack of it—will permit.

Savoyard's reflections are caused by the fact that the new building for the state department is going to have several gorgeous suites of rooms and a magnificent dining room for state banquets with "a grand chef with subordinates and attendant scullions and turnspits besides waiters and lackeys." This outfit is to be used in entertaining foreign notabilities, and we hope they will enjoy themselves there.

But simplicity—it is not. It has vanished, along with the plain living and high thinking of a former and poorer generation. Lavish display is the order of the hour, and it is not surprising to find it creeping into public life. Andy Jackson would have fourteen conniption fits every day if he should come back to earth.

Nor is the new fashion confined to the Federal government. In the same issue of The Herald in which Savoyard told about these splendors to be installed in the new state department building there was a local story discussing how many automobiles the county board will buy for county officials. Automobiles for public officials is also quite the order of the day, and providing them seems to get almost as much attention—almost, we said—as measures for keeping the tax rate within limits that are comfortable to the common or garden variety of taxpayers who cannot hope to own any automobiles.

Simplicity in public life is, indeed, a thing of yesterday. So are low tax rates.

SENSE ABOUT RECIPROCITY.

Common sense of the most refreshing kind was shown in the speech on reciprocity made yesterday in Portsmouth, England, by Charles E. Mallet, ex-financial secretary to the war office and former member of parliament from Plymouth.

Contrasted with the arguments used against reciprocity in this country by the "progressives" and in Canada by the Tories, his remarks are like a clear, penetrating beacon light dissipating darkness.

In one sentence he disposed effectually of the silly fear that freer trade between Canada and the United States will or can lead to the absorption of Canada by the United States: "The Canadian nationality is far too great a living force today to be swallowed up in the United States."

As to British interference in this matter of local self-government, he said that if Great Britain attempted to interfere with the Canadian-American arrangement, the government would not only be violating one of the first maxims of the British empire, namely, fiscal freedom for the self-governing dominions, but it would be "asking the greatest British colony to turn her back on the greatest market in the world."

A very absurd request that would be, and a very absurd thing it would be to heed it if it were made.

The removal of restrictions on trade between Canada and the United States will profit and strengthen both countries, and strengthening Canada is strengthening the British empire.

STEADINESS BETTER THAN SPURTS.

The Duluth baseball club did not lack glory in the season just closed. It fell short of the pennant itself, but it made a timely spurt toward the end that brought the pennant as near to Duluth as Superior, and clearly that's better than having it as far away as Winona. Though its performances were decidedly uneven, there were bursts of speed and skill that warmed the hearts of loyal Duluth fans.

Nevertheless, a good thing to be remembered for 1912 is that Duluth is the biggest city in the league, that it ought to have a pennant-winning team, and that it isn't the team that jumps up occasionally out of a morrass of mediocrity in a blaze of glory, only to slump back again immediately, that wins pennants and the undying loyalty of the home town.

THE STEEL CAR PROVED AGAIN.

When the Soo passenger train from Chicago ran through an open switch yesterday it proved once more that the steel passenger car is the best assurance of safety yet devised.

Though several were killed and a number injured, and the cars were badly damaged, none of them were splintered into kindling wood, as the case often is where wooden coaches go through such an experience; and judging from the reports of those who were on the train it is due to that fact that more people were not killed.

Even in the strongest kind of a car it is dangerous business to run off the track, and the liability to injury is great. But there is all the difference in the world between a passenger car that holds together and merely shakes its passengers up like dice in a box, and one that promptly collapses into a pile of debris, crushing its inmates.

The steel passenger coach is standing up well under severe trials, and it is amply justifying those who favor its general adoption.

Of course that is some campaign that Canada is having, but just wait until the real fighting starts on this side of the line next year.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writter, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

RELIGIOUS DISCUSSIONS AND THE NEWSPAPERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I will take advantage of your open court column and ask you a question about your stand on the discussion of religious differences. Why do you bar such discussions and at the same time devote three and a half columns to reporting the annual council of the Sixth Missionary department? It is absolutely impossible for you to make such an elaborate report of this meeting without it being construed as putting your stamp of approval upon the matter therein contained.

You are thereby using your influence to further or increase the power of a certain religious sect and if you as a newspaper can discuss such matters you ought not to refuse your columns for such discussion to your subscribers.

The fact that you discuss these subjects, and do not let your subscribers do so goes to show that your paper is not an independent newspaper. Yours truly, L. N. LEE.

Twin Valley, Minn., Sept. 5.

(Mr. Lee might as well argue that because The Herald reports a murder trial, it approves of murder; or because it reports a war, it approves of war. The comparison may be an unfortunate one, but no reflection is intended on the churchmen. It is merely used to show the difference between the news and editorial columns of a newspaper. If Mr. Lee has any news of general interest, regarding whatever religious sect he belongs to, The Herald will be glad to publish it.—The Editor.)

INDEPENDENCE ONLY A RELATIVE TERM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please print this article in the open court column.

The first thing that I noticed when I began to inspect The Herald was that it was an independent newspaper. The first question that came to my mind was this: Independent of what?

It strikes me that your paper, as well as all other papers, is very much dependent. Your paper is dependent upon its subscribers and advertisers for its existence, and the advertisers are dependent upon the consumers and the consumers are dependent upon the producers.

A producer is always a consumer but a consumer is not always a producer. Consequently a consumer who is not a producer is absolutely useless to society and should not be given any consideration whatever. All laws should be passed in favor of the producer thereby giving him the full products of his labor and then let those who want the benefits of those laws take advantage of those laws by doing such labor as the law designates as useful labor. We all know that there is a great amount of useless labor performed. If the energy expended in this useless labor was turned in to useful labor a great deal more wealth would be created.

I will conclude by stating my opinion of how near a newspaper can come to being independent and that is that the newspaper is dependent upon the producer and that it lets the producer know that it is dependent upon him. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE S. HEIBERG,
Twin Valley, Minn., Sept. 2.

PARK RAPIDS MAKES A BID FOR PUBLICITY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The Commercial Club of Park Rapids may be presumptuous but it is of the opinion that the headwaters of the Mississippi should be the starting point of the aeroplane race to the Gulf.

The Commercial Club of Park Rapids, assisted by the business interests of the county, will guarantee the same fund as guaranteed by the city of Minneapolis and our state will be advertised from the tiny source of the Mississippi throughout its entire course.

We have many beautiful lakes, any one of them large enough to start the ship on its way. Or should the promoters prefer land as a starting point, we have an open prairie surrounding our village, of an entire township in extent. Starting this trip from the source of the Mississippi, the entire state will become interested in a project that will become historical.

It will do no injury to your great city to give this idea some encouragement and consideration. Our little city will appreciate any assistance you may give and will enter heartily into any plan that will make this "Flying Trip" from the source of the Mississippi to the Gulf one that will be the talk of the entire country.

U. S. G. HENRY,
President of Commercial Club.
W. M. TABER,
Mayor of Park Rapids, Minn.

What It Costs Workingmen to Live.

In "The Pilgrim's Scrip" of The American Magazine for September there is an interesting investigation of the cost of living among workingmen. In part, it says:

"After a searching analysis of the family budgets of 316 workingmen's families living in New York, Dr. Chapin says: 'An income under $800 is not enough to permit the maintenance of a normal standard. Whether an income between $800 and $900 can be made to suffice is a question to which our data do not warrant a dogmatic answer. An income of $900 or over probably permits the maintenance of a normal standard, at least so far as the physical man is concerned.'

"Studies in Homestead, Buffalo and Baltimore confirm for these cities the conclusions for New York City. A family can, therefore maintain efficiency on about $3 a day in the leading eastern cities.

"This statement is interesting, but it can never be truly effective until we learn how many men get $3 per day.

"The most reliable average wage data are furnished by Massachusetts and New Jersey, Michigan, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Pennsylvania. A study of these shows that the average wages of all employes range, in the leading industries, from $450 to $600 per year—seldom rising above the latter figure except in industries like petroleum and malt liquors, for which considerable skill is required and in which males only are employed; seldom falling below except in industries like confectionery and paper boxes, which employ a majority of women, and in which the average annual earnings is less than $400.

"In view of all of the evidence, it is fair to say that the adult male wage workers in the industries of that section of the United States lying east of the Rockies and north of the Mason and Dixon line receive a total average annual wage of about $600; that this falls to $500 in some of the industries employing the largest numbers of persons, but rises to $700 or even to $750 in a few highly skilled industries. That the average annual earnings of adult females in the same area is about $350, with a very slight range, in the industries employing large numbers of adult females."

Her Two Complaints.

Lippincott's: Edward, the colored butler of a lady in Washington, had recommended his mother for the position of cook, but when the applicant came the lady noticed that she was not very strong looking.

"Do you suppose you will be able to do the work, Auntie? You don't look very healthy."

"Yes, ma'am, I is able; I ain't nuvver been no ways sickly in my life—ain't nuvver had nuthin' but smallpox an' Edward."

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Not Even Consistent.

Cannon Falls Beacon (Rep.): Mr. Taft's vetoes have been without ground work of reason save political expediency. They are lacking even in the virtue of consistency.

A Fair Statement.

Preston Times (Rep.): The charge that the Democratic tariff legislation, which Taft vetoed, was hasty and illy considered, seems to us without foundation. The special session just closed lasted as long as the special session which enacted the Payne-Aldrich law two years ago, and besides the framers of the Underwood bills had the advantage of all the testimony taken on the former occasion which was sufficiently recent not to have become obsolete. The Democratic tariff bills were no doubt imperfect, as such bills must be, but it is hardly fair to say that they were considered with undue haste. Four months is a long time.

Shocking!

Litchfield Independent: The degree of criticism of the president and his administration by the newspapers of this state depends, as our observation shows, upon whether the editor is also postmaster, or not. The postmaster-editor bears down very lightly on the administration.

Not At All Improbable.

Willmar Tribune: Victor Berger, the lone Socialist congressman, is accomplishing a great deal in congress in calling attention to the injustice of many things in present conditions. Many would-be wise editors who are now having sport with his proposals may live to see the day when Victor Berger's ideas, many of them, will be considered good laws.

Len's All Right.

Princeton Union: From the Menahga Journal we are pleased to learn that Hubbard county is waking up to the necessity of good roads and that splendid work is being done there under the direction of the deputy state engineer. There was no man in the last legislature more active in the cause of good roads legislation than Hon. L. H. Rice, one of the members from Hubbard county.

Railroads Guilty of Contempt?

Long Prairie Leader: One would naturally think that the court would have the railroad managers up for contempt. The court, after much deliberation, handed down a decision to the effect that a railroad company could not carry a passenger for less than 3 cents per mile without heading the company toward a receivership and bankruptcy. Immediately upon the announcement of this decision the railroad managers announced a 1½ cent rate for clergymen and a 2-cent rate for all those whom they have to carry oftenest and farthest. The action of the railroad men flatly repudiates the solemn declaration of the court.

Slave of the Interests.

Breckenridge Telegram (Rep.): The Sauk Center Herald man impertinently asks if Taft is inconsistent in vetoing the tariff reduction bills or if he is guilty of blind, unreasonable partisanship. The Payne-Aldrich bill was a direct violation of the Republican promise to reduce the tariff and the voters repudiated the party at the next congressional election as a rebuke for this perfidy. The Democratic house has passed several measures carrying out the pledges but Taft is busy with his little veto. We have reluctantly come to the conclusion that Taft is consistent only in his desires to stand by the interests whose willing slave he seems to be. It will not take much of a prophet to foretell the result of the next election if the Democrats put up a man in whom the common people have any confidence. They have lost what little faith and confidence they ever had in Taft.

The Country.

Life: The word "country," with its variants, such as "people," "nation," etc., is merely a convenient substitute for words to be concealed.

A case in point is the statement of Mr. Joseph T. Talbert, vice president of the National City bank, who, in commending Aldrich's big bank, said: "It will secure to the country all the advantages of a great central bank of discount for all banks, without the disadvantages of government competition in banking."

How much different that would sound if the word "bankers" were substituted for the word "country." Then the statement would be exactly true, for it is the bankers, not the country, that would suffer from the government competition.

But perhaps the gentleman was misled by the enthusiasm of the moment, no more realizing what his words meant than when he said the plan would secure "the centralization of the cash reserves of the nation." While that statement is true, it is also true that the cash reserves are now "centralzed" in the public treasury where they belong. The change proposed is to centralize them in a private treasury.

Bankers should be more accurate in their statements. They should learn how to make a sentence balance as well as a set of books.

Mother o' Mine.

If I were hanged on the highest hill,
Mother o' mine.
I know whose love would follow me still,
Mother o' mine.

If I were drowned in the deepest sea,
Mother o' mine,
I know whose tears would come down to me,
Mother o' mine.

If I were damned o' body and soul,
Mother o' mine,
I know whose prayers would make me whole,
Mother o' mine.

—Kipling.

A Learned Judge on Socialism.

Boston Globe: Astonishing things come out of the West. At Raymond, a town in the state of Washington, a United States judge has just denied naturalization papers to a physician, who, in the course of his examination, remarked incidentally that he believed in the philosophy of socialism as set forth by Karl Marx.

"Then you are not the kind of a man we want as a citizen of this country, for socialism is nothing but anarchism," said the learned judge with scorn.

It would be quite as accurate to say that protectionism is nothing but free trade; that taxation is nothing but exemption from all taxes; that an acid is nothing but an alkali; that white is nothing but black; that slavery is nothing but freedom, as to confuse socialism with anarchism. And if there is anything that angers both socialists and anarchists it is to have some one ignorant of both theories confound them with each other. Marx and Proudhon were not birds of the same feather, as the learned judge might have discovered in two minutes by looking into any good cyclopedia.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: It's so easy to begin an argument because it's so hard to end it.

A man doesn't mind burning up money if it's himself, not his family, doing it.

The only person who will work hard all the time, and without pay, too, is the housewife.

Women's rights aren't nearly so important for her to get hold of as women's wrongs for her to get rid of.

If a man gets a counterfeit quarter passed on him, he's just crazy to have his wife go to church and put it in the collection plate.

The Moral.

Lippincott's: "The persistency with which children see in a fable some other moral than the one which it is intended that they shall see is often distressing," remarks a Philadelphia instructor of the young. "I had recited to one little boy the story of the wolf and the lamb, and had followed it up with the remark:

"'And now you see, Tommy, that the lamb would not have been eaten by the wolf if he had been good and sensible.'

"'Yes, I understand,' said Tommy. 'If the lamb had been good and sensible, we should have had him to eat!'"

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

The Smart Set: Standpatter—Don't you think Bantington's speeches are sound?

Insurgent—Yes, but that's all.

Judge: "Do you think a woman can keep a secret?"

"No; she always tries to syndicate it."

Buffalo Express: Biggs—Is your daughter popular?

Boggs—Well, I don't want to boast, but fifteen young men are teaching her to swim.

Philadelphia Record: Nell—Maude always uses a fountain pen.

Belle—Her letters are rather gushing, aren't they?

Puck: Mrs. Caldwell—The junkman would not buy those things we sorted out.

Cantwell—Then let us be charitable, my dear, and give them to the poor.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "You know that grocer of ours?" exclaimed a Lakewood lady, excitedly, last Saturday night.

"Yes," answered her husband. "What about him?"

"He gave me short weight this evening."

"Why didn't you call him down for it?"

"I didn't notice it until after I had paid him a plugged half-dollar, and then what could I do?"

Chicago News: Ives—Can Skidmore be depended on?

Beecher—Can he? Why, his word's as good as his bond.

Ives—Oh, that's not telling me anything. How good is his bond?

Boston Transcript: Marks—I know your wife didn't like it because you took me home unexpectedly to dinner last night.

Parks—Nonsense! Why, you hadn't been gone two minutes before she remarked that she was glad it was no one else but you.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "I saw a lively fight on Broadway this morning. A dozen shots were fired, two men fell severely wounded and six ruffians chased another man clear down to the Battery."

"Where were the police?"

"Why, they looked on and laughed."

"Good gracious!"

"Yes, they thought it was a moving picture rehearsal."

You may have noticed how different men are from hogs. The latter never want to do things that are not good for them.

Sometimes a girl gets confidential and tells a man that a lot of other men have tried to kiss her, but he is the only one who succeeded.

Looking Toward the Future.

Boston Globe: In one of the ponderous volumes by Karl Marx—little read nowadays for lack of time and inclination, but often quoted—is a passage which may help to interpret the real meaning of the news dispatch from San Francisco to the effect that the 25,000 shop employes of the Harriman railway lines are practically unanimous for a strike unless the companies recognize and deal with the federation of the separate craft organizations. Possibly the reason why the men should be willing to precipitate a struggle, not for higher wages, shorter hours or better working conditions, but for recognition of their federated unions, is to be found in these words of the German economist who died nearly thirty years ago:

"Now and then the workers are victorious, but only for a time. The real fruit of their battle lies not in the immediate result, but in the ever expanding union of the workers. This union is helped on by the improved means of communication created by modern industry, which places the workers of different localities in contact with one another. It was just this contact that was needed to centralize the numerous local struggles, all of the same character, into one national struggle between classes. But every class struggle is a political struggle. And that union, to attain which the burghers of the middle ages, with their miserable highways, required centuries, the modern proletarians, thanks to railways, achieve in a few years."

It may be that a sense of the necessity of an "ever expanding union of the workers" impels the shopmen on the Harriman lines to jeopardize their present welfare for their future interests.

Water Shortage in Tennessee.

Washington Star: "Don't rough it too much on your vacation," said Dr. Phineas L. Rayeroft, the hygienic expert of Des Moines. "See that you get plenty of Baths and plenty of good food. Otherwise your vacation will be apt to do you harm.

"I once thought of spending my midsummer holidays in the Tennessee mountains. So I wrote to a mountaineer whose picturesque homestead had been highly recommended to me, and in the course of my letter I asked the man if there was a bath in his house.

"In reply he said:

"'If you want a bath, you had better take it before you come.'"

Secrets.

Chicago Daily News: Ethel—Bella told me that you told her that secret I told you not to tell her.

Madge—She's a mean thing! I told her not to tell you.

Ethel—Well! I told her I wouldn't tell you she told me—so don't tell her I did.

Advice to the Handicapped.

September Atlantic: Grow up as fast as you can. Cultivate the widest interest you can, and cherish all your friends. Cultivate some artistic talent, for you will find it the most durable of satisfactions, and perhaps some of the surest means of livelihood as well. Achievement, is of course, on the knees of the gods; but you will at least have the thrill of trial, and, after all, not to try is to fail. Taking your disabilities for granted, and assuming constantly that they are being taken for granted, make your social intercourse as broad and as constant as possible. Do not take the world too seriously, nor let too many social conventions oppress you. Keep sweet your sense of humor, and above all do not let any morbid feelings of inferiority creep into your soul. You will find yourself sensitive enough to the sympathy of others, and if you do not find people who like you and are willing to meet you more than half way, it will be because you have let your disability narrow your vision and shrink up your soul. It will be really your own fault, and not that of your circumstances. In a word, keep looking outward; look out eagerly for those things that interest you, for people who will interest you and be friends with you, for new interests and for opportunities to express yourself. You will find that your disability comes to have little meaning for you, that it will begin to fade quite completely out of your sight; you will wake up some fine morning and find yourself, after all the struggles that seemed so bitter to you, really and truly adjusted to the world.

Uncle Joe's Joke.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "I was walking down F street with Uncle Joe Cannon the other day," said Representative Rodenburg of Illinois, "and in passing an art gallery saw a group of pictures of congressmen in a window. 'Uncle Joe' stood between Representatives Norris of Nebraska and Murdock of Kansas.

"'Look at that, Uncle Joe,' I said. 'If I were in your place I would rise to a question of personal privilege. The thought of your being between Murdock and Norris!'

"'I shall not protest,' said Uncle Joe. 'What is the use? You will recall the story of Christ and the two men that stood on either side of Him the day He was crucified. I will say: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."'"

What He Means.

Life: When the great man says he has perfect confidence in the future of the country, he means that he has confidence that the people will be either too unintelligent or too tender-hearted to disturb the protective tariff and other forms of legal graft.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Duluth Girl Will Tour the South With Concert Company

MISS ELIZABETH MADDOX.

Miss Elizabeth Breckenridge Maddox, a Duluth girl who is both a violinist and the possessor of a beautiful soprano voice will leave tomorrow for a concert tour through the South under the auspices of the Mutual Lyceum Bureau of Chicago.

Miss Maddox has been living at 218 West Third street with her mother, Mrs. N. B. Maddox. She is a member of the Mattnee Musicale club of this city; has done much solo work in various churches; is a violin pupil of Fred G. Bradbury and is also a graduate of the Villa Maria at Frontenac, Minn. She will tour with the Crescent Concert company of women.

Some very favorable criticisms have been written of her work both in vocal solos and violin work, and she has been heard with pleasure here on different occasions when she has appeared on concert and recital programs.

PLAY A SUCCESS.

East End Young Folks Present "The Lost Prince."

"The Lost Prince," a delightful little fairy play, was presented by a group of young people last evening at the home of Mrs. T. D. Merrill before a large audience of friends and relatives, and proved a great success. The play was planned by the young people under the direction of Mrs. F. A. Patrick and the proceeds will be given to Life's Fresh Air Fund. More than $20 was raised and this gift to the fund will prove a big help towards sending some little child to the country.

In the play a wicked wizard kills a number of the good people, banishes the good queen and puts his sister, a wicked woman, on the throne. Then he steals the little prince, the son of the banished queen, and gives him to the wicked queen, but finally the child is discovered and restored to his mother who regains her throne and all ends happily.

Miss Penelope Turle, as the wicked wizard, did splendidly, as did all of the other actors. Miss Eleanor Mitchell took the part of the wicked queen; Miss Katherine Abbott, the part of the Hema Dryad; Miss Betty Merrill was assigned the part of the banished queen, and John Abbott was the lost prince.

Little Misses Josephine Cotton and Ruby Britts made two dainty little elfin sprites; Miss Katherine Abbott was Flora, the flower girl, and was a pretty little picture in a long flowing gown of white with a wreath of flowers and leaves. Mary Cotton was very good as a page and the court ladies were Misses Frances Sellwood, Elizabeth Paul, Mary Townes, Faith Douglas, Louise Moyer, Cordelia Collins, Elizabeth Collins and the courtiers were Harold and Walter Sebenius, Lovel Turle and Tom Wood.

All of the young folks were in costumes of the period with long robes, swords and other suitable trinkets and the effect was most pleasing. Those who witnessed the play were generous with their praise for the young actors and declared it a huge success.

LUNCHEON.

Miss Agatin Hostess for Miss Patrick.

Miss Marie Agatin entertained at a prettily appointed luncheon today at her home, 2402 East Fifth street, in honor of Miss Barbara Patrick, whose wedding to Dr. Floyd Ferdinand Clark will take place Sept. 12. Covers were laid for eight and pink asters were effectively used on the table.

Miss Elsie Wall of 707 East First street has invitations out for a tea Friday afternoon at her home in compliment to Miss Patrick.

EXECUTIVE BOARD

Of Twentieth Century Club Will Meet Friday.

A very important meeting of the executive board of the Twentieth Century club will be held at the home of the chairman on Friday afternoon at 8 o'clock. Every member of the board is urged to be present.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS.

Tailored Waists Are Again in Favor.

Tailored waists are coming into their own again this season. The strictly tailored waist is one of the smartest things which women have ever worn for street or traveling and the shops are showing large and attractive assortments of them.

In one of the fashionable shops this morning, the shopper saw some which were hard to resist. They were of fine white linen with effective trimmings. A distinctive touch to this season's waists are the turned back soft collars and cuffs made attached to the waist. They all have long sleeves, but some are the regular coat sleeve, while others are the plain shirt sleeve set in without a gather.

One pretty waist was embroidered in white on the front and some have narrow Irish crocheted insertion set in. Many of them have a narrow edge of heavy lace about the edge of the turn back collar and cuffs and down the closing in front, and some are embroidered with a narrow edging of color which gives a pretty touch to match the suit. Pearl and crocheted buttons both are used.

There are also tailored waists in silk and messalines of dark colors which are nice for traveling and to be worn with suits.

The crepe waists which are such a boon to travelers are also as much in favor as ever. Pretty ones are being shown in the shops embroidered or with Irish lace trimmings. The peasant sleeve and the set-in sleeve are both equally good, the only change in the lingerie waist being in the neck which has a high collar in every instance. Nothing is collarless this year. Dress waists and all others have the collar.

Overby-Ketchesen.

Oscar A. Overby and Sarah A. Ketchesen, both of this city, were quietly married Monday evening at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Overby of 4711 East Superior street, at 8 o'clock, Rev. Wulfsberg of the Norwegian Synod church, officiating.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and only a few of their intimate friends.

The bride wore a gown of white embroidered net over white silk. Her veil fell over the entire gown and was fastened with a wreath of lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white carnations.

She was attended by Miss Julia Walker of Lutsen, Minn., as bridesmaid. Mr. Overby was attended by his brother, George Overby, as best man.

The house was beautifully decorated in flowers, pink and red asters, white sweet peas and marigolds, being used.

After the ceremony a supper was served.

Informal Party.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Retan entertained a few of their friends last evening at their home, 25 West Fifth street. Those present were:

Mesdames—
F. Green.

Misses—

First Meeting of Year Planned.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of West Duluth will hold its first meeting of the year tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. W. Smith, 623 North Fifty-fifth avenue west. The hour set for the opening of the meeting is 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. H. Bevier, president of the Union will be the leader for the afternoon and the subject for the afternoon is "Where Have You Been?" The afternoon will be sort of a vacation review and the various members will tell of what they have done and seen along the lines of the work of the society during the months while the meetings were suspended.

Polinsky-Wolfe.

Miss Dorothy Polinsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Polinsky, 1124 East Sixth street, and Joseph Wolfe of this city were married at the synagogue, 323 East Third street, yesterday afternoon. Rabbi Kissin performed the ceremony at 4 o'clock assisted by Rev. Teplitz.

The bride wore a gown of duchess satin, trimmed with real lace and her bouquet was a shower of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Dolly Polinsky was the maid of honor. She wore a pretty gown of white marquisette over pink satin and held an arm bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Florence Levine, who wore a gown of pink chiffon over silk and Miss Sadie Fostof, who wore a costume of lavender chiffon over silk. They carried pink and white roses. David Weinberg of Eveleth, Leo Troup of Virginia and Roy Levine were Mr. Wolfe's attendants. The ushers were Messrs. Stern, Bert Stern and Jacib Cohen. A dinner was served at the old Masonic temple after the ceremony, at which 300 guests were served. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe will reside at 1124 East Sixth street.

THE EVENING STORY

"DOT"

By Jane Harris.

Dot Conger was standing in a bower of honeysuckle when Everett Baldwin at last discovered her. As she had breakfasted in her room her host had not yet had a word with her; and for the last half hour he had been diligently searching the gardens to effect a tete-a-tete. She was so intent upon smelling the flowers about her that she was unconscious of his approach, and swung around quickly when he called out a "good morning."

"I—I never yeard you," she stammered, in some confusion; and her fair face was suddenly flushed. "Oh, what a beautiful place you own, Captain Baldwin. I can't think how I can have been so lazy as to lie abed to breakfast when such a lovely morning invited one to be out."

"I expect you were tired after your long journey," was his solicitous reply. "I am very grateful to you and your mother for coming to stay with me the instant you landed in England. I have been looking forward to having you here ever since I inherited the place."

"How kind of you to say so," murmured the girl, blushing even more rosily under the ardent glance he bent upon her. "But it is we who are grateful to you. Mother and I have seldom had such a delightful invitation for, as you must have realized, in America we've always been quite poor."

"So was I until this lucky windfall. But I've always remembered how good you and Mrs. Conger were to me whilst I was stationed near your home, and afterwards when I went to Africa, I used often to dream of the days we'd spent together. But it was all rather hopeless, for them I'd nothing but my pay, and I was afraid to read your letters because I dreaded to learn that some lucky beggar had won you." Suddenly he took a step nearer and caught at her hands.

"Oh, Dot, Dot, is it too soon to ask you to marry me? You only arrived here last night, but you've been with me in my heart all these two years of parting, and I've been counting the minutes till we should meet again. Oh, my darling, my dear, is it possible that you've any love for me?

"I—I—oh, Everett, I care for you more than all the world."

Before she could say another word he had caught her to his breast, and was holding her closely in his arms whilst he rained passionate kisses upon her face. "Sweetest! My heart's desire!" he whispered tenderly, "Tell me again those blessed, blessed words."

"I love you—oh, so much!" she assured him in a shy undertone. "When you left America it nearly broke my heart, and I never looked at another man, or thought of one, because I only wanted you—always—always!"

"My precious. How dear of you to tell me. Oh, I feel so proud and happy. I don't believe there was ever such a fortunate dog as I am in all the world." His arms were still round her and his lips were upon her sunkissed hair when the chiming of the church clock told them that it was eleven. With a start he put her from him, his face clouding over with regret.

"I shall have to leave you. What a nuisance," he exclaimed. "I've just remembered that I faithfully promised to be over at one of my neighbors' stables soon after eleven. Garrett has a horse which I fancy, and I made up my mind to buy it. But I do hate leaving you, my darling."

"But I quite see you must do so, Everett, since you've made the appointment. So don't think of me, dear, but come back soon."

"Of course I will; but I shall think of you every second." And as I may be detained if the horse is out at exercise, let's arrange to meet in the arbor at 4 o'clock this afternoon. I'm sure to be back by then; and, in the meantime, wear this as a pledge that you're mine." He took from his pocket a ring, and as he slipped it on to the third finger of her left hand the diamonds in it sparkled and flashed.

When he strode out of the arbor she stared after him as long as he was in sight with eyes shining with happiness. He represented her whole world, but he had repressed his feelings so carefully until now that she had never really been sure of how she stood with him.

Now he was gone from her, and though it was only for a few hours she longed for his presence. After the months of uncertainty she was so joyous just to be with him; and now that they belonged to each other his companionship was all she desired. How was she to spend the interval apart from him? Should she go back to the house? No; other people would jar upon her, and two in especial would be particularly unwelcome.

Staying with Everett were two brother officers and since they had both paid her unwelcome attention in the old days at America she did not wish to run across them. So she determined upon a long walk across the beautiful Devonshire country. Sending back a gardener's boy with a message to her mother that she would lunch out at some farm, she set off on a delightful tramp over the downs.

It was nearly 4 o'clock when she returned to the house to tidy herself to keep tryst with her lover. Thinking to avoid meeting anyone, she decided to slip in through the open window of a room which she thought was likely to be empty. But as she stepped inside the sound of voices warned her of her mistake, and quite involuntarily she shrank back into the shelter of the curtains. Then, in the same instant, she was riveted to the spot by what she overheard.

"So Baldwin's got Dot—did you know?" came Capt. Marshall's voice. "Secured her at the first time of asking, just as he betted us he would."

"Yes, he told me an hour ago," returned the other officer. "But I can't think what he sees in her. She's no beauty, which he had to admit; and though she's fast, he told me himself that she wasn't well bred. So why on earth does he want her?

"Can't think," came Capt. Marshall's laconic reply. "I imagine this sudden fancy for Dot must be because he's lost his head with the wealth that's come to him. But he'll find her jolly expensive to keep, and he agreed with me that she'd a vile temper, so all I can say is that Im thankful I'm not in his shoes."

"Were you ever after Dot yourself?" inquired the other.

"Well, yes, I fancied her for a while, but I'm quite off her now that I've seen her again. My choice is Nell, and I imagined it was she Everett was following up; but when I learned that he'd gone for Dot I reckoned it was from sheer obstinacy."

"Perhaps he'll back out of it——."

But Dot waited to hear no more. With flaming cheeks and a heart bursting with outraged pride she crept out into the garden and made straight for the bower of honeysuckle. The mere suggestion that Everett might repent of the bargain he had made filled the girl with a fierce resolved that she would be the first to end her ignominious position. It was a breathless and very excited girl who rushed into the arbor and faced her waiting fiance. Tearing off the ring he had given her, she held it out to him.

"Take it," she commanded hotly. "And with it understand that everything is at an end between us."

"But I don't understand, Dot——."

"I overheard Capt. Marschall and—Mr. Martin discussing our engagement," she broke in upon his bewildered protest. "What you had said about me to them quite sufficiently assures me that you have made my love the sport of an idle bet."

"But, Dot, I haven't mentioned you to them. I——."

"Then how did they know you had 'got' me—as Capt. Marshall elegantly put it? They told each other that you had said I was not well bred, and no beauty. Also, that I had a vile temper, and—and was fast. So since that's your opinion of me I give you leave to now 'follow after Nell,' having heard that she is your other attraction."

"Nell?" echoed the young man in astonishment. "What do you mean? I can't think——." Abruptly he broke off, and stared at her blankly for a moment. Then on a sudden he gave a shout of laughter, and caught her in his arms before she realized his intention.

"Oh, you dear, jealous, outraged darling," he cried. "I understand it all now. When Marshall discussed Dot did you imagine they referred to you?"

"Yes, of course——."

"Well you were wrong. The 'Dot' they spoke of is a vicious little mare which I bought from my neighbor Garrett this morning."

"A horse!" repeated the girl slowly.

"Yes, and a good one—although all the world disagrees with me. Dot is ugly, and she has a bad temper, and she will be an expense because she kicks the grooms. But all the same she's much superior to Nell, for she's fast——."

"Oh, please stop," entreated the girl, in a low, choked voice; but he went on despite her protest.

"And, altogether, she contents me—just as you do, sweetheart, for to me you're the dearest and most precious thing in all the world." Gently he tilted up her face, and gazed deeply into the violet blue eyes which met his shamedly.

"Don't ever doubt me again—it hurts," he whispered softly, and held her for a moment so tightly against his heart that she could hardly breathe. "Now, come to the stable and be introduced to Dot—the mare!" he said in a lighter voice.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

KILLS HIS NEIGHBOR

North Dakota Farmers Have Fatal Quarrel Over Land Deal.

Man Under Arrest Claims the Shooting Was Done in Self-Defense.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 6.—John Gash, a farmer living twenty-five miles south of Minot, was shot and killed. Gus Johnson, a neighbor, was arrested yesterday charged with the shooting. Johnson and Gash, it is claimed, were quarreling over a land transaction when the shooting took place.

Johnson was arrested by Deputy Sheriff J. H. Dillon of Mountrail county, who turned the prisoner over to Sheriff Ed Kelley of Ward county, where the shooting occurred. Johnson talked nonchalantly about the shooting, maintaining he acted in self-defense.

Mrs. Gash was the only witness of the shooting, which occurred at the Gash home just north of Rice Lake. It is alleged Johnson went to the Gash home Monday evening and started to talk with Gash about the land transaction. Charges of bad faith were made by both Gash and Johnson and the two resorted to blows. In the fray, it is charged Johnson picked up a shotgun, and fired at Gash. The charge entered Gash's head, causing a bad wound. Gash was taken care of by several neighbors and in spite of the best medical attendance he died at 1 p. m.

After the shooting, Johnson went to the home of William Baker, where he was arrested. He made no attempt to escape, and said he would tell the full story of the shooting in court.

Johnson is about 40 years old, and has lived on a claim near Rice Lake for several years. Gash, who is survived by a widow and several children, formerly taught school in Ward county, and a few years ago filed on a claim south of Minot. Gash and Johnson were good friends until the land deal came up.

BLOWS OFF HEAD AT INDIAN DANCE

Whisky Causes Tragedy on the White Earth Reservation.

White Earth, Minn., Sept. 6.—Indian Policeman Hutchins of the White Earth agency staff blew off his head with a revolver at a squaw dance held at Big Bend last night and several Indians and half-breeds are under arrest on a charge of selling liquor that inflamed the dancers.

Policeman Hutchins was sent to preserve order at the dance, but instead of confiscating the liquors he found on the Indians, got drunk, it is said, and trouble started. Drunk and almost crazy with bad whisky, Hutchins pulled out his gun and blew out his brains. After his death the dance proceeded, but two other Indian policemen appeared on the scene and Policeman Star Bad Boy seized the whisky and obtained proof against the men who brought the whisky from Detroit.

AWFUL TRAGEDY AT WILLISTON

Man Attacks His Family With Hatchet and Commits Suicide.

Williston, N. D., Sept. 6.—Alex Peters, 40, blew off his head yesterday after attacking his wife and six children with a hatchet. He hacked up every member of the family, not sparing a 10-month-old baby, which has two gashes in its forehead.

The wife and four children are in a critical condition. Peters came here from Darke county, Ohio, five years ago. He was despondent over financial matters.

BODY IS FOUND HANGING TO TREE

John Gorgeson of Swanville Had Been Missing Since April.

Swanville, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of John Gorgeson, who has been missing since April, was found yesterday by his nephew, J. J. Lorig, hanging from a tree about thirty rods from the house on the Lorig farm, three miles east of here. The coroner has arrived from Little Falls and taken charge of the body.

BERGER AND SEIDEL TO SPEAK AT MINNEAPOLIS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 6.—It is said by labor leaders that besides Governor Eberhart, Congressman Victor Berger and Mayor Seidel of Milwaukee will speak at the postponed Twin City Labor day celebration near here next Sunday. It was also stated that a collection would be taken for the defense fund of the McNamara brothers, in jail in connection with the alleged dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building.

HURLED TO HIS DEATH BENEATH MOVING TRAIN.

Red Wing, Minn., Sept. 6.—With the remark "I'll beat you to the fair," John Lutz, 36 years old, stepped to the edge of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul depot platform here yesterday, reached for the ladder on a passing car, and was hurled to his death beneath the wheels of a moving train. Lutz' last words were directed to his employer, Henry Pohl. Lutz was on his way to the state fair and expected to see Mr. Pohl there.

BIG CHEESE AT STATE FAIR SOLD

Purchaser Will Exhibit It at Des Moines and Chicago.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.) — The 6,000-pound cheese made by Simon & Parkin of Pine Island and exhibited at the state fair has been bought by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company of Jersey City, N. J. The price was $1,900. Gus Ludwig, a representative of the firm who negotiated the deal, said the cheese would be taken to the Iowa butter show at Des Moines the first week in October. It will then be moved to Chicago for exhibition at the meeting of the National Butter Makers' association in November and will then be taken to Jersey City for exhibiton. It will be cut up and sold during the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Ludwig is also negotiating for the butter on display at the Minnesota fair.

DESERTED TO DIE AFTER ACCIDENT

Fell From Wagon and Run Over By Vehicle Following.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 6.—Deserted by his companions after falling from a four-horse wagon, A. Benson was found by a farmer near the Hendrickson farm about five miles north of the city about 8 o'clock Saturday evening in an almost dying condition.

Benson with four other men, who were working out at the Great Northern camp, came to town yesterday and partook of more or less strong drink. They started home after dark and reached a point about five miles from the city, when Benson was thrown from his seat in the four-horse wagon. Either his companions did not notice his fall, or were too much under the influence of liquor to care, for they drove on.

Following immediately behind the wagon was another and the wheels of this vehicle ran over the man who must have been rendered unconscious. He was left by that wagon, but managed to crawl to the roadside, where he was heard moaning by a passerby and the police were notified and they in turn notified the sheriff, as the case was outside the city limits.

Deputy Sheriff Bingham, with an assistant, hurried to the spot in an automobile and the man was taken to the county hospital, where it was found that his right leg was crushed and broken and his chest caved in. His condition is serious and there is little likelihood that he will recover.

STILLWATER MAN DIES.

Mrs. Archie Dunlap of Duluth One of His Stepdaughters.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 6.—Charles Heitman, one of the well known and highly esteemed residents and business men of this city for many years, died about 6 o'clock Monday morning at his residence, 110 East Olive street. He had been ill just two months.

Born in Herrenfeld, Gluikstadt, Schleswig, Holland, Feb. 18, 1850, he came to America as a young man and to Stillwater in 1879.

Surviving are the widow, the stepchildren, William Butler of Seattle; Mrs. Thomas McAloon, this city; Mrs. Archie Dunlap, Duluth; Sidney Butler, Miss Rita Butler, Miss Frida Heitman, all of Stillwater. He also leaves two brothers, Henry Heitman of Hot Springs, Ark., and Charles Heitman of Nagadochs, Tex., and a sister, Mrs. Henry Martin of Hamburg, Germany, and a nephew, Max J. Martini of St. Paul.

HOSPITAL DEDICATED.

Eliot Memorial Building at Minnesota University Is Completed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 6.—Elliot Memorial hospital, the first university building to be completed on the new campus and the first central building in a system of hospital buildings contemplated for the university, was dedicated yesterday. Medical alumni from all parts of the state were in attendance as well as state officers, members of the legislature and many invited guests.

Dean F. F. Westbrook of the college of medicine presided. President Vincent of the university delivered the dedicatory address. Frank M. Elliot, brother of Dr. Adolphus Elliot for whom the hospital was named and whose heirs endowed the same, told the story of the endowment.

Optimistic Reports From Edmore District Are Being Verified.

Edmore, N. D., Sept. 6.—The optimistic reports which have been sent out from the Edmore district for several weeks predicting considerable more than an average crop for that section, are being verified in every particular as the grain is being thrashed. While there has been but very little wheat thrashed yet, barley and oats have been completed to some extent. Oats are going from 60 to 75 bushels to the acre while some barley is going 45 bushels and none less than 30.

A. E. Blycker of the Atlas Lumber company and Attorney L. J. Wehe made a tour of the district around Edmore in an auto, going through Pancher, Overland, Northfield and Prospect townships. The country appears at its best right now. Attorney Wehe stated that there were fields of wheat that would go 25 bushels without a doubt, while on his farm will run about 20. The flax stands heavier than ever in the history of the county and exceptionally even. The weather of the past few days has done wonders for his crop.

Crop owners around Edmore have reason to feel exceptionally happy this season.

FARMER VICTIM OF TWO THUGS

Robbed of $28 While Going to Minot to Register.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 6.—Attacked by two holdup artists, Elmer Noxen, a young farmer of Dwight, N. D., was robbed of $28 in bills and on arriving at Minot found that he had barely enough money to pay his registration fee of 25 cents.

Noxen had heard of the opportunities offered at the opening of the Berthold Indian reservation and by dint of careful saving scraped enough together to make a trip to Minot. He bought a round trip ticket and made arrangements to stop at Wahpeton. Besides his ticket, he had $28 in bills and some small change. He thought $28 would be enough to pay his expenses at Minot and possibly to make a trip out to the reservation.

While on his way to the Wahpeton depot after dark, Noxen was suddenly stopped by a couple of toughs.

"Money or your life," said the thugs as they brandished revolvers in his face. Noxen threw up his hands and while one of the thugs held him the other went through his pockets, obtaining the $28 in bills but missing the few cents in silver.

Noxen was downhearted when he arrived in Minot, but he received assistance and if he draws a lucky number he says he will not kick on losing the $28.

SHOT BY COMPANION.

Wisconsin Youth Killed While on a Hunting Trip.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 6.—Alvin Biennemann, aged 17 years, son of Joseph Biennemann of this city, was accidentally shot and fatally injured on Sunday by Royal Thomas, his companion on a hunting trip. The two, who had been along the banks of the Oplane river in the western part of the county, on their homeward trip wanted some apples. Thomas went into an orchard to get a few, and Biennemann stood some distance away. When Thomas crawled out through a hole under the fence he took hold of a rifle and pulled it toward him by the barrel. The trigger of the rifle struck a board and the bullet struck Biennemann in the head. He died before a physician could be summoned.

WOMAN FATALLY BURNED.

Burning Oil Thrown Upon Her When a Lamp Exploded.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 6.—Mrs. Maria Wilcox, aged 75, was fatally burned Monday night when she arose during a terrific storm and picked up a kerosene lamp and started to look about her house. She fell and the lamp broke and exploded, setting fire to her clothing. Gill McKenney, her nephew, was the only other occupant of the house. Attracted by her screams, he tried to save her, but she sprang to her feet and rushed about the rooms. He secured a bucket of water and dashed it upon her, but she was burned from head to foot. She resides in Wilcox valley and was brought to a hospital here today.

MADISON BAKER KILLED BY BOILER EXPLOSION.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 6.—Michael Lindauer, aged 50, a baker, was blown through the rear of Spencer's bakery at 607 University avenue by the explosion of a boiler Sunday evening, and so seriously mangled that he died while being taken to the city hospital.

One leg was entirely severed from the body, and was found twenty feet from it. Three other bakers were at work in the building at the time, but were not so near the boiler as Lindauer was. One of them was slightly hurt by flying brick and mortar, but the others escaped without injury.

Both the rear and the front of the bakery were blown out and windows in nearby buildings broken. Lindauer leaves a widow and six children. He resided at 307 East Gorham street.

ST. PAUL TO HAVE USUAL GRAND OPERA SEASON.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—St. Paul will have its usual grand opera season. Mrs. Nettie Snyder, who had been soliciting the local guarantee fund, received definite assurances from General Manager Dippel that the season of opera would begin with a Sunday night concert Jan. 29.

Pittsburg, Pa., made a hard fight to get the St. Paul dates, but owing to the unusually successful seasons in the capital, a continuance of the opera season there was decided upon.

Kidnaper In Jail.

New Ulm, Minn., Sept. 6.—Sheriff W. J. Julius and County Attorney August G. Erickson brought Oscar F. Barnes, a Civil war veteran, aged 65 years, Pauline Eva Isaacs, aged 16 years, and Marion Isaacs, aged 14 years, to New Ulm and lodged them in jail. They had been taken into custody by the police at Brainerd, Minn. The girls are daughters of Harris Isaacs, a junk dealer at Sleepy Eye, who charged Barnes with kidnaping them.

TEACHERS SELECTED FOR THE WARREN SCHOOLS.

Warren, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Warren public schools opened yesterday for the usual nine-months term. Following is a list of teachers selected by the school board for the coming year: Helen Roberts, principal and English teacher; Hazel B. Waters, Latin and German; C. A. Brockus, manual training, mechanical drawing; A. W. Hayes, agriculture; Amelia von Levern, normal department in Washington building; Alta Newcomb, domestic science and domestic art. Graded school: Clara and Johanna Hanson, first and second grades; Jessie McLaren, fourth and fifth grades; Flora Patten, fifth and sixth grades; Mary Gue, sixth and seventh grades; Elna Worthing and Ida Omsrud, third and fourth grades; Hanna Solberg, seventh grade; Jessie Carlson, eighth grade.

To Visit State Fair.

Twig, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. Christ Bolland of Twig, Minn., left today for the Twin Cities where they will visit with friends and relatives for some time. They will also take in the state fair during their absence.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—When John Wanless, who has the contract for extending the water works intake, went down to the mouth of the present intake Saturday, he found the intake that has served the people of this city for many years half filled with sand and leaking at several of the joints. The contractor was already to begin laying the new pipe when he made this discovery, but at once suspended operations and notified President R. C. Young of the water board of his find.

Negaunee — Since the first of September Miss Herron has been employed by the Cleveland Cliffs iron company at Negaunee as a visiting nurse, her duties being the same as those of the visiting nurses at Ishpeming and Gwynn. Her headquarters are at the Negaunee hospital, where sick cases among the people employed by the company can be reported to her.

Houghton — Clarence Mehring of Redridge has accepted a position with the Santa Reta Mining company at Santa Reta, N. M., and left yesterday to take up his new duties. Mr. Mehring, who is a chemist, recently was graduated from the Ferris institute at Big Rapids. He will work in a laboratory at Santa Reta. The members of the Redridge band, of which he has been a member, tendered him a farewell party last Friday night and presented him with a handsome watch fob.

Hancock—A deal has been consummated in Hancock whereby the commission brokerage business of Charles B. Ulrich passes into the hands of M. C. Getchell and E. J. Leach. The new firm has opened for business and will be located in the Elks' temple, for the present at least.

Ishpeming—Joseph Robar, who has been in the employ of Swift & Co. here for several years past, part of the time as house foreman and part of the time as traveling salesman, has been given charge of the company's business at Escanaba.

Iron Mountain—John Andrews, Jr., has been reappointed deputy state game and fish warden. The territory assigned Mr. Andrews is north of Iron Mountain in Dickinson, Iron and Marquette counties.

Houghton—John Chynoweth, one of the party that tried to go to Boston in a sloop, has returned home after spending a short time visiting with friends in Boston. Chynoweth returned home to attend the University of Michigan. Thomas Warmington, the other member of the party, will not return home for some time yet.

Iron Mountain — Louis, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Egidio Alipradini, residents of the First ward, was drowned in the presence of about twenty companions in a small pond formed by the recent rains.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison — The Employers' Mutual Liability company of Wausau, Wis., the first of its kind in Wisconsin, was granted a license on Monday by Insurance Commissioner Ekern. The rates made by the company are the same for the employer, whether he comes under the compensation act or not.

Chilton—Charles Zaldock, a farmer, was killed on Monday as he was attempting to cross the railroad tracks near the station here.

Neenah — Thomas Thompson, a wealthy farmer, living at Dale, near here, was killed when he fell from a wagon, his horses running away. A wheel passed over his head crushing the skull.

Grand Rapids—While L. Smith, a conductor on the switch train between Grand Rapids and Nekoosa, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, was switching cars for the Centralia Pulp & Paper company on Saturday, his hat blew off just as the train was approaching the railroad bridge. In attempting to recover it he was struck in the head by one of the bridge beams, knocking him to the ground. He was found insensible and cut about the head and arms. He is in a precarious condition.

Spring Green—Patrons of the county fair favored votes for women, 4 to 1, according to the results of a test election. An interesting point made was by the tellers, who declared that the women, in marking their ballots, manifested a higher degree of intelligence than the men. The women vote stood 129 to 14 against equal suffrage, while 79 out of 115 men favored it.

Madison—Fire, starting from a pile of rubbish in the boiler room of the Fess hotel, caused $2,000 damage by smoke and water Monday morning. E. C. Schneider, owner of a barber shop on the first floor, sustained a $200 loss from the same cause. Fire Chief Heyl received a severe cut on the hand.

Plainfield—The large new farm house of Elias Washburn, about two miles north of here, was struck by lightning Sunday night and was entirely destroyed by fire, together with nearly all the household goods.

La Crosse—Authorized to give instructions in the prevention of tuberculosis, Miss Sarah W. Ryder, field nurse of the Wisconsin Anti-Tubercul-

Makes Rough Skins Soft and Velvety

(Welcome Friend)

Much interest is centered on mayatone lotion for the painless removal of rough or dead outer cuticle, thus permitting the soft, velvety, pink and white new skin to peep forth in its exquisite, youthful bloom. With the aid of this lotion, wrinkles and blotches are banished, the skin is freed of pimples and blackheads, and a complexion once sallow and unlifelike is given the natural health-glow and freshness of young womanhood.

This lotion, which is inexpensive, is made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in 8 ounces witch-hazel. With it the face, neck and arms are gently massaged each day, and soon the skin grows clear, firm and beautiful. The mayatone lotion is greaseless and will prevent, as well as discourage, the growth of hairs.

osis association, has arrived here to spend a month. She found there were thirty-four deaths from tuberculosis in La Crosse last year and figures at the usual ratio of five to one that there are 170 living cases of the disease which will require her attention here.

Grand Rapids—The first official act of Judge Bryon Park of Stevens Point, the newly appointed judge of the seventh judicial circuit, was to appoint R. M. Morse of this city official court reporter. Mr. Morse has acted in the same capacity under Judge Webb for several years past.

Neenah — Dio W. Dunham, former news editor of the Oshkosh Northwestern and later secretary to Congressmen Davidson and Kuestermann at Washington, has taken the position of editor in chief of the Friend and Guide, the official paper of the Equitable Fraternal Union, published at the supreme office in this city

Reeder, N. D.—Striking a high embankment while driving forty miles an hour and unable to make a sharp turn, an automobile driven by George Gardner and James Wallace toppled over on the side of the hill, and a moment later burst into flames as the gasoline tank exploded. Gardner and Wallace escaped death by a narrow margin.

Minot, N. D.—State Game Warden E. H. Stenvick denies a charge published in a Devils Lake paper that he and members of the state game and fish commission recently fished with a seine at Gravel lake, contrary to the state law. He says that members of the commission fished at the lake, but did not use a seine, and that the only person who used a seine was Capt. R. W. Main of St. John, superintendent of the state fish hatchery, who uses one daily in connection with his duties as superintendent.

Okobojo, S. D.—Old settlers of Sully county met at Okobojo to hold their annual picnic. The principal speaker was Loomis S. Cull of Rapid City, candidate for governor. He did not discuss politics to any extent, but in speaking of good roads took the position that there should be a clause in the Constitution of the state which will allow the state and counties to take up the matter of internal improvements, that such work may be carried out.

Dickinson, N. D.—One of the happy events of this city is the marriage of Richard Boulger to Miss Colla D. Litch, solemnized by Rev. Father John Dignam of St. Patrick's church. Mr. Boulger is stenographer to Judge W. C. Crawford of the Tenth judicial district and formerly resided with his parents in Chicago.

Flasher, N. D.—Clifton Bosworth, aged 7 years, youngest son of Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Bosworth, lost his life while in bathing in the Heart river during a Sunday school picnic.

Huron, S. D.—Mrs. Meade of Willow Lake, while breaking eggs for cooking, found imbedded in the yolk of one a fully developed plum.

Rapid City, S. D.—That mountain sheep still exist in the Bad Lands, a theory long ago abandoned, has just been proved by Jimmie Reynolds, a sheepman who resides between the mouths of Spring and Battle creeks on the Cheyenne river. Reynolds now has a herd of twelve of these wild sheep corraled with his domestic animals and will keep them.

Tabor, S. D.—Thomas Gavin, a young farmer living near here, was seriously mangled as a result of being attacked by a vicious stallion, the property of his brother William, and which was tied to the back of the cart in which the brothers were riding.

Garrison, N. D.—Clarence Swanson, aged 10 years, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Swanson of Emmet, accidentally shot himself with a 22-caliber rifle, while he and two of his playmates were out shooting gophers. It seemed that a shell was stuck in the rifle, and while endeavoring to extract it, it was discharged, the bullet entering his abdomen.

Fargo, N. D.—Miss Ona Imhoff announced the engagement of her sister, Miss Harriet Imhoff, until recently librarian of Carnegie library, of this city, to Robert Campbell of Sacramento, Cal., at a luncheon given at her summer cottage on Lake Mendota, Madison, Wis.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Hallock—The public schools of Hallock opened yesterday with a good attendance. The following teachers are in charge this year: Dagny Johnson, first grade; Mabel Hillary, second; Edna Sorenson, third and fourth; Wilhelmina Nelson, fifth; Emma Peterson, sixth; Minnie Olson, seventh; Anna Espeseth, eighth; Ingeborg Espeseth, normal department; High school, W. Beethe, superintendent, Mary McKinley and Hilma Erickson.

Holt—Omar Warring had a queer runaway Saturday. He was driving the running gear of a wagon and had a pole lying on it. The pole fell off over the front end and the end of it hit him in the head, knocking him to the ground. The team ran away and he found it later tied to a telephone pole five miles further down the road.

Karlstad—School opened here yesterday with Miss Elsie Eastenau of Minneapolis in charge as principal and Miss Cora Brown of Thief River Falls as primary teacher.

Austin—William Smith, son of A. P. Smith, was severely injured at his home on Oakland avenue by running a large sliver into his leg under the knee. He was sliding down a ladder with some boy friends when the accident occurred. It was necessary to cut out the sliver.

Staples—The public schools opened Tuesday. Prof. Angus, who comes from Sauk Center, is superintendent. A full corps of teachers has been employed and the city looks forward to a good year. The normal department, which proved a success last year, will be continued and the course of study enlarged.

Motley—Congressman Lindberg will deliver the opening address at the Morrison county fair, which is to be held at Motley Sept. 14, 15 and 16. A large attendance is expected to be present on the opening day to hear this address. Substantial prizes are being offered in all the departments of exhibits and a large display is expected.

Benidji—On the farm of Carl Maltrude near Bemidji, Thursday morning, an accident which might have resulted seriously occurred while Mrs. Maltrude was operating her cream separator, skimming the morning's milk, when suddenly and without warning, the machine exploded. Mrs. Maltrude was knocked unconscious, but soon recovered.

Spooner—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown of Fargo, N. D., were arrivals here the fore part of last week for a look over the territory with a view of homesteading. Mr. Brown finally entered contest against the Al. Wagner claim for the purpose of homesteading the same.

Stillwater—August Jarchow of Bemidji, formerly of this city, is at the state fair in charge of the agricultural exhibit of Beltrami county. He was the guest of Sheriff Louis D. Jarchow yesterday.

Red Wing—Richard O'Connor, the 10-year-old boy who stole a velocipede at Randolph last week and operated it over the Great Western tracks as far as Welch, has been committed to the state training school.

Crookston—Mrs. I. Granum, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Berger, at Dalton, Minn., has wired her husband here that Mrs. Berger's death is expected at every minute as the result of ptomaine poisoning, which she contracted from eating canned beef a week ago.

OPEN LETTER TO THE MAYOR

Associated Charities Offers Suggestions for Meeting Municipal Problems.

Urges Extension of Garbage Collection and Appointment of Tenement Inspector.

In an open letter to Mayor Cullum, the Associated Charities of Duluth urges on the chief executive of the city the necessity of extending municipal garbage collection. The appointment of a lodging house inspector is also suggested. The letter, which gives the arguments in support of the suggested action, follows:

"The officers of the Associated Charities have noted your invitation to all those interested to express their ideas concerning the city's budget, when the conference committee holds its first meeting on Sept. 6, to consider the apportionment of the funds for next year. Through the work of the Associated Charities we are deeply interested in those of the city's activities which prevent disease and other causes of poverty. We appreciate your desire to have intelligent public support in the work of the city government, and during the coming year hope to become more familiar with the items of expenditure for health measures.

"At the present time, without going into further details, we urge upon the conference committee that two things be given prime consideration in determining the amount to be allowed the health department:

"First—The urgent need of extending the municipal garbage collection.

"Second—The vital importance of appointing, during the coming year, an inspector of lodging houses, tenements and other dwellings.

Municipal Garbage Collection.

"It is coming to be accepted as axiomatic in most cities today that it is vitally necessary, for the prevention of disease and the securing of healthful living conditions, that the city government should have control over the collection of garbage, and that to secure satisfactory control the city must actually do the work of collecting. A good beginning has been made by the health department, and we believe that it is of the utmost importance that this work should be materially extended each year, as far as the city's funds will permit, until an adequate service is provided.

Inspection of Lodging Houses.

"While the average type of dwelling house in Duluth probably compares favorably with that in other cities, the health department has a force that is insufficient to make inspection of tenements, etc., at regular intervals, and the city ordinances do not prevent the construction of dark and unventilated rooms, overcrowding in tenements and other insanitary conditions. As a result there exist today some wretched housing accommodations that would astonish most of our citizens were they aware of them. The following are a few of the conditions we have observed:

"The crowding of a family of six persons into one room about ten feet square, their only room for living, eating and sleeping.

"The use of dark and damp basement and interior rooms, with little and sometimes no outside light or ventilation for bedrooms.

"The use of a seldom cleaned privy vault under the same roof as the dwelling and in a room adjoining the kitchen so that the flies can pass readily back and forth when the door is opened between.

"The building of a tenement so close to the lot line that some of the rooms would be deprived of light and air if a similar building should be erected on the adjoining lot.

"A family that takes in lodgers, without toilet facilities of any kind, although in a sewered district.

"The combination of a dining room and kitchen, the dining room part of it being only 4 feet 10½ inches high, the paper on the walls and ceiling being black and filthy and falling off and the floor rotting under a dripping spigot without a waste pipe. This room was used by four men whose adjoining bedroom provided only 179 cubic feet of air per man, as compared with 500 or, at the very least, 400, usually required by health laws.

"We could mention other conditions showing the need for prompt action in providing for periodical inspection, in preparing a thorough-going housing ordinance and in securing the enforcement thereof, in order to prevent the creation of such miserable slum conditions as exist in some of the larger cities of the country. To accomplish these things it is essential that the health department shall have at least one inspector assigned to this housing work alone. We therefore urge that due allowance be made for such an inspector in the budget of that department."

DEATH CAUSED BY BLOOD POISONING

Ed Welch, Well Known Character, Had Sister in Duluth.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ed Welch died Monday night at the Cloquet hospital in this city, where he had been a patient for two months. Death was due to blood poisoning. Welch was a character in this community. For a dozen years he has traveled back and forth between Duluth and Cloquet, working a while here and there, and two months ago he made his final trip to Cloquet, arriving here quite ill and was taken to the Cloquet hospital, where he was cared for by friends until the end came. He was about 65 years old.

He said he had a sister in Duluth but refused to reveal her name, and the authorities are making an effort to locate her or other relatives, and the remains are being held at the Kelly undertaking parlors. If the dead man has relatives in Duluth it would be appreciated if they would communicate with William Kelly or Dr. James Fleming, health commissioner.

RECLAMATION FARMS FOR SALE

State Board Will Meet in St. Cloud in December.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state reclamation board will hold a meeting at St. Cloud Dec. 8 and 9, according to Secretary W. R. Mackenzie, who is in St. Paul attending the fair. Arrangements will then be made for placing on the market the forty-acre experimental farms which the board has been preparing.

The last session of the legislature appropriated $8,000 with which to purchase small, uncleared tracts of land, clear them and offer them for sale, expecting to show that the expense of placing under cultivation land in timbered districts, is not great. The reclamation board, consisting of Mr. Mackenzie, W. J. Brown of Warren and A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids, bought and is clearing twenty acres on forty acres farms at Little Fork, in Koochoching county; Blackduck in Beltrami; Warroad in Roseau; Blackberry in Itasca; Pine River in Cass; Middle river in Marshall, and Park Rapids in Hubbard.

"Work on all of them will be finished this fall," Mr. Mackenzie said, "and we estimate now that the cost of clearing and placing under cultivation will be from $20 to $30 an acre."

WEDDINGS AT CLOQUET.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two weddings occurred here this week. Monday morning at the church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart Paul Lessor and Miss Sinniere Porier, the latter of Ingram, Wis., were married. The groom is a son of John Lessor of Fourth street and has been working at International Falls, whither he expects to take his bride. The couple were attended by the groom's sister, Miss Clara Lessor, and Oliver Tappin.

Monday night at the residence of the groom's brother, Gotlieb Hieb, on Carlton avenue, Henry Hieb of this city and Miss Marie Louise Oldenberg of Merrill, Wis., were married by Rev. C. H. Blake. There were several invited guests and a wedding supper was served. The couple were attended by Miss Annie Milke of Geneva, Ill., and Gotlieb Hieb.

WEST END

SPENT TWELVE YEARS IN MINE

Underground Work in Mexico Proved Fatal to David Wright.

Twelve years' work in a Mexican copper mine inoculated his system with a poison which kept David E. Wright, aged 40, in a California hospital for three years, and then sent him into quick consumption, which caused his death last week.

The body was brought to this city by a brother, Thomas H. C. Wright, who resides at 2715 West Huron street. He also is survived by another brother, John F. Wright, residing at Benton, Pa.

The funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2118 West First street, to Park Hill cemetery. Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiated.

Fifteen years ago David Wright went to work in the Mexican copper mines at Cananea, Mex. He worked there for twelve years, most of that time being employed in the capacity of superintendent of the concentrator for the Greene Consolidated Copper company. Three years ago he was obliged to quit work and was removed to the California hospital at Los Angeles, Cal.

RUNAWAY TEAM HITS BUILDING

A runaway team hitched to the delivery wagon of Charles A. Gustafson smashed into the corner of the old Lion drug store building, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, last evening about 6:30 o'clock. The driver, a boy, jumped before the collision came and was injured. The horses were somewhat scratched and bruised and the wagon was demolished. The team was traveling west when it became frightened and the driver lost control. The accident attracted the attention of a large crowd.

OLD RESIDENT DIES.

Mrs. J. S. Grover Passes Away at Home of Daughter in Iowa.

Mrs. J. S. Grover, who had lived in the West end for over twenty-five years, died Monday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cannon, at Nora Springs, Iowa. She was 66 years of age at the time of her death and had been in poor health for a number of years. For the last three years she has been in the habit of spending the winters with her daughter in Iowa, returning to Duluth in the summer, but this year her poor health made the trip inadvisable. Mrs. Grover was prominent in lodge work in the West end, and had many friends. Her husband died here some years ago, and Mrs. Cannon is the only one of her children to survive her. The funeral will be held tomorrow at Nora Springs, and she will be buried beside her husband, whose body was taken there at the time of his death.

New Club Formed.

The Agogas club of the Central Baptist church met and elected officers last evening at the church parlors, Twentieth avenue west and First street.

Rev. J. H. Giffin was elected president; Albert Glover, vice president; William Capon, secretary and treasurer; Lloyd Curry, librarian; Albert Olson, reporter; Rev. J. H. Giffin, entertainer; Leigh Gunther, visitor; and M. Glover, drill master.

Included in the plans for the fall and winter entertainments is a mock trial. The club also plans to have a tennis court. The young men of the church are enthusiastic over the prospects of the new organization.

West End Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Swedish Baptist church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. L. Frederickson of 931 East Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ledingham have returned from a six weeks' visit with friends in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Nunan have returned from a trip to the Twin Cities, where they visited the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Jensen and family of 114 North Twenty-first avenue west have returned from Smithville, where they have been camping for the past week.

Mrs. Swan Anderson of 2308 West Eighth street will be hostess to the Ladies' Aid society of the First Swedish M. E. church at her home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Expert watch repairing. M. N. Berg, 1928 West Superior street.

The stewards and trustees of the First Swedish M. E. church will hold a business meeting at the church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, this evening. The meeting will be the last quarterly meeting of the conference year.

Cloquet Is Healthy.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fourteen births and three deaths are reported for the city by Dr. James Fleming, health commissioner. Dr. Fleming says that conditions here are very healthy, considering the season of the year. There is not any typhoid fever or contagious disease.

GETTING READY FOR GOVERNORS' SPECIAL.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—James H. Brady, former governor of Idaho, is expected to reach St. Paul Friday or Saturday of this week to complete railroad arrangements for the governors' special, which will leave Omaha about the middle of October for a 4,000-mile trip through the East. Mr. Brady will meet L. W. Hill and other railroad officials here for a conference.

Lewis Penwell, president of the Northwestern Development league, has formerly extended an invitation to Governor Eberhart to join the party.

DULUTH FIRM IS GIVEN CONTRACT

Pastoret-Lawrence Company Will Install Water Main at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Pastoret-Lawrence company of Duluth was last evening awarded the contract for installing a water main on Hayes street at the following prices: Four-inch valves, 70 cents per lineal foot; 4-inch pipe, 61 cents per lineal foot; hydrants, $19.50 each; specials, 5 cents per pound; rock excavation, $9 per cubic yard; earth excavation, $1 per cubic yard.

The city engineer was instructed to prepare plans and furnish an estimate for installing water mains on Harrison street and A avenue, and also for building a sidewalk to the Genoa location. The matter of remodeling the old city jail was referred to the committee on city property and insurance with power to act. The city clerk was granted a fund of $50 per month for incidental expenditures. The street commissioner was instructed to grade Monroe street and repair McKinley avenue. The monthly payroll amounting to $8,903.36, was granted as were many bills and claims against the city.

Fire Chief William Nellon was granted $100 as expense money to attend the annual gathering of the National Fire Chiefs' association at Milwaukee, Sept. 13. The appointment of Charles Pine as fireman, by Fire Chief Nellon was confirmed. J. V. Johnson was granted permission to move his building a block on Garfield avenue. The applications of Polki & Johnson for a transfer of their liquor license to Holki & Isaacson, was referred to the police and license committee, as was the application of Louis Coz for a transfer of his license to Joe Francel. The transfer of Peter Larkins' license to Peter Oakman is now in the hands of the police and license committee.

Plans and sketches for the new $15,000 firehall were submitted by C. K. Shand of Virginia and Bray & Nystrom, Col. E. S. Radcliffe, Austin Terryberry, W. I. Sullivan, W. Price and Bromwell & Kingston, all of Duluth.

The city treasurer reported the following balances on hand: Current expense fund, $10,845; waterworks fund, $3,465; permanent improvements, $27,964; total, $448,326.93. The city clerk reported $23,432.12 in tax receipts; $1,913.21 in other receipts and $15,672.26 in disbursements for July. The chief of police reported thirty-three arrests and $162.25 in fines for the month of August, while the municipal court report showed $37.80 in fines and costs for the week ending Aug. 28. The health department report showed twelve deaths, twenty-four births and one contagious case for the month of August, and also reported the health of the city in excellent condition, no case of typhoid fever being recorded this year.

CLAIMS HE SHOT IN SELF DEFENSE

Trial of Bruno Demasse on Murder Charge Is Proceeding.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.) — The trial of Bruno Demasse on the charge of murder continued in district court today. The state presented testimony to show that while Joe Delamonti, who was the man killed, had a shotgun, he fired no shot at Demasse and the latter deliberately killed the Aurora man.

It is expected that the defense will conclude its testimony Wednesday and that the case will go to the jury that day. Attorney M. H. McMahon represents the defendant. Demasse claims that he and Delamonti were close friends for years and that the latter had acted as god father for Demasse's child. About ten months previous to the tragedy it is said that Delamonti borrowed $30 from Demasse and the latter had asked for its return several times. July 23, learning that Delamonti was in Biwabik, Demasse went to the house where he was stopping and asked for the return of the $30.

After the two had quarreled for some time the proprietor of the house ordered Demasse to go hime. Demasse left by the front door and started towards home. He claims that Delamonti slipped out the back door with a shotgun in his hands. Demasse says someone called out to him that Delamonti was going to shoot him and he dropped to the ground just as the charge from Delamonti's gun passed over his head. After Delamonti had fired a second time, Demasse says he pulled his revolver and shot Delamonti, killing him almost instantly.

EVELETH THEATER TO REOPEN NEXT WEEK.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bijou theater, which is being remodeled by Contractor Charles Rutty of this city at a cost of $12,000, will be reopened next Tuesday. A. B. Wegner and a crew of assistants of the Lyceum theater studio have been at work for some time on interior decoration work and the painting of scenery which will cost over $2,000. The remodeled playhouse will seat over 400 and will stage road shows twice a month, with Sullivan & Considine circuit bookings playing the regular vaudeville dates. Manager W. H. Pickering, formerly of Duluth, will be in charge of the theater for Owner Max Stipitich of this city.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that ninety-eight per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this conditon must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effects. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Three sizes, 50c., 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

VIRGINIA HAS GOOD SURPLUS

No Bonded Indebtedness and About $44,000 in the Treasury.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report of City Clerk Bickford for the month ending Aug. 31 shows that the city has funds on hand sufficient to pay the city's entire indebtedness and leave a surplus of about $44,000. The total city indebtedness Aug. 1 amounted to $24,234.54 and the receipts during August were $137,743.86, and the amount on hand Sept. 1 was $88,122.86. Every fund showed a substantial surplus except the library fund, which was overdrawn about $12,000, but the money has been well spent. Virginia has no bonded indebtedness.

A resolution was passed providing for the paving of Ohio avenue with bitulithic paving between Spruce and Poplar streets and Lake boulevard with creosote blocks between Walnut street and Central avenue.

A resolution was passed condemning lot 11, block 14 and a part of Virginia lake for warehouse and storage purposes and for the establishment of a public market.

Alderman Kimball reported favorably upon the petition for a "white way" on Central avenue and the petition for such improvement was accepted and filed and when the necessary amount, $7,000 is levied, the improvement will be authorized by the council.

City Attorney Poirier was instructed to write Congressman Clarence B. Miller, requesting him to visit Virginia and make an attempt to enter the local postoffice when the mail is being distributed, the imputation being that the postoffice is so crowded under such conditions that entrance is almost impossible. Virginians regard the delay in making the appropriation for a new postoffice building as disgraceful.

SALE WILL BE ARRANGED SOON

Transfer of Public Library Site at Virginia Expected.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—While the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad has not yet purchased the public library site, and it is not expected that work on the new passenger depot will begin for several weeks, the matter of the transfer of the library site and building will, it is expected, be arranged soon and it is probable that the contract for the construction of the new depot will be let in the near future. The report that construction work on the passenger depot would begin at once was erroneous. There is a large amount of work to be accomplished before the depot site can be made ready for building and a good deal of track must be laid. Owing to the lateness of the season it is possible that the depot will not be completed till next year.

ALICE WOULD JOIN HIBBING

Proposal of Annexation Submitted But No Decision Reached.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The chief feature of the meeting of the village council held last evening was an executive session which lasted for over an hour. President Barrett of the village of Alice, together with William D. Bailey of Duluth, attorney for the Scranton Iron Mining company, and several other visitors, were present to obtain the voice of the village fathers as to whether they would permit the village of Alice to ally itself with Hibbing after they had made improvements to the extent of $150,000 under their present village incorporation, or not.

The result of the executive session was hazy. Whether the village of Alice should be allowed to ally itself with Hibbing with that amount of indebtedness on its shoulders without obtaining some figures first was the stumbling block. No one present was able to produce the figures, therefore the executive session adjourned without accomplishing anything definite, and the council went into open session, which wasn't worth much writing about. The usual routine matters were gone through with; the municipal court reports, fire department report and the police department report was read and approved. Several saloon license renewals were granted and a discussion was carried on anent a petition presented by five property owners along Mahoning street from First to Second avenues for a cement gutter. It was referred to the streets and alleys committee to report at the next meeting of the council.

ATTENDANCE AT HIBBING SUBURBAN SCHOOLS.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herbert Blair, superintendent of the Hibbing school district, has ascertained the attendance of the first day of the school year in the outlying schools, with the exception of Kelley Lake and Little Swan, which places have not yet been heard from.

The attendance at the suburban, village and location schools yesterday were: Alice, 108; Brooklyn, 126; Lestonia, 52; Mahoning, 25; Martin, 19; Penobscot, 24; Poole, 99; Glenn, 52; Kitzville, 110; Stephenson, 100.

MINER AT THE ADAMS MARRIED AT EVELETH.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fulda Makl and T. Kytonen were married last evening at the home of Rev. Peter Keranen of the Finnish Lutheran church. The groom is employed as miner at the Adams mine, and the couple will make their home here.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a weekly meeting at the home of Mrs. R. M. Cornwall on B avenue tomorrow afternoon.

The Gustavus Adolphus lodge will hold a flower exhibition at Monitor hall, Sept. 21.

THIRD PARTY IS NOW ACCUSED

Two Men Now Under Arrest at Grand Rapids for Murder.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 6.—Steve Skorich and Kuzman Sorich, both of whom are now in jail here, the latter having been brought here by Sheriff Riley from Niagara, Wis., claim that it was a third party, Eli Yerkovich, who was responsible for the death of a man named Milkovich on June 19. Although they admit they were implicated in an atempt to rob the victim, they declared they tried to restrain Yerkovich from the actual shooting. Yerkovich is still at large.

According to the stories of the men under arrest, they, with Yerkovich, followed Milkovich along the Taconite-Holman road to the bend where they approached him and demanded money, knowing that he had just cashed a pay check. The man refused this and showed fight, whereupon Yerkovich drew a .44 caliber revolver and against their protests and efforts to restrain him, shot the man squarely in the breast, death ensuing at once.

Sorich has been sought ever since and was finally caught at Niagara Wis., where he formerly worked, and brought back here through the state of Michigan without extradition papers. Skorich was arrested shortly after the crime was discovered and it is believed the authorities will succeed in apprehending Yerkovich.

ANNUAL TAX LEVY.

By the Virginia School Board Amounts to $215,000.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board at its meeting Tuesday night made the annual tax levy, which totaled $215,000 for all purposes, the various items being teachers' wages $65,000, fuel $7,000, furniture and apparatus $10,000, improvement to grounds $5,000, purchase of sites $5,000, new school buildings $12,480, supplies $5,500, text books $4,000, repairs on buildings $8,000, janitors' wages $8,000, bonds and interest $21,520, library $1,500, outstanding orders $52,000.

Action on the proposition to heat and light the public library building was deferred, though all present favored the heating the building free and lighting it also, if practical and economical.

TAXED TO ITS CAPACITY.

High School Auditorium at Eveleth Crowded With Pupils.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The public schools opened yesterday with a very good attendance. The high school auditorium was taxed to its capacity, the many eighth grade pupils from the Fayal and high school districts adding to the large number present. Misses Grace Barrah, Elizabeth Marsh, Jessie Schneider and Professors John S. Peoples and Harry Lyons, and Supt. Burton O. Greening were among the old high school instructors present, while Misses Alma Swanson, Alma Pennock, Moyla Kirchan and Principal V. R. Boardman were numbered among the new faces on the high school faculty.

The portable schools recently erected were opened for the first time and accommodated many of the grade students. The problem of accommodating the large number of pupils will be lessened with the completion of the new Fayal school, in January.

FINED FOR OFFERING VENISON FOR SALE.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Gheer, who was arrested Monday on the charge of offering venison for sale, was taken before Judge Carey in municipal court Tuesday afternoon and fined $27.50, which he paid.

DR. RICE TO LECTURE AT MARBLE M. E. CHURCH.

Marble, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. M. S. Rice of the First M. E. church of Duluth will deliver his popular and humorous lecture, "A Dead Line and a Dead Dog," next Tuesday evening, Sept. 12, under the auspices of the M. E. Sunday school here. Miss Louise Gilbert is chairman of the entertainment committee.

IRON ORE IS STRUCK IN A CREAMERY WELL.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 6.—After drilling about two weeks and sinking the hole 100 feet, the work of putting down the creamery well, which was continued by a party of business men in the hope of finding ore, was rewarded yesterday, when iron was struck. Although no assay has been made of the sample secured, its appearance indicates a good grade of ore. The drilling will be continued.

ANNUAL BUDGET FOR CHISHOLM PREPARED.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 6.—The water, light, power and building commission yesterday passed the annual budget for the department, the amount settled upon being that which will be asked of the village council for street lighting, water mains, building maintenance and so forth. The budget passed was for a total of $92,200, practically the same as last year. It includes $12,000 for electric street lighting, $40,000 for new work of various kinds and $10,000 for water mains.

Leaves on Vacation.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 6.—Miss Rose Silk, clerk of municipal court, left yesterday for Chicago, where she will spend her vacation. Miss Silk will visit a few days in Duluth with her family. Miss Witts will act as clerk during her absence.

Will Return to Panama.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 6.—Miss Elsie Thiel, the well-known Hibbing violinist and musician, left yesterday for Duluth where she will remain a few days before returning to Panama. Miss Thiel has been visiting her father, Carl Thiel and her brother, Richard.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Forbes Stock company in "The Wolf."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

The farewell bill of the summer engagement of the Forbes Stock company opened this afternoon at the Lyceum theater, when "The Wolf," one of the popular modern dramas, was presented. The scene of the play is placed in Northwest Canada, and the situations are thrillingly dramatic. Mr. Forbes plays the role of Jules, the young French Canadian trapper. Frederick Van Renselear is seen as McTavish, the stern old Scotch settler and Jane Stuart as Hilda. "The Wolf" will be the bill all the remainder of this week, with a Saturday matinee.

An unusually beautiful ring is worn by Nat Wills, who is at the Orpheum this week.

"I was in Johannesburg, South Africa," he said, "just before the commencement of the Anglo-Boer war, and was presented with this ring by Roy Wellington, Cecil Rhodes' superintendent of diamond mines. I appeared as an entertainer at a banquet given by him, and on leaving the hall he gave it to me in the rough. I had it cut in London."

"Suppose you could have bought diamonds at a great discount in Johannesburg?"

"Yes, I could, but there is a law prohibiting the purchase of them in the rough. For every uncut diamond found in one's possession, it is possible to levy a fine of $500."

"Were you in South Africa after hostilities commenced?"

"No, we sailed for London just before, Johannesburg, where he were appearing—my wife was appearing with me—is only twenty miles from Pretoria, the capital. My wife is what might be considered a kodak fiend. One day while visiting Pretoria, she was taking snap shots of everything in sight including the fortifications, and she was gathered in for a British spy. We had considerable difficulty in proving our identity in time to get back to Johannesburg for the evening performance. It is the only country on earth for a young man who is ambitious. Of course I mean, in time of peace."

The Brothers Bryne in "A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps," are featuring an excellent bill at the Empress this week. These boys have already made a great reputation for themselves with their famous "Eight Bells" production but in this their first vaudeville venture, they have outshone any of their previous productions. "A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps" is a combination of pantomimic comedy and some clever acrobatic work. The piece is extremely funny and those who have seen it have laughed themselves hoarse. "Ambition" is the title of a very pretty playlet which is being presented by Moore & Palmer. This little playlet is full of interest and is different from anything presented at the Empress this season. It tells a very pretty story of love and devotion and presents the old question of the stage versus the church in a charming manner. Miss Palmer as Grace Briarton, an actress, is charming and handles her role in a finished manner. Mr. Moore has two roles, his first as Hugh Davidge and the second as John Davidge, a clergyman. He handles both in a highly creditable manner. "Ambition" is proving a big favorite this week.

Vaudeville has seen many change artists but Edward Clark presents three characters that are just a little bit better than any seen at the Empress this season. His first s that of a self made man of the world, his second a chorus girl and his third a street urchin of 13. Mr. Clark's chorus girl is exceptionally good and gives him a rare opportunity to display his talents. Charles Montrell has a juggling act that is really good. He works with unbidering speed and his tricks for the most part are new. The Two Roses present a musical act and come in for a good bit of applause at each performance.

No theatrical announcement brings more joy to the hearts of certain playgoers than the tidings that "In Old Kentucky" is again to pay a visit to this city. Year after year, this sterling American drama has been attracting widespread attention and drawing capacity audiences in all portions of the country, and its enduring success is the marvel of theatrical circles. The delightful romance of Kentucky life revealed in "In Old Kentucky," the comical little darkey boys, the heroic mountain lass Madge Brierly, the exciting horse race, the stirring combat amid the Kentucky hills the amusing Col. Doolittle and his struggle to keep his vow never to enter another race track, and the other well remembered episodes of this drama have sank deep in the memories of all who have witnessed it. "In Old Kentucky" continues as fresh, as bright and as new as on the day of its birth and it never wears out its welcome. It is booked at the Lyceum for Sunday night, Sept. 10.

Chauncey Olcott, in a new romantic play, "Macushla" (Pulse of My Heart), will be seen at the Lyceum theater for one week commencing Monday evening, Sept. 11, with a Saturday mathee only. The play is from the pen of Rida Johnson Young, who, it will be remembered, wrote "Ragged Robin" in collaboration with Rita Olcott, as well as Mr. Olcott's success of last season, "Barry of Ballymore," in which pieces she established her claim as a clever writer of Irish plays. Mrs. Young in "Macushla" has written a charming love romance of life in Ireland during the early part of the nineteenth century. She has grasped the spirit of that madcap epoch in a masterly way, portraying the fox-hunting gentry with the skill of a Charles Lever, and in the leading role of the piece has given Mr. Olcott one of the best parts he has ever played.

WIRE-TAPPING CHARGED AND SIX MEN ARE ARRESTED

Denver, Colo., Sept. 6.—Charged with attempting to fleece August Mathis of Altoona, Neb., out of $5,000 by a "wire-tapping" game six men were arrested here yesterday. Mathis declares he lost $100 on a race bet placed at the building where the men were arrested, and claims he was induced to put up a check for $5,000 on another race which he says was a fake.

CASCARETS FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently but thoroughly cleanse and regulate your Stomach, Liver and Bowels while you sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too.

RETURNS AN ENTHUSIAST

Albert Groll, Landscape Artist, Says American Scenery Is Unequaled.

Growing Appreciation of Good Art Also Appeals to Painter.

Albert Lorey Groll, one of the foremost of America's landscape painters, who is in Duluth visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lachmund, is full of enthusiasm for American scenery.

Mr. Groll has just returned from a trip through the Canadian Northwest and while he is eloquent in his description of its grandeur and beauty, he says it does not equal certain parts of the American West. "No American landscape painter need ever go abroad for material," said Mr. Groll this morning. "The West contains just as fine subjects for the landscape man's brush as anything I have seen in Europe, or Canada."

Mr. Groll also says that the West is growing in its desire and appreciation of good art. Mr. Groll is one of the 100 members of the American National Academy and is chairman of the jury of thirty artists who will pass on this year's exhibition which will be held in New York city in December. As chairman of this jury he is in receipt of very frequent communications from Western art lovers asking for the loan of different pictures for temporary exhibition purposes. He says that the discrimination shown by the people of the West in chosing the different artists whose work is desired for their exhibitions is growing more and more remarkable and their choice is excellent. Every effort is made by the artists to comply with their requests as far as possible.

Mr. Groll is one of fourteen artists who own the $600,000 Gainsborough studio building on Columbus circle in New York city. The building is given up altogether to artists' studios with one exception, William Dean Howells, the novelist, having rooms there.

Several of Mr. Groll's pictures are owned in Duluth, F. E. House and C. A. Congdon being among the owners here.

Mr. Groll is having the beauties of Duluth forcibly impressed upon him by Mr. Lachmund, who is trying to persuade the famous artist to spend some time in Northern Minnesota.

FORMER DULUTHIAN WRITES FAREWELL NOTE IN BLOOD.

Said to have become despondent following a quarrel with his sweetheart, a woman of the underworld, Elnar Ollila, a young man who formerly lived on West Seventh street, tried to commit suicide at Detroit Monday night by slashing his throat with a razor, according to word received here yesterday.

It is claimed that he dipped a toothpick in his blood and scrawled a message to his sweetheart, reading: "Elda, good bye." He was found shortly afterwards in an unconscious condition and removed to a hospital, where it is thought that he will recover. While in the city he was employed as a cutter by the Northern Shoe company.

EDDY WRIT MODIFIED.

Contest Over the Will of Church Founder Is Advanced.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 6.—The litigation over the estate of the late Mary B. C. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, has advanced another stage in the superior court here. Chief Justice Robert M. Wallace, who some time ago granted an injunction restraining the executor of the Eddy estate, Henry M. Baker, from removing any property of the estate from this state, modified the injunction yesterday to permit of the payment of $72,000 to the Second Church of Christ, Scientist, of New York. Mrs. Eddy's will provided for the payment to this church of a sum not to exceed $175,000, sufficient to pay off its indebtedness. The payment of this bequest was assented to by counsel in the will litigation.

After hearing arguments on the petition of attorneys for Executor Baker that the suit brought by Mrs. Eddy's son, George W. Glover of Lead, S. D., to have the residuary clause of the will declared illegal be transferred to the supreme court at New Hampshire for determination of the questions of law, Chief Justice Wallace took the matter under advisement. He gave counsel for both sides until Monday next to file memoranda supplementing their arguments. Counsel for the executor contended that the whole case was dependent on the points to be determined by the supreme court. Counsel for Glover urged that further consideration should be given in the superior court.

Williams Leads Iron Workers.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—The national officers of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, at a meeting here, elected Secretary John Williams president of the organization to succeed P. J. McArdle, who resigned to accept election to Pittsburg's city council. Assistant Secretary M. F. Tighe was advanced to the position vacated by Mr. Williams' election, and D. J. Davis, national trustee, becomes assistant to Mr. Tighe.

SENATORS SPEND $3,500.

Virginians' Campaign Statements Given Out at Capital.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The first campaign publicity statements, those of Senators Martin and Swanson of Virginia, filed in accordance with the campaign publicity law passed at the recent session of congress, have been made public by order of Secretary of the Senate Bennett. They had been kept secret because the act contained no requirement for publicity of individual statements filed by candidates for the senate and house.

Both Senators Martin and Swanson showed that on the day their reports were filed, which was exactly the required ten days before next Thursday, when the Democratic senatorial primary election will be held in Virginia, they were far below the maximum $10,000 which a senatorial candidate may spend to secure his election. Each had spent about $3,500.

Of this $3,000 was required of each candidate to help defray expenses of the election. Senator Martin spent $348 for newspaper space and Senator Swanson $232. In addition, each said he expected to incur a further expense of "several hundred dollars for space and editorials."

Senator Swanson engaged hotel headquarters at Richmond at $55 a week and Senator Martin said his expense on this account would be small.

26.45 from DULUTH to the Pacific Northwest and you travel over the Standard Road of the West

If you are bound to the wheel of circumstance, you do not have to stay there. There is an opportunity in the Pacific Northwest for every man who goes out there.

There is only one thing lacking—that is, men. Portland, Seattle and Tacoma need clerks, salesmen, manufacturers; the country needs farmers. The soil is rich and conditions are most favorable. Nature is prolific in her yield out there, so much so as to surprise the "back East farmer." Forty acres is enough to keep a farmer in luxury.

When you go, travel over the

the great national highway over which for two generations the West has gone East and the East had gone West.

On September 16th, 17th and 18th, the Union Pacific will run Colonist Trains de Luxe. These trains will carry tourist sleeping cars, a diner serving excellent meals as low as fifty cents, and a lounging car in which will be given, three times daily, Victrola Concerts. Double-faced records will be used, comprising national airs, sacred songs, humorous songs and dialect sketches.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

DIXIE WINS SECOND RACE

Accident to Pioneer Makes Victory of American Boat Easy.

Engine of English Boat Unable to Stand Strain and Collapses.

Huntington, L. I., Sept. 6.—Superior speed and construction and an accident gave to America yesterday the custody for another year of the Harmsworth trophy for the world's motor boat championship. The Dixie IV., the speediest boat of the American defending craft, carried off the honors. If it had not been for an accident to the duke of Westminster's Pioneer, the Englishman, however, might have saved the day for the challengers.

The Pioneer was within 100 feet of the Dixie at the second stake boat of the second round, after gaining 200 feet during the first round. In turning the west stake buoy, however, Noel Robbins, steering the Pioneer, put on all speed. The engine would not stand it, and there was a collapse.

Dixie Slackens Speed.

The Dixie increased her lead from 100 feet to half a mile, then a mile and then four miles while the crew of the Pioneer strained themselves to overcome the difficulty.

After gaining this advantage, however, the Dixie slackened speed, making no effort to more than hold the race safe. Robbins and his crew by hard work got the engine on the Pioneer to working and she got back into the race before the Dixie had entered the second leg of the third lap, and with the added handicap against her, gamely re-entered the race, going the pace for three rounds.

Long after two of the American boats had finished, the Pioneer approached the finish and then she had another blow-up. She was within a short distance of the committee boat at the time and the committee megaphoned her that she not finish, so her time was not taken for the fourth and last round.

Disturber Is Accident.

Disturber II, the Chicago marvel, did well on the first round, but just after the second stake of the first round, was turned, while she was buried in spray, a floating empty soap box was caught. As the boat, with suddenly increased speed, leaped into the air like a flying fish, her bow came down on the floating soap box. It tore a big hole in the disturber's hull and she had to retire for shore to keep from sinking. While the hull was wrecked badly, it is believed the engines are safe.

The first round of the four-lap contest was adjudged the most exciting race ever held on the water, with the British boat constantly gaining. After the Pioneer blew up, however, it was a hopelessly one-sided affair, with the Englishmen without a chance.

Enthusiasm died out, although later at the Casino, Noel Robbins and the other Englishmen were given a hearty welcome by the conquerors.

Robbins Says Pistons Stuck.

"I knew I made forty-seven miles an hour with the Pioneer abroad," said Mr. Robbins, who represents the duke of Westminster. "I was certain with the care and improvements I have given that boat we could do better than the time here. But the motors would not work for me. There was something wrong. When I saw the chance to overtake the Dixie I put on the power and the pistons stuck. I feared there would be an explosion and we had to stop. After we got the engines going again they worked fine until we approached the finish, and then they clogged once more.

"I do not know what I will tell his lordship. The Dixie is certainly a marvel. She can beat an express train."

"The duke of Westminster says he is determined that the Harmsworth cup shall come back to England," Mr. Robbins said, "and wants us to find out if possible how the Dixie gets her speed."

Mr. Burnham, who handled the Dixie, said he never let the boat out. Many persons believe the boat can make at least fifty miles an hour. She has shown forty-four and a fraction, and her owners say she was not "let out."

The Dixie's victory was the seventh American victory for the trophy.

CUBS' CAST-OFF PITCHES GREAT BALL FOR PHILLIES.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Inability to hit Curtiss, the twirler recently secured by Philadelphia from Chicago, caused Brooklyn's downfall yesterday afternoon. Not until the seventh inning was the semblance of a hit made off the new-comer. Meanwhile, the Phillies had got to Burke and chased him from the box, while Ragon, who succeeded him, fared little better. Smith, the new third baseman of the Brooklinites played his first game and made good. The score: R. H. E.

HEAVY TRACK AT HAMLINE

Conditions Are Unfavorable for Races at State Fair Grounds.

Three Events in Great Western Program Are Pulled Off.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—A heavy track and cool weather interfered with the Great Western racing program at the state fair yesterday afternoon. Only three events were pulled off.

Savage's Gene Arion easily won the 2:25 trot in straight heats with A. L. D. second and Edna Axtell third. Annie Laurie won the 2:07 pace also in straight heats. Sunny Jim finishing second and Rollins third. The 2:20 pace was another straight heat affair, George Newton being the winner with Waxahachie Boy second and Lady Heart third.

Summary:

2:25 trot, best two in three, purse $1,000:

Gene Arion, b. m. (McCarthy)	1	1
A. L. D., b. s. (Henry)	3	2	2
Edna Axtell, b. m. (Hill)	2	4	3
Corona Belle (Ames)	4	3	4

George Mack, Hal Star and Black Ford, Jr., also started.

Time—2:24; 2:24½; 2:24¼.

CLOSE RACE IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Giants and Athletics Lead But Their Margins Are Small.

Chicago drew slightly closer to New York yesterday in the race for the National league baseball pennant. The Cubs, by winning from St. Louis, gained four points and are now twenty-one points behind the Giants, who were not scheduled to play. Pittsburg was idle because of rain and today are twenty-six points in the rear of the Cubs. The standing of the first division teams is:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
New York	76	45	.628
Chicago	71	46	.607
Pittsburg	73	53	.579
Philadelphia	65	57	.533

In the American league race, the Athletics easily disposed of Washington and increased their lead over Detroit by three points to a total of forty-five. Rain kept the Tigers idle. Aside from the leadership battle the third place fight is providing a warm contest. The Highlanders occupy the place today, winning from Boston and breaking the tie with Cleveland, which did not play. The first division club standings are:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Philadelphia	81	44	.648
Detroit	76	50	.603
New York	67	60	.527
Cleveland	66	60	.524

MANITOBA FIELD TRIALS ARE STARTED AT ARNAUD.

Arnaud, Man., Sept. 6.—The Manitoba field trials opened yesterday with rather threatening weather which cleared nicely by noon though a high wind made the course a difficult one. On the whole, the dogs worked well, covering their ground fast and ranging wide. Birds were plentiful and stood well.

The afternoon events were not very satisfactory for the dogs showed a tendency to run out of judgment, necessitating several delays while they were being brought back and put on the course. However, eleven of the twenty-two brace were run off, so that two more days should finish the allage.

Fights at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—Phil Brock of Cleveland and Milburn Saylor of this city will box ten rounds here tonight at 133 pounds. Matt Brock also of Cleveland, and Johnny Creely of Brooklyn are scheduled for ten rounds at 124 pounds as one of the preliminaries.

DECISION TO LANGFORD

Boston Tar Baby Unable to Knock Jeannette Out in Short Bout.

Hoboken Negro Fights Gamely and His Showing is a Surprise.

New York, Sept. 6.—Sam Langford won his ten-round bout with Joe Jeannette in the Madison Square Garden last night, but every minute of the thirty in which blows were exchanged, the Boston man knew he had a stiff problem to solve. Jeannette fought gamely and cleverly. The Hoboken negro was at no time afraid of the Boston terror, and frequently sent back better than he received.

It was a gruelling mill from start to finish and, while it was fast and clever, the bout was somewhat of a disappointment to the followers of pugilism. Langford was expected to land a knockout in seven rounds, but the fact that Jeannette pulled through for the limit, sent Langford's stock as a likely opponent for Johnson away down.

A crowd that filled the garden witnessed the bout but the prearranged fight a week ago was avoided. The confusion outside the garden which characterized the Wells-Brown contest, was likewise missing.

Start Is Fast.

Round 1—They went to close quarters with short-arm blows with honors even. A light left hook sent Jeannette to the mat for a second. Langford hurried him to the end of the round which was the Boston man's.

Round 2—Jeannette was quick after the gong rang and after a few rapid exchanges sent Langford down for two seconds with a left and right to the face. Jeannette forced the fighting and landed five straight lefts and rights over the eye, Langford using body blows at close range. Jeannette's round.

Round 3—Langford kept rushing but Jeannette's rapid footwork bothered the Boston man. Sam sent a left and right to the face with Jeannette breaking ground. At long range there were several wicked exchanges but Langford's deadly left hooks to neck and body gave him the round.

Jeannette Goes Down.

Round 4—Langford forced Joe around the ring, but missed a half dozen swings and hooks. After a rapid exchange of body blows Jeannette sent his left to jaw and Jeannette went down for the count of eight. He stalled off the smaller man until the bell rang. Langford's round.

Round 5—Langford was the aggressor, playing for the body, with Jeannette vainly trying back-hand swings. Langford had the better of the infighting and had the round easily on points.

Round 6—Jeannette jabbed Langford with a stiff left but suffered for it by Langford's left hooks to body and neck and a left-hand smash over the right eye. Both were cautioned for holding. Langford's round.

Round 7—Langford led with right and left and forced Jeannette into a neutral corner. Jeannette broke ground and made Langford miss several swings. They exchanged several heavy lefts and rights on the head. Jeannette stood up gamely and outfought Langford. Jeannette's round.

Langford Forces Pace.

RUSSIAN WANTS RETURN MATCH

Gotch Would Wrestle Again in Two Months, But Hack Demurs.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—George Hackenschmidt left for New York yesterday afternoon after offering to post $5,000 for a private return match with Frank Gotch. He was accompanied by Americus and Koch, two of his wrestling partners. Hack will sail from New York Sept. 9.

Hackenschmidt's offer for a return match with Gotch was offset later by his contradictory statement that after leaving New York he would never return to America. In the meantime, the offer had been carried to Gotch and accepted, with the provision that the match be held within two months. This was not accepted by Hack on the ground that his injured knee would not permit his return to the ring in that time.

Gotch will leave for Humboldt, Iowa, either Friday or Saturday. He was ready and eager to return last night, but his mother and wife were not ready to leave until they had had a chance to combine the pleasure of the wrestling trip with fall shopping.

Gotch's plans are incomplete, but he stated yesterday that he would not begin his round-the-world tour for several months. He wants to spend that much time in Iowa.

DISBROW REPEATS WORLD'S RECORD PERFORMANCE.

Old Orchard, Me., Sept. 6.—Louis Disbrow, who yesterday established a new world's automobile beach record for five miles with a turn at 3 minutes, 3 seconds, repeated his performance in a twenty-five-mile event yesterday. He drove a Pope-Hartford car and covered the distance on a two and one-half-mile course in 15 minutes, 25 seconds.

There were five starters, J. W. Rutherford, in a National, finishing second; Harry Endicott in an Interstate, third; Harry Cobe in a Jackson, fourth, and G. C. Jessup in a Buick, fifth.

MINNESOTA STRONGEST

Football Dope Points to Gopher School as Conference Champions.

Wisconsin and Illinois Are Probable Contenders for Second Honors.

All the conference football coaches have issued calls for men to start work on Monday, Sept. 25. Conference rules forbid organized fall practice before Sept. 20, but every football mentor in the West will have his men on hand for practice as soon as the lid is off.

It looks like Minnesota for the conference title again this year with Illinois or Wisconsin contesting for second honors. At Minneapolis "Doc" Williams will take a bunch of about thirty men in hand when the season opens. Tom Shevlin, Yale end, will be on the coaching squad at the state university again, though he expects to leave for the East in time for the work of whipping Yale into shape for the Harvard game on Nov. 25.

Minnesota will lose heavily in the back field. It is doubtful whether a field general the equal of McGovern will appear in Minnesota uniform for some years to come. Johnson, the hard plunging half will also be sadly missed. Walker, all-American tackle, missed the election to the captaincy last year, and whether he will be back in the lineup is extremely doubtful, as the giant lineman has aspirations for an Eastern football record, and was being carefully worked up along these lines by a number of Eastern college scouts last season. Young, the veteran tackle, whose accident in the Michigan game is given as the cause of Minnesota's defeat there, will also be a distinct loss.

Aside from these men the Maroon and Gold eleven should line up fully as strong as last year. Williams had a bunch of near eligibles and substitutes last season that were able to give the varsity as hard a fight as they had all season, and it is understood that a goodly share of those men are in shape to play this year.

Michigan is dropped from the Gopher schedule this year and Illinois substituted, this game to be played at Urbana on Nov. 25. Illinois had a clear title to second conference honors last year and this will be one of the big games of the western season. The Illini team is coming back with only slight losses and their style of brilliant open offensive work is the one kind of attack that Williams has shown himself incapable of solving.

New Coach.

At Wisconsin a new coach makes the situation a very doubtful one. Jack Richards is an unknown quantity since he has done no coaching of importance since leaving Wisconsin on graduation some years ago. When in school he was an all-Western half and a wonderful man on both offense and defense, but his coaching ability is mere guess work. From present prospects Richards will have the best bunch of material to work with that any Cardinal coach has had since the day of the Collier's Weekly expose and the consequent athletic reforms which were instituted at the Badger school. The freshman team last year pushed the varsity all over the field in practice and made Langford miss several swings. They exchanged several heavy lefts and rights on the head. Jeannette stood up gamely and outfought Langford. Jeannette's round.

Langford Forces Pace.

RUSSIAN WANTS RETURN MATCH

Gotch Would Wrestle Again in Two Months, But Hack Demurs.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—George Hackenschmidt left for New York yesterday afternoon after offering to post $5,000 for a private return match with Frank Gotch. He was accompanied by Americus and Koch, two of his wrestling partners. Hack will sail from New York Sept. 9.

Hackenschmidt's offer for a return match with Gotch was offset later by his contradictory statement that after leaving New York he would never return to America. In the meantime, the offer had been carried to Gotch and accepted, with the provision that the match be held within two months. This was not accepted by Hack on the ground that his injured knee would not permit his return to the ring in that time.

Gotch will leave for Humboldt, Iowa, either Friday or Saturday. He was ready and eager to return last night, but his mother and wife were not ready to leave until they had had a chance to combine the pleasure of the wrestling trip with fall shopping.

Gotch's plans are incomplete, but he stated yesterday that he would not begin his round-the-world tour for several months. He wants to spend that much time in Iowa.

DISBROW REPEATS WORLD'S RECORD PERFORMANCE.

Old Orchard, Me., Sept. 6.—Louis Disbrow, who yesterday established a new world's automobile beach record for five miles with a turn at 3 minutes, 3 seconds, repeated his performance in a twenty-five-mile event yesterday. He drove a Pope-Hartford car and covered the distance on a two and one-half-mile course in 15 minutes, 25 seconds.

There were five starters, J. W. Rutherford, in a National, finishing second; Harry Endicott in an Interstate, third; Harry Cobe in a Jackson, fourth, and G. C. Jessup in a Buick, fifth.

eye, Bob Moha of Milwaukee defeated Billy Berger of Pittsburg in a twelve-round bout at the Armory Athletic club last night. Only in the first round did Berger have any slight advantage.

BIDWELL IS MISSING AND ACCOUNTS ARE SHORT.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 6.—Following a meeting of the Kentucky racing commission here yesterday, Chairman Milton Young made the announcement that W. E. Bidwell, former secretary of the commission, is short $1,203 in his accounts with the commission.

Bidwell came to Lexington from Hartford, Conn. He disappeared in June and although this country and Canada was searched no trace of him could be found. His friends believe he is dead.

SOPRANO, THE FAVORITE, WINS FEATURE EVENT.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 6.—There were but two races in the grand circuit yesterday, the 2:08 trot and the 2:19 trot. Soprano, whose work on the track this year has been marked, was the favorite in the 2:08 and won the first and last two heats and the race with 2:06¾ in the first heat, the best time.

With but three entries, the 2:19 trot was easy for Lee Wilson, the gelding taking the race in straight heats.

DOES HE WIN OR LOSE?

Broker on New York Curb Buys Standard Oil Stock.

New York, Sept. 6.—A broker on the "curb," New York's open air stock market, bought five shares of Standard Oil stock yesterday, the first lot of this stock to be traded in since transactions on the issue were brought to a stop by the beginning of the corporation's dissolution. The broker admitted, after the market closed, that he did not know whether he had made money or lost it.

Speculators on the curb made determined efforts to reach a basis for resuming trading in the stock, for there seemingly are opportunities for huge profits for the traders who guess nearest to what the shares will be worth under the new order of things. The last transactions in the old stock, before the books of the corporation closed last week for distribution of the subsidiaries among the stockholders, were at about $630 a share. The broker who purchased the only stock traded in yesterday paid $340 a share for "subsidiaries," that is, excluding the stocks of the subsidiary companies which are to be distributed among the old stockholders. This purchased three subsidiaries, to be delivered when issued, at the rate of $325 for the stock to go with each share of the old issue.

LIGHT VOTE IN OHIO.

Tom L. Johnson's Protege Nominated in Cleveland.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 6.—A light vote was cast in the municipal primaries of the state, in which the liquor question was the principal issue in the largest cities. In Columbus, Mayor George Marshall, a conservative, won out, over two other Republican candidates who were liberals.

In Cleveland, Newton Baker, protege of the late Tom L. Johnson, was nominated by the Democrats, and Frank G. Hogen was nominated to head the Republican ticket.

In Cincinnati, Henry T. Hunt, Democrat, and Louis Seliwab, the present mayor, a Republican, were named. The liquor question was not involved in Cleveland and Cincinnati.

In Toledo early returns indicated that Alvin C. Jones, the "dry" candidate, had won. Complete returns reversed that forecast and State Senator Carl Keller, the "wet" candidate, won the Republican nomination for mayor.

POLITICAL TALK HEARD

Wharton and Shartel Mentioned as Possible Candidates for Mayor.

Mayor Cullum Expected to Be Candidate for Another Term.

With the city primaries more than three months and the election about five months away, the city politicians of the nearly-all-the-year-around type are putting out feelers and groping for the pulse of the city's political situation.

The interest just now centers in the mayoralty. Ward candidates will not be talked of until much nearer the primaries, but the men who take a deep interest in city politics, consider themselves privileged to talk of candidates for mayor just as soon as the new mayor takes the oath of office.

It is believed that Mayor Cullum will again be a candidate at the Democratic primaries. He will not discuss the matter himself, but his friends believe that he should run again and they will endeavor to prevail upon him to do so. If talk now prevalent develops, the chances are that the mayor will not be without opposition in his own party. Friends of Joseph E. Shartel, president of the council and alderman from the Fourth ward for a number of years, are grooming him to make the run and if the pressure is strong enough, Mr. Shartel may enter the primaries in opposition to the present mayor.

Those who follow city politics say that a race between Mayor Cullum and Mr. Shartel would be an interesting one. The mayor has been through a number of hard campaigns. After being defeated at the primaries by E. A. Tessman, four years ago, Dr. Cullum came back two years later and won from R. D. Haven, the Republican candidate, who had defeated Mr. Tessman at the polls.

Mr. Shartel has been intimately associated with city politics for a number of years. He has served several terms in the council and is now president of that body.

Alderman James A. Wharton of the First ward is said to be slated for the Republican nomination for mayor this year. Mr. Wharton has not announced his candidacy for the office, but he is said to be in Barkis' mood and is very likely to be hitched to the elephant for the race at the polls.

Mr. Wharton is serving his first term as alderman from the First ward, having succeed Alex G. McKnight in the council. He is a valuable member of the council and Republicans believe that he would have a better chance of restoring the city administration to the banner of the G. O. P. than any candidate they could settle upon at this time.

It isn't very likely that anyone will get excited over the city political situation for some two months yet. If any excitement develops at all. The politicians will do their talking, however, and the subjects of their conversation indicate the direction of the political wind.

GIRL FALLS NINE STORIES DOWN ELEVATOR SHAFT.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 6.—Loretta Steinwert, 17 years old, employed in the check room of the Western Union Telegraph company, fell nine floors down an elevator shaft in the Inquilis building here yesterday and was probably fatally injured.

S.S.S. A GREAT TONIC AND BLOOD PURIFIER

There is one reason above all others which makes S.S.S. the greatest of all tonics, and that is because it is the most perfect of all blood purifiers. Any system which needs a tonic, needs a blood purifier, for it is impure blood which causes the weakened, run-down condition of the body. S.S.S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, which possess not only strengthening properties, but at the same time are recognized as ingredients of the greatest value for removing every impurity, poison or taint from the circulation. S.S.S. improves the appetite and digestion, corrects stomach disturbances and steadily tones and builds the system up to perfect health. It adds to the blood the rich, healthful properties it needs, and in every way benefits the system. S.S.S. cures all diseases and disorders arising from weak or impure blood. Book on the blood and medical advice free. S.S.S. is for sale at drug stores. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

ASK PAROLE FOR JOHN R. WALSH

Application Will Be Made to Federal Board Sept. 12.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—An application for the parole of John R. Walsh, former Chicago banker, from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., will be presented to the federal board of parole when it meets Sept. 12.

The last obstacle to his parole was removed last month when the United States district attorney here requested that the remaining indictments against the former banker be dismissed. The prisoner has served one-third of his term of five years.

CALLS DR. WILEY AN EGOTISTIC AUTOCRAT.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 6.—The South Platte Millers' association has condemned Dr. Wiley, head of the national chemistry bureau. He was stigmatized as an egotistic autocrat who selfishly has sought to build up his own power at the expense of the nation's best interests. One of the doctor's greatest sins, according to the millers' association, has been his monopoly of the favor of the press.

WELCOME TO VISITORS

Duluthians Will Meet Officials of United States Steel Corporation.

Visitors Will Be Guests at Dinner at Commercial Club.

Every effort will be made by Duluth people, both those connected with the iron and steel industry here and other prominent citizens to make the visit of the officials of the United States Steel corporation here tomorrow a pleasant one. While the trip is of course primarily a business excursion made by the big steel men of the country for the purpose of looking over the important holdings both here and on the ranges, an attempt will be made to make the dinners at which the distinguished visitors are to be guests tomorrow pleasant affairs of the kind which will further cement the friendship which the officials have for this city and Northern Minnesota.

The party will arrive in Duluth over the Northwestern line tomorrow morning. Shortly after arriving an important business session will be held in the office of President W. J. Olcott of the Oliver Iron Mining company. At noon the Commercial club will be the scene of a dinner tendered the visitors by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern and the Duluth & Iron Range railroad companies. To this not only the railroad officials but various prominent Duluthians have been invited.

Visit to Steel Plant Site.

Immediately after the dinner a special train will take the officials to the site of the new steel plant and a thorough inspection will be made of the already imposing work there.

In the evening the Oliver Iron Mining company will entertain the visitors and as many prominent men of the city as the Kitchi Gammi club will accommodate at a dinner where every effort will be made to bring the men in charge of the Steel corporation's work into close touch with Duluth and its interests. The trip promises to be a memorable one for Duluth in every way.

After a tour of inspection of the ranges lasting from Thursday evening to Sunday morning, the party will return to Duluth and will be here until the evening train Sunday. Plans for their entertainment Sunday have not been completed, but will probably include an inspection of the harbor and a visit to the boat club.

SAY DIEGLE HAS NOT TOLD ENOUGH

Ohio Bribe Case Prosecutors Refuse to Recommend Clemency.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 6.—Prosecuting Attorney W. C. Turner and Attorney General G. S. Hogan went into conference this morning to consider the confession of Rodney J. Diegle, former sergeant-at-arms of the Ohio senate, who was convicted of aiding bribery. They announced before the conference that clemency for Diegle would probably not be recommended.

After only fifteen minutes together, Hogan and Turner parted and the latter made this statement:

"Our position had not been changed. Diegel came to us and volunteered to confess. He has not told everything. If he tells all we will give him some consideration. The confession he has made will not do. Unless he tells the remainder—the whole truth—he will have to wear stripes."

WIPING OUT ERRORS MADE BY THE LITTLE BLIND GOD

Dan Cupid's Mistakes Shown in Big Grist of Divorce Cases.

The divorce mill began grinding this morning when the case of Sally Wray, 37 years old, against her husband, George A. Wray, 38 years old, was heard by Judge Cant of the district court.

The action was brought on the grounds of habitual drunkenness, cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to provide. The decree was allowed.

In her complaint Mrs. Wray claimed that they were married in Duluth in July, 1905. She claimed that they had not lived together for some time. She stated that on different occasions she was forced to take all kinds of abuse at the hands of her husband.

According to the complaint he choked and struck her at times. One instance was cited at which he struck her over the back with a chair.

She claims that because he failed to provide properly for her she was forced to work at a private residence as a domestic so as to earn a living for herself and young child.

On a charge of desertion Mildred C. Burgan, 27 years old, asks a divorce from her husband, Hoyt P. Burgan, 32 years old. She claims that they were married at Minneapolis in 1905 and that in 1910 he deserted. The case will be heard this afternoon.

Mrs. Anna Anderson, 37 years old, asks a divorce from her husband, Paul Anderson, 47. She claims cruel and inhuman treatment and in her complaint cites a long list of indignities to which she claims she was subjected.

She claims that her husband has threatened to kill her; that for a long time he has refused to work, spending his time and money at saloons; that he has chased her out of the home and threatened her with bodily harm if she dared to come back; and that while seriously ill with typhoid fever, he made her get out of bed. The case will be tried this afternoon.

APPLIES FOR AUTOMOBILE

Sheriff Says Purchase of Machine Would Save Money for County.

Shows That Amount Expended on Livery Hire Last Year Would Buy Car.

Sheriff Meining appeared before the county commissioners at their regular monthly meeting held this morning at the courthouse and asked the commissioners to give him an automobile that the expense of the county in carting prisoners about may be lessened.

Mr. Meining brought to the meeting with him figures which showed the amount spent by the sheriff's office for livery hire during the year. The amount was practically enough to purchase a machine.

In explaining the proposition to the commissioners, Mr. Meining stated that he only appeared and asked for the machine in order to save money for the county.

As the matter was brought up just before the commissioners adjourned, it was not discussed by them at any length. A number of them are known to be in favor of buying the machine and it is probable that the board as a whole will be favorable.

The meeting of the commissioners this morning was devoid of any special interest. Several farmers and others who represented the farming districts appeared before the board and asked for roads in different parts of the county.

The usual road petitions, applications for liquor licenses and other routine matters were discussed.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

Boarding of Children Living at Distance From Schools Furnishes Problem.

The St. Louis county school board for the unorganized district, which is composed of Chairman Neil McInnis of the county board, Treasurer W. A. Holgate and Supt. of Schools N. A. Young, held a meeting this afternoon at the courthouse at which time the matter of boarding children who live at a distance from the school houses was discussed.

In some parts of the unorganized district the children live so far from the school house that it is necessary for them to board near the school five days out of each week. This makes a problem which the county school board has tried in vain to solve.

The unorganized district consists of 2,400 square miles. There are 500 children in the district and twenty-four teachers are employed to teach them. It is probable that additional teachers may be secured soon. School begins next Monday.

This year there are four new buildings. There is one near Hibbing, two near Cook and one near Brookston.

The unorganized district is composed of those districts which were found to be unable to support their schools.

POPE RATIFIES APPOINTMENTS

Kondelka Is to Be Auxiliary Bishop of Milwaukee.

Rome, Sept. 6.—Pope Pius today ratified the decision of the consistorial congregation, presented by Cardinal De Lai, appointing Right Rev. Joseph M. Koudelka of Cleveland as auxiliary archbishop of Milwaukee.

The appointment of Right Rev. Mgr. J. M. Laval, vicar-general of the archdiocese of New Orleans, to be auxiliary archbishop of New Orleans, also was ratified. In addition Mgr. Laval is created titular bishop of Hierocaesarian.

KILLED SHOWING HOW TO AVOID A SHOCK.

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 6.—While explaining to Mrs. Thomas Martin in her home how she could avoid a slight shock by not touching the metal part of an electric light switch, Ora Rau, an inspector for the municipal light plant, himself touched the switch and fell dead at Mrs. Martin's feet last night.

The house wire had received a heavy current in being crossed with a high voltage cable.

MARINE

BOATS HELD IN HARBOR

Few Captains Care to Venture Out in Northeast Storm.

Some Boats Have Taken Their Chances—Tugs Are Busy.

Owing to the severity of the weather, lake traffic at the Head of the Lakes has been hindered considerably during the past twenty-four hours. Despite the strong wind and the likelihood of its becoming worse, a number of boats have left the local harbor, and others are ready to start at any moment, as soon as they can get tug assistance to take them out. During the morning twenty-six vessels arrived, nearly every one of them of which was compelled to call a tug.

With the prospects of having better weather yesterday, fourteen boats left in the afternoon, none having gone out in the morning. So far today only seven have left. The tugs of the Union Towing & Wrecking company have been busy all day, and orders are coming in for tugs faster than they can be filled.

The northeaster that is sweeping the lake and harbor is a severe one and few captains are said to care to venture out too early, as the indications are that the storm may be a bad one.

The Minnesota of the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company left about 1 o'clock this afternoon almost seventeen hours late. She was due to arrive here yesterday at noon but did not get in until 5:40 this morning, having been held up at the lower end of the lake on account of the bad weather.

MANY NARROW ESCAPES.

Lake Captains Claim Motor Boat Operators Disregard Harbor Rules.

Captains of lake vessels claim that they are annoyed in the local harbor by amateur navigators in small power boats.

The marine men say that operators of small craft pay little or no attention to harbor regulations. Many instances of narrow escapes when the power boat insists on cutting across the bow of a steamer, have been reported to the local customs officer.

Captains say that unless the harbor regulations are more strictly enforced, there is bound to be a serious accident some day. They claim that it is impossible to stop a large boat even when going at only a fair rate of speed, and that it is up to launch owners to pay heed to harbor regulations. Many of them are willing to take a chance on the speed of their boat in cutting a steamer's bow, they claim.

The government officials patrol the harbor regularly but it is impossible to watch all the amateurs. Many have been fined for disregarding harbor regulations, however.

SUGAR GIVEN NEW ADVANCE

Prices of All Refined Grades Go Up 15 Cents Per Hundred.

New York, Sept. 6.—All grades of refined sugar were advanced 15 cents per 100 pounds today.

All day yesterday the raw sugar market was very strong and excited and prices scored an advance of 20 points, one of the largest individual advances made in ten years, and at the same time new records were established both here and abroad. Sales of centrifugal were made on the basis of 5.56 against 5.36c, the closing quotations last week. Very little sugar was offered at these figures and some offers were made at 10 points above.

The strength was due to reiteration of bad crop news, indicating very small crops both here and abroad.

Refiners in the independent field yesterday marked up refined quotations from 10 to 15 points per 100 pounds, or $6.45 to $6.50 for standard granulated.

Hold Garrison Funeral.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 66.—The funeral of Daniel E. Garrison, Jr., who shot and killed himself in a New York hotel last Saturday, was held here today. Garrison was a member of an old and welathy family of St. Louis. His fiancee, Miss Mary Williams of New York, who was en route from Europe when Garrison killed himself because he thought he was too ill to marry, attended the funeral.

700 MILES UNDER FLOOD

Thousands of Lives Reported Lost in Chinese Disaster.

Pekin Government Also Faces Serious Rebellions.

Pekin, China, Sept. 6.—The great flood which is devastating a portion of the Chinese empire extends from Ichany, in the province of Hupeh, to Shanghai on the coast, a distance of about 700 miles. The banks of the Yangste Kiang have been obliterated, except in the highlands and around the walled cities and towns.

So far the loss of life can only be estimated, but it is believed that thousands of persons have been drowned. Farm houses and brush huts have been submerged throughout the entire district or are floating down the river. The loss to foreign property is extensive.

The Liao river in Manchuria is also flooded. Many have been drowned and a serious famine in that section is certain.

Pekin Has Many Troubles.

The Chinese government has other important matters confronting it at the present time. Rebellions have arisen in not less than five different quarters. Reports received here say that in the province of Kansu, 20,000 Mohammedans are threatening Sining Fu. The Canton authorities are worried by terrorists whom they are endeavoring to ferret out.

Reports have also been received that Chinese troops in Tibet have been defeated with a loss of 600 men and have retired into Lhassa.

In the fourth place, the Mongolian princes and religious heads are uniting against the Chinese development and colonization schemes and are reported to have appealed to Russia for protection.

COMPLAIN OF PAPER RATES

Hennepin and Watab Companies Appeal to Commission.

Washington Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hennepin Paper company of Little Falls, Minn., and the Watab Pulp & Paper company of Sartell, today filed a complaint against the Northern Railway company and thirty other railway companies, with the interstate commerce commission.

The complainants specifically aver that the rates maintained by the respondents on news print paper, carload lots minimum 50,000 pounds, from Little Falls and Sartell to points in the Central Freight association territory, Western Trunk Line territory and Southwestern Lines territory are unjust, unreasonable, and discriminatory as against these complainants, and the Watab Paper & Pulp company complains that the respondents maintain high and unreasonable rates on scrap paper from Kansas City and Omaha to its mill at Sartell.

MAY RUN FAIR INTO NEXT WEEK

State Board Considers Extending Time to Wednesday Night.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state fair board may set a precedent and break a record. Its members are considering the advisability of continuing the fair for three days next week.

The poor weather of the last three days has kept the crowds down to small numbers, and the board not only feels that it might be well to prolong the life of this year's fair, which is considered to be the "best ever" in the matter of exhibits.

No action has been taken on the suggestion, but another meeting of the board will be called late this afternoon or this evening, at which some definite conclusion will be reached.

LEGISLATORS HOLD GATHERING AT ST. PAUL.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—There was a small gathering of legislators in State Insurance Commissioner Preus' office yesterday and the political situation was discussed informally. It is believed there will not be any formal attempt to get the leaders together during the week, as little is done during an off-year. Most of the legislators who are in town are laying plans to come back in 1913. A number of them are doing some work among their constituents.

Among those who were at the state capitol yesterday were: Donald Robertson, Argyle; Senator Victor Johnson, Dan Shell, F. C. Christie, Austin; C. T. Knapp, Chisholm, C. W. Bouk, Royalton, and former Senator Schaln.

AUDIENCE SEES SIGHT NOT ON THE PROGRAM.

The matinee audience at the Lyceum this afternoon saw a rather novel sight. The drays carrying the scenery from Superior broke down this morning, and the scenery did not arrive until 3 o'clock this afternoon. The stage had to be set after that hour, and the curtain was raised, allowing the audience to watch the work of the stage manager and the assistants.

GRAHAME-WHITE WINS BOSTON LIGHT FLIGHT.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—In a squally 20-mile wind, Claude Grahame-White, the English aviator, swept fifteen and one-half miles out to Boston light and return at a speed of more than a mile a minute and won the event at the Harvard-Boston aero meet yesterday. His official time in his Nieuport monoplane was 14 minutes, 9 4-5 seconds. Tom Sopwith, the British rival of Grahame-White, in a Bleriot monoplane, was second, and Earle L. Ovington was third in his Bleriot.

STORY OF A BLACKBIRD.

Harrodsburg, Ky., Herald: In 1908 a one legged blackbird and his mate were noticed busily building their nest in the yard of C. D. Thompson's home. He was noticed especially because of his crippled condition and the family did everything they could to make their stay in the yard agreeable. A nestful of young was raised and sent out into the world the way of all young birds, and when frost came the crippled squatter and his mate left for parts unknown.

Much to the surprise of the family the next spring the blackbird was back again, apparently with the same mate, and another home was made and later deserted by the offspring. In 1910 as soon as the birds began winging their way back from the South the Thompson household kept a sharp lookout for the little crippled summer boarder. Pretty soon he came and with his mate, as usual, whom the household feel has always been the same bird, but there is no distinguishing mark about her to make them certain. This spring the couple are back again and are now getting their home ready for the raising of another family. Hereafter a tab will be kept on the one legged bird to see how long he will remain faithful and how many years he will come back and exercise his squatter privileges in the Thompson yard.

QUEER KINKS.

A London scientist has suggested that the custom of keeping house snakes, so prevalent in the tropics now and in all sections of the world in ancient days, be revived as a precaution against rats that are now proved to be the vehicles of plague germs. The snake is regarded as a much surer exterminator of rats than either terriers or cats.

According to the French scientific review Cosmos two French biologists have produced butterflies without heads They carefully removed the heads of a number of larvae and most of them survived the operation, continuing to develop into the pupa stage, but only some few underwent the last change and emerged as normal butterflies—minus the head.

The first calculating machine was invented and constructed by Blaise Pascal, a Frenchman, in 1642, in which year he was but 19 years of age. It was made by him with the aid of one workman and was presented to the chancellor of France. During the revolution it was found in a junk shop at Bordeaux and at present is the property of M. Bougouin of that city. All of the four simple mathematical operations can be made with it.

The wireless telegraph installation of two Denver boys is held responsible for queer interpretations of the electric lighting circuits in the neighborhood in which they live. At a certain hour on several evenings the fixtures in nearly houses began to sizzle and hop and the lights go out. Subsequent investigation proved that these occurrences took place when the wireless apparatus was started working. The apparatus derived its power from one of the electric company's feed wires and the "kick back" current was the cause of the trouble.

The bell of the British frigate Lutine, which sank off the Dutch coast in 1799 with a cargo of coin and specie valued at $5,000,000, is the bad news bell at Lloyd's. Whenever news is received that a ship is overdue or when definite news comes of the loss of a ship the bell is rung by the caller. At its tolling all transactions are suspended until the news it heralds is read.

Many attempts, some partially successful, have been made to recover the golden cargo of the Lutine. About $500,000 of the sum has been found, the bulk of it in 1800. It was in one of these attempts that the bell was found. Only a short time ago the wreck was again located and search for the treasure is now being made.

In Chile are several remarkable short railways which utilize the trade winds as motive power, the cars being equipped with sails. The idea of the sailing cars is credited to an engineer in charge of important government coast improvement. Impressed by the fact that a stiff breeze could be depended upon for several hours every morning and evening he built several cars and provided each of them with a sail. The idea proved so practical, according to the Railway and Engineering Review, that a number of such railways soon followed, the cheapness and practical worth making a strong appeal. The speed attainable by the sailing cars is said to be as high as thirty-five miles an hour, but this may be checked to any extent desired by the manipulation of the brakes. The trade winds blow with clocklike regularity.

DO WOLVES CHASE TRAVELERS?

"Across Unknown Labrador" in the June Wide World: Concerning wolves, I was much interested in trying to discover whether these animals (which, though seldom seen by daylight, are very numerous in Labrador) chase or attack the lonely traveler or hunter, a pastime that, according to report and the illustrated papers, their cousins of Europe undoubtedly indulge in. Who cannot recall a picture of a flying droshky and its hooded driver, with the passenger shooting a revolver over the crook of his arm at the pursuing wolf-pack?

But on the Labrador—near the settlement, at any rate—the wolf bears a fairly good character in this respect. The only instance that I know of when wolves attacked a man I have on the authority of Bishop Martin, of Nain. A settler had killed some seals on the edge of the ice and returned to his home. Later on he went back to bring in the carcasses, taking with him only a spade, as the place was not far from the station.

While he was engaged in shoveling off the snow which had collected on the bodies of the seals, four wolves came down upon him and seemed threatening. He was rather helpless, having no gun with him, but he defended himself by cutting at the neck of one of the animals with his spade. Then, keeping his face towards them, he held them off with the spade as he retreated in the direction of the shore and the settlement. The fact that they meant an attack seems to be proved by their following him for some distance, but he escaped.

SECRET OF CANADA'S BOOM.

When the Union Pacific was built, the first transcontinental line in the Western hemisphere, the word publicity was rather restricted in meaning, and the work of the publicity man was even more restricted. If Kansas and Nebraska, or Iowa and Illinois a generation earlier, had been as persistently kept before the eyes of the world as has Western Canada in the last ten years, the development of those states would have been far more rapid.

The reason for Western Canada's rapid growth has not been because the land was better than any other, says the Columbian Magazine, but because the people who wanted just such land were told where they could get it and how.

Saskatoon, Brandon, Regina, Edmontown, Calgary, Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, etc., are cities that have sprung up from the plains in ten years. Winnipeg, on the eastern edge of the Western Canadian prairie country, has grown more rapidly because of its location at the entrance to the new territory.

Saskatoon, about in the center of the province of Saskatchewan, is a busy place of 15,000 people; ten years ago it was a village. Edmonton, in Alberta; a fur trading post for more than a hundred years, has suddenly developed into a city.

Advertising is telling people where they can get wnat they want. If there is no objection to this, there is none to advertising.

DAYS OF BIG GAMBLING.

When $10,000 in Gold Dust Was an Ordinary Bet.

San Francisco Call: "I have seen $100,000 staked and lost on the turn of a single card right here in San Francisco," and Old Dennis blinked his eyes and nodded his head, as if to say, "Let that sink in under your scalp."

Dennis—George W. Dennis, to give him his name—is the aged negro janitor known to everybody that passes often through the ferry depot. He was a slave when he saw the fool and his money so expeditiously parted; a chattel, a piece of property, part of the paraphernalia brought to San Francisco in 1849 by a quartet of gamblers. Both Dennis and his mother had been used as stakes on the gambling table and more than once they had changed owners on the turn of a card, and probably it was the knowledge that he would probably go the same way again if somebody came along and broke his owner's bank—a faro bank — that prompted him to watch with unusual interest the favorite and practically the only form of entertainment in the San Francisco of that day.

Dennis has a story of his own. He was brought out here a slave. His owners gave him a chance to buy his freedom. He bought himself, and with his first earnings as a free man bought the freedom of his mother. In the end, the gamblers died or went broke, and it was left for the former slave to give one of them a fresh start in life, or, in the language of the days of gold, to stake him. That, however, is another story and can wait a while.

If you want to get a vivid picture of those careless days find Dennis in a talkative humor, let him light his pipe and he'll spin you yarns that will make you see how San Francisco appeared when it was really a wide-open town.

The particular gambling hall in which Dennis gathered the material for his story was known as the El Dorado hotel or gambling hall. It stood at the corner of Washington and Kearney streets, the present site of the Hall of Justice. Its first home was a tent thirty feet wide by sixty feet deep.

The proprietors of this center of amusement were Andy McCabe, Jim and Joe Johnson and Dennis Green. They owned the tent and they owned Dennis. Andy McCabe was a silent partner. As Dennis says, "He did not approve of gambling. He left that to his partners."

The Eldorado was opened September 18, 1849, the day Dennis and his masters landed from the steamer California, in which they had traveled from Panama. It never closed, day or night, until, again to quote Dennis, "Mister Coleman and the other gentlemen formed the Vigilance Committee."

The tent was filled with tables, at which the visitor could get any kind of a game he sought. As a matter of fact, however, most of the really serious gambling was done at the faro tables. If a man wanted diversion, says Dennis, he might sit down and play poker for thirty or forty hours but when he really wanted to gamble he chose the faro layout and he never dallied there very long.

The gamblers of those days did not believe in making two bites of a cherry.

"I've seen men come into the tent," said Dennis, "covered with the dirt and dust they had gathered on their way in from the mines. They had intended to have a shave and a bath and a good dinner. They had been looking forward to enjoyin' the feelin' that comes with clean clothes and a shave; they'd been goin' over in their minds as they swallowed dust on the road, the things they would order for dinner an' figurin' how fine it would be to have a hair cut and a shave. But they forgot everything when they heard the music we kep' a-goin' day an' night. In they'd come. Out they'd pull a sack of gold dust, and, like as not, slam the whole pile down on one card.

"Sometimes they'd win. Usually they stayed until it was all gone. I've seen many of 'em lose it all on the first card and that same day, without haircut or shave, start back for the mines to dig some more. I've seen 'em come back a dozen times."

Dennis remembers one of these repeaters whose first loss was $20,000. He went back to the mines, got some more, brought it into the El Dorado, lost it, back to the mines, back to the El Dorado and once more back to the mines. The last time he showed up he was shaven and shorn and gorgeously appareled in raiment fresh from the store. On his head was a shiny silk hat and from every pocket, like the pickets of a fence, were protruding cigars.

"I bin a fool," he explained. "But never again. Six times I've come down here to get fitted out and cleaned up, but each time I've been cleaned out first. I'm going to be thrifty from now on, and I'm always going to fit out 'fore I come here."

With this explanation he pulled out a buckskin sack containing dust worth about $10,000, placed it on a card and lost.

"S'long," he said, as he started back to the mines that afternoon, "ye see, if I hadn't been thrifty I wouldn't a had this hair cut and these clothes."

The music with which the El Dorado soothed its patrons was contributed by women musicians.

"They were French and Mexican ladies," says Dennis, "and they did some smart gamblin', too. One of 'em, a French lady, used to save up her money till she had $2,000 an' then she'd play it all on one card. She was goin' to quit Californy when she had $10,000. She could have saved that in a year if she'd left the gamblin' alone. But she preferred to win it, an the las' time I seen her she was dead broke."

The gamblers that owned Dennis made so much money that, out of the fullness of their prosperity, they decided to give him a chance to buy his freedom. It would have been more like present day ideas of '49 liberty if they had made him a present of himself. But then, as now, property was property and Dennis, in the days of gold, was just as much a chattel as the furniture in the gambling hall. Dennis bears no ill will. On the contrary, he remembers them with gratitude.

"They were slaveholders and gamblers," he says, "but I must admit that better hearted or more liberal minded men never lived."

And they certainly did give the black boy every chance to get together the sum necessary to secure his release from bondage. They put him on a salary of $250 a month, allowed him to rent a faro table and gave him the privilege of selling coffee, pies, apples and boiled eggs to their patrons. They also gave him all the "chicken feed" that came in over the gambling tables.

The eggs cost Dennis $1 a dozen.

"An' I sold 'em from 50 cents to $1 apiece," says Dennis.

He explained the range in price.

"If a man was col' sobah he got his hard boiled egg for 50 cents. The mo' liquor he had in him, the mo' he paid for his eggs. If he's jes' feelin' good I makes it 75 cents. If he staggered, his egg cost him $1. I got 25 cents apiece for apples and 25 cents a cup for coffee."

The man that lost $100,000 at one bang dug it all out of Bidwell's bar on the Feathe river. He arrived one afternoon travel-stained and tired. His "dust' w'as in long buckskin bags, securely lashed on the back of a weary burro. Leaving burro and treasure standing at the entrance to the tent, the miner walked in, strode over to one of the faro tables and stood for a few minutes watching the play.

"Help me in with the stuff," he nodded to a hangeron. The two men staggered in with their heavy burden. The miner piled it on the table, asked that it be considered all on one card. There was a flip of pasteboard and the right and title of that pile of gold passed from the man who had dug it out of the ground and lugged it for miles over a rough country to the owners of the El Dorado.

His only comment, says Dennis, was made to Jim Johnson as the later was throwing the gold into the safe.

"Ye'll have to stake me," said the miner, "I'm broke."

Johnson tossed him a bag of gold with the invitation:

"Help yourself."

All of which goes to show that the days of '49 were really and truly days of gold.

The miner returned to the Feather river, but had a hard time getting another pile, as in his absence most of his claims had been jumped.

Dennis did no gambling on his own account, but has an excuse for the gambling of others in those days.

"They was nothin' else to do. They was no home life in those days. They was no particular style about dressin' an' even if they was a man couldn't spend no $20,000 on clothes. They was no banks and sending money back East was takin' almost the same chance as playin' faro an' a whole lot more trouble. Everybody got all he wanted to eat an' the man that needed a few dollars could get it for the askin'. So there you are. Money to be had for the diggin' of it an' not much good to you when you got it. They supposed the supply would never end an' those that were not ready to go back East just gambled it away as fast as they dug it, for they knew or thought they knew jes' where they could get any amount they wanted when they did get ready to go back to the states."

By way of illustrating the forty-niners' disregard for money Dennis will tell you of the "chicken feed" that helped him toward his freedom.

On a table in the middle of the room stood a tin can into which was thrown the small money. The smallest money in circulation then was the Mexican real, but practically all silver was regarded, in the El Dorado, as "chicken feed."

When the tin can began to overflow one of the owners would pick it up and say:

"Here, Dennis, take this stuff."

In two months Dennis' share of the chicken feed amounted to $386. In three months he saved $2,600, of which he used $1,000 to purchase his freedom. Alcalde Greary issued his free papers and Dennis had them recorded in the custom house, where the record now stands.

THE BAGGAGE SMASHER STORY.

New York Sun: "How is it," the traveler asked the railroad man, "that we don't hear any more stories nowadays about the baggage smasher?"

"Well," said the railroad man, "more care in the handling of passengers' baggage is required nowadays, for one thing; and as between the trunk smasher and the trunk maker the situation is about the same as that between the armored ship builder and the projectile manufacturer, first one is ahead and then the other. One day you may have a ship that can't be perforated, but the next day may put the projectile ahead.

"There have been improvements in trunk making as in all things else, and just now you find a good many trunks that are solid and rugged, well built and well adapted to stand the strain of travel and rough handling, hard to smash. With this advance in trunk building the trunk smasher is somewhat overmatched, placed at a disadvantage; and so the trunk smashing story goes, for a time at least, into a decline; but a new and greater and stronger breed of trunk smasher may at any moment arise, and if that day should come, why, then the trunk smasher will be again on top and we shall have a gladsome revival of trunk smashing stories with modern frills and attachments."

A DELICATE POSITION.

Metropolitan Magazine: The play was an execrably bad one, and the company playing it was even worse. When the curtain fell on the first act, sounds of marked disapprobation were heard from all parts of the house. One man alone sat quiet.

At the close of the second act a perfect tornado of groans, cat calls and hisses broke out. Still the man sat unmoved. At last a man sitting in the next seat turned to him and said:

"Pardon me, but are you not disgusted with this wretched play?"

"I am, indeed," heartily concurred the silent one.

"Then why don't you signify your displeasure like the rest of us?"

"Well, you see, it's this way with me. I am here on a free ticket, and as I am getting something for nothing, I hardly feel justified in expressing my disapproval; but I'll tell you what," he concluded with emphasis, "if this confounded play gets much worse I am going out to the box office and buy a ticket, and then I will come back and hiss like the rest of you."

FRIGHTENED THE DARKY.

Young's Magazine: "Arguing backward from effect to cause," said Robert Edeson, "isn't always as easy as it seems. The other day I happened to stroll along upper Broadway, behind two mischievous hospital interns when they came to a large, fat, black African sitting on a box sound asleep. His mouth was wide open, displaying a set of perfect teeth and about $4 worth of pink tongue, at the prevailing rates. One of the interns yielded to temptation. He took a five-grain quinine capsule in his pocket, pried the end off, and deftly dusted the bitter powder on that tempting tongue. Then he wakened the negro. 'Is this Broadway?' he asked, by way of excuse for the liberty.

"The negro rose, stretched himself, and then began to savor that acrid presence in his mouth. 'Um,' said he, reflectively. 'Um-um!' His eyes widened and he clutched his throat. 'Nevah min' whether this is Broadway or not, w'ite man,' said he. 'You go git er doctah, er day'll be a daid niggah on dis corner. Ah done bus' mah gall.'"

BULLISH DAY IN THE PIT

Bad Weather Conditions Have Natural Effect on Price of Wheat.

Reports of Crop Damage Come From Many Parts of the World.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 6.—Wheat closed today at gains all along the line. These gains took place without any apparent manipulation. In fact there is no reason to theorize on any manipulation in order to account for them, for the weather reports were bullish. Duluth September wheat closed at $1.04⅞ bid, whereas yesterday's close was $1.04⅛. Duluth December made an even larger gain, closing at $1.05¼@1.05⅜, the closing price of yesterday being $1.04. Similar gains were made in other American markets. Duluth September durum also made gains, but it did not hold its position above No. 1 northern. It closed at $1.04½, or a quarter of a cent over yesterday.

September thus showed itself to be still bullish, gaining 5 cents, but October and November closed without either gains or losses, though there were some temporary losses during the session.

Up to noon today there were small and irregular fluctuations in the wheat prices. Lower foreign cables at the start were soon counteracted by higher foreign cables, reports of light offerings from Russia, and also reports of too much rain in the Northwest and cold weather in Western Canada. A report from India that the expected monsoon had failed and that the crop situation was very bad was another bullish factor. Duluth September opened at $1.04⅜, or ⅜ of a cent over yesterday's close, and at one time during the morning it reached as high as $1.04⅝. Somehow, fluctuations were within a very narrow range. By noon it had dropped back to its opening price.

Duluth durum kept up fairly well. It did not maintain its position above No. 1 northern, during the greater part of the morning its price stood at $1.04⅛, or ¼ of a cent below the close of yesterday.

George Severance, the famous Chicago wheat bull, was on the floor of the Duluth Board of Trade today. He was in conference with Julius Barnes, the Duluth trader who, as stated in last night's Herald, has long been a champion of durum wheat and has often advocated its cultivation in the Northwest. Mr. Severance was asked what in his opinion caused the advance of durum yesterday, giving it a close above the close of No. 1 northern. "I suppose," he replied, "that it is the shortage of the Russian durum crop. From what I have learned I judge that the Russian crop is 30 per cent or more short of an average crop. Russia sells much durum to those macaroni-eating Mediterranean people, and in those countries there seems to be a shortage of the material for the making of macaroni." Mr. Barnes remarked that even in this country the durum crop was light and he did not think there would be a great deal of it for export.

Flax today showed a somewhat bearish tendency for the first time in many days. Duluth October, which closed yesterday at $2.38, opened today at $2.41 but by noon had sagged to $2.35.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: The wheat market opened under pressure of small realizing induced by the lower American cables yesterday and the bearish Argentine official report and prices were ½c to ⅝c lower. There was some abatement in the demand from the continent with spot markets steadier, stimulated by the opening firmness in Berlin and the light cargo arrivals which are firmly held. Advices from Russia are to the effect that offerings there are light with arrivals at the ports very small. At 1:30 p. m. the market was dull but steady and ⅝c lower than yesterday.

Corn—Opened ⅜c decline on the lower American cables and less active demand for spot. Following the opening the market was dull at the opening decline.

Wheat cargoes arrived off coast one and awaiting orders one. Wheat in distant positions quiet with holders firm. Corn strong with few sellers.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Market Is Firm on News From Abroad.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Lightness of Russian offerings tended today to give firmness to the market for wheat. So did an advance at Berlin and there was further bullish help in the big engagements of freight room at the American seaboard. Besides, scarcity of sellers here had the effect of making shorts anxious. The opening was a shade to ¼c up, December started at 95⅝c to 95¾c, a gain of ⅛c to ¼c and rose to 96c.

Heavy rains in Minnesota and the Dakotas caused delay of receipts and hardened the market still more. Thrashing returns, too, in the three states were said to be disappointing and there were reports of frost in Saskatchewan. The close was firm with December 96⅝@96⅞c a net gain of ⅛@¼c.

Good general commission buying strengthened corn. The market took its cue from wheat, the majority of traders switching to the bull side. December opened the same as last night to ¼c up at 63¾@64c, and advanced to 64⅛@64¼c. Reduced figures on the Illinois crop were against the bears.

Word of British export demand at Baltimore caused an additional advance. The close was firm, ½c up at 64⅛c.

Oats climbed with other grain. Buying, however, was only fair. December started ⅛@¼c higher at 46⅛c and ascended to 46¼c.

Weakness in hogs eased the market for provisions. Initial sales were 12½c lower to 5c up, with January deliveries $16.20@16.25 for pork, $9.32½ to $9.32½@9.35 for lard and $8.37½ for ribs.

New York Grain.

New York, Sept. 6.—Close: Wheat—September, 99c; December, $1.02⅝.

Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 6.—The cotton market opened steady with prices 2 or 3 points lower in response to a sharp decline at Liverpool just before the hour of the local opening. Considerable bear pressure developed on the call, but offerings diminished later and support became quite vigorous on reports of unfavorable conditions in the Southwest, where worms and boll weevil are said to have done considerable damage. Announcement was also made of higher spot markets in the South, while spot houses here appeared to have good buying orders.

The market eventually rallied back to last night's prices and maintained a steady undertone throughout the first hour.

During the late forenoon the market was very nervous owing to the continued bullish crop advices from the South which checked any aggressive bear selling here. Prices held up within a few points of the best of the morning or about 6 points above yesterday's close but trade was rather quiet pending more definite news from the belt. There was some gossip about a tropical storm forming in the Carribean sea which also tended to unsettle sentiment towards midday. The western belt forecast was for generally fair weather with cooler temperatures in northern sections.

Spot quiet; middling uplands, 11.60, nominal.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 11.60; middling gulf, 11.85. Sales, 77 bales.

ADVANCES CUT DOWN

Upward Tendency of Stock Market Continues During the Morning.

Pressure Averted Around Delivery Hour and Close Is Irregular.

New York, Sept. 6.—The better feeling in the European markets was reflected in a general advance of stocks at the opening of the exchange here today. Canadian Pacific took the lead with a gain of 1¼. Reading advanced a point, American Smelting ¾ and Northern Pacific, Lehigh Valley and American Car ⅝. United States Steel opened with a block of 2,200 shares at an advance of ½.

The market did not maintain its strength long, profit-taking sales causing reactions of ½ to ¾ in some of the active stocks. Business slackened greatly when prices took the down grade. Some specialties moved independent of the general movement, Texas Company rising 1⅝ and American Beet Sugar and International Harvester 1.

The upward tendency of the stock market the last few days was still the governing influence during this morning's session and prices continued to advance. The initial impetus came from Europe owing to the more hopeful view taken in the foreign markets as to the adjustment of the Moroccan difficulty. Short covering was covered and stocks were in small supply, advancing usually whenever a moderate demand appeared. Speculation broadened in a striking manner in the second hour with a substantial rise in a wide variety of stocks. Among the favorite issues, Union Pacific, Reading, Northern Pacific, American Smelting and Lehigh Valley made gains of a point, while some other stocks were up from 1 to 3 points.

The Hawley group was heavily bought, Minneapolis, St. Louis preferred mounting 4 points. Bonds were active and firm. Transactions were on a large scale in American Tobacco 6's and Interboro-Met. 4½'s which rose over a point.

The market closed irregular. Pressure was exerted against the market around the delivery hour, and some round amounts of stock were sold. One block of 5,200 shares of United States Steel was let go. The price went down to 71⅛ compared with 72, its highest, despite the favorable summing up of conditions by a trade review. The reaction ran a similar extent in Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Northern Pacific and Reading, and also cut largely into the advances in some of the less active stocks.

PROSECUTORS DRAW A REVOLTING PICTURE OF BEATTIE FOR JURY

Arguments of Counsel Begun in Famous Murder Trial.

Beulah Binford and Paul Beattie Released From Jail.

Man Who Says He Saw Crime Writes, Accusing Prisoner.

Chesterfield, Va., Sept. 7.—Casting aside as unnecessary eleventh hour information from an alleged eye witness, the commonwealth of Virginia today began the final argument against Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for wife murder.

Two lawyers, J. M. Gregory for the prosecution and Hill Carter for the defense, measured rhetoric in the morning session in the alternate scoring and lauding of the character of the accused. L. O. Wendernburg, who is to close for the prosecution, predicted at noon that he would not finish until tomorrow. Judge Watson does not expect the jury to go out until noon tomorrow.

Mr. Gregory's speech occupied nearly an hour and a half and was a scathing denunciation of the prisoner, particularly in his continued relations with a girl of pre-nuptial fancy, even in the subsequent months of his marriage.

Painted Revolting Picture.

Then he emphasized the cumulative evidence of the commonwealth, and pointed to what he called the "salient, incontrovertible fact of the case, namely, the purchase of a shotgun by

JUDGE RASCH HAS RESIGNED

Federal Jurist of Colorado Sends Resignation to President.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 7.—The resignation of Judge Carl Rasch of the United States District Court of Colorado was received today by President Taft. The cause of Judge Rasch's resignation was not made known.

THREE AVIATORS DIE IN GERMANY

Lieut. Newmann, M. Leconte and Paul Selge Are Killed.

Mulhousen, Germany, Sept. 7.—Three more names were added today to the long roll of persons killed this year in aeroplane accidents.

Lieut. Newmann, a German military aviator, started from this city this morning in the direction of Strassburg, carrying as a passenger M. Leconte, a French aeronaut, but the aeroplane had gone less than fifteen miles when the gasoline tank exploded. The machine dropped from an altitude of sixty feet and both aviators were instantly killed. Their skulls were crushed.

Lieut. Newmann had been detailed to participate in the army maneuvers which are to be held next week in the grand duchy of Baden. The Frenchman, Laconte, was an instructor at the aviation school at Mulhausen.

At Karlsruhe Aviator Paul Selge fell with his aeroplane while making a flight today. His skull was fractured.

TAFT AT NUTMEG STATE EXHIBITION

Thousands Go to See Him in Spite of State Grange Action.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 7.—The visit of President Taft to this city and the state fair at Charter Oak park today brought an immense throng of people from every part of the state.

The disapproval of the president's position on reciprocity by the executive committee of the state grange, which has a very strong hold among the Connecticut farmers, and the fact that that committee would not make the day of the president's visit Grange day, had kindled an interest in the event.

The program was for a short parade through the city streets to the new state library building on the southern side of Capitol Hill, where a state luncheon had been spread.

IS IN CENTER OF GRAFT PROBE

JOHN E. REYBURN, Mayor of Philadelphia.

QUAKER CITY ALL EXCITED

Charges of Gross Dishonesty in City Government Probed.

State Senators Work in Midst of Political Upheaval.

Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—An investigation which may produce sensations in the present local political campaign began today when a commission created by the Pennsylvania state senate heard the charges against the conduct of the administration of Mayor John E. Reyburn.

The commission is composed of state senators appointed under a resolution adopted by the senate last spring, to investigate complaints made between legislative sessions against judges or persons holding civil offices.

The investigation was instituted to inquire into charges that "there has been gross dishonesty in the conduct of the administration of Mayor Reyburn, especially in the conduct of the departments of public safety and public works."

Fierce Political Battle.

The investigation committee is in

STEPHENSON WITNESS DIES

Thomas F. Ramsey of Milwaukee Never Will Testify.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—Former State Assemblyman Thomas F. Ramsey, aged 53, one of the best known Democratic politicians in Wisconsin, died suddenly early today, after a fit of coughing. Death is supposed to have been due to heart trouble.

During his last term as assemblyman, Mr. Ramsey figured in the election of Senator Stephenson as one of the three Democrats who were absent on the day the deciding vote was taken. He would probably have been one of the important witnesses before the United States senatorial investigating committee in October.

EIGHT INCHES OF RAIN OVER NIGHT

Heaviest Fall in Twenty-Four Years Occurs at Wichita, Kan.

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 7.—The rainfall in this section of Kansas between 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 5 o'clock this morning was 7.99 inches. This is the heaviest twelve-hour rain in this city during the last twenty-four years.

Many streets are under water and basements are flooded. The residence section of the city was without light last night owing to a high wind blowing down wires.

Talk of Printing Cost.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 7.—The International Cost society meeting, held in connection with the International Typothetae of America, opened here today. The delegates, who are also members of the Typothetae, will discuss a standard system of computing cost in all printing offices under the jurisdiction of the Typothetae.

ROOSEVELT DECLARES TAFT'S PEACE PLANS WORSE THAN "SILLY"

Calls Arbitration Treaties Hypocritical and False

Says Senators Who Opposed Them Only Did What Was Right.

New York, Sept. 7.—Ex-President Roosevelt deals with the arbitration treaties recently presented to the senate, in an editorial appearing in the Outlook today. He says in part:

"It is one of our prime duties as a nation to seek peace. It is an even higher duty to seek righteousness. It is also our duty not to indulge in shams, not to make believe we are getting peace by some patent contrivance, which sensible men ought to know cannot work in practice and which, if we sought to make it work, might cause irretrievable harm.

"I sincerely believe in the principle of arbitration. I believe in applying that principle so far as practicable; but I believe that the effort to apply it where it is not practicable cannot do good and may do serious harm.

"Confused thinking and a willingness to substitute words for thought, even though inspired by an entirely amiable sentimentality, do not tend toward sound action.

Could Save Humiliation.

"I think that the great majority of those persons who advocate any and every treaty which is called a treaty for peace or for arbitration would be less often drawn into a position that tends to humiliate their country if they would take the trouble to formulate

ANOTHER BAD DAY FOR FAIR

Sky Is Threatening and Wind Is Cold at St. Paul.

Beckman of Cokato Protests Award of Grain Prizes.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With threatening skies overhead, a cold wind blowing and indications that the attendance today will be lighter than on any day this week, the management of the state fair was in a mood this morning to offer a bounty for visitors.

While this had been designated as St. Paul day, it is probable that the great majority of St. Paul's residents will remain by their own firesides.

At 9 a. m. the board of directors called a meeting to take up the question of continuing the fair Monday to allow the automobiles to warm up. Several of the machines have turned up with severe "colds" as the result of the weather.

The only cheerful things on the grounds are the bands.

Protests Grain Awards.

J. W. Beckman of Cokato, has preferred charges against S. B. Wells of Pine county because of alleged unsatisfactory awards on grains. Mr. Beckman charges that the exhibit entered by Wells was not raised on his farm in Pine county. The matter will be disposed of by the board of directors today.

The large silver loving cups as

SHOOTS AT BEAR; KILLS EMPLOYE

Homesteader's Rifle Carries 100 Rods and Ball Enters Man's Heart.

Cass Lake, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Michael M. Geehan, a laborer for William Hill, a homesteader, on Pimush lake, twenty miles from here, was killed last night by Hill while the latter was shooting a big bear. Hill saw the bear and shot and missed. The ball carried 110 rods, striking the man squarely in the heart. Hill heard a groan and hurried to find the man dead. The coroner pronounced it an accidental death. Nothing is known of the relatives of the dead man.

TAFT WILL HAVE NO TIME FOR GOLF

Cancels Foursome Match Arranged for at Denver.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 7.—That President Taft does not expect to have time for his favorite game in the course of his coming "swing around the circle" is indicated by a telegram received here yesterday, in which it is asked that a golf foursome which had been arranged between the president and Maj. Archibald Butt, his military aide, and President A. C. Foster and Walter Fairbanks of the Denver Country club, be eliminated from the president's Denver program.

The message, which was from the president's secretary, Charles D. Hilles, assigned no reason, but it is surmised here that if a precedent were established, the president would find himself inspecting the various golf courses of the nation, instead of enlightening the voters regarding reciprocity, arbitration and tariff.

DULUTH WILL BECOME ONE OF BIG MANUFACTURING CENTERS OF THE WORLD

PRESIDENT OF STEEL CORPORATION

JAMES A. FARRELL.

FARRELL IS OPTIMISTIC

President of Steel Corporation Predicts Great Future for City.

Foresees the Time When It Will Be Ocean Port.

Other Industries Will Follow In Wake of the Steel Plant.

When the Panama canal is completed and improvements are made to the Welland canal and the New York barge canal, the barriers between Duluth and the world's markets will be broken down and Duluth will be one of the great seaports of the world, was the prediction of James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, at a luncheon at the Commercial club today.

Surrounded by other officials of the corporation, of which he is the head, and its subsidiaries, and by nearly 100 representative citizens of Duluth, President Farrell pledged to this city the continued attention of the Steel corporation, progressive development of its resources and industries here, and a careful policy towards its operations so there may be no retrogression, with its consequent want and misery.

The development of its mining properties and the extension of its transportation facilities on the range will be pushed until the best results possible have been obtained, President Farrell said. The steel plant here will be complete in every respect for the manufacture of every class of steel product for which a market can be found. He refrained from making any prediction as to the time the manufacture of steel would be begun, but he assured his hearers that all possible speed in construction, consistent with the best results, would be followed. The plant is

NO STRIKE ACTION YET

Machinists Are to Discuss Illinois Central Situation.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Officials of the federated shop employes of the Illinois Central railroad, who have been refused recognition by the railroad, were busy early today communicating with local officials of the mechanical unions throughout the system, preparatory to another conference with the committee of international officers.

Though the majority of the shop employes of the system voted in favor of a strike, that vote was contingent upon ratification of such action by the international unions.

Machinists to Act.

MAY MURDER MISSIONARIES

Chinese in Western Provinces Are in State of Unrest.

Religious Workers Warned By Viceroy and U. S. Consul.

Pekin, Sept. 7.—Missionaries in the outlying districts of Sze-Chuen province have been ordered by the viceroy to concentrate in the larger towns in consequence of the general unrest among the natives, arising from the government's railroad policy.

All foreigners in Cheng Tu, the capital of Sze-Chuen province, are taking refuge in the compound of the missionary society of the Methodist church of China.

Warned to Leave.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 7.—The disorders in Sze-Chuen province, Western China, have become very serious, in the opinion of the officials of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society, which has its headquarters in this city. The society officials received a cablegram from Chengtu, the capital of the province, telling of rioting on the part of the natives. Today another cablegram was received from missionaries there which said:

"American consul advises us to leave."

BERLIN READY TO REPLY TO FRANCE

Von Kidderlein-Waechter and Von Bethmann-Hollweg Confer Again.

Berlin, Sept. 7.—The meeting between the German foreign minister, Herr Von Kidderlein-Waechter, and the French ambassador, M. Cambon, when it is expected that Germany's reply to France's proposals regarding Morocco will be handed to the ambassador, will be held this afternoon.

Last night's announcement that Germany's reply had been delivered to the French ambassador was incorrect. It was based on the conference held by Herr Von Kidderlein-Waechter and the German imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, who conferred again this morning.

SAYS SHOOTING WAS COLD BLOODED

Dying Man Declares Former Friend Fired Without Warning.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—John Bradshaw, a watchman, is dying at the county hospital with a bullet wound in the stomach. He said that he was shot without warning by his former friend, John Matka, with whom he had quarreled seven months ago.

WILL ATTACK SANBORN RULING

Governor Hadley Goes East to Conference of Governors.

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 7.—Governor and Mrs. Hadley will depart Sunday to be guests of Col. Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay. While in the East the governor will attend the conference of governors at Spring Lake, N. J.

Governor Hadley's speech at the conference will be an attack on the doctrine laid down by Federal Judge Sanborn in the Minnesota rate cases, which is to the effect that states have no power to regulate railroad rates. This decision, he says, if upheld, would make the states mere dependencies of the federal government and largely strip them of the rights and powers assured them by the Constitution of the United States.

BURNS KNOT IN CLOTHES; DYING

Chicago Woman's Solution of Dress Difficulty Is Fatal.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Being unable to untie a cord securing her underskirt, Mrs. Grace Weber, aged 65 years, set fire to the reluctant knot last night, and was reported dying of her burns at St. Luke's hospital today. Neighbors who heard her screams rushed in and smothered the flames, which had consumed the greater part of her clothing and had set fire to the bed.

MAN KILLED ON MADELINE ISLAND

Boiler at Russell's Mill Blows Up—Five Are Badly Hurt.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The boiler of Russell's mill at Lapointe, Madeline island, blew up this afternoon. One man, Clyde Jersey, was killed instantly and five were badly injured, who were brought to Ashland by boat. Doctors left for the island this afternoon to care for several who were scalded.

WHO SAID THE WRESTLING GAME WAS DEAD?

NOT OVER 17 MILLS

City Tax Rate Will Not Be Allowed to Exceed That Figure.

Armory May Be Fitted Up to Accommodate Jail Lodgers.

The city tax rate for 1912 will not be in excess of 17 mills, according to an informal decision of the conference committee at the office of Mayor Culum yesterday afternoon.

It is apparent that something will have to be done with the city jail. Either an additional story will have to be erected, as recommended by Chief Troyer, or some other improvement will have to be made. One of the committee suggested that the armory be fitted up to care for the lodgers during the winter months. As this would save considerable expense and probably meet the requirements, it seems that this will finally be done. More room is needed because of the large number of lodgers during the winter, and as it would cost much less to fit up the armory than to add another story to the jail, that seems the logical thing to do, in view of the financial straits of the local government. The police signal system will probably have to be improved and a better jail provided at New Duluth.

There is small probability that an inspector of lodging houses and tenements will be provided for, the funds being too limited. But it is believed that the municipal garbage collection will be extended to the extent of another wagon for either the West end or the East end. The health department wants auto trucks, but members of the committee state that this is beyond question. It is possible that garbage wagons may be provided for both sections.

The recommendations of Chief Troyer relative to the police situation are as follows:

"I must call the attention of the conference committee to the fact that the board of control has condemned the city lockup at police headquarters, and ordered it to be remodeled to meet with their approval. It is impossible to decently handle the prisoners who are necessarily brought to this station, under present conditions, and the board has been greatly in earnest over this fact. It will be necessary for the conference committee to make a tax levy before the necessary change can be made. The New Duluth jail is also condemned, and considerable police business is now being done at that place, and many persons are arrested during the year. That being such a remote distance from police headquarters, it is absolutely necessary to have a lockup at that place. It will, therefore, also be necessary to make a levy for this purpose. The change at police headquarters, it seems to me, can only be made by an additional story to the building, so that one entire floor can be used for jail purposes. I estimate that the expense for the two lockups, which we must have, will amount to from $25,000 to $30,000. This item, of course, will come from the permanent improvement fund.

"Our signal system has been in use for more than twenty years and has been badly worn and out of date, and on account of the large growth of the city since it was installed, it will be necessary at this time to add at least six more patrol boxes. This, of course, should be up-to-date apparatus of a different type than that now in use. This alone would cost $875. No up-to-date fire or police department is any longer using gravity batteries, they are all using storage battery switch boards, which are more economical and much more satisfactory. I will also place this in my estimate to have the battery system changed to a storage battery, which will cost $1,-185, and strongly recommend that this change be made. By making this change, and putting in the new apparatus, we will save about $300 in supplies."

ONE MAN KILLED IN CHICAGO SYRIAN RIOT.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—In a riot among Syrians early today one man was fatally injured and several sustained cuts and bruises. Four were arrested after the police had used their clubs in dispersing the rioters.

PRISONER TRYING TO SAVE CHUM FROM STATE PRISON

GEORGE OVEN.

CLIFFORD DWYER.

Clifford Dwyer and George Oven, the cousins who were arrested in Detroit last week for burglarizing the hardware store of Johnson & Peterson at 1918 West Superior street and brought to Duluth Tuesday evening, do not seem to mind being in charge of the police.

Both prisoners appear contented and neither looks as though he were worried about the serious charges which have been made against them. They were taken out in the big Franklin touring car of the police department this morning and both of them enjoyed the ride. As far as they are concerned they were having a "joy ride," although some of the accessories were lacking. The police were endeavoring to round up additional evidence, but up to noon they had not been successful.

Dwyer is doing everything within his power to save his pal from the fate which, to all indications, awaits him. He says that he burglarized the West end hardware store, but is steadfast in the declaration that Oven had nothing to do with the job. The police think differently and give him credit for sacrificing himself for his chum. The officers believe that Dwyer realizes that he is "up against it," and that he wants to save Oven, if possible.

According to their own statements they were arrested in the first place because Oven could not keep from turning his head to "rubber" at a Detroit patrolman who happened to be walking behind them. It appears that Dwyer told Oven to go ahead and "mind his own business," but that he could not help himself. The result was that the "cop" walked up to them and wanted to know where they were from and what they were doing in Detroit, etc. This led to their arrest and their trip to Duluth, where they are now awaiting the action of the grand jury, which is in session at the courthouse. The probability is that both of them will be indicted for burglary.

NEW MOVE IN ALASKA CASE

Forty-Nine Claims Are Recommended for Cancellation.

Conspiracy to Defraud Is Alleged in Watson Group.

Juneau, Alaska, Sept. 7.—A. C. Frost of Chicago, formerly president of the Alaska Central railway and former president and promoter of the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric railway; George M. Seward of Chicago, receiver for A. C. Frost & Co.; Bion J. Arnold and forty-six other claimants of the Watson coal lands group in the Matanuska district of Alaska, have been cited by the Juneau land office to show cause within thirty days why the claims should not be recommended to the commissioner of the general land office for cancellation. A special agent has filed charges against the validity of each of the claims.

The agent alleges:

"That the claimants did not locate and file upon land in good faith, but the locations and filings were made by Frank Watson of Spokane in the interest and for the benefit of A. C. Frost, Henry C. Osborn, Gwyn Francis, George A. Ball, Frank Watson, Duncan M. Stewart, O. G. Labeer and others, in pursuance of an agreement and understanding to which the claimants were parties whereby they permitted the use of their names for that purpose."

Indicted Last March.

Frost, Seward Pierre G. Beach of Chicago, formerly secretary of the Alaska Central railway, George A. Ball, the millionaire glass manufacturer of Muncie, Ind., reputed to be Frost's financial backer, Duncan M. Steward of Seward, Alaska, former manager of the the Sovereign Bank of Canada, and Henry C. Osborne, Gwyn Francis, and Francis H. Stewart of Toronto, were indicted by a federal grand jury in Chicago, March 16, 1911, charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States of the use and possession of the Watson & Matanuska Coal company group of claims.

The value of these lands is stated in the indictments as $10,000,000. Frost and his associates are alleged in the indictments to have acted in the interest of the Alaska Central railway.

The claimants, in addition to Frost, Seward and Arnold, are: Frank H. Just, E. H. Vivian, J. D. Naumes, E. A. Turpin, C. E. Thompson, Horace S. Oakley, William C. Cook, F. R. Thompson, E. S. Gall, W. O. Kilman, E. R. Hoy, T. F. Seward, H. M. Findlay, Ernest H. Frommel, L. C. Walters, F. C. Knight, Mrs. Harriet B. Lanning, Joseph E. McCabe, L. Drake, A. L. Drum, George W. Miller, Harry Musson, Walter F. Wandtke, E. S. Des Jardines, Henry K. Coale, K. L. Geraghty, Harvey S. Moore, John M. Vehmehr, Wellington S. Harris, R. E. M. Strickland, Elser O. Noe, William M. Griffin, Joseph Fitzgerald, F. C. Merrilles, L. W. Anderson, R. C. Schultz, Allen Davis, Fayette S. Monroe, all of Chicago; Charles F. Allen, Webster S. Hickey, M. A. Doran, W. C. Ball, Arthur J. Mullen of Muncie, Ind.

On Grand Jury Evidence.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—The action by the United States land department citing A. C. Frost, George Seward and others to show cause why their claims in the Watson coal land groups should not be recommended for cancellation, is believed here to be based on much of the evidence discovered by the United States grand jury which indicted them.

The Juneau action is a civil one to restore the claims to the government and probably will not interfere with the criminal action here. None of the United States attorneys who handled the investigation in this city, however, would give an official statement.

MILKMAN'S TEAM RUNS AWAY

Dashes Into Pile of Brick, Smashing Wagon and Spilling Milk.

Milk flowed like rain water down the gutters of East Third street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues about noon yesterday when a runaway team of the Trianon dairy collided with a pile of bricks at that location. The driver, seeing that it was impossible to avoid the wreck, saved himself from serious or fatal injury by jumping from the wagon. When coming down Twentieth avenue east a tug broke and wrapped around the leg of one of the horses, frightened him. He ran away and his mate went with him. The team turned westward down Third street. Between Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues was a pile of brick and the team dashed into it, the driver escaping just a second before the collision. The wagon was smashed into small pieces but the horses escaped without serious injury.

Notice of Annual Meeting.

First Unitarian Church of Duluth.

Notice is hereby given, That the annual meeting of the First Unitarian church of Duluth will be held in the Sunday school room of the new church building, at the corner of First street and Eighteenth avenue east, in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, on Tuesday evening, September 12, 1911, at 8 o'clock. Two trustees are to be elected for the full term of three years to succeed H. V. Goetchius and H. J. Atwood, whose terms will expire, and one trustee for two years, to succeed A. B. Emshwiller, resigned.

Per order board of trustees.

Dated Sept. 1, 1911.

SPEND $100,000 ON PAN-AMERICAN SITE.

Washington, Sept. 7.—A contract for improving the grounds of the Pan-American building here at a cost of $1000,000 has been awarded. When the work is completed the home of the Pan-American union will have the most beautiful setting of any building in Washington, it is said.

Andrew Carnegie, who gave most of the $1,000,000 spent on the structure, has furnished the money for beautifying the grounds.

SEATTLE PASTOR EXTENDED CALL

Rev. M. L. Larson Wanted By the First Swedish Lutheran Church Congregation.

Rev. Oscar Sandahl of Marquette, Mich., having declined a call to the pastorate of the First Swedish Lutheran church, Sixth avenue east and Third street, the congregation has extended an offer to Rev. M. L. Larson of Seattle, Wash.

The call has just been forwarded to Rev. Mr. Larson and the church trustees expect a reply next week.

The vacant pulpit was formerly supplied by Rev. Carl Solmonson, who is now touring the old country. He resigned from the local charge several weeks ago.

SUPERIOR BURGLARS TAKE VALUABLE SILKS

Thieves Break Into Superior Store and Steal Goods Worth $400.

Burglars early this morning broke into the drygoods store of Egdahl & Co., 1107 North Fifth street, and stole suits and silks valued in the aggregate at $400.

Entrance was gained by smashing the glass pane in the front door of the store. The thieves left no clues for the police detectives to work on.

They took a quantity of valuable silk and also a number of women's ready-made suits. The theft was discovered about daylight by a policeman.

Contribute to Fair.

Superior merchants and business men are liberally contributing to the Douglas county fair land. According to Secretary N. S. Beardsley, large amounts have been donated, and from the present outlook the financial success of the fair seems assured. The premium list will soon be off the press and will be distributed to all the farmers in Douglas county and in neighboring counties. A number of free attractions have been secured. The fair will be held for four days during the latter part of this month.

Press Rehearsal.

A dress rehearsal was held last evening for the home talent production of "The Echoes of 1910," which will be given tonight at the Grand opera house. A trained chorus of forty male voices and a chorus of as many girls will take part in the tuneful entertainment. Singing and dancing features will be presented by the Misses Glenn Bartholomew, Jane Van Vleck, Maude Ayres, Mildred Gunderson, Margaret McGraw, Lois Peterson, Lucy Barnett, Mary Le Claire, Genevieve McGraw and Mrs. Roland C. Buck.

Annual Reception.

The annual reception for the students and teachers of the normal, high school and business colleges of the city will take place Friday evening at the Methodist church, Eleventh street and Cummings avenue, under the auspices of the Epworth League of the church. The "college idea" will be carried out in the decorations, refreshments will be served and an orchestra will play. The purpose of the function is to get the new students acquainted with each other and the faculty.

Clambake Postponed.

The annual campfire and clambake, which was to have been given by members of the Hector Swift camp, Spanish-American war veterans, this evening on Wisconsin point, has been postponed on account of the inclemency of the weather. The date for the affair will be announced later.

DULUTH MAN TO BE CALLED BY WILSON

Probation Officer Will Testify Tuesday in Whittier Case.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Superintendent Whittier of the state training school for boys at Red Wing will attend the national prison conference at Omaha next month, although Governor Eberhart did not appoint him a delegate. He is secretary of the International Prison Warden's association, and it is likely that this position will demand his attendance.

Mr. Whittier was at the capitol yesterday. He said that his attorney, F. M. Wilson, would call Ralph W. Wheelock as a witness when the hearing resumed next Tuesday. Father Donahue of St. Paul, who has worked with the probation officer of the Juvenile court, also will be called. The probation officer of Duluth also will be placed on the stand.

E. P. Sanborn, attorney for Mr. Wheelock, will put several witnesses on the stand following the completion of the testimony in behalf of Superintendent Whittier. It is said he has discovered some new witnesses.

NO SHOOTING TO BE ALLOWED NEAR TAFT.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—No salutes or fireworks are to be permitted when President Taft makes his visit to the Twin Cities, according to "instructions" issued by Secretary Hilles. In a circular sent to Ralph Wheelock, private secretary to Governor Eberhart, the request is made that nothing be shot off within a mile of the president. Secret service men will precede the president here to look over the ground he will traverse.

CHANGING HER FACE

(From the Household Friend.)

Any woman not satisfied with her complexion can remove it and have a new one. The thin veil of stifling half-dead cuticle is an encumbrance and should be removed to give the fresh, vigorous young skin underneath a chance to show itself and to breathe.

There's a simple old-fashioned home remedy which will always do the work. Get an ounce of pure mercolized wax from your druggist and apply it at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. The mercolide will gently absorb all the lifeless skin and leave a healthy and beautiful complexion, as fresh as a child's. Naturally it takes with it all such facial blemishes as freckles, tan, moth patches, sallowness, liver spots, pimples, etc. It is pleasant to use, effective and economical. The face so treated immediately looks years younger.

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 60 DULUTH, SEPTEMBER 7, 1911

is the watch-word of the time. Co-operation is the great force of modern civilization. Co-operation is the great forward movement making for progress and enlightenment. Co-operation has lifted the ranks of labor from serfdom to independence, has wrought many other good works, and is the greatest hope for the World's advance.

In the last preceding Lighting Talk we quoted the official statement of Prof. B. H. Meyer, Chairman of the Wisconsin Commission, that "Competition as a guarantor of good service and a regulator of rates has failed." Let us show you what other Public Service Commissions say on this subject:

"That competition cannot be depended upon to protect the consumer from high prices and poor service has been fully demonstrated."—The New York Public Service Commission.

"The temporary advantage to a portion of the public is reasonably sure to be followed by an undue burden upon the public as a whole, through the larger capital demanding a return."—Massachusetts Gas and Electric Light Commission.

"One source of supply and one system of distribution means a minimum cost of light to the consumer."—Civic League of St. Louis.

"Public utilities, whether in public or in private hands, are best conducted under a system of legalized and regulated monopoly."—National Civic Federation Report.

In the field of public utilities competition—that criminally wasteful and ruinous fallacy of the old order—has received its deathblow in those States which have Public Service Commissions. Why should Duluth take the backward step of building a municipal electric plant to bring wasteful and ruinous competition in Electric lighting service, duplicate the present distribution system, fill the streets with unsightly poles and dangerous wires (Seattle because of its municipal plant has many streets disfigured by three ugly poles on each corner), swell the City debt enormously, and make taxes soar higher and higher?

YOUR co-operation with the Duluth-Edison Electric Company will prevent those grossly higher taxes, will prevent piling up of a new City debt of hundreds of thousands of dollars, will prevent ruining the appearance of the City, will secure for Duluth the greatest bargain in Electric light enjoyed by any city in America, will insure to the private consumers of Electricity in Duluth a saving of $30,000 a year on their electric light bills.

Why not be a co-operator for the benefit of Duluth and all her people?

Why not let your alderman know what YOU think about the folly of piling up a huge City debt and making taxes climb higher and higher for a needless municipal plant?

WEST END NEWS

NORWEGIAN LODGES, I. O. G. T. FORM NEW GRAND LODGE

WILLIAM P. CARLSON,
Head of the Swedish Faction.

L. A. SIMONSON,
Head of Norwegian Faction.

Coming as an aftermath of the fight between L. A. Simonson of this city and William P. Carlson of Minneapolis for the office of grand chief templar of the state, is the announcement that the Norwegian contingent, the vanquished and minority faction championed by Mr. Simonson, will withdraw from the Minnesota Scandinavian grand lodge of the International Order of Good Templars. They expect to operate as a separate grand lodge.

Mr. Simonson is the vice grand chief templar of the order and is a West end man living at 2102 West Superior street. During the recent annual convention of the Scandinavian Good Templars, Mr. Simonson was set up as a candidate by the Norwegian lodges against William P. Carlson, the choice of the Swedish element. In the grand lodge there are fifty-five Swedish lodges and only fifteen Norwegian. Mr. Carlson was easily elected. Mr. Simonson was unanimously given the office of grand vice chief templar.

According to Mr. Simonson, the Norwegian lodges of Minnesota and Wisconsin, of which there will be about twenty-five, will petition the grand lodge of Minnesota and Wisconsin for permission to withdraw. Care will be taken in the matter to see that the provisions for such a withdrawal laid out in the constitution of the supreme grand lodge are followed so that the action will be regular. Under these circumstances the secession will have to be recognized, as it is provided in the supreme constitution of the order that any number of lodges over ten can withdraw from any grand lodge and organize a grand lodge or sovereign body of their own.

The withdrawal of the Norwegians from the Minnesota grand lodge will mean that the Swedish lodges will probably bring about a change of name in the present grand lodge. It will probably be known as the Swedish Grand Lodge of Minnesota.

Better Results.

Mr. Simonson says that he believes that better results could be obtained if the Norwegians and the Swedish people worked under different charters. There would be more harmony and both could do better work, he thinks.

At a meeting last evening of Lysglimt lodge, the only Norwegian lodge of the I. O. G. T. in Duluth, the other two being Swedish, Mr. Simonson told the members about his recent tour of inspection through Wisconsin, where he visited some ten or twelve Norwegian lodges. In Wisconsin there are practically no Swedish lodges, the Norwegians working under the English speaking grand lodge.

In addition to Mr. Simonson, others who are interested in the movement to secede from the Scandinavian grand lodge are P. A. Nelson, chief templar of Lysglimt lodge, this city, John Alnes, Lysglimt; Peter Fosness, Lysglimt; Carl Strom, Lysglimt and Gunar Okstad, Lysglimt.

PASTOR KLING IS CALLED TO COAST

Former Duluth Preacher Leaves Minneapolis Charge for Los Angeles Church.

REV. F. O. KLING.

Rev. F. O. Kling of Minneapolis, a former pastor of the Swedish Mission church of the West end, has recently accepted a call to the Swedish Mission church of Los Angeles, Cal. He will assume his duties there in a few weeks.

Rev. and Mrs. Kling will come to Duluth tomorrow and will be guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Daniels at the Swedish Mission parsonage over Sunday. They have been invited by the local church to attend a farewell reception which has been planned in their honor next Saturday evening at the Swedish Mission church, West end. A suitable musical program has been arranged, in which the choir, the ladies' chorus and Mrs. J. J. Daniels will partake. Rev. Mr. Kling will be the speaker and will also render several vocal solos.

As Rev. and Mrs. Kling have many friends in Duluth, a large attendance is expected.

Refreshments will be served on the parsonage lawn and in the church parlors. The lawn will be used if the weather is favorable.

Rev. Mr. Kling will preach next Sunday at both morning and evening services at the Swedish Mission church, West end, and at the communion service at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Asbjeld Dies.

Mrs. Selma Asbjeld, aged 47, died of tuberculosis this morning at the family residence, 2026 West First street. She was the wife of Ole Asbjeld, and besides her husband, is survived by five children. She also leaves one sister, residing at Brainerd, Minn. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Plans Approved.

At a meeting of the building committee of the Modern Woodmen of America, Duluth Camp No. 2341, of the west end, last evening at Columbia hall, the plans for the new Modern Woodmen hall drawn by Architects Puck & Holstead were adopted. The work will commence as soon as the structure which occupies the building site at Twenty-first avenue west and First street is removed.

Dorothy Scholtes Dies.

Dorothy Marie Scholtes, aged 4 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Scholtes of 2323 West First street, died this morning of cholera infantum. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Infant Dies.

Mary Elizabeth, 3-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Finn of 1719 West First street, died yesterday of cholera infantum. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home to Park Hill cemetery.

West End Briefs.

John Jacobson of 2113 West Second street is expected to return this week from Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. John Wallin of 2332 West Fifth street will entertain the Rebekah Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church at her home Wednesday afternoon, next week.

The weekly dancing party of the Adams Athletic association will be held this evening at the Lincoln park pavilion. There will be special decorations and music.

Rev. A. M. Paulson of Estherville, Iowa, and Rev. C. H. Brown of Wahpaton, N. D., who have been guests at the home of Rev. W. E. Harmann, 113 North Twenty-eighth avenue west during the recent missionary convention, left yesterday for their homes.

Mrs. Boget of Hibbing is visiting for a few days with her mother at 213 Exeter street.

MUST REFUND TO BE SAVED, SAYS GAYNOR.

New York, Sept. 7.—Mayor Gaynor has received from a former New Yorker, whose name was not disclosed, now living in Los Angeles, a letter confessing that the writer had committed perjury in a lawsuit tried before Justice Gaynor, and thereby unjustly defeating the opposing party. The writer said he had since been converted, and wanted to confess, so that he might be forgiven. The mayor, in replying, wrote:

"According to my views, you have to do more than this to be forgiven. You have to make amends. When anything is gotten unjustly, it must be refunded before forgiveness can be expected, if the sinner be able to refund. That is the way I understand it. So you had better tell me what the case was, so that I may look it up and see what loss the defeated party sustained; and then you must restore his money to him or make good his loss. If this be not your view, I fear you are in error in supposing that you have got religion and are a Christian."

MOUNT BLACKBURN "CAN BE CLIMBED"

Philadelphia Woman Declares So in Spite of Her Failure.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 7.—Miss Dora Keen of Philadelphia, who undertook to climb Mount Blackburn, Alaska, 16,140 feet, and who was obliged to turn back when only two days from the summit because of the exhaustion of supplies, food and alcohol, has arrived in Seattle. She declares she thinks her attempt has proved that the peak may be scaled.

The Keen party spent four days in seeking a route by which to make the final ascent, and when a possible trail finally was found, at an altitude of 8,500 feet, a three-day storm set in. Sufficient food and alcohol remained to make the ascent or to weather the storm, but the supply would have been insufficient for both, so the attempt was abandoned.

The summer in Alaska has been unusually warm and the glaciers have been in constant turmoil.

CONFESSES HE WRECKED TRAIN

Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Arrested By Soo Line Detectives.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 7.—Leonard Eake, aged 15, living one and a half miles from Fremont, Wis., has been arrested by Soo Line detectives on the charge of causing the wreck of one of the road's fastest trains, the "Velvet Special," Tuesday morning, which resulted in the death of three persons.

On the way to the jail at Fremont, Eake is said to have admitted to the detectives that he deliberately broke the lock but could not lift the switch lever. Young Eake is said to have told the detectives he was refused a ride on the train by a section foreman and wanted to "get even." He is the son of a former section foreman.

Unless you are willing that people shall CHANCE to come to your store, you must advertise.

ROCHESTER PAIR UNDER ARREST

Alleged Elopers Get Into Hands of Chicago Police.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Elizabeth Howells, aged 23 years, of Rochester, Minn., and Herbert Spencer of New York, who are said to have eloped from the former's home, were arrested last night when they reached here. The elopers and several friends created a disturbance on the train and were arrested on complaint of the conductor.

AMERICAN ACTRESS IN BRITISH PRISON.

London, Sept. 7.—Mary Ferguson, an American described as an actress, and a Russian prince named Alexander Ivanovitch, were sentenced at the Old Bailey yesterday to five years' imprisonment on the charge of shop-lifting. The prisoners also were condemned to deportation following the expiration of their terms in jail. It is charged that the woman's associate is a notorious bank thief.

Mary Ferguson is a native of Detroit, and, according to the police, was known by the names of Annie Grant and Annie Gleeson in America.

GOTCH VISITS THE STATE FAIR

Leaves Chicago for St. Paul Where He Will Spend Several Days.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Frank Gotch broke camp yesterday and left last night for St. Paul. He was accompanied by his wife, and will spend several days at St. Paul at the Minnesota state fair. Then he will go to Humboldt, Iowa.

A question of a match with Zbyszko was unsettled, but Gotch expressed his willingness to take on any of a half dozen wrestlers who are now clamoring for a match.

The champion will start on his wrestling tour in about two months.

BOY SCOUTS BARRED FROM MICHIGAN FARM.

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 7.—Objecting to the fostering of a warlike spirit and to the conduct of the boys, a Muskegon committee has refused permission to Hull House of Chicago to bring 300 Boy Scouts to Bronson farm, owned by the city. The boys were at the farm this summer, but when permission was asked to bring them again next year, Alderman Wels, the only Socialist member of the council, protested. Others objected to the conduct of the boys, and it was finally decided to refuse permission to use the farm.

WILL PREPARE BRIEF IN MINNESOTA RATE CASE.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 7.—Chairman H. J. Winnett of the committee representing the state railway commissioners of five states, has appointed the three members who are to prepare and file a brief in the Minnesota rate case, pending in the United States supreme court. The men who will prepare the brief are George A. Henshaw of the Oklahoma state railway commission, and Henry T. Clarke, Jr., of the Nebraska railway commission.

The resolution authorizing the appointment of the committee was adopted by five states—Kansas, Iowa, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Nebraska.

GRAND FREE OPEN AIR CONCERT

LINCOLN PARK
25th Ave. West and Third Street

SUNDAY AFTERNOON
3 to 5 o'clock

UNDER AUSPICES OF THE DULUTH HERALD

BY THE "IN OLD KENTUCKY" BAND

Twenty-Five Trained Musicians Directed by John Powell, known all over America and Europe as "Black Sousa", in a program of sacred and catchy popular music.

The "In Old Kentucky" company will arrive in Duluth Sunday to open its Western season Sunday night at the Lyceum, and The Herald has been able to arrange with the owner, Mr. A. W. Dingwall, for a free concert at Lincoln Park, Sunday afternoon. The band comes to Duluth direct from Manhattan Beach, where it played during the summer with great success.

The Custom-Made Suits Are Here

So many women have been asking us when our "Custom Made" Suits for fall would be in, that we take this opportunity of announcing that they are now here in large assortment of styles, patterns and price.

And wonderful suits they are! Every season our enthusiasm grows over their perfect lines, tailoring and finish.

We'll tell you a secret about their arrival—we took them out of their new cases and not a sheet of tissue or other packing was there, and—not a crease, break or mottle about them.

Why? It's the way they are tailored. All Hand Made, Hand Stitched, Hand Worked, Hand Cut, Hand Pressed! Made just like a man's suit by a custom tailor, not a manufacturer.

We are the only store from whom they can be obtained in this city. So called "custom made" suits are so in name only, as we will demonstrate in our department.

And prices are reasonable. $50, $57.50 and $65, instead of $75 to $125 as your own tailor would charge you.

D. H., Sept. 7, 1911.

Head Line: Knapp-Felt Hats for men.

There are many graduations in the price but the quality is always large.

At $15.00 the quality of Columbia Suits and Overcoats is better than one would expect, and from $20 to $35 every dollar increase means just so much value added to the suit or overcoat.

Fifth Avenue, New York, tailors have no deep secret that our clothes have not absorbed.

WOMAN'S REALM.

All lines of work in the educational department of the Young Women's Christian association will receive special attention within the next few weeks. This department has always been an important one in the work of the association and the committee on education is working up interest in the various classes for the starting of the work this fall. In Detroit, Mich., the Y. W. C. A. has established itself as an educational center and the schools are attended by hundreds of girls and women. Night classes and schools for those who are employed during the day are conducted and all branches of a practical education are taught.

There is no reason why the Duluth institution should not become as great a center of education and practical classes are being planned which cannot help but draw a large number of members.

Mrs. L. W. Kline as chairman of the committee on education for the local Y. W. C. A. is actively engaged in working out plans for this season's work. The classes in English for the foreign speaking girls have usually been largely attended, these will be continued and classes in millinery, dressmaking, gymnasium work and domestic science will be formed.

In the domestic science work the classes will be arranged for matrons, young women who are not employed, and working girls. This department has proved a boon to housewives who had "green" maids, for a class of them has given them the elements of good practical cooking, the art of serving and other necessary information which takes a great load off the mistress' shoulders in training the maid.

The annual rally of the association will be held tomorrow evening at the assembly hall at the association building at 8 o'clock and all members are urged to be present.

An informal program of short talks on the various departments will be given. Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker will talk on "Music." Miss Bertha Parmalee, physical director of the association will talk on gymnasium work; Bible study will be the subject on which Mrs. Hoar will talk; and Mrs. L. W. Kline will speak of the Y. W. C. A. work along general educational lines.

Miss Marion Brown will sing two vocal numbers and the Y. W. C. A. Mandolin and Guitar club which was formed last fall will play several selections.

After the program there will be a social hour with refreshments and an opportunity will be given for the members to become acquainted and discuss the work of the association.

DUNCAN-McLEOD.

Wedding of Well Known Duluthians Takes Place.

The handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Duncan, 2215 East Second street, was the scene of a beautiful wedding last evening, when their daughter, Grace, became the bride of Norman D. McLeod of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Alexander Milne of the Pilgrim Congregational church at 8:30 o'clock.

The Lohengrin wedding march was played by La Brosse's orchestra, and to the well-known strains the bridal party entered. Miss Helen Forsythe of Yonkers, N. Y., and Miss Virginia Frick, the bridesmaids, entered first and stretched the ribbons which formed the aisle for the rest of the party. Mrs. R. N. Marble, Jr., of Hibbing and Mrs. J. A. Bradley, sisters of the bride, as matrons of honor entered next, followed by Miss Mary Curtiss of Newton Centre, Mass., who was the maid of honor. The bride came next on her father's arm and they were met at an altar improvised of banked palms, evergreens and southern smilax dotted with sweet peas and outlined with tiny electric bulbs, by Mr. McLeod and his best man, David Duncan.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin with trimmings of rose point lace and crystal beads and her long veil was edged with lace. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Miss Curtiss, Mrs. Marble and Mrs. Bradley wore pretty gowns of pink chiffon over yellow satin and wore wreaths of sweet peas in their hair. Their bouquets were of the same flowers.

The bridesmaids were in charming little lingerie frocks of creme trimmed with pink.

The halls were profusely decorated with golden glow and in the dining room sweet peas were effectively arranged. In the latter room Mrs. A. C. Taylor and Mrs. F. A. Brewer presided, assisted by Misses Louise Frick, Virginia and Carolyn Moore. Assisting about the other rooms were Mrs. A. W. Frick, Mrs. Clarence Taylor, Mrs Ralph Moore and Miss Mary Frick.

Mr. and Mrs. McLeod have gone on a wedding tour, after which they will reside here.

Mr. McLeod is secretary of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. of this city and is the oldest member of the staff of officers next to Secretary Bevis. Yesterday the various officers of the Y. M. C. A. gave a luncheon for Mr. McLeod at the association building, and the boys' cabinet presented him with two fine oriental rugs.

SCHOLARSHIPS OPEN.

Three Musical Places Open in National Conservatory.

Three of the Jeannette M. Thurber scholarships for singing, piano and violin, at the National Conservatory of Music of America are in New York city now vacant and will be open for competition at the annual entrance examinations which will be held there the last of the month. The dates set are as follows: Piano, organ, violin and orchestral instruments, Thursday, Sept. 28 from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 4 p. m. and the singing on Monday, Oct. 2 from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 4 p. m.

The scholarships will be given to students who have no means, but whose talent promises distinction as artists.

The National Conservatory of Music of America is conducted for the advancement of musical education and not for profit and is commencing its twenty-seventh year on Sept. 14. The artistic faculty includes Adele Margulies, Leopold Lichtenberg, Leo Schulz, Joseph Pizzarello, Romualdo Sapio, Henry T. Finck and others.

For further information applicants should address secretary only, 126 West Seventy-ninth street, New York city.

A Home Recipe For Removing Wrinkles

(From Woman's National Journal.)

Who will blame the modern woman for trying to look as young and attractive as she reasonably can? Why should she be placed at disadvantage in numerous ways by wearing wrinkles, if she can avoid these hateful marks of advancing age?

Few women, however, know what to do to effectually rid themselves of wrinkles or sagginess. None of the advertised preparation is satisfactory and most of them are very expensive. But a very simple and harmless home remedy, which any woman can make, will work wonders where all the patent preparations fail.

Buy an ounce of powdered saxolite at any drug store. Dissolve the whole ounce in a half pint of witch hazel and use it as a wash lotion. The results are practically instantaneous. Marked improvement is noticed immediately after the very first trial. Wrinkles and sagging are corrected and the face feels so refreshed and smug-like.

NEW CONDUCTOR IN THE LIMELIGHT

ELLIOTT SCHENCK.

A new musical conductor has come to the front in New York this summer. He is Elliott Schenck, the son of a noted Brooklyn clergyman, who was musical director of the New theater last season. Mr. Schenck has done some noteworthy work in composition —particularly the interlude music to the Indian plays which were given by the New theater last season. During this summer Mr. Schenck has conducted, on the roof of the Century theater, an orchestra of fifty, composed of musicians from some of the best of the New York symphony orchestras and the concerts have been a remarkable commercial, as well as artistic successes. Mr. Schenck will be heard from in the future in the musical world.

WANTED

Pupils, by competent teacher of Piano and Harmony. Rates, $5 for term of ten lessons. Call at my home. Studio, 5 West Fourth street.

BRIDAL PARTY CHOSEN.

Those Who Will Attend at Patrick-Clark Wedding.

Miss Barbara Patrick, whose wedding to Dr. Floyd Ferdinand Clark will be an event of next week, has chosen the members of her bridal party. Her sister, Miss Isabel Patrick, will be the maid of honor, and little Miss Louise Moyer of Rockford, Ill., who is a guest with her mother at the Patrick home, will be the flower girl. Miss Elsie Wall and Marie Agatin will stretch the ribbons for the bridal party, and Dr. William Abbott will be best man.

The wedding is to be quiet and informal, only the relatives and intimate friends having been invited.

PRESIDENT'S DAY.

Oct. 4 Is Day Set for Opening of Matinee Musicale Year.

The opening date for the Matinee Musicale club season has been changed to Wednesday, Oct. 4, at which time President's day will be observed with a song recital by Mrs. Frank O'Meara. St. Paul's most popular contralto soloist Mrs. O'Meara has been heard by members of the Matinee Musicale club here before and her return is being eagerly anticipated. Miss Volberg Gunderson, one of Duluth's most promising violinists, will assist Mrs. O'Meara on the program and her numbers will also prove a strong attraction on the opening program. Miss Gunderson is a pupil of Fred G. Bradbury and her playing is delightful.

Mrs. O'Meara will also open the season for the Schubert Club of St. Paul this fall and it was in order to secure her recital here that the change in date for the opening day was made by the members of the board of directors of the club at a meeting held yesterday.

The club work for the season of 1911-12 was thoroughly discussed by the board members, who plan to make it one of the most active years in the history of the club. The chairman of the membership committee, Mrs. D. H. Day, reported the work of her committee in endeavoring to reach personally all who may be interested in the work of the club and in the musical growth of the city, and the club will open with a much larger membership list than any previous year.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS.

Dress Waists Much the Same. New Styles of Trimming.

While the shopper was looking at waists this morning, she saw some beautiful dress waists, and noticed that the combination of dark chiffons over laces, nets and silks is still very good. She also saw a large assortment of hand-embroidered voiles and voiles with handsome Irish lace medallions set in or with cluny lace trimmings. White is to be as popular this winter as it has been all summer, and fancy white waists will be much worn instead of the waists which match the suits, although many colored waists are also shown.

In these fancy waists the sleeves are nearly all elbow or three-quarter lengths, but the necks are high. Small lace yokes and collars are being used in many of the waists, and with the peasant sleeves tight lace under-sleeves are often used.

In the trimming of the dark waists a new fashion is the darning trimming. This is simply the soft yarn couched on also with yarn. One pretty waist which the shopper saw was of blue chiffon over pretty fancy net, trimmed with a profusion of this yarn on the front of the blouse.

Metallic effects in embroidery are also good, and the wide silk neopolitan braid is also used on many of the waists, combined with lace chiffon or net materials.

While the belt of the material in the suit is, of course, good, separate belts are also being worn this year. Suedes and satins are the newest things in this line, and are made in the wide crush style. Some pretty ones were displayed in one of the shop windows ranging from $1.50 up.

GREENFIELD-WESTAWAY.

Invitations for Marriage of Lakeside Young People.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burns Greenfield issued invitations this morning for the wedding of their daughter, Evelyn to Raymond Phillip Westaway. The event will take place Saturday, Sept. 23 at their home, 4321 McCulloch street, Lakeside, in the presence of friends and immediate relatives. Rev. Sutherland of the Lakeside Presbyterian church will perform the ceremony.

Mr. Westaway and his bride will be at home in Eveleth, Minn., after Jan. 1, 1912.

Miss Mabel Wilkinson of London road has invited guests for an afternoon party Saturday at her home in compliment to Miss Grennfield.

AMERICAN TENOR.

Riccardo Martin Adds to London Success.

American tenors who succeed in foremost opera houses are few. One, however, who may invariably be relied upon to uphold the prestige of his own country is Riccardo Martin. This young Kentuckian, who is with Caruso, leading tenor at the New York Metropolitan opera house, has just finished his second triumphant season at Covent Garden, London, and he has become more firmly established as a favorite through his beautiful voice, artistic singing and realistic dramatic action.

Martin will sing in concert at the Lyceum with Alice Nielsen and members of the Boston Opera company on Monday, Oct. 16, before rejoining the Metropolitan opera company, and it is certain that his appearance will be one of first importance in the season of musical events to be given in this city. Martin has all the qualities looked for in the singer of first rank and his concert appearances are always greeted with warmth by music lovers who appreciate personality, sound musicianship and manly straightforwardness.

Subscribers to the Duluth musical course are reminded that as soon as subscriptions are received the seats are allotted.

Second of Series.

Mrs. Frank E. Greene and Mrs. William Eden entertained at the second of a series of bridge parties yesterday afternoon at the home of the former. The rooms were bright with bowls of garden flowers and the game was played at six tables. The prizes were won by Mrs. Wade Clarke and Mrs. D. L. Fairchild.

Invitations for Bridge.

Mrs. J. H. Sullivan, 323 West Third street, has issued invitations for a bridge party to be given Tuesday afternoon of next week.

Fagerstrom-Johnson.

At a quiet wedding ceremony yesterday afternoon at the home of Rev. Robert Yost of the First Presbyterian church Miss Lydia Fagerstrom of this city and Martin W. Johnson of Floodwood were united in marriage. The service was read by Rev. Mr. Yost at 2 o'clock in the presence of only a few friends and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left last evening over the Soo Line for Chicago. They will visit in Cleveland and Buffalo and upon their return will be at home at Floodwood, where Mr. Johnson is the president of the Floodwood Mercantile company. The bride was married in her traveling suit of navy blue and there were no attendants.

Normal School Opens.

With an enrollment of nearly 200 pupils the Duluth normal school began work for the year yesterday. This was the largest number ever enrolled on the first day and many more expected, so that the enrollment of 344 or last year will probably be exceeded.

Among the states represented were, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Missouri, as well as various parts of Canada. Several changes have been made in the faculty and among the new teachers are: Miss Ruth Babcock of the Brooklyn training school for teachers in New York, kindergarten department; Miss May Champman of Cleveland, Ohio, succeeds Miss Palmer in the third and fourth year work of the training department; Miss Mary Abigail Jack of Mexico, Mo., succeeds Miss Ethel Mae Long in reading and expression; Prof. J. A. Owens of Chicago, supervisor of the training department; Prof. Eugene Van Cleef of Chicago, geography and physics; Miss Marjorie Strong of New York city, English.

THE EVENING STORY

JIM

By M. H. W. Carter.

Jim stood on the street corner deliberating. The cold wind tore round the corner and threatened to snatch the cap from his head. Jim did not mind the wind. He had had an unusual streak of good luck this afternoon and sold off all his papers early, and now stood jingling several coins in his pocket, coins which meant for him a good hot supper and a night's lodging.

He turned and sauntered along crossing street after street till he had wandered into a section of the city where he very rarely came, a most prosperous section, judging from the fine broad avenue.

Jim was cold by this time, and thought that he would retrace his steps, when his attention was attracted by the sound of music. It came from a church close by, the door of which stood invitingly open. It looked nice and warm inside; there was no one in sight, and Jim softly stepped in and sat down at the rear of the church, which was in semi-darkness.

The only lights were away down at the other end, where were gathered a group of boys about Jim's age, and a man seated at an organ. Soon the man began to play and the boys to sing. Now one would hardly have guessed on seeing Jim that he was a musician himself, but he had a great reputation among his friends, who were sure that not one of the famous singers of the day had a voice that could compare in sweetness with Jim's.

Jim was interested at once when he heard music in the church. Oh the beautiful music! He had never heard anything like it in his life. It made him almost unhappy at one moment, and he would rise to go, only it held him so that he could not.

But the boys! His astonishment rose as he heard and watched them. The man was evidently trying to teach them something; but some were careless and would not listen, and others were stupid and could not learn. Finally the boys became so restless that the man rose, and closing the organ, told them all to come the next afternoon; and immediately there was a rush for the door.

That night Jim would neither play nor whistle for his friends, to their great surprise; but the grand, uplifting strains which he had heard that afternoon still lingered in his ears.

The next afternoon, as soon as his papers were sold, he started again for the church, and the next and the next as well. Every afternoon found him a quiet unnoticed listener at the back of the great church.

The master went over and over the strains, slowly, carefully and patiently, while the boys blundered and hesitated. Jim had learned the whole thing by the second afternoon, and could have sung every note of it.

Jim was completely out of patience with one boy. He had a beautiful part to sing alone, evidently the climax of the whole piece, and he had a voice like a skylark, so pure and clear; but it was such a task to teach him anything.

What he apparently learned one day was forgotten the next and Jim fidgeted and muttered to himself in disgust at the bungling work which he made of it.

They were getting ready for an Easter celebration, as Jim learned from the conversation, and he made up his mind that he would be there on that day himself. He had attended so many of the rehearsals by this time that he felt quite at home in the church; but it seemed a very different place to him in the light of the bright spring morning, when Jim walked up to the door on Easter day.

The many carriages, the throngs of gaily dressed people so abashed him that he hardly dared go in, but he finally found an opportunity to do so unobserved, and slipped quietly into his accustomed seat. The church quickly filled, even to the corner where Jim sat.

After a while there was a sound of distant singing, and soon the boys came walking in procession, and singing the music that Jim had heard them learning.

In their choir garments they looked little like the rough careless boys of the day before. He did not know that the boy with the beautiful voice, who was to have sung his solo part, had suddenly been taken ill, and that the organist, in despair, had been obliged to substitute in his place one of the other boys who was not capable of filling it but was the best that the organist could find on such short notice.

So Jim did not know what to make of it when he saw the boy evidently preparing to sing alone. Jim knew each boy's capabilities in a musical way by this time as well as the organist himself did, and he knew that this boy could not sing the music properly. The organist began to play; the boy looked frightened. It was time for him to begin; he hesitated and choked. The organist turned partly round. The next instant a voice of wonderful strength and sweetness filled the church.

After a single start the organist played steadily on. He did not know from whence or whom the heavenly voice was issued, but it was God-sent. Through to the end, without fear or faltering, glowing and thrilling with joy and love and devotion, Jim poured out his soul.

When the last pure tones had died away, and he realized what he had done, he would have rushed out if possible, but kindly hands gently detained him till the service was over, and the surprise and wonder and admiration of the people could find expression.

Of course that was the beginning of a great change in Jim's life. The nightingale in his throat could no longer be hidden; it had brought to him friends and fortune. But in the future years people liked to tell the story of his first public appearance, when he sang because his bursting heart could not contain its wealth of melody.

ASTOR CANNOT FIND MINISTER

Two Refuse to Officiate at Wedding and It Is Postponed.

New York, Sept. 7.—Col. John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeline Talmadge Force are quietly planning for their wedding, which probably will not take place for some little while. Col. Astor called on Miss Force this morning before departing for his estate at Rhinebeck, N. Y. Col. Astor had nothing to say about his wedding plans, but his friends said the wedding would not take place right away.

The declination of two ministers to perform the marriage ceremony, it is said, completely disarranged the wedding plans, causing an indefinite postponement of the marriage. The Force family, beyond stating that the marriage would not take place today, made no further statement.

Refused $1,000 Fee.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 7.—A fee of $1,000 to marry John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeline Force has been refused by the Rev. Edward C. Johnson, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church of this city. Dr. Johnson was called to the office of a local attorney on Aug. 29 and the offer was made. The attorney told him that the ceremony was planned for some time between Monday and Thursday of this week.

NEBRASKA HEN LAYS THREE EGGS IN ONE.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 7.—A Plymouth rock hen's egg, laid on the farm of J. A. Buehler, in Johnson county, has been found to contain another complete egg with shell, and still a third egg in a skin exterior. The original egg was nine and quarter inches in circumference, and the inner egg was perfectly formed and larger than the ordinary specimen.

PICKANNINY BAND WILL PLAY LAST HERALD CONCERT OF THE SEASON

MAJ. JOHN POWELL AND ROBERT BURKE, Cornet Soloists at Last Herald Concert.

Plans for the last free Herald band concert of the season to be given at Lincoln Park by the "Old Kentucky" Pickanniny band, from 3 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, indicate that the program given will be one of the most entertaining ever heard in Duluth. Maj. John Powell and Robert Burke are a pair of the best cornet soloists in the country and will give several numbers. The famous "Old Kentucky" quartet will sing several darky melodies during the concert, and the darkies band will play a lengthy series of popular airs.

Manager Warren has promised to furnish extra street car service to handle the crowds at the park.

clearly and definitely just what it is that they desire. Of course there are persons wholly indifferent to the national honor and interest, who, in consequence, cannot be reached by an appeal to national honor and interest, and there are other persons whose ingrained personal timidity is such that they are more afraid of war than of any dishonor, personal or national.

"We, the American people, believe, and ought to believe, in righteousness first, and in peace as the hand-maid of righteousness. We abhor brutality and wrong-doing, whether exhibited by nations or by individuals. We hold that the same law of righteousness should obtain between nations as between man and man. I, for one, would rather cut off my hand than have the United States adopt the attitude either of cringing before great and powerful nations who wish to wrong us, or of bullying small and weak nations who have done us no wrong.

Want Justice First.

"The American people desire to do justice and to act with frank generosity toward all the other nations of mankind, but I err greatly in my judgment of my countrymen if they are willing to submit to wrong and injustice.

"Again and again in the past they have shown, and rightly shown, that when the choice lay between righteousness and peace, they chose righteousness, just exactly as they also chose righteousness when the chance lay between righteousness and war."

Mr. Roosevelt cites the Revolutionary war, the Civil war, and the Spanish-American war as instances in which we put righteousness above peace.

He also cites the existing arbitration treaties between the United States and Great Britain and France as better than the proposed treaty, because they make no false pretenses and exclude questions affecting the vital interests, independence, or honor of the country.

New Treaty Defective.

He continues: "The proposed arbitration treaty is defective, in the first place, because it is not straightforward. It sets forth that all 'justiciable' matters shall be arbitrated. The language both of the opponents and the defenders of the treaty shows that even among our own people, and before a cause for applying the treaty has arisen, there is hopeless confusion as to what 'justiciable' means. Such being the case, it can be imagined how useless would be the effort to define 'justiciable' when the serious conflict had actually arisen, and blood was up and passion high.

"The wording of the treaty is so loose, it so lacks explicitness, as to allow one set of its advocates to announce that it binds us to arbitrate everything, and another set to say that under it we would not have to arbitrate anything we did not wish to.

"Now, no moral movement is permanently helped by hypocrisy. Does the proposal in the treaties, if entered into with various nations, bind us to arbitrate the Monroe doctrine, the Platt amendment with Cuba, the payment of state bonds to European bondholders, the question whether various European countries are entitled to the same concessions that Canada is to receive under the reciprocity agreement, the right of other foreign nations to interfere in Panama, our own right to exclude any immigrants whom we choose to exclude?

Senate "Did Its Duty."

"If these questions arose, I am sure our representatives would, privately or publicly, inform foreign powers (and indeed would have to inform foreign powers) that the American people would never abide by an agreement to arbitrate them, in which case the only proper course to follow is that followed by the senate committee, and to say in honest fashion that there are certain questions which this nation will not arbitrate at the dictation of an outside body. Critics of the senate in this matter talk as if it had 'usurped' a 'right'; in reality the senate has merely performed a duty.

"Most men of knowledge, who are willing to think, know perfectly well that this country would not, as a matter of fact, keep an agreement to arbitrate all questions of vital honor and interest, even though it were so unwise as to make it; and it is a wicked thing to put us in a position of promising what will not, and cannot, be performed. In such a matter, the indulgence in false pretense in the present would certainly be followed by the breaking of faith in the future.

Worse Than "Silly."

"The fatally objectional feature is the clause providing that the joint high commission, which may be composed conclusively of 'nationals' of the two countries, but which also may be composed wholly of foreigners, may by unanimous vote, or by vote of all but one of its members, determine that any given question whatever must be arbitrated. It is difficult to characterize this provision truthfully without seeming to be offensive.

"Merely to speak of it as silly comes far short of saying what should be said. It is arguable that in certain cases two component parts of the treaty-making power, the president or the senate, should delegate to the other, for certain purposes, the power of exclusive action.

"But no sound argument can be made for permitting the president and the senate to delegate to outsiders, possibly to foreigners, the exercise of a fundamental and vital power. The details of carrying into effect a great and far-reaching policy can appropriately be delegated, but the elected servants of the people betray the interests of the people if they shirk the duty of themselves deciding what policy shall be followed.

Powers to Be Kept.

"It would be quite proper to delegate to the joint high commission many subordinate functions, but the high, the supreme function of deciding whether a question is of such vital importance to the country that it is not arbitrable, cannot with propriety be delegated to any outsider by either the president or the senate.

"They are elected to perform exactly the vital duties implied in such decision. If the president, after consulting with his constitutional advisers, the senate, could not make up his own mind about such a vital question and had to have it made up for him by outsiders—possibly foreigners, and certainly not responsible to the people—it would be proof positive that he was not fit to hold the exalted position to which he had been elected. A president unfit to make such a decision himself and willing to have somebody else make it for him, would also be unfit to perform any of the really important duties of the presidency.

Would Be Hypocrisy.

"We, the people of the United States, cannot and will not surrender to outsiders the power to determine whether or not we are fit to decide for ourselves what are our vital needs, and what are the policies proper for meeting these needs. In other words, Uncle Sam does not intend to wrong anyone, but neither does he intend to bind himself, if his pocket is picked, his house burglarized, or his face slapped, to 'arbitrate' with the wrongdoer; and as long as he does not intend so to bind himself, it would be offensive hypocrisy for him to say that he will so bind himself.

"It is our duty, so far as possible, so far as human nature in the present day world will permit, to try to provide peaceful substitutes for war as a method for the settlement of international disputes. But progress in this direction is merely hindered by the folly that believes in putting peace above righteousness; while it is even worse to pretend so to believe.

Nation's Greatest Service.

"The greatest service this nation can render to righteousness, is to behave with scrupulous justice to other nations, and yet to keep ready to hold its own if necessary. Our one chief usefulness to humanity rests on our combining power with high purpose. Power undirected by high purpose spells calamity, and high purpose by itself is utterly useless if the power to put it into effect is lacking.

"In the history of our country, the peace advocates who treat peace as more than righteousness will never be and never have been of service, either to it or to mankind. The true lovers of peace, the men who have really helped onward the movement for peace, have been those who followed, even though afar off, the footsteps of Washington and Lincoln, and stood for righteousness as the supreme end of national life. Only by acting on these principles, only by following in the footsteps of these great Americans of the past, can we of the present generation effectively work for and secure the peace of righteousness."

sweepstakes premiums on grain growers of Minnesota were awarded at the fair, as follows:

Best oats and barley—John Henderson, Cokato. (Cup for each.)

Best ten ears of corn—Edward Mangan, Preston.

Best peck of wheat—S. B. Wells, Pine City.

Best peck of flax—Paul Berteloss, Stillwater.

Butter Scored 99 Points.

Butter that scored 99 points and won sweepstakes at the fair was produced from whole milk by the Eden Valley Creamery company of Eden Valley. J. W. Engel of Pratt won second prize on whole milk butter with a score of 98½. A. F. Radke of Plato and Anton Baltes of Metrose tied for third prize, each with a score of 98. Each will be given the regular premium.

In the hand separator class, Fred Hansen of Lake Crystal and George Nelson of St. James each made scores of 95, and are tied. D. D. Sorensen of Sherburn won second with a score of 94⅔, while F. H. Bartless of Pease and W. P. Ridgway of Lake Benton tied with scores of 94¼.

Dairy Exhibits High Class.

Andrew French, former state dairy and food commissioner, says the exhibits this year scored higher than in any of the former years of the fair.

H. A. Kalk of Sheboygan, a cheese manufacturer, walked away with sweepstakes in cheese contest, scoring 98¾. Joe Porenteau of Mantorville and Jacob Drier of Pine Island tied for second honors with scores of 97. Mr. Drier took third prize with a cheese that scored 96¾ points.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

The high temperature yesterday was 48 deg. and the lowest last night was 40 deg. The northeast wind has blown with unabated fury for three or four days, and enough rain has fallen to soak everything in sight and then some. The sun has not sent his rays on this side of the clouds since last Sunday. 'Tis not a cheerful weather summary that may be given of the last week's weather. But the mercury slid down to 26 deg. at Qu 'Appelle yesterday and freezing temperatures were recorded at other Western Canada points, so conditions in Duluth could be worse. Fair and cool is the prediction for tonight and tomorrow. We could spare the coolness.

The temperature went to 82 deg. a year ago today. Comparisons sure are distasteful.

The sun rose this morning at 5:35 and it will set at 6:37 this evening, giving thirteen hours and two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Light to copious rains fell during the last twenty-four hours over most states north of the Fortieth parallel and over the Carolinas and Louisiana, principally in connection with the low pressures centered Wednesday morning over Kansas and Quebec, but with disturbances have since disappeared, the only one in evidence this morning being that which overlies Arizona. The northwestern high pressure has caused colder weather from Colorado and Kansas northward to including Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Freezing temperatures prevail this morning in Alberta and Saskatchewan and frosty weather is indicated tonight as regards Minnesota and the Dakotas."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Upper Michigan—Rain tonight; Friday probably fair; continued cool.

Wisconsin—Unsettled weather with showers this afternoon and in southeast portion tonight; cooler in southeast portion tonight; Friday generally fair and continued cool.

Minnesota, North and South Dakota—Generally fair and continued cool tonight and Friday; probably frost tonight.

Iowa—Threatening tonight with cooler in east and south portions; Friday probably fair.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Friday; slightly warmer in northwest portion tonight; light frost tonight.

Upper lakes—Moderate to brisk northeast winds, freshening with rain tonight and probably Friday; warnings down 9 a. m. on Lakes Superior, north Michigan and north Huron.

In a ringing voice, full of emotion, Hill Carter began the plea for the defense. Pointing to the unsullied character of the father of the prisoner, his religious virtue and his steadfast truthfulness, Mr. Carter retold the testimony of Henry Clay Beattie, Sr., on the stand.

"That father," said Mr. Carter, "told how the son sobbed and grieved over the death of his wife, and I know you will believe the parent closest to him as he contradicts what other witnesses say of the lack of manifestation on the part of the accused of his grief.

"No Motive."

He argued that there was no motive for young Beattie to kill his wife, as the father had pictured the warm affection between the couple. He arraigned the detectives who, he declared, had "mercilessly worked up theories and cast unwarranted suspicions."

Repeatedly pointing to the instructions to the jury as to circumstantial evidence and "reasonable doubt," Mr. Carter assailed the veracity of Paul Beattie.

Mr. Carter had not finished his remarks when the court at 1:10 p. m. took a recess for luncheon.

Witnesses Not Free.

Prosecutor Wendenburg declared today that he had decided not to request the reopening of the case on account of the discovery of an alleged eye witness. Following this announcement, Beulah Binford and Paul Beattie, detained as witnesses for the commonwealth, were released from Henrico county jail today by order of Judge Walter A. Watson of the Chesterfield circuit court.

"We have a strong enough case without it," he said.

"We could not get the man here for a couple of days at least, as he lives out West. But we have asked him to come here just the same, to see what there is in his story.

"Of course we have received, as is usual in murder cases, many letters from alleged eye witnesses. This one, however, signed his name and we find that he did once work as a farmhand at a place near the scene of the murder. We are going to investigate it further, but you can take the story now for what it is worth."

Says He Saw Crime.

Mr. Wendenburg received the information in yesterday's mail. The writer, who until a few days after the murder of Mrs. Beattie was a farmhand employed on a place near the scene of the crime, said that he actually saw Young Beattie kill his wife—saw him knock her from the automobile with the butt of a shotgun, and then shoot her as she lay insensible on the ground.

He wrote that Beattie threatened him when he found that he had witnessed the deed, and the following day gave him a suit of clothes and money with which to go away. Though he kept quiet at first because he was afraid, the man says now he does not want Beattie to escape punishment, and is willing to testify.

Was Chasing Cow.

At the outset the prosecution was inclined to think that this was just another crank's letter, of which many have been received by both sides since the trial began. An investigation was started, however, and several of the writer's statements were soon corroborated.

The Chesterfield farmer mentioned in the letter acknowledged that a man by the name used by the writer was employed by him until a few days after the murder, and further declared it was a fact that the farm hand was chasing a runaway cow on the night the crime was committed.

In telling his story, the alleged witness said he was looking for a cow when he came upon the man and woman in an automobile on the Midlothian turn pike some time after 10 o'clock.

Evidence of Clubbing.

The declaration that Beattie clubbed his wife with the gun before shooting her is considered by the lawyers and detectives for the prosecution with peculiar interest. It is said that physicians who examined Mrs. Beattie's body reported that the frontal bone on the right side of the skull probably was broken, though the charge of shot had entered the left side and penetrated to the back of the head. On account of this, it is understood, Mr. Wendenburg thought seriously of referring to a wound on the right side of the forehead, in the indictment drawn for the grand jury.

If the new witnesses were used, the murdered woman's body probably would be exhumed and examined.

Gave Detailed Account.

The letter writer gave a detailed account of the tragedy as he claims to have witnessed it. He said in part:

"I was in the pine woods on the right hand side of the Midlothian turnpike as you go out from Richmond, and I saw a light. As I walked closer to the road I saw an automobile standing almost in the middle of the road, facing toward Richmond, and there were two people in it—a man and a woman. They were both sitting in the front seat.

"They were quarreling. I could hear them talking loud, so I did not show myself, but waited behind a tree about ten feet from the edge of the road, in the thick pine woods, to hear what they said.

"The woman was pleading with the man. She was saying that she wanted her love back again, and she did not want the man to be cruel to her. The man answered roughly.

"Going to End This."

"At one time I heard him say, 'I am tired of all this, I am going to end this.' Then I heard the woman say, 'How are you going to end it?' The man said something I could not hear and then I heard him say, 'I'll show you how I'm going to end it.'

"He got out of the machine and walked across to the opposite side of the road from where I was, and then after he had been there a minute he came back with something in his hands. I could not see what it was in the darkness.

"The woman was standing in the machine in front of the left hand seat, in the front part of the automobile, when the man came back.

Heard Woman Scream.

"Just when the man came back I heard the woman scream once. Then the man who was standing in the road swung what he had in his hand, and hit the woman on the right of the face. She fell from the machine to the road and she did not make a sound.

"For a minute the man stood looking at her, and then I heard him say, 'Damn you, you're not dead yet. I'll fix you.' Then he up with a gun, which was what he had hit the woman with, and he shot her where she lay, in the road by the front seat of the automobile.

"I did not see where he shot her. I saw him throw the gun somewhere and he began to lift his wife's body in the front seat of the automobile and I came out from the trees.

"The man turned around and saw me and he said to me, 'Did you see this?'

"I told him yes I had.

"'Damn you, what the hell are you going to do about it?' he asked.

Threatened Him.

"I didn't say anything. Then he began to threaten me. He said he was rich and had lots of friends in Richmond, and if I told on him he would have me killed somehow. He said nobody would believe my story if I appeared in court against him anyway, and I had better get out. He said he would give me some money and a suit of clothes if I would go away.

"I told the man I would go away. Then he told me to come to Beattie's store the next day and there would be some money for me. I went and he got some money and bought a suit of clothes.

"I stayed in South Richmond for two days then, but I was so scared and got so nervous after that two days that I took the train to this place."

Last night, before Mr. Wendenburg's startling announcement, it was expected that the final argument by counsel would be begun this morning and concluded tonight. L. M. Gregory was to open the case for the prosecution, to be followed by Attorneys Harry M. Smith, Jr., and Hill Carter for the defense. L. O. Wendenburg, who has voluntarily assisted Prosecutor Gregory in the case, will close for the commonwealth.

Girl An Accessory.

Detectives for the commonwealth yesterday began to investigate a charge that Beulah Binford, the so-called girl in the case, was an accessory before the fact. Judge Watson was informed that if the investigation was successful, the Binford girl might be arrested and indicted as an accessory.

Judge Watson has received a telegram from a man in Chicago advising that Paul Beattie, a cousin of Henry, be indicted as an accessory, the Chicagoan declaring he would come to Chesterfield to testify if it was so desired.

Detective Scherer, who has been one of the leaders in working up the case of the prosecution, repudiated any such purpose as to Beattie, but said that the investigation as to the Binford girl had not been completed.

"I do not attach any importance to it," said Scherer. "Yet we are working on the information received and will continue to do so regardless of her release or the verdict in the case."

Bitter Contract.

The Binford girl fretted at her long detention, and accused the prosecution at connivance in preventing her from testifying because "they knew she could get a bigger contract on the stage" if she had been allowed to take the stand. When she heard of the investigation she was greatly irritated, as she had hoped to gain her freedom at once. The report on which the investigation was based came first in a telegram from the West, which alleged that Beulah had knowledge of plans for the tragedy.

In jail the Binford girl, on learning that Henry Beattie had declared he hoped to eat dinner with his family on Sunday next, exclaimed: "I'd give a million dollars to see him do it."

Paul Beattie in Vaudeville.

Upon being released this morning, Paul Beattie went at once to his home and remained there all morning with his family, greeting neighbors and friends and enjoying his liberty to the fullest degree. He says he intends to do nothing else for a month, and then he is going to New York to go into vaudeville, having received offers that he is "too poor to refuse."

Beulah Binford remained in the prison until later in the day, packing her clothing and toilet accessories. She said early in the day that she was waiting to decide just what course she should pursue when she actually walked through the portals of the jail into the next chapter of her already eventful life.

Beulah to Pose for Pictures.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the cause of Beulah's delay was disclosed in the appearance at the jail of agents for a New York film company. They held a private conference with the woman, and in a little while she announced she had signed a contract and would go with them to New York to pose for moving picture productions.

Court convened at 10:30 o'clock, Judge Watson declared that counsel, in the argument today, might refer to portions of testimony "not fit for ladies to hear," and requested all women in the courtroom to leave.

Instructions to Jury.

Judge Watson then read the instructions to the jury. In part he said:

"Upon the trial of a criminal case by a jury, the law contemplates the concurrence of twelve minds in the conclusion of guilt before a conviction started; however, and several of the writer's statements were soon corroborated. individual juror should feel the responsibility resting upon him as a member of the jury, and should realize that his own mind must be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt of the defendant's guilt before he can consent to a verdict of guilty.

"Therefore, if any individual member of the jury, after having duly considered all the evidence in the case, and after consultation with his fellow jurors, should entertain such reasonable doubt of defendant's guilt as is set forth in the other instructions in this case, it is his duty not to surrender his own convictions simply because the balance of the jury entertain different convictions."

The prisoner listened intently to the reading of the instructions, and smiled when they had been concluded.

Argued for State.

J. M. Gregory began the argument for the prosecution at 10:55 o'clock.

"The record in this case shows," he said, "on a dark night, July 18, the soil of this county was stained by some high assassin with the blood of an innocent woman. I believe I can show that no other man committed the crime but the husband of that woman, with the very gun you, gentlemen of the jury, have examined here.

"He was the only man seen on the spot that night, and he was armed with the same gun he has here identified."

Attorney Gregory, after referring the crime as "hellish," reviewed the evidence of the boys who came from a dance at Bon Air the night of the murder, arguing that it was the prisoner they saw, and none other, crouching in front of the machine with a woman on the running board.

Bitter Against Kestleberg.

Mr. Gregory scathingly attacked the testimony of Charles H. Kestleberg, who said it was he the boys saw on their way from the dance at Bon Air.

"Here is a man," declared Gregory, "who, on a drunken spree, tries to tell us the hour he was on the Midlothian turnpike, when he was on several roads that night with a woman dressed in white.

"And the boys, honest young men, tell us it was a different make of car they saw, and a woman dressed differently standing on the running board, and the machine a mile nearer the crime. They tell us, too, the exact hour, which corresponds almost exactly to the hour of the crime.

"I don't believe there is a man on this jury who believes a thing Kestleberg said."

Often Quoted Scripture.

Mr. Gregory's speech tingled with religious fervor. Often he quoted scripture, and in a trembling voice referred to the affair of Cain and Abel as the first homicide.

"Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., should have been the keeper of that devoted wife," said Mr. Gregory, "but he became a traitor and forsook her.

"Why? We were not legally required to prove a motive, but the commonwealth has gone beyond and unlocked the door of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr.'s, affections. He went to the red light district for his affections, while a tender babe was on his wife's breast."

Bitter denunciation of Beulah Binford followed.

"My God!" exclaimed Mr. Gregory, "I hope I never shall see as black a character as has been depicted to you by witnesses as that of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., the man who showered his affections on a notorious woman."

Picture Man in Trouble.

Petersburg, Va., Sept. 7.—C. O. Moss, manager of a theater here, has been summoned to appear in police court Tuesday, charged with violating a city ordinance in exhibiting pictures of Henry Clay Beattie and other persons connected with the Chesterfield murder case.

NO STRIKE ACTION YET

strike has been denied, and the representative of the international association of machinists has demanded that the executive board of that organization consider the crisis at a meeting to be held here Sunday.

Before this was determined upon yesterday, the international committee had decided to turn the responsibility in the matter over to the committee of the system federation.

J. F. McCreery, president of the federation, is now sounding the sentiment to see if the men wish to strike without the active and financial support of the international. He expects to make a report later to the international committee.

Western Meeting Friday.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—Members of the general committee of the shop craft unions of the Harriman system were arriving here by every overland train today. It is expected that all of the committeemen who will take part in the conference with the international presidents will have arrived by tonight and the conference which probably will decide the attitude of the unions on the long pending strike question will be in session tomorrow.

Four international presidents returned today from Sacramento, where they spent yesterday in conference with the Harriman shop employes in that city.

QUARKER CITY ALL EXCITED

the midst of one of the fiercest political campaigns ever waged in Philadelphia. The local Republican organization is split for the first time in sixteen years.

This condition came about when William S. Vare, who shares the leadership in the city with State Senator James P. McNicol, announced himself as a candidate for mayor. Senator McNicol announced his opposition to Vare's candidacy and he is supported in this opposition by United States Senator Penrose, the state leader.

Mayor Reyburn and his political lieutenants are supporting Vare. Senators Penrose and McNicol are behind George H. Earle, Jr., for the nomination, and a third candidate for the Republican nomination is Dimner Beeber.

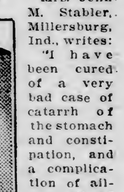

Senator McNicol is a member of the investigating committee, but will not sit with it.

Reformers Split, Too.

There is also a contest among the reform element of the city, both D. Clarence Gibboney and Rudolph Blankenburg striving for the Keystone party nomination. The reformers believe that owing to the split in the regular Republican ranks their chances of success are bright.

PERUNA SAVED MY LIFE.

"I Recommend It Wherever I Am."

Mrs. John M. Stabler.

Mrs. John M. Stabler, Millersburg, Ind., writes: "I have been cured of a very bad case of catarrh of the stomach and constipation, and a complication of ailments that I have had for several years. I doctored with three doctors, who did me not much good, so I quit doctoring.

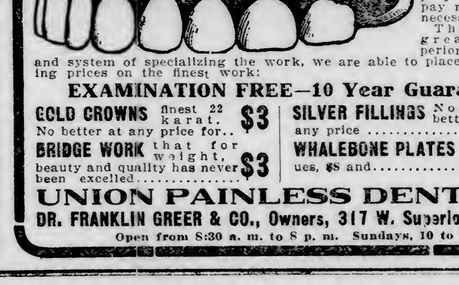

"I bought a bottle of Peruna and commenced taking it. I found I was getting some better, but thought I was not doing as well as I might. So I wrote The Peruna Medical Department, to see what they thought about me. They gave me special directions and medical advice. To our astonishment I improved and am today a well woman and weigh as much as I ever did in my life.

"I tell my friends that Peruna saved my life. I recommend it wherever I am, and when any of our folks are sick, I give them Peruna with success."

HEALTH FACTS FOR ILL MEN

Diseases of the Nervous System Discussed by the Progressive Medical Doctors.

Every normally constituted and healthy man has a natural and abundant endowment of potential energy or reserve nerve power.

Units of nerve-energy are drawn from the blood and stored in the cellular substance of the brain and gangilia for use in the performance of involuntary function and voluntary action.

In a condition of absolute and perfect health these reservoirs of vital power, or nerve, are well stored, and potential energy is so abundant that the whole physical and mental being is filled and thrilled with the triumphant consciousness of power.

Such a man possesses personal magnetism, and unconsciously inspires those who come into social or business relations with him with a feeling of his easy mastery over almost all conditions. The "American Disease" is Neurasthenia, "brain fag," debility. Call it by what name you please, for we do not treat the name, but we do successfully treat the condition, and restore the patient to that health which is so essential to his social and commercial success if he is to fill a man's place in the world.

The Napoleons of finance, the captains of industry, the men of affairs are the ones most afflicted. Perfect health, however, is all-essential to the man of lower position who aspires to the highest. Many a man fails on account of a physical handicap to achieve the ambitions for which his natural mental qualifications fit him. The connection between mind and body is so intimate, and their interdependence so marked, that physical perfection is essential to the greatest achievement.

When we know the patient's true condition by thoroughly examining him, we can tell him exactly if his troubles are curable or not. If you are sick you will be wise to accept every successful business man's motto: "Do it now." There should be no "tomorrow" by a man who is suffering.

The nervo-vital diseases include nervous debility, decline, insomnia, melancholia and disorders of graver nature which involve the brain and spinal cord, and are of a paralytic nature.

The associated pelvic diseases are: Stricture, bladder, prostatic and kidney diseases; varicose veins, hydrocele, rupture (hernia, lithasis (gravel) and diseases of the lower bowel.

We have made the cure of men our life study, and we have been eminently successful. The effect of the treatment is to cure those diseases and to restore men to the full enjoyment of nature's best gifts to the normal physical and mental conditions that characterize health. Our offices are open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., at No. 1 West Superior street. All consultations are free to all who seriously desire to find out their true physical and pathological condition of health and disease. We successfully cure all diseases of men.

MARKET GARDENERS OF DULUTH AND VICINITY MAKE GOOD SHOWING AT MINNESOTA STATE FAIR

PRODUCERS' CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION EXHIBIT AT THE STATE FAIR.

In competition with gardeners of twenty-five years' experience the members of the Producers' Co-operative association of Duluth, who may be classed practically as novices, scored 87 points, against 94 for the Minneapolis Gardeners' association in the exhibit at the state fair.

The fruits from St. Louis county which were to have been included in the exhibit, failed to reach the fair in time and were therefore not entered in the scoring, while the green corn, which was shipped, was lost in transit.

The members of the Minneapolis Gardeners' association had the advantage of being near the fair grounds, and therefore could bring their stuff fresh to the grounds on the opening day, while the exhibits sent from this section were badly jarred in transit and were exposed for two days. In spite of these disadvantages the northern producers made a remarkable showing, and compelled the Minneapolis crowd to hustle to make a showing for their city and county, something they have never before had to do until the Duluth men got into the ring.

"The co-operative exhibit was made possible by the loyal support of the members from Sandstone, Ascove, Greyssolon and Floodwood and from individual gardeners from Duluth. It attracted a great deal of attention and has been surrounded by hundreds of men who are locating places to buy potatoes. The co-operative exhibit and the St. Louis county exhibit contain the best samples of potatoes at the fair. The fact that there are no good potatoes on the Twin City markets, and poor ones are selling from the farmers' wagons at $1 per bushel, wholesale, makes good potatoes an object of special interest.

Status of Association.

"Had all the members of the Producers' association responded to the call for products for the state fair, instead of being discouraged by the temporary closing of the warehouse branch, first place might have been won," said a Duluth man who visited the fair. "The Producers' Co-operative association was never more alive in the eyes of the public than it is today. With a potato, cabbage and vegetable crop that will aggregate many hundreds of carloads, known to be equal in quality to that of others from any part in the Northwest, the producers will hold together and pull together until this year's crop has been placed upon the best market obtainable. It all should have been marketed through a Duluth manager, but under present conditions it will go more directly to the markets of the Central West, which are short on potatoes."

No exhibit has heretofore been made that has attracted as much attention to the agricultural possibilities of the territory tributary to Duluth as this one, made by the Producers' Co-operative association. Louis Christensen of Sandstone presides over the exhibit to answer questions, and when he points out the products that he himself has grown and says he can supply them by the carload, the most skeptical are convinced that Duluth indeed should be the port of outlet for this land of promise.

The arrangements of the exhibits of the producers' association and the Duluth and St. Louis county exhibits, are most unique. The setting is such that each vegetable shows its own individual merits, while the local harbor is displayed, with the aerial bridge and ship canal, in a most conspicuous place, while vessels laden with the products of the state for the hungry people of the whole world, are ready to sail. This pretty display, which is commanding the admiration of all who visit the agricultural department, was planned and devised by A. B. Hostetter and Charles Josten of the Duluth Commercial club and they have been complimented by many for their good work.

In speaking of the association and its work, Mr. Hostetter stated to a Herald correspondent at St. Paul: "We trust that the success of the Producers' Co-operative association in making this exhibit and in advertising the organization and its products will contradict and counteract the false impression that prevails in some quarters that the organization is defunct. With 1,000 carloads of potatoes in sight the Producers' Co-operative Market association will be very much alive for the next three months and her favor will be solicited by potato buyers from far and near."

INCREASE IS SMALL

Number of Farms Does Not Keep Pace With Population.

Agricultural Data for United States Given By Census Bureau.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Census Director Durand gave out today an important advance statement from the bureau of the census containing additional figures and details of the agricultural statistics of continental United States collected at the thirteenth decennial census, April 15, 1910. It is based on a preliminary comparative summary submitted by Dr. Le Grand Powers, chief statistician for the division of agriculture in the bureau of census and it supplements a brief preliminary notice issued in July last.

The figures here given are subject to revision, inasmuch as there is a small number of farms, the returns for which are incomplete, which will be included in the final tables. Such additions, however, will not materially modify either the amounts or the rates here stated. Further information with regard to the acreages and yields of the various crops and the number and value of domestic animals in the United States will be published later, when the tabulation of the material has been completed.

Slow Increase In Number of Farms.

During the ten years which followed the census of 1900, the population of the United States increased 21 per cent, but the number of farms did not keep pace with the increase in population. From 5,737,372 in 1900 the number grew to 6,340,357, an increase of 602,985, or 10.5 per cent. For the whole United States this is the lowest rate of increase which has been noted since the number of farms was first recorded in 1850. Measured by number of farms, agriculture exhibits a diminished rate of increase, and in large areas of the country is practically stationary.

Land In Farms.

The small growth in the number of farms has not been compensated by any growth in the size of farms, the average number of acres in farms having decreased from 146 in 1900 to 138 in 1910. The increase in the total acreage devoted to agriculture was only 35,137,000 acres, or 4.2 per cent. The actual area in farms was 838,592,000 acres in 1900 and 873,729,000 acres in 1910.

Increase in Improved Land.

Improved land, however, increased more rapidly than the total farm acreage or number of farms, the advance being from 414,499,000 acres in 1900 to 477,448,000 acres in 1910, a gain of 62,949,000 acres, or 15.2 per cent in ten years. Yet this percentage of increase was only about two-thirds the growth of population, showing that at the best the number of acres under cultivation and used for the production of crops had not kept pace with the increase in the number of people.

Increase in Farm Values.

In striking contrast with the slow growth in the number and acreage of farms and the area of improved land during the ten years is the enormous rise which has occurred in the value of farm property. Farm land, exclusive of buildings, which was valued at $13,058,008,000 in 1900, had more than doubled before 1910, being then returned as having a value of $28,386,770,000. The enormous increase here recorded of $15,328,762,000 represents an advance of 117.4 per cent in the value of all lands in farms.

It is immediately evident that the relatively small increase in the total acreage of farm land, 4.2 per cent, was one of the least important of the factors causing the great increase in aggregate value. The average value of farm land per acre increased from $15.57 in 1900 to $22.49 in 1910, a gain of $16.92, or 108.7 per cent.

Of the factors contributing to this increase in the average value of land the most important is doubtless that of advancing farm prices of agricultural products. This has increased the income-producing power of the farm and correspondingly influenced the selling price or value of farm land. It is probable also that in calculating the value of farm lands it has become customary to capitalize the income-producing power at a lower rate of interest than formerly. This might be true, despite the fact that interest rates in general have probably not fallen, because of the reduction in the risk of farming business.

Another important factor operative in increasing the total and average value of farm land throughout the United States has been the cost of improving what was previously unimproved land, including the expenditures for the irrigation of dry land, draining swamp land, tiling and constructing surface drains for wet lands, removing stones and stumps, clearing away brush, breaking up prairie land, building fences, and making other improvements exclusive of buildings. According to the census report these changes affected 62,949,000 acres. In addition the farmers expended much labor and money for increasing the improvements of various kinds upon land which had been reported as improved in 1900.

Allied to the foregoing expenditures were those made by the farmers in the form of taxes for securing improved roads, building bridges, constructing schoolhouses, and making other community improvements, which have doubtless increased farm values.

The fact that desirable free land has practically disappeared, resulting in an increase in the number of buyers, and that this number has been augumented by an increased demand for homes in the open country, has caused an upward movement in values. At the same time the owners of farm lands are less willing to sell than formerly, appreciating as they do the lower cost of living in the country as well as the growing importance of land ownership. They place a value on the farm as a home as well as a place to work for a living.

In connection with the increase in the average value of farm land, it is interesting to note the fact that in the past decade, as for many decades previously, there has been a much more rapid increase in urban than in rural population. The population classed by the census bureau as urban constituted 46.3 per cent of the total in 1910 as compared with 40.5 per cent in 1900. In several states, and in many counties in other states, there has ben an actual decrease in rural population since 1900, and in most areas where this is true there has been a remarkable increase in values of farm land.

Farm Buildings, Implements and Machinery.

It is not alone farm land which has increased in value. Farm buildings valued in 1900 as $3,556,640,000 have increased to $6,294,737,000 in 1910, a growth of 77 per cent. Implements and machinery show a corresponding but slightly less pronounced growth in value. In 1900 they represented $749,776,000 and in 1910 $1,262,022,000, an increase in value of 68.3 per cent.

Expenditures for Labor and Fertilizers.

Hired labor on the farms of the United States absorbed in 1900 an expenditure of $357,392,000 and in 1910 $645,612,000, an increase of 80.6 per cent. Expenditures for fertilizers are much less important, being in 1910 $114,277,000. Compared, however, with an expenditure of $53,432,000 in 1900, this represents an increase of 113.9 per cent.

White and Colored Farmers.

The number of farms operated by white farmers was 5,422,892, or 85.5 per cent of all farms, while the number operated by negro and other non-white farmers was 917,465, or 14.5 per cent of the whole. There is a slight increase in the proportion of negro and other non-white farmers, the proportion of farms operated by then ten years ago being 13.4 per cent. Whether this increase in the proportionate number of negro farmers means any increase in the relative extent of farming conducted by negroes cannot be determined till further tabulations are made showing the size of farms, by color of farmer.

Ownership and Tenure.

The total number of farms operated by owners, including those owning only part of the land operated by them was 3,033,705 in 1910, as compared with 3,655,323 in 1900, an increase of 280,382. The total number operated in 1910 by tenants was 2,349,254, as against 2,024,964 in 1900, an increase of 324,290. The number conducted by hired managers was 57,398 in 1910 and 59,085 in 1900, a decrease of 1,687.

The farms operated by owners constituted 62 per cent of the whole number of farms in 1910 and 63.7 per cent in 1900; those operated by tenants 37.1 per cent in 1910 and 35.3 per cent in 1900; and those conducted by managers, 1 per cent at both censuses. In 1890 the percentage of farms operated by owners, including those conducted by managers, was 71.6 per cent. This indicated that the decrease in the proportion of farms operated by owners was less during the last ten years than during the preceding ten years.

Farm Mortgages.

Of the total number of farms, 3,933,705, operated in 1910 by owners, there were 2,622,341, or 66.7 per cent, reported as "owned free of debt," while 1,311,364, or 33.3 per cent were reported as mortgaged. There were 45,975 farms for which no mortgage report was secured, and these are included in the farms reported as free from debt. The census bureau has no information respecting the indebtedness in farms leased to tenants or operated by managers.

In 1900 information was secured concerning the "owned farm homes." At that time 2,545,239, or 70 per cent, were reported as "free from debt," while 1,093,157, or 30 per cent were reported as mortgaged. There were 126,059 farms in 1900 for which no mortgage report was secured, and these are included with the farm homes reported as "free from debt." There has thus been a considerably greater increase in the number of mortgaged farms than in the number of farms free from mortgage. The increase in the proportion of mortgaged farms from 1900 to 1910, however, was less than that from 1890 to 1900.

Farms Distributed Into Size Groups.

The statement relating to farms distributed according to size groups shows that those "19 acres and under," numbered 829,303 in 1910 and 673,870 in 1900, a gain of 155,433; those "20 to 49 acres," 1,410,932 in 1910 and 1,257,496 in 1900, a gain of 153,496; those "50 to 99 acres," 1,435,743 in 1910 and 1,366,038 in 1900, an increase of 69,705; those "100 to 174 acres," 1,513,235 in 1910 and 1,422,262 in 1900, a gain of 90,973; those "175 to 499 acres," 976,597 in 1910 and 868,020 in 1900, an increase of 108,577; those "500 to 999 acres," 124,883 in 1910 and 102,526 in 1900, a gain of 22,357, and those "1,000 acres and over," 49,604 in 1910 and 47,160 in 1900 a gain of 2,444. The farms of each size group thus increased in absolute number, but the increases were at different rates, so that there are some appreciable changes in the proportion of farms falling in the respective classes.

Acreage Group Proportions.

Of the whole number of farms those "19 acres and under" formed 13.1 per cent in 1910 and 11.7 per cent in 1909; those "20 to 49 acres," 22.3 per cent in 1910 and 21.9 per cent in 1900; those "50 to 99 acres," 22.6 per cent in 1910 and 23.8 per cent in 1900; those "100 to 174 acres," 23.9 per cent in 1910 and 24.8 per cent in 1900; those "175 to 474 acres," 15.4 per cent in 1910, and 15.1 per cent in 1900; those "over 500 acres," 2.8 per cent in 1910 and 2.6 per cent in 1900. There has thus been a slight relative decrease in the medium-sized farms, namely, in the two groups failing between 50 and 174 acres in size, as contrasted with a slight relative increase in farms below as well as in farms above these limits.

New Scientific Corn Remover

Surest, Sanest, Safest, Quickest!

Say good-bye to every touchy, torturing crippling corn and bunion—every distressing dirt-accumulating, foot-enlarging callous! There's a new and quick way—a sure and safe way—to completely rid yourself of all such pesky, troublesome things.

"BINGO"—that's the new marvel! "Bingo," the fruit of master scientific minds, tireless laboratory research and experience. Put 'Bingo' on't and say' —pain's gone just like that! Corn dies, dries up —and you pick out the whole blamed thing—body, seed, root, and all —so easily, painlessly, you can't help shouting "Glory to Bingo!" No cutting —no bleeding—no blood poisoning! No injury to the healthy flesh! No sticky stockings! No bothersome straps—no lumpy cotton balls! None of the usual annoyances.

FIND "CURE" FOR HAY FEVER IN BREWERY.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 7.—That the "cold storage cure" for hay fever is effective, is the testimony of twelve men and four women afflicted with the disease for several years, who have been spending half an hour daily during the last week in the storage room of a brewery in which the temperature was 38 deg. All the patients declare they have been entirely relieved.

LOOKS LIKE FOOT OF A PREHISTORIC MAN.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 7.—What is believed to be the petrified foot of a prehistoric man has been discovered in the rock beds along the Des Moines river, near its conjunction with the Raccoon river. It is asserted that it must have belonged to a man at least twelve feet in height and of very broad and powerful build.

FEUD ENDS IN SHOOTING.

Man Alleged to Have Shot Nephew During Fence Quarrel.

Blanchardville, Wis., Sept. 7.—The division of their parents' property several years ago aroused ill feeling between two brothers, Lewis and Gunder Chenous, residing in the town of Argyle, ten miles south of here. This enmity was greatly enhanced over a line fence. Gunder moved his fence on to what he claimed as the line and dug a ditch to drain the land. His brother, Lewis L. Chenous, and a son, Harry, were filling up the ditch when Gunder is alleged to have shot at them, the ball entering the son's side and coming out through the back. The wounded man is recovering and the assailant has been taken into custody.

Damages Greatly Reduced.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Hastings has set aside the damages in the sum of $307 awarded to Frank Farlash, against Magnus Nelson, a prosperous Menominee county farmer, reducing the amount of damages to $15. The case was the outcome of the alleged infection with tuberculosis of cattle purchased under a guarantee of sound health by Farlash from Nelson.

LUMBER FOREMAN KILLED BY DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 7.—George Bruce, aged 45, foreman at the camp of the Diamond Lumber company, near Ontonagon, was blown to atoms yesterday afternoon by the delayed explosion of a charge of dynamite he placed beneath a stump.

After waiting some minutes for the charge to explode Bruce returned to put in fresh priming. Just as he reached the stump the dynamite exploded, and only a few fragments of his body were found.

DISTRICT COURT LOOKS LIKE RENO ON BUSY DAY

Fifteen Divorce Cases Are Heard in a Single Session.

Three Judges Trying to Straighten Out Mistakes of Cupid.

The fourth floor of the local courthouse looked like a small Reno this morning when three judges of the district court continued their efforts to straighten out the mistakes of little Dan Cupid.

It was divorce day; more than that it was the biggest divorce day in the history of the court, fifteen cases being tried. In some of them decrees were granted, others were merely submitted while still others were taken under advisement. In some cases for lack of evidence the cases were thrown out of court altogether.

People in all walks of life were on hand to show why they should be allowed freedom from their life mates. Domestic tangles so complicated that it was a hard matter to get at the real facts, presented themselves and the three judges were buried under an avalanche of work from the opening of court until the noon recess. Up to that time fifteen actions had been heard and either taken under advisement, refused, or granted.

Never before have so many people appeared at the local courthouse at one time to ask decrees. They all had their grievances. In some instances the men asked the decree; in other instances, and these were by far the more numerous, it was the women.

Many unhappy wives recited long tales of domestic unhappiness. Many were the tears shed. Cruel and inhuman treatment desertion, failure to support and drunkenness were the chief causes of the actions in court.

Up until this term, one judge has heard the divorce cases. Three were necessary this term. Judges Cant, Ensign and Dancer were all busy listening to tales of family friction. The divorce mill is grinding more swiftly than usual this month. Fifteen heard in a single day is a new record for the district court.

Fifty Wanted Decrees.

The present is the heaviest divorce term on record. Fifty, claiming to be unmated, are asking the court to sever the bonds tied so securely.

Some of the applicants are young; others are old. Some have been married but a short time; others have given up the struggle of trying to get along and cover the mistakes made many years ago. In one instance a woman is trying for a divorce after twenty-five years of married life. In another but two months was enough for the applicant.

Although there were fifty cases on the record there are only about fifteen left to be tried. Some of the cases were withdrawn, some were put on the general calendar and about fifteen have been heard.

Mrs. Elmira Lanore Morneau, 43, was given a divorce from her husband, Marcisse Morneau, 46, by Judge Dancer.

Married a Quarter Century.

For twenty-five years Mrs. Morneau claims to have tried her best to get along without airing her troubles in court. It was a failure, she states. According to her complaint and the evidence offered they were married at St. Romuald de Quebec, Canada, in 1886. They have a son 24 years old and another 17. She claimed that her husband deserted her and also that he was an habitual drunkard.

Judge Dancer took the case of Mrs. Martha Schreiber, 28, against her husband, Fred Schreiber, 28, who claimed cruel and inhuman treatment, under advisement.

Did Stable Work.

The plaintiff claimed that they were married at Berlin, Wis., in 1900. She claimed that she was not properly supported and that to earn her own living and that of her young child, she was forced to go out in the fields and work for other farmers. She claimed also that she had done stable work for others.

She stated on the stand that last year they decided to try to get along no longer. They divided the property and each went separate ways. She took boarders as a means of support. He soon came back, she claims, and promised to be good. She took him back, but it was not long until he demanded half the money she earned and forced her when ill in bed to get out and build fires. This ill treatment took place during the coldest months of the year, she stated. Her husband was very jealous of her, she said, and refused even to allow her to attend her place of worship. On coming home late one evening he broke the door with an ax. She claims that her husband is a heavy drinker.

Adalia D. Hoyt, 26 years, was given a decree by Judge Dancer from her husband, Guy R. Hoyt, 26, on grounds of cruel treatment. Saying he was going to visit his mother at a small town in Wisconsin, she claimed her husband went to Chicago, where he had what he called a "high old time" when he returned. She cited instances of ill treatment.

On a charge of adultery Mrs. Almira Hunter, 49, was given a divorce form her husband, James N. Hunter, 52, by Judge Cant. Mrs. Hunter gave evidence against her husband and a woman known at Black Duck, Wis., as Nellie Rivers.

Florence K. Long, 23 was given a decree from her husband, Morey Long, 37, on grounds of desertion. The case was heard by Judge Dancer. They were married in 1907. He deserted, it was alleged, in 1909.

Husband a Prisoner.

Mrs. Annie Perella was given a decree from Vincenzo Perella on her claim that her husband is at the present time imprisoned at the Minnesota state reformatory. He was convicted in the local court some time ago of assaulting his mother-in-law, Mrs. Angelina Paulino, with a loaded revolver.

On grounds of desertion, Mrs. Clara Erickson, 30, was given a decree from her husband, Fred W. Erickson, 40, by Judge Ensign.

The case of Christ Rahn, 31, against Anna Rahn, 35, was heard, but no decision made. The plaintiff claimed desertion.

According to the complaint in the case of Johanna Maria Lang, 33, against John Lang, 32, the plaintiff was deserted by the defendant shortly after removing from Finland to the United States. The case was taken under advisement by Judge Ensign.

Sally Wray, 37, was given a divorce from her husband, George A. Wray. She claimed cruel treatment, failure to provide, drunkenness and other forms of mistreatment. She cited one instance when she required the attention of a physician after her husband had struck her over the back with a chair.

Threats to Kill.

Edith Cloutier, 29, claimed that her husband, Richard Cloutier, 30, threatened to kill her; that he beat her at times and that she was subjected at other times to gross mistreatment. She also claimed non-support and claimed that after she had rented a typewriter on which to learn to write that she might have a means of earning her own living, her husband was displeased and smashed it. Upon one occasion she became alarmed and tried to call a policeman over the telephone. Her husband tore the telephone from the wall and beat her with it, she claimed. The case was taken under advisement by Judge Cant.

Anna Anderson, 37, was given a divorce from her husband, Paul, 47, on grounds of mistreatment. She claimed that on one occasion he forced her out of bed and the house while she was ill in bed with typhoid fever. She claimed that he beat and abused her, called her vile and abusive names.

Judge Dancer took the case of Mildred Burgan, 26, against Hoyt P. Burgan, 32, under advisement. The plaintiff claimed desertion.

Mrs. Della Gillmette, 34 years old, claims that she made several unsuccessful attempts to enjoy domestic happiness with her husband, Joseph Gillmette, 39. She claimed that he beat her, and called her vile names, accused her of wrongful relations with other men and ended up by deserting her while they were living at Hancock, Mich. The case was merely submitted.

The divorce cases were continued this afternoon. It is expected that the calendar will be finished tomorrow.

the forerunner of enterprises that will make Duluth one of the world's greatest manufacturing centers, he said.

The luncheon at the Commercial club was tendered President Farrell, the other visiting officials, and representative Duluth business men by the officials of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern and the Duluth & Iron Range railroads. Long tables were arranged in the main dining room of the Commercial club and about 130 men gathered around the board. After the luncheon, Mayor Cullum welcomed the visitors, he too touching upon the probability of the lakes to the sea waterway bringing Duluth in direct touch with the seaports of the world.

Farrell's Address.

President Farrell's response to the mayor's address of welcome was in the following words:

"Mr. Toastmaster, Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen:

"This reception by the representative business men of Duluth is very gratifying, and the kind expressions of this honor, the mayor, are greatly appreciated.

"You have good reason to be proud of your city and of the bright prospects for her future development and prosperity. Situated as you are on one of the world's largest inland seas, affording facilities for cheap and quick transportation to contiguous markets of the products of mine, farm, forest and mill, your rapid growth is assured.

"The vast mineral and agricultural resources of the great Northwest will be increased by the extensions in manufactures now being undertaken and encouraged. The development of these resources and the extension and diversification of manufacturing and industrial enterprises you have doubtless given close study and attention.

Great Manufacturing City.

"The United States Steel corporation's interest in this subject is second to none, and its officials have given the matter much careful thought and consideration. The large steel plant it is now building here is a forerunner of enterprises which, in time, will make Duluth one of the world's greatest manufacturing centers. The corporation has already expended large sums in the development of its mining properties and extension of its transportation facilities, which work will be pushed until the best results possible have been obtained. It is the aim of the corporation to build a steel plant here complete in every respect for the manufacture of every class of steel for which a market can be found.

"The building up of great manufacturing enterprises in a community like this composed of progressive, energetic and patriotic business men such as I have come to know while negotiating similar undertakings. For this reason, the corporation officials feel confident of the co-operation and moral support of all those having the welfare of your city and community at heart.

"Though necessarily a long range, we have given much thought and study to the corporation's interests in this territory, and the object of our present visit is to acquaint ourselves with the situation and meet you face to face, and to obtain all the benefit to be derived therefrom. While here, it is our intention to make an inspection of our properties and such other work as is required for their further development These matters will receive the earnest attention of our corporation officials, and the problems presented will be handled and solved to the satisfaction of all concerned.

"A large enterprise such as the steel plant now being built here requires much patient study of conditions as to markets and their requirements; methods of production and manufacture; character of plant and future development. There are many other details that must receive the most thoughtful consideration, in order that success may crown our efforts.

Must Be Steady.

"As practical men of affairs, you will agree that closed factories and idle workmen spell misery and disaster in any community. We should plan our work, so that progress will be steady until the maximum of efficiency has been attained. There should be no retrogression, and with reasonable co-operation and encouragement from you, we fell confident that the largest measure of success will be achieved, with consequent benefit and prosperity to this great community.

"Our country is rapidly becoming a manufacturing nation, and our people will prosper by the diversification of our industries and the energetic development of the great natural resources. To accomplish this, we must all work together, each doing his utmost to further the common cause.

"The completion of the Panama canal will work immense changes in our economic development, the beneficial effects of which cannot now be accurately estimated. When the great inter-oceanic waterway is completed, and other works of a similar character, such as the Welland canal and the New York state barge canal are improved, Duluth and other lake cities will become seaports of the world.

"We should all work to the end of encouraging and fostering enterprises that will build up a successful and prosperous community until your growth will burst the barriers which nature has interposed between you and the world's markets."

Mayor's Address.

The mayor said:

"Mr. Toastmaster and Gentlemen:

"We cannot help but be impressed with our growing importance, as around one table is gathered the president and active heads of so many important manufacturing and commercial enterprises.

"This is an evidence to us that the wisdom of those who in days gone by predicted that on this chosen spot some day would exist one of the great cities of the world.

"If we can presume that in the scheme of the Creator there was a commercial motive it must have been designed that here would be built a city that would eventually serve more millions of people than any one city on the continent.

"In connection with this thought I believe that if wisdom governs the actions of those in power that the next great engineering project must be the connecting of the Great Lakes system with the open sea; and I believe those that sit around this table will see before many years the commercial products of every nation on the globe floating in unbroken bulk in our splendid harbor.

"If we do not build here a city of boundless commercial importance we ignore our natural advantages; if we do not build here a city with a great civic heart and of moral worth we but prove our ingratitude to the Creator.

"You gentlemen who are with us today will no doubt contribute much towards the upbuilding of our city to its manifest destiny.

"There is glory enough in this for all, and we are confident that you will some day be proud of the part that you have been called upon to play."

Among those who attended the luncheon, in addition to the visiting Steel corporation officials were: Messrs. Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, one of the attorneys of the Steel corporation; Mayor M. B. Cullum, W. J. Olcott, Frank D. Adams, F. E. House, George L. Reis, Julius H. Barnes, John G. Williams, C. A. Luster, E. F. Towne, J. H. Hearding, William Burgess, S. E. Matter, R. A. V. Eva.

J. A. Washburn and A. M. Marshall of Duluth and President James A. Farrell of the Steel corporation, and E. J. Buffington, president of the Illinois Steel company, will speak at the dinner at the Kitchi Gammi club tonight.

President Farrell and his party arrived in Duluth this morning at 9 o'clock over the Omaha road. Their special train, consisting of the Steel corporation's private car Florence, an Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railroad private car, two standard sleepers, a diner and a baggage car, followed the regular train from Chicago. The party spent yesterday at the steel plant at Gary, returning to Chicago last night. W. J. Olcott, president of the Oliver Iron Mining company, met the party at Chicago and came to Duluth on the special.

The visitors were met at the station by W. A. McGonagle, president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad; F. E. House, president of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, and George L. Reis, vice president and resident manager of the Minnesota Steel company.

The party proceeded to the Wolvin building, and the annual meeting of presidents of subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation was held. President Olcott of the Oliver company said after the meeting that only routine business was considered and there was nothing for publication.

Commanding Figure.

Immediately after the meeting, the visitors and local officials proceeded to the Commercial club, where an informal reception was held prior to the luncheon. President Farrell, on his first trip to Duluth since being elected to head the Steel corporation, was the center of interest. Tall, broad-shouldered, capable looking, President Farrell is a man who would stand out in any body of men. His gray hair has receded from his forehead and his moustache is white, but he has not an old appeearance. He looks like a man who is prepared to do his greatest work before the years overcome him. As president of one of the greatest corporations on earth, he is an interesting figure.

President Farrell declined to discuss the affairs of the corporatin except in the addresses at the Commercial club at noon today and at the Kitchi Gammi club tonight, at the dinner which will be tendered the visitors and Duluth citizens by the officials of the Oliver Iron Mining company. When met at the station this morning, Mr. Farrell said: "My remarks at the Commercial club today and at the Kitchi Gammi club tonight will serve all the purposes of an interview, and I will say all I have to say on those occasions." Beyond that, Mr. Farrell was unconfiding, and the other visiting officials were equally reticent, referring the interviewer to the president.

Immediately after the luncheon at the Commercial club this afternoon, the visitors left on a special train for the steel plant site. Although they have kept in close touch with the progress of the work here, many of the officials had never visited the site before and they took keen interest in the developments as they have progressed.

What Has Been Done.

Up to Sept. 1, 60,000 cubic yards of concrete foundations have been constructed; 200,000 cubic yards of earth excavation has been done; one mile of concrete sewer, ten miles of railroad tracks, twelves miles of power lines and two miles of water mains have been laid. The concrete building blocks used number 400,000. The expenditures, exclusive of the land, amount to $1,500,000 and the first building permit issued calls for the expenditure of $40,000,000 before the first unit of the plant is completed.

George L. Reis, vice president and general manager of the Minnesota Steel company, conducted the party to the steel plant site and he and other local officials, pointed out where the expenditures have been made and where the future policy of the company calls for further expenditures.

The dinner at the Kitchi Gammi club tonight will be tendered by the Oliver Iron Mining company officials. President Farrell will make another address, amplifying that given at the Commercial club today, and it is expected that, after viewing the progress of the work on the steel plant today, he will make some interesting pronouncements in regard to that industry.

The party will leave Duluth tonight or early tomorrow morning for the range and will spend two days looking over the properties in that section. They will return to Duluth Sunday morning and will leave Sunday evening for Chicago and the East.

Those in the visiting party are: James A. Farrell, president, United States Steel corporation; D. G. Kerr, vice president, United States Steel corporation; John Reis, vice president, United States Steel corporation; W. J. Filbert, comptroller, United States Steel corporation; R. C. Bolling, assistant general solicitor, United States Steel corporation; E. P. Thomas, president, United States Steel Products company; W. J. Sullivan, secretary to president, United States Steel corporation, New York city; A. C. Dinkey, president, Carnegie Steel company; D. M. Clemson, president, Carnegie Natural Gas company, J. H. Reed, president, Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad company; William B. Schiller, president, National Tube company; E. H. Utley, vice president, Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad company, Pittsburg, Pa.; S. A. Davis, vice president, American Sheet & Tin Plate company, Pittsburg, Pa.; William P. Palmer, president, the American Steel & Wire company; H. Coulby, president, Pittsburgh Steamship company, Cleveland, Ohio; J. S. Keefe, vice president, the American Steel & Wire company, Chicago; George G. Crawford, president, Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company, Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Buffington, president, Illinois Steel company; A. F. Banks, president, Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railway company; Edward M. Hagar, president, Universal Portland Cement company, Chicago; August Ziesing, president, American Bridge company, Pittsburg, Pa.

PLAYMATES' JOKES CAUSED SUPERIOR BOY TO RUN AWAY

Arthur Erickson, 14 years old, son of Mrs. Hulda Erickson, a widow living at 402 Catlin avenue, Superior, left home on the evening of Aug. 19, and he has not been heard of since.

Threats by playmates that the police were after him for fighting are ascribed by the mother as the reason for her son running away. She said that he took the twitting of the boys seriously and that he told them he would take a train out of town.

When the boy left home he was clothed in a blue overall suit, with an old dark brown coat. He had a faded blue cap and bicycle shoes on. He has brown hair and brown eyes and is rather large for his age, weighing about 125 pounds. Mrs. Erickson is very anxious about him. A search by the police has failed to reveal anything of his movements and his mother is anxious that anybody who sees him or hears of him notify her.

ARTHUR ERICKSON.

PREFER WALKING TO AUTOMOBILE RIDING.

Four or five automobiles were waiting at the Omaha station this morning when the special train carrying President James A. Farrell and twenty-three other officials of the United States Steel corporation and subsidiaries pulled in.

"We'll walk; we need the exercise," said President Farrell after the local officials on the platform had been greeted. And headed by President Farrell, the party tramped over the muddy sidewalks to the Wolvin building. President Farrell took off his straw hat and looked ruefully at it and then at the leaden sky. "I guess I'll have to throw this hat away," he remarked as he buttoned his overcoat close about him.

BIGGEST MONTH IN FIVE YEARS

August Was Record-Breaker for Lumber Receipts at Tonawanda.

Tonawanda, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The month of August was a record breaker in receipts and shipments of lumber at the Tonawandas. The month's receipts, which amounted to nearly 66,000,000 feet, were the largest during any single month in the last five years. The August lumber shipments, which amounted to 14,177,839 feet, were also the largest for any single month in the last four years. Despite the fact that the lumber receipts were unusually large last month, the total for the season to date is about 6,000,000 feet short of the amount received at the Tonawandas during the same period last year.

The ore receipts during August were very light in North Tonawanda, but were exceptionally large at the Tonawanda port.

CHICAGO HARBOR IS STORMSWEPT

Worst Gale in Twenty Years Strikes Shipping There.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—One of the most violent storms experienced in many years struck Chicago's harbor early today.

Between fifteen and twenty launches, motor boats and sloops were caught in the hurricane. Efforts of the police patrol boat and independent tugs to do rescue work were fruitless. One tug, battling against the giant waves in an effort to reach the freighters Langenberg and Christopher, lying a mile out, was capsized. Capt. McCleavey and his crew of five were rescued by life savers.

Several passenger boats due here early today have not been accounted for.

Shortly before daylight distress signals were heard from some large boat out in the lake, but the life savers have thus far been unable to identify the craft.

Worst In Twenty Years.

According to Capt. Carland of the life saving service, this was the worst storm in twenty years. It abated at daylight.

The path of the storm was narrow. Neither the Evanston nor the South Chicago life stations received calls for assistance, and there was no damage in their districts.

The greatest damage was done in the harbor of the Chicago Yacht club. Launches and pleasure boats there were torn from their moorings and dashed about.

Three large passenger steamers, the Puritan, the City of Chicago and the City of Traverse, for the safety of which some anxiety was felt, put into the harbor later.

Gave Up Trip.

The Charles MacVeagh of the Benton Transit company's fleet, a new boat, returned to the harbor after having gone out twenty miles.

At one time during the storm the wind reached a velocity of sixty-four miles an hour. Waves rolled ten feet high.

MANY VESSELS LEAVE PORT

Fierce Gale Does Not Frighten Captains—All Passenger Boats Late.

Although the wind and stormy atmosphere have shown no tendency to let up, many vesselmen ventured forth with their charges today. Up to noon twenty-one vessels left the port, thirteen of which were filled with iron ore, four had merchandise and two were passenger boats.

The Lakeland of the Port Huron & Duluth Steamship company left at 6:50 this morning, having been scheduled to depart at 8 o'clock last evening. The Minnesota, of the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company, which was delayed many hours in coming to Duluth, and which was scheduled to leave here 8:30 Tuesday evening, did not go until 10:05 this morning. The Octorara of the Anchor line arrived here this morning with a fair sized passenger list, after experiencing a heavy sea. The passengers are said to have endured the trip well.

WASAGA WRECK MARKED BY FIXED WHITE LIGHT.

The local United States hydrographic office has received the announcement that a lighted buoy has been established to mark the wreck of the steamer Wasaga, in Copper Harbor, Lake Superior, being a fixed white lantern light to be suspended from a black spar buoy moored at submerged bow of wreck. Vessels should not pass to the south of the buoy.

Says Business Is Good.

E. T. Douglas, general manager of the Western Transit company, and S. D. Barlow, general freight agent of the same company, both of Buffalo, are in the city today on business, conferring with G. L. Douglas, Jr., local representative of the company. Mr. Douglas claims that business has held up quite well in the package freight line considering the general depression which the entire country has been experiencing during this summer.

CROWD GATHERED FOR GREAT RACE

Durnan-Hackett Contest Draws Many to Rainy River.

Spooner, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rowing experts and enthusiasts from all over the United States and Canada are gathered here this morning for the international sculling race between J. L. Hackett of Rainy River and Ed Durnan of Toronto. Loyalty to the local man has kept the odds up fairly well here, but his long period out of the game makes his come-back a rather doubtful proposition, and Durnan is expected to be the favorite just before the race.

The race will be over a three-mile course, starting a short distance above the railroad lumber plant here and ending at Spooner. Both men have been on the river for the past week, and are now thoroughly familiar with the course. Sullivan, who has been training the Rainy River man, says he is in the best shape possible and can get every bit of the old-time steam into the stroke. Matt Scholes, trainer for Durnan, says his man is perfectly fit.

Spooner and Rainy River are crowded with visitors today, and Mayor Chapman of the latter town has declared a holiday, so that all who want may witness the great race. Every boat on the river will be pressed into service as a vantage point for viewing the contest this afternoon.

BASEBALL WAR IS AVERTED

American Association Surrenders and Withdraws Petition to Commission.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—There will be no war in organized baseball at present and neither will the status of the American association be changed.

At a meeting of the minor league magnates with President Thomas M. Chivington here today it was decided to withdraw the petition they presented to the national commission on Aug. 1, demanding a change in their rating. The commission having previously refused to grant the demands the action today amounted to a complete surrender on the part of the American association.

The petition asked that the draft price of an American association player be made $5,000 instead of $1,000, the present price, and but one player be taken from each club in one year.

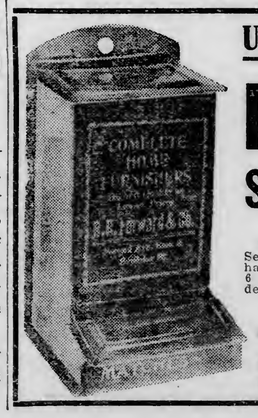

The action today means that the standing of the minor league will remain unchanged, and the old agreement will be renewed.

The agreement of the American association with the national commission expired on Sept. 6. In order to give the minor league team owners a chance to decide what they desired to do, however, the time was extended until Sept. 10. As soon as their demands were refused the American association magnates called a meeting for today, and apparently they had fully agreed to submit to the rule of the commission even before the session convened. The team owners were closeted with President Chivington but little more than an hour. The magnates were unanimous in the opinion that it would be best to withdraw the petition.

None of those who participated in the meeting were willing to discuss the case to any extent. President Chivington made the simple announcement of the decision to withdraw the petition, and team owners insisted after the meeting that his statement covered the story of the session.

TWO MILLION DOLLARS.

If Governor Eberhart calls the legislature in extra session this winter to enact a law increasing railroad taxes, this measure can and will be submitted to the people at the election in November, 1912.

There is no doubt that the legislature will enact such a law if it is permitted by the governor to come together, for The Herald has in its possession the pledges of enough members to pass it, and it is a safe prediction that there will not be a half dozen votes against it in either branch of the legislature.

If the increase is approved by the people in November, 1912, it will be effective in 1913.

But if the governor's negligence or reluctance to serve the people at the cost of offending the large interests puts the matter over until the regular session of 1913, the increase cannot be submitted to the people until the election of 1914, and will not be effective until 1915, or two years later than it can be done by an extra session.

If the increase is only from the present 4 per cent on the railroad gross earnings to 5 per cent,—and many members in their letters to The Herald strongly favored making it 6 per cent instead of 5,—the additional revenue will amount to nearly a million dollars a year.

That million dollars a year for two years will be lost if there is no extra session. The extra session might cost from $25,000 to $100,000, but it would gain the state $2,000,000. If there is no extra session the state will save the expense of a session, or $25,000 to $100,000; but it will lose $2,000,000.

That sum, once lost, can never be regained.

Now two million dollars, in this day of large sums, isn't a particularly impressive amount, but after all it is a good deal of money. Certainly it is too much to lose unnecessarily. And there is no necessity of losing it. The legislature is in favor of saving it, and the people are in favor of saving it. All that is needed is that Governor Eberhart shall call the legislature together; the legislature and the people will do the rest.

Two million dollars isn't a vast sum compared with Mr. Carnegie's fortune or Mr. Rockefeller's. Compared with the fortune of the average taxpayer who is now paying not only unfairly high freight and passenger rates but a part of the taxes that ought to be borne by the railroads, it is a good deal of money.

Two million dollars would build 2,000 miles of good roads at $1,000 a mile; and Minnesota needs good roads.

Two million dollars would build 200 rural consolidated schools and equip them to teach agriculture and domestic science as well as the fundamental branches, allowing $10,000 to each school.

Two million dollars, spread over ten years, would so equip the fight against tuberculosis that in that time the state could come very close to wiping it out within the borders of the commonwealth.

Two million dollars would drain the greater part of the swamp land of the state, turning it from a dreary waste to a smiling, fertile and productive garden place.

A small part of two million dollars would provide what the state needs about as much as it needs anything—a thorough and comprehensive physical survey of the state's public domain, so that the state would know what it possesses and be able to sell homeseekers the kind of land they are seeking.

Two million dollars—but the list of things the state needs which two million dollars would provide for it is too long to be enumerated.

The real question is this:

Shall Minnesota permit its governor to lose forever by his neglect of a plain duty this vast sum which belongs to the state and the people of the state?

THE FATHERS' MISTAKES.

Unless congress acts very soon in the matter of proposing a constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of United States senators, it will come about in another way—through the demand of enough states to compel congress to call a convention for the revision of the Federal Constitution.

And privilege and its reactionary followers don't want a constitutional convention.

Though called specifically to draft an amendment providing that the people shall elect United States senators, there would be nothing to restrict the work of the convention. It could go as far as it liked in proposing amendments. It might even re-write the Constitution altogether, and present a new one devised in the better light of today.

Because of that danger it is altogether likely that congress will be allowed, at the coming session, to adopt the resolution proposing the amendment providing for the direct election of senators.

That will be merely delaying the constitutional convention, however. Sooner or later there is going to be one, and while privilege will delay it as long as it can, it is questionable whether it would not be wiser, from the viewpoint of privilege, to permit it to happen now rather than to wait until the popular pressure for real democracy grows stronger than it is now. Opinion on such subjects as direct nominations, direct elections and direct legislation—all the group of plans which work toward putting greater power in the hands of the people—is divided enough now so that there might be some doubt about how far a constitutional convention would go. That public opinion is centering on the popular side of this issue seems clear; and more things may happen after it has centered than would happen if the convention were held soon.

A constitutional convention would find plenty of work to do without going deeply into theories of democracy.

For instance, though a majority in congress can declare war, the Constitution now requires a two-thirds vote to ratify a treaty; thus making it harder to avoid war than to begin it. That ought to be changed.

Provision ought to be made so that the president can veto any item in an appropriation bill, instead of being called upon to pass on the entire bill as a whole.

A new congress now sits just thirteen months after it has been elected, and the president is inauguarated during the most inclement season that afflicts Washington. The new congress elected in November, 1912, will not sit until December, 1913. That might have been well enough in the days of stage coaches; it is unnecessary in this day of railroads and may sometime prove mischievous.

If congress does not act soon, the convention should submit an amendment providing for the direct election of senators.

Federal judges should be made elective by the people in the districts in which they serve.

And doubtless there are other changes that would be wise and wholesome.

WELCOME TO DULUTH.

Duluth finds it a great pleasure today to entertain the impressive party of chiefs of the steel corporation's subsidiary companies.

It is a pleasure not only because these are men of brains and breadth and solid achievements, but because they are among the men who make the success of an industry in the prosperity of which Duluth is closely concerned. Their visit is particularly interesting at this time because they come when the new steel plant, which is to bind this city more closely still to the fortunes of the steel industry, is well advanced toward the beginning of actual operations.

It is only fair to say that Duluth's experience with the United States Steel corporation has been pleasant and agreeable. It has found its attitude toward the public broad and public-spirited; and this is due not only to the policy of the corporation itself but to the high character and consummate tact of its local officials.

This city never has found it necessary to sacrifice any of its independence or any of its loyalty to the public welfare to keep on good terms with the "steel trust." That, in itself, speaks volumes both for the policy of the corporation and the character of its representatives. Loyalty to this large local interest from which comes the bread and butter of so many of its citizens has not been asked at the price of any compromise with conscience and public spirit.

The chiefs of the steel corporation are warmly welcomed to Duluth, St. Louis county and Minnesota; and if they enjoy being here as much as we enjoy having them here, their stay will be very pleasant.

BAILEY.

Word comes from Washington that Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas will not be a candidate for re-election, and that when his term expires in 1913 he will go to New York to practice law.

It might have been that this news would be heard with universal regret. It might have been, but it is not. The fact is that there will be much more satisfaction than regret.

Bailey has fallen short. Brilliant, able, chain lightning in debate and dynamite in oratory, he has lacked a saving quality that might have made him a useful and beloved public servant. Nominally a Democrat, in fact he has been as reactionary as the most standpat of Tory Republicans; and seldom has his voice been raised in behalf of anything of real and permanent benefit to the masses of the people.

It is a pity that a man so able should have fallen so far short of what he might have become, and that a man so brilliant should have prostituted his intellect to other service than that of the people. A little more penetration and a little wider vision, a little more conscience and a little less devotion to the doctrine of laissez faire, and Joseph W. Bailey might have ranked with the noblest of America's patriotic sons. As it is, his departure from public life is a blessing unmixed wtth anything except regret that he couldn't have made better use of his ability.

WORTH ATTENTION.

In an open letter to Mayor Cullum the Associated Charities calls attention to two local needs: the need of extending municipal garbage collection and the need of appointing an inspector of lodging houses, tenements and other places where human beings dwell.

Both these matters deserve earnest consideration, and both should be taken up just as soon as the city can possibly finance them. The expense will not be large in either case. In the case of garbage collection the experiments conducted by the city have demonstrated that while there will be an initial cost of installation, the business can be conducted at a profit, while lowering the cost of service to the citizens and improving its quality.

Before an inspector of dwelling places could be really effective, there is need of an amendment to the ordinances that will prohibit the use of insanitary rooms. Poverty should not deprive a human being of the right to a home that is well lighted, well ventilated and clean. Light, air and cleanliness are not costly, but the lack of them involves a dreadful cost in human life, health and efficiency.

ANOTHER LARGE CITY TRIES IT.

Omaha, a city of 125,000 people, has voted to adopt the commission form of city government, so that those who are studying this atractive plan will have another chance of seeing it work out in a large community.

One thing Omaha will have to remember is that not even the commission plan, or the wisest plan that may be conceived by the mind of enlightened man, will take the place of public interest, or succeed automatically without public vigilance. In other words, the plan will fail in Omaha unless its people show a deeper interest in its operation than they showed in its adoption. Out of 17,000 registered voters only 7,686 marked their ballots, though 5,341 of these approved the plan and carried it. But perhaps there will be more public interest now that the plan has been adopted.

THE WILSON BOOM.

Chicago has organized a club to further the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson for the presidency, and the Associated Press dispatch telling about it calls it the start of the Wilson boom.

That may be true, in a way, but the fact is that the Wilson boom had an earlier and larger start than that. It started in the hearts of people who want a man who will stand with and for them, and who at this writing seem pretty well convinced that Woodrow Wilson talks and acts like that sort of a man.

MORRIS SHEPPARD, OF TEXAS

By SAVOYARD.

He is one of the few men of our history who were returned to congress the year they had attained the constitutional age, and I am constrained to believe he owes that distinction to the training he got in youth under the tutelage of W. S. Burks, who "kept school" at Gilmer and at Pittsburg, Texas, and at Lenden, La.

About three-fourths of a century ago Rev. Jesse P. Murrell of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, established a school for both sexes on Blue Spring Creek, Barren county, Ky., and it flourished for many years—until his death, in fact, about the breaking out of the great war of 1861-65. Mr. Murrell was not a highly cultured man, but he was better—a natural born teacher. He was a sincere pious Christian, loving God and virtue. Above all, he had the talent in exuberant degree that enabled him to inspire the student, of either sex, with enthusiasm and a thirst for knowledge. Given that, and the pupil is already "educated."

Well, some time after the war somebody established a normal school on like lines at Valparaiso, Ind., and it was phenomenally successful. A graduate of that institution, a Prof. Mell, went to Glasgow, Ky., also in Barren county, and established a high school, at which W. S. Burks, J. Tom Williams and A. L. Peterman were educated. It was a large and flourishing institution, and if the course was not as thorough as some, the pupils were filled with enthusiasm and disciplined for the battle of life. Great numbers of them became leaders of society, political, commercial, industrial, social, wherever their lines were cast.

W. S. Burks went to Texas and established a school, first at Gilmer and later at Pittsburg, and he was very successful in fitting young men and women for the race of life set before them. One of his pupils was Morris Sheppard, in whom he instilled a thirst for knowledge, a passion for labor, and an ambition for distinction. Later the future congressman was graduated with high honors from Yale university. A debating society was a most valuable feature of Mell's school, as it was of Mell's and Burks'. And as was the case of the celebrated Ben Hardin, in such crude forensic dispute men got training for the bar, the stump, and the parliament, just as the veterans who gained Waterloo were fitted for that bloody and desperate task on the campus of Eton or Harrow.

Born in 1875, Morris Sheppard was elected to congress in 1900, to fill out the unexpired term of his father, John L. Sheppard, in the fifty-seventh congress. He was the youngest man in the body, and it was taken for granted that his election was more a tribute to his deceased father than to any special fitness that he possessed for such distinction. But the young man soon attracted attention for his wonderful command of language, and that enthusiastic optimism for which I am sure he is indebted to Prof. Burks. Very small in stature, boyish in appearance, not larger than the late "Sunset" Cox and not as tall as John Sharp Williams, the most ornate declaimer in congress was frequently mistaken for a page boy.

Tammany hall has one function which every political society would do well to adopt. It never fails to celebrate July 4, and every year Tammany makes requisition on the Democratic side of the national house of representatives for a squad of new members to appear in the wagwam in Fourteenth street on the republic's natal day and deliver themselves of Democratic stump speeches. It was on such occasion that Champ Clark first attracted public attention and he did it capitally. All during dog days of 1892 Tammany swore by the eloquent Missourian. Ollie James subsequently lighted the torch of Democracy on the altars of Tammany, and he was voted same as Bourke Cockran, or John R. Fellows, or a little samer.

About ten years ago Morris Sheppard was drafted to go to New York July 4 and set Tammany afire, and neither Clark nor James, nor other young congressmen from the provinces acquitted himself better or gained a greater triumph than this Texas boy. Now, whatever Tammany is, there is no doubt that it is a judge of political oratory, and it is the most difficult thing in the world to astonish Tammany, but here was a boy with a vocabulary equal to Martin Littleton's and a fluency that even James T. Brady did not excel. He was barely 26 years of age, and yet he provoked a tumult in the wigwam such as the oldest member did not recall.

Do you remember Franchois, the maitre d'arms of the famous Picardy regiment of Napoleon's grand armee? He claimed that he would have been marshal of France but for his diminutive size, and in a rage he used to exclaim: "There is Murate! Would he be marshal except for his six feet? He could never stand before me in sword-play!" and Morris Sheppard could say with truth that that 200-pounder, Sereno E. Payne, could not stand before him in word-play.

Mr. Sheppard is serving in his sixth congress and is chairman of public buildings and grounds, a very important committee and a very responsible position. He is a man of unusual energy and ceaseless industry. His habits are absolutely exemplary and his character lofty. It is getting to be fashionable for some of our statesmen to get rich in public place, and Mr. Sheppard dominates a committee that directs the expenditure of vast sums. By a wink or a nod he could put money in his purse and the public would never be the wiser; but he has the confidence of his fellows and there is not the smell of fire on his garments.

He is from the cotton country, and his is a grand agricultural district, producing grain in abundance as well as immense crops of the South's leading staple. For half a century his constituents have paid tribute to the tariff barons. No wonder they send men to congress and embrace the idea of Roger C. Mills and John H. Reagan and Richard Coke, that taxation shall be for public purposes and tariff duties levied strictly for revenue.

Mr. Sheppard is in demand at the North when a political campaign is seething, and in 1912 the Democratic party will expect much of him.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Nearly 900 men in line! That's the record which the labor unions of Duluth made in their Labor day parade this morning. The weather was perfect and the streets were in excellent condition. President Applehagen of the Trades and Labor assembly was chief marshal, while L. K. McChesney and D. H. Morrison were his aides. The division marshals were M. Stein, Henry Dworschak, Joseph Kriz and C. W. Melby. The City, French, Polish and West end bands furnished music. At noon a special train took the paraders and their friends to the Lester park picnic grounds. There was a seperate parade at West Duluth.

Winthrop Pond of New York today attached the title of the Minnesota Iron company to 160 acres of valuable property, known as the northwest quarter of section 33-63-15, lying between the villages of Tower and Soudan. The water tank and railroad yards of the Duluth & Iron Range touch on the corner. A visit to the land office shows that Sioux half-breed scrip was located on the land in the name of Francis Roussain, who for years resided at Fond du Lac and whose heirs live there now.

Capt. Jack Crawford, the "poet scout," will appear at the Temple on Sept. 10 for the benefit of the Duluth G. A. R. monument fund.

A banquet was tendered the Jay Cooke party at the Spalding last night. Among those present were Jay Cooke, Jay Cooke, Jr., with his wife and daughter and his son, Jay Cooke, 3rd, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ray, Mr. and Mrs. C. Marshall, Judge and Mrs. J. D. Ensign, Capt. and Mrs. J. H. Triggs, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sargent, E. C. Gridley, Richard Marvin, E. L. Emery, Maj. and Mrs. M. R. Baldwin, S. A. Thompson, D. K. Houte of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre, Miss McIntyre and Dr. and Mrs. Soneallie.

C. A. Cappelin of West Duluth left yesterday for Minneapolis and from there will go to the Pacific coast.

Carl Grosse and wife of West Duluth returned yesterday from a visit to their old home at Cincinnati.

The Y. P. S. C. E. society of the First Baptist church held its semi-annual election last evening. The new officers are: David Cloyd, president; Miss Ida Hibbard, vice-president; Mrs. Stevens, recording secretary; Mrs. A. J. Mathenson, corresponding secretary; Miss Margaret Rathbone, treasurer.

Mrs. R. B. Doane returned yesterday from a week's visit in Chicago. John B. Hitchcock, a nephew, came to Duluth with her for a short stay.

Fred Stouf, agent for the Bergenthall company, has returned from a two weeks' visit to the Dakotas.

SAYS DANCE HALL IS PURE AS DRIVEN SNOW.

To the Editor of The Herald:

With your kind permission, I would like to answer a notice in last Saturday's paper.

One Jack Plane wrote a piece Saturday defaming the Duluth Dancing academy.

If he saw anything wrong, he should call an officer and have him tell the parties to move on.

As far as automobiles being in front of the building is concerned, the people have a perfect right to have their autos or carriages come for them.

And drivers have a right to stand in front of any place of amusement to see if any one wants a carriage to ride home.

Regarding toughs hanging around the hall at 12 o'clock, that is not so, for we have police to protect the people both inside of the hall and at the door, from all insult.

Furthermore, our city chief has ordered his police to be around near the place to see that the people are protected from all rowdies who might come from other parts of the city at 12.

But as for men being at the hall drunk, that is not allowed, for door rights are reserved and drunks are barred.

An Unusual Romance.

I met her at the seashore, where
I was the only man.
To me she seemed to be so fair,
So nymphlike and so debonair,
That after her I ran.

By day I taught her how to float.
To paddle and to dive;
And to the tune of Cupid's note
(And poems that I think I wrote)
My love began to thrive.

At night we'd sit upon the sands,
The moonlight hours to while;
And we would hold each other's hands
And wander into lovers' lands
In proper summer style.

I gave her all my time, and she Did other dates defer;
We were engaged ('twas at the sea),
But, pshaw! I brought her home with me,
And then—I married her!

The Drainage Scandal.

Princeton Union: C. H. Warner, through the columns of the Aitkin Republican, gives a complete resume of the drainage investigation conducted by a house committee of the last legislature, and relates in detail how the whitewashing report of the majority of the committee was adopted a few minutes before the final adjournment. Mr. Warner is of the opinion that if the committee had reported two weeks earlier and given the members an opportunity to consider the findings the result would have been different. As it was thirty-one members voted for the minority report offered by the fearless representative from Marshall county, Donald Robertson. Despite the findings of a majority of the investigating committee, there are many who believe that Mr. Warner was right in his contentions that there had been crooked work in the letting of ditch contracts and that several of the alleged state ditches had been improperly constructed.

Putting It Mildly.

Elk River Star-News: We could fill the columns of this paper with comments of Republican newspapers taking issue with President Taft on the subject of his vetoes. Some are strenuous, some mild, but most of them take the view that the president has made a serious mistake.

Who Owns Minnesota?

Hinckley Enterprise: A prominent Republican, one who has a wide knowledge of political conditions throughout the state, was asked the other day if S. Y. Gordon would be nominated for governor. In reply, he said: "No. How can he? He has made no money of his own to amount to anything, the breweries won't furnish him any, nor any other corporation, and they will all be against him. What chance does he have?" Isn't that a sad state of affairs? Isn't it a disgrace to the state that a man whom the brewers and the corporations oppose stands no chance of being elected? Isn't it about time the people had something to say about who should be governor? A little work at the Republican caucuses by those in favor of clean officials and a little less dependence upon the ward heeler and the local "leader" could make a long step towards good government.

A Tip on Taft.

Madison Independent Press: In scolding certain members of congress for derelictness in their duty during the late special session the president ought not to lose sight of the fact that he is thought by some to have devoted altogether too much time to golf for the good of the country while the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill was pending.

Who Is Governor?

Albert Lea Standard: So Jim Hill has ordered Eberhart to bounce Ringdahl and Vasaley from the state board of control! What do you know about that? Is Jim Hill or is Eberhart governor? In any case if Jim Hill wants to get rid of Governor Johnson's appointees on the board of control, than whom the state never had more able, upright and efficient officials, "there's a reason for it." And what do you suppose the reason is? Cannot Jim Hill use Ringdahl and Vasaley in his business? Anyhow, it will be interesting to watch Eberhart.

A Laggard President.

Buffalo Journal: President Taft has vetoed the bills providing for reductions in the duty on wool and cotton goods and the farmer's free list bill, and announces that tariff reform will begin at the next session of congress, when the tariff commission will be ready to report. The people have to wait a long time for desired changes in the tariff. They were promised reductions in the last Republican platform and got the Payne-Aldrich law, which the president pronounced "best tariff bill ever enacted." That the voters did not agree with him was evidenced at the last election when the house was made Democratic. The administration proposes to give the people what they want after many years and when their patience has been completely exhausted. When the band wagon of tariff reform is making its last lap we may expect to see the president jump on the front seat and grab the lines and whip, but it is extremely doubtful if the band wagon can be landed in the Republican camp.

The Best Way.

Bemidji Pioneer: Another good way to put up corn is to massage a cob in creamery butter, grasp it firmly between your hands, and handle it as if you were going to play "The Girl I Left Behind Me" on a mouth organ, and let your teeth do the rest.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Punch: Old-Fashioned Party (with old-fashioned prejudices)—Ah! very clever, I dare say. But I see it's written by a lady, and I want a book that my daughters may read. Give me something else!

Success Magazine: "What do you think of it?" asked the proud Gothamite as he pointed out the skyscrapers.

"Wal," replied the miner, on his first visit to the metropolis, "It looks like a permanent camp all right."

Christian Register: Rev. M. Hollers—Mistah Johnsin, what foh you call dat son of yoh's Izaak Walton, when he was baptized George Washington?

Mr. Johnson—Because, sah, dat rascal's reputashun foh veracity made dat change imper'tive.

Harper's Bazar: "Now that we've spent so much money fixing up the house, perhaps you won't go away," said her husband, hopefully.

"Oh, yes, John, I will, but," she added, encouragingly, "I'll be more cheerful about coming back."

Washington Star: "Art and business have nothing in common," said the idealist.

"Oh, I don't know about that, replied Mr. Cumrox. "The value of a painting, like the value of a check, depends a great deal on whose name is at the bottom of it."

Everybody's Magazine: She (gushingly)——What a magnificent Great Dane! And of course his name is Hamlet?

He (the owner)—Not exactly; you see, I—er—couldn't consistently use that name. The best I could do was to call her Ophelia.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "I understand you have civil service in your department?"

"Yes," the New Yorker replied, "we have civil service—and it's perfectly good civil service, too. It's fixed now so they can't discharge you—unless they want to!"

Pittsburg Post: "I certainly have a considerate boss."

"How now?"

"Gave me a two weeks' vacation, and three days extra to rest up."

Liverpool Mercury: "See that measuring worm crawling up my skirt?" cried Mrs. Bjenks. "That's a sign I'm going to have a new dress."

"Well, let him make it for you," growled Mr. Bjenks. "And while he's about it, have him send a hookworm to do you up the back. I'm tired of the job."

Tit-Bits: Little Willie—Say, pa, what is a diplomat?

Pa—A diplomat, my son, is a person who can prove a man a liar without calling him one.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: And some people do not look as foolish as they are.

Free speech has enabled many a man to give himself away.

Some people's idea of a helping hand is one that is lined with silver.

Anyway, the grass widow seldom lets the grass grow under her feet.

The less some people are able to annoy you the less they like it.

If wishes were horses a lot of them would be exchanged for pork and beans.

How we enjoy meeting a man who talks only when he has something to say!

Our idea of a modest man is one who keeps his opinions of himself under cover.

No, Cordelia, hospitality isn't necessarily dispensed in the free ward of a hospital.

It is much easier to forget what you ought to know than it is to know what you ought to forget.

When a young widow makes up her mind to marry a struggling young man his struggles are usually in vain.

Fighting a Battle Without Ammunition.

Atlanta Georgian: President Taft has set out to wage war on the Democrats and Insurgent Republicans for their efforts at tariff revision during the extra session. He characterizes these attempts as dealing with the public interest "in light-hearted way and with absolute ignorance of the effect of the legislation and with a willingness to sacrifice business interests to political exigencies."

But it is like fighting a battle without ammunition. President Taft's criticism may create sound, but it will have no killing effect. The cold, penetrating logic of the situation is with the Democrats and Insurgents.

The president says the tariff must be lowered. So say his opponents, the Democrats and Insurgents. On that both sides are agreed. But when profession is put to the test of deed, how does it work out for each? The allies pass revision laws and Taft vetoes them, his excuse being that the hard conditions should continue until such time as his tariff board shall deem it proper to make a report of their findings. He thinks that all tariff wisdom will die with this board, while the allies are confident that the people will die with tariff oppression before the board will ever uncork its wisdom.

Tariffs were made and unmade before the idea of this board was ever conceived, and the country, notwithstanding, increased both in wealth and population. A chance for immediate relief from schedules admitted by everyone to be too high was seen by the Democrats and Insurgents, and they took advantage of it.

Their action was disapproved by the president, but it is unquestionably approved by the nation.

Socially Desirable.

Life: We have been taught by political economists that the idle rich are socially desirable, because they make work for and give employment to others. If they went to work, or curtailed their needs, they would be selfish in thus depriving others of the blessed privileges of toil. By the same sign the idle poor are also socially desirable, and, therefore, we need have nothing but complacence over the so-called tramp problem.

Tramps give employment to policemen, detectives, judges, court attaches prison guards, settlement workers, charity experts, reformers and many others.

Let us be careful how we denounce them, lest we upset the whole fabric of criminology.

LUTHERANS WILL HAVE FESTIVAL

Theological College Dignitaries Will Conduct German and English Services.

A big mission festival will be held Sunday at St. Stephen's German-English Lutheran church, Sixty-seventh avenue west and Raleigh street.

Two services will be held, morning and afternoon and there will be two prominent out-of-town speakers, Prof. W. Baumhoefner and Prof. William Moenkemoeller, both of the Concordia theological seminary of St. Paul.

Prof. Baumhoefer will speak at the morning service and will deliver his address in the German language. Prof. Moenkemoeller will speak in English at the afternoon service. There will be special music at both services.

The congregation of the Christ German Lutheran church of Superior will unite with the West Duluth church for the festival.

NO FIRE PROTECTION.

Green Street Residents Want City to Restore Water Hydrant.

Residents in the vicinity of Sixty-third avenue west and Green street, in a communication sent to the council, have asked that the water hydrant, which was removed by the Canadian Northern railroad, it being on the new right-of-way, be replaced.

Mrs. Campbell of 6311 Green street, on behalf of the people living in that neighborhood points out in her letter to the city fathers that the hydrant is necessary for fire protection. In a recent fire on Green street, the department was obliged to go more than a block out of their way to get water.

Party Postponed.

On account of the inclemency of the weather, the hayrack party, which was planned by members of the Christian Endeavor Society of Westminster Presbyterian church, for tomorrow evening, has been postponed indefinitely. It has been planned to ride to Ironton and return. The date for the ride will be announced later.

West Duluth Briefs.

Mrs. William Sparks of 106 South Sixty-second avenue west has as her guest her sister, Mrs. L. Lonby and her daughters, the Misses Irene and Mil dred Lonby, of Brainerd, Minn.

The funeral of Anna L. Frazer, wife of Fred Frazer of 115 Vernon street, who died Tuesday night, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home and at 2:30 from Asbury M. E. church, Sixth avenue west and Raleigh street, to Oneota cemetery. Rev. W. G. Boyle officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richter of 425 Central avenue left yesterday for the Twin Cities, where they will visit the state fair.

William Sparks, Jr., of 106 South Sixty-second avenue west, has gone to New York to visit an uncle.

Fred Newman of Proctor left yesterday for Cloquet, where he will visit for a few days.

E. H. Haylar, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Baraboo, Wis., paid a visit to the Proctor association yesterday.

Mrs. S. J. Laekie of Tower, Minn., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Paradise, 815 North Fifty-sixth avenue west.

Miss Ethel Regan has returned to her home in Mora, Minn., after a three weeks' visit with West Duluth friends and relatives.

Miss Jennie Johnson of Marinette, Wis., is the guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Janelle.

The Fairmont-Tigers football club's dance, which was postponed this week on account of the bad weather, will be held next Wednesday evening at Wade's hall.

BEARISH DAY FOR THE COPPERS

Dragged Down By Slump of General Stock List—Trading Light.

Though coppers made a better showing today than general list of stocks, which had quite a break late in the session, nevertheless the fact that coppers were weak cannot be gainsaid.

Trading was light and the tendency of prices was downward up to noon today in both coppers and the general stock list. There seemed to be nothing in the conditions surrounding the market to beat down the stocks. This was just a little reactionary movement, and one that signified little as to actual values. Brokers, on the whole, appeared to be quite conservative. The general trend of news was rather bullish. The reports of the assured settlement of the Morrocan affair between France and Germany and of the hope that the railroad difficulties would be adjusted without a strike, were both salutary influences. London reported the price of copper unchanged for spot and a little higher for futures.

Logan Wilson wired from New York that the Copper Producers' Report was expected to show a substantial increase in production and also in the surplus. Estimates varied from 10,000,000 to 17,000,000 pounds.

Among the copper movements of today were the following: Amalgamated, yesterday's close, $59; today, $59, $58.75, $58.50, $58.62½, $58, $57.75; Butte Coalition, yesterday, $14.75 bid, $15.50 asked; today, $15, $15.25; Calumet & Arizona, yesterday's close, $50.25 bid, $51 asked; today, $51, $50.50, $50.75, $51, $50.50; Greene Cananea, $6 bid, $6.12½ asked; today, $6; North Butte, yesterday, $24.25 bid, $24.50 asked; today, $24.75, $25, $24.50, $24.25, $23.75; Shattuck, yesterday, $16 bid, $18 asked; today, $17 bid, $17.50 bid. Curb—Keating, yesterday and today, $3 asked; Butte & Superior, yesterday, $92 to $94, old; today, $93 old.

The directors of the Superior & Boston and Arizona-Commercial Copper companies have evolved a consolidation plan, the acceptance of it by the stockholders they believe will be for the mutual advantage of the security holders of both companies. The plan provides for financing the consolidated company with over $600,000 cash.

BAD WEATHER IS EXHIBITED

Result of Display Is Gloom Among State Fair Officials.

Streets on Grounds Filled With Mud Instead of People.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the track ankle deep in mud and no prospect of the sun's drying it out, races at the state fair were called off today, and unless there is a change in weather conditions they probably will not be attempted tomorrow.

This information was given out by the management after an inspection of the course. The grounds presented almost idle streets, overhung by threatening clouds.

This is St. Paul day, but at noon there were few St. Paulites on the grounds. A slow drizzle was falling. Nine-tenths of the visitors wore overcoats, and many women appeared with furs.

The spielers are suffering from aggravated colds. About the only warmth on the grounds comes from the little, flat stoves where hamburger and wieners are sizzling.

All Hangs On Weather.

The board of directors of the association met this morning and gloomed for an hour. The question of continuing the auto races Monday was discussed. While no definite decision was reached, it appeared to be the general opinion that such an attempt was out of the question.

"It all comes back to the old question of the weather," Secretary Simpson said. "If it should turn out nice and warm, we probably could hold over. The Twin City people tell us to-day that there appears to be little chance of any such luck. I think we will have to grin and take our medicine. It is doubtful, too, if it would be wise to attempt to hold over just a part of the fair. It could not be done with credit to the association."

President Glotfelter was not at the fair today, having been called home to look after some legal matters. None of the directors who remained was optimistic. All appear to believe the state fair of 1911 will pass into history as the keenest disappointment of any ever attempted.

Concessions Losing Money.

Not a dozen concessions on the grounds will make money and many will face deficits. When they made a contract with the fair, they put up a deposit of 15 per cent, agreeing to pay the balance the first day. Many did not take in enough to pay for the bread they used, and the management extended the time.

During the forenoon there was little life about the grounds. The bands played lively music in the covered buildings, but it was a sad effort to anyone to try to enthuse when his feet were cold and his clothes damp. Some of the streets are almost impassable, and mud has been tracked into all the buildings.

The managers hope that the weather will clear by tonight so that some of the fireworks exhibit may be put on. A figure of the state capitol is to be shown in a glare of rockets, red lights and roman candles, if a crowd applies for admission.

"All we have left is hope," Secretary Simpson said.

NO BENEFIT FROM TAXES

George L. Burrows Thinks He Is Unjustly Taxed at Alice.

Further allegations were filed this morning by George L. Burrows in his case against the Village of Alice, and its officers, who are Solomon Barnett, president; Oscar Widstrand, clerk; Jerry Archambault, treasurer; G. W. Mewhenney, W. Wegeler and Charles Faulk, trustees, in which he seeks the United States court to restrain the officials in their proposed attempts to tax the property of the village for what he claims to be a scheme. He alleges that the officials are planning the erection of a water and light station, and the installation of a sewer system, the funds for which are to come from a general fund, and not to be charged up against the property benefited. In the bill filed this morning, Mr. Burrows claims that the officials have threatened to levy taxes of $40,000 for 1911. Mr. Burrows calls attention to the fact that the sections of the village will be benefited from the improvement of the water and light department, showed a tax valuation of less than $30,000 in 1910, and that this section would pay less than $1,000 of the proposed $40,000 taxes for 1911.

An order was issued by Judge Charles A. Willard of the federal court, granting the request of Mr. Burrows, to restrain the officials of the city from issuing a tax levy to exceed $10,000 for the year 1911.

WOMAN SHOOTS YOUNG ARCHITECT

Robert Bruce Watson of Chicago Wounded in Head By Bullet.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Robert Bruce Watson, one of the best known young architects and contractors in Chicago, was shot by a mysterious woman in front of his residence today. The bullet struck Watson in the head and he was taken to a hospital.

The woman was arrested. At the police station she gave her name as Mrs. H. B. Coney and admitted that she fired the shot, declining, however, to give a reason for the act. She is 35 years old and has been living at a well-known downtown hotel.

Watson was formerly state architect and at one time was city architect.

CITY BRIEFS

Suspects Released.

William Olson and George Watson, arrested in connection with the supposed theft of a box of cigars which Olson was trying to sell on the Bowery, were released yesterday afternoon for lack of evidence.

Horses Suffer With Glanders.

Because seven horses of a local company have been quarantined for glanders, the state board of health has ordered all drinking fountains of the city closed. Dr. Webster, health commissioner, states that it is probable that the pail system will be adopted. Under that plan each of the teamsters can water his horses by carrying their own pails and filling them at the several fountains, shutting the water off after they are through using it. This has worked successfully in other cities.

Bank Clearings.

Duluth bank clearings for the week ending Thursday, Sept. 7 were $3,260,937.77.

City Pay Day.

Nearly every employe of the city visited the city hall this morning, and Fred Voss was the most popular man in the building. It is pay day and Mr. Voss was on hand to enable them to "draw their breaths."

Band Concert Sunday.

The Herald has secured the "In Old Kentucky" band for a concert at Lincoln park Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. The street railway will have extra cars, as it is expected a large crowd will be in attendance, as this is the last concert of the season.

Bowling Team Gives Dance.

The Adams bowling team will give the second of its series of dances tonight at the Lincoln park auditorium. Flaaten's orchestra will furnish the music.

Obstructs Alley.

George Clader paid a fine of $3 in police court this morning on pleading guilty to obstructing the alley above First street with his wagon. The wagon is the property of the city.

MISS EVERTS COMING.

Will Read "Saul" and "The Piper" —Rev. Powell to Lecture.

Miss Katherine Jewell Everts, who was heard here last spring in an evening of Browning readings at the Endion M. E. church, under the auspices of the women's guild of that church, will be heard again next month under the auspices of the same organization. She will read Browning's "Saul" on Sunday morning, Oct. 8, at the church services, and Monday evening, Oct. 9, she will read "The Piper," one of last season's new plays which attracted such wide interest in its run in New York.

This evening reading will be the first of a series of six evening lectures which the guild has planned. The other five will be given by Rev. John Walker Powell on Tennyson and his works.

Mr. Powell's course on Browning last year proved of such interest that the coming course is being eagerly anticipated.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS VOTE AT PRIMARIES.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 7.—With sunrise today balloting began in 1,500 state precincts in the primary election to choose Democratic candidates for two Virginia seats in the United States senate.

The fight of Thomas Martin, Democratic leader of the senate, for re-election for a six-year term, aided by Claude A. Swanson, who is running for the short, unexpired term of the late Senator Daniel, has been one of the most vigorous in several years.

Representatives William Jones and Carter Glass, opponents of Martin and Swanson respectively, leaders of the insurgent faction in the Democratic party, have carried on a long campaign.

The voting hours are from sunrise to sunset, but in many counties local elections will delay the counting of the ballots.

Some Nice Yields.

Energy, N. D., Sept. 7.—Thrashing has begun in this locality and yields are better than expected. J. R. Mann, one of the big farmers here, had a field of winter wheat which yielded thirty-five bushels to the acre and a field of rye which did a little better. Other fields in the Energy district are also making good.

Many Livestock Entries.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 7.—Entries for the annual interstate livestock and horse show in St. Joseph, Sept. 25 to 30, closed today with 1,550 head of stock listed, the largest number in the show's history.

DESERTED IN HOUR OF NEED

Told Her Marriage License All That Was Needed—Other Indictments.

The most important indictment reported by the grand jury this afternoon was that of the state of Minnesota against Claude Curtis, accused of the crime of seduction under promise of marriage.

The grand jury reported but four indictments, one of which is secret. No true bill was found against George Smith, accused of child abandonment.

The grand jury has been in session since Wednesday afternoon. As there are but five cases reported and there are known to be some fifty to be considered, it is probable that they will be in session several days of next week.

Claude Curtis under promise of marriage, it is said, lived with Esther Lindergren, a Duluth girl, for several months, finally deserting her and marrying another girl at Iron River, Wis. At the present time he is serving a sentence at the St. Paul workhouse for non-support, the complaint in the latter action having been made by the Iron River wife.

With Esther Lindergren, Curtis appeared at the local clerk of court's office on Oct. 20 and secured a marriage license. He told her that the license was all that was necessary.

She believed him. It was only a few weeks before the birth of the baby that he deserted. The situation young Curtis finds himself in is most serious and after finishing his St. Paul sentence he will be brought to Duluth for trial.

Frank Moulton is accused of forgery. He is said to have forged a check for $100, using W. A. Sisson's name.

Dora Orvantinovich is accused of adultery. She is the woman whose husband followed her all over the country and finally located her at New Duluth, where she was living with Filip Platuicich, the man who had induced her to run away from her home at Chicago.

TWO MEN HELD UP AND MURDERED

Box Containing Money to Pay Miners Is Stolen.

Potsville, Pa., Sept. 7.—Joseph Zehner, a contract miner, and his driver named Hopkins, were held up today on a mountain near Nesquehoning, Pa., and shot dead.

A tin box containing a large sum of money intended for the payment of the wages of the Zehner employes was stolen. No trace of the highwaymen has been obtained.

UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO E. M. STANTON

Army Officers and G. A. R. Men at Steubenville, Ohio.

Steubenville, Ohio, Sept. 7.—Governor Harmon and his staff arrived here this morning for the unveiling of the memorial to Edwin M. Stanton, who was secretary of war under Lincoln. He will be the principal speaker at the ceremonies.

Other notable men present are Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Gen. Frederick D. Grant, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, Gen. H. A. Axline of Columbus and John McElroy, editor of the National Tribune, the G. A. R. organ.

PROBE WOOL AND HIDE RATE.

Prouty Opens the Investigation at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—An investigation into alleged unreasonable rates on shipments of wool and hides from various Western points to Eastern markets, has been begun here by United States Interstate Commerce Commissioner Prouty. A score or more witnesses have been summoned to testify here, after which Commissioner Prouty will hold similar sessions at Denver, Colo., Albuquerkue, N. M., Salt Lake City, Phoenix, Ariz., and Portland, Or.

It is the contention of the wool shippers that the freight rates have been advanced 33⅓ per cent since the passage of the Hepburn rate law three years ago, and that the present tariff is exorbitant in comparison with rates charged for other commodities.

THE PATIENT WAITER.

Los Angeles Times: Prof. W. Lawson Tall, apropos of the new serum cure for hay fever, said at a medical banquet in Denver:

"This cure is the result of patience, the result of much patient toil. Indeed, when I think of the patient waiting involved in the perfecting of this cure, I am reminded of Dr. Bob Sawyer's ante-room.

"Dr. Bob Sawyer stepped proudly into his ante-room one day. There were quite eight or nine persons there. And Dr. Bob, looking from one face to another with complacence, said:

"'Well, who comes first? Who's been waiting the longest?'

"'Here, Doc—that's me,'' said Snip the tailor, rising and flourishing his unpaid bill. 'I've been waiting over eighteen months!'"

ALMOST AN ANGEL.

Los Angeles Times: George Ade was talking at a June wedding in Chicago about matrimony.

"Matrimony is perhaps a little too much idealized," he said. "These June brides, radiant under their white veils in a glitter of June sunshine, seem capable of changing earth to heaven, but, as a matter of fact, they are not capable of anything of the sort.

"I am in hearty sympathy with old Brown, to whom young Black said at a wedding:

"'A good wife can make a veritable angel of a man.'

"'Yes, that's so,' old Brown agreed. 'My wife came near making one of me with her first batch of doughnuts.'"

CONFUSION IS CAUSED

In Trade Mart By Strikes and War Talk in Europe.

Great Profits of the Middlemen Exposed in New York.

New York, Sept. 7.—The markets upon the various exchanges have been waiting ones, "marking time" is the well-known phrase which describes them correctly.

The stock market had upon it the confusion attendant upon the Standard Oil and Tobacco company transformations, the threatened strike upon the Harriman lines, the pronounced disposition of the railways to place orders for materials only as actually required, and a general condition which sailors would term as "in the doldrums."

Four days of gloomy weather here, rain, wind and storm, demoralized the shipping interests and retarded business in many ways and in every part of the city.

The disturbances attending the strikes in Great Britain have caused here hesitation in commitments for new business, have interfered with purchases of commodities for British account and thus have added to the usual dullness of the month of August.

The activity in Belgium's military department, the re-enforcement of the fortress of Namur, the strengthening of the guards of the various roads which lead from and to Germany, the discussion in the European papers of the Moroccan question in a belligerant tone, these all depressed European markets, caused a holding up in all departments of trade abroad, and in consequence we find here a dearth of European demand for many of our products.

Politicians in this city are discussing the redistricting of the greater city for congressional purposes, and getting ready boundary plans for the six new districts which will be created in this municipality.

These six additional members of congress from the city will give the city delegation the controlling influence in the state's representation in the house of representatives, and as the great majority of them will be Democrats, the influence of New York city will become more powerful in national councils, in party organization and in national conventions.

City Delegation Controls.

The co-operation of two or three congressional districts' delegates from up the state will now give a united city delegation control of the delegation of the state through the operation of the unit rule at national conventions.

The city is now dominant in the state by reason of number of population, and through the state in national affairs can exercise a vast influence upon the destinies of the republic.

Sixty Pennsylvania farmers were here on Thursday perfecting arrangements to sell their products direct to retailers in this city, and thus cut out commission men and abolish what they term middlemen.

They called upon Mayor Gaynor, who made them an address denouncing favoritism in freight rates, but making it clear to the farmers that it was not a question so much of low rates as of uniform charges to all shippers, so that no shipper could secure an unfair advantage.

The mayor speaking directly upon their plan, said: "The figures read here this morning show that, although we do pay unconsciously high prices here those prices do not go to you.

"Apparently only one-third of it ever reaches you. The rest goes to the carrier and the middleman."

Patrick Egan, formerly minister to Chili, who acted as spokesman for the delegation, gave out the figures (as to products) which the mayor referred to.

Among the items he took up for examples of how the producers and consumers were both losing under present conditions, he cited that potatoes, for which consumers paid $60,000,000 last year, only netted the producers $8,500,000, and cabbages, which were sold in the city to consumers for $9,625,000, brought the farmers but $1,890,000; eggs that cost the consumers $29,000,000 brought the farmers but $17,000,000.

Must Have Lower Prices.

The farmers' movement to supply the consumers direct will be welcomed by the masses of the people in this, as in other cities, provided it results in lower prices to the consumer.

If, however, it is expected that the farmers are to cut out the middlemen and retain for themselves their own present profits and add to them that of the middlemen, they will not find the consumers enthusiastic for a change of methods which bring no relief to themselves.

There is now in operation a new system upon an article of food largely in use in the United States that is cutting out the middlemen, abolishing them, but not in the slightest degree benefiting the consumer. Before its work is concluded it may not only seize upon the profits of all middlemen, but levy additional tribute upon the consumers.

I allude to the syndicating and valorization of coffee, which, when fully understood by the people of the United States, will be found to be a monumental exploitation of the consumers for the benefit of a speculative syndicate, whose operations are based upon a private arrangement with a foreign government to secure more money from those who use the bean—that is, in plain terms, from the people of the United States.

It is really a combine of those financiers with the government of Brazil to compel our people to pay more for the coffee they use than if there was free operation of the law of supply and demand between the coffee grower and the consumer.

Our congress and the adminstration have been most active in opposition to the trusts, combines and mergers in other articles, but when the regular session is opened in December it would be a most excellent time to begin an investigation of how, why and for what purpose prices have been so rapidly advanced.

THE BETTER OF THE TRADE.

Mobile Register: Green McCurtain, once chief of the Choctaws, had a very high opinion of the business astuteness of white men. "No Indian can get the better of a paleface," Chief McCurtain said to a Guthrie reporter during the recent Oklahoma investigation. "And when two palefaces get bargaining together, then it is like cutting diamonds with diamonds. Two Oklahoma palefaces once hunted in my camp. They spent the evening with me and over the fire and the firewater they began to barter and traffic and to make deals and dickers. Finally Bill said:

"'Sam, let's trade horses—my bay for your roan.'

"'It's a go,' Sam agreed. 'The trade's a go. Shake on it partner.'

"They shook hands. Then Bill said with a loud laugh:

"'Sam, I've bested ye this time. My hoss is dead. Died yesterday.'

"'So's mine dead,' said Sam. 'Died this morn'n'. And, what's more, I've took his shoes off.'"

TRAGEDY'S SPELL OVER

Home Which Was Scene of Fatal Duel of Brothers.

Peterman Family Seems to Live Beneath an Evil Star.

Bloomsbury, Pa., Sept. 7.—The spell of tragedy hangs over the Peterman home in Sugarloaf township, where, only a few days ago, there was fought the duel that resulted in the death of one Peterman brother and the wounding of the other, who is recovering and will be tried for murder.

Since the hour when the news of the terrible affair at the Peterman farm became circulated over the quiet countryside the history of the Peterman homestead, with its tragedies, began to be recited over and over.

Fifteen years ago when the Peterman family was augmented by the marriage of John Peterman to a widow of the Sugarloaf district and the bringing of her three children under the Peterman roof tree, the family was one of the happiest of that picturesque section. One day Mrs. Peterman was boiling soft soap in a large kettle that swung from a crane in the old loghouse. It was a ponderous caudron, holding many gallons of the grease from the annual hog butchering, and the soap was to be of such a quantity that it would answer the household all winter.

Somehow—just how nobody seemed to know—one of the widow's children, in playing about the blazing fire, knocked the boiling kettle from its fastening, and the mass of sizzling grease spilled over and not only that particular child, but the two other children of the woman, scalding all so badly that they died in a few hours.

Loghouse Shut Up.

The tragedy so appalled the mother that for a time it was feared she would lose her mind, and for a long time the old loghouse was shut up, not even used as a storehouse, the memory of the kettle tragedy being so poignant that the place was abandoned. Today it stands as a link between the hideous past and the more hideous present.

One day a few years after the terrible wiping out of Mrs. Peterman's little ones, her husband was at work in the fields not 200 yards from the house. A high wind, an accompaniment to a terrific storm, swept over the countryside, and just when Peterman was passing at a distance in which the limbs of the monarch caught and pinned him to the ground, a ponderous tree on the knoll was blown over and Farmer Peterman was killed. His grave was added to the row of little graves in the Sugarloaf cemetery, and alongside that of the first wife, who had preceded him into eternity.

Always the history of the Peterman farm was referred to in tones of sadness, and the place grew to be associated with the community in sort of a weird way. But the crowning of its tragic history was that enacted somewhere in the house or out of it, with knife and a stone and fist, in the darkness of last Saturday night between the two brothers, who were equally interested in the property.

There were two-score knife wounds in the body of Abram Peterman when the undertaker came to lay out his body for burial, and the face and head were battered in as though done with a stone. His body had been found at the foot of a wall, or overshot, near the Peterman farmhouse, and in the latter the brother, John, himself terribly wounded as though he had been attacked by a veritable madman, was found in a semi-unconscious condition. He acknowledged having slain his brother, but declared that if he had not killed Abram, he himself would have forfeited his life. How long they fought he didn't say, but blood upon the furniture and other articles told something of the terrible battle.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: SEPT. 10.

Daniel 1, 8-20: Daniel and His Companions.

FOREWORD.

In the captivity of Judah there were three deportations of Jews at three different times. Among the first were four young men of the most prominent families. They were chosen by the king's chief eunuch, Ashpenaz, to be trained for personal service about the king, as courtiers and diplomats. Such was the custom, even as the sultan of Turkey used to select promising boys from among Christians to belong to his Janizaries. They were to spend three years in their royal school, studying all the learning of the day—science, statecraft and philosophy.

One theory about the book of Daniel is that it is an inspired romance, written about 20 B. C., to encourage the Jews to endure the persecutions of their Persian enemies. The other theory is hardly a theory, but a recognition of the story as actual history, written by Daniel, who is a historical character. Ezekiel, who lived near Babylon during the exile, speaks of Daniel twice (xiv., 11 and xxviii, 3.) It must be actual history.

These young men were chosen for their good promise, given Chaldean names, put into training and given the same food as the king had. The king was young, broad-minded, a patron of learning and of art. He selected these boys and probably other Jewish boys not mentioned, because they were of good qualities, had the best moral training and would likely become interested in him and his plans, since he was honoring them so highly.

THE LESSON.

I.

Their Noble Purpose Formed. 8.

"But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's dainties, nor with the wine which he drank; therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself."

1. DANGER.—The wrong that he sought to avoid was disobedience to the law of God and intemperate indulgence. The animal meat on the king's table would some of it at least, be of the kinds forbidden in the law of Moses, and even that which was "clean" would probably not be butchered so as to be entirely free from blood. Besides they recognized their gods in offering them a portion of their food, and in so doing Daniel would violate the first commandment: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." Pampering the body with rich and enervating foods and drinking intoxicating wines would be sensuous and defiling indulgence.

2. CONSCIENCE.—His fine sense of right was very remarkable in a boy of fourteen. It showed great training in God's law, an acute conscience and fearless courage. He might have compromised by selecting some of the foods offered and he might have tried to accommodate himself to their wishes. But he was able to see, in advance, the evil consequences of such a course. This took courage, for his refusal might bring on him the king's displeasure and an angry public sentiment. It required clear thought on their part, for they must have wanted to have the king's favor and they would do anything honorable to win it. Here we find in these young men traits we all admire—clear knowledge of their own religion, fine discrimination on moral questions, calm and courageous determination to be on the right side of every question, whether clear or doubtful, and their wisdom in asserting their purpose.

II.

Their Wise Plans for Purity. 9-14.

"Now God made Daniel to find kindness and compassion in the sight of the prince of the eunuchs. And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Daniel, I fear my lord the king who hath appointed your food and your drink, for why should he see your faces worse looking than the youths that are of your own age? so would ye endanger my head with the king. Then said Daniel to the steward whom the prince of the eunuchs had appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give us pulse to eat, and water to drink. Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenance of the youths that eat of the king's dainties; and as thou seest, deal with thy servants. So he hearkened unto them in this matter, and proved them ten days."

1. FAVOR.—Daniel captivated the officer who had charge of them, but excited the man's fears that their simple vegetable diet would put them at a disadvantage with the native youths, and the king would punish the officer for it. Daniel was too kind to subject the man to any risks and in proposing a ten days' test, he showed a confidence that still further impressed the man. He was brave without bravado, aggressive without belligerence.

2. TEST.—The test was simple—a trial of ten days on their chosen vegetable diet, not that meat was, or is, wrong, but it was wrong under the circumstances, for reasons already given. The chief officer threw the responsibility on the lower officer, directly in charge of them, and the latter tried it out very quietly for fear of the king's displeasure. The officer saw they were not rebellious and were anxious to please the king. The short time of ten days seemed also reasonable, for very little harm could come, in ten days, even if no good was done. Besides, the boys had been accustomed to that diet. Neither party took much risk.

III.

Their Triumphant Success. 15-20.

"And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer, and they were fatter in flesh, than all the youths that did eat of the king's dainties. So the steward took away their dainties, and the wine that they should drink, and gave them pulse. Now as for these four youths, God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom; and Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams. And at the end of the days which the king had appointed for bringing them in, the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar. And the king communed with them; and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hanaiah, Mishael, and Azariah; therefore stood they before the king. And in every matter of wisdom and understanding, concerning which the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and enchanters that were in all his realm."

1. PHYSICAL.—They simply outshone all the native youths; more flesh and better flesh covered their frame. There had been no waste, nor puffing up, nor high coloring of their tissues from alcohol, or too coarse, or too much food. They had the physical beauty of perfect health and of lofty minds. Their looks were the normal result of their food and their faith. There was a providence over their provender. Their control of themselves, for higher aims, had its fruit in their faces and forms.

2. INTELLECTUAL.—Three forces made them superior, in wisdom, to the youths of Babylon—better bodies, clear consciences and their fellowship with God. One, whose conscience took charge of his diet, would for the same reason, do honest studying. In four ways they stored their minds with knowledge—they acquired "skill" in using that knowledge; they became well acquainted with the literature and philosophy of the time—"all learning;" they applied this in a practical way as "wisdom." They were given divine wisdom too, for God taught them by dreams and visions.

3. MORAL.—Terrible tests came on through the sixty-seven years, till "the first year of King Cyrus." In the subsequent story we learn that Daniel was infinitely better than the magicians and astrologers. The king tested them by conversation with them, then Daniel especially by hard service in administrative offices, then by interpreting dreams. Amid all the duties, surrounded by jealous enemies, he kept true to God and was recognized as such. And his whole superb life grew out of that inflexible purpose formed when a boy.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

In the magnificence of Babylon and its palaces, Daniel and his companions passed their days—amidst lofty pyramid temples reflecting every color from their ascending stages; houses, far and near, painted in bright tints at the pleasure of their owners, surrounded by groves of gigantic palms and many other trees; the soft green of open parks and the verdure of gardens. Outside the walls countless silvery canals, shaded with trees, threaded the landscape amid broad plains waving with corn, or teeming with the richness of varied crops. The pomp and splendor of such a city and such a monarchy must have amazed the Hebrew exiles.—Geike.

No circumstances can make that right which is in its own nature wrong. It never can be necessary to sin. No doubt we may say that if we refuse to sin under certain pressure, death will be the result. But that will not alter the case, for it is better to die than to sin; and, if there be no other way out of it, we ought to be willing to die rather than to sin.—Geike.

It takes a big man not to fall into the ways of his superiors. Daniel and his companions would naturally have fallen into the ways of the men of the court. But they were too big for that kind of a thing. The difference between the little folks and the big folks is that the little ones get hold of somebody's coat tail and sail through life, while the big ones do what they think right, regardless of public opinion. It was the fashion to drink wine in the court of the king. But Daniel could do some thinking on his own account. Big fellow that.—Spillman.

MILLIONAIRES ARE INDICTED

Allen of Kenosha and Collins of Memphis Accused of Smuggling.

New York, Sept. 7.—Seperate indictments, accusing Nathan Allen of Kenosha, Wis., and John R. Collins of Memphis, Tenn., reputed millionaires, of smuggling gems valued at many thousand dollars into the port of New York, have been brought to light in the office of United Staies District Attorney Wise. The indictments have lain on his desk, bearing the seal of the federal grand jury, since Aug. 29, when they were handed down.

The testimony of Mrs. Helen D. Jenkins, the woman with whom Allen is said to have quarreled and broken his friendship not long ago, is understood to have formed the foundation on which the true bills were found. Allen, a leather manufacturer, is charged with having concealed about his clothing a pearl valued at $10,000 when he landed in New York. The indictment further charges him with having failed to declare the gem and with bringing it into the county, duty unpaid.

Other Divers Articles.

A second count of the indictment charges that Allen also smuggled, on the same date, a gem-studded gold bracelet fashioned in the design of a snake. The third count charges illegal importation of the pearl and bracelet and other "divers articles of jewelry and wearing apparel" on the same date.

This count also charges that Allen was party to a conspiracy with other persons to defraud the government of duties by "clandestinely introducing into the country jewelry and wearing apparel described in the two prior counts.

Collins, a coal operator of Tennessee, was a fellow passenger of Allen, the indictment in the Tennesseean's case recites, and it charges him with having smuggled a necklace consisting of strand of pearls with a diamond and ruby clasp, a pearl and diamond bracelet and other articles of jewelry and wearing apparel.

Whereabouts Are Unknown.

At the office of the district attorney it was said that the whereabouts of the indicted men are not known. Confidence was expressed, however, by Assistant United States District Attorney Whitney, that both indicted men would appear and plead in due time. No bench warrants have been issued.

THINK PASTOR INDISCREET.

Minister's Letter to Organist Has Stirred Up People.

Clarence, Mo., Sept. 7.—Members of the Center Street Methodist church, after talking over the case of their former minister, who has confessed to writing a letter to a former organist of the church, have decided that they have no power to take any action for or against the minister. Oscar Callison, who wrote the letter to Rev. H. H. Johnson which caused him to resign from the ministry, was not present, although he is a member of the board.

While the meeting was in progress, Callison went from the bank, where he is a clerk, to his home. Rev. G. A. Lenhoff of Macon, who came here to attend the meeting, left the church and went to Callison's home to see a copy of the letter. Afterward he went to the parsonage to see Mrs. Johnson. Before leaving for Macon he said that he still believed Johnson had been guilty of nothing more than indiscretion.

Will Not Show Letter.

Callison refuses to show anybody the letter from Johnson to the girl, found by her sister, which caused him to write to the minister. He will not say that Johnson's letter contained terms of endearment, but says that the girl's relatives will be ready for the preacher's defenders if any attempt is made to make it appear that the girl took the initiative.

Johnson now is somewhere in Iowa. His wife will join him there as soon as she can get away from here.

The girl in the case left here a week ago to teach music in a North Carolina seminary.

PURE FOOD AND DRUG MEETING IS CALLED.

New York, Sept. 7.—President Seth Low of the National Civic Federation has sent out a call for a meeting here on Sept. 27 of the recently organized pure food and drugs department of the federation. The American Medical association, grocers' and druggists' associations, the Patrons of Husbandry, the Farmers' National congress and the United States Brewers' association are included in the new department. The meeting here will be devoted to organization and to mapping out a plan of campaign. The United States department of agriculture will be represented.

FARMERS IN CONVENTION

Five Hundred Meet at State Fair and Organize League.

Protest Against Treatment Accorded Them By the Political Parties.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five hundred farmers gathered in Institute hall at the state fair grounds yesterday to protest against treatment which has been accorded them by political parties and to form a permanent organization to take a decided stand for their rights. P. V. Collins, editor of a farm journal, was the principal agitator.

"Both political parties, as parties," he said, "have betrayed the farmers of this country. They have sold us out. We need organization to remind them that the farmer has one-third of the votes of the nation. Canada will accept reciprocity. Don't doubt that. The president of the United States has handed Canada a fortune on a silver platter. We are told to love our neighbors, but not to give them everything we have, everything we create by our honest toil."

The farmer-journalist was interrupted many times during his speech, and he declared it was because politicians were present intent on breaking up the meeting.

Col. R. A. Wilkinson, chairman of the meeting, took a crack at President Taft, thusly:

"The president of the United States did not need any report from a scientific tariff board when he signed the Payne-Aldrich bill. He didn't need any information when he forced the reciprocity pact through. But suddenly he needed light when it was proposed to legislate a little bit for the farmer."

Governor Eberhart spoke at the meeting but avoided all references to political matters. His theme was consolidation of rural schools.

Wilkinson Is President.

A permanent organization to be known as the Farmers' League of Minnesota, was perfected at the afternoon session and officers were elected as follows: President, R. A. Wilkinson, Lake Elmo; vice president, J. Y. Winings, Eden Valley; secretary, P. V. Collins, Minneapolis; treasurer, Charles Kenning, Bird Island.

Col. Wilkinson will appoint nine members, one from each congressional district, to constitute the first executive board, the officers also to be members of that board.

The spirit of the meeting, which was a very representative gathering of farmers, was vigorous and enthusiastic and there was no patience shown toward the idea of procrastination in the matter of getting started.

An effort to postpone organization until the winter was badly beaten after such men as Thomas J. Meighen and Henry Feig had supported it. The great majority of the farmers present were eager to get organized at once.

There was no hesitancy on the part of the farmers in expressing their feelings, and sentiments, and no uncertainly was evidenced as to what those sentiments were.

Whenever President Taft was assailed by a speaker the crowd howled with delight.

In one sense it was a field-day of insurgency, for nearly every speaker denounced "the interests" and handed a few choice wads of criticism to "the men of power and influence who have betrayed the farmer to his enemies."

P. V. Collins of Minneapolis called the meeting to order this morning and made a hot speech denouncing reciprocity pact and the president, and the assembled farmers endorsed his utterances with great outbursts of approval.

Col. R. A. Wilkinson was made temporary chairman and made a speech even hotter than the one Collins turned loose.

Col. Wilkinson Speaks.

As soon as the session met after recess, a committee was appointed to draft the constitution, and while waiting for the report Col. R. A. Wilkinson was asked to speak. And he did.

He devoted himself almost exclusively to the tariff commission which he took delight in characterising as "the scientific tariff board."

"Our fight on the reciprocity pact was handicapped by the fact that we were not organized and so we got no hearing. Had we been organized early enough we might have beaten it. But we now know that the president never called the extra session until he had secured pledges from enough senators and congressmen to insure the passage of the pact. He got standpat Democrats and Republicans to pull together with him. Of course that was in no sense an 'unholy alliance.' It was only when Democrats and Republicans combined to serve the public welfare that it became 'an unholy alliance,' in the mind of the president. But had we been organized early enough we could have prevented congressmen from pledging themselves to the president.

"But we must organize now. If we don't we shall soon reach the point where it will be permanently established that there shall be free trade on all the things farmers sell and protection on all he buys.

"We are told to be patient,—to wait for the report of this scientific tariff board. That board was created in 1909. What has it done? Well it established headquarters. It established headquarters so that it might make a scientific study of the tariff question. The headquarters are with Fred Hale, son of Senator Hale, the high priest of protection.

"The tariff commission, in its scientific search for knowledge, has surrounded itself with the help of the interests which say to the farmer 'You can go to Hades. We will run this thing to suit ourselves.'

"Well, who has been called before that august and scientific tribunal? Any of us? Oh, no. We haven't had even a small voice in the affair.

Guest of Big Interests.

"Well this scientific board announced that it was seeking the truth and it started out on its search by arranging a series of sumptuous banquets in large cities where it was the guest of the representatives of the big interests, winding up with a banquet as the guest of the National Woolen Manufacturers association. Fine outlook for free wool, isn't it? This scientific board has been wined and dined here and there by the high priests of the Payne-Aldrich bill. This was, and to date remains, the first step in the scientific investigation of tariff schedules. This is the kind of influence this tariff commission has been surrounded with. Do you expect any help from such a source? Yet we must be patient the president tells us. Why the thing is damnable. It is just as if a judge, before making a decision in a case to which you were a party, should be banqueted by the opposing party.

"President Taft didn't need the light of this scientific information when he signed the Payne-Aldrich bill. Oh, no. When he found the interests were back of it he couldn't sign his name to it quick enough. He didn't need the advice of this great body when reciprocity was up. Not until the farmer was getting some consideration did the president discover that it was wrong to act hastily without scientific banquet-made wisdom."

The league's constitution provides that the annual meeting shall be held the Wednesday of fair week each year at the fair grounds. The executive committee can call a state meeting at any time when it is deemed advisable.

The initial fee was placed at $1 and the annual dues made $1.

A complete legislative program will be adopted and the farmers say that hereafter there will be a farmers' lobby when the legislature is in session.

Eric Olson took a slap at James J. Hill, and Henry Feig and Congressman Sydney Anderson lambasted the "Interests" valiantly.

There was no question but that the farmers present were in deadly earnest and they declare their belief that the new movement is destined to revolutionize things for them.

TOO COLD TO HOLD COURT

Jurors Shiver and Judge Postpones Case to Get Warm.

"It's cool in Duluth." Yesterday afternoon it was so cool in the municipal court room that Judge Windom adjourned court until this morning.

Several aged men were sitting on the jury hearing a case which was being tried before him. They began to look uncomfortable and one or two of them shivered. Fearing that they might suffer ill effects if compelled to remain throughout the afternoon, Judge Windom stopped the proceedings and announced that they would not be resumed until this morning.

There was no heat in the building and Judge Windom stated that there was not even kindling with which to start a fire.

TOADSTOOLS MAKE NINE ILL; ONE DIES.

New York, Sept. 7.—One man, Pasquale Bianco, is dead at the hospital at Mount Vernon and eight others are in a serious condition as the result of mistaking poisonous fungi for mushrooms. Bianco gathered the toadstools on Monday afternoon and gave a quantity to his friends. All who partook of the fungi became ill. Bianco's death followed in a few hours. The others will recover.

Woman's Danger Periods Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.,—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor.

"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Greaton, 51 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth.

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

ALMOST FRANTIC WITH ECZEMA ON HANDS

Began with Itching. Spread Fast. Fingers Fairly Bled. Cried Night and Day. Tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Was Entirely Cured.

"Eight years ago I got eczema all over my hands. My fingers fairly bled and it itched until it almost drove me frantic.

The eruption began with itching under the skin. It spread fast from between the fingers around the nails and all over the whole hands. I got a pair of rubber gloves in order to wash dishes. Then it spread all over the left side of my chest. A fine doctor treated the trouble two weeks, but did me no good. I cried night and day. Then I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment, but without much hope as I had gone so long. There was a marked change the second day, and so on until I was entirely cured. The Cuticura Soap we have always kept in our home, and we decided after that lesson that it is a cheap soap in price and the very best in quality. My husband will use no other soap in his shaving mug.

"I have always used Cuticura Soap and no other for my baby, and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even chafe as most babies do. I feel that it is all owing to Cuticura Soap for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet faced baby with the whole top of its head a solid mass of scurf, caused by the use of poor soap. I always recommend Cuticura, and nine times out of ten the next time I see the mother she says 'Oh! I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.'" (Signed) Mrs. G. A. Selby, Redondo Beach, Cal., Jan. 15, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are for sale throughout the world, but to those who have suffered much, lost hope and are without faith in any treatment, a liberal sample of each together with 32-p. booklet on the care and treatment of the skin and scalp will be mailed free, on application. Address Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 24A, Boston.

The Best Thing of the Day

CHRISTMAS TREE PLAN

Hibbing Elks Raising Funds for Cheering Poor Children.

Duluth and Hibbing Teams to Play Ball for That Purpose.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the morning of Sept. 14, a week from today, a special train will arrive at the Hibbing depot from Duluth bearing the Elks' baseball team from that city, together with a large delegation of that brotherhood from Duluth and Range towns between there and Hibbing. They will soon afterward journey to the baseball park where a match game of ball between the Duluth nine and the local Elks will be played.

After the regular nine frames have been exhausted it is proposed that a five-inning burlesque game in costume will be staged. The evening will be spent in Elkdom hilarity and altogether the afternoon will go down as a red-letter day in the annals of the Hibbing order.

The object of the two Elk teams clashing their horns is a laudable one. The entire receipts of the games will go toward furnishing a free Christmas tree with all kinds of trimmings to the poor children in and around Hibbing. It is proposed by the local order to raise at least $500 for this purpose, which amount it is expected will be amply sufficient to provide candy, nuts and Christmas cheer with the Christmas tree to the little urchins who will wake up on Christmas morning to find their stockings as empty as when they hung them up.

The local Elks have also made a contract with the Schubert Symphony club of Chicago to appear at Haley's theater on the evening of Sept. 26 for the same purpose. Between these two enterprises it is hoped that the $500 required will be raised. It is proposed that the Christmas tree be given at the same theater on Christmas night.

WEDDED IN HER CLAIM CABIN

Miss Nellie Joyce Becomes the Bride of Daniel Coffey.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—An interesting wedding took place at Joyce's landing, Vermilion, on Tuesday, Sept. 5, where in her own government claim cabin, Miss Nellie Naomi Joyce became the bride of Daniel Coffey of Virginia, Minn. Rev. Father Powers of Vermilion performing the ceremony. The bride wore a golden brown cloth gown and was attended by Miss Ecasck, who wore pink messaline. The bride and bridesmaid carried bouquets of white and silk sweet peas. Frank Coffey acted as groomsman.

After a wedding breakfast, served by the bride's mother at her home, a pleasing feature occurred in the shape of a launch ride over Lake Vermilion to Tower, where the newly wedded couple started for an Eastern trip. They will be home at Virginia upon their return. The bride is well known in Duluth, having worked for the Western Union Telegraph company for several years, and Mr. Coffey is engaged in business at Virginia.

IRON ORE FIND AT STURGEON LAKE

A. Bloomquist Will Put Two Drills at Work on Farm.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. Bloomquist, a pioneer Eveleth resident, who removed to the Sturgeon lake district four years ago to engage in farming, visited here this week and reported that ore had been found on his land twenty feet deep. His son, David Bloomquist, has completed negotiations with a Duluth drilling firm to operate two drills on the Bloomquist homestead in an effort to find more ore. The ore find on the Bloomquist land has created a furore among the other farmers in the Sturgeon lake district and many of the homesteaders are now proving up their lands. Mr. Bloomquist, until the recent find of ore, had been devoting his time to farming and is well pleased with agricultural prospects in his district.

An Old Soldier's Tonic

Every old soldier needs a tonic. For that matter there are few, if any, men, women or children, of any age, who do not need a nerve building and blood purifying tonic every once in a while.

To those who are run down, nervous, tired all the time, can't sleep, can't eat, can't work, have kidney, liver or stomach trouble, constant headaches, rheumatism, or any nervous or blood disorder, Make-Man Tablets should prove a ready relief. A free trial is sent on request by the Make-Man Tablet Co., Dept. 16, Chicago. They are sold at 50c per box, and recommended by A. E. Swedberg, White Swan Drug Co., 3 East Superior St., also 2015 W. Superior St.

Here is a letter from an old soldier who has used Make-Man Tablets and gladly recommends them to his comrades:

"I have given Make-Man Tablets a thorough trial and am convinced it is a wonderful medicine and does what it is recommended to do. I feel like a new person and would recommend it to any one, especially whose system is run down. It helped my Catarrh and Rheumatism very much."

WM. H. TAYLOR, P. O. Box 55, National Soldiers' Home.

Go to your nearest druggist today and get a box of Make-Man Tablets. If he hasn't them on hand he will get them for you.

HEARTY WELCOME TO STEEL HEADS

Eveleth Preparing to Give Warm Reception to the Officials.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twenty-four officials of the Steel corporation who arrived in Duluth today will be given a hearty welcome on their arrival here tomorrow over the Missabe road in their special cars. They will be met at the depot by fifteen automobiles and immediately taken to the Leonidas mine, the new Eveleth property which is expected to be a big producer in a few years. The party will then visit the Adams, Spruce and Fayal mines.

From here the party will continue on to Virginia and after a short visit there will visit Hibbing, Chisholm and other mining towns on the range before returning to the Zenith City, Sunday. Plans for a banquet in honor of the guests have been abandoned as it has been learned the visitors will have to leave here at noon tomorrow for the other range towns, this being included in their original plans. Arrangements for the visit have been in the hands of Supt. G. F. Dormer of the Fayal, and a thorough trip to all the Oliver company's properties here will be made.

CANDIDATES NUMEROUS.

James Marra Circulating Petition for Mayor at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Marra, a local grocer and former alderman, and avowed candidate for mayor who made a spectacular run for mayor a few years ago, today circulated a petition and succeeded in getting many signers. A meeting of the Italian Voters' club and the Austrian Educational society will be held Sept. 26 at Stiptitch hall, when the candidacies of James Marra and Vincent Menbheent for mayor will be discussed.

Louis Belanger and Joseph Francel are being urged to make the race for the Third ward aldermanship, at present held by Alderman George W. Mulligan, for which Oscar E. Enderich and John Rauma are already avowed candidates. Frank Skoglund is being urged to make the race in the Second ward, while Thomas Trengrove will likely enter the race in the Fourth ward. The race for aldermen-at-large is now centered between President Joseph Brince of the Austrian Educational society, George Kotze and Mert Trevarrow, John Lamuth has dropped out of the race.

HIBBING ENTERTAINMENT

To Be Given By Ladies' Auxiliary of Presbyterian Church.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the evening of Sept. 12 at the Haley theater, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will present a musical and dramatic entertainment, the performers of which will be drawn from local talent exclusively.

The entertainment will be given under the personal direction of Mrs. W. R. Spenseley, who has worked hard and unsparingly towards making the affair an artistic success. It will consist of two one-act plays, "Barbara" and "Second Thought," which will be interspersed with a monologue by Miss May Meehan and selected solos rendered by Miss Myrtle Lavelle and Messrs. George Kohrt and W. R. Spenseley. Miss Pauline McElroy will play a violin solo.

The six characters in the two plays will be taken by Mrs. W. R. Spenseley, Misses Ada Ryder and Beatrice Atkinson and Messrs. Melville McDowell, John Murphy and Leonard McHugh.

GAME LAW BREAKERS FINED AT VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Truman pleaded guilty in municipal court Wednesday afternoon to violation of the game laws, having shot some grouse out of season, and was fined $10 and costs. Truman is from the Sand lake country, north of Virginia.

Bert Johnson pleaded guilty to violation of the game laws and was fined $15 and costs, which he paid. He is also from the Sand lake country and offered some venison for sale, which he had shot a short time ago.

CHISHOLM POSTAL BANK WILL BE OPENED SEPT. 19.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 7.—The postoffice department has issued notices that on Sept. 19 the local postoffice will be ready to receive deposits for the postal savings bank. It is expected that the bank will receive large amounts inasmuch as there is a considerable foreign population of laborers in the mines who monthly send their savings to their native lands.

ELECTION AT ELY BY TUESDAY SOCIAL CLUB.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 7.—The Tuesday Social club held their first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. C. H. Barnes on Harvey street. The election of officers was held, Mrs. William Mitchell being elected president; Mrs. T. E. Miller, vice president; Mrs. C. H. Barnes, secretary, and Mrs. J. M. Brown, treasurer. The club meets every second Tuesday throughout the fall and winter months. Literary subjects are discussed and luncheon is served at these events.

TWO MEN FINED FOR TRYING TO SHOOT DUCKS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 7.—Paul Marks, employed at the machine shops at Coleraine, and E. D. Coffey and H. F. Griese, employed at the laboratory of the Oliver Iron Mining company, were arrested Sunday by Game Warden to shoot ducks at Mud lake out of season. They appeared in justice court before H. S. Hudson yesterday and through their attorney, J. D. Doran, pleaded guilty. They were given a fine each of $10 and costs.

Farewell Party at Aurora.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 7.—A farewell party was given Robert Schenck at the Aurora school and was attended by the high school teachers and his classmates. Games and dancing constituted the amusements. Miss Harriet Levin chaperoned the party. The guest of honor was presented with a monogram scarfpin by the boys of his class. He left yesterday for Minneapolis, where he will enter a business college.

PREPARING FOR FARMERS' DAY

Virginia Commercial Club Being Aided By Business Men.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the Commercial club this evening the principal business will be the consideration of the program to be carried out in the city on Farmers' day, Sept. 15. The various committees in charge of the program and entertainment are making strenuous efforts to make the occasion the most notable in the agricultural history of the city and only a heavy all-day rain will dampen their ardor. As it has rained nearly every day and nearly every night for several weeks the weather end of the day is causing considerable worry. The Commercial club officials are receiving the enthusiastic co-operation of the business men of the city.

MURDER CASE GOES TO JURY

Trial of Bruno Demasse at Virginia Is Nearly Ended.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—In district court before Judge Hughes Wednesday the murder case of Bruno Demasse continued all day, the defense bringing out in the evidence that Delamonte, the victim, fired his shotgun at Demasse twice and then the latter pulled his revolver and fired the shot which killed Delamonte. The defendant was his best witness and told his story in straightforward manner. In the cross-examination he stood up well and was not shaken in the least. The rebuttal evidence was submitted this morning and the jury was given the case for decision shortly before noon.

The next case taken up was that of the state against Emil Putika, charged with assault in the first degree, it being alleged that he shot Mike Saari in the leg at the Kinney location. Putika was arrested Aug. 23 and furnished bail for his appearance today. It is understood that he will plead self defense.

It is expected that the criminal calendar will continue about two weeks longer.

SAARI CHOSEN CAPTAIN.

Eveleth High School Students Elect Football Officials.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—At an enthusiastic meeting yesterday of thirty high school students interested in football, presided over by Prof. John S. Peoples, the regular coach, Jack Saari, was elected captain and Leslie J. Tobin manager of this year's eleven, which will open its season with a game with the high school alumni. The initial practice of the team will be held this evening. Following the election of officers, the students were given a talk on football by Coach Peoples. Among the teams which will be played this year, according to present plans, are the Hibbing, Virginia, Cloquet, Chisholm, Ely, Tower, Two Harbors, Gilbert and Biwabik elevens, which will be composed of strong players.

The census report submitted by Judge B. C. Prout of the Fayal township shows a total attendance in the local schools of about 1,400.

MANY EVELETH PEOPLE

Attend Dinner Near Forbes Given By Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sharpe.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A dinner given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sharpe, former Evelethians, near Forbes yesterday afternoon, was attended by the following Eveleth residents: Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Saari, Mr. and Mrs. R. Polkington, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sterns, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Baker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanford, Mr. and Mrs. W. Shappe, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McWhirter; Messrs. Thomas Chappele, Tom Sharpe, Hilmer Anderson, James O'Brien, William Richards, Matt Klemola, John Raski; Misses Ruby Sharpe, Lila Chappelle, Margaret Murray and Edith Newburg. Among the out-of-town guests present were: Miss Chase, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. H. Beaton, Butte, Mont.; Maybelle Brooks, Virginia.

The Lady Maccabees are making arrangements to celebrate the seventeenth anniversary of the founding of the national order by holding a dance at Vall hall next month. Music will be furnished by the La Brosse orchestra of Duluth.

BOND ISSUE OF $33,500 FOR LAURIUM PROPOSED.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Laurium council decided last night to bond the village for $33,500, $9,000 being water bonds and $24,500 to float indebtedness. A special election on Sept. 23 will carry the proposition to the people, and it is expected to pass.

Bridge Money Withheld.

Cohasset, Minn., Sept. 7.—At a meeting of the town board of Bass Brook township the supervisors decided to withhold the balance of the money due the Central States Bridge company, for erecting the bridge across the Mississippi at this place, until the abutments are put in condition.

The Charm of Youth To Any Complexion

(What to Wear.)

Many complexions are nearly ruined through the excessive use of powders and cosmetics, which clog pores and smother the skin. An excellent lotion to correct this condition and remove blackheads, wrinkles and "moth patches," and otherwise beautify the complexion, can be made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in eight ounces of witch-hazel.

This lotion applied to the face, neck and arms, then gently massaged in, gradually removes the outer layer of dead cuticle and brings to the surface the new skin—soft and velvety in texture, and of a delightful tint and youth-like glow. The continued use of the mayatone lotion does away with the use of powder or rouge as the skin is kept clear and beautiful.

IRWIN'S RECALL UPHELD BY COURT

Judge Denies Injunction to Defeated Two Harbors Alderman.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 7.—A decision has been received here from Judge Cant, denying the temporary injunction asked by H. J. Irwin restraining Alfred L. Johnson from taking his seat as alderman in the Two Harbors council or from in any way interfering with the plaintiff from exercising the duties as alderman-at-large.

This practically ends the contest of the Socialists, it is believed, waged to recall Irwin, who was elected to the council as a Socialist, but was claimed to have violated his party pledges. His recall was asked and a special election was called on the petition of a sufficient number of the voters. The election was also made the occasion for an attack on Alderman Esse, but the latter was returned to the council while Irwin was defeated by Johnson. He then sought to prevent Johnson taking the office.

In the memoranda attached to his decision, Judge Cant holds that two questions were predominant: Was the election duly called and held, and was the charter provision for the recall contrary to the provisions of the state constitution? While the election might have been irregular in some ways, no one was prevented from exercising his power to vote, and the will of the people was fairly expressed. When the term of office was not fixed by law, he held that the rule was, the power of removal was incident to the power of appointment.

Judge Cant held that the office of alderman is one that is held by the will of the people, and that the charter provision which states that an alderman is elected to serve for two years, while it limits the time which he may serve, does not alter the rule, and that the recall is a valid expression of the will of the people.

NEW STATION TO BE OPENED

Missabe's Passenger Station at Hibbing to Be Used Monday.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Monday next, the new passenger station of the Missabe road on Third avenue will be used for the first time, and thereafter all passenger trains will arrive at and depart from that station.

The new freight station will not be ready for occupancy for about two months, and in the meantime all freight trains will use the old station on Railroad street. The sidings there to warehouses will also be maintained until the new station is ready and new warehouses are erected.

HIBBING SALOON ROBBED OF $275

Bartender Asleep in Cot When Theft Was Perpetrated.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The saloon of Robert Maxwell, who lives at 414 Pine street, was robbed of $275 during the early hours of this morning, and there is no clew as yet as to the thief. James McDonald, the bartender, was asleep in a cot in the saloon at the time of the robbery but was not awakened when the cash drawer was tapped.

It is supposed that the thief was in the saloon at the closing hour and hid himself in the toilet, where he remained until the bartender became asleep. After taking the money, he let himself out by unlocking a side door. The saloon is opposite that of Mike O'Malley, which was entered and robbed about a month ago.

CEMENT SIDEWALKS

To Be Laid By Eastern Minnesota at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—General Supt. Philbin of the Eastern Minnesota railroad states that a contract will be let at once for the construction of full cement sidewalks across Railroad street on both sides of Third avenue. This is a greatly needed improvement, as the streets and crossings in the vicinity of the railroad are in an almost impassable condition.

TALK ON RECIPROCITY.

To Be Given at Coleraine By Congressman Miller.

Coleraine, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman C. B. Miller of Duluth will lecture at the village hall in Coleraine on Sept. 22. He has been engaged to speak on "Reciprocity," which is the livest current topic. Mr. Miller's familiarity with the subject as recently discussed in congress, and the newspaper discussion at this time owning to the political campaign now being waged in Canada will afford an evening's entertainment of unusual interest. The date of the lecture will come at the time of the Canadian election.

PUBLIC SCALES WANTED.

Commercial Club at Hibbing Asks For Protection of Consumers.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club last night appointed a committee consisting of S. F. Scott, P. J. Somers and G. C. Booth to wait on the village council at its next meeting and ask that a public weighing scale be established, and that all hay, coal and wood shall be weighed and measured by a village official before being delivered to consumers.

The question of asking the council to refuse transfers and removals of liquor licenses to brewing companies was briefly discussed, and it was decided to hold a special meeting of the club next Wednesday night to further consider the matter and take definite action.

Returns From Chicago.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Abe Feldman, a graduate of the local high school and the law department of the University of Michigan, has returned from Chicago, where he has been practicing law and is now assisting State Senator James P. Boyle in the latter's law office.

CHEAP POWER FOR RANGE TOWNS BEING PLANNED.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 7.—A. McMillan of Chicago, formerly president of the Range Power company, together with Henry Mahoney, an attorney of Milwaukee, Wis., and Leonard A. De Guere, consulting engineer of Grand Rapids, Wis., are in Chisholm this week in the interest of the new water power development on the Sturgeon river and that is expected to prove of great importance to the ranges.

A large electric plant will be installed on the Sturgeon river about twenty-five miles north of Chisholm and transmission lines run to the different towns to supply the electric power.

AWARDING OF CONTRACTS AT ELY IS POSTPONED.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 7.—At a meeting of the city council bids were opened for the construction of combined curbs, gutters and storms sewers, and the building of cement sidewalks in certain parts of the city. The two lowest bidders were the Eveleth Construction company of Eveleth and the H. L. Bartlett company, contractors, Virginia.

The contract was not awarded, however, as further investigations will be made by Saturday, when a special meeting of the city council will be convened.

Only Negro Resident Dead.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 7.—Dave Chambers, the only negro resident of Grand Rapids, died at the hospital here yesterday afternoon. He was 69 years old and has resided here for the past twenty years. Mr. Chambers was the owner of the Palace restaurant and of a valuable farm near this village.

Hardware Store Robbed.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 7.—The hardware store of McCurdy & Son was entered this morning and three guns and about ten pounds of cartridges taken. Entrance was gained by breaking a pane of glass in the rear window.

McNAMARA PROSECUTION EXPENSE KEPT SECRET.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 7.—Because it may make capital for the defense, County Auditor Walter Lewis said yesterday the expenditures of the prosecution in the preparing of the dynamiting and murder cases against the McNamara brothers would not be made public until after the trial.

When asked if his annual report would show the amount spent by the county in the case, Lewis said a secret fund had been set aside and the figures would not be made public for some months.

Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the McNamara brothers, said there would be no attempt on the part of the defense to defer the trial beyond the date already set, Oct. 11.

HEARING AT COLBYVILLE

Question of Reopening of Ungraded Schools to Be Settled.

Attendance at Schools of City Is increasing Daily.

The question of the re-opening of the Colbyville school will be settled Saturday. At 9 o'clock Saturday morning the members of the committee on schools and teachers of the board of education will hold a meeting at the Colbyville school building, and they are anxious that all residents of Colbyville, or Riverside Park, be on hand to give their views on the question.

The members of the school committee say that they have never been able to learn just what the people of Colbyville want. They say that residents of the suburb have expressed different opinions, some standing for the re-opening of the ungraded school, and others preferring to send their children to the Washburn school where they will have the advantages of graded instruction.

The school at Colbyville was closed all last year and the children were transported to the Washburn school. The same policy was decided upon this year, but the people of Colbyville rebelled and only a few children from the suburb have attended the Washburn school since the opening Tuesday. The members of the school committee say that as soon as they have heard what the residents of Colbyville want, they will make a decision, and it is very likely the course suggested by the majority of the residents at the hearing Saturday will be followed by the committee.

Some of the schools have not yet reported on their enrollment, so that the total enrollment cannot be ascertained. The enrollment is increasing daily, some notable increase in attendance being recorded at some of the schools. The unfavorable weather this week is undoubtedly having an effect on the attendance and a large increase is expected next week.

Lost His Toes.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a wreck on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, within the city limits, caused by spreading rails, Frank Gilbo received injuries which resulted in the amputation of his toes.

Danderine

Stops Falling Hair and Destroys Dandruff

Makes the Hair Grow Long, Heavy and Luxuriant and We Can Quickly Prove It

If You Wish to Double the Beauty of Your Hair at Once, Just Get a 25 Cent Bottle and Try This

Surely try a Danderine Hair Cleanse if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair with little trouble and at a cost not worth mentioning—just moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—In a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. It's exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

CYCLISTS TO RACE SUNDAY

Duluth and Superior Motor Cyclists Will Hold Big Meet.

Ten Events on Program Which Promises to Be Interesting.

The first exclusive motorcycle racing meet ever held at the Head of the Lakes will be held at the Superior driving park under the auspices of the Superior Motorcycle club Sunday afternoon. Up to date twelve riders from Duluth and Superior are entered and about ten more are expected before the list is closed Friday night.

The big event of the match is the one for the cup donated by the Henricksen Jewelry company, in three three-mile heats, the cup to go to the racer making the most points in the three heats. A five-mile free-for-all is on the bill, and a race against time, and a pursuit race are also features.

This meet will probably result in the formation of some organization among the motor cyclists of Duluth. Plans for such an organization have been brewing for some time.

The program of events which will be run off Sunday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock is:

1. Five-mile race, free-for-all, Head of the Lakes championship.
2. First heat, three-mile, Henricksen trophy cup.
3. Five-mile Duluth championship (open to Duluth riders only).
4. Second heat, Hendricksen trophy.
5. Two miles, for four-horse power machines or under.
6. Third heat, Henricksen trophy.
7. Two miles, machines over four-horse power.
8. Each winner rides one mile against time for track record.
9. Five-mile, machines over four-horse power.
10. Pursuit race. Riders to start from different parts of the track equidistant. Each rider passed by another to drop out. Uneliminated rider the winner.

The entries received up to this morning include:

Superior: H. Forsythe, Glenn Roberts, L. O. Hoffman, Robert Williams, Ben Lund, Ed C. Clapp.

Duluth: Walter Holmberg, H. Helmer, H. Close, D. Norman, G. Berg, W. Monahan.

PHILADELPHIA TAKES TWO GAMES FROM BOSTON.

Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—For the eighth time Philadelphia won both games of a double-header, Boston being defeated, 5 to 4, and 4 to 3. The first game was won in the ninth inning. With two men out and Oldring on second, Cicotte purposely walked Baker and Murphy, filling the bases. McInnis' grounder was fumbled by Gardner and Oldring scored the winning run.

The second game went ten innings. Philadelphia filled the bases on Oldring's single and safe hunts by Collins and Baker and Barry's single sent in the needed runs. Oldring made eight hits in ten times at bat during the afternoon. Scores:

First game— R. H. E.

TIGERS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL AT DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—St. Louis and Detroit split even in a double-header yesterday afternoon, St. Louis losing the first, 2 to 3, and winning the second, 2 to 0. Compton and Kuttina, recruits from the Southern Michigan league, reported to Manager Wallace and were included in the lineup. Compton's throwing featured the first game, which Detroit won by hitting Hamilton hard in the sixth and eighth innings. Taylor, a recruit from the Texas league, was used for the first time by Manager Jennings in the second game and engaged in a pitchers' duel with George. The two runs scored were both made on errors.
Scores:

First game— R. H. E.
St. Louis .....0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0 0—2 5 1
Detroit .....0 0 0 0 0 2 0 1 x—3 9 0

BLAINE OUTLOOK IS PROMISING

New Coach From Lawrence Has Good Bunch of Material.

Though the loss of Bengston, Branca and Clarke will be felt by the Blaine high school football men this fall, Prof. Schneider, the new coach from Lawrence university, will have a good bunch of fairly well seasoned material to start the construction of his machine.

The first meeting of the Blaine athletes was held yesterday and some twenty suits were given out. Principal Schofield will assist Schneider on the coaching line, and one or two other members of the Blaine faculty who have athletic records behind them will also help to whip the team into shape.

Among those who will try out for positions on this year's team are several new men and a few of last year's men. Those who are candidates for this year's team and who were members of last year's squad are: Capt. Holman, Ruddie Hanson, Art Aubin, Kriener, Rill, Rhenstrand, and Specht. Ted Sheehan, last's year star back on the Normal team, is also a candidate and will probably land a back position. Other men who are candidates for the team are: Will Stack, Hugh McRae, Burt Stansbury, Earl Cowie, Wehrle, Curley Johnson and Sam Lurye.

WANT NEW RULES TO BE ENFORCED

Inter-Collegiate Football Committee Publishes List of Approved Officials.

The members of the intercollegiate committee on football rules has determined to keep the brand of officialing at all games this season as high as possible. Walter Camp, in his review of last season, points to a regrettable tendency on the part of many of the officials to be lax in the enforcement of some of the new rules, especially that forbidding a flying tackle and that forbidding a lineman so placing himself as to more readily get into the interference. The committee is emphatic in its statement that these rules must be enforced, and to assist in this has published an unusually long list of approved officials.

The list includes college players from almost every town of importance in the country, and a reference to it should enable managers to secure competent officials for every game. C. C. Colton is the only Duluth man on the list.

FIRST CALL FOR CANDIDATES

Central Football Aspirants Will Don Moleskins Friday Afternoon.

Though no formal organization of the High School Athletic association has been perfected for this year, interest in the coming football season is growing rapidly at Central, and a call for the first practice has been issued by Faculty Manager T. F. Phillips. The candidates will don the moleskins the first time Friday afternoon on the campus at the school and will start with the usual program of running down punts.

No move has been made as yet to secure the services of a coach, but it is likely that an effort will be made to get C. C. Colton of Duluth for the position again this year. While Mr. Phillips has several games in view, no definite arrangements have been made in regard to the season's schedule.

Want Sunday Game.

The Twin Ports Clothing company ball team wants a game for Sunday with either the Kenney Anker or New Duluth teams. The managers of either of these teams are requested to call Ed Norsted, manager of the Twin Ports, Proctor 116, old 'phone.

ARMSTRONG IS SURPRISE

University of Minnesota Tennis Player Is Contender for Championship.

Defeats Princeton Man and Is Considered a Strong Runner-Up.

Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—A Western invader, in the person of Joseph J. Armstrong, a wiry youth from the University of Minnesota, played havoc yesterday among the Eastern racquet wielders in the thirtieth annual tournament of the inter-collegiate lawn tennis association, on the grounds of the Merion Cricket club. Armstrong, who recently won the Western Intercollegiate title, defeated in the first round Harold Page of Pennsylvania.

This was not unexpected, but when he trounced Deane Mathie of Princeton in his next match, the experts were surprised. Final honors are now thought to rest between Armstrong and E. H. Whitney of Harvard.

Two rounds in the singles were completed, leaving eight survivors. Of these Yale had 4; Harvard, 3; and Minnesota, 1.

LAST BALL GAME OF THE SEASON

Adams and Fitwells to Meet Sunday at Athletic Park.

In what will probably be the last ball game of the season, the Adams and Fitwell baseball teams will meet Sunday afternoon at the Minny league park.

Both teams have been playing high class ball since the opening of the season. The teams met once before, the Adams team winning.

As this will probably be the last chance to see the teams in action and as both have a large following, it is probable that a large crowd will turn out to witness the game.

The batteries will be: Alder, Graham and Kris for the Adams and Talbot, Johnson and Thompson for the Fitwells. The game will begin at 3 p. m.

POSTPONED EVENTS.

Tennis and Motor Boat Races Will Be Held Saturday.

Play in the Spirit Lake branch Labor day tennis tournament which was prevented by the weather on the holiday will be commenced Saturday at the branch, the same draw which was made for Monday's play being observed. Thirty-two players were entered in the draw made last week and the tournament promises to produce some good tennis.

Duluth tennis players are predicting great things for Joe Armstrong, who yesterday won his way into the eights of the intercollegiate association play defeating Paige of Pennsy and Mathi of Princeton. Experts watching the match have picked Armstrong and E. H. Whitney, Harvard, for the finals, and those who watched the Minnesota star work in the state tournament here expect to see him take first honors.

Saturday afternoon the motor boat races which were to have been held at Spirit Lake on Labor day will be held. The contests will be between the craft in the 20-foot class. La Belle, Julie and the Evelyn D being matched against W. B. Jones' Little Fritz, present holder of the cup.

Medals on Exhibition.

The Richard K. Fox bag punching medals held by Harry Seeback, who is at the Orpheum this week, are on exhibit in the window of the Northern Hardware company.

Catcher Payne Sold.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 7.—Manager Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Eastern league club last night announced that he had purchased Catcher Payne from the Chicago American league club.

Tournament at Seagirt.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 7.—Three important matches were completed in the twenty-first annual Seagirt shooting tournament, the Swiss trophy match, Spencer 200-yards, silhouette team match and the two-men team match. The winners respectively were Lieut. George C. Shaw, a team made up of Capt. Guy Emerson and Lieut. H. E. Simon of Ohio and the St. Louis Company A. infantry team.

POSTAL CLERKS ADJOURN.

Re-Elect Nelson President and Disapprove of Strikes.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 7.—Oscar F. Nelson of Chicago was re-elected president of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks by an unanimous yea vote at the sixth annual convention which closed last night. George F. Pfiffer of Milwaukee was re-elected secretary and treasurer, and Louis De Bow of San Francisco was returned to his old position as organizer. Salt Lake City was chosen as the meeting place for the 1912 convention.

The federation went on record as emphatically opposed to strikes by government employes, and unamiously indorsed Congressman Prouty's amendment to the La Follette bill which contains a provision for making strikes by government employes impossible. The action was taken in order to put to rout the theory of many opponents of the bill, who declare that the postal employes will resort to strikes if they are freed from the present restrictions imposed upon all federal employes.

GETS AWAY AFTER BEING STOPPED TWICE.

Martin Nelson managed to get a train to his home at Fort Frances last evening after two unsuccessful attempts. Monday night he tried to get past the gate keeper, but was turned back because he was too much under the influence of liquor. He then wanted to get through the baggage room, but the man in charge there was also on the job and denied him passage. Tuesday night he again tried to get through the gate, but he was still under the influence. Last evening he showed up perfectly sober and was allowed to board the train. Fewer men are being turned back at the gates of the depots each month with the spreading of the knowledge that intoxicated persons will not b allowed on trains.

NO LICENSE TO KILL SONG BIRDS

No Open Season for Small Boy With "Twenty-Two."

"The shooting season opens today, but that does not give every boy in the city owning a small rifle the right to go out into the parks and kill song birds," said Henry Cleveland, secretary of the park board, today.

Other residents of the city take the same position as Secretary Cleveland. They are even more emphatic in their declarations. They assert that no youth should be allowed to fire his .22-caliber rifle anywhere in the city limits, and that the rifle of any boy caught doing so, should be confiscated.

Several accidents and many near-accidents have resulted in and about the city from rifles in the hands of small boys. Many of them seem to lack the sense necessary to their proper handling, and shoot promiscuously in all directions. Not only do they kill harmless birds, but they are liable to send a bullet into any person who might happen to be in the line of their range. One man said today that the matter should get the attention of the police and the practice stopped altogether.

SOUTH DAKOTA "SURE FOR TAFT"

Senator Gamble Predicts Renomination of President.

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 7.—Robert J. Gamble, United States senator from South Dakota, in an interview here favors and predicts the renomination of President Taft. Senator Gamble said his state would support Taft for a renomination.

"Not in a generation," said Mr. Gamble, "have we had such able, constructive and progressive leadership as that given by President Taft. There is no doubt that my state will give the president hearty support. This estimate is based on evidence gathered in traveling over a portion of South Dakota since my return from Washington, and in the advices I have received.

"My own position is in accord with what I believe to be the sentiments of my constituency."

The statement follows closely the declaration of Senator Coe I. Crawford that he will support Senator La Follette.

"Taft Sure Winner."

Denver, Col., Sept. 7.—"There is no question about President Taft's renomination and re-election. It is as certain as any future event can be."

This was the declaration of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who arrived to attend the formal opening today of the Standley dam and irrigation project. The secretary declined to comment on the case of Dr. H. W. Wiley, with the statement that "it is now in the hands of the president, and I can say nothing at this time."

An automobile ride about the city and banquet last night were features of the entertainment of the secretary.

RAIN IS HARD ON HORSES

Animals Are Unable to Keep Footing on the Slippery Pavements.

"Slippery pavements should not be laid in Duluth, particularly in the hilly sections," said a citizen who is deeply interested in the work of the humane society today.

"The last few days I have seen several horses have bad falls. They were unable to maintain their footing. The rains have soaked the pavements and their slippery condition seems to have been greatly aggravated. All of the horses I saw fall were not hauling heavy loads, and in fact one of them was hitched to a light buggy.

"The remedy is not to keep the horses sharply shod. That is almost impossible during the summer months, although it is necesary and effective when the ice and snow come in the winter. The pavements should be rough, so that they could keep their feet. No smooth, hard pavements of any kind should be put down on the hills, at least. They look fine, and may be serviceable, but they are not the right thing. They are altogether too hard on the horses."

Antiquity of Tobacco.

The idea that tobacco was known in Europe since the discovery of America is not correct. The Medes and Persians smoked narghiles as scripture proves, and Greeks and Romans smoked in their colonies. Malays smoked also, and the very word "cigar" comes from the word "sakara," the Arab word meaning smoke, and the Arabs smoked before the days of Columbus. A good cigar, or a fragrant pipe is best enjoyed with a good book, and a bottle of golden grain belt beers at the elbow. Greatest of all home tonics. Buy of your dealer or duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

HARVEST HAND RUN OVER BY TRAIN AND KILLED.

Conway, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eric Larson, a transient giving Minneapolis as his home, had both legs cut off when a Great Northern freight train ran over him yesterday, and he died an hour later. He was able to speak when found and said relatives resided in Minneapolis. Larson had been a harvest hand, and it is believed that he was beating his way back to the Twin Cities.

Victory for "Squatters."

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A decision has been handed down by Judge Hastings in the ejectment suit of the Menominee River Lumber company against the so-called "Squattertown" residents. The judge's finding is against the lumber company and the suit is dismissed. The claim that the people have the right of the use of the property because of unopposed possession for twenty years appears to be sustained.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

EXHIBIT BY THE COUNTY

Grand Forks Will Show Products at Bismarck and St. Paul.

Other Red River Valley Counties to Follow Its Example.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Forks county commissioners appropriated $500 at a special meeting for the purpose of getting together an exhibit of the products of the county for the North Dakota Industrial exposition at Bismarck and the land show of the Northwestern Development league in St. Paul. This is the first county to make such an appropriation and word of it has been sent to all other counties of the state in the hope that they will follow its example, especially those in the Red River valley.

The appropriation is largely the outgrowth of the agitation of the Red River Valley Boosters, organized a few days ago at Hillsboro, and the exhibit will be made permanent.

The boosters at Grafton, Walsh county, are making a similar effort for their county and have called a meeting of the farmers and business men for Friday evening at which time the matter will be presented to the commissioners.

LOWER POTATO RATES SECURED

Northern Minnesota Producers' Association Is Getting Results.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the purpose of securing a cash market for the producers of the entire country adjacent to Bemidji, the new Northern Minnesota Producers' association is conferring with potato growers and business men in other towns as well as Bemidji; and at a meeting of the Blackduck Commercial club F. M. Pendergast, president of the association, and Otto Bergh, secretary both of Bemidji, explained the workings of the association and invited the co-operation of the Blackduck farmers and business men in getting more cash for the producers.

Mr. Pendergast told of a successful move that had been made, backed by the association, to secure a joint freight rate from all shipping points in this section to terminal points. According to Mr. Pendergast, there has been secured a rate of 14 cents per hundred from all stations to Duluth and the Twin Cities, on the Minnesota & International as far north as Northome, on the Great Northern east to Farris and west to Shevlin, and on the Soo, northwest to Leonard and southwest to Federal Dam.

SOUTH DAKOTA IS ENJOINED

From Enforcing Lower Railroad Rates Approved By Legislature.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 7.—Judge C. A. Willard, federal district court, yesterday temporarily enjoined the railroad commission of South Dakota from enforcing lower rates that the legislature of South Dakota approved at the last session.

The power of the legislature within its own state and of the state railroad commission is blocked by federal authority pending a hearing. The case is in some degree analogous to the famous Minnesota rate cases. W. D. Cantillon, general manager of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, and C. F. Balch of Chicago presented figures to show that the lower rates would so seriously affect the earnings of the roads as to create net losses in operation.

R. C. Johnson, attorney general of South Dakota, and T. E. Cassidy, chairman of the railroad commission, are included in the injunction that was granted. The state of South Dakota at some later date will be heard on the argument against making the injunction permanent.

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

HORSE THIEF RUN DOWN WITH AUTO

Given Ride to Langdon and Placed Behind the Bars.

Edmore, N. D., Sept. 7.—Norman Mikkelson and Harry Strand had a chance to play principal parts in a thief nabbing game near Easby Saturday evening. Norman had his horse tied to one of the tie posts in front of the hardware store while he was doing his shopping and when he was ready to go home found his horse gone. On inquiry he found that a member of a pot going, camping near that place, had untied the horse and started for a joy ride, going south from town and had been gone about five minutes. Norman hustled around for the next couple of minutes and finally located Chauffeur Strand, setting him to crank up his auto and help overtake the thief. They followed the track about a mile and a half but lost it near the Peter Plain home. After telephoning to the people on the rural lines they started after him again, catching up to him about a mile east of C. P. Nelson's. The horse thief was persuaded to take a ride in the auto back to Easby while Norman followed with his driver, hanging onto the lines with one hand and trying to keep the prisoner scared by holding a pistol in the other hand. The horse thief sport was taken to Langdon in the evening and is now behind the bars waiting for sentence and is no doubt hoping it will be a short one.

LIGHTNING SETS FIRE TO BARN

Sharlow, N. D. Farmer Suffers Loss of $3,000 Through Storm.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 7.—The big basement barn of Ed Brown of Sharlow, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Some seventy-five tons of hay also burned. The loss is estimated at $3,000, with no insurance, it is said.

Elmer Finney was working in the doorway of the big barn, grinding a sickle, when lightning struck and lumber began to fly. He did not pay much attention to the storm until he began to see pieces of boards falling from the barn, when he went out to investigate and found the entire upper part of the barn, on all sides, afire. The lightning seemed to set fire to the entire upper story and nothing could be done to stop it. The automobile was run out of the barn and the flames followed it, so rapidly did the fire spread. It took but a few minutes for the big structure to burn to the ground. Fortunately the other barn and the house were saved.

The barn was one of the best in the county, had a large stone basement and was used as a cattle barn. Fortunately it was not then in use and contained only the hay and the automobile, the latter being saved just in time.

MAY LOCATE IN BIGFORK.

Fargo Man Pleased With Conditions in Northern Minnesota.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 7.—Reuben Grimolby, who for some time has been located in this city in business, returned a few days ago from the Bigfork country in Northern Minnesota, where he has been spending the past week. Mr. Grimolby is contemplating locating permanently in the town of Bigfork.

He states that there is no danger in the least in the timber region in that vicinity of a forest fire from the fact that the woods are very damp. On Friday morning, says Mr. Grimolby, a heavy rain fell over that section, drenching everything.

There are quite a number of Moorhead people who hold timber property in the vicinity north of Bemidji and they are consequently very much interested in this phase of the situation in the north woods, which always holds more or less danger to their holdings.

Mr. Grimolby has gone to Duluth, where he will spend a week looking over business property and locations.

TO TRY THIRD TIME.

Youthful Couple Twice Wedded Before and Divorced.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 7.—Edward Foster Oatman of Dunbar, Wis., stenographer and bookkeeper for a lumber company, made application yesterday for a license to wed Hazel Brasee of Omro, Wis.

Although the groom is only 25 and the bride 22, their marriage this week at Dunbar will be their third matrimonial venture. Both have been twice wedded before and divorced, according to the application for the license.

FAIR TO CLOSE SATURDAY.

Final Decision Reached By the Board of Directors.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—The state fair will not be continued into next week. This was definitely decided at a meeting of the board of directors last night. There is a chance—just a bare chance—that there may be one day of motor racing Monday, but the fair in general will close Saturday night, the booths be dismantled, the stock taken away and exhibits removed.

GOOD RESULTS SECURED ON BURNED OVER GROUND.

Karlstad, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A farmer near Middle River had the following experiment with burned over land sowed to timothy, red top and alsyke clover: A part of it was sowed to timothy and the rest to a mixture of timothy and red top. The former was sown on the 9th of June and the latter the last day of May. The land on which the sod had been burned off to a depth of two to six inches was harrowed over twice with a spring tooth harrow. The part sown to red top and clover was lightly harrowed after being sown, while the timothy was sown just after a rain and was not touched since. The timothy has made a growth of from two to two and a half feet and will go about two tons to the acre, while the red top and clover is so thick that it has lodged. This shows what can be done on burned ground.

ONCE LIVED IN DULUTH.

Felix Verville Dies at Hancock From Paralytic Stroke.

Hancock, Mich., Sept. 7.—Felix Verville, one of the pioneer residents of the Copper country and one of the best known and most highly esteemed of the French Canadian residents of Hancock, passed away on Sunday afternoon at his home, 726 Elm street, surrounded by his wife and other members of his family.

Death was due to paralysis, Mr. Verville having sustained a stroke about a year ago, from the effects of which he never had fully recovered. He had been confined to his bed for about a month previous to his death.

Mr. Verville was 77 years of age. He was born in Canada in 1834 and came to Houghton county in 1853, but did not remain here continuously, spending some years in Duluth, in Canada and in Kansas. He is survived by his wife, and by four sons, Philias J., of the Hancock postoffice letter-carrier force, Archie J., the Hancock contractor and builder, Ludger and Fred, also of Hancock.

The funeral took place this morning from St. Joseph's church and interment was at the old Catholic cemetery in West Hancock.

ASHLAND WANTS PARK.

Trying to Buy Chequamegon Park From Soo Railroad.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 7.—Mayor Dodd, accompanied by a number of Ashland men, left yesterday afternoon for St. Paul to meet General Manager Pennington of the Soo railroad, in order to negotiate for the purchase of Chequamegon park on behalf of the city of Ashland. Accompanying Mayor Dodd on this trip were Senator A. W. Sanborn, J. E. Johnson, superintendent of the blast furnace, and Allan Pray, president of the park commission.

Mayor Dodd stated that arrangements had been made by telegraph with Mr. Pennington to meet him and secure from him the most favorable proposition possible for the Chequamegon park block. Several years ago the old Central railroad offered the block to the city for $75,000. It has been used for park purposes for several years.

MURDER AT NEGAUNEE.

Accused Taken to Marquette for Fear of Mob Violence.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 7.—Charged with the murder of Matt Saarikoski, William Nadeau, a policeman at Negaunee, was brought to the county jail here last evening as a precaution against possible mob violence.

Saarikosko was shot to death. He had been drinking with a number of companions and had been ordered home by the officer previous to the shooting.

There is considerable mystery about the tragedy, and Nadeau's arrest took place only when the fatal bullet was found to fit his revolver.

The fellow-countrymen of Saarikoski were greatly excited all day, and it was deemed best to bring Nadeau here.

MAY RESIDE IN DULUTH.

Frederick Bogen and Ruth Collins Now on Wedding Trip.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — Miss Ruth Pauline Collins and S. Frederick Bogen, both highly esteemed young people of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. S. L. Parish Monday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Collins, 328 Alcott avenue west. Only immediate friends were present. After the ceremony all sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner. The young couple left for the Twin Cities, where they will spend a few days and thence to Duluth, where they may make their permanent home.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL.

C. L. Palmer of Chatfield Dies in Terrible Agony.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 7.—As a result of his injuries received while working about a thrashing machine, C. L. Palmer, a farmer residing near Chatfield, died after suffering from terrible incisions which the teeth of the cylinder of the machine inflicted in many parts of his body. He fell through the top of the thrasher, striking on the rapidly revolving cylinder. The power which runs the machine was closed off as soon as was possible, but too late to keep the man from receiving severe injuries. He remained conscious until death came.

The deceased is survived by a wife and five children, a mother, three brothers and three sisters. The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the church at Cunningsville, Rev. W. R. Reynolds officiating. The remains were laid to final repose at Orion Center cemetery. The deceased was 42 years old.

MAN STABBED BY INDIAN EXPECTED TO RECOVER.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 7.—Joseph Cloud, the Marengo Indian who stabbed Sam Naleray Saturday night in an attempt to murder him, was brought into court yesterday charged with assault with intent to kill. On account of Naleray's condition, the examination was postponed for a week to await the result of his wounds, and Cloud was taken back to jail. The doctors at the hospital now think that Naleray will survive.

Moves to Michigan.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 7.—John Corse, one of the best known citizens of Fargo and the original and only "Dad" Corse of the boys who make their home at the Y. M. C. A. building, left Monday afternoon to make his home at Ypsilanti, Mich., where he will become an employe of Uncle Sam.

INSANE MAN ESCAPES BUT IS RECAPTURED.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 7.—Under Sheriff Sam Nelson of Chippewa county left here Tuesday night with John Swartz, Jr., 27 years old, an insane criminal sentenced to Mendota asylum, near Madison. When within two blocks of the asylum Swartz broke away from the officers and escaped. He was recaptured thirty-five miles away lato last night.

DAMAGE TO GRAIN BY THE RAINS IS FEARED.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A soaking rain all day yesterday has delayed thrashing operations in the valley for another few days, and damage to the quality of grain is now feared. There has been little drying weather since Monday's rain, and shocks are pretty well soaked.

Watertown At State Fair.

Watertown, S. D., Sept. 7.—A procession of automobiles ten miles long, honking into the state fair at Huron, next Thursday, will apprise the visitors to the big exposition that Watertown has arrived in force to celebrate "Watertown day."

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Warwick—Mrs. O. Olson, a farmer's wife, residing about ten miles from Warwick, had the misfortune to run a large needle through her foot, which was protruding in the carpet. The woman suffered intense pain from the injury received, and was obliged to submit to a painful operation. The needle was located and extracted from her foot.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—One of the youngest prisoners ever lodged in the Sioux Falls penitentiary is Ollie Worrell, aged 18, of Tripp county, who has been placed behind the walls of the prison to serve a term of six months for grand larceny committed in the new county of Tripp.

Hot Springs, S. D.—Company H, Third regiment of the South Dakota National Guard, is being mustered out. Though Company H has always made an excellent showing at the annual encampment in comparison with the other units of the regiment, local conditions are unfavorable for maintaining the organization.

Mitchell, S. D.—Driven to desperation by the actions and neglect of her husband, Mrs. Luther Plotner committed suicide Saturday afternoon. She drank the contents of a three-ounce bottle of carbolic acid and lived perhaps fifteen or twenty minutes.

Bismarck, N. D.—Miss Minnie Hanson of Duluth, Minn., and Miss Ada Still of Moorhead, Minn., arrived Friday night and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zuger. Miss Hanson is a niece of Mr. Zuger, and the two young ladies will teach in the schools here during the coming term.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Judge John E. Carland, who some months ago was promoted to the new commerce court, together with his family, has departed for Washington, and in the future will make the national capital his permanent home. The family had resided in Sioux Falls for twenty years, and their departure is keenly regretted.

Warwick, N. D.—The new Farmers' & Merchants' bank of Warwick has begun business. The stockholders consist of some of the most prominent farmers in this part of the state. The managers of the new bank are: Morton Anderson, president; C. E. Granner, cashier.

Bismarck, N. D.—A telegram was received Monday by Dr. A. Lincoln Shute, bearing the sad tidings that Roland Davis, son of Supt. and Mrs. W. R. Davis of the Bismarck Indian school, had passed away very suddenly at Seattle. The news was broken to the family, and Mr. Davis, accompanied by his daughter Mae, left Monday evening for Seattle, where the funeral will be held.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Robert Collette, aged 27, who was serving a term of ten days in the county jail in this city, dropped dead while entertaining other inmates of the jail by singing, dancing and joking. He was standing in the corner of his cell, when suddenly he fell backward against the wall, dying a few minutes later.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Rochester—Dwight Howard, a well known resident of this city and for a number of years a faithful employe of the Laird-Norton Lumber company, passed away very suddenly Monday night, the exact time of death being unknown. Mr. Howard, about 5 o'clock, had gone to the Laird-Norton barns to care for the horses, and a little later his lifeless body was found by Reuben Palmer in the second story of the barn. He was 66 years of age.

Altkin—A movement is on foot to reorganize the Choral union, which flourished here for two years, some time ago, under the directorship of Prof. Rollison, and which was a source of the greatest pleasure to local music lovers. Mrs. Gough of Deerwood, an accomplished musician and teacher, will probably be invited to conduct the chorus.

Fergus Falls—H. C. Secoy of Underwood, and Ray Secoy of the town of Maine, were in the city Tuesday on their way home from Sheldon, N. D., in response to a message to the effect that their wives had been injured in a runaway.

Winona—A spark from a thrashing machine engine caused a fire which made a clean sweep of the barn yard of Peter Mohlenbauer, a farmer residing in Rose Valley, a few miles west of La Crescent.

Montgomery—One of the hardest storms in many years passed through this section Monday. There was rain, thunder and lightning, hail and wind. The streets were flooded and hail as large as hen's eggs were seen in large numbers, crashing through many windows. Awnings, signs and trees were broken down. The storm was of short duration, but played havoc while it lasted.

Stillwater—Martin A. Torinus, L. E. Torinus and Burdett E. Torinus, the brothers who have long been doing business under the name of the St. Croix Lumber company, together with C. L. Covell, all of this city, have incorporated the American Loan & Investment, with headquarters at Lewiston, Mont. The capital stock is $100,000 and they will do a general land business. They have about 100,000 acres of land in the Judith basin of Montana and the two Dakotas.

Winona—Trailed by a detective, employed by her husband, since leaving her home under suspicious circumstances, Mrs. B. Wells, in company with D. M. Thompson, formerly a farm-employe employed by Mr. Wells at Baraboo, Wis., was arrested by Detective Alfred A. Kelley at a local hotel on Monday.

Cannon Falls—Rev. P. A. Mattson, D. D., Ph. D., late president of Gustavus Adolphus Swedish college, St. Peter, Minn., has accepted a call from the First Swedish Lutheran church of Cannon Falls. He will preach his first sermon as pastor on Sunday, Sept. 10.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—Governor McGovern has appointed Senator S. W. Randolph of Manitowoc a member of the Wisconsin Perry's victory centennial commission. The other members of the commission were appointed some days ago.

Chippewa Falls—News has been received of the death of Miss Ruth M. Sturtevant at Oakland, Cal. Miss Sturtevant was run down by an automobile. The injury resulting in her death soon afterwards. The deceased was the daughter of Mrs. Emily Sturtevant with whom she riesided at Portland, and a grand niece of Mrs L. Dussault of this city.

Marinette——Hjalmar Roseman, aged 18, while practicing lassooing with a companion near Crystal lake, was blown to pieces when in attempting to dodge the rope a knife in his pocket rubbed against and ignited some dynamite caps.

La Crosse—John Sommers, minus his nose, was arraigned in police court on Tuesday for fighting during the Labor day celebration. His opponent, who was getting the worst of it, bit off the member.

Appleton—William Smolk, aged 50 years, a bachelor, purchased a revolver here and walked to Shiocton. An hour after his arrival his lifeless body was found in the cemetery. The man had shot himself through the heart and had fallen on his father's grave.

Manitowoc—Frank J. Rooney of Appleton was re-elected president of the State Federation of Catholic Societies at the annual meeting held at Two Rivers. All other officers with the exception of L. E. Kennedy of Burlington, secretary, who resigned, were re-elected. Leo Pangborn of Racine was named as secretary.

Kewaskum—Fire, which because of lack of water threatened the entire town, broke out Tuesday morning in the elevator of the L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain company here and caused a loss estimated at $350,000.

Black River Falls—During a heavy electric storm Tuesday George Plummer's barn was struck and burned with hay, tools and grain; loss, $2,000. In the barn was a load of merchandise.

Black River Falls—Who will be next postmaster here is a question which is creating much agitation. There is no lack of timber for there are at least a dozen candidates for the job, but the real contest seems to have narrowed down to two men, Carl Monsos and Samuel Lund, cashier of the Jackson County bank.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—Entries for the Marquette county fair continue to come in at a gratifying rate and the management expects a banner week in all departments. To stimulate interest in agricultural products, the management has offered special prizes for the best exhibit of field corn grown in this region, both of the Dent and Flint varieties. They have also offered special prizes for exhibits of peaches, pears and all fruits rare to this climate.

Calumet—As a result of an alleged disturbance on Seventh street Sunday morning, John Kichinich is charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm, less than the crime of murder. Complaint was made by Nick Sechen, who stated in court that the defendant cut him about the face, head and thigh.

Houghton—Daniel Sullivan, aged 60 years, died Tuesday morning at the home of his brother, M. J. Sullivan of Hurontown, after an illness of over a year. The deceased had lived in Montana for the past twenty-six years, and was taken ill there, being brought home to Hurontown by his brother last March. Mr. Sullivan came to America with his mother and brothers forty-four years ago, locating at Houghton and being employed for a number of years at the Isle Royale before leaving for the West.

Hancock—Rev. Mandus Barrett, pastor of the Hancock Congregational church, has announced the personnel of the general committee of arrangements for the semi-centennial observance to be held in June, 1912, in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the building of the church. Laurium—J. H. Maynard of Bollman's addition has received word of the death of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Maynard, at Butte City, Mont. The remains were shipped to Calumet Thursday for interment in Lake View, where the decedent's late husband was buried.

GIVING OUT

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Duluth.

Around all day with an aching back;
Can't rest at night;
Enough to make any one "give out."

Doan's Kidney Pills are helping thousands.

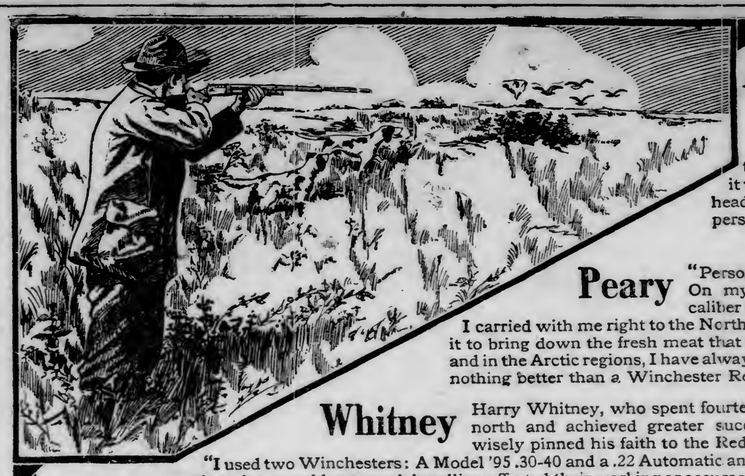

They are for kidney backache:
They relieve kidney ills.

Here is Duluth proof that this is so:

J. H. Tomlin, 112 W. Palmetto St., Duluth Heights, Duluth, Minn., says: "When I worked on the steel railway in 1908, I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. At that time I said that I had suffered for two years from kidney complaint. I finally became so bad that I had to quit work for days. My back was painful and at night I was nervous. When I got up in the morning, I felt tired and worn out and I was made miserable by a kidney weakness. I have no doubt that the constant jar received while riding caused my trouble. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me and I have not had much trouble from my back or kidneys since. I always have a box of Doan's Kidney Pills in the house."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

DO AS THEY DO

Roosevelt "Tarlton took his big double-barrel and advised me to take mine, as the sun had just set and it was likely to be close work; but I shook my head, for the Winchester .405 is, at least for me personally, the 'medicine gun' for lions."
Ex-President Roosevelt in Scribner's Magazine.

Peary "Personally I always carry a Winchester rifle. On my last expedition I had a Model 1892 .44 caliber Carbine and Winchester cartridges, which I carried with me right to the North Pole. After I left the ship I depended upon it to bring down the fresh meat that we needed. Since 1888, both in Nicaragua and in the Arctic regions, I have always used the Winchester Repeaters. I desire nothing better than a Winchester Repeater." —Commander Robert E. Peary.

Whitney Harry Whitney, who spent fourteen months in the Arctic and hunted farther north and achieved greater success than any sportsman ever did before, wisely pinned his faith to the Red W combination. He says of it:
"I used two Winchesters: A Model '95 .30-40 and a .22 Automatic and Winchester cartridges with both. Neither the extreme cold nor rough handling affected their working or accuracy. They never failed me." —Harry Whitney.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTERS THE WORLD OVER SHOOT

WINCHESTER

GUNS AND AMMUNITION, THE RED W BRAND.

It's time to think about your hunting equipment. If you don't own a Winchester and haven't been using Winchester ammunition, it's time that you should. The superiority of this combination is well established. Winchester guns are made for all kinds of shooting and Winchester ammunition for all kinds of guns. No matter what you hunt there is a Winchester gun and cartridge suitable for your purpose. The example of such men of achievement as Roosevelt, Peary and Whitney, and thousands of others, is a good one to follow. They use Winchester guns and Winchester ammunition with satisfaction and success. So can you.

Drop into your dealer's before the season opens and renew your acquaintance with the old Winchester models and make friends with the new. When you go to your dealer don't say you want "a gun" or "some cartridges." Ask for a Winchester and Winchester make of ammunition.

Winchester Rifles, Shotguns and Ammunition are made in the same plant for each other and sold everywhere.

"THE WOLF" AS FAREWELL BILL

Gus A. Forbes Company Gives Strong Production of Walters Play.

Gus A. Forbes chose to present "The Wolf" for the farewell bill of his summer engagement at the Lyceum yesterday afternoon the first performance of this intensely interesting play of the Canadian woods was presented before a large and enthusiastic audience. Duluth has become fond and appreciative of the stock company which Mr. Forbes assembled for the summer season, and during the eleven weeks of the engagement productions have been given that would reflect credit on road companies playing the same play for the entire season. Of the season's efforts "The Wolf" stands at the head.

When this play was first produced in New York it caused widespread comment and interest. The author presented his play with only six characters and the time was but a single day in the life of this group of people. The story moves with compelling power and interest, is cleverly sustained until the last curtain. The characterization in "The Wolf" surpasses perhaps anything that Eugene Walters has yet accomplished and all in all the play is a most interesting one.

The play tells the story of the efforts of a New York engineer, William Macdonald, to seduce Hilda McTavish, a young girl, all of whose life has been spent in the Canadian woods. Her father is harsh and cruel and thinks that men should be protected from the wanton streak he is sure that Hilda has inherited from her mother. To her rescue comes Jules, a young French Canadian, friend of her father and herself. Baptiste, an old French guide; and George Huntley, a young assistant of Macdonald's. Jules discovers that it was this same Macdonald who lured his sister from her home and friends only to desert her when he found her great need of him. Jules has determined to kill the man who wronged his sister if ever the opportunity came. He takes Hilda away. Macdonald follows and in the fight that follows he is killed. Jules and Hilda are enable to go off for their life together.

The skill of the dramatist has woven this tale into one of the most thrilling and interesting plays presented for many years. Although there are only six characters in the play, the six stand out with unusual clearness and they have been drawn with a master's skill. From the harsh, unrelenting old Scotchman, half mad in his fanatical devotion to his ideas of duty to God and the Presbyterian kirk to Baptiste, old French guide, each character is made a vivid and real personality. The Forbes players are giving a splendid account of themselves in this play. Mr. Forbes appears as Jules Beaubien, gay-hearted child of nature, true in instinct and act, and he plays the part with convincing sincerity. Edwin Brandt appears as the black-hearted villain, to whom retribution comes swift and certain. Fred Van Renselear plays the role of the old Scotchman, McTavish, and Miss Jane Stuart is an appealing young heroine, Hilda. Ray Phillips has a congenial role as the gay young surveyor assistant, and Perry Golden plays the part of Baptiste in an effective manner.

"The Wolf" is one of the best if not the best production that the Forbes players have given during the summer and the farewell bill is one that should prove as popular with the audiences for the remainder of the week as it was with those who saw it yesterday. "The Wolf" will be repeated every evening this week with the farewell matinee Saturday afternoon.

Amusement Notes.

Nat M. Wills, who is at the Orpheum this week, has but recently returned from a long tour of Europe, and he has some amusing comparisons between methods in London and New York. Down at the Orpheum green room last evening, he was discussing the difference between the law enforcement in these two cities.

"In London," he said, "you can say anything you like to a policeman. You can 'kid' him for an hour, and he will take it good naturedly, but if you break a law, you are jugged in a minute, and there is no 'monkey work' or 'fixing it' then.

"But in New York it is a greater crime to kid a policeman than to stick up a pedestrian. If you talk too much to a policeman there, you are likely to get your head clubbed off, but you can break almost any law you like, and then 'fix it' later if you have the money. The law is a solemn thing to the English, and believe me, they enforce it.

Palmer Moore, who with Ethlwyn Palmer, is presenting the dainty little playlet, "Ambition" at the Empress this week, tells of many humorous experiences during his stage career and among them is the following:

"You all remember Blanche Bates in 'Under Two Flags.' It was during the course of this play that one of the funniest things of my experience occurred and as is generally the case, the gallerly, brought the laugh.

"The hero of the play, with his trusty servant, is lost in the desert. He is wounded, without water, parched and dying and to further add to the general discomfort the property wind is driving the property sand in choking gusts across the stage. On this night some one had left the skylight in the roof above the stage open and a local thunder storm in which the property-man played no part, blew up. The hero was exhausted, insensible; the trusty servant, loyal to the last, had given up and was on his knees pleading to Providence for water; a clap of thunder shook the building—the loyal servant in an agony, prayed for water and it spattered down in great drops through the skylight. In a burst of hysterical frenzy the actor prayed for water and it was falling about him in buckets fulls. "Oh Lord," the actor shrieked; "I die for water." Then came the voice from the gallery: "Well, lap it up, can't you? Lap it up!"

On Sunday night, Sept. 10, local playgoers will have another opportunity to enjoy the many attractive features of that sterling drama, "In Old Kentucky." This vigorous, picturesque and thrilling drama has never worn out its welcome with the public, despite the fact that it has been playing for so many years. Whenever the bills go up for "In Old Kentucky," visions of the pickaninny band, "Queen Bess" (the fastest mare in old Kentucky), the colonel, Uncle Neb and brave little Madge, instantly arise in the mind. The exciting race scene, the dynamite explosion, the swing across the chasm, the colonel witnessing the race up a tree outside the track, the dancing pickaninnies and their band music—there's plenty of interesting and exciting episodes in this stirring romance of the blue grass state. Plays that secure a vogue like "In Old Kentucky," has enjoyed for many years are rare indeed, and lucky is the theatrical manager that can find one.

The attraction following "In Old Kentucky," at the Lyceum theater Sunday night will be Chauncey Olcott, in his newest play, "Macushla." A story of sporting life in Ireland and nearly a century ago forms the main theme of the drama, in which a steeple-chase, parts of treachery and revenge, are the principal incidents. Mr. Olcott plays the part of a young Irish baronet who returns to his native County Kildare to take possession of an ancestral estate he has just inherited. There is a superb racing mare, Macushla, the last of a famous string of horses, and the young baronet determines to try his luck with the animal in the great race on The Curragh, in the hopes that his winnings will clear the estate of debt. Macushla wins and the estates are saved. Like a true Irishman, Sir Brian falls in love with a dainty colleen and then sings his way into her heart, winning a prize there, as well as in the field. "Macushla" is a most interesting play, beautifully staged and full of charming songs and incidental music. It will be at the Lyceum for one week, commencing Monday, Sept. 11.

POLITICIANS SHY AT STATE FAIR

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the weather gets so bad that politicians will not sit down, get out their jack-knives, whittle, chew tobacco and talk of "the candidates," it may usually be set down that some storm is around or about. Therefore one might think that a cyclone or typhoon or cloudburst has been hovering near the state fair this week.

Senator Carpenter came in from Buffalo; Senator Stebbins from Rochester; Senator Duea from Rushton; Victor Johnson from Center City; C. A. Lende from Canby, while Representative Moyle Edwards arrived from Breckenridge; Ole Peterson came from New Ulm; C. T. Knapp from Chisholm, as well as a dozen others from other parts of the state.

A special room and a special register had been provided them, but at no time this week have there been more than three or four of the lawmakers there together. When they did get together, the gubernatorial situation barely was mentioned. More attention was paid to the congressional situation, especially in the Eighth district, and to the question of congressman-at-large, than to any other.

Discuss Eighth District.

It has been generally reported that Congressman Miller will not seek reelection. State Senator James Boyle has often been spoken of as a prospective candidate, and friends close to him say that he will run. Senator Boyle is the young, sandy-topped Irishman who startled the legislature last winter with his oratorical appeals. The old political machine in Duluth is said to be against him because of his vote on the Keefe bill providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote, but his friends in the political arena claim Boyle is strong enough in his district to go in and beat the machine, hands down.

For congressman-at-large, the politicians apparently are making a quiet but decided effort to bring "Jim" Tawney back for election or slaughter. His optimistic friends claim he can win with ease, while the less optimistic merely say he "has a chance." Mr. Tawney has said he "is not a candidate" but his attitude is one which leaves the impression he would submit to the office being forced upon him. Of course, because of his old alignments with "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and his relations with President Taft, the progressives of the state may be expected to exert all their influence to keep him away from the national house of representatives. It is barely possible that at the progressive banquet to be given in Minneapolis tonight, the question will arise.

This banquet is looked upon by the Twin City progressives as of some moment, and a large gathering is expected. The banquet will be held at the West hotel.

SAY RECIPROCITY IS SURE TO WIN

Laurier and His Supporters Are Confident of Victory.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 7.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier again is having his inning in Ontario. "Unless all signs fail," he declared, "the indorsement of reciprocity by the Canadian people is sure."

Sir Richard Cartwright, the veteran minister of trade and commerce, also has spoken in favor of reciprocity.

A leading book-maker said he was laying these odds, with few taking the short end: 8 to 5 that Conservatives do not win; 2 to 5 that reciprocity is defeated.

A local paper has published the names of 264 Conservative farmers, all prominent in their favorite localities, each of whom has expressed his intention of forsaking party allegience and voting for reciprocity.

There are many Liberal opponents of the pact, mainly manufacturers and middlemen resident in the cities, but their forsaking of the party will not have the same weight as the farmers' movement, it is said.

STARVING MAN CRAZED BY SIGHT OF GAY THRONG.

New York, Sept. 7.—Standing in the midst of the after-theater crowd at Broadway and Forty-sixth street, in front of a fashionable restaurant last night, Ernest Winsor repeatedly drew a razor across his throat. Women screamed and fainted as the man dropped to the sidewalk.

Winsor was conscious when the ambulance physicians arrived. He said the sight of the many theater crowds made him wish to die, as he was starving.

MOSS CLOGS GILLS OF FISH AND THOUSANDS DIE.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 7.—Recently thousands of fish in Lake Andes, a fine body of water in Charles Mix county, have died under mysterious circumstances, the cause of their death being a profound mystery. Maj. Harding, a resident of the vicinity of the lake, after a careful investigation, declares he has solved the mystery, maintaining that owing to heavy winds of late the moss in the lake has been torn to shreds by the waves, and that particles of the moss wedged open the gills of the fish, preventing them breathing and causing them to die in alarming numbers.

NORTH DAKOTA PACKERS VIOLATE LABELING LAW.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 7.—Acting as state food inspector of North Dakota Prof. E. F. Ladd, expert chemist and food expert of the North Dakota Agricultural college, has issued a warning to all dealers in food in North Dakota that unless the law in regard to proper labeling of containers was adhered to, within a reasonable time the department would begin action in the courts against them. In his statement of existing conditions bearing on the case Prof. Ladd made some interesting statements concerning the big packing houses and their methods.

His Skull Fractured.

Grafton, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Charon of Edinburg was brought to the hospital in this city with a badly bruised head and fractured skull, and is unable to tell how the accident happened. He has been in charge of John Stafford's thrashing machine at Hoople and was found in the field by fellow-workers in an unconscious condition. He will recover.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on City Property, Buildings and Markets, to which was referred communication from the State Board of Control, relative to the condition of the Central station lockup, would respectfully report that pursuant to notice from said board the city spent approximately $300.00 in repairing and renovating said lockup in March of the present year.

It is apparent to your committee that if the city proposes to use said lockup as a lodging house for mendicants during the winter season it will probably be necessary to enlarge the police station. On account of the uncertainty as to the length of time that the city will occupy the present city hall and police station we are loath to recommend extensive improvements thereto. In order that this council may be fully advised in the premises we recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

L. A. BARNES,
CHARLES J. HECTOR,
Committee.

Resolved, That the chief of police is hereby requested to submit his recommendations as to the necessary improvements to the police station to comply with the requirements of the State Board of Control.

Alderman Barnes moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Sept. 5, 1911.
Approved Sept. 7, 1911.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Claims, to which was referred pay rolls for the month of August, 1911, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
FRANK JORDAN,
Committee.

To Pastoret-Lawrence company, in the sum of $59.51, on their contract for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Regent street from twenty-five feet east of Fortieth avenue east to a connection with the sewer in Forty-second avenue east.

Alderman Bernard moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Sept. 5, 1911.
Approved Sept. 7, 1911.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Drains, Sewers and Sanitation, to which was referred petition of Rafencha Building company having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

WILLIAM L. BARNARD,
Committee.

Resolved, That permission is hereby granted to the Rafrencha Building company to connect their premises, the north 45 feet of Lots 1 and 2, Block 20, Highland Park division, with the combined sewer in Eighteenth avenue east, provided said company shall first file with the Board of Public Works the customary agreement.

Alderman Bernard moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Sept. 5, 1911.
Approved Sept. 7, 1911.

To the President and Common Council:

Your Committee on Drains, Sewers and Sanitation, to whom was referred the report of the Board of Public Works, dated Sept. 1, 1911, relative to the petition of John A. Johnson and others for the construction of a sewer in West Fifth street having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
Committee.

Be it resolved, By the Common Council of the city of Duluth, That the Board of Public Works of the city of Duluth is hereby ordered to couse the following improvement to be made, to-wit:

That a sanitary sewer be constructed in West Fifth street, in said city, from Thirty-eighth avenue west to the sewer at Thirty-ninth avenue west, and

Resolved further, That the Board of Public Works is hereby instructed to cause said improvement to be made by contract; the cost therefor to be paid out of the permanent improvement revolving fund and it is further ordered:

That said Board of Public Works proceed in accordance with the provisions of the city charter to levy assessments upon the property benefited by said improvement, according to benefits received, to defray the cost of such improvement, with such other expenses as under the provisions of said charter may be assessed.

Alderman Bernard moved the adoption of the resolution which was declared adopted by unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Sept. 5, 1911.
Approved Sept. 7, 1911.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Drains, Sewers and Sanitation, to which was referred awards of contracts, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
Committee.

Resolved, That contracts awarded by the Board of Public Works are hereby approved as follows:

To Gust Hiner for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Sixth street from Twenty-first to Twenty-third avenues west.

To Gust Hiner for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Eighth alley from a point 250 feet east of First avenue east to First avenue east.

To Charles Eklund for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Fifty-sixth alley west from Paducah Place to Eighth alley and in Eighth alley to Central avenue.

To M. Fitzgerald for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Ninth alley from a point 50 feet west of Seventh avenue east to Sixth avenue east with outlet in Sixth avenue east to the sewer in Eighth street.

To Gust Hiner for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Ninth alley from Ninth avenue east to Twelfth avenue east with outlet in Tenth avenue east to the sewer in Eighth alley.

To C. R. McLean for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Chestnut street from the west line of Bryant's addition to a connection with the sewer at Winnipeg avenue.

Alderman Bernard moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Sept. 5, 1911.
Approved Sept. 7, 1911.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Drains, Sewers and Sanitation, to which was referred petition of the city engineer on the proposition of enclosing the creek in Twelfth avenue west between Superior and Michigan street, is of the opinion that said creek should be enclosed and that the construction of such enclosure as a storm sewer should extend, as recommended by the city engineer, to a point 50 feet north of the north line of Superior street so that said Superior street and Twelfth avenue west between Superior and Michigan streets can be filled with refuse from the rock crusher operated by the city and located adjacent thereto. The cost of this improvement at the intersection of Twelfth avenue west and Superior street would fall upon the city when Superior street is improved, and in our opinion it would be economy to construct this intersection at the present time. We therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
Committee.

Resolved, That the Board of Public Works is hereby directed to advertise for bids for the construction of a concrete culvert or storm sewer along the line of the creek in Twelfth avenue west from a point above Michigan street where such culvert is now constructed to a point 50 feet north of the north line of Superior street, and award the contract therefor subject to the approval of this council, the cost of said work to be paid out of the street intersection and storm sewer fund.

Alderman Bernard moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Sept. 5, 1911.
Approved Sept. 7, 1911.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Drains, Sewers and Sanitation, to which was referred recommendation of the Board of Public Works, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
Committee.

Resolved, That an extension of time is hereby granted to Erick Nordquist & Co. for the completion of their contract for the construction of a sanitary sewer in West Fifth street from Twenty-third to Twenty-fifth avenues west to Sept. 15, 1911, provided the surety on their bond shall first file its written consent thereto in form approved by the city attorney.

Alderman Bernard moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Sept. 5, 1911.
Approved Sept. 7, 1911.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Finance, to which was referred recommendation of the Board of Public Works, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, that the city comptroller is hereby directed to deduct $14.42 from the assessment against Lot 12, and $8.53 from the assessment against Lot 13, both in Block 5, Bryant's Addition, levied to defray in part the cost of constructing a sanitary sewer in Chestnut street from the west line of Bryant's Addition to Winnipeg avenue.

Alderman Jordan moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Sept. 5, 1911.
Approved Sept. 7, 1911.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Fire Department, to which was referred report of the Board of Fire Commissioners, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

CHAS. J. HECTOR,
FRANK MAKOWSKI,
Committee.

Resolved, the the Board of Fire Commissioners is hereby directed to reject all bids for repairs to Duluth Heights Fire Hall, and to re-advertise for bids.

Alderman Hector moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

HEAVY FROST IS PREDICTED

Weather Man Expects Sky to Clear and Mercury to Drop.

Exceptionally Heavy Rainfall for the First Week in September.

Heavy and possibly killing frosts are predicted for northern Minnesota tonight. Last night Western Canada generally reported extreme low temperature and killing frosts over a wide area. At Qu'appello 26 deg. was the minimum and the frost was very heavy. At Prince Albert and Battleford frost accompanied a minimum of 30 deg. and Calgary also reported 30 deg., but little frost.

The prediction for this region is for clearing weather and probable frost tonight. The wind will probably be from the north, and Forecaster Richardson stated this morning that if these winds prevail the lake shore will probably miss the worst of the frost, but if the wind from the lake keeps up and the weather clears severe frost is probable in the low places. The frost will be heavier in the northwestern part of the state.

Today probably marks the end of the heavy rainfall of the last week. During the first week of September just passed a total of 1.91 inches was recorded on the hill top, which is 1.18 inches more than the average for the week here. This was preceded by what are regarded as generous rains for the last week in August, .76 inches falling from Aug. 26 to 31. As a result the ground in this vicinity is now thoroughly saturated. Fair weather is on the bill for tomorrow.

EXILE SENTENCE FOR WELSH THIEF

If John Owens Returns to America He Will Be Imprisoned.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 7.—John Owens' who pleaded guilty to a grand larceny charge, was exiled from the United States yesterday. By the decree of the superior court, he must leave the country at once and will be sent to the penitentiary if he returns. Owens' sentence was suspended upon intercession of the Welsh society of San Francisco, of which he is a member. He will sail for Wales at once.

MADISON CASE STILL UNSOLVED

Seven-Year-Old Girl Has Left No Trace Behind Her.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 7.—The mystery attending the disappearance of little Annie Lemberger, who has not been seen since she went to bed with an older sister Monday night, is still unsolved. A window was open in the children's bedroom Tuesday morning, and this led to the theory that Annie had been abducted.

The departure of the suspicious men on an early train this morning was followed by an interchange of messages with cities along the way, but the clew produced no results. Bloodhounds have been placed at work, but nothing definite has yet come to light.

MRS. RUSSELL SAGE OPPOSES STATE TAX.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Russell Sage does not want to contribute any of her late husband's dollars to Minnesota in the form of an inheritance tax, and her attorneys have so notified Attorney General Simpson. Agreements to pay more than $275,000 were obtained by Minnesota's state attorney on his recent visit East to get settlements from estates, but Mrs. Russell Sage balked.

Mr. Simpson has not yet decided what course he will pursue in collecting the inheritance tax. Russell Sage owned stock of corporations organized in this state.

WHEAT HAS ERRATIC DAY

Many Fluctuations in the Pit—Duluth Market Closes Lower.

Other Wheat Markets in America Close With Slight Changes.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 7.—This was a day of surprises on the Duluth board. Duluth September and December wheat both took sudden slumps long before the session closed, after making a bulge in response to bullish news. Duluth September durum once more closed as high or a little better than No. 1 northern, for the durum closed at $1.04¼ bid, whereas the No. 1 northern closed at the same figure asked. Flax closed at gains all along the line. Oats, corn and barley closed unchanged. Rye was up ½ cent at 80 to 82 cents. Duluth cash wheat was the same as December.

What caused wheat about the noon hour to take a slump, losing all it had gained after the opening of the session, was a conundrum that none of the brokers seemed able to answer. This took place not only at Duluth but at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg as well. There was quite a bulge in the early part of the session. It was easy to account for that. There were higher cables from the European markets. It was reported that the Indian crop would not come up to expectations and the Russian offerings were still light. Furthermore, a letter written by Louis J. Friedman from Germany announced that food was scarce all over Europe. Potatoes were twice as high as they had been, he said, and there was likely to be a potato famine. Then came reports of rains to delay thrashing in many parts of the Northwest, and of frosts at various places in Canada, notably in the regions of Battleford, Regina and Prince Albert.

Duluth September, which closed yesterday at $1.04⅞ bid, opened today at that figure and ran up to $1.05⅜. Then came the slump and before noon it was selling at $1.04⅜. Duluth September durum made no such bulge. It opened at yesterday's closing price, $1.04½ and by noon was selling at $1.04¼.

Flax still shows remarkable strength. Before noon today, it made some new records for the present season. September, which closed at $2.60 yesterday, opened at that figure today, and then gradually rose to $2.64, reaching that figure before noon, six carloads of flax, inspected, were on the track today. Evidently this was not enough of the new article to force down the price or even to keep it from going up.

"I can see no logical reason for that bulge," remarked a prominent flax trader. "The country has plenty of flax. It seems to me that the man who gets his flax into the market early will get the best prices. When the seed begins to come in large volume, the price will surely fall."

Dennis wired from Chicago: "I believe wheat will sell at $1.25 before another crop but I wrote you that we would be on a domestic basis east of the Rockies in the first four months of the crop movement. On purely United States basis but with reciprocity carried we would have that much more wheat and wheat and flour to export through the United States,

G. A. Norman, a prominent flax dealer of Beach, N. D., was at the Duluth Board of Trade today as the guest of E. H. Smith, manager of the American Linseed company. "Farmers are happy in the Golden Valley," said Mr. Norman. "That is what we call our section and rightly, too. There is going to be a good flax crop. It will be about ten bushels to the acre, or more. The quality is very good. Wheat is rather light, and will probably not average more than ten bushels to the acre."

An unmistakable symptom of increasing activity in business is the increased demand for loans. Duluth banks are being called upon by their clients, especially the grain dealers, just now for money with which to handle the crops. Duluth jobbers are also borrowing money from the banks in considerable quantities to meet the demand of country merchants for fall and winter stocks. This is usually the case, when the crops begin to move.

More cars, laden with grain, came in to Duluth yesterday than have come in on any previous day this season. There were 400 in all. They kept the brokers busy. Of the 400, 269 were loaded with wheat, 108 with barley, 7 with rye, 7 with oats, 6 with flax and 3 with corn.

"I am afraid this rain is taking dollars out of the pockets of our citizens," remarked a Duluth broker yesterday afternoon. "The rain does not hurt the quality of the grain and that means that it will not bring so much money into this part of the country. However, the situation has one saving feature. If the rain is hurting wheat, it is filling up the rivers and lakes and making logging operations easier. So if the people of the farm country will not be as good customers on account of this rain, the people of the logging country will be better customers."

Reports of Duluth's seven banks to the comptroller of the currency for Sept. 1 show a total of deposits of $22,535,821, of which $21,954,672 is held in the four national banks and $581,149.67 in the three state banks. The deposits were divided among the state banks as follows: St. Louis County, $331,-890.69; Western State, $184,527.23; Duluth State, $64,721.75; increase in state banks since last report of June 7, $37,-159. Other items of the reports on state banks were in substance: Cash reserves in all three, $193,201.71; increase, $6,834; St. Louis County, $109,-227.09; Western State, $61,751.20; Duluth State, $22,223.42.

Loans and discounts in all three, $489,865.35; increase, $28,392; St. Louis County, $283,286.69; Western State, $148,901.18; Duluth State, $57,617.48.

Combined resources of all three, $705,569.05; increase, $5,985; St. Louis County, $395,046.33; Western State, $220,311.44; Duluth State, $90,011.28.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Sold Freely and Initial Advance Lost.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Clearing weather Northwest caused free selling of wheat here today, and more than offset an initial advance due to higher prices at Liverpool and Berlin. Weakness developed, too, on account of statements that 75 per cent of the crop in Saskatchewan had been cut and was out of danger from frost.

Later, however, the market had another upturn on account of reports that the Russian yield was so short the czar's country was buying wheat in Roumania. It was also said little progress was being made toward winter crops in Russia, the baked soil rendering plowing difficult and sowing impossible.

Opening figures were a shade to ¼@⅜c higher. December started at 96¾@97c, the same change from last night, as the market taken altogether. A fall to 96½c was followed by a rally to 97c.

Foreign buying of futures here led to an additional advance. So did Milwaukee sales of flour to Germany. The gain, though, did not hold, owners selling on the bulge. The close was easy with December at 97c, a net gain of ¼@⅜c.

Favorable weather weakened corn. There was expert authority for announcements that much of the early sown crop was already safe against frost. December opened unchanged to ⅛c off at 64@64¼c, and declined to 63¾c.

Unloading by local longs kept the market depressed. The closing, however, was firm on account of rumors that the French import duty would be removed. December finished ¼@⅜ net lower at 63⅞@64c.

A fair amount of selling sufficed to carry down oats. The market was mainly affected by the bearish tone of corn. December started on last night's level to ⅛c up at 46¼@46⅜c, but sagged to 45⅞c.

Provisions showed strength owing to a light run of hogs. First sales were 2½@5c higher, with January $16.32½ for pork, $9.42½@9.45 for lard, and $8.47½ for ribs.

New York, Sept. 7.—Close: Wheat—Sept. 99⅜c; Dec. $1.03⅛@¼. Corn—None.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Moderate Recession Follows Early Advance in Wheat Prices.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 7.—A bullish tinge to both domestic and foreign news made wheat prices advance easily but later in the session there was a moderate recession. Trading was active. Receipts of poor quality. September closed ½c higher than yesterday. December ⅛@¼c lower and May ½c lower. Local elevator stocks of Wheat increased 210,000 bu for five days. Minneapolis today received 212 cars of wheat against 490 cars a year ago, Duluth 269 against 152, and Winnipeg 126 against 142. September opened $1.03⅛; high, $1.04½; low, $1.03⅛; closed, $1.03⅜. December opened $1.05½@1.05⅝; high, $1.06@1.06⅛; low, $1.04⅞; closed, $1.05⅛@1.05¼. May opened $1.09¼; high, $1.09⅝; low, $1.08¾ @ 1.08⅞; closed, $1.09@1.09⅜.

Cash wheat was quoted steady to a trifle firmer; demand good for better grades but slow for poor quality. No. 1 northern sold for 1@2¼c above September contract. Closing cash prices: No. 1 hard, $1.06⅞; No. 1 northern, $1.05@1.06⅜; to arrive, $1.04⅜@1.05⅜; No. 2 northern, $1.00⅜@1.04⅜; arrive, $1.00⅜@1.03⅜. No. 3 wheat, 95⅜c@$1.02⅜; No. 3 yellow corn, 64c; No. 3 white oats, 43@43½c; No. 2 rye, 81c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,922 tons. Sales of 1,000 tons of bran made to Hamburg this week, first time export made to Germany in five years. Demand strong. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $21.

Flour—In good demand, but not so keen as yesterday. Unchanged. Shipments, 50,072 bbl. First patents, in wood, f. o. b., Minneapolis, $4.90@5.10; second patents, $4.40@4.65; first clears, $3.25@3.45; second clears, $3.25@3.40.

Flax—Receipts, 24 cars; year ago, 22; shipments, 3. Demand strong for both spot and to arrive, flaxseed at 2c below Duluth September. Closing price, $2.60.

Barley—Receipts, 101 cars, year ago, 81; shipments, 45. Offerings still liberal and demand continued active. Prices up 1c from yesterday. Closing range, 76c@$1.15.

Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 7.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1@6 points on a continuation of yesterday's buying movement, which had the encouragement of firm Liverpool cables, and continued reports of insect damage in the Eastern belt. New Orleans was a seller here early, but leading bull brokers were buyers. There was covering by Western and Wall Street shorts, and during the first few minutes active months sold about 5 points net higher. There seemed to be a good deal of Southern selling around 11.55 for December, however, and the market toward the end of the first hour eased off 3 or 4 points from the best.

Spot closed quiet, 18 points higher; middling uplands, 11.70; middling gulf, 11.95; sales, 140 bales.

Futures closed steady. Closing bids: September, 11.83; October, 11.42; November, 11.44; December, 11.56; January, 11.52; February, 11.56; March, 11.62; April, 11.66; May, 11.71; June, 11.70; July, 11.73.

South St. Paul Live Stock.

South St. Paul, Sept. 7.—Cattle—Receipts, 400; steady; unchanged. Hogs—Receipts, 500; steady; range, $6.90@7.10; bulk of sales, $6.90 to 7.00. Sheep—Receipts, 500; market steady; sheep, $1.00@3.25; lambs, $2.00@5.50.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—Barrett & Zimerman report: The inclement weather has put a damper on the market, and while the clearance was much heavier than a week ago, the trade is not what it would be if the weather was fair. Horsemen attending the state fair are greatly disappointed. Shipments were made to Le Sueur Center, Rich City, Bemidji and Duluth; Prescott and Grantburg, Wis. Receipts light.

New York Money.

New York, Sept. 7.—Money steady, 2¼@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2¼ per cent; closing bid, 2⅜ per cent; offered at 2½ per cent; time loans steady, sixty days 2¾@3 per cent; ninety days, 3@3¼ per cent; six months, 3½@3⅝ per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4½@4¾ per cent; sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.83.25 for sixty-day bills and at $4.86.05@4.86.10 for demand; commercial bills, $4.82¾; bar silver, 52¼; Mexican dollars, 45; government bonds steady; railroad bonds heavy.

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 5,000; market steady to strong; beeves, $5.00@8.10; Texas steers, $4.40@6.40; western steers, $4.00@7.00; stockers and feeders, $5.00@5.50; cows and heifers, $2.25@8.30; calves, $6.25@9.00. Hogs—Receipts estimated at 12,000; market steady to shade higher; light, $6.85@7.40; mixed, $6.75@7.40; heavy, $6.60@7.30; rough, $6.60@6.80; good to choice heavy, $6.80@7.30; pigs, $4.75@7.20; bulk of sales, $6.85@7.15. Sheep—Receipts estimated at 22,000; market strong; native, $2.60@3.85; western, $2.40@4.00; yearlings, $3.90@4.80; lambs, native, weak, $4.00@6.10; western, $4.25@6.10.

London Stocks.

London, Sept. 7.—American securities were quiet and featureless during the early trading today. At noon prices ranged from unchanged to ¼ above yesterday's New York closing.

WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

Bears Take Advantage of Fresh Liquidation and Sell Short.

Speculative Interests Sell Liberally and Losses Are Recorded.

New York, Sept. 7.—There were no changes of importance among the active stocks at the opening of the market today. Fluctuations were irregular with an inclination toward heaviness, and were confined to small fractions. The only exception was Iowa Central preferred, which gained 2 points.

The market adopted a definite downward tendency. Large sales of United States Steel, Baltimore & Ohio, Lehigh Valley and several other railroad issues speedily aroused a bearish sentiment and stocks were offered down freely. Baltimore & Ohio and Lehigh Valley sold 1% below yesterday's closing. Reading and Canadian Pacific 1 and the active list generally a substantial fraction. Iowa Central moved up 2½ and the preferred 4 points on the announcement that a new traffic alliance was in prospect.

The upward movement of the last week in the stock market was halted today. Owing probably to the fact that the more urgent short covering had been completed, the demand diminished during the morning and the market was heavy. The bear parties did not attempt a renewal of selling on a large scale, and trading was more lifeless than had been the case for several weeks.

Heaviness in Baltimore & Ohio was attributed to selling by Berlin. An outbreak of weakness shortly before noon in some of the Gould stocks frustrated attempts to rally prices, but the list did not recede below its previous low point. Missouri Pacific went off 1½ to 39½, placing it within ¼ of its figures for the year. Bonds were heavy.

The market closed weak. Bear operators took advantage of the unmistakable signs of fresh liquidation and put out short lines confidently. Speculative interests also sold stock liberally on the ground that the technical position of the market had been weakened by the recent large covering operations. Losses of 2 points or more were numerous. Missouri Pacific dropped to 38½ and Baltimore & Ohio to 96⅝, the lowest figures of the year. Traders sold Baltimore & Ohio freely on the belief that the present 6 per cent dividend was menaced by the poor earnings of the company.

RAISE TRUCK AND POULTRY.

Duluth is an excellent market for truck and poultry. Today most of these products are shipped in. Any one owning a few acres close to the city can take his products into the city, sell them to the consumer, save the freight and middlemen's profits, and get same price.

The tracts I am offering for sale are located only a twenty minutes' ride from Lester Park, just outside the city limits, are only three blocks from the Snively boulevard and Lester river. Every acre is surveyed and staked and fronts on a good road. The land is very easily cleared, and the soil is a good sandy clay loam. You can get an acre for $5 down and $5 per month, or three acres for $12.50 per month; no interest. Prices, $135 to $175 per acre. Call or write now.
